Terrorist attack victims assisted

A special program was held at Farwell School last week. Farwell Junior High students sold t-shirts and buttons, and had change jars, in order to raise $900 to contribute to the American Red Cross to help with the Sept. 11 terrorist attack victims' fund. Pictured giving the check to Eloise Edwards, Red Cross executive director from Clovis (third from right) are school student council representatives, from left, Shelby Christian, Dellani Jones, Brett Howard, Luis Olmos, Kari Schilling and Karli Schilling.

Thank you, Sherry, Audrey

Odds and ends today, folks (I'm still full from Thanksgiving...):

-- One last thank you for folks helping with the football contest. We appreciate each year the two high school secretaries bringing their ballots over from Texico and Farwell schools -- Audrey Kittrell and Sherry Christian.

They are the best! -- Normally, at this time of year I make predictions as to who will be in the NBA championship series.

I've been "right on" the past couple of years, picking the Los Angeles Lakers.

I see no reason to

Roberts signs

Texico High's Jennifer Roberts has signed to play basketball at Eastern New Mexico University. Teammate Elizabeth Richards signed the previous week to play ball at ENMU, too.

Army squad impressed by Meeks' 'American pride'

Jason Meeks, son of Steve and Cindy Meeks of Farwell, is serving in the U.S. Army and is stationed at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Jason has a subscription to the Tribune and it's quite popular with members of his squad, who like to read it, too.

A recent article in the Tribune's "The Latest" column really caught their eye. The article noted that Farwell Hardware, which is owned and operated by Jason's parents, recently ordered U.S. flags to sell. But when the shipment arrived, the Meeks' found that the flags were "Made in China", so they returned them to the manufacturer.

Jason told his parents that their decision to send those flags back really lifted the morale of his squad, which was out in the field the day the Trib arrived.

After reading the article, Jason's sergeant, SSG Daniel Lord, sent the following letter to Steve and Cindy:

"Your son, Jason, recently read me an article from his hometown newspaper that really touched me. I read of a patriot, in her own special way boycotting American flags made in China. I was both surprised and very pleased to see that others can see the irony of America's National Flag being made in China and purchased in America by Americans. Especially in these times of economic slump.

"I had PFC Meeks read this article and tell of what you did to my whole squad. They, too, were impressed by your American Pride. So in closing, I would like to tell you 'thank you' and please keep up the good work! May God bless you and your family always.

"P.S. It has been a pleasure to serve with your son. He is a good man. I am proud to have him in my squad."

U.S. Department of Justice okays county redistricting plan

Parmer County Judge Bonnie Clayton reported that she has been informed by Bobby Hill, the attorney who handled the county's redistricting plan, that it has been approved by the U.S. Department of Justice.

Thus, the proposed precinct redistricting plan that the county commissioners had okayed in August, is now official. Justice Department final approval was necessary because of deviations in population changes between the county's four precincts.

The county will send out letters to all county residents informing them of which precinct they are in.

Here are the plan's major changes:
 -- Pct. 3 (Ed Corn's Farwell area precinct) has added six blocks in the city of Bovina, mostly at its southeast and western edges. The major change for the Bovina folks added to Pct. 3 is that they will now vote at Ridgelea School.

-- The Oklahoma Lane voting area has been expanded to include the western half (roughly) of FM 3333. This means that these folks will no longer vote at the Farwell Community Center, but at the Oklahoma Lane voting

Incumbents announce for re-election, but McGehee not running

The filing period for next year's Texas county elections starts Dec. 3 and ends Jan. 2. Candidates need to register with their respective county chairmen -- Democrat Robert White or Republican John Tannahill in Parmer County.

Write-in candidates are not allowed in Texas primary elections, but are okay for the general election in November.

The big news on this front is that Pct. 4 (the Lazbuddie area) County Commissioner Raymond McGehee doesn't plan to seek re-election. When his term expires in December 2002, it will mean that McGehee, a Democrat, will have served in this post for 24 years.

Also, there are two undecided incumbents: Parmer County Treasurer Anne Norton, and Friona area Justice of the Peace Frances Euler (who has been ill.). Both are Democrats.

Otherwise, all the incumbents told the Tribune they plan to seek re-election:

County Clerk Colleen Stover, a Republican.

County Judge Bonnie Clayton, a Democrat.

Farwell area Justice of the Peace Pam Haseloff, a Democrat.

Bovina area County Commissioner Thomas Ware, a Democrat.

Bovina area Justice of the Peace Vi Hutto, a Democrat.

District Clerk Sandra Warren, a Republican.

287th District Court Judge Gordon Green, a Democrat.

GOP County Chairman Tannahill said he expects two candidates to run on the Republican ticket for the Friona area Justice of the Peace office in next spring's primary election. He declined to say who they were.

Farwell moves on water project

The Farwell City Council on Nov. 20 took important steps toward ensuring the city's long-term water supply.

The council approved an agreement between the city and First Southwest Co., of Lubbock, to act as placement agent for issuing $375,000 in tax notes.

Also, the council passed an ordinance authorizing the city to issue that amount in tax notes.

Tax notes need to be paid back within five years. If a longer period had been needed, the city would have had to have a bond election.

The $375,000 will go along with a state grant of $250,000 to buy land and to build new water wells.

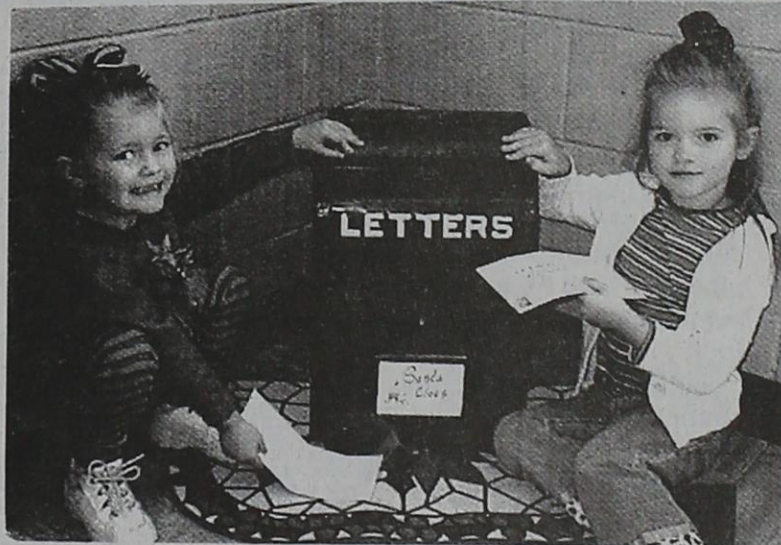

To help pay back the tax notes, the city council in September raised the basic rate for water usage by customers from $7.60 a month to $20 a month.

The city has purchased 220 acres from Randy Ware. The area is roughly bounded on the west by Farwell Spraying Service's air strip; on the north by the Lubbock highway; and on the south by a east-west running county road.

The city recently cut weeds on the property, which also contains two wells and a sprinkler system.

Water Supt. Dee Hammit said the city probably will sell the sprinkler system. But the wells (the main one has been running 550 gallons a minute) will be used, alongside two wells to be drilled.

change that. The Lakers will win again, in a walk.

-- As for next year's baseball season, I will already pick the New York Yankees to be in the World Series.

As long as the jerks who run pro baseball go without a salary cap, the Yankees will buy yet another pennant.

I can't believe how stupid those baseball owners are -- or maybe George Steinbrenner has too much power?

I liked the comment recently from Minnesota Gov. Jesse Ventura as to why he opposes state aid to keep the Minnesota Twins in the big leagues.

He said there was no reason to help support a team as long as there was no salary cap -- meaning teams like the Twins would always be second best since they couldn't compete for the best free agent players likes the Yankees can.

Now we are gearing up for our Christmas issue -- a lot of work! Wish us luck.

Also, the old wells have to be upgraded to meet state standards.

Mayor Jimmie Mace has said the goal is to have the four wells pumping by April.

The property will be connected to the city via a pipeline, and the easements have been gained for it.

In other business, the council:

-- Cast its ballots for Daren Sudderth to remain as a Parmer County Appraisal District director.

-- Approved two building permits -- Tom Landry, 909 2nd St., a storage building; and Mitch Walls, 212 2nd St., storage units.

box -- folks have asked for this because it means a much shorter drive to the poll.

-- Pct. 4 (Raymond McGehee's Lazbuddie area precinct) picked up two areas in the city of Friona, an area north of Highway 60, and an area off Grand Avenue. These areas previously were in Pct. 1 (Kirk Frye's Friona area precinct). These folks will now vote at the Friona Fire Station.

-- Pct. 1 picked up an area mainly west of Highway 60, that had been in Pct. 2 (Tom Ware's Bovina area precinct). So instead of voting at the Friona Community Center, they will vote at the Calvary Baptist Church.

The county's four precincts needed to be redistricted because of the 2000 census and the Voting Rights Act. The 2000 census showed Pct. 1 losing 70 persons; Pct. 2 gaining 226; Pct. 3 losing 22, and Pct. 4 losing 134. The new districts will bring these four populations much closer together.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Mr. Pomper,

On behalf of the New Mexico State Board of Education and State Department of Education, I am writing to express our pride in New Mexico's educators who wake up every day committed to helping students improve. As shown by the 2001 public school ratings announced in October, New Mexico educators have worked hard over the past year to improve outcomes for children.

The number of rated public schools that are performing at or above the standards set by the State Board of Education has increased to 85 percent. And the number of probationary schools in New Mexico has decreased by one-third, to 101 schools.

We are especially excited that there are 59 exemplary schools in New Mexico, an increase of 22 over last year. We congratulate them for their outstanding performance.

Over the past year, educators have taken steps to ensure that the data they provide to us accurately reflect their schools' progress and student growth. And they have implemented teaching strategies tied directly to student needs.

Overall, in New Mexico, more students are in school, families are engaged in their children's education and school communities are ensuring that children attend school in environments that are safe, secure and supportive. All of this bodes well for the future of public education in New Mexico.

Michael Davis
State Supt. of Public Instruction

All works of art are available for purchase, with prices ranging from $100 to $30,000. The artwork represents many nationally known artists from across the U.S. and is presented by Rice Fine Art, of Amarillo.

Artists include G. Harvey, Tom Lovell, Glenna Goodacre, Paul Calle, Tom Ryan, Frank McCarthy, William Whitaker and James Boren. Limited edition prints by Harvey, Howard Terpning, Ryan, McCarthy and Bev Doolittle will be shown, too.

Several years ago, a 7'6" bronze of Ronald Reagan was placed at the National Cowboy Hall of Fame and also at Reagan's Presidential Library in California. She recently did her largest work ever, a 12' high and 22' long sculpture to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the Irish famine. She also created the image of Sacagawea on the new dollar coin.
