Only one election in the area is not contested. That's the county board election, where Pat Boone Sr., county-at-large trustee; Albert Lockwood, precinct three board member; and N. Ray Kelly, precinct two trustee, are unopposed in bids for re-election.

Six men are seeking two posts at Sudan, with neither of the incumbents, Dale Burnett and Lee Roy Cole, seeking re-election.

The candidates are Dewey J. (Dood) Haragan, John Burnett, Jerry Ray, Franklin Lane, W. B. (Dub) Jones Jr. and Guy H. Walden.

At Olton, two incumbents are seeking re-election in a race with two other candidates. The incumbents are Louis Hair and Truitt Sides. They're joined in the race by Fred Hicks and Roy Roberts.

Polls At High School Open 8 A.M. Saturday

The names of four men and a woman will be on the ballot here Saturday as Littlefield voters elect two school trustees for three-year terms.

Polls will be open from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. at the high school library. Arthur Jones is election judge.

The candidates are Wayne Streety, farmer; Byron Douglass, an abstractor who's seeking re-election; Jim Baxter, pharmacist; Weldon Findley, jeweler; and Mrs. L. M. Massengale, assistant manager at Sears.

Only two absentee ballots had been cast in the election as of Monday, indicating interest in the voting is at a low.

WELDON FINDLEY

Interest is expected to pick up by Saturday, however, and the vote may match the turnout of 800 last year, when Dr. Albert Perkins and Dr. Bill Armistead were elected.

Douglass is the only incumbent in the race. The other incumbent, whose term expires, Carl Locke, is not up for re-election.

Here are background sketches on each of the candidates:

STREETY—A 38 year-old farmer, Wayne Streety came here 15 years ago from Chillicothe. Besides farming, he sells tractors for Littlefield Implement Co.

"I feel like it's a public duty to run for school board," he said. "I was approached by several citizens who thought I could make a contribution to the board."

Streety is married and he and his wife have one child, Wayne Jr., 6. The family attends the Littlefield Drive Church of Christ.

He has two brothers here, J. A. and A. R., and farms three and one-half miles southwest of Littlefield. He's a Mason.

DOUGLASS — Seeking his second term as a school trustee, 43-year-old Byron Douglass has lived here most of the time since 1950.

He came here in 1950 from Stephenville, moved to Dallas for two years in 1954-55, then moved back to Littlefield. He's associated with Rowe Abstract Co.

He and Mrs. Douglass have one daughter, Marilyn, 15. They attend the First Presbyterian Church.

Douglass attended Daniel Baker College at Brownwood and Colorado A&M at Fort Collins. He's an Army Air Force veteran of World War II.

BAXTER—Jim Baxter, at 31, is the youngest candidate in the race.

"We've got good schools here and I want to see them stay good," says Baxter. "I don't have (Continued on page 4)"

Building Total Tops $450,000

New permits for building slumped here in March, but the total for the first three months of the year stayed at a record-setting pace.

Nine permits issued last month totaled only $31,750, bringing the year's total to $458,450.

Total for the first three months was far ahead of last year, when $101,050 worth of building had been recorded for the same period. Permits issued for the entire year in 1958 came to $356,675.

The March permits did not include a recently announced $142,707 new home for General Telephone Co. That permit probably will be issued early in April.

Permits issued last month included:

W. A. Duncan, remodeling of business at 1002 Hall, $2,000; Alvin Yates, store room at 1116 W. 5th, $500; Dillon Lumber Co., dwelling on 18th Street, $8,250; Pete Shipley, laundry building at 6th and Westside, $5,000; V. C. (Continued on Page 4)

Rites Read For Victim Of Flaming Truck Crash

Funeral services were conducted here Wednesday for a 25-year-old Littlefield truck driver who died in a flaming crash early Sunday near Benson, Ariz., while enroute home to observe Easter with his wife and three small children.

Last rites for Curtis Edward Tucker, the driver, were read at St. Martin Lutheran Church here. Burial was in Littlefield Memorial Park under direction of Hammons Funeral Home.

Tucker died in the flames of his truck-tractor when the truck ripped through guard rail of a railroad overpass and dropped about 25 feet onto the tracks and caught fire.

The accident occurred on U. S. 83 15 miles west of Benson. Tucker was returning to Littlefield after delivering a load of grain to Arizona for the Littlefield Grain Co.

David Jenkins, who also drives for Littlefield Grain, said he had seen Tucker Friday, while Jenkins was en route home and Tucker was on his way to deliver the grain.

Tucker and his family and the Jenkins family had planned an Easter outing at MacKenzie Park in Lubbock Sunday, according to Jenkins.

Mrs. Tucker, a dispatcher at the police station here, learned of the tragedy shortly after she got off work at 8 a. m. on Easter Sunday.

Tucker had driven for the grain firm about a year. He was born (Continued on Page 4)

In another phase of Littlefield baseball, American Legion ball practice is already under way.

Boys who won't be 18 until after Sept. 1 this year are eligible for the team.

MINUTE RUSH—Clerks at Tax Assessor Herbert Dunn's office faced big crowds Tuesday as latecomers made the deadline for buying 1959 license plates. Many didn't make the deadline, however, and the Department of Public Safety had a "day of grace" before enforcement, giving car owners until midnight to put tags on their cars. Car owners who still don't have new tags by today will walk to the courthouse to get them, because enforcement started today. (STAFF PHOTO)

Long-Time Starter Says Track Men Are Sharp, Match Wits With Him

By HAROLD V. RATLIF Texas AP Sports Editor Joe Bailey Cheaney, the old Howard Payne track star who missed the Olympic Games because he was set back a yard for jumping the gun, is one of the best starters hereabouts. He has been doing it since 1926 and has won a lot of great athletics off and winging.

Cheaney observes that the track boys of today are mighty smart. They study their sport from all angles and they are always matching wits with the starter. Some times they come off best, to Cheaney's surprise.

Cheaney was impressed with the efforts of Dave Sims, the Duke star who ran against Bobby Morrow at Odessa in the celebrated spring duel that had the nation agog.

"He watched me make at least 20 starts and worked right along with me," Cheaney recalled. "He knew about every move I would make. He almost beat the gun on one start—I had pulled the trigger halfway. Sims is a great runner and a fine boy. A fellow who can run 100 yards in 9.4 against the best sprint man in the world—Morrow—with only three weeks of work must be considered a truly great athlete."

Sims was giving the mighty Morrow, who was in top condition after months of training, the fight of his life in that special race. Cheaney isn't sure he won't beat Morrow the next time they meet, although the veteran starter still considers Morrow the greatest runner of all time.

Cheaney ran back in the days when you were set back a yard for a false start. After you had been set back two yards you were disqualified for a third false start. Now you are not set back but you are disqualified if you was set back a yard when he beat me two false starts.

In the Olympic trials at Boston, Cheaney was running against fellows like Jackson Scholz, Charley Paddock and Lorin Murchison. He was set back a yard when he beat the gun but, says Cheaney, the starter fired his pistol to bring the runners back and actually he should not have been penalized. The starter, though, wouldn't budge. So, Cheaney was a yard behind those great runners. "You would know how a race like that would come out," said Cheaney. "I lost and also lost my only chance at the Olympics." Perry Samuels, the former Texas spring star, was about the cleverest athlete Cheaney says he ever went up against. "Perry knew he had to get the start if he was going to win because he was running against Charley Parker," Cheaney recalls. "He would gamble and wait in his holes twice, figuring somebody would jump each time. Then he had lured the starter into a sense of security and gotten his attention on somebody else. Perry would make his move to come out ahead of the others. He once beat me by five yards."

Cheaney tells a good story about the time his starter's pistol wouldn't fire and Boyce Gatewood, the great Texas hurdler who always ran second to Fred Wolcott of Rice, got the jump and couldn't be called back. "Emmett Brunson, the Rice coach came down out of the stands as mad as a hornet," said Cheaney. "He said 'What happened?' I didn't answer, just stood there. Then the man on the public address system yelled out, 'Winner of the 120-yard high hurdles in 13.9, a new Texas relay record, Wolcott of Rice.' Brunson said, 'Pretty fair country runner isn't he?' and went back up into the stands."

Dr. Hemphill (Continued from page 1) leadership which Littlefield has enjoyed a continuous growth.

Under Dr. Hemphill's pastorate the Parkview Baptist Church was built in 1949, and later he led the way for construction of a church and pastor's home in the Mexican village at a cost of $20,000. A brick parsonage at 401 E. 8th St. was built in 1948 and paid for at a cost of $20,000. A home for the director of religious education was also constructed.

On the occasion of Dr. Hemphill's 15th anniversary with the church in 1958, the church held a note burning signifying clearance of all debt on the present $500,000 church. Completed shortly after that was a $60,000 improvement program on the church basement.

It was at the 15th anniversary service that Dr. Hemphill said, "You should not honor a pastor for 15 years of service but rather the church that is able to keep a pastor for 15 years."

The announcement of Dr. Hemphill's acceptance of the Hardin-Simmons post came only two months after the pastor was honored for 16 years with the church.

Born in Coleman in 1907, he was reared there and was valedictorian of his high school graduating class in 1925.

He was graduated from Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth in 1936, then went to Dayton where he was pastor 6 1/2 years.

Coming here in 1943, he led the local church in the growth from 600 members to more than 1,800. The Hemphills' daughter, Rosa, completed school at Hardin-Simmons last year. Son Hilton will enter H-SU next fall.

Mrs. Hemphill was valedictorian of her high school class at La Mesa in 1925 and was graduated from Hardin-Simmons in 1929. Magna Cum Laude.

After serving in the Air Force in World War II, he settled here in 1945.

He and Mrs. Findley, and their two sons, Weldon Jr., 15, and Lyndon, 6, attend the First Baptist Church.

Lyndon's Brother Sam On Payroll; Described As Top Aide By Senator

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Special Service
WASHINGTON (AP) - When Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas wants to know what people are really saying about him and his views, there is at least one aide to whom he can turn for candid comment.

That's his brother, Sam Houston Johnson, 45, five years the senator's junior and one of his chief aides.

Both Sam Houston Johnson and his wife, Mary, are on the Senate payroll.

Sam Houston Johnson is in the Johnnie-come-lately to Capitol Hill, and the senator counts upon him heavily. In the senator's view, his brother not only is an intensely loyal aide but is eminently qualified for the job.

Sam Houston Johnson was secretary to the late Rep. Richard Kleberg of Corpus Christi at the time Lyndon Johnson was first elected to the House April 10, 1937.

But for the youthful age at which he was graduated from college, Sam Houston Johnson probably would be practicing law to day. He got his law degree from Cumberland University, Lebanon, Tenn., in 1934 when he was only 20, and under regulations prevailing at that time was prohibited from taking the Texas bar examination.

"I went to work in the legal division of the Federal Land Bank in Houston," he recalls. "By the time I had reached 21 and was eligible for the examination I had a chance to come to Washington to work as a congressional secretary. And, I might add, at a salary better than many a lawyer was making in those mild depression years."

He went to work for his brother in 1932 and his present salary is $1,050 a month. He is on the payroll which the senator controls as Democratic leader of the Senate.

While his big brother is holding forth in the Senate wing of the Capitol, both in the Senate chamber and in a deluxe office suite just off the Senate floor, Sam

Houston Johnson is to be found at a big broad-topped desk in the old Senate Office Building a block away. He puts in 10 hours a day, however, he will tell you.

Elevator boys vouch for the fact that Sam and his wife regularly show up at 8 a. m., which is early around Capitol Hill, and seldom leave before 6 p. m. They seldom see each other during the day, because she works on the other side of the block-square, white marble edifice in her brother-in-law's regular Senate office—where strictly Texas matters are handled.

She was working for the senator as secretary for some time before she met and married his brother. They were married in 1933. She is the former Mary Fish of San Antonio.

Sam Houston Johnson handles many matters for his brother but his main job is to keep especially informed about problems that have a personal aspect for the senator. He handles some correspondence, interviews many constituents and others seeking appointments with the senator. He knows many of the top newspaper and magazine writers, and has had much to do with some of the nationwide articles on Lyndon Johnson.

The brothers are in almost daily touch with each other, by telephone if not in person, and in these chats the senator gets fill-ins on many stories and reports going the round—some of which a regular subordinate would be unlikely to discuss.

More than a year ago Sam slipped on a floor of his apartment and suffered a fractured hip. For a long while he was forced to stay at home in bed with a traction, and even yet comes to work with the aid of crutches. While he was laid up, Lyndon frequently would stop by the apartment.

"In fact," Sam observed, "it was so convenient to Lyndon that he persuaded us to drop the idea when we were talking about moving."

As the only brothers in the family, with three sisters, Lyndon and Sam always have been close. When the five children were still getting their schooling, the Johnson family moved from Johnson

City to San Marcos so as to be near the state college there.

In the fall of 1931 Sam entered the University of Houston and lived with Lyndon, who got a job teaching at the university. Later he enrolled at Cumberland.

In 1940 Sam Houston was married to the former Albertine Summers, secretary to an Illinois Congressman. He then got a job as regional director of the National Youth Administration with headquarters in Memphis, Tenn. Brother Lyndon was head of the NYA in Texas when first elected to Congress.

In World War II Sam Houston served in psychological warfare with the Office of Strategic Service and Office of War Information in the Mediterranean Theater. After his return he and his first wife were divorced. The son and daughter went to live with their mother in Illinois.

The 17-year old son, Sam Summers Johnson, however, is presently living with his father and attending a public school here. The fourth in line of Sam Johnsons in the family, he expects to attend college in Texas.

Forget Something?

Forget something?

This is the question Internal Revenue Service is asking of a quarter of a million North Texans. These 250,000 taxpayers are due a refund on their 1958 taxes but have not filed their tax return. The Internal Revenue Service is anxious to start processing these refund returns.

Incidentally, there are 350,000 other North Texans who have not filed their tax return. These taxpayers owe money, Internal Revenue says, and now is a much better time to file than on April 15 when a penalty is due.

The tax folks sum up their advice to the 600,000 who haven't filed their 1958 tax return with the following: "FILE NOW."

Standards Go Down

For 11 years, Britain has had "free" socialized medicine—which means, of course tax-supported medicine. And the costs to the taxpayers have far outrun early estimates.

But that isn't the worst of the matter. The current path of medical research in England is discouraging rather than encouraging young people to enter a career in basic medical science. Unless this trend is reversed, a lowering of the standards of medicine is expected.

The situation is described in an article in the American Medical Association News, based on an article appearing in The Lancet, the principal British medical journal. Under socialization, no new teaching hospitals have been developed in England since before World War II. Careers in basic medical science—the only kind of science that can conquer disease—have become unattractive in salary. Research investigators and medical professors, as well as promising young investigators, are being lured to the United States.

The Lancet says: "In this country we have no lack of talent; but without more financial encouragement, more laboratories, and more facilities for research, we shall lose our best workers, and gradually the standards of medicine even at a practical level will decline."

This may not all be the fault of socialization. But there can be no doubt that socialization has been a heavy and growing drag on scientific progress. The lesson that we can learn from this should certainly be plain to anyone.

Grassroots Opinion

STANLEY, WISCONSIN, REPUBLICAN: "Here is how Abraham Lincoln described the free enterprise system in his first annual message to Congress, in 1861:

"The prudent, penniless beginner labors for wages awhile, saves a surplus with which to buy tools or land for himself, then labors on his own account another while and at length hires another beginner to help him.

"This is the just and generous and prosperous system which opens the way to all, gives hope to all and consequently energy and progress and improvement of conditions to all."

LEAVENWORTH, WASHINGTON, ECHO: "Some people have made an art of being slow to pick up the check. You've really got to hand it to them."

BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS, JEWISH ADVOCATE: "President Eisenhower, in a noteworthy civil rights program presented to the Congress... called for the adoption of legislation that would increase the power of the FBI in the bombing of synagogues, churches, and schools. His proposal would make it a Federal offense to flee from one state to another to avoid detection or prosecution arising from such bombings.

"This legislation is badly needed, because as the President pointed out, though state authorities have been diligent in dealing with these crimes under local laws, Federal assistance, bringing to bear all the fine paraphernalia and expert personnel of the FBI, can be a great supplementary force for local authorities...."

HOW BOUT THAT

STATE CAPITAL

Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex.—"After seeing the appropriation bill — and with all the sentiment there is in favor of a teacher pay raise — I don't see how we can pay for it all without passing one of those big tax bills."

Speaking in private conversation was a legislator. He is one of an estimated 80 to 90 House members who told voters flatly last summer they wouldn't vote for a general sales tax.

But the "big tax bills" to which he refers are the Strickland-Roberts bill, Blanchard bill, Oliver bill, etc. All of these are, as someone said, "mighty like a sales tax," in that they would be collected on the basis of the sales of large numbers of items.

His predicament is shared by many Texas lawmakers this year. It is: how to finance the things the people of Texas want without voting a tax the people don't want?

BIGGEST EVER-HOUSE Appropriations Committee is recommending a 1960-61 spending bill that is the granddaddy of 'em all. Altogether, spending from all sources, including federal grants, would total $2,401,276,388. It is $240,000,000 higher than the 1959-60 budget.

Even so, it is $7,500,000 less than recommended by Gov. Price Daniel. Committee's bill calls for general revenue spending of $322,461,196; the governor's for $329,952,922.

Financing the committee's recommendations will require about $157,000,000 in new tax money for the general fund. This results from adding together (1) the expected $65,000,000 deficit from 1958-59, (2) the $42,000,000 increase in spending for the coming biennium over this one and (3) an expected $50,000,000 gap between expected revenue and present spending levels.

If the proposed public school teacher pay raise and any other part of the Hale-Aldin recommendations for school improvement are adopted, the new money needs would soar to between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000.

Principal beneficiaries of the Appropriations Committee would be higher education, up to $25,844,432; state employees, up to $3,400,000; state hospitals and special schools, up to $10,321,186; prison system, up to $6,000,000.

TAX FRONT — Meanwhile, the House Taxation Committee, beset by the prodding of the governor on one hand and the objections of various citizens on the other, toils on in its search for new money.

It all led one House member to complain of a "million-dollar headache."

PLAN TO TAX BOATS — Boat owners may be in for a shock if the "Water Safety Act" becomes law. Representatives have tacked on a few taxes.

Although designed to promote safety, the measure as it now stands calls for the purchase of a $2 Certificate of Number every two years, plus payment of a fee of from $5 to $12.50 per boat per biennium. About the only boats exempted are canoes and "sea planes."

The measure passed the House but still must meet Senate approval.

ECONOMY BILL MAKING HEADWAY — There's at least one fellow who believes that his type of job is useless, outmoded and unnecessary.

He is George Corse Jr. of Graham, Texas. Corse feels that school money is being wasted by keeping the job of County Superintendent alive. He wants to disperse with the office and contends that it will save the State a minimum of $400,000 annually.

To prove they were economy-minded, the House passed his bill (HB number 101 by Rep. George Wilson of Newcastle) and sent it on to the Senate with their blessings.

HB number 101 would permit the people of a county, by petition of 10 per cent of the eligible voters, to vote on discontinuance of the office of County Superintendent of Schools.

Corse is county superintendent of Young County.

XIT Ranch Was Fee

4 Illinois Business Men Built Capitol For Texas

GALVESTON - The story of four Illinois business men who built Texas' state capitol in return for a 10-county ranch in the Panhandle, was told here last week at a Southwestern Social Science Association meeting by Dr. L. L. Graves, associate professor of history at Texas Tech.

The men, John V. Farwell, Charles E. Farwell, Abner Taylor and Amos C. Babcock, were without the vaguest knowledge of ranching and had never seen the 3,000,000 acres which became the fabled XIT Ranch. It was their intention to dispose of the land in some speculative venture, Graves reported.

"Only by degrees and over a period of time did they abandon their fruitless attempts to sell their vast holdings and decide to stock them with cattle," said Graves.

The four men, bondsmen for the Mattheas A. Schnell of Rock Island, Ill., had purchased all interest in the contract by May 1882.

Leader of the syndicate was John Farwell, Chicago Drygoods wholesaler, who gave Marshall Field his start. Farwell spent most of his time in England while the capitol was being constructed, obtaining financial backing. He later became manager of the XIT ranch.

Charles Farwell, John's elder brother, was a Chicago real estate speculator and Republican congressman.

Babcock, considered to be the largest landholder in Illinois in the 1850's, had been a close friend of Abraham Lincoln and was an influential factor in Western political patronage.

Taylor assumed full responsibility for construction of the capitol and spent much time in Austin supervising the work, assisted by Babcock, his father-in-law.

Several conflicts arose, including a federal lawsuit filed by a labor union against a subcontractor.

Sandhills Philosopher He Has Different View On Front Porch Office

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm takes a stand on the front porch argument, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor: There are times when I can't understand people. For example, about a week or so ago all the newspapers carried an article about a Congressman who was using his front porch for a home office run by his wife and was collecting rent on it from the government, since, as I understand it, the government allows Congressmen $1200 a year for home office rent if there's no room in the post office or some other federal building in his home town.

And what I can't understand about people is that most of them were outraged by this set-up. They thought it was wrong to get paid for using your front porch for an office.

I'm outraged by this too, but not for the same reason. What outrages and baffles me is why anybody, if the government would pay him to sit on his front porch, would turn the job over to his wife, and himself sit in an office in Washington.

I can't understand such a sense of chagrin by sitting on my front porch. In fact, I think a front porch doesn't pay for itself. There are some things ought to be willing to do for one's own, whether he gets paid or not. Although I wouldn't object to getting more positive approval from the government paid for my porch, instead of paying to sit on my porch, I'm not willing to take on the same time if the porch is not paid for.

I can't say I accomplish anything by sitting on my front porch. In fact, I think a front porch doesn't pay for itself. There are some things ought to be willing to do for one's own, whether he gets paid or not. Although I wouldn't object to getting more positive approval from the government paid for my porch, instead of paying to sit on my porch, I'm not willing to take on the same time if the porch is not paid for.

Over the use of Scottish stone-masons and Texas convict labor. The subcontractor was fined $8,000 in 1882, and probably considered this fair bargain for getting the low-cost labor, Graves said.

Despite the many mishaps, criticisms and changes in the plans, the building was completed and was accepted by the state on Dec. 8, 1888, well within the deadline for completion.

About Your Health

You're 16, and just when you wanted to look your best you break out with a new crop of pimples. Discouraging? Yes, but not a permanent tragedy.

In nine of ten cases acne will disappear without treatment by your mid-20's. By why wait, when you can do something about it now?

The most important thing is to wash your face with soap and a warm water at least three times daily. Why? Because at your age oil glands are often over active and tend to clog pores. Results: Pimples and blackheads.

So it's just common sense to rid your skin of excess oil and dirt and to help remove the plugs. Cosmetic cleansing creams, incidentally, are not nearly as effective as soap and water. In fact, some of them make acne worse by plugging up already clogged pores.

Your trouble might be particular items of food. So unless you are sure they do not cause flareups your physician will probably suggest you watch out for:

USELESS BUILDING—This four-story building at Ita Falls has all the appearances of a once-used structure but actually it isn't. candy, cookies, cake, ice cream meals, and drinking plenty of sodas, sauces, cola drinks. Instead, stick to vanilla or fruit flavored sodas and soft drinks, white cakes and cookies.

Don't expect the pimples to disappear overnight. If these suggestions for three months and your acne has improved, your family physician or a specialist he will probably prescribe external medicines of particular cause.

Woolen clothing next to bare skin might cause your neck or back to break out. If so, the solution is simple — don't wear wool except as an outer garment.

The bromides in cold pills, nerve medicines and sedatives cause skin difficulties for some people. So can iodine in cough syrups and table salt.
