Child Welfare Board Designed To Protect All County Children

(Editor's note: The following story was written exclusively for The Muleshoe Journal and Bailey County Journal by Kelly Scrivner, a student in the mass communications department at Texas Tech University. This and other stories are made possible through a grant from The Readers Digest Foundation.)

Each year in Texas, 2,000 children die and 5,300 children are placed in foster care each month as a direct result of child abuse.

The Bailey County Child Welfare Board, a committee of eight local citizens who volunteer to work to promote the welfare of children within Bailey County, are working to improve services to children and families who have experienced child abuse or neglect.

The purpose of the welfare board is to increase public awareness about child abuse, raise money for community projects, provide special services for foster children and develop resources such as clothing banks, transportation and money for emergency medical services.

Polly Ottwell, Bailey County Child Welfare Board president, said, "The Bailey County Child Welfare Board is my first love. I have never enjoyed anything as much as I enjoy working on the board and helping children in need."

The Bailey County Child Welfare Board was started in 1980 by County and Juvenile Court Judge Glen Williams (retired).

"It is a tragedy that the community does not realize the situations people live in. I thought the board could serve a fine purpose by educating our community," Williams said.

The Bailey County Child Welfare board tries to help all children in the community. The board is not restricted to helping only abused children.

Child abuse or neglect is defined as the non-accidental physical or mental injury, sexual abuse or negligent treatment of a child by a person responsible for the child's welfare.

Physical abuse is inflicting bodily injury on a child. Sexual abuse is involving a child in sexual activities with or without the child's consent. Emotional abuse is demanding more from a child than he or she is able to do, or severely criticizing or humiliating him or her.

Neglect is failing to provide food, clothing, shelter, medical care, adequate education or supervision for a child.

People who abuse or neglect children can be found in every social or economic level of society. Abusers are also members of all ethnic and cultural groups.

Members of the Bailey County Child Welfare Board are Polly Ottwell, president; Mike Doyle, vice president; Barbara Finney, secretary; Dan Throckmorton, treasurer; Nelda Hunt, secretary; Connie Kelmore, leg-

Economic-development organizations that think they have the site for a new industry lined up need to be aware of environmental restrictions that can surface and delay or cancel their projects.

That's the kind of disappointment a conference scheduled April 18 in Lubbock is designed to prevent.

The conference, Environmental Issues and Economic Development, is sponsored by the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, the South Plains Association of Governments and Southwestern Public Service Company. Economic-development professionals, chamber-of-commerce executives, government officials and community volunteers are invited.

"Soil contamination is just one of the issues every economic developer should be aware of," says Cheryl Pink, economic development specialist with SPS. "The U. S. Small Business Administration, bankers and others are increasingly strict in making sure any problem is identified and taken care of before permitting a project to proceed."

Recognizing environmental issues -- and responsibility dealing with them -- will be covered at the conference.

Topics and speakers will be: Environmental Liability and Economic Development, George V. Basham III, attorney with Lloyd, Gosselink, Fowler, Blevins & Mathews of Austin, specialists in environmental law and active in Texas and New Mexico.

Performing an Environmental Assessment, Aubrey Spear, manager of the Lubbock office of ENRECO, Inc., an environmental engineering and services firm.

Case Study, a description of an area project involving several aspects of environmental regulation, Kirk Folkner of the Amarillo Economic Development Council.

Impact of Environmental Legislation on Financing, Tim Pierce, manager of Caprock Certified Development Corporation of Lubbock; Barry Ballinger, vice president of Plains National Bank of Lubbock; and John Walz of the Lubbock district office of the Small Business Administration.

Real Estate Transactions and Environmental Issues, Cliff Watt, industrial broker and owner of Westar Realty, Inc. of Lubbock.

Registration fee for the conference, to be held at the Lubbock Plaza Inn, is $25. To register, or for more information, contact the Economic Development Department of SPS, (806) 378-2173.

Beef, Vegetables Highlight April 'Buys'

By Mary Mahoney
Texas consumers will find some good fresh produce buys in supermarkets during April, and lower beef prices enjoyed through the winter are expected to continue well into the coming month.

Dr. Dick Edwards, a food marketing expert with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said the expected rise in beef prices won't occur until the oversupply of cattle in feedlots clears the market during the next several weeks.

"Some spring produce prices will be down as marketings increase, but others are up from last year because of inflation resulting from the Iraqi conflict and a drought-reduced California harvest," he said.

Consumers can expect ample supplies and lower prices on broccoli, cabbage, cucumbers, radishes, carrots, onions, green peas, eggplant and tomatoes in particular, since these are grown in many states other than California, Edwards said.

"But prices may be up and supplies tighter on strawberries, asparagus and artichokes coming from California," he said. "These products, affected by both the December freeze and drought, will arrive at supermarkets later than normal this season."

Edwards said except for spring crops, however, expectations are that other states will add more production acres to increase summer and fall food crops. "The slack will be taken up by expansion elsewhere, as the severity of water shortages becomes more evident in California."

"Weather is always a factor when it comes to food production," Edwards said. "Although southern California received some rain this week, droughts there for the past four years are requiring growers to reduce water usage by about 75 percent. Attempts are being made to find quick solutions."

Produce also making its 1991 debut in April, Edwards said, will be sweet corn, watermelons, cantaloupes and honeydews. Produce going out of season during the month will be mustard and turnip greens, kale, grapefruit, oranges and the imported soft fruit from Chile.

"The cattle marketing delay will cause beef prices to remain flat for a longer time before starting the upward trend predicted earlier," he said.

"Supplies of pork and chicken also are greater than they were this time last year, and these larger supplies are expected to stabilize pork and poultry prices."

As the oversupply of beef clears the market, lower pork and poultry prices will force consumer beef prices to become more competitive with these meats, Edwards said. This will likely mean more advertised and discounted beef specials through supermarket promotion-

als. "Beef specials in April will shift from winter cuts of roasts to spring cuts of steaks. Look for specials on round, sirloin and hamburger steaks."

Pork products will fewer specials on roasts and ham, he added. "Instead, look for specials on pork steaks, chops, ribs and smoked sausage."

Demand for specific poultry cuts tends not to shift seasonally, thus the continual discounting of whole birds, chicken

Methodist Hospital New Child Care Center Opens

Officials of Methodist Hospital announce the opening of the new employee Child Care Center. Ceremony and tours are set for Tuesday, April 2, at the new location of 22nd Place and Joliet Avenue. Remarks will be made by William D. Poteet, III, FACHE, president/CEO of the Methodist Hospital, and other hospital officials at 2:15 p.m.

The new Child Care Center consolidates the two existing facilities for the children of hospital employees. The existing center was named a model center by the Hogg Foundation. The new facility becomes the largest corporate child care center, the largest hospital affiliated center and the largest accredited center in Texas. The previous facilities totaled 8,000 square feet while the new structure has close to 14,000 square feet.

Approximately 300 children ages birth to 13 years of age will be provided all day and after school care. The center also offers care for mildly-ill children. Parents have the opportunity to visit their children during the day when their work schedule permits.

Methodist Hospital has offered child care for its employees since August 10, 1987, when the first center opened.

TAEX Chooses Blue-Ribbon Review Group

A blue-ribbon task force of community and state leaders has been appointed to review the operations of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and make recommendations to assure its future vitality and effectiveness.

The 40-member panel, chaired by S. M. True of Plainview, president of the Texas Farm Bureau, will report its recommendations by late April to Dr. Edward Hiler, interim chancellor of the Texas A&M University System.

"Just seven years ago, the Extension Service was reviewed as part of Texas A&M's Target 2000 project," Hiler said. "At that time, we didn't anticipate expansion of the Texas A&M University System to include four more institutions in South and West Texas, so a reevaluation of our agricultural outreach program is appropriate."

The Extension Service currently operates educational programs through offices in 254 Texas counties and 14 district centers throughout the state.

"Over its 76-year history, Extension has changed constantly to meet the shifting needs and priorities of Texas citizens," said Dr. Zerle Carpenter, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"With an increasingly urbanized population, the economic importance of the agricultural industries, and the new opportunities presented by expansion of the A&M System, we need to study our options for the future," he said. The institutions recently added to the university system are Texas A&I University in Kingsville, Corpus Christi State University, Laredo State University, and West Texas State University in Canyon.

The panel will divide into subgroups to review the Extension Service along the five topic areas contained in the Target 2000 report: mission and program, clientele served, resources, organization and management, and intra-system relations.

Ruth Riley, Davis

Repeat Marriage Vows

Ruth Riley became the bride of Jeff Davis Friday, March 22 in the Fellowship Baptist Church at Clavene. Lynn Lemon read the wedding vows.

Parents of the couple are Viola Lockridge of Elida, N.M. and Barbara and James Dennis. Musical selections included "We've Only Just Begun", "Wedding March", "Endless Love" and "Bonded Together".

Given in marriage by Grover Whisenhunt, the bride chose an off-the-shoulder white satin gown featuring puffy short sleeves, fitted bodice, and a bow on the hip. The gown was tea length.

She carried a bouquet of blue and white carnations with four strands hanging down, two blue hearts on lace and two white bows on the lace, made by the bride's sister.

In keeping with tradition, the bride wore her mother's wedding ring for something old. Something new was her wedding gown, something borrowed was a bracelet and something blue was her blue garter.

Roxanna Priest served as her sister's matron of honor. She wore a royal blue tea-length gown. The gown was strapless with a bow in the back along with a split.

Flower girl was Starla Priest. Johnathon Priest served as ring bearer.

Best man was Shawn Beardsley. Amy Sanderson, sister of the groom, registered the guest.

The groom and best man were attired in black tuxedos, blue bow tie, blue cummerbund black dress shoes and ivory shirts.

Usher was Layton Priest, brother-in-law of the bride.

Dorothy Dent served as director.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held. The bride's table was covered with a blue and white table cloth and was adorned with a four layer wedding cake. Punch, mixed nuts and mints were served.

The groom's table was covered with a blue and white table cloth, accented with a blue fan, with blue roses beside his cake.

Servers were Jean Ivory, aunt of the groom; Terri Vest, and Staci Davis, sister of the groom.

This is the time of year when everyone should go out into the great outdoors.

Looking busy has become one of the great talents in government work.

Muleshoe TMC would like to thank Assistant Manager from Town & Country; Abigail Soto. Community Service Aide from Texas Dept of Health, Josie Pedroza and two other volunteers: Brocky Sandoval, and Gilbert Recio, and all our parents who attended. Again Thank You for your time, support, and spi it.

Art Show Scheduled

Here April 10-11

Some of the major artists that will be showing are: Paul Calle, R.D. Enright, S.D. Greer, G. Harvey, Tom Lovell, Frank McCarthy, E. John Robinson, Robert Summers and Robert Wood, all nationally known artists.

The show will be at the bank in Bovina on Friday, April 12.

Fifty to sixty pieces of art will be displayed at the First Bank in Muleshoe on Wednesday and Thursday, April 10 and 11, during their regular banking hours. The artwork represents artists from three galleries including Altermann and Morris Galleries, Dallas/Houston; Canyon Art Gallery, Canyon; and Rice Fine Art, Amarillo.

A collector for many years, Richard Rice of Rice Fine Art heads the event. He was able to assemble a significant collection of art during a 14-year period in which he taught school in Texas. Eventually his interest in art became greater than his interest in teaching and he decided to become a fine arts dealer on a full-time basis.

Canyon Art Gallery is owned by Mary Elizabeth Cornette and was opened in 1965. Her gallery has represented many outstanding artists including Porfirio Salinas, Fremont Ellis and G. Harvey.

Altermann and Morris Galleries was founded by Tony Altermann, who has been in the art business since the early 70's. The gallery is recognized nationally for its two major art exhibits--the American Arts Classic in Houston and the Collectors Sale in Dallas.

The combination of the three galleries inventory makes an impressive presentation which covers western, wildlife, landscape, impressionist, and figurative art. Watercolors, oil, drawings, bronzes, and limited edition prints are included in the show.

Prices of the artwork range from $200 to $38,000.

Hobby Club

Muleshoe Hobby Club met at 2 p.m. Thursday, April 4 in the Senior Citizens Complex with Glenda Morris as hostess.

Eleven members answered roll call. Those present included Sammie Ethridge, Jane Williams, Hazel Reeder, Katherine Hancock, Laura Mae Stansell, Frances Bruns, Glenda Morris, Mattie Benton, Onieda Cornelison, Myrtle Chambless and Mabel Caldwell.

Sammie Ethridge was in charge of the business meeting. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Onieda Cornelison drew the hostess gift which was a kitchen gadget.

Items taken to show included a afghan made by Mattie Benton, and Sammie Ethridge took a picture (Little Lost Girl) she had painted.

Ms. Benton reported that cake, chips and dips were served and the group enjoyed the time together as well as the refreshments.

Most of the people who are in a hurry have nothing to do.

The optimist believes in luck; the pessimist in fate

The trouble with most minds is that they're unused.

One thing that fiction often has on life is the happy ending.

Comptroller Awards 'Silver Snout' To TRS

"For demonstrating an amazingly poor understanding of what public trust entails, the first Silver Snout Award goes to officials of the Teacher Retirement System of Texas," State Comptroller John Sharp announced.

"The Teacher Retirement System faced some tough competition from the Texas Department of Commerce and the Texas Housing Agency," Sharp said. "But the more than $700,000 which they have spent on expensive furniture, extravagant artwork, fancy china, top-notch exercise equipment and even a greenhouse, certainly makes TRS administrators worthy recipients of the first Silver Snout Award."

"Clearly, these TRS bureaucrats place their own self-interest ahead of the financial best interest of Texas teachers, who have every right to squeal like a pig at the way their investment funds have been spent," Sharp said.

The silver-snouted pig trophy, unveiled at a State Capitol news conference, was designed and paid for by Sharp to depict "a bureaucrat with his or her snout firmly imbedded in the public trough."

An accompanying Silver Snout certificate, "bestowed with regret" by Sharp, says TRS bureaucrats have a "flagrant disdain for the overworked and underpaid teachers they purport to represent," and "engaged in a truly profligate spending spree in which they exhibited the imagination and panache and the sensitivity of a Donald Trump or a Leona Helmsley."

"When I took office January 3, I promised to do whatever it takes—even to the point of public humiliation—to defeat two enemies of Texas taxpayers," Sharp said. "The first is those people who cheat on the taxes they owe the state. We've started our attack against those deadbeats with Project Fair Pay."

"The second group which I vowed to wage war against is those entrenched bureaucrats who waste our hard-earned tax dollars. As the Legislature struggles to overcome a $4.5 billion budget deficit, auditors with the Texas Performance Review are poring over state agency records in search of waste and duplication."

"The Texas Performance Review also has found some bureaucrats who have gone above and beyond the bounds of common sense and/or common decency in the expenditure of public money. These people clearly deserve special, public recognition. The Silver Snout Award is the most fitting recognition I know for agency officials who achieve such levels of extravagance," Sharp said.

"It's important to stress that the Teacher Retirement System of Texas does a damn good job of managing the funds it does invest. It receives approximately $800 million a year from Texas taxpayers and is one of the biggest and best pension funds in the country."

"Unfortunately the leadership of this agency has forgotten that they are dealing with public funds here. The taxpayers of Texas, and the teachers of Texas, and most especially the more than 100,000 retired teachers of Texas and their beneficiaries have entrusted the Teacher Retirement System to do its absolute best to invest and manage their funds."

"However, the extravagance exhibited by TRS administrators in decorating and furnishing their new office building at 1000 Red River here in Austin secures their place as the inaugural Silver Snout," Sharp said. "Just consider the following:

- $272,000 in custom-made office furniture. TRS officials chartered a state airplane to fly them to Fort Worth and Dallas to view furnishings for their new building. These furnishings include a $38,000 custom conference table and 24 conference chairs costing another $41,400. There are also plush mohair and spinyback leather sofas, custom desks and file cabinets, lounge tables and a $5,000 custom credenza with a three-quarter-inch Athenian Green Guatemalan marble top.

"Instead of worrying about what shade of green marble is on their credenza, TRS should worry more about what kind of 'greenbacks' they're earning for the retired teachers of Texas," Sharp said.

- $235,000 in artwork. The TRS headquarters is adorned with a three-panel tapestry, a ceramic tile mural, two acrylic paintings on carpet and an $86,000, 12-foot, bronze abstract sculpture by Charles Umlauf which rises from a four-foot red granite pedestal. Special lighting has also been installed at TRS to highlight this artwork.

- $50,000 for custom exercise and gym equipment. TRS staff members enjoy the use of a computerized rowing machine, a stair-climbing machine, a treadmill and four exercise bicycles.

Separate lockers and shower facilities are also available for TRS employees.

"Retired school teachers, however, are prohibited from using the equipment," Sharp said.

- $43,000 for plants and a greenhouse. According to a TRS brochure, "the rehabilitation is necessary "for the rehabilitation of ailing plants."

- $8,800 for Rego Nottingham Burgundy China. TRS china includes not only cups, plates and saucers, but also fruit dishes, soup bowls and bouillon cups.

"You can eat bouillon out of an ordinary soup bowl, but it just doesn't taste the same," Sharp said.

"My father turned 75 years of age on March 29," Sharp said. "He receives less than $100 a month from the annuity my mother acquired from her 25 years as a public school teacher in Texas. At that rate, my dad would have to live to be 107 just to buy the $38,000 custom-built conference table in the TRS boardroom."

"Think about the 100,000 retired public school teachers of Texas, or their survivors, many of whom are like my dad and receive a meager 100 dollars a month from TRS. Think about the spinyback leather sofas and

A primary objective for League directors is to maintain a high correlation between what is taught in the classroom and what is required of students involved in extracurricular competition," said Janet Wiman, UIL academic director. the Guatemalan marble table and tapestries and the china, the exercise equipment and the greenhouse.

"School teachers and Texas taxpayers have every right to wonder how much better off we'd all be if officials of the Teacher Retirement System had kept their silver snout out of the public trough and maintained the retired educators of this state as their top priority," Sharp said.

Sharp announced that a special Silver Snout certificate for officials of the Teacher Retirement System and the pig trophy will become the first entries on a Wall of Shame that will be created just outside his office in the LBJ State Finance Building.

Sharp also encouraged individuals who have nominations for future Silver Snout Awards to contact his office at 1-800-BEAT-WASTE (1-800-232-8927) and that auditors from the Texas Performance Review will investigate those complaints.

Olympics To Have Eight From Muleshoe

Area 17 Special Olympics will be held Saturday, April 13, at Coronado High School in Lubbock.

Jumping events get underway at 8 a.m., followed by the grand parade at 10 a.m.

Other events will follow until 3:30 p.m.

The day will end with a Ho-Down at the South Plains Fair Grounds. The dress, food and music, will be "western."

A spokesperson said, "There will be eight Olympians from Muleshoe competing. If you want to spend a fulfilling day and share in lots of joy and hugging, spend April 13 with us at Coronado High."

In the spirit of the annual Special Olympic competition, Nancy Kidd submitted the following poem. It was written by Wanda Bryan, "Friend of Special Olympians."

What is this crowd
So happy-so free
Could they be here

Because of me?
My friends and I
Stand ready to race
Is that why the joy
Reflects in each face?
We've given our best
We're given at last
The Olympic Torch
Now ours to pass.
Our pounding hearts
Aglow with pride
In the shadow of no one
We stand side by side
Yes, the journey was long
But love paved the way
From family and friends
Who cheer us today.
And now we stand ready
Awaiting the call
We'll not disappoint you
We'll give it our all.

Sandhill Cranes Migrate North

For Summer

The Lesser sandhill cranes have left the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge for the summer. Most are now in south central Nebraska along the North Platte River where they will remain for a few more weeks feeding and building up their body fat content in preparation for nesting and rearing their young chicks in northern Canada, western Alaska, and even Siberia.

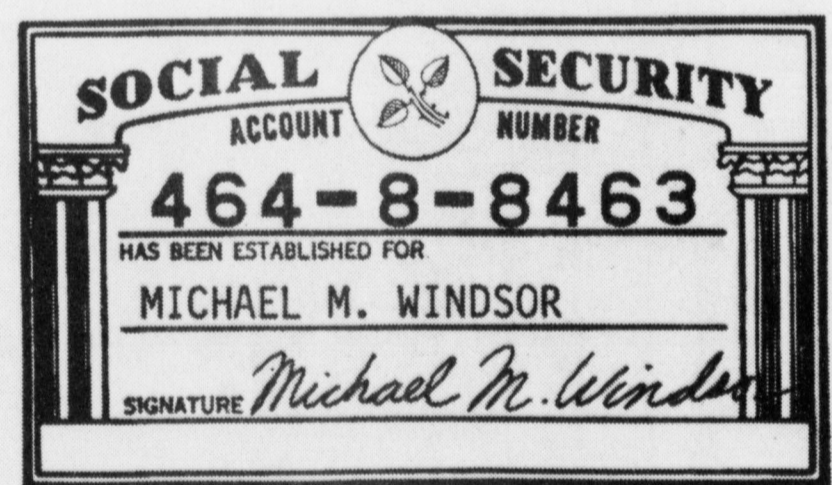

Although the cranes are gone from the refuge, says Refuge manager Don Clapp, migrating song birds and shore birds are beginning to arrive. There are other wildlife for visitors to see also, such as hawks, owls, and prairie dogs.

The best time of day to see most wildlife is either early in the morning or in the evening. There is a picnic area/campground and a short nature trail at the refuge available to visitors using the refuge for wildlife observation.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa, What can I do about my grandfather and his driving? He always has his license renewed in time so that he doesn't have to have an examination. But I am afraid he will kill himself and others if he keeps on driving. He has cataracts in both eyes but refuses to have an operation.

for him to have the cataracts removed. I had this done and now wear contacts and have no trouble driving. -Louisa.

IN FASHION

Swimsuits are new and exciting. One designer adds an inner-lining that slims the entire body. This new inner-lining is causing a much excitement as the introduction of the bikini years ago. The new collection comes in a variety of styles and fabrics. The one-piece suit comes in tropical prints, black, white, and a number of pastel colors. Some two-piece suits feature skirts while others are not as brief as some bikinis of the past.

Answer: I do not know what the law is in Virginia, but in some states you have to take an examination when they reach the age of seventy. How old is your grandfather? My advice would be past.

Kiwanis News

By R.A. Bradley

Thirteen Kiwanians, three honorary Kiwanians, Jon Keith Turner, Robby Clapp and Chad Johnson and Sweetheart Marsha 'Chocolate Covered Ice Cream' Wilson, and one guest, Dale Williams, met Friday morning at the Dairy Queen for breakfast. At least most of us did. Robby and Chad still don't know what to eat for breakfast.

Marsha must have been sick as she didn't eat her 'Chocolate Covered Ice Cream' this morning. It might have been because there was a nice looking, young Navy man present!!

President Glen Morris called the meeting to order. Marsha Wilson led the club in the pledge to our flag. Bryan Morris gave the invocation.

It seems our friendship coin is out of town. We don't know whether Marsha ran him off or is Lyndon Huckaby out of town looking for a friend. Maybe Huck will be back next week and find a friend at home.

The nominating committee presented candidates for the officers for the upcoming year - Larry Parker, president; Randy Lewis, vice president; Eddie Morris, secretary and Scott Churchman, treasurer.

These men were elected and will be our new officers for end of 1991 and year of 1992. We are proud to have these men as our new leaders.

Glen introduced our guest, Dale Williams, a Navy Reserve Recruiter from Lubbock. Dale gave our program for this morning. Dale told of some of the things about the Navy Reserve.

There is always a need for our Reserve units to supplement our regular forces in time of emergency. They must be trained and ready in case of being needed.

It is fresh on our minds as to the conflict that has just happened. Our need to call up the Reserves, and the wonderful job that our Armed Forces did.

All of our men and women of each branch of the Armed Forces are to be commended for the wonderful job they did when called on. All of the training paid off.

Whether you are in the Navy, Army, Air Force, Marines, Coast Guard, or which ever branch of the Armed Forces, we say thank you for a job well done. We love you and are proud to be Americans.

Dale showed a slide presentation about the Navy. Dale asked Marsha to start a rumor in school that he (Navy) had about $12,000 to help people continue their education.

So, Marsha, please help start this rumor. I wouldn't want to help you.

Dale, thanks for a good program and come back and visit the Kiwanis Club anytime.

Thanks again.

Pesticide Applicators Training Set

Aerial applicators who apply chemicals to crops and rangeland throughout West Texas will swarm to Levelland April 15-19 for training to update their knowledge and for equipment checks to reduce drift of materials during spray operations.

The fly-in at the Levelland Municipal Airport is sponsored by the West Texas district of the Texas Aerial Applicators Association. Training will be conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The program is supported by the chemical companies which supply the materials applied by air. "Our fly-in has been selected for the pyrethroid drift reduction program that is mandated by the Environmental Protection Agency," said Randy Murphree, owner of Murphree's Flying Service in Rotan and TAAA district vice president.

Participants can receive as many as three continuing education units for taking part in the training and airplane tests.

The training will begin at 8 a.m. April 15 with an hour of flight demonstrations. Instruction then will focus on reduction of spray drift, new pyrethroids and labeled restrictions for their use, said Tommy Valco, Extension Service agricultural engineer and specialist in mechanization and safety. Proper aircraft setup, weather factors and drift parameters will be included.

After lunch, individual aircraft will be pattern tested. In these tests, computerized equipment is used to monitor the efficiency and detect any trouble spots with equipment, such as valves operating improperly.

Pilots intending to have their planes tested should telephone Murphree at Rotan (phone 915-735-2266) to be scheduled. The pattern testing will continue for the following several days, as necessary, Murphree said. There is no charge for the tests.

Always

No wonder the average American must use his head. He is always up to his neck in something.

Allergy Victims Know Spring Has Arrived

People who suffer from seasonal allergies already know that the season started early this year.

Their sneezing, itching and congestion told them so.

"The pollen that brings misery to sufferers appeared early due to a mild winter," said Dr. David P. Huston, associate professor of medicine at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

"Of course, some people suffer almost year round from such allergies because they live in temperate climates where the pollen count remains high most of the time," Huston said.

In temperate areas, tree pollens usually are heavy in March, succeeded in the coming months by other pollens. January and February are relatively irritant-free for many areas.

"Air pollution compounds the problem," Huston said. "Chemicals and smoke can definitely aggravate allergy symptoms."

Some people are afflicted with perennial allergies in addition to seasonal allergies.

"These are the people allergic to things which, unlike a specific pollen, are present in their environments year-round," Huston said.

Many people are allergic to the dander of animals they keep in their homes.

Others have what is commonly called a dust allergy but is in fact a reaction to contaminants found in dust. Roaches and mites contribute heavily to this.

Molds are also common causes of allergic reactions. Air conditioning systems and air ducts frequently harbor these allergy villains.

"Avoidance is clearly the best of all alternatives," Huston said, "but we have to be realistic. Avoidance is not always possible."

Over-the-counter relief is available for allergies that cause runny noses, itchy eyes and congestion. Those most commonly used are antihistamines, but they can cause drowsiness.

Prescription drugs, including antihistamines that do not cause drowsiness, are available through physicians.

"Allergy shots are not necessarily the first line of therapy," Huston said. "The shots do help some people, but they should be reserved for patients whose allergy symptoms cannot be adequately controlled in other ways."

Allergies and allergy-like reactions can result from conditions other than pollens and perennial irritants. Foods, for example, can be a source of allergies, and some dyes and other substances can cause allergic-like reactions.

Careful screening by allergists can help people pinpoint the causes of their suffering, Huston said.

A free brochure entitled Living With Allergies is available by writing to Living With Allergies, Baylor College of Medicine, P. O. Box 130567, Houston, TX 77219.

Few people complain about being over-rewarded by life's fortunes.
