When my family was in same moment. Branson, we attended the Titanic Museum. Going through the museum we saw artifacts, news clippings, information, etc. concerning that fateful Atlantic Ocean crossing of the Titanic back in April of 1912. The part of the museum tour that will stick in my mind the most, however, was toward the end. To simulate just how cold the Atlantic Ocean was when those many people ended up being hurtled into it, there was a small tub of water at that frigid temperature. Next to it was a stopwatch so you could see how long you could put your hand into that water before feeling compelled to remove it. So, at the same moment, my two oldest children and myself started the clock and put our hands into It makes us feel as though God the water. But, surprising us, was a museum attendant, dressed as a Titanic crewmember, who put eventually, everyone mired in sin his hand into the water at that will perish.

which meets at 1001 S. Alan Bean

Blvd. in Wheeler, Texas

The water was COLD!!! Within a few seconds, one of my children had already removed the hand. After a few more seconds, and a great deal of pain in my hand, I said to my other child that I predicted the crew member with us was going to win this little competition of who can keep their hand in the longest. But, the crewmember responded with a profound answer, "Oh, no, being in water this cold produces no winners at all. Eventually, everyone in this cold water will perish."

We look at people who are all around us. We are sinners. They are sinners. But, we often end up saying or thinking that we are not as bad a sinner as they are. will take us home before he would take them home. But,

I will love thee, O Lord, my strength. The Lord is my rock, and my fortress, and my deliverer; my God, my strength, in whom I will trust; my buckler, and the horn of my salvation, and my high tower. I will call upon the Lord, who is worthy to be praised: so shall I be saved from mine enemies. Psalms 18:1-3

Bless the Lord, O my soul: and all that is within me, bless his holy name. Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: Who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases; Who redeemeth thy life from destruction; who crowneth thee with lovingkindness and tender mercies; Who satisfieth thy mouth with good things; so that thy youth is renewed like the eagle's. The Lord executeth righteousness and judgment for all that are oppressed. He made know his ways unto Moses, his acts unto the children of Israel. The is merciful and gracious, slow to anger, and plenteous in mercy. He will not always chide: neither will he keep his anger for ever. Psalm 103 1-9

The weather here in Allison this Tuesday morning is foggy and cold outside. Well Allison didn't get any snow, but the freeze did get our fruit. I was praying and hoping that it wouldn't but it did anyway. But we were thankful to get to see the beautiful blooms on the fruit trees. At least we saw the beauty of it.

are no bees down there. Anyway, by the time we got there, it was blowing up a storm with 2-foot waves and plenty of white caps on the water and, try as we may, that to. Then, I put him down and he trolling motor could not get us back to our truck. Glenn did not think we he sees me leave. Then, Glenn would need the gas boat motor so tries to make it out the door behe had not brought it. I bet that fore Henry attacks him. Glenn man can forget just about anything; I even tell him to not forget me when we are out shopping! Well, after a couple of hours of trying to fish in that hurricane, we decided to hike out and leave the boat on shore until the wind let up. After going through head-high brush (I am only 5' 2"), swamp-like conditions and tall timber, we finally made it to the truck. On the way, I got caught up in a barbed wire fence that threw me to the ground and made a hole in my hand. There is one thing Texas and Oklahoma have a plenty of and that is barbed wire fences. We had to go through two of them on our hike out-which seemed like a 10-mile hike! After fishing from the shore in a more protected area, we finally hiked back to the boat and when the wind was calmer, Glenn drove it back up the lake and onto the boat trailer. After all that, we caught only ten fish. He has not mentioned going fishing lately, but, then again, we have had a change in weather as usual and are expecting anytime. Weatherman said we might get up to 6 inches and my tomato plants will not like that a bit. Glenn said the freeze last night probably got our fruit again and I say, "What else is new?" Oh well, when we do get fruit from our trees, we get so much that it covers the ground and draws the wasps. Too bad for the wasps this year! They will probably starve.

I have been watching our wild birds build their nests and it reminds me of our doves in California. Every year, they would build a nest in my wisteria vine over the porch and leave a hole in the bottom. Every year I would have splattered bird eggs on my porch. A friend of mine said it was like instant abortion. Anyway, I tried putting up fake nests, but it never worked. Since we always had plenty of doves in the yard, there must have been some smarter doves than my porch doves.

Had several inquiries about Henry and how he survived the tornado that came within 25 miles of us. Well, we are fine, too, and Henry is well and still after

Renewable Energy Grants Available

USDA Rural Development State Director Bryan Daniel announced today the availability of $176.5 million in loan guarantees and $11.4 million in competitive grants to support investments in renewable energy and energy efficiency improvements by agricultural producers and small rural businesses. Renewable energy systems utilizing wind, solar, biomass, geothermal or hydrogen sources may be purchased. Energy efficiency improvements may include retrofitting lighting or insulation, irrigation, grain dryers, or purchasing or replacing equipment with more efficient units in existing or new replacement facilities. Loan guarantees cover up to 50 percent of a project's cost, not to exceed $10 million. Grants are available for up to 25 percent of a project's cost, not to exceed $250,000 for energy efficiency improvements and $500,000 for renewable energy systems. These loan guarantees and grants are expected to reduce greenhouse gas emissions by 0.97 metric tons, replace 821 million barrels of foreign oil and generate almost 2 million kilowatt hours of electricity annually. USDA has funded more than 400 loans and grants since the renewable energy program began in FY 2003.

"American agriculture is going through a time of enormous transformation," said Bryan Daniel, State Director, USDA Rural Development. ""We need to be bold in recognizing and capitalizing on new opportunities. Renewable energy is unquestionably one of those areas that present tremendous opportunities for economic gains and ultimately an improved quality of life for rural Texans."

To date, the Bush Administration has invested through this program nearly $66.7 million in 36 states. This program can assist farmers, ranchers, and small rural businesses develop renewable energy systems and make energy efficiency improvements to their operations. During Fiscal Year 2006, Texas provided nearly 1.7 million for this program.

Applications for grants must be completed and submitted to the Texas USDA Rural Development, Attention Business Programs, 101 S. Main, Suite 102, Temple, TX 76501, postmarked no later than May 18. The deadline for submitting loan applications as well as for loan and grant combinations is July 2. USDA Rural Development strives to see that rural citizens can participate fully in the global economy by providing technical assistance, funding, and other proterday and Henry got on his high perch and waited for me to pick him up and hold him. He gets petted and loved and sweet talked gets back on the high perch until needs to run faster to beat Henry to the door. Of course, Henry does have wings and you-know-who does not. Son-in-law Ron called to see if Henry was ok after the tornado and also to check on us. Our hens are still setting on four eggs, so we may have another little Henry before long. Do not know if the world or Glenn is ready for that as yet! Love to all of you from this former California woman, Betty
