Work Continues On SPS Station

Blue steel reaches high in the air at Southwestern Public Service Company's Tolk Station near Earth, Texas. The coal-fired plant in Lamb County is becoming a reality--no longer just blueprints or a large hole in the ground surrounded by huge construction equipment, piles of blue steel, a few temporary construction buildings.

Although still a year and a half from scheduled completion, the unit is taking shape. In the plant itself, not including the stack not the coal handling facilities, 42,360 yards of concrete have been poured with 2,600 tons of rebar in the concrete. The majority of the steel has been erected, 7,535 tons so far.

The boiler construction is continuing on schedule with high pressure piping now being welded. The siding is being put on the boiler and turbine buildings. All concrete has been poured on the 400 foot high stack with the baghouse structure about half complete.

The office building has been occupied by the plant manager Ben Green and the senior engineer Earl Zwickey. There are presently about 650 people, both construction and SPS personnel, at the plant location.

Tolk, like all of Southwestern's plants constructed since 1952, is designed and engineered by Southwestern personnel. No two units have been built exactly alike but the first and second unit at Tolk will be very similar. However, if new technology is introduced which would make the second unit more efficient or easier to operate, then changes would be made.

Southwestern is one of very few electric utility companies in the United States that design and engineer their own plants. This procedure has proven to be very efficient and economical--so economical in fact, that Southwestern's plants are built for about one-half of the national average per kilowatt. And when you consider that the first unit at Tolk will cost well over $200-million, the savings to Southwestern's customers becomes apparent.

For the last few years, Southwestern has put a new unit on the line about every two years but each unit takes longer than two years to construct. When the third unit at Harrington Station near Amarillo, Texas, went on the line last summer, Tolk Station had been under construction for over two years.

Tolk, like Harrington, will be a coal-fired plant and will use a baghouse filter system for emission control which operates on much the same principal as a vacuum cleaner.

Tolk will be equipped with a Direct Digital Control (DDC) system. Harrington III has a DDC system and is one of only five or six DDC systems in operation in the United States today. The DDC incorporates three computer systems; the boiler control system; the data acquisition system (or plant computer which is the eyes and ears of the plant operators and continuously monitors the efficiency of the plant); and the turbine speed and load control system.

The coal-handling facility at Tolk will feature rotary-dump cars. The railroad cars, moving through a dumping building located over the coal stackout hopper, will be turned upside down while still attached to cars in front and back. The rotary-dump cars are five to seven tons lighter than the bottom-dump cars used at Harrington Station and will carry more coal while remaining within the maximum gross weight percar. The conveyor vents are now being assembled on the coal-handling facility.

The largest single piece of equipment, the generator-stator, is scheduled to be shipped from East Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, the last of this month. This Westinghouse generator, weighing 385 tons, will be shipped by rail on a special rail car owned by Westinghouse.

When Tolk goes on the line, it will have a capability of 543,000 kilowatts and will be Southwestern's largest single unit. This one unit will generate more electricity than any of Southwestern's gas-fired plants and considerably more than a single unit at Harrington. Tolk will generate enough electricity to supply a city of 225,000 people.

One unit at Tolk will burn 296 tons of Wyoming coal per hour, 6,104 tons per day, 2,592,960 tons per year. Four trains per week, each composed of 110 cars, will be required to supply coal to Tolk.

When the first unit at Tolk starts generating electricity in the summer of 1982, construction of the second unit at the same location will be well under way.

LOCAL STUDENTS RAISE $1714 IN BOOK-A-THON

Students at Wheeler School were recognized during an awards assembly on Dec. 17, 1980 for their outstanding effort in the 1980 Texas Easter Seal Society Book-A-Thon Program.

Throughout the month of October children have been reading books and collecting pledge money to help handicapped children and adults in this area.

This Easter Seal educational program is a unique way for students to combine the joys and benefits of reading and also become aware of community responsibility and help the disabled in their area.

"The children here did a great job on the Book-a-thon. They raised over $1714.00 for the Texas Easter Seal Society and at the same time learned about the importance of the many services which are provided by this organization," said Thomas Helton, school principal.

Money raised through the Book-a-thon Program is used by Easter Seals to provide occupational and physical therapy and orthopedic equipment such as wheelchairs and braces for physically disabled Texans.

Outstanding students received recognition in two categories. First and second place prizes were awarded to the students who read the most books and the students who collected the most money.

In addition each student who raised over $30 received an official Book-a-thon T-shirt.

Those students who received top prizes were: Dee Ann Jolly won a 10-speed bicycle, Tom Cook and Bobbie Kuchler won digital watches and Mindy Hardcastle and Janie Hogan won portable radios.

Christmas is over, but there seems yet to be a rush and bustle. I must clear out some overdue jobs before I can really get started on next year's program. The workroom closet is running over—an accumulation of garments to be mended, altered or recycled, and overflow of scraps that I want to make into quilts, bedspreads or afagans (my friends have such pretty ones. Why can't I get around to it?) boxes, bags, sacks and papers, which nobody but a squirrel would hoard, yarn waiting to be worked up into beautiful things that I would love to be using or giving away and an assortment of things that some charitable organization might be able to use. Whoops! I'd better get at it.

Some people have told me about their Holiday visitors. Wish some of the rest of you would call.

Tommy and Elizabeth Bolin of Pampa, visited with her parents, Elva and Fred Wood, last week. The Woods went to Groom on the weekend to bring their granddaughter, Carlene Britton, to spend a few days with them.

Lurine and Gordon Ropers granddaughters from Dallas were here last week.

Kari and Wade Childress of Pampa came early last week to spend vacation time with their grandparents, Dorothy and Adrian Risner, their parents, Darla and Punk, came for the holiday, and the children returned home with them.

Eli and Helen Sabbe spent their holidays with their son, Joey and family in Crowell. While there they took time to drive to Spur to see an underground home of a friend. Now just watch Eli, he might undertake a project like that right here in Wheeler.

Lucille Burgess had to be a bit late with her Christmas dinner, so that all the family could be there. On Saturday they had their dinner, Clarence and Waunetta Whittenburg and family came from Shawnee, Oklahoma; Don and Patsy Carlton and Rodney came from Shamrock, Scotty Carlton, WTSU and Bobby and Shevon Guthrie of Amarillo, joined the family. The Whittenburgs had to rush home on Saturday night so he could be in the pulpit at his church on Sunday. Lucille said there was so much food left over that she called the Carltons back on Sunday to consume it. Bobby and Shevon returned to Amarillo from here. Lucille made it to church that night-tired but happy.

Villard and Dianne Hunter and family took time during the holidays to visit with her parents, Joe and Mary Weatherly, her brother, Rodney and Debbie Weatherly, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Hunter and other relatives. Villard and Dianne are moving from Ft. Smith, Arkansas to Houston. Their household furnishings are in Houston, but they are remaining crated till the Hunters have their Holiday.

David Tidwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Tidwell is here for a few days. David has been attending a Theological College in St. Louis, Missouri for three years. He is now on his way to Wyoming where he will pastor a church. David filled the pulpit at the local Baptist church Sunday night, in the absence of Pastor Jerry Hogan, who was serving a need in Amarillo, being with the Patterson family, while Virgil was having emergency surgery.

On Christmas Eve I drove out for a short visit with Ollie Jaco and Lavelle. There I found Darrell and Janice (Jaco) Marrs and their two grown-up sons from Moore, Oklahoma, and also Joe and Ruby Jaco and children from Pampa. It had been a long time since I'd seen most of those people, so I'm glad I went at that time.

Stanley and Connie Baker and family of Snyder, Oklahoma, spent the Holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. 'Fat' Moore and Stanley's mother Mona Guinn and grandmother, Nettie Luttrell. The two smaller children stayed a few days longer with the grandparents.

Hestell Killingsworth is at home now after being in hospitals in Shattuck, Wheeler, and Oklahoma City for 6 or 7 weeks. She is improving but not well enough to be up and around very much.

Ed, Patricia, Curtis and Gary used Saturday for their Christmas festivities at White Deer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cosper and her sister, Mr. and Mrs.

NUMB ARMS, LEGS Danger Signals

There may be misalignment of vertebrae in the spine causing pressure on nerves, yet the patient experiences no pain in the back. Instead, a variety of sensations may be felt in other parts of the body. These include tingling, tightness, hot spots, cold spots, crawling sensations, electric shock sensations, stinging, burning, and others.

Here are nine critical symptoms involving back pain or strange sensations which are usually the forerunners of more serious conditions. Any one of these usually spells back trouble.

- (1) Paresthesias (see above) (2) Headaches
- (3) Painful joints (4) Numbness in the arms or hands (5) Loss of sleep (6) Stiffness in the neck (7) Pain between the shoulders (8) Stiffness or pain in lower back (9) Numbness or pain in the legs.

These signals indicate that your body is being robbed of normal nerve function. Until this function is restored, you will, in some degree, be incapacitated. The longer you wait to seek help, the worse the condition will become. Don't wait! Should you experience any of these danger signals... call for in depth consultation in Layman's terms.

A Common Cold-Sense Checklist for the Common Cold
It is "cold" season again with all the old common-cold problems, but most colds are combatable — especially if you use a "common-sense checklist" as ammunition.
The "Common-sense checklist" has three parts: understanding which treatments do not work, knowing basic treatment tips and spotting "call-the-doctor" signs.
'No-Work' Treatments
To understand which treatments do not work, understand the common cold first. Most colds are caused by a virus — called "rhinovirus." These tiny cells invade the body any time of the year, but late winter and early spring are the prime times for colds, according to epidemic patterns.
Antibiotics, such as penicillin and tetracycline, do not work to cure the common cold, because these antibiotics cannot fight a virus.
Basic Treatment Tips
To treat a cold, keep its symptoms in mind. They include watery nasal congestion, sneezing, sore throat, sinus pain, cough and fever.
Also, remember that colds usually last from just three to seven days — and a low-grade fever often occurs around the third day.
Then follow these basic treatment tips:
STAY CLEAN — personal cleanliness during a cold may help prevent the virus' spread to those around you.
STAY WARM AND RESTED — avoid excessively cold temperatures and over fatigue. Of course, you should also avoid getting over-heated.
DRINK LIQUIDS MORE — make sure you increase the amount of liquids you usually consume.
STOP SMOKING.
USE ORAL NASAL DECONGESTANT — if you need it to relieve congestion symptoms.
TAKE ASPIRIN — if you need it to relieve pain.
CHECK YOUR TEMPERATURE EVERY DAY — to make sure it isn't too high. It should stay below 102 degrees.
'CALL-THE-DOCTOR' SIGNS
Although a physician usually doesn't need to know you have a cold, there are certain signs that tell you to call the doctor — to avoid serious complications, such a viral pneumonia.
Here are the danger signs:
* a temperature that stays over 101 degrees F. several times every day
* an increase in throat pain
* white or yellow spots on the throat or tonsils
* chest pain
* an earache
* coughing that produces a green or gray sputum
* no improvement by the fifth day
Call the doctor if you have one or more of these symptoms.

SPS Is Awarded Study Contract

The environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has awarded Southwestern Public Service Company a $1-million contract to conduct a three-year pilot baghouse study, Bill Esler, vice president of engineering and construction for SPS, announced today.
"This is the second contract award we have received from the EPA," Esler said. "Our experience with the fabric filter technology is the reason we received the contract and we are very happy to be able to continue our research in this important field." The study, to be conducted at Harrington Station, is an "off-shoot" of another study being performed by SPS for the EPA on the Unit 2 baghouse.
A pilot baghouse is a "miniature" air quality control device that utilizes fabric bags to collect the ash particles produced by burning coal. SPS has been using a full-scale baghouse since 1978 on the No. 2 and since mid-1980 on Unit No. 3 at Harrington Station, Southwestern's first coal-fired power plant, northeast of Amarillo.
The principle of fabric filtration is comparable to that of a vacuum cleaner. Fine particles of ash are captured inside fabric bags, resulting in clean air being released into the atmosphere. Selection of the proper fabric is critical; most baghouse fabrics are made of fiberglass to withstand the extremely high (300 degrees - 350 degrees F) temperatures of the exiting gas. SPS was the first electric utility to install such a system on a new utility boiler. Esler said this experience is of special interest to other coal-burning utilities looking for effective methods of air quality control.
"The intent of the SPS/EPA pilot study is to develop information which will help utilities select the proper fabric for specific applications. Major study areas include testing of various fabrics, evaluation of different cleaning cycles, and identification of those aspects which make baghouses more efficient," Esler concluded.

GOVERNOR'S REPORT

It is my prediction that the Texas Legislature in 1981 will direct the most significant changes in our Texas public school system since the Gilmer-Aikin laws were enacted more than 30 years ago.

My recommendations in the area of education hopefully will point the way to making our elementary and secondary schools second to none in the nation.

They are based on the year-long study and report of a blue ribbon group, the Governor's Advisory Committee on Education, made up of 20 outstanding Texans from all parts of the State and headed by Dr. Willis Tate, president emeritus of Southern Methodist University.

Texans are well served by their schools. But the schools must continue to improve to meet the needs of all our students. We must develop an educational program that is right for Texas.

I firmly believe that Texans want a return to basics in the schools, and that is the heart of the proposals I will submit to the Legislature. The current curriculum is an aggregation of elements mandated by state law, State Board of Education policy, school board policy and federal law and regulation. Subjects are added to address perceived social ills or single interest purposes. None are ever deleted. The total curriculum has become fragmented and diluted.

Existing laws that mandate courses to be included in the curriculum should be repealed, and the State Board of Education should be given the authority to establish and implement a state basic curriculum. Reading, writing and arithmetic should be emphasized along with other basic subjects such as the physical and social sciences, the arts, physical education and vocational education.

I will also ask the Legislature to require a state competency test for teachers before they are certified and as a prerequisite for admission to approved teacher education programs. (The bill "grandfathers" present teachers and students enrolled in teaching programs).

Teaching excellence must be encouraged and rewarded. Toward this end, I am recommending an increase of about 22 per cent over a two year period in teacher salaries, plus increases in retirement pay and fringe benefits. I also advocate establishment of the position of master teacher for those who consistently demonstrate a high level of classroom performance. The designation would carry with it a raise in pay grade. It will keep good teachers in the classroom and aid recruiting of future teachers.

Some of the other priority items in my public school improvement program include:

—Establishment of a summer school pilot program to help students who are having learning difficulties and need help in certain areas, as well as to provide enrichment opportunities for the gifted.

—Creation of guidance centers for pupils with behavioral problems or character disorders who are disruptive in the classroom.

—Development of a comprehensive and efficient state vocational-occupational training program, based on actual and projected needs of the job market.

—Elimination of so-called social promotions.

—Encouragement of school district boards to relieve classroom teachers of excessive paperwork which reduces instructional time and effort.

—Cooperation of state and local policymakers to influence federal law and regulations from a Texas position on educational matters. Local control of our public schools must be maintained. Federal decision making is not the key to meaningful school improvement.

I am confident that a big percentage of these recommendations will be acted upon by the Legislature during the 1981 regular session. Toward that end, I have renewed the membership of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Education to assure strong, coordinated support of this program before the Legislature.

Tony Presley

ERICK FIRE DEPT. TO SPONSOR PROGRAM

This is a special bulletin that is intended for people who were and are presently fans of the late, great Elvis Presley. For those of you who fit into this category, there is a special treat that awaits you on Jan. 11, 1981 at 3:00 p.m. The Erick Police Dept. is bringing our show, entitled "Memories of Elvis" to the Erick Grade School Auditorium in Erick, Oklahoma. This show is produced by Bob Russell, who owns and produces the Tupelo Opry of Tupelo, Mississippi. The Tupelo Opry is the largest touring country music production in the United States today. The show was viewed by over one million people in three hundred towns in twenty-seven states last year. The Erick Police Dept. is putting this show on for the purpose to raise some badly needed funds for the organization. Proceeds from the benefit will be used by the organization to enhance the already fine service they are providing for the area.

"Memories of Elvis" features Tony Presley, who's Elvis Presley's first cousin. Tony, like many true Elvis fans, is greatly appalled at the number of Rip-off artists that are trying to make a quick buck off of the grief that is felt by these fans. Tony intends to perpetuate the memory of his famous relative by using his own talent and skills that he learned firsthand while touring with Elvis. He has polished these skills under the handling of the professionals at the Tupelo Opry with constant rehearsals. Tony also picked up many of the king's onstage traits, mannerisms, and characteristics that he has now incorporated into his own state act. He not only sings the songs that were made famous by Elvis, but he sings them just as Elvis himself sang them, complete with the famous Presley gyrations. Tony is keeping the memory of Elvis real and alive for the legions of still loyal Elvis fans with his own state act. Tony is well on his way to becoming a number one Elvis impressionist in the world as well as the United States.

James White is one of the stars that will appear at the benefit with Tony Presley. James has the distinction of being one of the first singers to record the now classic country-rock hit, "Rub It In," which has sold in excess of one million copies and still counting. James will also sing two of his current releases. Both of which are gaining attention from audiences and radio disc jockeys alike. The songs he will sing are "Come To Me" and "Family Tradition." Sandi Ray will also appear at this particular benefit. Sandi is a first rate singer who only lacks the exposure that some of the other female vocalists has received. Otherwise, she would be well known by now. Some of the songs she will sing are "Ride, Ride, Ride," "Golden Tears" and "I Could Never Do Nothing Right." She also sings "Loving On" and "Bucket to the South." Jackie Wright with "Can't You See?" and Phil Mardis singing his version of "Betty Lou is Getting Down Tonight" are two more of the Tupelo Opry stars that are appearing at the benefit.

The cost of admission to the benefit is $4.00 in Advance and $6.00 at the door for adults. For all persons under the age of sixteen the cost is $2.00 in advance and $3.00 at the door. Advance tickets are old by members of the Erick Police Dept.

We are sure that the entire family will enjoy this show. There are two very important reasons we feel that the people of he area should attend this benefit. (1) The show is a guaranteed of top quality, family type entertainment and mon importantly, (2) the proceed from the benefit will help the organization provide even more service to the people of this particular area.

AN APPRECIATION

My deep thanks to all who sent cards and flowers, came to visit and offered prayer during my stay in the hospital. A special thanks to the Doctors and nurses, those cooking and cleaning. We appreciate all and wish you a great new year.
