THE COUNTY SEAT NEWSPAPER

Elaborate Banquet for Allison Girls

Event in Honor of State Champ
Basketball Players on Friday Night

Preparations are complete, it was learned today, for Allison's annual basketball banquet which will be held in the gymnasium there tomorrow, Friday, night beginning at 8 o'clock. Proving popular in past seasons with the people of Allison and numerous guests from a wide territory, the event bids fair to establish a record this year.

Although it is intended to honor both the girls and boys who wear Allison basketball colors and who have acquitted themselves creditably in many a fray, this time it will be in special recognition of the state champion girls' team. These lassies, the Rambettes, won not only the girls' championship of Texas, but also entered the National A. A. U. tournament at Wichita, Kans., on March 21-26. There they gave an excellent account of themselves, meeting and subduing some of the best teams of the entire country, and bringing recognition to themselves, their town and Wheeler county.

John Peeples, superintendent of schools and girls' coach, will be the toastmaster at Friday night's event, at which an attendance of about 250 is expected. Allison, of course, will be present in full force to pay tribute to their team. Visitors from Reynold, Okla., Kelton, Briscoe, Canadian, Wheeler, Shamrock and Amarillo plan to attend.

The official program follows:
Toastmaster—J. W. Peeples.
Address of Welcome—W. T. Newsum, president school board.

Vocal Solo—Taft Holloway, Wheeler.

Address—H. S. Wilbur, Canadian.

Clarinet Medley—Eldon Sonnenberg.

Vocal Trio—Mesdames Levitt, Brown and Abernethy.

Address—Dr. H. E. Nicholson, Wheeler.

Musical Reading—Helen Wesson.

Presentation Boys' Awards—Hosea Weeks, boys' coach.

Presentation Girls' Awards—J. W. Peeples.

Sing-Song.

The girls' awards will consist of a 11x14 picture of the team, supplied by D. E. Holt, Wheeler banker and ardent fan, who has watched their athletic progress with much interest. The season record for the team, score of each game and the coach's signature will be contained in a nameplate on the front of each picture. The nameplates are given by The Wheeler Times, loyal supporter of this outstanding county team.

Seven girls will receive their letters this year, with two being awarded reserve letters. The seven will be given royal blue sweaters and the remaining two silver basketballs.

Eight members of the boys' basketball squad are to receive letters.

WHEELER MAN ELECTED AT LIONS CLUB GROUP MEET

Held here last Thursday night, a meeting of Lions clubs in Group 3, District 2-T, was attended by representatives of the McLean and Pampa clubs together with the Wheeler club members. Miami and Clarendon clubs had planned to send delegations, but owing to muddy roads and threatening weather, they did not come.

Roy Bourland of Pampa was elected chairman of the group, succeeding C. O. Greene of McLean. C. J. Meek, Wheeler, was named secretary to succeed Arthur Teed of Pampa.

It was decided to hold the next meeting of the group at Clarendon during the first quarter of the new fiscal year, which starts July 1.

With Taft Holloway as toastmaster, an interesting program was enjoyed. Dr. H. E. Nicholson, president of the Wheeler club, made a brief talk.

E. H. Walker of Pampa delivered an address.

Entertainment consisted of cornet numbers by Harry Garrison and F. B. Craig, Jr., and various stunts by different members and clubs.

SHELTERBELT CO-OPERATORS ASKED TO DEFER PLANTING

All shelterbelt co-operators throughout the county are requested to defer planting of cover crops in tree plots until R. B. Morgan, district officer, or a representative of the forest service can discuss the matter with them. Morgan requested publication of this notice during a visit at The Times office today.

He stated that an article containing a detailed explanatory statement covering the subject will be submitted for publication in this paper next week.

NOTICE, CITIZENS OF WHEELER:

The Wheeler Lions club Industrial Relations committee, C. G. Miller, chairman; Lonnie Lee and Melvin Howe, members, expect every member of the Lions club and invite as many other citizens of the community as can possibly do so, to attend the Allison basketball banquet tomorrow, Friday night. Let's go, Wheeler folks, and show Allison we appreciate their friendship and honor their championship team.

Record Rainfall in West Side of County

Downpour Ranged from Estimates of
One to Seven Inches—
Washouts Occur

What is said to have been a record-breaking rainfall, at least in special localities, fell here Tuesday night, beginning about 8 o'clock. Extending from a short distance east of Wheeler, the downpour reached to the west county line with the heaviest precipitation. It went well to the north, but not quite to the south line of the county.

Wheeler received between three and four inches of rain, according to estimates, while in the area from two to five miles west of here it was much heavier. For the first time during their knowledge of the properties, water flowed off the Moore and Hyatt farmland toward lower levels. Joe Hyatt declared Wednesday that he thought he had seen some heavy rains in other years but nothing to equal Tuesday night's.

Clayton Kelley, living northwest of here towards Mobeetie, said it looked like between five and seven inches of water fell at the ranch.

Britt's ranch, east of town, had only a light shower. Shamrock received little rain; in fact only a good shower is reported five miles south of Wheeler.

Many long-time residents assert Sweetwater creek was the highest they had ever seen. The flood stage of that stream brought grief to Wheeler, Magic City and other users of Panhandle Power & Light company electric current when the high-line from the north washed out. Service went off about 11 o'clock Tuesday night and was not resumed until 8 Wednesday evening.

Employees of the company, locally and from Berger, took immediate steps to make repairs as soon as the difficulty developed. Obstacles encountered in obtaining a temporary right-of-way for the line adjacent to its washed-out former location across Sweetwater delayed the hook-up several hours.

Finally the matter was adjusted and hatcheries with thousands of eggs endangered, store refrigeration plants, the city water system and other users of light and power were able to resume operations. It is not known just what the hatchery loss will be, as yet. Absence of water in the mains created a genuine hazard in Wheeler should fire have broken out.

The right-of-way difficulty resulted in much greater punishment for the people of Wheeler, both business places and private homes, than to the utility company. In an emergency of this nature it is hard to understand why punitive or other measures should prevail, and those who were inconvenienced cannot feel too charitably inclined toward the source of delay.

On the other hand, the light plant people were exerting every effort to resume service. Their service has been exceptionally good at all times and this is the first instance of any considerable duration when "juice" was not forthcoming. But it happened to be one of those times which occur occasionally regardless of precautions.

City Drug Store to Sponsor Big 1c Sale

On another page of this issue of The Times will be found the announcement of a Rexall 1c Sale, scheduled to start on Wednesday of next week at the City Drug Store, Wheeler. Manager Lonnie Lee states that besides the items mentioned in this opening advertisement, there will be many other attractive offerings for his customers during this 4-day spring merchandising classic. Actual dates are May 4, 5, 6 and 7.

Rabbit Drive Near Mobeetie
Another rabbit drive in the region southwest of Mobeetie will be held next Tuesday, May 3, states R. B. Morgan, district officer of the forest service. The drive is scheduled for Tuesday afternoon. Co-operation by the forest service will be given in the erection of fences and other general details.

Highway Status is Now Official Fact

Final Order of Designation from Montgomery Makes It No.
152 to State Line

Should any reader of The Times wonder why this paper has recently referred so frequently to the highway east from Wheeler and its impending designation as a state highway, the reason is easily given: The Times believes that the present value of this road, together with future benefits to Wheeler and local and distant travelers who have occasion to use it, fully warrants all mention appearing in these columns.

With reproduction herewith of the order fixing its status, the matter will rest so far as this paper is concerned, until announcement is made of hard-surfacing on the remaining strip to the Oklahoma line, which citizens of this community are hoping for and confidently expecting at an early date.

The order, issued by the State Highway commission under date of April 25, and addressed to County Judge W. O. Puett, here, and County Judge Sherman White at Pampa, is self-explanatory and includes previous data, as follows:

"This is to advise that the following action was taken by the State Highway commission on April 19, regarding that section of highway from Wheeler east to the Texas-Oklahoma state line.

"In Wheeler and Gray counties, it is ordered by the commission that the state highway system as approved on March 19, 1930, and as subsequently modified, be further modified to include the highway from Wheeler east to the Texas-Oklahoma state line.

"This will be part of State Highway No. 152 and the description of State Highway No. 152 will be as follows:

"From Pampa via Mobeetie and Wheeler to the Texas-Oklahoma state line."

Minute No. 14,864.

The order, issued from Austin, is signed Julian Montgomery, state highway engineer, by T. H. Webb, assistant state highway engineer.

Cotton Acreage for County Made Known

Slightly More than 64 Per Cent of Last Year's Acreage May Be Planted

Cotton acreage figures for Wheeler county for the 1938 crop were released today by Jake Tarter, county agent, who returned Tuesday night from a two weeks stay at College Station, where he assisted in compiling allotment data.

Total cotton allotment for the coming season is 57,872.5 acres. Of this amount, 3,722.4 acres were added to the original allotment by the amendment which was added in response to complaints of inequalities and other phases of the act as first enacted.

With last year's planted and diverted acreage of 90,146.5 acres, it will be seen that 1938 has a percentage of slightly more than 64 per cent of that amount.

From the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, The Times has obtained a few figures that illustrate the slide taken by cotton in this county over a 14-year period for the following years:
1924—53,039 acres, 20,055 bales.
1929—93,186 acres, 30,301 bales.
1934—56,905 acres, 6,973 bales.
1937—? acres, 18,000 bales (estimated).

For the same years, Wheeler county had the following acreage, purpose and yields of corn:
1924—17,040 acres, 16,842 of which was for grain, yielding 212,414 bushels.

1929—30,090 acres, 26,550 for grain; 310,274 bushels.
1934—6,058 acres, 6,023 for grain; 20,641 bushels.

No figures are available at this time for the year 1937.

Contest of Recent Beer Ballot Filed

Petition Alleges Large Per Cent of Votes Cast Were Illegal
in April Election

Eruption of the rumored legal action contesting a special county-wide election on April 2 to prohibit the sale of beer in Wheeler county occurred the last of the week, when Marion Reynolds and Clayton Hearse of Shamrock filed a petition in district court, here, asking that results of the election be declared void and a new election ordered.

Petitioners in the action are Stuart and Bob Tisdal, John Nunn, Earl Mitchell and George Tucker, all of Shamrock. According to law, such a petition may be filed by any qualified voter, it is said, but in this instance the foregoing parties fathered the contest.

The petition, somewhat voluminous in size, sets forth the claim that irregularities and illegalities in balloting occurred in the majority of precincts. It contends that this kind of election is strictly statutory and all statutory requirements must be complied with.

This is not an effort to change the results of the April election but a plea that it be set aside and a lawful election held at a later date, assert the petitioners.

It is charged in the petition that in numerous voting boxes the regularly appointed judges did not preside and that those serving instead were never appointed, elected nor qualified.

Further allegations recite that many of the ballots were not endorsed in the handwriting of the election judge, as required by law. The attorneys declared the law regulating special elections of this type states that each ballot must be endorsed on the reverse side with the name of the presiding judge and in his own handwriting.

Legality of the recent referendum is further attacked in the petition on the grounds that in the Stanley voting precinct the polling place was not within the legal boundaries of the precinct. Question is raised that proper notices of the election were not posted in all precincts of the county, as required by law.

Another allegation of the contestants is to the effect that at least 75 per cent of the ballots cast in the election were illegal under the statute and that so many irregularities prevailed and regulations were so generally violated that the whole election should be declared null and void and a new one held.

According to Judge W. R. Ewing of the 31st judicial district, spring term of which is now in session here, date for hearing the election contest has been tentatively set for May 9.

Date for Waterways Meetings Announced

Government Engineering Officials to Seek Data on Streams in this Region

Under the subject of review of reports on Red River in Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas, a letter from the U. S. District Engineer's office at Little Rock, Ark., has been received by the Wheeler county commissioner's court. Meetings to hear reports on the matter are scheduled for Hugo and Mangum, Okla., and Wichita Falls and Childress, Texas. The latter, dated for May 16, and nearest to Wheeler will be of principal importance here. Several local men are expected to attend.

The communication recites that a resolution adopted by congress in February requests that reports on Red River and its tributaries in the four states mentioned will be reviewed for the purpose of determining if improvement in the interest of navigation, flood control, water power or irrigation is advisable at this time, and particularly with a view to constructing dams on the upper section of the river and the tributaries.

The department of agriculture will participate in the hearing at Childress and discuss runoff, waterflood retardation and soil erosion prevention.

Interested parties will be given an opportunity to express their views. Information will be obtained as to what extent local interests would cooperate in bearing the costs of right-of-way, construction, operation and maintenance of the works involved.

Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Guthrie of Erick, Okla., stopped in Wheeler Tuesday evening during the cloud-burst and visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lem Guthrie, and family. They were enroute home from Matador.

MAN FOUND DEAD HERE THIS AFTERNOON

George Wesley Carter, 42, was found dead about 3 o'clock this afternoon in the apartment of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Edith Carter, at the Mrs. T. P. Morton residence on South Main street. The body was found by Mrs. Carter upon her return from work.

Death, according to Coroner D. A. Hunt who investigated the matter, resulted from self-administered poison.

Carter's home was near Henrietta, Okla. He had been in Wheeler county the past year, working a part of that time at the Jim Trout farm. The remains will be shipped Friday or Saturday to Calvin, Okla., for interment.

Blake Gets 10 Years on Criminal Charge

Shamrock Man Convicted of Assault with Intent to Rape—Makes $5,000 Appeal Bond

Highlight of this, the first week of criminal hearings in the current term of district court, was the trial Monday and Tuesday of Allen Blake on a charge of assault with intent to rape. Sentence of guilty was returned late Tuesday afternoon following an hour and a half deliberation by the jury.

Blake's punishment was fixed at 10 years in the penitentiary.

Motion for new trial, made by the accused's attorneys Wednesday, was overruled by Judge W. R. Ewing, who then pronounced sentence and fixed his appeal bond at $5,000 after intention to appeal the case to the criminal court of appeals had been made known.

Bond was made and Blake released on his own recognizance, answerable to the district court of the 31st judicial district.

The offense for which Blake was convicted is alleged to have been committed against Mattie Forsythe in Shamrock on the morning of Feb. 23, last.

Other cases disposed of include that of Harold Hooker, Mobeetie, charged with wilfully burning an automobile on the highway west of Wheeler. On a plea of guilty he was given a 5-year suspended sentence.

Orval Wood, Jr., plead guilty to a charge of cattle theft and received a 5-year suspended sentence. Carl Hefner, entered a plea of guilty to a similar charge and given two years in the penitentiary. Jack Young, charged with burglary, plead guilty and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

Reporting back Tuesday after lengthy deliberation, the jury which heard the civil case of Wheeler Cotton Oil Co. vs. Western Engineering Co. was discharged after an agreement was declared impossible.

Next week, the fourth week of court, will be civil cases, jury.

THAT ADJUSTMENT PROGRAM

During the last six months, it has been a prevalent criticism of the administration made by friends as well as opponents—that the president and his official circle apparently greatly underestimated the importance and the severity of the slump in business that began last October.

Whether or not the president actually took this attitude, it is obvious that he now views the recession as a major crisis which has endangered all the gains made since the depths of 1932. Two dramatic events occurring recently, vividly illustrate this.

First, his last "fireside chat" was almost startlingly different in tone and attitude from most of its predecessors. As one anti-administration newspaper, the Portland Oregonian, described it, "There was no baiting of business, no hairfulness of phrase, nor any appeal to class consciousness. Instead there was gratefully evident the recognition of all classes of Americans in a common Americanism, confronted by identical questions to be solved by fraternal solution." In other words, the talk was highly conciliatory.

Whether the president will continue to hold such an attitude cannot be said—but it is a reasonable deduction that at the present time the administration has reached the conclusion that it is essential to extend a friendly hand to all elements in our national life, to dispel distrust and bitterness, to cement so far as possible the warring factions, and to precede "reform" with an attempt at "recovery."

Second, the president's message to congress shows how seriously he regards present conditions. And this message will continue to be the subject of a tremendous amount of debate and difference of opinion. Briefly, the administration proposes to fight bad times now with the same weapon it used to fight bad times before—a pump priming program of a size unprecedented before 1932. It has three phases:

1. Direct government spending, through the WPA, the Farm Security Administration, the National Youth Administration, and the CCC.

2. The release of about $2,000,000,000 in new credit through changes in the gold and federal reserve policies.

3. The creation of new jobs through slum clearance, highway, flood control and other public works. It was also suggested that the SEC relax its regulations somewhat in order to make it easier for small business to get new money.

The entire program would result in the government spending $4,500,000,000 more than it is spending now. Yet, while no provision is made for increasing revenue, it is said that this will increase the national debt by only a third of that sum. That seemingly magical trick would be accomplished by de-sterilizing part of our vast gold reserve against which no gold certificates exist.

The former spending program, which began almost as soon as the president took office, was approved almost unanimously by congress and by the nation as a whole. The present program will not meet so enthusiastic a reception. One bloc believes that the former spending program failed, and that another will fail, too. Another bloc, even though it favors increased spending, will be unwilling to approve it unless some means of raising the money is found, so as to not further boost the debt.

A third bloc thinks that tax and labor troubles should be corrected before we try anything else and believes that if business were aided in this manner it would go ahead and spend on its own hook, thus obviating or lessening the need for government spending on a larger scale.

All such blocs are important and influential—and are manned by Democrats as well as Republicans. It is the members of the president's own party, not the opposition, that have made the present session of congress, culminating in the startling defeat of the reorganization measure, a stormy one for the White House.

There is the situation as it exists today. We are in a period of lethargic business and, while the consensus of expert opinion does not anticipate further declines, it does not anticipate substantial betterment in the near future, either. The congress is in a rebellious mood. The president has taken a more conciliatory stand, and it is believed that he will suggest no new "unusual" legislation this year.

What that all adds up to is anybody's guess. One good guess is that we will have greater spending, and a mild shot of inflation—but not on as big a scale as the president suggests.

THE DANGEROUS AGE

The enormous increase in crime among the teen-age boys of this country, as shown by statistics gathered over the past few years has revealed a situation that is as great an indictment against adults as it is against the boy.

The teen-age boy is no worse by nature than he was 25, 50, or 100 years ago. He is exactly the same bundle of nerves, energy, and animal spirit, subject to the same powerful and bewildering urges. But he is living in a different world than existed a half-century ago. And a large part of our adult population has failed to realize that this different environment for youth calls for different treatment of youth.

For one reason or another, the home and the school have in many ways failed to measure up to their new responsibilities to youth. This realization is coming to smaller towns the same as it is to the larger cities.

Proof of this is to be found in the fast-growing agencies to direct boys' play through such organizations as the Boy Scouts, through organized sports, through better playgrounds. Smaller towns are commencing to get these things now, and it is interesting to note that the greatest percentage of increase in the Boy Scouts last year was in the smaller towns and villages of the country.

There is a need now for more men who will interest themselves in directing the teen-age boy's energies in the right direction. There is no more helpful thing to which any local man could turn his hand and as much of his time as he can conveniently spare.

POOR LITTLE SOULS

An Associated Press news item now confronts us with the information that about 10,000 of our state employees are formulating a union, eventually to become a part of the Federated Union of Labor. Some of the employees are already members—those who have hung around Austin for a long time and are expecting to remain the rest of their lives.

A great many reasons are set forth by the promoters; who are evidently national leaders; for the organization, with the "whims" and "whams" passified for every conceivable objection. It will be of great interest to see how Texas is going to accept this.

The people who are proposing to complete and join this organization (at least about 99.9 per cent) wanted their representatives, senators, the governor, and all the friends they had to beg to death trying to get the place. It is a known fact that the average state employee works at least 30 minutes out of every 24 hours.

It may be that they are wanting a still further reduction of time on this 30 minutes of actual work. Of course it may be that with their night parties and their "hullabaloo" goings on they do not have time to get up of mornings, do their "pumping" and get down to the capitol for a sufficient period to write the extra (or one) letter the boss might have laid out for them.

Sometimes we want to go to the legislature or senate for a special reason. Things like this is enough to cause the man who wants to earn what he receives to go down there long enough to kick the whole caboodle out.

There are ten million ready to take the ten thousand places, and that without a whimper.—Paducah Post.

Isn't this the real problem of Beer —and almost its only problem?

THERE ARE people, of course, who steadfastly and sincerely believe beer to be intoxicating, or its use sinful, harmful, or a first step toward use of "hard liquor."

Just as sincerely we hold that the weight of the evidence is overwhelmingly against them...that beer is a mild, wholesome food beverage...and that "there is nothing more promising to combat the evil of too much alcohol than the opportunity of drinking good beer."

No...it is not in beer itself, we believe, that its gravest problem lies, but in those conditions, undesirable to us all, which sometimes surround its sale.

How should that problem be handled... by brewers, by retailers, by consumers, and by the public authorities? On its handling, we believe, depends the ultimate success or failure of the art and science of brewing, with all its manifold contributions to human pleasure and happiness and to the farm and industrial welfare of this country.

In that belief, a short time ago the Brewers Foundation was organized... to align the brewing industry with forces working for the public good in this country.

Our underlying motive... to perpetuate and promote our industry... is of course obvious. But equally obvious, we hope, is the fact that our interests coincide, with the public interest.

Important progress has been made. Brewer-members of the Foundation already represent nearly half the production of beer and ale in the United States; and these members are pledged, individually and collectively, to the Brewers Code, one significant clause of which is as follows:

"We pledge our support to the duly constituted authorities for the elimination of anti-social conditions wherever they may surround the sale of beer to the consumer."

Being practical men, we promise no miracles. We cannot immediately or effectively "police" the quarter-million points where beer is sold (nor, to be fair, have we legal authority in many cases to do so). Nor can we, immediately, bring about full compliance with the law among all retailers, nor honest enforcement by all authorities.

But a beginning has been made...and we do promise that you will see results from it.

How far we can go, and how soon, depends very much on ourselves...but partly also on you.

Public opinion, once aroused, can operate to bring about honest enforcement of existing laws. Restriction of your patronage only to legal, respectable retail outlets can and will operate to raise retailing standards. Public preference for the products of Foundation members* will bear witness of your approval both to members and to cooperating retailers, and will encourage them to renewed efforts.

This is, therefore, at once a statement of our objectives and an appeal for your support, without which we must fall short of our high hopes. We urgently invite your full and sympathetic cooperation.

Pampa. We have just finished reading "The Lady of the Lake." It was one of the best selections we have read this year. We were surprised and pleased one day while reading when Mrs. Bainsworth brought some real head-er from the hills of Scotland to the class.

FOLLOWING VISION WITH SERVICE

Scripture Text: Mark 9:14-29. Devotional Reading: Acts 26:19, 20. Memory Verse: Mark 11:24.

An Angle of Approach

There are a lot of good things and a lot of good people in this old world yet. But there are likewise a lot of misery, suffering and sorrow, and a lot of people who are down at the bottom of all the filth, crime and disease of the social, moral and political world.

What is the mission of the child of God in this world? He was once in the same class with the unsaved sinner. "But such were some of you; but ye were washed, but ye were sanctified, but ye were justified in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ, and in the Spirit of our God." (1 Cor. 6:11).

What is that service God will make him sufficient for? First of all, he must make known to others his Saviour who has the power, through faith in Him, to change the sinner's nature from the "desires of the flesh and of the mind" (Eph. 2:3) to "become partakers of the divine nature" (2 Pet. 1:4).

Now, then, therefore, his course towards suffering humanity is very clear.

THE HEART OF THE LESSON Introduction

The vision of our lesson is that of the transfiguration of Christ, as we saw it in our former lesson, found in Mark 9:2-10. Do not proceed now with the idea that you are to play on your imagination as to what this vision should mean to you, Peter, one of the three who saw it, gives the interpretation and makes the application for every one of us.

Take notice that he has denied to you and me the right to make private interpretations and applications of any prophetic scripture or vision (vs. 20, 21). In verse 16 he tells us what that vision, the transfiguration, of Christ, make known (meant)—"the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ."

Said he, "We did not cough up cunningly devised fables" when we told you about Christ's coming again and what would follow His appearing. "We were eye-witnesses of His majesty . . . when we were with Him in the holy mount." (Dear friend, do not neglect getting your Bible and reading that entire passage). Therefore, after seeing the truth of this vision, "what manner of persons ought we to be in all holy living and godliness" in service (2 Pet. 3:11 and 1 John 3:2, 3).

Now listen to Jesus Himself for one word: "And when the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the angels with Him, then shall he sit on the throne of his glory" (Matt. 25:31). Ah then, that will be glory, of which we, too, shall share! But what

Movie Chatter

By a Rogue

Edward G. Robinson

Some time ago Edward G. Robinson made his appearance at the Rogue in a picture called The Last Gangster, if you saw this picture you will want to see his latest effort which comes to the Rogue Friday and Saturday, April 29-30. The title of the picture is "A Slight Case of Murder." It is an excellent sermon aimed against gangsterism, a picture that should be seen by everyone because of the lesson it teaches.

Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs You have been waiting to see Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. Some of you have no doubt been thinking that it will be a fine picture for the kids to see, and you are preparing to bring them. But take a tip from one who has seen the picture. This is the most extraordinary picture that has ever been produced, and as such it will please anyone regardless of age, sex or color. No matter whether you like western stories or highly sophisticated love stories, we believe that you will be more than pleased with Snow White.

about "and in the meantime?" What sort of service will we render Him by serving suffering humanity? In the vision God had given those apostles a pre-view of His coming kingdom glory.

The Lack of Faith Much work has gone undone and many souls gone unsaved because of the lack of faith. Faith in the divine power of Christ to do for humanity what none can do for themselves.

Remember this, fellow Christian, it is no more impossible for a "son which hath a dumb spirit" and for a blind maniac to heal themselves, than it is for a vile sinner, or a "socially civil" sinner, to save themselves.

Salvation is of the Lord. When Isaac was born, God performed a biological miracle, for Sarah was many years past the possibility of natural child-bearing. When Jesus was born, God performed another biological miracle, for Mary "knew not a man," Jesus was "the seed of the woman" an impossibility by nature.

Just so, when the sinner was "delivered out of the power of darkness, and translated into the kingdom of the Son of His love" (Col. 1:13), there was another sort of a biological miracle, for the sinner has become a "child of God" by the "new birth" (John 3:5). No sort, or amount, of social reformation can answer for this power of God in the new birth.

No amount of religious service (in imitation), or piety, can substitute for the "ye must be born again" of our Lord.

By Prayer and Fasting

But when one has "passed out of darkness into His marvelous light" he has inherited a position of service. After a vision of "His majestic (kingly) glory" there is great incentive for service and for holy living. Without this vision, he serves with a false hope. Without service after this vision, the vision fades and the impulse to serve is lost. Therefore, we must keep vigilance. This can be done only by prayer (see Luke 18:1-9).

Fasting may also be an indicator as to the amount of faith and zeal we carry. We have a great service to render to this world, but the first service of all is the story of "Jesus and His love." The "Christ and Him crucified" came first in all the work of Paul and it comes first in the work of all of God's servants also.

In fact old Lee Guthrie at the Rogue states that he personally guarantees it to please each and everyone, and only on this condition does he want your money. He says, "See half of the picture and if it is not to your liking come to the box office and get a refund."

And remember, folks, Wheeler is the only town in this section of the country outside of Amarillo that has shown the picture. It may be your only opportunity to see it. Here are the dates: Saturday morning at 10:00 o'clock April 30; then again at Pre-view Saturday night 10:30; Sunday matinee May 1 at 2:00 p. m. and then each night on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Admission will be 15 and 30c for Saturday morning matinee and 15 and 35c for all other engagements. Tickets required on all children except babes in arms.

Funeral Monday for Aged Twitty Woman

Mrs. Mattie Stapp Passed Away Sunday at Her Home—
Ill a Month

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon from the Baptist church in Twitty for Mrs. Mattie Cora Stapp, who died at her home Sunday morning following an illness of one month.

Mrs. Stapp was born May 13, 1877, in Georgia and died April 25, 1938, at Twitty, Texas, at the age of 60 years, 11 months and 12 days. She was the wife of the late Virgil Stapp, who passed away April 3, 1935, and to whom she was married on June 21, 1895, at Belton, Texas.

To this union were born six children, four sons and two daughters: James Albert Stapp, Canton, Texas; Claude Stapp, Twitty; Wesley Stapp, Plainview; William Stapp, Twitty, and Mrs. B. C. Kuykendall, Blair, Okla., and Gladys Stapp, Twitty. They are all living.

Other surviving relatives include her father, D. L. Elliott of Wheeler; one sister, Mrs. A. H. Alston of Stamford, a brother, Ernest Elliott of Plainview, and a number of nieces, nephews and grandchildren. Claude, William and Gladys Stapp were present at the time of her death.

Mrs. Stapp was a well-known resident of Twitty, where she had made her home for the past six years. Previously she lived at Kelton four years and in East Texas. Though in ill health for the past year, she had just returned home from the hospital and prospects for recovery appeared favorable.

Hester Dodson, as song leader at the last rites, Pall bearers were Melvin Braxton, J. M. Tindall, L. L. See, M. E. Gierhart, Tom Montgomery and J. F. Shadden. Flower bearers were Mrs. J. M. Tindall and Mrs. J. A. Welch.

Interment was made in the Wheeler cemetery under direction of the Clay-Youngblood Funeral home of Shamrock.

MILLIE PORTER CIRCLE MEETS AT FULFUR HOME

Mrs. Frank Fuller and Mrs. Vernie Hardcastle were joint hostesses to members of the Millie Porter circle at the Fuller home on North Canadian street, Tuesday afternoon.

After a brief business session, an interesting report of the district W. M. S. meeting, held last week in Snyder, was given by Mrs. Glen Porter.

Mrs. Melvin Howe, who is leaving Wheeler soon, was honored with a handkerchief shower, followed by a miscellaneous shower for Mrs. Hardcastle.

A very attractive salad course with ice cream and cake was served to Mesdames Bronson Green, Glen Porter, J. M. Adams, Melvin Howe, Luther Parker, Gordon Roper, B. T. Rucker, B. A. Zorns, C. H. Davidson, W. C. Zirkle and the hostesses.

The circle will meet next Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist church. The lesson study is on Korea.

Downtown Men's Bible Class Started Sunday

With Raymon Holt as the principal proponent and agitator, a downtown men's Bible class held its first session in the Rogue theatre at 9 o'clock last Sunday morning. More than a score of men were present, such interest encouraging the promoters of the undertaking which is designed for men and young men who do not attend Sunday school elsewhere, or who wish to lend support to what is believed is a worth-while endeavor.

According to Holt, different guest speakers will be invited to discuss the Sunday school lesson or other sections of the Bible from time to time. J. B. Clark of Shamrock has agreed to be present for that purpose next Sunday morning. R. H. Forrester, local attorney offered the principal discussion last Sunday, followed by a brief talk by Tom Britt and remarks by others.

High School Strong for Tuberculin Test

One Hundred Per Cent Registration of Teachers and Pupils Sets High Record

The commissioners court of Wheeler county has appropriated sufficient funds to purchase material and supplies for giving a tuberculin test to every child in the county.

Mobeetic high school voted 100 per cent to take this test, a fact of which the school and community is quite proud. This is considered quite a record, since many schools boast when an 85 per cent approval record is reached.

Every student and teacher in Mobeetic high took the test. Even the librarian, Mrs. Wilbur Beck, fell in line and took the test.

According to an estimate just made known, about 10 per cent tested positive. An accurate calculation has not been made as yet.

In various sections of the county results run as high as 15 to 20 per cent positives.

Dr. H. E. Nicholson of Wheeler imparted the following information in a talk before the student body Friday: "Students and parents should not be alarmed if their test checked positive. In such cases, however, they should consult a doctor for further information concerning prevalence and activity of germs in their system. Even if the test checked negative and one constantly feels tired and does not rest well, he or she should have another test made."

GIRLS GO BACK TO BAREFOOT DAYS

Since several of the high school girls were sporting their new Easter slippers at school on Thursday, they were very much annoyed when the rain made a lake around the school house. Dora Goodnight was seen wading across the school ground barefooted—as if she didn't have a worry. Vineta and Dora were heard conversing across the school yard which covered one half of town. Some of the other thirty girls were Bernice Dunlap, Vineta McCain and ValTee Dyon.

Willard (Tots) Baird Speaker at Assembly

Willard Baird is to speak at the assembly program Friday, April 29, on the subject "School Spirit". Willard, better known as Tots, graduated from Mobeetic with the class of '31. His class, as juniors, put the stage curtains (now in use) in the gymnasium-auditorium.

JUNIOR-SENIORS AND SOPHOMORES PICNIC

The seniors decided to have a picnic and invite the juniors. Each student was to bring 15c each to help pay for refreshments. The picnic was set for Thursday, a very unlucky day, for we all know what Thursdays in the Panhandle bring. Any day it was rained out.

Maybe it was lucky for the sophomores because the delay caused them to be invited. The picnic was on Alva Sims' creek. A number of games were played around a blazing campfire by some 25 or 40 students. The three class sponsors were there.

At about 9:30, visitors were passed out and roasted. They were served with bread, pickles and mustard. Again we lined up, this time to receive an apple and a banana.

But we were not through yet for we were again told to line up and pass by. This time we received an apple sucker and a piece of gum. We had "Apple Core-Baltimore" for dessert.

Setting Grass on Grounds

Tuesday of this week was the beginning of the grass setting project on the school grounds. The grass on the football field is coming up and promises a good stand.

Standardization Test Given

The teachers of the Mobeetic school are giving the standardization test to the pupils of the rural schools in this vicinity. These tests are being given all over the county.

Exes Home for Easter Holidays

Zelma Elliott, Arlie Lee and Irvine Scribner, who are enrolled in Texas Tech, spent the holidays at their respective homes in Mobeetic.

Blanche Brannon and A. B. Crump were also among the holiday visitors. They are attending Draughton's Business college in Oklahoma City.

One More Examination

Examinations are now over, and the students are again catching their breath. And such an industrious bunch as they are!

It was hard on some of us, but a few got over without difficulty. We are all looking forward now to the final examinations that will set the students free.

Report cards were handed out Wednesday afternoon.

Mental Management

"A great deal depends on knowing when to speak your mind."
"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum, "and still more on knowing when to change it."

Seniors to Present Gift to the School

Next Friday, May 6, at assembly the seniors will present a gift to the school. This is the first time in several years that a graduating class has presented a gift to the school in token of its appreciation.

Nature of the gift has not been revealed to the student body.

Professor of Music Visits Local School

C. E. Strain, assistant professor of music and director of band at W. T. S. C., delivered a fine lecture on music at the Mobeetic high school on April 18. He also gave some cornet solos.

Strain advised the group of the importance of music. He described two classes of music; first, the type that appeals to the mental side of life, and second, that which appeals to the emotional side of life. He said that for one to appreciate music they must listen. He also said that if one could not play a musical instrument, that he could be a consumer of music.

He sketched in detail the manufacture of the cornet and clarinet, how the mouthpiece on each is made and its material. He ran the scale on both instruments to give the notes of each.

The professor illustrated many points with music from the old masters, especially Beethoven.

He was accompanied at the piano by his daughter, Miss Martha Strain, teacher of public school music in Amarillo.

SEVENTH GRADE CHORAL CLUB ENTERTAINS APRIL 12

The seventh grade Choral club entertained the High School Choral club Tuesday, April 12.

The program was as follows: "A song by the two groups, 'The Eyes of Texas,' led by Janoie Ridgeway; a song, 'Oh My Darling Clementine,' led by Huming Sims; two songs, 'The Humming Bird' and 'The Flower of China,' by the seventh grade Choral club; a song, 'The Moon Got in My Eyes,' by Mary Kathryn Miller; a talk, 'How Safe is Your Car,' by H. T. Reed; song by the two groups, 'I'd Like to See Somoa of Somoa,' led by Orville Ferguson.

A talk, 'How Can We Help' by Odell McAvoy; a quintet by members of the seventh grade Choral club; a song, 'I Double Dare You,' by Art Ridgway; song by the two groups, 'Gold Mine in the Sky,' led by Orville Ferguson, and the last thing on the program was a song, 'Blue Hawaii,' by Mary Kathryn Miller.

On Thursday, April 14, the home ec II girls modeled the dresses they have been working on for the past eight weeks. A short program followed the modeling.

The program was sponsored by Miss Cogdell, and Miss Knight accompanied on the piano.

Approximately 100 parents, business men, athletes and other guests were present at the banquet. The food was prepared by Miss Cogdell and her home ec girls.

FRESHMEN HAVE PICNIC

The freshmen class was entertained with a picnic Wednesday evening, April 20. Each member of the class donated 15 cents with which to buy refreshments, and the students were allowed to invite one person, provided they paid an extra 15 cents.

The class, guests and sponsor, Mrs. Blankinship, ate at 6 o'clock on the creek about two miles from the school building.

After the picnic supper games were played until time to go home.

Most of the students liked the picnic grounds, but they certainly did appreciate the fact that E. H. Potter came for them in his truck at 8 o'clock.

THURSDAYS AREP TO BE UNLUCKY

On Thursday, April 7, we had the worst blowing snowstorm that has visited the Panhandle in two decades.

On Thursday, April 14, we had rain—and boy, oh boy, how it did pour! We had some hail, too.

On Thursday, April 21, it rained the junior-senior picnic out. My guess is what will happen next on Thursday?

SEVENTH GRADE VISITS MUSEUM ON APRIL 23RD

The seventh grade class went on a trip Saturday, April 23. They left the school building about 7:15 Saturday morning and arrived in Amarillo about 10:00. They stopped a few minutes in Amarillo and then started for Palo Duro Canyon.

They stopped at the rim of Palo Duro and walked down into the canyon a short distance. Then they got back into the bus and started riding to the bottom of the canyon.

When they got almost to the bottom they turned around and came back so they might eat their lunch at a pretty little stream.

After lunch, they hiked to the top of Capitol Hill. A few of the boys and girls did not reach the top, but it was not because they did not try. They left Palo Duro at about 2:30. The group stopped at Canyon and went through the museum. They saw many things of interest there.

They started to Amarillo about 3:15. In Amarillo they visited the Amarillo Daily News-Globe, and saw the Sunday society page being printed. They also went to the Amarillo radio station and saw a transcribed musical program being announced.

The class started home about 5:00 o'clock. They stopped in White Deer a few minutes and arrived home at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

The seventh graders enjoyed their trip very much and wish to express their thanks to the faculty and everyone who had a part in making this trip possible.

This trip was sponsored by John Plaster, high school principal, Embelle Knight, music teacher and seventh grade sponsor, and Judson Jones, bus driver.

The bus expense of the trip was met by the use of the $5.00 prize money won by the seventh grade for selling the most tournament tickets.

SENIOR SCANDALS

We wonder who Alma's date was Friday night that she thought she would be in so much better company than if she came to the senior picnic. Remember, Alma, we have a fair bunch of seniors.

What has happened to Vineta the past week? "There is something about a soldier that is fine, fine, fine."

Elbert came to school telling about his new bride. He hasn't brought her in and introduced her as yet, but those who have seen her give the following description: Tall with blue eyes and blonde hair. We know she will be true to him because she said she loves only one.

Grade School News

The grade school is working on its closing school program, which is to be given soon.

The third grade entertained in chapel this week with a picture show on Japan. The first grade boys sang "Little Jack Horner" and "Little Boy Blue" and the girls sang "Little Boy Peep" and "Rock-a-bye Baby." We were glad to have as visitors this week Mrs. Henry Flanagan, Rev. and Mrs. Gilliam and Rev. McKenney. A T. B. test was given all grade school children this week by Dr. Walker and Dr. Nicholson. This test was provided by the County Health board.

The made-up "Dean" began to be a bit apprehensive. The laughter had died down in the audience. They knew what he was driving at now. Even Paul shifted uneasily.

"Another thing," the American persisted. "I've got a funny toe. It can kick a dean further than any toe in the world."

Just as Lee turned and lunged out the "Dean" was off like a streak of lightning, his gown flying behind him. Out the door and across the sacred lawn he fled. Lee at his heels. In the next second Preston had reached the tunnelled archway and was lost to sight for an instant as Lee, also reaching the archway, stopped to learn which way his quarry had turned.

Lee paused and turned. In another moment he caught sight of a be-gowned figure strolling leisurely down the pathway. Steadily, but swiftly, Lee approached the figure. As he neared him, Lee's foot shot out. There was a dull thud as the man took to the ground. Lee stood over him, grinning no menace in his attitude, nothing but sheer exuberance rising from a purpose accomplished. He extended a hand to the still inanimate figure.

"Okay, pal. No hard feelings," he said. Then his face fell, his eyes bulging as his victim stirred and turned over.

It was very obviously, the real, genuine, hundred per cent "Dean". Lee didn't hesitate; he took to his heels as shouts went up behind him. His track proficiency stood him in good stead, as he galloped madly away from the shouts and sounds behind.

Hastening to his rooms to see that his belongings had been delivered, Lee caught sight of Molly Beaumont. "Hello," she said smilingly, as he stopped. "I'm glad to see you survived the first encounter."

"Does Oxford always welcome strangers like this?" asked Lee mistaking her words for sarcasm. "Oh, no, sometimes we don't notice them for days," Molly smiled. "You, at least, made yourself known."

Lee looked his contempt. "You're just like the rest of them here. When I met you on the train, I thought you were swell."

"I thought you were amusing, too," she said, "and you know—for a moment, I was going to hold you by the coat-tails so you couldn't get off at Didcot."

"Listen, sweet little flutterbut, don't waste any more of that excruciating British humor on me. I'm leaving Oxford. I wouldn't stay here another day if they gave me the place."

"Really?" asked Molly, concealing her feelings. "Yes, really! And in case I don't ever see you again . . . which I hope . . . here's something to remember me by."

With that he drew her to him quickly and kissed her. Then, without pausing to see the look of consternation on her face, he turned and hastened away.

CHAPTER TWO

But Lee did not leave Oxford. Something about the university its quaint old custom . . . its venerable buildings and ancient institutions had affected him the moment he stepped out in the Quad-rangle. He wanted to go away, wanted to show the boys who had bullied him that he was independent of their good will, but some subtle undercurrent was pulling in the other direction. Finally he decided he would stay at least through-out the first term.

One afternoon, about a fortnight later, Lee heard that a try-out for the track team was to take place. Having no time after his classes to change clothing, he pedaled down to the athletic field on his bicycle. A trial race was about to start. Wearing cap and gown Lee walked over to join the group of freshmen runners at the same time he pulled out and lighted a cigar.

"If you want to run the 440, Sheridan," Paul Beaumont, who was supervising the trials, sang out, "you'd better get ready."

"Ready?" Who, my dear Beaumont," Lee said, in mock bewilderment. "I'm always ready."

Still smoking the cigar, and wearing his gown, Lee joined the other runners at the starting line. Their glances reflected a combination of amazement and disgust.

"You'll pardon us for not laughing," one of them said, "we British have so little sense of humor."

"Don't apologize," Lee said with a grandiloquent gesture. "You do the running and I'll be the laughing." "He knows he can't run, so he's trying to cover it up by clowning," Paul remarked to Ramsey, who was standing by. "Then he turned around and raised his pistol. 'On your marks . . . Get set . . .'"

"The runners crouched, grim and taut. All but Lee, who remained erect, barbed with the old-fashioned upright stance. Disregarding this Paul fired the starting shot."

The runners streaked away. Lee started off late, making a clumsy initial leap forward. Every eye was on him—and he knew it—as he centered along about ten or fifteen yards in back of the pack.

"You're right, Paul," Ramsey said. "He can't run a stitch."

"He's just making a fool of himself," one of the other boys sneered.

Paul said nothing, watching curiously. As the runners reached the half-way mark Lee was still about ten yards behind. Then, of a sudden, something happened. The be-gowned figure had quickened his stride. In a moment he had passed one runner, then another, and was moving like a whirlwind.

"The man's a freak!" Ramsey gasped. "A Mercury in boots and bags!" someone else put in.

The other remained speechless as Lee drew up level with the leader and then, in a final, glorious burst of speed, went into first place and snapped the tape across his breast.

Lee trotted over to the bystanders. He stopped, and pretended to shiver a bit.

"Brh!" he muttered. "This English climate of yours sure gets me down. Next time I'll run in my overcoat." Turning his back he strode off.

Molly Beaumont was worried about her brother. Worried about his interest—however innocent it might be—in Elsa Craddock, the young, attractive wife of an elderly bookseller who catered to the college trade. Mrs. Craddock always kept an eye out for good-looking new undergraduates, and did nothing to discourage an expression of interest. But Molly felt that in Paul's case matters had proceeded beyond a casual flirtation.

Entering Craddock's bookshop one morning to search for some reference work, Molly almost collided with Paul, who was just leaving. She started in surprise and displeasure, from within the store, she heard Elsa's voice saying far too loudly, "I'll catch the ten o'clock train to London, Claudius, dear." She guessed immediately that the remark was meant for her brother's ears, and that a rendezvous in town was in prospect. Paul attempted to pass by, thick books directly in front of Molly's face.

"Hello!" he said. Molly pretended to be startled. "Surprised to see me?" Lee asked. "Molly's face froze. 'Indifferent' would be a better word. When did you decide to stay instead of running home?"

Lee appeared thoughtful. "Well, after you kissed me, everything seemed different somehow."

Molly almost lost her perch on the ladder. "After I kissed you!" she exclaimed.

"All right, all right," Lee conceded. "Let's say it was fifty-fifty. But just wait till next time."

"Thank you, I've had enough," Molly said icily. "Why don't you practice on . . . Mrs. Craddock?"

Lee and Molly were conscious of a steadily mounting interest in one another.

but Molly stopped him.

"For a man who can hardly read," she said bitingly, "you've bought a remarkable number of books lately."

"Well, at least I don't go about kissing ungodly strangers in the Quad," Paul replied stiffly.

Molly's eyes flashed. "He doesn't happen to be married." Then her tone changed to one of entreaty.

"Paul—aren't you running into a sticky mess?"

"Look here, old girl. I can take care of myself. My private life is my own affair!" he said, walking off.

"Sorry I bothered," she called out coldly. As she walked into the store Elsa advanced to meet her with a smile.

"We haven't seen much of you lately, Miss Beaumont," she said.

"I'm sure my brother more than makes up for my absence."

"Isn't he a dear?" Elsa gushed. "Sometimes I think he's a fool."

She handed a slip of paper to Elsa. "Here will I find these books, please?" she asked shortly.

With well-concealed but unmistakable sarcasm, Elsa directed her to the proper shelves. Finding the section, Molly climbed a ladder and began looking around for the titles she wanted. Standing there, she was startled to catch sight of Lee gazing from below.

Stunlike he took a step toward her; then, suddenly, he had a better idea. Going around to the other side of the section, he put a ladder in place and mounted it. Now he and Molly were separated by a double row of books, with a wire trelis between them. From directly in front of him he removed several

"I don't need any practice." "That, of course, is a matter of opinion. I'm sure you would find Mrs. Craddock very co-operative."

Lee grinned broadly. "Why, I wouldn't take her if I won her in a raffle. Those 'college widows' are safe to play with as dynamite."

"For once we agree," Molly said grudgingly.

"It's about time," Lee said, pretending a sign of relief. "Now that we're practically soul mates, how about having dinner with me?"

"No," she turned her head.

"Aw, listen," he protested, "even a drowning man's got a right to sink three times."

"But you keep bobbing up. Why don't you go and kiss the Dean?"

They both laughed at that, and the ice was broken. Before Molly left, she had agreed to meet Lee that evening.

They went for a walk . . . and the next night they went skating, conscious of a steadily mounting interest in one another.

• • • • •

The cheers of the crowd responding to Lee's winning performance as anchor man in the two-mile relay had scarcely died away; but Lee's face was wreathed in an angry scowl. He had been told by Paul Beaumont that, because of threatening weather, the mile relay was to be run off at once, and that he couldn't run in it because of insufficient rest. Clenching his teeth, forgetting even Molly, who was waving from the stands, Lee was even more furious when he found Paul was to run in his place.

The Owl Says:

Dearies:
You dear sweet things: I am so proud of all of you for writing to me so much. I'm simply loaded down with your lovely letters. Thanks, a million times.

Yours,
THE OWL.

Dear Owl:

I am having trouble with my girls; they are all crazy about me and I think a lot of all the little dears. But you see—my mother don't think I am old enough to go with the girls yet. She thinks I need a lot of experience before I tackle such a thing as dealing with the fair sex.

Gal crazy yours,
LEON PAINTER.

My Dear, Dear Mr. Painter:
Since you are 15 years old, I consider you a full grown man. You have not had much experience I must admit, but just keep on like you're going and you'll soon be experienced enough.

Hootingly yours,
THE OWL.

Dear Ole Owl:

I don't want you to take me wrong. I love my wife and she loves me very much but I would like to know what I could do to hold that love. In any way I should mend my ways or looks.

Love,
B. B. GREEN.

Dear B. B.:

If you can answer yes to all the questions, you need never worry. Do you kiss the wife every morning before going to work, even if she has burned the toast? Do you bathe in Lifebuoy soap? Do you shave with Gillette Blue blades? Do you use Burma shave? Do you use Listerine? Do you have the smile of health and beauty from using Ipana Tooth Paste? Do you bring home her favorite candy? Do you let her talk when she wants to? Check yourself very closely.

Yours,
THE OWL.

Sophomore Sobs

Ed Johnson asked a certain girl if she wanted a ride back to town from the freshman picnic. Her reply was "I love only one." Don't get downhearted, Ed.

Clyde decided that he would try his luck. So he asked the new girl if she would ride with him. Her reply was "Goodness-s-s."

Houston asked F. P.'s girl if she would ride with him. She couldn't think of anything to say only "The he." Houston said he knew she had a date with F. P. Heare was the reason she did that.

THE FISH POND

Wanda Sims spent Tuesday and Wednesday night with her grandparents.

The fish are working very hard in English to finish their out-side work. Vera Ruff spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Herbert Prather, of Pampa.

We have just finished reading "The Lady of the Lake." It was one of the best selections we have read this year. We were surprised and pleased one day while reading when Mrs. Blankinship brought some real hatterer from the hills of Scotland to the class.

Journalism Class Goes on Outing

"Journalism students take a holiday." And that's exactly what they did last Saturday. A group of 19 journeyed to Anvil Park, near Canadian, where they played games, went boat riding, and had a picnic lunch.

In the afternoon the group motored to Pampa where they attended the matinee showing of the technicolor picture, "Gold Is Where You Find It," starring George Brent and Olivia de Havilland at the LaNora theater. Journalism students and Quill and Scroll members making the trip included: Meta Bruton, Amos Page, Marion Smith, Audrey Warren, R. J. Luther Parks was chosen to drive the bus. Including the chaperones, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Witt and sponsor, Miss Lois Kirby, there will be 30 to go on the trip.

The '34 seniors were the first to go to the cavern. Since then every senior class has made the annual trip.

District F. F. A. Meet to Be Here Saturday

W. C. Zirkle in Charge of Contests; Wheeler Chapter to Present One-Act Play

Ten Panhandle towns will be represented in the Pampa District Future Farmers of America meeting to be held in Wheeler Saturday under the direction of W. C. Zirkle, local agriculture teacher.

Six different contests will be sponsored and winners in each contest will go to Lubbock to the area meet, which is to be held on May 7. Winners at Lubbock will go to the state meet at Huntsville on June 4.

Contests will be sponsored in public speaking, one-act play, chapter conducting, news writing, debating, and extemporaneous speaking. All subjects will pertain in one way or another to agriculture.

There will be a teachers' meeting of all of the instructors in the district during the meet, states Zirkle. Teachers from towns not represented in the events will judge the contests.

At press deadline Zirkle did not know who would represent Wheeler in the various events but he stated a one-act play would be presented. Characters and the name of the skit had not been decided upon.

MAJORITY OF STUDENTS TAKE TEST FOR TUBERCULOSIS

Starting Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock tuberculosis tests were given to all Wheeler school students whose parents had given permission for their children to take it.

A large majority of patrons signed the slips stating their willingness to allow their children to be tested for tuberculosis. If a person is affected, the test will show positive.

All teachers submitted to the test.

WEST TEXAS PRESS CLINIC ANNOUNCES PRESS CLINIC

Announcement has been received of prizes to be awarded by the West Texas Scholastic Press clinic by that organization.

The page in the down-town paper section, in which the Corral is competing, will be given $5 worth of office equipment. Other awards will be as follows: Printed paper, a $54.50 typewriter; mimeographed paper, $40 worth of office supplies; annuals, $15 camera.

Teachers Postpone Faculty Play

Because of inclement weather, the faculty play was postponed until Thursday night.

SNUBBING POST

Spring is here, flowers are in bloom, romance is in the air. Several Wheeler high school couples seem to realize the fact also.

Orchids to the McMurry College singers. They did "swell" if I may say so. Several compliments were heard on them.

Irene Hunt should be congratulated because she is the first to represent Wheeler at the Chamber of Commerce meeting at Wichita Falls.

"A Gypsy Told Me So" seems to be a very promising tune for the near future.

Just two more weeks till school is out. What a relief to be out of this misery.

Why doesn't somebody do something mean so we can put it in the Corral?

Meta Bruton and Lorraine Wallace ate all the ice cream and "pop" they could hold Saturday, believe it or not.

Don't you think that this issue of the Snubbing Post is much better than the preceding ones. The usual composer was away on urgent business; somebody said she was going to talk at Wichita Falls, and so a poor little junior had to do her work.

Alton Weeks was seen wearing a pin Monday with the words "Wanted a Wife," printed on it. Did you have any luck, Alton?

A new boy in dear old Wheeler high is Frank Drew. Juanita Voyles has already told some of the girls not to try to catch Frank. He belongs to her. So beware, girls.

Many moans and groans were heard coming out of the journalism students after their strenuous day last Saturday.

Already these children of Wheeler high are complaining because it will be three more years before April Fool will come on a school day again, and most of them will have graduated by that time. Children will be children, won't they?

Seen in the study hall sitting together during the 12:20 period: MARILYN JOHNSON and R. J. PUCKETT, who seem to be a promising couple on whom to center gossip.

Some students might be interested to know that W. T. ROACH is married. (Well, he isn't).

Last Saturday afternoon, there was a parade in Pampa. Well, it wasn't exactly a parade, it was just the journalism class. The girls had on slacks and surly did put the right touch into the Pampa streets.

CO-OPERATION OF PATRONS IS APPRECIATED

This week to every school child were given slips of paper to be taken home for parents to sign. The signature of the parents meant that they were willing for their children to take the tuberculosis tests given free of charge this week.

Of about 700 of these slips distributed to the students, only a small percentage were returned without the signature of the parents. These tests are entirely for the good of the pupils and the excellent co-operation of the parents is greatly appreciated by the officials of the school.

This display of willingness to co-operate shows that the parents realize the value of taking the tuberculosis test. It reveals the fact that they realize the risk of contracting such a dangerous disease as tuberculosis.

The entire city of Wheeler should appreciate the effort extended by this county to promote the welfare of the children of this community. For the extension of this welfare time and money are spent and the spirit of co-operation displayed in Wheeler schools is the consideration for the amount of time and money spent here.

"AS" DO NOT NECESSARILY MEAN KNOWLEDGE

Have you made the most of this school year? From the books that you have studied did you obtain all the knowledge possible for you to get? If you have gone to class merely to "pass" or get an "A," you have not made the most of your schooling. The person who simply wants to pass has very little of what men call "knowledge." The individual who attends school only because of the athletic activities offered is gaining little.

No more knowledge is learned by the "book worm," or the person who studies not for knowledge but for grades. He or she may remember what is read long enough to pass the test and make "100" but where is his knowledge? By this it is not meant that it is wrong to read books. On the contrary, that is one of the best ways to grow mentally but when they are read for grades, it is an entirely different story.

Even though you might not have made excellent grades, your education is successful if you have gained something that will help you in everyday living.

Caught in The Lasso's Noose

Fifteen days until school will be out.

When two of our best-looking students can look at each other all the day, that is something. The handsome boy is W. L. JOLLY and the girl is ELOISE REED. Is VIRGINIA BURGESS being left out?

Just who is ROBERT BUCK? You hear so much talk about him. Some say that he is R. B. STEPHENS.

Isn't that black and gold jacket MARILYN JOHNSON has been wearing just too cute? You know, a funny thing about that jacket is that it looks just like the football awards.

Evidently, there is a thief in the school. Lunches, paper and MISS LOIS KIRBY'S triangle have disappeared. It isn't funny not to have anything to eat from the time you leave school in the morning until you get home again in the evening.

Better get up your back memory work.

Did ELVA BELLE CROUCH get a proposal last Sunday? Yes? No? Maybe FAYE WEBB got one too. Eh?

A few couples attending the journalism picnic were HUFFMAN WALKER and HELEN SCOTT, AMOS PAGE and VIRGINIA BURGESS, VERGIE ASHLEY and ALTON WEEKS and JACK PITCOCK and MARION SMITH.

Get up your notebooks.

MARY BELLE JOHNSON has been running after LAVELL JACOB'S ambition. Odd, isn't it?

W. J. MURDAUGH must like cream cones. Sunday he was heard to ask for one cream cone.

When the journalism class passed school at Pampa going to the show a man was heard to say, "Some one must have left the gate open." It seemed that he must have meant it as an insult.

Almost any noon you may see HUFFMAN WALKER, HELEN SCOTT and CLOWES JONES talking in the hall. Be careful, CLOWES, or HUFFMAN might become jealous of you trying to beat his time.

Some of the girls have gone around squeaking trying to imitate the girl who sang a solo from McMurry Monday.

When MR. GILMORE was asked if he knew any news, he said, "Yes, EARL, is waiting for me."

Wonder how many of us have T. B.?

McMurry Chanters Present Program

Under the direction of Mrs. Gypsy Ted Sullivan, Wyle, the McMurry Chanters entertained students and visitors Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the auditorium.

In addition to the chorus numbers there were vocal solos, trios, and a sextet and a violin solo.

The program included: Anvil Chorus from Il Trovatore; a selection from Carmen; a ballad, "Tale by Peter Piper, Tilly Boy, Merry Lark, The Snowing, Giddy Up and Tom Thumb's Drum, and songs from The Merry Widow and Naughty Marietta.

The group concluded with Hallelujah Chorus.

McMurry Chanters' Director Says Music Teaches Control of Emotions

An old journalism proverb is "The more famous a person, the easier he is to interview." This was certainly true in the case of Mrs. Gypsy Ted Sullivan, Wyle, director of the McMurry Chanters. An interview with Mrs. Wyle is like carrying on a pleasant conversation with the most charming person you know.

Born in Whitehouse, Texas, Mrs. Wyle received her training at Ward Belmont, Chicago Music college and from private teachers in Chicago, New York and Los Angeles. She merits a box for music from both her parents.

When asked her ambition, she replied with a "Oh, to live life to its fullest." "All the songs are my favorites," she answered with a twinkle when questioned about her favorite song.

Frederic Chopin is her favorite composer and she also likes the compositions of Richard Wagner and Verdi.

Mrs. Wyle has studied violin, organ and piano. Violin is her best liked instrument. She won several scholarships which she said had been of great value to her while attending Ward Belmont and Chicago Music college.

FACULTY GIVES TWO SKITS OF PLAY IN ASSEMBLY

Sketches of the faculty play were presented before the students of grammar and high school at the auditorium-gymnasium Tuesday morning at the activity period.

Mrs. J. L. Gilmore, director, introduced the characters, who gave two brief skits of their play "Crossroad Store" which they presented that night.

Travis Jones Reported Improving

Travis Jones, a graduate of 1935, has been ill in a Lubbock hospital with pneumonia following typhoid fever. At the present time he is improving but it is not known when he will be able to return to his home.

Friends are to see him again and to know that he is realizing some of his early aspirations. Hayden stated that he hoped to return to A. & M. this fall and complete the work on his engineering degree.

Mary Lou McIlhany, who is a student at the University of Texas, recently became a member of Iota Sigma Pi, honorary chemistry fraternity for women at the university. The new members were entertained with a luncheon at the Home Economics Tea room of the university. Mary Lou was a graduate with the class of '32.

Marthalys Wiley, who is a student at T. S. C. W., has invited her brother, Paul, to return to her first all-college dance of the year. Marthalys was a graduate with the class of '37.

It is rumored that Tom Wood might lead the band for a while this year. If he doesn't accept a job that he is thinking about, he might be the band director here next year. '33 was a graduate with the class of '33.

Earl Farris, a graduate with the class of '34, is now in the navy. He sent Miss Bernie Addison a recent copy of the Honolulu Star-Bulletin from Hawaii.

college.

"There is no special thing about music that I like best except, perhaps, the dramatic side of it. The "Magic Flute" is her preference in radio programs. Mrs. Wyle prefers classical music, her favorite kind being opera. "Aida" is the opera she likes best.

She herself is a dramatic soprano, having a major in voice. In her opinion, everyone likes music if he is given a chance. Not necessarily the highest type of classical music but good music, of course.

Noble Cain is the best choral conductor, she thinks. However, she also admires the directing of Christians of St. Olaf, Minn.

In directing choruses, Mrs. Wyle likes most to see her students gain voice when singing. She stated that some of these pupils have made "flattering progress" in the musical world.

When asked what she considered the educational value of music she stated: "It teaches you to think clearly, to be self-reliant." It also teaches the control of emotion through the medium of tone. Music is doing more for people today than ever before," she declared.

Future Homemakers of Texas

Mrs. Nina H. Young, local home economics teacher, was one of the three out-of-town judges who aided in judging the home ec II and III girls evening and afternoon dresses in Shamrock last Thursday evening. Other judges were from McLean and Sammonwood.

Home Ec I

The first year home economics students have been studying the preparation of lunches. They prepared several different forms of nut bread, which are suitable for lunches when spread with butter. They also studied the different kinds of vegetables suitable for lunches when wrapped in wax paper.

Home Ec II

Four of the home economics II girls boast of the fact that they attended school six days last week. All of them are very anxious to finish their dresses and it is hoped that they will be completed in time to model them before the students' parents and any others who desire to watch the modeling next Wednesday or Thursday.

Home Ec III

The home ec III girls have been studying about interior decorating and the different kinds of rugs. They studied all of the materials which are suitable for rugs and the various kinds of rugs on the market today.

They studied the various kinds of rugs in the home ec cottage and decided that they were axminster, a good, cheap long-wearing rug.

No delegates from the local home economics classes will attend the state meet in Austin because of the large number of activities at the end of school.

Lemuel: No ma'am; I only heard it.

A high school paper from Oakland, Calif., came addressed to The Corral, Wheeler, Texas, "The Lone Star State."

Friendship is not a thing you can set out to create; it has to come from common interest and common endeavors.

The ladder of life is full of splinters, but they always prick the hardest when we're sliding down.

When a man knows he is a fool he knows more than some people give him credit for.

Everyone of us is said to be a model, held in use by someone else, low and humble as we may be.

Spring Gridders Bear Down in Workouts

Seven Seasoned Lettermen Plus 20 New Candidates Drill on Fundamentals

Coach Stina Cain has been sending his eight seasoned lettermen and approximately 20 new grid candidates through stiff blocking and tackling workouts for the past two weeks.

With a host of new players and those back from last year's ranks, the Mustangs are rated an even chance of winning the conference flag next year.

It is not improbable that four of the lettermen will be in backfield berths, when the starting line-up is named by Cain, next fall.

Stephens has been showing promises of filling the fullback position, while Groves, last year's midjet quarterback, will likely remain in that position.

Green, twice an all-district guard, may be in the backfield as blocking back. Emmer, former end, shows plenty of speed in workouts and may be holding down the other wing position.

With these four in the backfield and four more seasoned men in the line, chances look good. South, giant guard, will be in the line again. Compton, 185-pound tackle, will also return to that position. Glenn Weeks will be filling an end position again. Jack Pitcock will be on the other end of the line.

Fads in Dress, Slang, and Games Come and Go With Passing Years

It is interesting to think of passing fads in which most people take part. Short dresses are fads, but people don't realize it until they are out of style. Isn't it amusing to get hold of a fashion magazine of a few years back and notice how "tacky" all the girls look?

Fads are not only of clothes but of games, appearances and slang. About 20 or 30 years ago all the women wore high-necked dresses with full skirts and big sleeves. This style soon faded into, one might say, the very opposite.

Short skirts and low necks and waistslines were worn. Skirts gradually became longer and now they are getting shorter again. Our dresses of today are much like those of about 30 years ago.

Hats of all shapes, forms and fashions are seen now. Triangle handkerchiefs, as we saw Marion Smith wearing, and hood parkas, like Miss Lois Kirby's, were a recent hat style.

Men also have their fashions. Not so many years ago large hats and tight-legged trousers were all the rage, and one wouldn't think of a man wearing anything but white shirts. Now trousers have more fullness in the legs and some of the men and boys just try to see if they can get a smaller hat than the other—and they have them creased, oh, so queerly!

One can look on the campus of any school and see all kinds of beautiful plaid and striped colored shirts. Did you ever notice that pretty red plaid shirt of R. J.'s? It's rather stunning.

11 BOYS WHO RIDE BUS PLAY FOOTBALL AT ACTIVITY

Eleven high school boys who ride the busses work out for football at the activity period from 10:20 until 10:50 in the mornings.

They are: John Wright, Alvin Hampton, Clifford Young, Maurice Barnes, R. P. Ferris, Hubert Johnson, Carroll Adams, Wayne Rogers, Clyde Ayers and Buford Emery and Douglas Groves. Gordon Tolliver also practices at this period.

F. F. A. BOYS SELL CALVES TO SWIFT COMPANY

Four members of the agriculture chapter sold their calves to Swift & Company last week at Amarillo.

The boys received $15 cents a pound for their calves. Those who sold their calves were W. L. Coward, Cecil Parker, Clint Westmoreland and Clyde Ayres.

The juniors are making preparations for their junior day in Granite, Okla.

Verta Warren—Hi, sugar plum! (speaking to Harri).

Harold Callan—He's a pest.

Additional visitors at the musical program presented by the McMurry Chorus besides those mentioned in Rambling on the Range were: Mrs. Roy Esslinger, Mrs. J. H. Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wiley, Mrs. Lucy Rippe, Mr. and Mrs. Edson Summers and Misses Helen and Annie Mae Green.

Toy bugs and signs saying such things as "Wife Wanted" are the latest rage. Don't forget, either, those sandals that have heels all over the sole. They are going to top the fashion hits this summer, they say.

Instead of wearing all the make-up they can find, as women did several years ago, girls now try to be more natural and use very little "paint." Curls have taken the place of waves. If you have ever noticed Lala Barr or Ethel Clare Roney, you'd know without being told. It is rumored, also, that the famous "page boy" style of hair dress has now passed.

Necklaces were quite popular right after Christmas. Did you observe all those junior necklaces, crosses, footballs and such like worn recently by the ladies?

Entertainment is something that cannot be left out. Cross-word puzzles, jig-saw puzzles, monopoly, handies, anagrams and mah jong, a Chinese game, are gone now, but not forgotten. People used to give flinch parties, but this game is played little now.

Slang has placed itself in our lives for the last 10 years, but now most people think it improper and avoid its use. "O. K.," "skip it," and "aw, piffle" were used as much, maybe more than other slang phrases. "You ought to know" and "you ain't awfully," are fairly recent samples.

What, after all, are fads? Fads are styles lasting only a short time in which almost everyone takes part.

FROM OTHER BRANDING IRONS

A moving picture projector is going to be the gift for the Lubbock seniors.

Doctor: "But the climate may disagree with your wife."

Henpeck (meekly): "It wouldn't dare."

Adam: "Eve, you've gone and put my dress suit in the salad."

In keeping with a proclamation issued last year by Governor James V. Allred, Teachers College day will be observed again this year on April 21 by Southwest Texas State Teachers college as well as the six other teachers colleges of Texas.

West Texas teachers has the tallest college basketball team this year. Their average height is six feet and five inches.

About this time in 1936 the McMurry Glee club presented a program in the new auditorium-gymnasium.

This is the fifth year that the seniors have made an annual trip to the Carlsbad Caverns.

SPORT SLANTS

By a Mustang

Chances are bright for another district championship for the Mustangs next year. With only four conference games on the schedule and a play-off game to determine the winner, the Mustangs are rated an even chance.

Yours truly, writer of this column, owes an apology to the "redhead" who writes the Snubbing Post and after what was published elsewhere expects one. Well, all right then, I won't give one.

Happenings of sports in this section of the country are at a standstill at present. Why not some hard baseball teams?

W. J. Ford, former Mustang back, is expected to go places at Harding-Simmons university this year on the gridiron. Coach Kinrough named him as one of the most promising backs in West Texas.

Boys out for spring football are training heavily on fundamentals. Coach Cain has eight lettermen out and about 20 new candidates.

Digging Up History

Could it have been so long ago that Inogene Jamison was a "Obie" Stephens' heart throb?

Did you ever see H. M. Compton's horse parked in front of Magie Bruton's house on Sunday afternoons?

Dorothy Mills and Troy Shipman were "that way" about each other?

Mrs. Gordon Whitener was the home economics teacher?

And say, didn't Edna E. Young had a great love affair?

Many Belle Johnson was just another high school girl and now she is an engaged young lady? (Good luck, Mary Belle!)

The students had to keep the library?

Irene Hunt had Wallace Pendleton walking her way and saying her say?

The boys couldn't take agriculture and manual training?

Marion Smith used to go with Bobby Groves and Marilyn had eyes only for "Tackle" Harmon?

And say, didn't Amos Page court Helen Scott a few weeks back? Or is that history? It may be news to some of you!

Clay Robinson was struck by Ethel Clare Roney's magical beauty?
