When It Starts

There has been a most eloquent, meaningful prayer written by the president of the Federal Churches of Christ in America, the Bishop Henry St. George Tucker, which has been offered for all churches to read on the day the invasion starts. To gather in our churches, all over this country, on a certain day of note, to offer prayer from the hearts of all civilians back home for the lives of our American and Allied soldiers, is a fitting and potent gesture. Every home in Wheeler would find comfort in the thought that a nation prays for its sons. Their blood and their sacrifice will be greatest at this time than ever before in battle, we are told by military authorities. We are to face losses that will plunge many homes into deep sorrow, losses that we may gain a victory and bring about peace. Well might we pray in unison on the day the invasion begins.

Where Praise Is Due

Putting in extra detail work for the amount of business they get, finds long-suffering tradesmen in need of a bit of appreciative comment from us. Take the butcher and grocer who have put up with a lot of complaining from customers, arguments that cause friction in spite of both sides. To those of us who have difficulty with our ration stamps, expiration dates, shortage of articles, wait for delayed produce, it is some thing that does take patience. But what about that groceryman who needs more help in the store, has shipments delayed, food prices to check, changing orders from the government, trying to contact favorably jobbers who supply him? It is just as hard for the grocer to get you the goods as it is for you to locate it on the shelf when tardy shipments do come in. Let us exercise more patience and make the job a less difficult one for both this and the other side of the counter.

We Will Need Them

This data comes from a motor survey made by government sources and official statements of automobile manufacturers, concerning the prospect for what's what in motordom for 1945. Take just half of what you read and you have a demand that is astonishing! For instance, 6½ million former auto owners will be without cars by July, 1945; 9½ million owners will be driving junkers worth less than $100 at that time; 17 million owners (53½ of pre-war total) will be in the market for replacements; 1 million former truck owners will be minus trucks. This concludes with the statement that 18.4 million cars and trucks, new ones, will be necessary to get the country back to its former transportation set-up. With a buying power that will reach a new high by the end of the year, the American people are going to gather unto themselves 100 billion dollars in savings by that time! With the national income rising to an estimated $150 billion, with the indebtedness being wiped off the books right along now, it looks as though many a family will be buying a car on the instalment plan, when and if.

Many a bride is shocked to find out that the man she has been posing for, isn't any better than she is.

Pertinent Paragraphs from Panhandle Press

Victory gardens are beginning to look good as the plants attain better growth. There is no better exercise than gardening, and while it is fashionable to do this kind of work, many people who have never gardened before will get a habit that will never entirely leave them. There is pleasure, health and profit in gardening. —McLean News

It might be well for all of us, and especially some of our Washington bureaucrats to read again The American's Creed, which was written by William Tyler Page and adopted by an Act of Congress on April 6, 1918. It follows:

"I believe in the United States of America, as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable, established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

"I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to live it, to support its constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies."

—Lockney Beacon

Joe Bishop says he captured his first "hoss thief" Sunday.

An old fellow wheeled his horse up on South Main Street and went in to purchase a loaf of bread, leaving the reins in the hands of a soldier. The soldier had had several drinks, including three or four too many, so he mounted the cayuse and tore out down the pavement. Sparks were flying as the iron shoes clanked on the pavement and the soldier was "jerk-ing leather" and screaming at the top of his voice. When he was finally captured by three or four members of the law enforcement group, the soldier was inviting them to bring on some more broncs. He said he never rode a horse before, but according to witnesses, he made a real ride. —Hereford Brand

Any widespread recruiting of agricultural workers next summer will not only be appreciated but needed, but care will have to be exercised in such a plan, since hundreds of people in every section of the country could never be successfully trained to help efficiently with farm work. Those adaptable to agricultural pursuits will indeed prove more costly than beneficial. Since agriculture chiefs already have the program mapped, they might do well first to ascertain how many employees in stores and plants have prior farm experiences. —Scurry County Times

Last week a special delivery letter arrived at the Groom postoffice, addressed to a man who was working on top of our City water tower. The workman was one hundred forty feet from the ground. Jim Britten, who works at the postoffice, made the delivery and claims credit for making the highest delivery. —Groom News

Monday, May 15, was the 30th anniversary of The Herald editor as newspaper worker. In fact, it is the date for two anniversaries — graduation from high school and first employment on a newspaper.

It is well that the cub of 30 years ago could not see into the future— of the years of extremely hard work, or he would have shied away. Of course, the years have been intensely interesting. The interest of the work has offset much of the routine drudgery.

In those early years of newspaper work, it seemed that it never would be possible to become a publisher. Yet, that goal has been achieved with its multitude of problems.

One of the greatest blessings has been that fate brought The Herald editor to the growing Panhandle of Texas. Fortunate is the person who can spend many years in the Panhandle and watch the growth of this area.

Anyway, this writer has about 20 years more that he wants to devote to newspaper business and then he is willing to make room for others more capable.

News writing is the heart of the paper. The Herald editor always enjoys writing news, but the editorial advertising and circulation departments are also worthy of the best efforts of any newspaper worker. —Panhandle Herald

Years ago, the sports department of a big Texas daily had so many important football games coming up that they called on the state editor to write up one of them. He was tall, gray-haired, matter-of-fact, and had seen just two football games in his life — and they were so far back that a field goal counted four points and a team had only three tries for first down but the distance was only five yards. However, he didn't let on and the story that he wrote was a gem—of its kind. Here's the way it started off:

"The Comanche Indians tied a knot in the San Angelo Bobcats' tail."

A bobcat has a tail about half an inch long and anybody that could tie a knot in that, really would be doing sum'p'n!

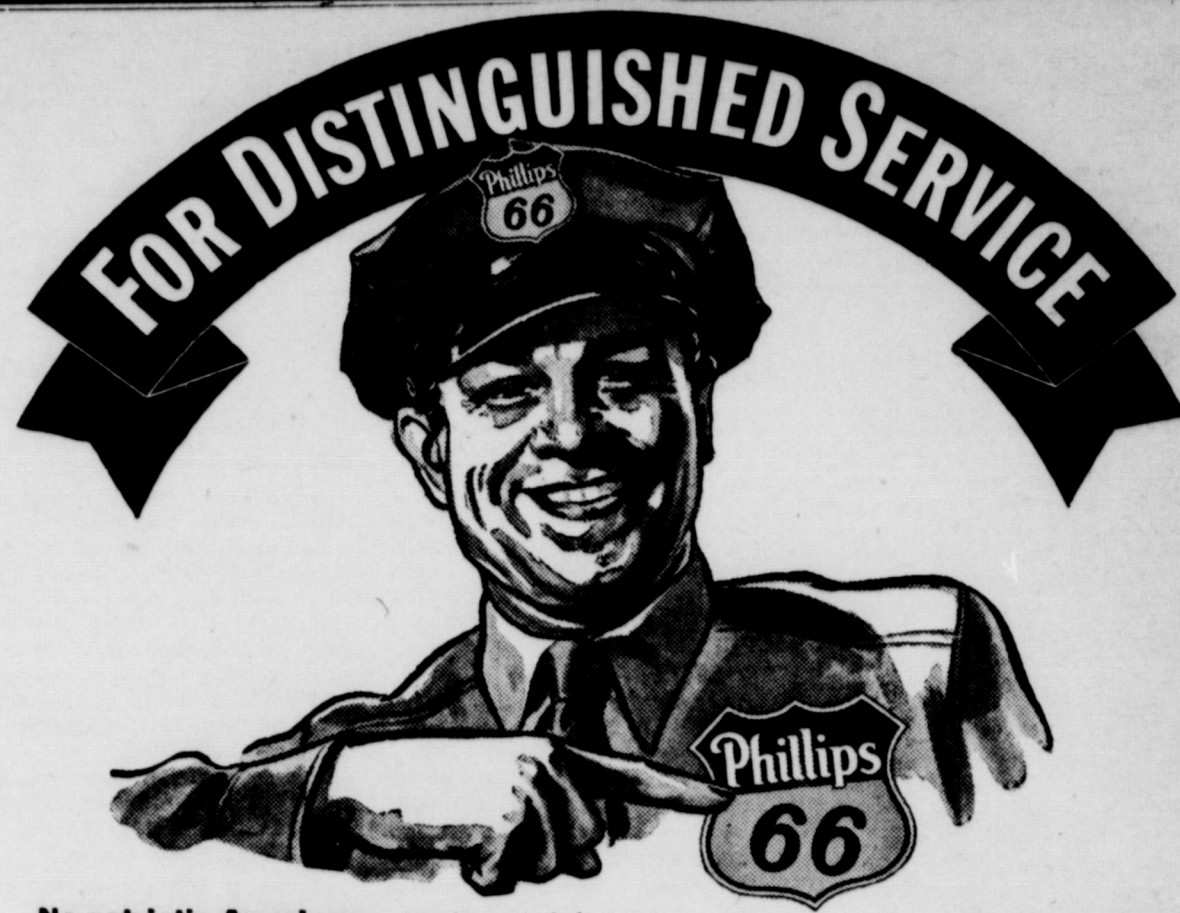

Reminds me of the two men who were talking on the street and one of them remarked:

"Any man who would hide behind a woman's skirts is a coward."

The other glanced around at the short skirts and replied:

"Any man who can do that is a magician."

And that calls to mind the days of national prohibition. After beer was banished, some company brought out a product known as "near-beer." Two men were trying it out and one of

To Our Friends and Customers

In the series of advertisements published in recent weeks, we have acquainted you with the service record and public policy of the Southwestern Public Service Company. We have stated that the Company was originally organized in New Mexico in 1925 and, until acquiring the facilities in Wheeler, it served principally the Pecos Valley area of New Mexico and the Central Panhandle area of Texas. We have stated that, through the long period of years following the founding of the Company, our policy has been to furnish the best possible service to the public at rates which were voluntarily and repeatedly reduced.

Our efforts have merited the approval of those we serve. The public response has been generous, as evidence of which, during the past twelve months every incorporated city and town in the Pecos Valley of New Mexico, six in all, granted the Company new long term franchises under which it can continue to plan on a long term basis and preserve its service policies. In the Central Panhandle area also, franchise renewals have been granted in each city where expiration dates were near. In not a single case, has a renewal ever been refused.

The extension of our permits to serve all of these cities and towns was based upon the public acceptance of the Company and its policy of operation. We now bring this policy to the people of Wheeler, and we are confident that you will find it genuinely in the public interest in the years to come.

Canning Pineapple

1. Selection of pineapple for canning: To get the best product, use ripe but firm fruit. Select the ripe orange color fruit from which center spines may be pulled out easily. If the spines are hard to pull the fruit is too green. If the spine is dark or ragged the pineapple will be decayed in the center. Avoid unnecessary handling of the fruit as it bruises easily.

2. Preparation of fruit: Wash well, cut off stem end and twist out top. Cut in 1/2 inch slices. Trim off eyes and rough section of peel, and discard this. Trim more closely and cook these trimmings in a small amount of water. Strain and use the liquid for making the syrup. The core can be used also. As the slices are peeled and quartered they may be dropped in a solution of two quarts of water and juice of one lemon to prevent darkening. Do not leave fruit in this solution longer than 30 minutes.

3. Making syrup: Use the liquid from the cooked peels as suggested above. Use 1 1/2 cup sugar to 1 cup of liquid. Cook until sugar is thoroughly dissolved and syrup has boiled. Keep hot.

4. Packing pineapple: Pack the hot, sterilized jars with the fruit as tight and as full as possible. Pour the hot syrup over the fruit to within 1 or two inches of the top. The ripener and softer the fruit the smaller amount of syrup is required, since some juice will be drawn out of fruit in the steaming process.

5. Steaming: Place the jars, without the lids, in warm water in a water bath on a rack. The water should be about 2 inches below the rim of the jar and should not be allowed to boil so rapidly as to bubble into container of food. Cover the water bath kettle with a lid. Begin to count steaming time as soon as steam accumulates above the jar and the water begins to boil. Steam 5 to 10 minutes depending on the ripeness of the fruit. The ripener it is the less steaming time required. At the end of the steaming period remove container from water bath. Press food down. Have fruit well covered with liquid; more hot syrup may be added if necessary. Leave 1/4 inch head space for jars.

6. Sealing: Have fruit hot when sealed. It is best to remove one jar from the water, wipe the edge of the mouth, seal and return to the water. Then remove another jar.

7. Processing: Cover the jar with one to two inches of water. Begin to count time as soon as the water begins to boil and the steam accumulates under the cover. Keep the water boiling for 28 minutes for pints and quarts. (Time given in the bulletin is 20 minutes. 4 minutes should be added for each 1000 feet above sea level. 28 minutes is adequate for Wheeler County.)

8. Cooling: Remove jars from water and cool without placing in the draft.

9. Storing: In 24 to 36 hours remove outside band, if the two-piece type of closure is used. This prevents rusting of the band and provides an opportunity to check the seal. Store in a dry, cool, dark place.

PROCLAMATION

By The GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF TEXAS No. 41-79

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME:

The Day of Invasion, known as "D" Day, when the Allies will drive with all the force at their command against the enemy, is rapidly approaching. This dangerous and costly offensive will necessarily involve great anxiety, suffering and loss of lives, in a supreme effort to bring to an end the reign of brute force and oppression.

Countless stories have reached the home front regarding the faith of our fighting men, — stories of miracles in the face of death, answered prayers when all seemed hopeless. Again on "D" Day, many supplications will go up to Almighty God from those who will be facing danger and death, prayers for safety for loved ones, for guidance, for endurance, and for courage to face the battle; prayers for victory, and for freedom and peace.

As soon as news of the invasion is announced, those on the home front are asked to join their prayers with those of our fighting men. Many churches over the country are planning to open their doors to all who wish to enter. Numbers of business houses will observe "D" Day in appropriate manner by allowing their employees to participate in a Day of Prayer.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Coke Stevenson, Governor of the State of Texas, in cooperation with this worthy cause, proclaim the day of invasion as

A DAY OF PRAYER IN TEXAS, and call upon the people of this State to observe it in appropriate manner.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF I have hereunto signed my name officially and caused the Seal of State to be affixed hereto at Austin this the 2nd day of May, A. D. 1944.

(Seal) COKE STEVENSON,
Governor of Texas

By the Governor:
Sidney Latham
Secretary of State.

GI'S PROBLEMS COMPARED WITH THOSE ON HOME FRONT

Below follows excerpts from a letter from a sergeant now located in New Guinea. The letter gives a contrast between the GI and home front problems as seen by a soldier on foreign soil.

"To some of you civilians who grumble about the food. If you don't get ham and eggs you are in an awful mood, 'because you don't understand.' But we GI soldiers get our food in cans. Dehydrated spuds and eggs for breakfast; they too come in cans, but we are thankful to get that, 'because we understand.'

"You come home in the evening, sit back in an easy chair and read the paper and say 'we are going to win this war,' but this war won't be won by gossip. It takes supplies and big shells that we cannot make ourselves, 'because you don't understand,' but we GI's come in at night from a hard day's work; we don't have to read the paper to know this war will be won, for we are the ones behind the guns, and we will stick together to the last man 'because we understand.'

"Sometimes you rave and buck when the hot water system won't work. You then call up the plumber and find him not at home then you raise heck and cuss the telephone. I won't say what I think when your wife has to heat you some water 'because you wouldn't understand.' But we GI's, our bathtub is a can, and if it springs a leak there is another close at hand. We have no plumber or telephone, not even a wife to heat our water. We take our bath in cold water and never grumble to the other man, 'because we understand.'

"We GI's when night comes around we have no girls to see; not even time for fun, for we are soldiers and always on the run. Our beds are never soft and warm. They are usually wet and cold—even sometimes in a foxhole. We clean and oil our guns and keep them close at hand 'because we understand.' You sit at home in luxury and make dates over the phone, not thinking of the soldier, who may never come home. We GI's will fight together until this battle is won. Then we will come home trying to forget, and have our fun. 'Now do you understand?'

Sgt. and Mrs. Olen Johnston and children of Lubbock spent the first of the week with her mother, Mrs. Annie Sivage, and his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Reid, and other relatives.

If a buttercup is yellow, I suppose a hiccup is purple.

Mrs. D. O. Beene returned Sunday from Amarillo where she consulted an eye and nose specialist.

Have You Rendered Your Property For 1944 Taxes

Must Be Rendered To Get Your Homestead Exemption

If you have not made your rendition, be sure to get in touch with your Tax Assessor-Collector and make certain that they are on the rendered roll.

Many people who are buying property from or through loan companies are under the impression that the Loan Company renders their taxes for them. This is incorrect. Unless you have made the rendition yourself your taxes are unrendered.

The law states that your property must be rendered this month or such property will be placed on the UNRENDERED ROLL and you will not be entitled to the HOMESTEAD privilege and will have to pay the STATE TAX.

The tax assessor office will try to see you, but if you are missed please call by the office, and the Tax Assessor-Collector will see that you are placed on the rendered roll.

Your cooperation will be appreciated very much.

Use An Extra Egg

By Amy Sue Beckett
Asst. Co. Home Demonstration Agent

Left over egg whites or yolks can be quite a problem—or rather two problems. First, how they may be kept until they're used? Second, how can they be used best? Here's the answer to the keeping problem. It comes from Hazel Phipps, the food preparation specialist for the A. and M. Extension Service. Place the unbroken yolks in a dish or cup, and add just enough water to cover. Put the egg whites in a dish or cup and cover them tightly. Be sure to keep the whites and the yolks quite cold.

Now about using them—the easiest and quickest way to use extra whites or yolks is to add them to eggs to be scrambled. Left-over whites are ideal for individual soft meringues for the top of puddings, tarts and pies. Orange meringue is good, too. This requires one to two teaspoons of orange juice for each egg white. Then after the sugar is beaten in, fold in some finely grated orange rind.

If it's egg yolks that need using, make a soft custard or a cooked salad. Or your family may like a "gold cake."

Incidentally, it's a good idea to use an abundance of eggs as well as left-over ones for eggs are temporarily in surplus. Here are some other suggestions Miss Phipps offers about egg cookery. Egg noodles are easy to make and make an excellent addition to soups or broth. And you can work in that extra egg by putting a glaze on coffee cake with sliced fruit on top. For a delicious cream sauce with rich color—make white sauce according to your favorite recipe. Then add a small amount of the sauce to well-beaten egg. Finally, stir the mixture into the remaining white sauce. This goes well on vegetables.

Draft Dodgers

I am writing this short letter And every word is true. Don't look away, draft dodger, 'Cause this letter's concerning you.

You feel at ease in danger. Back in the old home town. You cook up some pitiful story So the draft board turns you down.

You never think of real men, Who leave there day by day, You just think of their friends You'll get while they are away.

You sit home and read the papers You jump and say "we'll win." Where do you get that "we stuff?" This war will be won by men!

What do you think, draft dodger, That this free nation would do If all men were slackers And scared to fight like you.

I guess that is all, Mr. Slacker, I suppose your face is red, America is no place for your kind, And I mean every word I've said.

So I'm closing this letter, draft dodger, Just remember what I say, Stay away from my girl friends, For I'll be back some day.

—Contributed

WHAT SAY YOU?

But now being made free from sin, and become servants to God, ye have your fruit unto holiness, and the end everlasting life. For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord. —Romans 6:22-23

The Times War Time Reporter Says

I never will forget that hog of Grandpa's that learned how to chew tobacco—she would lay around in a mud hole in the kitchen window and watch for Granddad to go to sleep, so she could steal the tobacco out of his pocket. She wasn't what you would call a mean hog, she just sorter had it in for bullfrogs and when she got a chew of that tobacco she would wander up and down the creek trying to spit in their eyes. I remember one time Granddad missed a whole caddy of tobacco and he suspicioned that hog of getting it, so he went out in the woods and found her trying to hire a pecker wood to peck a hole in the box. On account of the warm weather today my little poem is going to be about spring.

I like to go walking In the first warm days of spring, Prowl among the hills and creeks And look at every thing.

I like to see the birds fly low And hear the crickets cheep, The busy buzzing bees Find flowers that smell sweet.

There's many things for one to see But what I like the best, A shady tree, a plot of grass And plenty time to rest.
