Trucks, Wagon Crash On Highway Bridge

Two trucks, a wagon loaded with feed, two horses and four men were involved in what could easily have been a fatal accident for the men, about noon Friday on the bridge that spans the North Fork of the Red River on the Wheeler-Shamrock highway.

According to officers, Chester Putman of near Twitty was crossing the bridge going south with the wagon load of feed and was meeting a GMC oil field truck, driven by Edgar W. Randleman of Tulsa, when a Chevrolet gas transport truck, driven by Jess Clay of Pampa, attempted to pass the wagon and met the other truck headon. Buck Emory, also of Tulsa, who was riding with Randleman, received a broken hip while the other three men escaped serious injury. One horse of the team pulling the wagon was killed outright and the other injured so badly it had to be shot. Both trucks and the wagon were reported to have been badly damaged.

CROW BLASTING IS SUCCESSFUL

County Agent Jake Tarter said today that between 15,000 and 20,000 crows were slaughtered last night on Jim Ogle's farm near Kelton when bird killing "bombs" were set off in the brush where the crows roost. The crows, known to be the smartest of birds, have become wary of the bombs, especially if the moon is shining, and it has been difficult to get them to roost in sufficient numbers to bomb them. Intermittent attempts to slaughter a large flock of the birds have been made for the past three weeks but, until last night, without success. If conditions are favorable, blasting of the crows on the H. H. Herd farm southeast of Wheeler will take place tonight.

Tarter said that the majority of the crow pests have left the county because of the blasting and farmers are being saved hundreds of dollars from destruction by them.

WRITTEN IN MEMORY OF MRS. D. A. WILCOXSON

Few people ever gain world wide, nation, or even state wide greatness. We judge a man or woman's greatness by the place they occupy in the hearts of the members of their community but to judge true greatness one needs to glimpse the place they hold in the hearts of the members of their family. Judged by this standard, Mrs. D. A. Wilcoxson was a really great woman. Born in Maury County, Tennessee, September 26, 1855, she had reached the age of 89 years, 4 months and 10 days when she quietly slipped away at 6 p. m. February 5, 1945. Handicapped for many of those years by deafness, poor eyesight and a broken hip she still served those about her with never a complaint until the removal of one of her eyes and a stroke she suffered about three years ago. Since that time she has been an invalid.

Although unable to hear sermons herself, she reared her family to be Christians and members of the Methodist church. No better description can be found for her than that in the Bible: "Her children rise up and call her blessed, her husband, also and he praiseth her."

She is survived by her husband, D. A. Wilcoxson, Ernest Trantham, Erick, Oklahoma; Neva Sampson, Mobeetie, by a former marriage and her step-daughter, Mrs. A. T. Davidson, Wheeler; five grandchildren, Floyd Trantham 1c Petty Officer stationed at Oakland, California; Devayne Trantham, R. R. Batt, stationed somewhere in France; Dorothy Trantham, Pilot Instructor at Biggs Field, El Paso; Mrs. Frances Sprawls of Erick, Oklahoma, and Kenneth Paul Trantham also of Erick. There are four great-grandchildren: Patricia and Johnny Sprawls, Jack Ernest and Floyd Trantham Jr. Also one brother, W. B. Lanier, of Farmersville, Texas.

Mrs. Fred Farmer, Mrs. Ernest Dyer, Mrs. Clarence Robison, Mrs. R. H. Forrester and Misses Clara Finsterwald and Birdella Genth attended the funeral services held for Mrs. Kate Wilcoxson last Thursday in Canadian.

Mobeetie Masons Hold Annual Celebration Of Washington's Birthday

At a special meeting of the Mobeetie Masonic Lodge, held Tuesday evening, February 13, as a celebration of the annual George Washington ceremonies there were present more than 65 Masons from Mobeetie, Wheeler, Pampa, McLean, Shamrock, Briscoe, Allison, Wellington and other Panhandle points.

An M M Degree was conferred by members of Wheeler Lodge in full regalia. Hon. Lee Guthrie, Past Master of Wheeler Lodge, presided. After the business of the Mobeetie Lodge was completed all members and visitors repaired to the dining room of the lodge where a magnificent lunch was served.

The principal speaker of the meeting was Rev. Hugh H. Hunt, pastor of the Methodist church of Wheeler, who spoke on the Advance of Democratic ideology since the American Revolution. The speaker alleged and proved to the satisfaction of all present that George Washington, Marquis de Lafayette, Baron von Steuben and other leaders of the American Revolution spear-headed the movement for freedom; of all mankind, religiously, politically and economically, and that it had grown since through the years in all the world and that such ideas had their recent culmination in the Yalata Conference of the "Big Three," wherein it was determined that all liberated countries should have a chance to choose the kind of government their populations wanted. Further deductions were that the church and fraternal organizations like the Masons had aided seconded the efforts of mankind to establish the basic principals of freedom from tyranny and want and freedom of thought and greatest of all, freedom to worship God in their own way.

The meeting was pronounced a success in every way. Every member and visitor expressed themselves as perfectly satisfied; first of all with the wonderful feed, provided by the Mobeetie brethren, the excellent exemplification of the estoteric work by Brother Guthrie and his team and last, but not least, with the entertaining, lucid and instructive address of Brother Hunt.

Pvt. William A. Goad Wounded, Visited By English Relatives

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Goad have received a letter from relatives who reside in England stating they had visited their son, Pvt. William Goad, who was recently wounded and is now stationed in a hospital in England. The letter states:

My Dear Sister, I hardly know how to start this letter as I feel so excited and proud after seeing our wonderful nephew. You have always spoken so lovingly of W. A. and I can assure you that May and I am equally proud. He certainly is a wonderful boy and we are determined to see as much as possible of him as long as he is in this country. May, Jay and I traveled up to Yeovil on Saturday (January 13) and soon went out where the hospital is situated. By six o'clock we were there and W. A. was waiting in the Red Cross reception room for us. He recognized us immediately and what a reception he gave us. You would think he had known us all his life. I feel sure his head must have ached that night for we talked for two hours without ceasing.

We left him at 8:30 that night and promised to see him again the next day, so on Sunday afternoon we were there again at two o'clock sharp and W. A. said we were late, but actually we were on time, but of course he was really anxious to see us again and I dare say every minute seemed like an hour to him. We spent the afternoon with him and then went to tea with him in the mess hall with the rest of the patients. What wonderful kindness these boys showed us; they couldn't do enough for us and I shall never forget them.

After tea we all went to see a basketball game in one of the big halls provided for games. This was the first time we had seen a basketball game, but we thoroughly enjoyed it. Monday was another red letter day for all of us. We were again at the hospital at two o'clock and stayed until the very last minute. This time W. A. took us to a cinema show in the hospital, so you see we made the most of our time and enjoyed it to the fullest extent.

Now in regard to W. A.'s injuries; don't go to worrying too much about it; it's nothing too serious and I can assure you that in a very short time he will be walking about without crutches and then I am hoping he will be able to visit us at Mevagsisey. He certainly seems anxious to see our old home and I can assure you that everyone will give him a wonderful

At first I was afraid that W. A. was shell shocked, but we soon realized it was just excitement and very soon had him talking as if he had been with us all his life.

I could go on writing about W. A. for hours but I'm afraid I haven't time as I want to write May and Andrew a few lines before I go to bed. I wish you would tell all your American friends how much we enjoyed our visit to one of their hospitals and of the wonderful hospitality we received from their boys, not forgetting the nurses and Red Cross helpers in charge, and please tell them we shall never forget it.

Will close now for the time, but will write again as soon as I have seen W. A. again which I hope will be within a few weeks time. Cecil.

Help Wanted

The fact that the urgent need for army nurses is requiring a draft, has brought proposals concerning how to avoid the act and yet supply the needed woman power. Although the cause is great it is unfortunate that a draft would be necessary to get this across. An association of nurses endorse the bill but feel it should then be followed by a draft for all women from 18 to 65, since all capable women should serve their country in time of need. The field of nursing requires skilled and schooled heads and hands, the nurses training making her a vital part of serving the sick and wounded soldiers and sailors. They should have the best nurses available. The civilian sick need nurses, too. The hospitals beg for aides and graduated. The bill proposed to draft nurses would not have them entering the service as second lieutenants as they do now, but probably inducted as privates. This would probably scare many into entering the service before the draft act, if it should go through. It is every woman's responsibility to play a part and they are probably all willing to do so, if the need is there, if the call is necessary. Women are winning this war too!

Cigarette Future

A groan accompanies the prediction of current cigarette conditions that there will be no relief for smokers who aren't getting their usual daily consumption. Even if rationing through retailers was effective, the outlook for next year is bad. If civilian's cigarettes were distributed evenly, each smoker would get 15 a day. This is reasonable enough, but the amount is NOT reaching the smokers at present. As might be expected, a black market has been flourishing in some places, with even a bid of $2.50 to $3 a carton for cigarettes. There is the complaint that certain wholesalers discriminate among retailers who will pay higher prices such as can be allowed in hotels, night clubs, restaurants. Don't patronize that retailer who will sell you cigarettes IF you will buy other merchandise. The thing to do, is nip this business in the bud and help in seeing that every smoker gets his share.

Living By Laws

Man's rights comes under two headings, moral and positive. Without either the individual is lost, and we hear much discussion of both today. Moral laws are those governing man's conscience, telling him right from wrong and thus man is inwardly conscious of his behavior. It has been proven no government succeeds if its moral laws are lost. A belief in principles of conduct regarding moral actions is vital. The positive laws are the legal laws, imposed and enacted by men and are rules of behaviorism too, concerning man's relationship to society. Legal or positive laws name individual rights and is a part of democracy, shape a civil structure. The two laws are argued about by some who accuse others of subjugating the human rights to the rule of the majority and making legal or positive law the yardstick. They contend the freedom of the man who belongs to the minority is disappearing. They say it is being taught in schools and that it overlooks such as the Bill of Rights and Declaration of Independence, and such is disastrous to democracy. Anyhow it is something to think about.

Pertinent Paragraphs from Panhandle Press

Items of interest culled from newspapers on the Times' exchange list.

In case any newcomer thinks that the wind had been blowing for the last couple of weeks, the following true story from an old timer, Cecil Williams, ought to dispel the notion forever:

According to Cecil, when her family came to the plains they started from Hereford to Dimmitt with a wagon piled high with household goods, including pots and pans hung on nails and hooks all over the wagon. The wind was blowing — no sissy, modern wind either — and it blew one of those pans off the wagon. The family dog gave chase; and neither the dog nor the pan were ever heard from again.

—Hereford Brand

The President has appointed another financial genius (?) to a high government position. This time it's Aubrey Williams to be head of the Rural Electrification Administration, a public owned utility that runs into millions and in the future, billions of dollars. When he appeared before a senate committee for questioning as to being a Communist and his qualifications for the high post, Williams stated that he was 54, once a member of the famous French Foreign Legion, and at other times in his career, was a "student pastor," relief worker, and finally NYA administrator. Does his previous experience qualify him for a government post handling millions of dollars. According to New Deal standards, it does.

When Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill sit down to trade, Stalin will have the biggest stack of chips, with Churchill the least. Stalin's bargaining power rests upon his ability to say yes or no as to the war with Japan; his ability to draw Russia into economic isolation in postwar; his ability to stir up trouble by giving the nod to leftwingers throughout Europe. Roosevelt has: postwar credits; materials for reconstruction; value of America friendship as a great military power. Churchill has nothing to offer but a bankrupt empire which he is sworn to hold together. Regardless of our past aversion to the Reds, now is a good time to be very friendly with Stalin.

We are in favor of self government for every country in the world until some country gets the idea that it wants to interfere with the self government of its neighbors. Then it is time for those interested in world peace to step in and straighten out their thinking.

Dr. Ferdinand A. Hermans of Notre Dame University is quoted as saying: "The problem of freeing Germany from the Nazi is a job for the Germans themselves. They know who among their people can help in the clean up job by surrendering them to the Allies or they can hinder by concealing and protecting them. Whatever the old Germany might have been Dr. Hermans points out that a new generation has developed — a generation of Germans trained the Hitler way. Except for the old people and the Militarists of the "Old Army" school the Germans are for the most part converted to Nazi beliefs. Conquering the country is going to mean

Natural gas in the well is a long way from actual service, even though the well is only a stone's throw away from your door. This vital fuel goes through many processes before it is ready for efficient use.

Wheeler Personalities

By Mrs. Charles Warren

SUPERINTENDENT JESSE DYER

Superintendent of Wheeler schools, Jesse Dyer, has had a most interesting career. His life has been filled with colorful and broadening experiences since his very first day at school at the age of six. He received a good flogging with a sweet apple tree sprout, which he has not forgotten. From then on, things happened in his life. His first teacher, John Cates, in the little one-room school, resigned to join the "Teddy Roosevelt Rough Riders," and lost an arm at the Battle of San Juan.

His experiences in both the good old U. S. A. and abroad would fill a goodly-sized book. We will enumerate a few of them in this brief article.

Besides being an educator and studying a pre-law course, he is an author, having written several historical articles. Following his soldiering as a Corporal in the first world war, after the Armistice was signed, he furthered his education by seeing, first hand, many historical places in France and other European countries.

In the Panhandle-Plains Historical Review, of 1943, he authored "A Survey of the J. Buckle Kingdom," and he is the author of the "Memoirs of Dave Bowers" of Shamrock. Both of these very informative stories contain valuable historical data — that should be studied in all Panhandle schools.

Among his early memories, in his childhood days in Tennessee, is the ancestral home on the maternal side of his ancestors, which has been in the West family, since 1792. His mother, who was Eliza Ann West, played in the old story and a half hewn log house as a child. This old homestead has been handed down to the oldest son in the West family for more than a hundred and fifty years. Bricks for building the huge fire place were shipped from England. This ancient historical home is located near Mount Lacomte, on the line between Carolina and Tennessee, and is still owned by one of the Wests. His father, I. T. Dyer, was also of a pioneer Tennessee family, and was in business in Knoxville, Tennessee. His mother, who passed away last November, 1944, lived to be 87 years old.

Another memory of his native state, still vividly in his mind, is, seeing the framed marriage contract of David Crockett, of Alamo hero fame, hanging over the door of the Dandridge Court House — where his gun also hangs. In that early day in Tennessee, a marriage contract, with a bond, had to be posted. Mr. Dyer quoted from memory this historical document. One of the signers, Thomas Dagget, had to give his mark, as he probably was unable to write.

While in Europe, Corporal Dyer had the opportunity, while in the Army of Occupation, following the war, of visiting Berne Castle — Cues, also many other historic places in Europe. He spent ten days on the Cues side of the river in a historic medieval hotel, with a corner stone bearing the date 1435. In this area were a number of the ruins of old feudal castles, along the Mozelle and Rhine rivers. These castles had belonged to the Knights-Templars, in which they made their last stand.

In his travels in Europe, he visited a number of historical cities, among which were Marseille, Bordeaux, Paris, Orleans — the city of Jeanne 'de Arc; Reims — where the famous old church withstood the German bombardment; Metz, Nancy, Nantes, Luxemburg, Chatteaux-Thierry — and others.

Another incident, that is interesting in his European experiences is that on Christmas Eve, in 1918, he was in Trier, Germany, and bought 750 pounds of chocolate bars for his Battalion — the 2nd 344th, Field Artillery. He, with his Battalion, spent Christmas Day in Kasel, Germany, and ate stewed chicken for dinner.

A brief biographical sketch follows: Jesse Dyer was born in 1889, in Tennessee; finished the 3rd grade in school in Tennessee; came to Texas in the fall of 1900; started to school in Texas in the 4th grade, at the Center school in Hood county and continued there until 1909; took a teacher's examination and received a second grade certificate; in the fall of 1909 he entered school at Granbury College; finished high school and freshman college work in two years; Granbury College closed in 1911, and he went to work in the Gulf Refining Co., in Fort Worth and remained there until 1914; started to school in East Texas Normal, which was operated as a private school by Dr. Mayo, and taken over by the State in 1917. In 1917, he joined the Army, in the Third Field Artillery, 165th Shock Brigade, 90th Division, trained in San Antonio; left Boston, Mass. June 3, 1917; spent the Fourth of July, 1917, in Halifax, Nova Scotia; landed in Liverpool, England, July 16; crossed into Southern France and finished training in Camp Hunt near the Spanish border — in the same old camp that Napoleon trained his army. He came back to America on the "Good Ship Runic." After three days at sea they ran into a storm and he said, "for ten days I fed the fish." He married Christmas day 1917. They have one daughter, Mrs. Royce Dennis, who is now in college in Canyon.

Professor Dyer holds M. A. and B. A. Degrees, is a Baptist, a Mason, and an American Legionnaire. His wife was in the teaching profession, and he became inspired to become an educator, too. They taught together for seven years.

Boys Close Basketball Season

The Mobeetie Hornet's closed their basketball season by going to the District Tournament at Claude last week end. They played three games and won one of the three.

The first game was with Briscoe. The final score was 11 to 18 in Briscoe's favor. The starting lineup, which consisted of Louis Key, and Bennie Barton at forward, Wallace Corse at center, and Geo. B. Dunn, and Clifford Scarberry at guard, was the same in all three games. The substitutes were Bud Carroll Scribner and Neal Herd.

The other two games were with Lelia Lake and Kelton. The Hornets beat Lelia Lake with a score of 19 to 22. They then played Kelton for consolation Saturday night. The score was 12 to 24 in Kelton's favor.

The Claude Mustangs and Goodnight played in the finals Saturday night and Claude won.

The Hornets have pretty good prospects for next year's team.

News From Ex-students

Pvt. Jessie Ray Leonard, who graduated from Mobeetie high school in 1944, is now stationed at Parris Island with the Marine Corps.

Pvt. Bill Bailey, who also graduated in 1944, dropped in for a short visit at school Friday afternoon.

Pfc. E. Vernon Savage, who is on his way from Kingman, Arizona to Florida, visited school and refereed a practice game for the basket ball boys.

Who Wouldn't Be Crazy

The Junior class started practicing their play this week. The title of the play is "Who Wouldn't Be Crazy" starring the following characters:

Inmate No. 1—C. W. Burch. An apparently eccentric young man of about 25. Inmate No. 2—Marion Ell Owens. An apparently eccentric woman of 25, but under her assumed insanity there are indications of an alert intelligence. Pluribus — Bennie Barton. A young colored man of about 20. Slow of movement and speech, and with a dry humor. Pendie—Virginia Futch. A good looking colored girl of 18 with rather a serious manner. Mr. Higgins—Bud Carroll Scribner. A dignified man of about 50. Mr. Marshall—Lewis Key. A clean cut gentleman of about 50. Genial and attractive. Jack Marshall—Wallace Course. A resourceful young man of about 24. Good looking and a winning personality.

Lois Meredith—Florence Corcoran, an attractive girl of 18, clever and with a sense of humor. Reggie Mortimer—Lorene Gabriel. Janet—Wylene Davis. Beatrice—Wanda Williams. Pretty girls between 17 and 19. Evelyn Winslow—Wilma Prock a very sweet, appealing girl of 20. McCafferty—Lindy Mason, a fresh young hardboiled cop. Edward Gordon—Clifford Scarberry an interesting looking young man of about 24 of the artist type.

The play happens in the Good Samaritan Sanitarium. No kidding, folks, it will be a grand play, so come. Not one, but all, and watch the fun March 2. Miss Duren is sponsoring the play.

Joy Davis, who did you go to Jimmie's birthday party with? Could it be Drew Godwin? From reports it seems that Zona and her cotton headed boy friend make a better show than the one on the screen. Dorothy Eubanks doesn't find much interest in Wheeler now, maybe it's because her interest is with Stacy Arnold in Mobeetie. It seems we have the three little idiots in Mobeetie, rather than

Class News

Senior: Preparations for the Junior-Senior play have been started this week. There are twelve Juniors and Seniors that are eligible for the play.

Freshmen: We have two new students, Yvonne Clark and Max Alexander. We wish to welcome them in our school.

Sports

The Wheeler basketball girls and boys met the Samnorwood Eagles last Monday night, Feb. 12, at the Wheeler high school gym. Wheeler suffered defeat in all three games that were played. That was the last game of the season for the girls but the boys played Shamrock Irishmen in the Wheeler tournament Wednesday night.

This And That

Anita, who had your bracelet, Wednesday? Lloyd, that sure was a long trip to California. Have you heard the latest gossip? We don't know but rumor said trouble was brewing in the gym last Monday. Cupid is back on the job this week. He was neglecting two of his main customers last week, but they are certainly working him now. (Did you by any means pass the road marker Sunday afternoon, Lloyd?) Wonder who Mary Lee was with Monday night, ask Edna. But how does Edna know? She must have been around close. By the rumors that are going around W. H. S. it looks as if Jo Rean's party was a little bit mixed up. What's this we hear about Tooter, Virginia and Nellie coming to school pretty regular. What's this we hear about the eighth grade girls sending Don Alexander a note, and by the way didn't we see Junior giving one to Jo Rean?

The Eighth grade English class will give a negro program for assembly Friday at 3:45 p. m.

Master of ceremonies, Doris Ragan; Ruben and Rachel, Billie V. Brown and Peggy Rodgers; Dark Town Strutter's Ball, George Gave Porter, Bill Robinson, Margaret Holt, Horace Ragan; Barber Shop Quartet, Richard McWhorter, Harold Hardcastle, Cortland Savage, Horace Ragan; War Time Luck, Wilma Weeks, Duane Bradford; Negro Revival, Yreva Sue Carter, Melba May, Johnny Weeks (all of Class); Quit Dat Ticklin' Me, Patsy Williams, Margaret Holt, Wanda Weeks, Wilma Weeks; Southern Melody, Wanda Shirey, Patsy Noah, Patsy Hunt, Patsy Williams, Nathan Barr, Richard Lee Gaines, Duane Bradford.

three little morons. Hide-and-go-seek is the chief attraction after games now. Virginia Futch has our future cousin by marriage gone back yet? Maybe Miss Duren could tell us. Neat Herd surely does have sticky fingers on basketball trips. Helen did you and Pvt. Bill Baily have a good time over the week end? Stacy Arnold is surely putting lots of miles on his dad's car going to Miami two or three times a week.

Nearly all the Mobeetie boys have decided to get a G. I. haircut like Peeler. Hugh Jeffus says he wonders how it would be to have Mignon Colwell for a sister-in-law. Wallace, does Mignon know that you have been asking other girls to go to the show with you? Carl Carter has been chasing white rabbits, yellow cats, and pink elephants. Betty Ruth and Lindy Mason seem to be getting along pretty well, don't they? Peeler must have enjoyed the show Saturday night. How about it Peeler? Dickie didn't write this.

German Treatment

The following letter was written by First Lt. H. G. Spraggins, friend and prayer partner of Rev. P. D. Mullingm while the two were attending Howard Payne College. The letter was written to Dr. Davis, head of the Bible Department of Howard Payne.

Doctor M. E. Davis,
Howard Payne College,
Brownwood, Texas.

My Dear Doctor and Faculty and Students:

After being out of your fellowship for over two years there haven't been many days pass by that I haven't thought of you and the good fellowship that we have had together. Doctor, I presume that you recall the statement that I made to you standing in the entrance of my Alma Mater as I was departing into the Chaplain's Corps! I know that you do recall this statement, knowing your capacity for memory, but I will repeat it to your mind more vividly, as I shook your hand in farewell, I said, "I have two main objects in mind as I enter the Chaplain's Corps. First, and mainly, to win every man that I can to the Lord Jesus Christ." I am sure it would be pleasing to you and to the faculty to know that there have been five thousand two hundred and twenty-one men who have come forward to make their decisions in Christ under my chaplaincy. Many of these decisions have been in chapels, quite a few of them have been in the open field under hell fire and also quite a number of them have been made in fox holes. Secondly, to be a friend to the enlisted man." I can truthfully say that my men have never made a river crossing or a spear head or advanced that I haven't been in their midst.

I am enclosing in this letter a graphic description of how I was wounded after we crossed the Saar River and had advanced quite ways into Germany. I am sure that you have kept up with the news of the Mozelle crossing and the Saar crossing as well as other small crossings made in our advances. After coming overseas, I was assigned to the 90th Infantry Division of the Third Army. As you no doubt have heard the term "Doughboys" many times in the news and various means of news items, this applies to the infantry and the boys that I have gone through with.

On December 8th, we were making our advance, I was wounded in the chest and my actual evacuation out of the combat zone was not affected until the 12th of December. During our evacuation from the aid station we were pinned down by heavy artillery fire for a period of all afternoon and all night. About sundown a soldier came to the pillbox where we were and asked for help to drag a wounded man to the pillboxes. I went out with him to assist in bringing the man to shelter where his wounds could be tended to. We dragged, or rather I dragged this man to a fox-hole in a draw because a shell came in and killed the soldier that had asked me for help. I will admit that after the soldier had been killed I was hesitant about going on and it will be interesting for you to know just what drew me on to his aid. While I was hesitating I heard the man call, and I thought that I recognized his call, but still hesitated, the second time he called I recognized instantly the distress call of one of our Masonic Brothers. After dragging him into the foxhole I went immediately for help. On my way I was captured by two Heimies about sixteen or seventeen years of age. I saw them coming and tried to avoid meeting them, but one of them, who evidently had a head wound and could not speak, halted me with his gun. I showed them that I was a Chaplain and was unarmed, but they searched me, taking my watch and my billfold, which contained about $150.00, and then asked me several questions about our troops. When I refused to give him the information that he wanted, he took the barrel of his gun and with it jabbed me in the stomach several times and then questioned me again. Upon my refusal to comply with his questioning he struck me over the head with the butt of his gun, knocking me to the ground and he then stood over me and kicked me several times in the stomach and ribs. He then shoved the gun in my face and threatened to shoot me if I did not give him the information immediately. I heard a shell coming in and it landed a short distance from where this was taking place and the last thing I remember was being lifted into the air. Several nights later I came to my senses in a hospital in Paris. I am now in England in a hospital receiving the best of care and don't know how long my sojourn here will be.

Regardless of my bodily injuries I haven't changed my goal in this work. I hope that this letter finds you in the best of health and the college continuing to achieve the ulti-

The Times War Time Reporter Says

Folks I'll tell you:

You know I ain't a going to do to good a writing; I've got that 'oo much pork sausage' feeling a fellow gets — sorter like the bottom dropped out.

But this Valentine day this week reminds me of what my Grandpa told me. He said he got hold of one of these here candy hearts that said I love you on it and he sent it to Grandma and the next day her pappy come over with his rifle gun and ask his intentions. My little poem today will be concerning my Grandad's courtin' third wife, second choice.

Always your friend, and
Brother in Christ
H. G. Spraggins

Where on Sunday evenings I rented a rig,
Tried to get old black Bess and Sally;
And out of pockets, three bucks I must dig.

The pretty warm laprobe that covered our ankles
The whip with the cracker and handle so red,
Spring cushions that leaned toward each other
Rubber tired wheels and fancy black bed.

And how straight I sat with high standing collar
A celluloid rose in my coat lapel,
Perfumed with the essence of wild rose or lilac
And thinking this world a grand place to dwell.

Horses well fed and rubbed down so shiny
Tails raised up high, and long kinky mane,
And I'd get the thrill of a lifetime
When I drove my girl down that old country lane.

Remember when we used to get a premium with everything we bought—and another when we paid the bill? Nowadays the only premiums we seem to hear about are the insurance ones.

The trouble in wrangling with our Allies is that the accursed enemy is listening.

MOVIE CHATTER
(By a Rogue)

Lights Of Old Santa Fe
Roy Rogers and his famous horse, Trigger, will be at the Rogue Theatre Friday - Saturday, February 16-17, in their newest western picture, Lights Of Old Santa Fe, which promises to more than please the general public. The cast includes lovely Dale Evans and George "Gabby" Hayes who always add a lot to any picture. We believe you will find just the right mixture of western background to make this an all around program.

Barbary Coast Gent
Barbary Coast Gent stars Wallace Beery in the kind of role that made him famous. He is a rough and tumble sort of person externally, but inside he has a heart of pure gold. We can assure you that this is among his better pictures of all times. You will note that the cast includes such outstanding players as Binnie Barnes, Chill Wills, John Carradine and others, each of whom makes for a bigger and better picture. The play date is Prevue - Sunday - Monday, February 17 - 18 - 19 at the Rogue.

Bride By Mistake
Alan Marshall and Laraine Day top the bill in Bride By Mistake which comes to the Rogue Wednesday - Thursday, February 21-22. And if we are to judge a picture by its star power, this one should at least appear pleasing to the eye. We do not claim to know much about the story content of Bride By Mistake, but we would hazard a guess that it will be a rather delightful comedy and a diversion from heavy drama. Think you would want to see it? No doubt, you know more about the picture than we do.

First Sergeant Jack Pitcock and S.Sgt. Sharp of Perrin Field visited from Sunday until Wednesday in the Homer Pitcock home.
