ALL THAT, AND MORE
We are strong for cows. We have observed the cow from many angles and we have seen a lot of good points in her. But here is the way a city editor looks at the cow. Making this popular farm animal the subject of an editorial, the Baltimore Sun has this to say about Madam Cow:

"The cow is a female quadruped with an alto voice and a countenance in which there is no guile. She collaborates with the pump in the production of a liquid called milk, provides the filler for hash, and at last is skinned by those she has benefitted, as mortals commonly are.

"The young cow is called a calf and is used in the manufacture of chicken salad.

"The cow's tail is mounted aft and has a universal joint. It is used to disturb marauding flies, and the tassels on the end has unique educational value. Persons who milk cows and come often in contact with the animal have vocabularies of peculiar and impressive force.

"The cow has two stomachs. The one on the ground floor is used as a warehouse and has no further function. When this one is filled the cow retires to a quiet place where her ill manners will occasion no comment and devotes herself to belching. The raw material thus conveyed for the second time to the interior of her face is pulverized and delivered to the auxiliary stomach, where it is converted into cow.

"The cow has no upper plate. All of her teeth are parked in the lower part of her face. This arrangement was perfected by an efficiency expert to keep her from gumming things up. As a result she bites up and gums down.

"The male cow is called a bull and is lassoed along the Colorado, fought south of the Rio Grande, and shot in the vicinity of the Potomac.

"A slice of cow is worth 8 cents in the cow, 14 cents in the hands of packers and $2.40 in a restaurant that specializes in atmosphere."—The Home Friend.

NEW STUNT TO ENCOURAGE GREATER LODGE ATTENDANCE

In order to encourage better attendance at regular meetings of the B. P. O. E. Lodge, a new scheme has been invoked. The plan was tested out for the first time last Friday night and a big increase in the attendance was noted.

A pot containing $53 had been made up to be given to some lucky member providing he was present in the lodge room when the drawing took place. Every member has a number, same corresponding to his admission number on the roster of the lodge, and every member has a chance at the prize.

On last Friday night number 147 was the lucky number. As the member bearing this number was not present he lost $53.

The pot was then split and another drawing held for one-half of the amount and only those who had donated to the "pot" were included in this drawing—and they to receive the prize whether or not they were present. V. H. Flewellen was the lucky one in this and drew down $26.50.

With the $26.50 as a nucleus for next week's drawing it is expected $40 or $50 will be in the attendance fund this Friday night. Members are "kicking in" twenty-five cents each as a guarantee they will attend the next meeting of the lodge.

The demand for houses continues to increase and we can expect this state of affairs until we either provide more residences or bar any more folks from coming to our city and county. The oil development has brought quite a few folks here and is due to bring many more.

NO; THE OPERATOR IS NOT ASLEEP

You have heard it said. Perhaps you have said it, yourself. It is one of the supposedly smart things that people say—the smart alecky remark about the telephone operator when you don't get quickly the number you want.

In Columbus, Mr. Harry Gunnett was working on a car in his garage, the doors being closed. He was overcome by carbon monoxide gas from the exhaust. The victim felt himself fainting but stumbled to the telephone and removed the receiver. As he did so he collapsed with a moan and was unconscious.

Miss Emma Kuhlwein was the telephone operator who answered "Number please," when the light appeared on her board. It was one light among hundreds, in the course of a hard day's work. But the operator heard the groans just as she answered the signal, and she received no other response to her repeated calls. She knew that something was wrong.

Miss Kuhlwein called the assistant chief operator and presently the chief operator joined the consultation. The three could have said: "Well, it's none of our business; let's keep the traffic moving and let that one light burn." But they didn't. One of them called the police department while the other two checked over the numbers and located

The police emergency car was ready to start when the address was flashed, and Mr. Gunnett's life was saved. In all fairness, don't use that smart quip again about the telephone operator. It is not true, and it is rather cruel.—Editorial in Cleveland Press.

BIG SPRING GIRL IS TO BE LEADER SIMMONS PEP SQUAD

The selection of Miss Frances Melton of Big Spring as the leader for the Pep Squad of Simmons University for '25-'26 met with high acclaim throughout the school, with the faculty members as well as with the student body, and her popularity was shown anew in her choice for this position.

Miss Melton, who came to Simmons University, in the fall of '24 has taken a very active part in college affairs, and has been declared one of the favorites in Mary Frances Hall. She immediately assumed her place as leader for the Pep Squad which will have a possible membership of one hundred and be "on the job" at all the athletic events.—Abilene Reporter.

Miss Melton is the daughter of Mrs. Chas. Holmes of this city, and during the time she attended the Big Spring High School she was always interested in athletics. With the pep and enthusiasm that she manifests, her leadership with the Pep Squad will go a long way in bringing the men on the varsity team to victory.

TEACHER ASSOCIATION MEETING THURSDAY
 Meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association for the school year was held at the Central school last Thursday afternoon. Mrs. B. Reagan, newly elected, presiding.

It was voted to continue the Parent-Teacher Association of the separate schools. The patrons of the Central school will attend the meeting at the Central building. Patrons of the other schools will go to the school where they are located. The next regular meeting will be held in the Central building at 8 o'clock. Each parent is urged to bring a contribution to the fund for the purchase of books. The meeting was held in the presence of a large number of parents and teachers.

MEMORY OF MRS. M. H. MORRISON
 Mrs. Morrison was a devoted wife and mother. She was a member of the Baptist church and was a good Christian woman. She was a member of the Baptist church since childhood, living according to the teaching of the Golden Rule, and was ready to meet her Master when the time came. She was the mother of eleven children, eight of whom are living. John, Robert Will, Walter, James, Charles, Jessie Robinson, and Mrs. Frances Rhotan, all of this county, and who were here to attend the funeral of their mother. She is also survived by 53 grandchildren, 62 great grandchildren and 4 great, great grandchildren.

MRS. MAGGIE B. FREEMAN DEAD
 Mrs. Maggie Belle Freeman, 21 years, 8 months, 9 days, died suddenly at her home at Vealmoor at 8 o'clock Sunday evening. Heart trouble was probably the cause of her death.

Mrs. Freeman, in company with her husband, was at home alone at their place, 25 miles northeast of this city, when Mrs. Freeman dropped dead. They had recently bought a farm at Vealmoor, but were planning to return to Throckmorton shortly, where they were going to teach school.

The remains were prepared for burial by the Eberley Undertaking Co., and were shipped to Munday, Texas, on Monday evening, where interment was made Tuesday afternoon. The grief-stricken husband, a sister Bertha Lain of Abilene, and a brother Ben Lain and Mr. and Mrs. Freeman accompanied the remains to Munday.

SAYS WE SHOULD BOOST THE PRICE OF LAND
 W. B. Currie recently returned from a visit to east and southwest Texas. He returns more thoroughly convinced than ever that this section offers greater opportunities than any other section of Texas. He said one reason we are not attracting more homebuilders is because we are offering good land at too low a price. The newcomer thinks there is a nigger in the wood pile. He said land around Ozona was selling at $17.50 per acre is not one half as good as land in Glasscock county at from $8 to $10 per acre. Land near Eden and Brady brings $20 an acre and it can not excel the Glasscock county land selling at half that price. He said if we valued our lands a little more our chances of selling same would be greater.

MRS. T. F. AGNEW DIES
 Mrs. T. F. Agnew, nineteen years old, passed away in this city Monday morning, September 21. Mrs. Agnew had been a sufferer of tuberculosis for a number of years, and in company with her husband, had been traveling over the state for the benefit of her health. They had rented a house in the west part of the city, and had hoped that our climate might prove of benefit, but she was claimed by death on Monday morning.

Funeral services were conducted at the residence in Jones Valley Monday afternoon, by Rev. Geo. J. Ruth, and the remains were laid to rest in Mt. Olive cemetery.

The deceased is survived by her husband, T. F. Agnew, her parents, and other relatives, who came to her bedside and were here to attend the funeral.

HOGS DOING FINE
 C. F. Morris, or "Peanut Charlie" as he is being called by his friends, says that the hogs that he has harvesting his peanuts are doing fine. Eighteen days ago, Charlie cut off 18 acres of peanuts and now 350 hogs are running on this field. He states they are putting on flesh, very satisfactorily. He has cut off 24 more acres, and from this he expects even better results since the peanuts are more mature and the rains have made them bigger and better.

The first 18 acres that the hogs were allowed to harvest has now been planted in barley and rye, and with the present good season in the ground, he is expecting to get a good pasturage off this for the winter. The 24 acres will also be planted in rye and barley when the hogs are taken off it.

Mr. Morris is not only of the opinion that the hog and peanut experiment is a money maker, but he says that if he did not make a cent out of it, it would be worth money to the land for next year's crop. Next year he is expecting twice as good a yield off this land where the peanuts were planted, as if he had planted cotton this year, with the same conditions existing.

If we do not begin to plant crops that will put something into the land instead of taking everything out of it, such as cotton and sorghum, it will be only a few more years until the soil will be worn out as is the case in many of the sandy counties in Central Texas, then nothing can be produced without the aid of a fertilizer.

Mr. Morris has two pigs in town that he is going to feed on a peanut meal, and when he completes this experiment we will note results of same.

SOME GOOD THINGS TO REMEMBER
 Remember the Bible school at the First Christian church, 5th and Scurry Sts.
 Remember the First Christian church has preaching every Lord's day at eleven and eight o'clock.
 Remember the First Christian church speaks where the Bible speaks and is silent where the Bible is silent.
 Remember the members of the First Christian church are not the only Christians, but Christians only.
 Remember the First Christian church stands for the whole Bible and not only certain parts of it.
 Remember the First Christian church believes and teaches the unity of all God's people, with no name but Christian, no creed but Christ, and no book but the Bible.
 Remember that you are always welcome at the First Christian church which is a church for all Christians.

SELLS HIS HOME
 Dalton Mitchell this week sold his home on South Scurry street to M. L. Musgrove, and the Musgrove family moved into their new home Wednesday. For the present Mr. Mitchell will occupy the home formerly occupied by the Musgroves.

George Merrick of Amarillo, representing the Southern Benevolent Association, is here and will make this his headquarters for the present. Mr. Merrick formerly resided in Big Spring, but many years past; this being his first visit since he left here forty years ago. Mr. Merrick's mother died here in 1881 and shortly thereafter the family moved to Clarendon. He was only seven years old when he left this city and remembers only a few of our citizens who were then living here, and the city is much larger than it used to be.

There would not be a mosquito in Big Spring if our folks would keep the city clean and sanitary. As long as we permit ditches to contain stagnant water, weeds to grow rank on vacant lots along streets and alleys, and tin cans and other rubbish to accumulate in all parts of our city we can expect to entertain these pests, and invite epidemics of contagious diseases to our city. A clean city invites desirable home builders and untidy city repels. Let's clean-up the old town.

COMMON SENSE ADVERTISING — ECONOMIC

Advertisements in catalogs and show programs is the easiest of all to sell, and the biggest fake of all, suckers fall to it right now, and about all the consolation that we get out of it is, the fellow who never advertises in his home paper is the biggest sucker of all, yes, he gobbles it up and thinks he has landed a bargain. Did you ever catch a fellow reading an ad in a phone directory, school catalog or any other catalog, show program or what not? Bet you six-bits you never read one in your life, except that maybe you have been a sucker and read the proof of your own ad, and then maybe looked to see what position your competitor got, and what he said. The purpose of an advertisement is to bring buyer and seller together, well then, did you ever know of a woman or any other person running to the phone directory or catalog to see what a dry goods or grocery merchant had to sell? And billboards along the roadway or down Main street, did you ever see a feller stop an automobile to read a sign on a board, or does the housewife when she wants an article consult a billboard, eh? Lots of durn fool ways of throwing your money away in the business of advertising; estimated that suckers throw away a billion dollars annually. A city lady riding down to the shipping district in a street car, and placards galore staring her in the face—cafes, vaudeville shows, dog kennels, and bird cages and baker's bread, and bile beans, do these placards take her anywhere? No, she knows just exactly where she is going, what she wants, what it's worth, what it looks like, pattern, size, etc. Read it in the morning or evening paper, or if a country lady, she read it in the old home paper, and say, not only does she know where it is, but she is sold when she gets there, yes, the minute description of it in the pages of the newspaper, not only brings the buyer and seller together, but it makes a sale sight unseen, two-fold, dual service. The pages of a newspaper, world's greatest advertising medium. Why? Does a billboard, street circular, catalog, phone directory or what not have an individuality? What is back of 'em? But an advertisement in your home paper, that paper has a soul, something about it that appeals to you, you have confidence in it, prize it, and when a merchant puts an ad in it, inviting you down to his store, just something about that ad that eliminates the idea of a fake, and relying on the honor of the old home paper, that's where the buying world do their shopping. And say, advertising in a newspaper is eternal, it never stops pulling, for instance the other day a fellow pulled an old paper out of his trunk, twenty-five years old, read an advertisement, and sat down and sent the merchant a check for the article. Yes, faith in the old home paper, faith in the merchants that advertise in it. Yes, a newspaper has a personality, and when the family gets in the habit of reading it, the spell lingers with them, hence the store ads in it become news matter. Yes, a "feller" away out in the desert found a copy of his home paper the other day, and he sat down and read all the advertisements in it, would he have done it in any other medium on earth? Billboard, placard, catalog or circulars or what not. And speaking about liking the home paper, about it having a soul mouth-piece of somebody, of course, you may not like the policy of the paper, or maybe you don't like the editor of same personally, lots of folks don't, but God said in His Book in the long ago: "Woe unto the man that everyone speaketh well of." Then scripturally speaking, if everybody brags on the newspaper man, something lacking about him, short on guts, courage, stamina, a fix opinion written on paper or conveyed by mouth, that the kind of a "feller" that gets elected to office. Has no mind.—Albany News.

WE DENY THE CHARGE

Under the caption of "Going Off to School," our friend, the Colorado Record, in speaking of the State schools, says: "Our State schools can not teach religion, and we are glad of it. But it seems strange that they can not teach religion, but can teach against religion. They can not teach the Bible, but they can teach against the Bible." Right here is where we disagree with friend Whippley. We deny the charge that our state schools teach against religion and the Bible. This is an old charge that was used years ago to boost church schools. It is used today, and lots of people who do not trouble themselves to investigate the charge, actually believe that this is true. After years of personal observation and investigation of the State University, we are prepared to flatly deny that this institution does now, or ever did teach against religion or the Bible. The contrary is true. There is no institution in Texas that offers greater opportunities and encourages religious sentiment more than the University of Texas. It is very true, the University of Texas is a democratic institution and does not force the Bible or religion on any student, but the student who is religiously inclined, and desirous of learning the Bible and worshipping God according to the dictates of his own conscience, is not only free, but encouraged to do so by those in authority.

Why, man, you will find that almost every man connected with the University, from the janitor to the president, is a devout christian and a member of some church. The faculty of the University of Texas furnishes more Sunday school superintendents and teachers than any school in the state. The student body is composed of a greater percentage of church members than any University in Texas. In close proximity to the University grounds are churches representing almost every denomination in christendom, and it is a goodly sight to see the hundreds of young men and women going to these churches each Sunday to worship. These are facts which anyone interested in the truth can obtain.

Does any man believe that such men as Robert Vinson and Walter Splawn would preside over an institution that taught "against religion and the Bible?" If we had a thousand boys and girls to send to college, we would not be afraid to send them to the University of Texas on account of religion. We quite agree with Bro. Whippley that grand old Baylor University has turned out some great men. Even this humble editor for a brief period sat under the dripping eaves of this great Baptist sanctuary and imbibed some of the teachings of Rufus C. Burleson, of blessed memory; but Baylor has no monopoly in producing great men.

Denominational schools are all right—even if it does take a big bank roll to patronize them—but let us not knock the State schools, where the poor man's boys and girls must go to be trained for the battles of life. If you want your boys and girls to be Baptists, send them to a Baptist school; if you want them to be Catholics, send them to a Catholic school; if you want them to be Methodists, send them to a Methodist school; but if you want them to be plain scholars and broad-minded American citizens, send them to the State schools—but by all means, send them to school.—Sterling City News-Record.

Since an abstract is a brief of all instruments at the Clerk's Office affecting the title, it must show all the defects in the title, and you may have a perfect abstract and a mighty poor title. ## KEEP COOL REPAIRING PUNCTURES

If you own a car, or ever ride in a car, this will interest you. Between now and next spring 35,000,000 trees will be planted in Great Britain as part of the government's program for restoring the rapidly disappearing forests of England, Scotland and Wales. "Good for Britain!" you say. "But what's that to do with me?" This. There are some 251,616 miles of highways in the state systems of this country. Last year a total of 2,400 miles of new roads, graded or surfaced, were added. For some years to come we will probably add new roads at about that rate. Recently we made a rather long journey over some of these roads. For the most part they ran through a treeless country. At any rate the roads themselves were seldom shaded and when we stopped to fix a puncture, as we sometimes had to do, the summer sun fell on the back of our necks like a house afire. Even in motion, the sun was blistering, peeling the paint off our car. Now we need trees in this country as badly as they do in Britain. Our government, almost without policy with regard to forest conservation, or too niggardly to spend enough money to protect what we have, has allowed lumbermen to cut down any and every tree they wanted and hundreds of thousands of other acres have been burned or otherwise wasted. Suppose, therefore, we planted trees along our highways? Suppose we planted trees every fifty-odd feet on both sides our roads? This would give us about 200 trees per mile, or more than 50,000,000 shade-producers along our state system, not counting the better roads. The new roads would add some 2,000,000 more trees every year. Not only would this be equivalent of whole new forests but you'd, bless 'em every time you went touring—with a double blessing at each stop for repairs. Think this over. Get behind the idea. The federal government pays part of the expense of roadbuilding. Suggest to your congressman that one of the conditions of this help should be a tree every 50 feet along both sides of the road.—Fort Worth Press. An exchange defines woman's dress in these words: "It consists of two armholes bounded on the west by nothing whatever, on the east by the same thing, on the south by hardly anything and on the north by less than that." "Don't forget we handle Finkelstein dresses. Clyde Fox.

George Bailey of the Houston Post in patch defines a maiden in this manner: "She was a beautiful maiden with soft brown eyes. A girl of the long ago with modesty and gentleness written in her fine features. A wealth of long brown curls draped her shapely shoulders. There was no bold nakedness visible to mar the sweet spirituality of her presence. Then she arose from the table at which she had been breakfasting, and we are a green hippopotamus if she didn't have on pants."

An exchange figures it this way: Speaking of wasted energy we call attention to the fact that the energy used in trying to swim the English Channel would darn 654,321 pairs of socks, sew on 939,302 buttons, or patch the bosom of 267 pairs of pants.

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

THE MONEY MAKER AND WHAT HE GETS

The hard working money maker gets more criticism than praise in this world but it's a good thing some body is willing to work hard enough and is frugal enough to accumulate some wealth in order that the balance of us can have some body to meet the payroll for us.

It's not only the big captains of industry that should be praised for giving employment to thousands but it's the man in every community who has sacrificed and accumulated a little and who invested that saving in some business that gives others employment. Many times the man who works for his employer is making more money out of the business than the man who scrimped and saved to get the money that made the employment of the other possible.

When hard times come no cut in wages are considered and yet it means often that a business is conducted solely that the wage earner may hold his job. The owner may put in twice the hours of the employee but there is no one looking out for him and when good times come it has never been considered that the employer should be allowed to recoup his losses of the lean years. He is expected to pocket his losses and share his gains. And most such men do so uncomplainingly and accept the charge of being a skin-flint with equanimity.

But it's these men who keep the wheels turning for most of us. Sometimes they get tired of working for nothing and close down and invest what they have left in non-taxable securities or real estate and the employees have to look for another job with some other skin-flint who has saved his money instead of blowing it in. —Marshall News.

"WHAT'S WRONG WITH YOUTH?"

Lucien Romier, a French journalist of distinction, has put the question, "What's wrong with youth?" and straightway has answered it by demonstrating that there's nothing wrong. Mr. Romier, like observant citizens on either side of the Atlantic, has recognized that there has been a very great change in the outlook of youth on the affairs of life since the World War.

Beyond a doubt the young have lost both the timidity and the sentimentality that formerly were with truth ascribed to the adolescent of both sexes. They have become harder and in a sense surer of themselves and more than ever unwilling to accept the judgment of elders who claim to have learned in the school of experience. The young, according to the French thinker, today have a horror of restricted classifications, of the rules and arrangements that long have been accepted without question.

This, says the writer, is not due to pessimism, but to research to the forward look. What this unanimity of thought therefore presages is not decadence, but the preparation for a new advancement, for another step forward by society for which the youth of the world is preparing itself. The world is thus returning "toward a reason that is hard, practical and summary, one that was called once upon a time 'common sense.' That form of reason, though it may refuse us some of the delights of spirit and of heart, is the very form of constructive thought. Provided only that there is mixed with it imagination. Let us wait without fear the marvelous happenings that will fecundate the imagination and enprise of youth."

The idea is most interesting, and may give relief to some at least of those who have seen, in the mental attitude of our young, signs of a falling away from high ideals. —New Orleans Times-Picayune.

THE IDEAL CITIZEN

An ideal citizen is the one who sees clearly an ever something good in the city and never loses the opportunity to spread that good news abroad that others might derive the benefits therefrom, whose unselfishness prompts him to want others to share opportunities, good health and pleasure which his home city offers. Loyalty is the first requisite for the ideal citizen. The love for the place and his neighbors which dismisses the thought of self interest or policy and resolves itself into the knowledge of duty when he does all in his power to make the city a better place in which to live. There are three distinct attitudes which a citizen may assume toward the place in which he lives, which furnishes him food, shelter and association for himself and family, to boost, to remain quiet or to knock. The booster is that ideal citizen who is never forgetful of the obligations which is due the home city. He is ever found at the front when any movement is launched which might lead to the advancement of the interest of the city. While others see darkly, to him good is visible at all times. The quiet citizen is satisfied to let the neighbor do the work and content to lull the city asleep and let it rest.

The knocker is the man who is without a country. There is no room for him anywhere, his presence dampens the enthusiasm of every man or group of men who unfortunately come in contact with him. Having no faith in his own ability to go forward, he naturally lacks faith in his home city to do so. You have the chance to belong to either of the three classes. If you are a booster, your neighbor knows it well

AS MR. MARLAND SEES IT

"The territory tributary to Fort Worth, in my judgment, is the most promising area for future oil development at this time visible in the United States. Fort Worth next year should be the most active oil center in the country."

This is the opinion expressed by E. W. Marland, head of the Marland Oil Company, whose headquarters for Texas are being moved to Fort Worth from Houston. The opinion was expressed in a message to The Star-Telegram, in which Mr. Marland also added that in view of the situation outlined, his company officials felt the move to Fort Worth should not be longer delayed.

Thus, the decision of the Marland company to locate its headquarters in Fort Worth takes on added significance. The change was not made so much on account of the operations at present being carried on by the Marland in West Texas as because of a sincere belief in the future possibilities of those fields. In other words, the Marland people see a wonderful future immediately ahead for the West Texas fields. They expect to play an increasingly greater part in the development of that area and thus they intend to have their headquarters in the city that naturally is the most convenient from which to operate.

The action of the Marland may and should mean a great deal. If the prediction of the head of the company is borne out—and it is made, of course, only after the most careful investigation—West Texas fields will be the center of the greatest oil development in the Nation for some time to come. Naturally, Fort Worth will be the chief beneficiary. Already established as an oil center, the headquarters of a large number of the biggest companies, the development in West Texas, of which Mr. Marland speaks, can but mean greater development and progress for Fort Worth. Other companies will find it advisable to follow the action of the Marland. They, too, will find that Fort Worth is not only the logical city for their headquarters, but the only city from which it is possible for a company to operate conveniently in all Texas fields.

Fort Worth is glad to welcome the Marland company, just as it has welcomed the other companies that have located here and the ones that it confidently expects will join the ranks within the future. Companies of this character are an asset to the city in themselves and they contribute another distinct asset in the character of the new citizens they bring with them. Executives of the larger oil companies are always live, wide awake men, accustomed to operations on a large scale, whose activities contribute largely to the commercial and civic progress of any city.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

THE RESIDENTIAL TOWN

Some one was telling the other day of a lady who had planned to spend $20,000 in buying a home. She had practically arranged to purchase a certain fine house in a well known town that could be named. But just before the deal was completed, she came out to make a final survey.

As she got out at the railroad station, her notice fell specially upon an ugly looking building near the tracks. Its decadent and uncared for appearance grated on her sharply. It haunted her all day. It made her sore on the whole town.

She was a woman who had a fine circle of friends among gifted and artistic people, and one of her purposes in buying the home was to have a place where she could entertain freely. It came over her that every time one of her visitors came to the city, and had to be met at the railroad station, that friend would gain the first impression of the place from that ugly building. An explanation would have to be made each time as to how it happened to stand there and why people allowed such an eyesore to exist.

The final result was that that woman gave up her plan to purchase property in that city, and went off somewhere else. Many folks would say she acted in a foolish manner, that wherever she went she would find excesses and some degree of neglect that would be unpleasant.

She argued however that there must be some lack of public spirit in that community, or they would not let an ugly building occupy such a conspicuous position.—Plains Journal, Lubbock.

HUMAN NATURE

SELDOM CHANGES

Human nature has run pretty true to form ever since a record of events has been kept. The people of today may have more conveniences than the inhabitants of the earth 6,000 years ago, but in many ways they think and act today just as they did then.

This is recalled by the Vancouver Province, which says that if we go back to life as it was led about 4,000 B. C. in Ur, the ancient city of Babylonla, we find that people's minds and manners have not changed as much as some of us imagine.

At a recent exhibition at the British museum of antiquies recovered from the Ur site, one could see little pigmies of ladies whose dresses had flounces, frills or accordeon pleats. And there were all sorts of decorative objects, good-luck charms, consisting of the heads of lions, bulls and frogs, and cornelian necklaces, which are much worn today by those who are attracted by the frequent occurrence of cornelian in recent archaeological discoveries.

In those days kings paid tribute to ladies. Here is an inscription on one of the tablets found:

"In Innina, the Great Lady, His Lady Er-Engar, the Mighty Hero, King of Ur, King of Summer and Akkad, has built 'Esh Bur,' her beloved house."

Four or five thousand years ago children, too, had to learn grammar and arithmetic. Tablets for teaching these subjects were unearthed, and on one of these was the inscription, "The Property of the Boys' School."

But the children played, also; the model of a baby's rattle is among the discoveries.

Industrial life seems to have been very rigidly organized; in fact it had many points in common with Bolshevik rule in Moscow. Tablets were found on which (in the form of 12 columns) the accounts of a factory run by a temple were recorded. The temple received wool from the farmers as tithe or rent, and distributed it to women slaves or subcontractors for weaving.

A strict account was kept (in duplicate) of the receipts, of the weight of wool issued, of the amount and quality of the cloth returned, and of the measurements specified, and of the names of the persons to whom payment was made, all of which was indorsed by receiving officers and witnesses.

No ca' canny was allowed. Payment was made in rations of food, and these varied according to the production of the individual worker.

There was little sentiment. An old woman got no more than a child, death and sickness were carefully noted, so that pay in the one case might cease and in the other be suspended.—Temple Telegram.

SAFETY FIRST

Every day we are confronted with the above slogan in its application to the protection of human life. It flashes before our eyes as we cross the dangerous railroad track or as we mount the stairway in the large buildings of the city. Did it ever occur to you that "SAFETY FIRST" is a mighty good watch word for our farming operations?

The old dairy cow and the industrious hen have proven to be mighty good friends of the farmers during the past two years. Years which have been most trying as regards making "ends meet" on the farm. Those good friends are placing our farming operations on a safe basis. Through the sale of their products many farm homes have been made comfortable and food and clothing secured that otherwise would have been impossible.

Don't you think it time that we admit that a mixed or diversified system of farming is the safest and surest after all? The small daily cash returns enable you to buy your necessities without borrowing money, enable you to "live at home," and enable that boy and girl to contribute to their support without missing those valuable hours in the school.

Look over your community and you will find that the family in the best condition in your neighborhood is the family that has been milking some good cows and "keeping" some laying hens.

The owner of an improved feed mill will in this time of feed shortage find real profit in grinding and mixing a balanced ration for livestock and poultry. By properly grinding most feed-crops a great saving in amount of feed necessary will be made.—Farm and Ranch.

BIG SPRING STEERS DEFEATED BY COLORADO TEAM

The first football game of the season, played between the Big Spring Steers and the Colorado team, ended with a score of 13-0, with the big end of the score belonging to the Colorado team. Our boys put up a good fight, but owing to a streak of hard luck, the Colorado team swamped them.

One of the largest crowd of rooters ever turning out to a football game accompanied the football men to Colorado, and much pep and enthusiasm was displayed. The High school Pep Squad under the leadership of Miss Inez Bryan and Theo Ferguson, cheer leaders, displayed the real stuff. The outfits of the high school students are indeed spectacular, and their presence at the game was seen as well as heard.

The Steers were matched with the Snyder team for a game today (Friday), but they were unable to come. A game is trying to be secured and if one can be matched, there will be a real walloping at the local grid-iron, as our boys are determined to lick every team from now on that they engage in battle with.

With determination, fight and grit, we can still and will have a winning team.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas our worthy Brother A. H. Erichard, met his death, due to an accident, at Bend, Oregon, on Sunday, Sept. 20, 1925.

Therefore be it resolved that we, the members of the local lodge of Modern Woodmen, bow to the will of the Master who does all things for the best, and ask that he comfort and sustain the loved ones who mourn his untimely death.

Be it further resolved that the members of our lodge extend to the family of the bereaved our heartfelt sympathy in this their hour of deep sorrow. Many they be comforted with the assurance that the Heavenly Father will reunite them in a better and brighter world when our tasks on this earth have been completed.

Be it further resolved that these resolutions be spread on the minutes of our lodge and be published in the home newspaper.

CHURCH OF CHRIST NOTES

Brother Davis is preaching us two fine sermons each Lord's day: Our Bible classes are being taught in a plain and simple manner. Truth is what we are looking for. More chapters are being read each Lord's day, and we also study them.

Brother Davis delivered a good sermon to a large audience at Knott, Texas, last Sunday afternoon.

All ladies are invited to attend the ladies instructive Bible classes. Especially do we want all of the members to be present. Our prayer meetings are very interesting and growing all the time.

We invite you to all of our services

TO ENFORCE HEADLIGHT LAW

City Marshal J. H. Hefley and other officers have received instructions from the State Highway Department relative to the enforcement of the Headlight provision.

On and after October 1, they are urged to arrest all persons driving a car equipped with but one headlight or those driving cars with headlights which have not been adjusted.

They contend that auto owners have been given plenty of time to have headlights adjusted and from October 1, the law should be rigidly enforced.

COTTON REPORT CAUSES BIG BREAK IN PRICE

The government forecast of this year's cotton production given out Wednesday caused a big slump in the price of cotton.

Condition of the crop as of Sept. 16, indicated 13,931,000 bales according to the government report. A fortnight ago 13,740,000 bales were forecast. Last year's crop was 13,627,936 bales.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Dompsey are the proud parents of a seven-pound baby boy, born Tuesday, Sept. 15.

375 HOGS VACCINATED

To insure the protection of his herd of 375 hogs from cholera and other diseases, C. F. Morris had the entire herd vaccinated Tuesday.

Dr. Otto E. Wolf was in charge of the work and vaccinated the 375 head in the quick time of three hours and thirty minutes. Each hog was given two shots of serum.

These hogs are being fattened on peanuts, and are forced to harvest the crop in order to get their meals.

HAVE YOU ANY JACKS OR JENNETS FOR SALE?

As I expect to be in the market for two carloads of jacks and jennets sometime in the future, I want to get in touch with any owners who have these animals for sale.

Don't bring them in, just see me or write and tell me how many you can supply. JOE B. NEEL, Big Spring, Texas. 11-

C. H. EVERETT WILL LEAVE FOR SAN ANGELO THIS WEEK

C. H. Everett, this week, rented a building in San Angelo, Texas, and is planning to remove his leather repair shop and gunsmith business to that city.

Mr. Everett has enjoyed a liberal patronage while in business here, and we trust that he will succeed and make many new friends in Angelo.

PRESBYTERIAN AUX. NOTES

The regular monthly business meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary will be held at the church at 4 o'clock, Monday afternoon. All of the ladies are requested to be present.

Mrs. Sam Hall and son, A. G., spent the week-end in Colorado, the guests of Mrs. Leslie Thomas.

LANDING FIELD NEEDED

The Transcontinental airway route from New York to Los Angeles, by way of Springfield, Mo., Muskogee, Okla., Sweetwater, Big Spring and El Paso is declared far superior to the route from New York to San Francisco, and is only 85 miles farther. The advantages of weather, low altitude and nature of the country are all in favor of this southern all-year round route.

Cities along this route should provide landing fields as a good landing field is a mighty powerful argument with authorities in establishing airway routes.

TO OUR PATRONS

When you come to pay your light bill please bring the card that we mail you each month. We spend a lot of time and money preparing these bills and if you do not bring them we have to make out others, causing delay for you and for us. We will appreciate your cooperation in this matter. ### FURNISHINGS FOR CARLSBAD SANITARIUM ARE DELIVERED

The furnishings ordered by the Rix Furniture & Undertaking Co. for the Tubercular Sanitarium at Carlsbad, Texas, arrived at their Lubbock branch last week, and was delivered on Saturday. Huddleston Wright, an employe of the Lubbock store, made the delivery by truck from Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Kelley and daughter of Lubbock visited relatives and friends in this city Sunday.

For a special Honey Pack, visit the Mozelle Beauty Shop. Make appointment over the phone. Just call 666.

A Mexican man working on the Lester Fisher farm, 25 miles north of town was drowned Sunday evening about eight o'clock. A crowd of Mexican workers were in swimming with this one, when this tragedy occurred. Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and the remains were laid to rest in the Mexican cemetery.

Did you know that Howard county grows as good staple cotton as is grown and the life and comfort of a mattress is largely determined by the life in the cotton and that J. R. Creath's mattresses are made of Howard county's best cotton. Buy them and keep your money at home and get the best. J. R. CREATH.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Sharp of Amarillo arrived Monday to make their home in Big Spring. Mr. Sharp who is land man for the Pure Oil Company decided to make his headquarters in this city as it was centrally located as to the intensive development that was due along the Marathon Fold.

E. T. Cobb recently brought to the Chamber of Commerce samples of tomatoes raised at his place in Glasscock county. The tomatoes were certainly beauties and tipped the scale at more than a pound each.

A big rain fell south and southwest of Big Spring last Tuesday evening while a light sprinkle was in evidence in our city.

We are informed that officials of the railroad company have agreed to go fifty-fifty on the clean-up proposition. In other words if the citizenship is satisfied to permit weed patches, etc. to exist through the city, the railroad company will make no effort to clean-up their property.

Northington's Meat Market here out west. Carries naught but the very best. Beef, mutton, poultry, ham or fish. Fresh and juicy, each makes a good dish.

Cotton is beginning to open fast and a demand for cotton pickers is being heard. So far it has been possible to secure pickers from among the number attracted to this section by report of good crops. A few are planning to bring big bunches of pickers here.

Let's make this clean-up a real one. If we do so there will be less sickness and suffering in our community this fall and winter. Prevention is better than cure and more economical—and a clean, sanitary city means a happy and healthy citizenship.

With so many busy in the fields picking cotton, the city presents a rather deserted appearance these days. The crowds are here in force each Saturday, however, and business in all lines is certainly brisk.

Mrs. P. C. Hart and Miss Eugene Alverson of Odessa were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stephens this week.

Miss Marian Kennedy left Monday morning for Canyon, where she will attend the West Texas State Teachers College.

REPUBLICANS TO MEET

Dallas, Sept. 21.—Members of the Republican State Executive Committee will gather in an important session during the latter part of October, probably at Fort Worth, state headquarters announces, following receipt of information from R. B. Creager of Brownsville, national committeeman, and Eugene Nolte, Seguin, state chairman. It is expected that many leading Republicans, other than committee members, will attend and that the gathering will take on the form of an informal state conference looking toward the primary next year.

NEW ROAD PROPOSED

A new county road to the Hyman well is being considered by a number of our business men and citizens. It is proposed to extend the road from the Douthitt well-northward to the county line which is only about three miles distant. It is almost certain that Howard county will extend a road from Big Spring to the well and will meet us at the line. Mitchell county has already completed a new road from Colorado to Hyman, four miles east of the well. This would make the Hyman well a cross-roads point.

We talked to the members of our Commissioners' Court about this matter, and were assured that each was in accord with the project and would back it so far as the county funds would reasonably permit.

Sterling can't afford to pass the matter up, because it means a good, level road over which a stream of traffic will pass. If Howard county cooperates in the enterprise, it would mean a shorter route from Sterling to Big Spring.—Sterling City News-Record.

Destitute families are now drifting into this section from the drought stricken area in Central Texas, and jobs are being found for them as rapidly as possible. With cotton picking now in order, work will be available for a great many of the people who have been compelled to leave Central Texas to seek employment. What is to become of them after cotton picking has been completed is difficult to surmise.

OFF AGAIN—ON AGAIN

Ever since David played crazy in the land of the Philistines, pretended lunacy has been the refuge of those who would escape the consequences of their deeds. It remained for the present generation, however, to scientifically (save the mark!) develop the insanity plea to the nth degree of absurdity.

It has become the surest implement of the criminal and his lawyer in their commonly successful efforts to delay or defeat justice. A less tolerant people would have driven from the courts before now the criminal partnership that has grown up by the "expert" assistance of alienists whose testimony, when called by the defense, seems to indicate that all men are crazy when caught in the toils of the law.

From the Harry Thaw case down to the present moment the scandal has spread through many courts, but we fail to recall a single instance in which expert alienists were called in except when the accused had plenty of money or powerful friends. The ordinary criminal must depend upon evidence to prove his innocence, but the criminal has the opinion of the alienist to fall back upon.

The latest case is that of Russell Scott, convicted of murder in Chicago and condemned to die. At the last moment his attorney saved Scott's neck by securing an insanity trial, in which an accommodating jury gave him the decision he wanted. The next day after he had been officially declared insane Scott announced that he was as sane as "anybody in this room," thus tacitly admitting what everyone knew already, that the insanity plea was a mere technical subterfuge. Yet the alienists, presumably wise men and honest, testified to the contrary.

The insanity plea should be recognized for what it nearly always is—the last resort of the criminal and his lawyer to defeat the ends of justice. It is a concomitant of the case that can not be won on a plea and proof of innocence. And if the alienists are to be the judges, their evidence to outweigh common sense, let us hale them before the court for perjury when the culprit turns sane as soon as danger is past. Perhaps there would be fewer "off-again, on again" cases of insanity.—Farm and Ranch.

IS IT YOU?

There is a man in this town who always acts as a brake on the wheels of progress. Every project that is broached for the betterment of community conditions, elicits from him no more than a grunt of dissent if not active opposition. He regards every man as a rascal until proven honest. He can see no sincerity in the most unselfish actions, and can detect cupidity at the bottom of the greatest sacrifices. He is a community wet blanket. Is it you?

There is also in this town a man the opposite of this one. He has a keen eye for any chance to forward the interests of his community. Every proposition for community betterment, provided it has merit and praisal, but he at once pulls off his coat and becomes one of its most active rooters. It takes a heavy jolt to convince him of the insincerity or dishonesty of his neighbors, and even then he has more pity than blame for them. He is as grateful as fire on a raw rainy day, and restores our confidence as the spring sunshine after a dreary winter. Is it you?—Big Lake News.
