

TWO ELECTIONS ARE COMING UP WITHIN MONTH

County Clerk Harry Wofford has reminded Wheeler county voters to mark their calendars for two election dates in November. The general election which includes the election of all state, county and precinct officers and the adoption or rejection of three state amendments will be held Tuesday, November 5, Wofford said.

Then on Thursday, November 7, an election will be held on a fourth amendment to the state constitution. The reason for this November 7 election is that the legislature made a mistake in setting the date in the election law, thinking it would be voted on in the regular November 5 election.

There will be a Republican ticket on most state offices but all county and precinct offices are uncontested.

The three amendments to be voted on at the general election are: (1) Amendment authorizing the legislature to appropriate $75,000 or so much thereof as may be necessary, to pay claims incurred by John Tarleton Agricultural college for the construction of a building on its campus; (2) Amendment to Article 16 of the constitution of the state of Texas by adding thereto Section 6 providing a retirement disability and death compensation fund for the appointive officers and employees of the state; authorizing executives to provide and administer such a fund for appointive county officers and employees after favorable vote in a county election for such purpose; (3) Amendment to the constitution of the state of Texas as providing that subject to legislative appropriation, allocation and disbursement all net revenues derived from taxes except gross production and ad valorem taxes, levies on motor fuels and lubricants and motor vehicle registration fees shall be used for the sole purpose of acquiring rights-of-way for and constructing and maintaining public highways; for the administration of laws pertaining to traffic and safety; and for the payment of principal and interest on certain county and road district bonds or warrants; providing that one-fourth of such net revenue from the motor fuel tax shall be allocated to the Available School fund; providing a minimum limit of revenue that each county shall derive from motor registration fees; and negating any interpretation of this amendment as authorizing the pledging of the state's credit for any purpose.

On Thursday, November 7, an election will be held to determine the adoption or rejection of the following amendment to the Constitution of Texas, "Proposing an amendment to Article III of the Constitution of the state of Texas by the addition of a new section to be known as section 49-b, creating a Veterans Land board, and providing that the legislature shall provide by law for the issuance by said board of not to exceed $25,000,000 in bonds or obligations of the state of Texas for the purpose of creating a fund to be known as the Veterans Land fund."

When Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Williams of the Twitty community bought their farm home the paper in the house was dark, dirty, and ugly. The first thing they did was to select light, attractive paper and have the house papered. Next they painted the woodwork in the kitchen and backporch white, doing the work themselves.

They had the place wired for electricity but while waiting to be served by a line they put in a Delco motor to run their lights which are new fluorescent fixtures.

The Williams have a butane system with a new cook stove, refrigerator and heater.

New screens were made for the back porch and all screens needing it were repaired.

One end of the bedroom closet was cut off and a linen closet built in to open in the hall. It is a nice roomy closet with shelves for quilts and 4 large drawers. The house is now light and attractive.

WORLEY SAYS RUSSIA WOULD RESPECT ARMY

Congressman Eugene Worley told members of the Wheeler chamber of commerce at their weekly luncheon Tuesday he did not think war with Russia was imminent but he surely believed it was in the public interest to maintain a strong military machine as a safeguard for peace.

The Wheeler county member of national house of representatives who recently toured Europe as well as Japan and China, expressed deep concern over the status of world peace which he described as being seriously threatened by "selfish foreign interests."

In his Wheeler talk Worley reiterated a recent widely publicized statement that the United States must be realistic and firm in its dealings with Russia whom he believes is seeking to extend her influence over former axis partners and victims alike. He cited evidence of the spreading of the communistic form of government.

The congressman shares the opinion of Secretary Byrnes that there is room in the world for both communist and democratic governments but he told Wheeler friends that military might should be available to back up our peaceful deliberations, in the event a potential enemy might be tempted to carry his bluffing too far.

Worley touched briefly on OPA and price control, expressing hope the supply of needed materials and merchandise might soon reach the point where all government control could be thrown overboard. He said the only justification for price control is to keep greedy profiteers in line until production is stepped up sufficiently to permit the law of supply and demand to go back to work. The congressman admitted controlled prices have worked undue hardships on many local business men.

R. H. Forrester who was supposed to address the chamber of commerce in the interest of passage of State Amendment No. 3 to be voted on November 5, relinquished his time to Congressman Worley. (An item appears elsewhere in The Times giving excerpts of the talk Judge Forrester had intended to make.)

THERE MAY BE BEEFING WHEN THERE IS BEEF

An increase in the price as well as the supply of beef and pork has been witnessed by Wheeler county housewives since the lifting of all controls by President Truman this week.

County butchers expected the supply to become plentiful by the end of the week with home slaughtering resumed, although shipments from packing houses are not expected in large quantity for a few weeks.

An average increase of around 20 per cent on beef and perhaps twice that on pork is anticipated when the supply become plentiful as prices on both cattle and hogs shot skyward immediately after the lifting of controls.

Cooking fats sold in local stores will probably increase in price 25 per cent and more and the supply is expected to get better gradually.

According to the Associated Press hog prices underwent their largest advance in history, with good and choice hogs selling for $25 to $27.50, as compared with yesterday's ceiling of $15.95.

Most slaughter cattle ruled two to four dollars higher with fed steers selling from $20 to $24 as compared with the ceiling of $19.90 yesterday.

The decontrol of meats had its effect on the stock prices of shares of major meat packing companies, with increases of from two to four dollars a share reported from the New York exchange.

GROUP ELECTS WHEELER MAN

Frank Craig of Wheeler, was elected a vice-president of the Pampa Chapter of the Reserve Officers Association at a recent meeting in Pampa of reserve officers of the Panhandle area.

Purpose of the meeting was to hear a message from the senior instructor of the Amarillo Military District, Col. Blucher F. Tharp, who spoke in regard to plans for the reserve officers group and what has been done up to the present time. Immediately following the talk by Col. Tharp, a Pampa Chapter of the Reserve Officers Association of the United States was organized.

Officer personnel from neighboring cities were introduced to the group and it was voted to consolidate all towns in the area with the Pampa Chapter.

Tom Braly of Pampa was elected president of the chapter. Other officers include vice presidents representing the various towns as follows:

J. C. Moore Offers Free Turnip Greens But Balks On Bacon

Since we have already charged J. C. Moore 30 cents to run it in the want ad column, The Times takes this further opportunity to inform our readers they can have a mess of turnip greens free for the picking if they will see Mr. Moore.

Due to prevailing high prices on pork, Mr. Moore authorizes us to state he will be unable to furnish the bacon for seasoning at this time. He will be delighted, however, to turn you loose in his turnip patch and let you pick your fill of greens.

(Any reader having a second-hand slab of bacon suitable for seasoning a mess of Mr. Moore's greens can render a great public service by lending the pork to The Times editor for a few hours. We guarantee safe return of the bacon after our greens have been in contact with it long enough to absorb enough grease to make them palatable.)

AMENDMENT 3 IS FAVORED BY ROAD BOOSTER

"The Good Roads Constitutional Amendment to be submitted to the people for ratification at the General Election will advance Texas, not alone in roads, but in agriculture and commercial prosperity," said R. H. Forrester of Wheeler, local chairman of the Texas Good Roads Association.

"From the dawn of history," he declared, "adequate transportation facilities have produced wealth and culture. It is for this reason that we should be vitally concerned with the passage of this good roads measure."

He said that very near the heart of every Texan is the welfare of his state and no one relishes the stories of backwardness attributed to Texas.

"There are many here who remember the old dirt road that replaced the Chisholm Trail over which our forefathers trekked from Texas through Indian Territory to Kansas, herding cattle to the markets of Abilene, Dodge City, Wichita, and Kansas City. There are also many who will remember the dirt and mud through which the heartiest mules and oxen labored to deliver meager products of back-country farms to the nearest market.

"In many parts of Texas are thousands of citizens who still suffer from this primitive means of transportation. There are many sections of our state where a mud road is the only connecting link (Continued on Last Page)

DRY COTTON IS $20 MORE BALE

Cotton grower could easily profit $20 a bale on their unpicked cotton by heeding the advice of Hubert Martin, Wheeler county farm agent and a representative of the Production and Marketing division of the United States Department of Agriculture who called at The Times office Wednesday.

The man with County Agent Martin was from the Altus, Okla., office of Production and Marketing and is connected with the government's free cotton classing service which handles about 90 per cent of the cotton in this territory. He could not permit being quoted by name but is a man with many years background as a private handler of cotton before entering government service.

"I would like to impress on cotton producers how much higher price they can get if they gather their cotton carefully and when it is dry," he said. "At prevailing prices the difference between clean, dry cotton and trashy is as gathered damp and trashy is about $20 per bale.

"I realize farmers are short of help and I am afraid most of them are too busy to give thought to just how much money they are losing by hasty, hit-or-miss methods. It will sure pay them to wait until it is dry before picking and to be careful in their methods."

County Agent Martin asked the cotton classer to come to The Times office and pass on the suggestion in the home it would save some money for local growers.

Home Made Comfortable By County Farm Woman

Mrs. L. L. Hagerman of the Myrtle demonstration club in Wheeler county tells the story of her demonstration:

"This year we began our home improvement by remodeling our house. The living room was only 11 by 14 feet which was too small for a family of eight. There was a boys bedroom 12 by 14 feet. The petition between these two rooms were moved to the end of the bedroom to leave space for a stairway. The living room was now large enough but a window had to be cut and one closed that was now under the stairway, making two large double windows. Two coats of ivory enamel gave the living room a finished look.

The attic was sealed and floored to make a boys bedroom. Double windows were cut in each end. Two nice clothes closets were built in the attic, half of one being used for bedding. This made a 10 by 27 foot room with 4 feet side walls arched to 6 feet in the center. The walls were finished with clear varnish and the floors hard oiled. The lumber was green and it sure has dried out, so now we must put a lineoleum on the floor. The door opens into my bedroom giving me plenty of room to store all the old clothes, quilt scraps and rug rags in. This improvement made a wonderful difference.

Next the back porch was closed in; a window was shut up in the kitchen and a room 6 by 8 feet was fixed for a bathroom. A used bathroom suit was purchased. The bathtub was an old model with legs on it. My husband built it in, like the modern one. Three coats of enamel made it very pretty. With the aid of his brother and my father the fixtures were installed without the aid of a plumber, and a large, deep cess pool was dug by the boys. Thirty-two volt lights, butane gas and hot water were already in our home so it is all modern now.

Public Asked Support Mustangs Friday Nite As Home Season Opens

Definitely the underdog, Wheeler high school's gridsters will play their first home game of the season Friday night with the Memphis Cyclone furnishing the opposition.

The Mustangs have three defeats and one victory to date while Memphis has won 2 out of 5 games. Wheeler's young squad which boasts fewer experienced gridsters than any other aggregation in District 3-A except Lakeview, is going to make a desperate try to upset the Hall county lads who have been somewhat of an erratic contestant thus far in conference play.

Memphis looked fairly strong at the opening of the season and then saw its stock nose-dive when the McLean Tigers turned them back in a surprise finish. The Cyclone jumped back into top reckoning when it held the Shamrock Irishmen 13 to 12, and then last week went on a rampage to take Lakeview 45-0.

Coach W. O. Carrick's young Mustangs composed of 14-year-olds in key positions, had a rest last Friday with an open date but have been far from idle during the evenings of the past two weeks. The Mustangs have been going through rigorous scrimmage and practicing on some offensive maneuvers and defensive tactics which Carrick hopes has strengthened them.

School leaders and fans alike are calling on Wheeler fans to turn out and cheer their boys Friday night. They point out morale means much to these kids, most of whom will be playing opposite older, more seasoned opponents.

Coach Carrick has some excellent material in the making and observers over the district are already commenting on the fact Wheeler will be a power to be reckoned with next year. The kids have displayed skill and tenacity in some tough assignments this season and they have gained needed experience.

Come out and give them your support Friday night.

LEGION NEEDS ALL VETERANS

Dr. Harold Nicholson, commander of West-Passons Post of the American Legion, joins with commanders of the Shamrock and Mobettie Posts in urging returned veterans to join the Legion and take part in its program.

Not only can the veterans then have a hand in formulating the policies of the national organization as pertains to their own interest and welfare but they will also have an opportunity to work side by side with their friends and neighbors in promoting worthwhile local projects in their own community.

Returned veterans who have not yet joined the Legion will be interested in the following item from the October 1 edition of the National Legionnaire:

"Occasionally a veteran who is approached with an invitation to become a member of an American Legion post comes back with the question, 'What will the Legion do for me?'—and the answer he usually gets—and properly—is (Continued on Last Page)

KEEN INTEREST IN RURAL ROADS

Much interest has been manifested all over the state of Texas in farm-to-market roads. The need for rural roads was recognized in the recent election campaigns. It seems that everybody is willing and anxious for rural people to have all-weather roads. The problem has been discussed in meetings called specifically for that purpose, and it has come up in discussions at any number of meetings representing various groups. All this interest would indicate that farm-to-market roads will be a certainty.

When all the proposals for financing the building and maintenance of rural roads are analyzed, the conclusion is drawn that rural people have permission to build all the farm-to-market roads that they are willing to pay for.

The national congress recognized the need for rural roads, and in approving appropriations for postwar roads, a portion of the million and a half set aside for road-building was earmarked for farm-to-market roads. Texas share of the federal appropriation for rural road building was around thirty million dollars, but in the final analysis, this money is being used to expand the Texas highway system.

The most common proposal for financing rural roads is to tax tractor gasoline, which would be so different than placing a tax on corn or oats to be fed to mules which are used on the farm.

For years, farmers and ranchmen of Texas have dutifully paid four cents a gallon on gasoline used to propel motor vehicles over a dirt road and in mud holes in the hopes that at some time a portion of this tax been paid? To build hard surfaced roads over which the fly-by-night oil, gas and surplus interests of the industrial northeast haul out the natural resources of Texas, draining the state of its wealth, while only a puny tax is derived from natural resources.

The state of Texas is rich in natural resources and this is one of the most potential sources of revenue if enough funds are not now being collected to build rural roads. Since the farmers have paid taxes to build roads over which to haul natural resources, then why not allow natural resources to pay some taxes to build farm-to-market roads? —From Texas Agriculture.

Salmon Loaf Good Hot or Cold

FOR OUTDOOR EATING it's convenient to serve the main course from a bread board. Salmon-Rice Loaf, tasty garnishes and tall glasses of bottled milk provide an appetizing menu.

How about a salmon loaf made with rice and milk for the early fall picnic or porch supper?
Salmon-Rice Loaf is easy to pack in the picnic basket. For the porch or backyard supper, serve it on a bread board, surrounded by stuffed celery, devilled eggs, radishes, pickles and carrot strips.
This versatile fish loaf may be served hot also, and is particularly good with a cream sauce.

Salmon-Rice Loaf
(Makes 1 loaf)
Wash ½ cup raw rice and cook in top of double boiler over boiling water with 1 cup bottled milk and ½ teaspoon salt. Cook about 45 minutes or until tender. Remove skin from 2 cups cooked salmon. Flake. Combine rice, salmon, 2 well beaten eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons minced green pepper, dash cayenne pepper, 2 tablespoons milk and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Pack well into greased loaf pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 55-60 minutes.

Velvety Cream Sauce
(For Hot Salmon Loaf)
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup bottled milk
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash white pepper
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Melt butter or margarine in flour thoroughly. Stir in milk and cook, stirred constantly, until thick. Add seasonings and lemon juice.

HORNETS' BUZZIN'
Bonnie, it is nice to have Charles to do your milking for you while Mr. Prock is gone, isn't it?
Nancy, you shouldn't flirt with truck drivers from Shamrock. You talk entirely too much.
Peggy, watch out who you flirt with, it might be your cousin.
Evelyn, don't you know the floor is not the place to sit.
Betty likes to skate with "Red" from Meridian. In fact she likes Red.
Frances, do you help Dean fix the flats when you go with him?
Doris and Bud seems to have things going again.
Roberta, do you know the present, past and future tense of "flirt"? Practice makes perfect.
Wolverines were on the loose in Wheeler Saturday night. If you don't believe it, ask Lou, Roberta, Joyce, and Marie.
Jimmie Shelton spent this weekend with "Mom and Dad."

Want a Vacation from Marriage?

Alvin Blake went south on his vacation, for some fishing, and left his Missus to enjoy a vacation from the corncob pipe, clothes in a heap, and solos on the harmonica.

First few days, Martha enjoyed it—house neat and quiet, top back on the toothpaste, no morning mess from Alvin's midnight snacks (Al's partial to a bit of cheese and beer at bedtime).

Come the end of the week, she began to fidget; couldn't even read the Clarion, it looked so unmissed; didn't have any appetite with nobody to cook for. She was about to wire Al, when he barges home a week ahead of time, and she almost cries for gratitude. ("Felt the same way myself," says Al)

From where I sit, those differences of habit and opinion—whether they have to do with corn-cob pipes, a glass of beer, or playing the harmonica, seem mighty trivial when you're separated. And they are, too!

Home Accidents Take Heavy Toll

A man's home may be his castle, but last year it was a death trap for 33,500 persons.

One-third of all accidental deaths in 1945 occurred in the home, according to the National Safety Council, and nearly half the 10,300,000 injuries were sustained at home.

Fifty per cent of the accidental deaths in the home resulted from falls, with more fatalities from falls from ladders and stairways in 1944 than from motor vehicle accidents. Eighteen per cent of home accidents occur in the kitchen.

Cluttered or darkened stairways present the greatest hazard to safety in the house. Old newspapers, empty bottles, tin cans or jars and empty corrugated and wood cartons should be discarded to save space and prevent accidents. The newspapers and magazines may have a salvage value to a local welfare agency.

No need to wait for fall house-cleaning days to eliminate safety hazards about the house.

Next to falls, most home injuries or fatalities are caused by burns from such things as overturned pans of scalding water or failing to use a holder when lifting hot pans from the burner. The slip-on sleeve, which was fashionable years ago, is protection against arm burns, while old leather gloves are good to use in handling roasting pans.

Carelessness reaps its toll of home accidents in the yard, too. Hoes or rakes left teeth up in the grass, a hole that was never filled up, or a jutting rock may be as dangerous as a porch that is cluttered with empty jars, tin cans and piles of newspapers and magazines.

The annual cost of home accidents is estimated at $7,000,000 covering loss in wages, medical expenses, insurance, and damage by fire.

At least 80 per cent of these fatalities and injuries, safety authorities say, are preventable.

Hubbard was program leader assisted by Mrs. Max Wiley and Mrs. E. M. Hastings.

Those attending the meeting were: Mrs. E. M. Hastings, Mrs. Max Wiley, Mrs. Harry Wofford, Miss Evonne Hubbard and the hostess, Miss Para Cobb.

Pvt. Kenneth Dale Crowder, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Crowder, who is stationed at Scott Field, Ill., has completed his radio mechanics course and is now going to airways communications school.

Modern 'Annie Oakley' Tells Why Hunting Is Safe Sport

The hunting season this year will find an increasing number of women toting the hardware in search of game.

Long considered a man's sport, women have found it one of the safest and one of the most exhilarating of outdoor pastimes.

Dot Lind, modern day Annie Oakley, believes that women can assure even greater safety in the field by urging their menfolk to memorize and practice the "10 commandments of safety" before embarking on a hunting holiday.

Dot, who is a famous Western Winchester exhibition shooter, is about to complete her first post-war coast-to-coast tour with her husband, Ernie.

Here are the rules they follow:

1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded one.

2. Carry only empty guns, taken down or with the action open, into your car, camp or home.

3. Be sure the barrel and action are clear of obstructions.

4. Carry the gun with complete control over direction of the muzzle even if you stumble.

5. Be sure of the target before pulling the trigger.

6. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to hit.

7. Never leave a gun unattended without unloading it.

8. Never climb a tree or fence with a loaded gun.

9. Never shoot at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water.

10. Do not mix gunpowder and alcohol.

Famed sharpshooter Dot Lind observes one of the ten commandments for safety in shooting. She is without unloading.

Favorite games were enjoyed by everyone.

Refreshments of coffee and pie were served by the club to the following: Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Bryon Holly, Mr. and Mrs. B. ### Q. When should lights be turned on laying hens?

A. Lights should be turned on when the days begin to get shorter than 12 hours, in order to provide a 13 to 14 hour day. November 1 is the usual starting date, but it will vary according to the latitude.

Q. At what age should pigs be wormed?

A. The Research Farm of the Ralston Purina Company recommends that pigs be wormed at about 12 weeks of age, or when they weigh between 45 and 65 lbs. After the pigs are wormed, the pen should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected to help prevent recontamination.

Q. What is the best age to vaccinate calves for Bang's disease?

A. Calves should be vaccinated between the ages of four and eight months, although six months is the preferable age. If calves are vaccinated at this age, they will usually react to the tests within thirty days and when they reach breeding age will usually stop reacting.

Q. How much water will growing turkeys consume?

A. An easy figure to remember is that turkeys consume about two pounds of water for every pound of feed. A quick calculation shows that 100 turkeys 24 weeks old will consume about 15 to 20 gallons a day, depending upon the weather.

Q. What is the proper way of marking rabbits for identification?

A. Breeding stock should be marked for purposes of identification and record-keeping by tattooing the ears. Numbers and letters are tattooed on the inner surface of the ears by means of a hand or an electric tattooing needle. Does may be marked in the right ear and bucks in the left.

Special Announcement

The machinery at the Richerson elevator is all set and the elevator is ready to receive grain.

We have made arrangements with either the Wheeler Co-op. Gin or the Planters Gin to use their truck scales this season. This kind of operation is appreciated.

It is our conviction that to have a thriving business it must be operated on a fair and equitable basis. We are in the business of buying and selling grain on a fair margin. It is our responsibility to sell your grain for as high a price as possible. Also we are here to buy your grain at any time you want to sell it, whether the market is up or down, whether the grain is of good or poor quality.

If you have grain to sell, we believe it will be to your interest to see us before selling—sometimes in the event of short supply, and good demand, the market fluctuates widely.

A FARMER TOLD ME

"Electric Service is my BEST Hired Hand..."

It's no wonder that farmers praise the advantages of electric power. Electricity has scores of uses on a modern farm and provides reliable, efficient power at extremely low cost.

For milking, incubation and brooding, light to work by, power for a work shop, there's nothing to match it. And today, electricity is cheaper than ever before. It's always ready 24 hours a day and doesn't register on the meter when not working for you.

We're proud that in our 22 years of service we've been a pioneer in building ahead for the future. Our 12 million dollar expansion program is bringing the advantages of dependable low-cost electric power to more and more farmers in the entire Panhandle-Plains Pecos Valley area.

A PIONEER IN BUILDING AHEAD FOR THE FUTURE!

"A new member can get a lot of things out of his American Legion membership, as time will prove to him. But they are incidental to his membership. They are the little extras that come to him without solicitation or expectation, and in measure as he contributes his talent, his time, his friendship and his interest to his post and its program.

"The principal return to a veteran who joins the Legion will be the satisfaction he will get out of knowing that his membership is helping the organization to do those things which are for the benefit of his community, and indirectly to him as a member of that community. The satisfaction will be multiplied if he contributes something more than merely his membership and his dues to the accomplishment of the program—though that alone is important."

It is not in the Texas tradition that our children cannot get to improved schools by bus over good roads in any kind of weather."

DALLAS WANTS LOCAL HISTORY

The Texans Reference Library in the Hall of State, Dallas, wants materials on the History of Wheeler County, and officials of Dallas Historical Society are appealing to citizens of the county to help locate the needed items.

"Copies of these books and pamphlets are in the hands of pioneer citizens and their descendants," Director Herbert Gambrell said, "but they are not to be found in bookstores. Placing them in this great shrine of Texas History for the use of the public, will not only be a permanent memorial to the donors, but a genuine service

Forrester said that the people must make provisions to assure that road money will be available for the needed construction. "This is the express purpose of the Good Roads Amendment," he added. "It not only continues to allocate one-fourth of the gas tax to the school fund, but assures availability of the remainder of the gas tax and all motor vehicle registration fees exclusively for road purposes."

Forrester said that the 2,918 Texas communities which have no transportation facilities other than roads will be assured of ultimate construction, improvement and maintenance of an adequate road system to meet the growing needs of the state.
