

56 County Vets File Discharges Since Sept. 1

Wheeler county service men are arriving home at the rate of about one a day, Mrs. Cleo Meek, secretary of the Wheeler County Selective Service Board, said this week.

Discharged veterans are required to notify their draft board immediately upon reaching home and records in Mrs. Meek's office reveal that 56 men have been separated from the service since September 1.

Majority of the discharges hope to resume their residence in the county, providing the opportunity of securing employment or entering business for themselves offers itself. Many plan to engage in farming or stock raising while others indicate they will resume jobs they held previous to entering service. Some plan to follow new trades and vocations learned while in the armed service.

The widespread housing shortage may force many veterans to change their original plans to re-establish residence in Wheeler county. They may be compelled to leave the area of their choice by inability to find living quarters in town or country. Many of them have married since entering the service two, three and four years ago, and need housekeeping quarters now, whereas they were single and lived with their parents before the war.

A list of veterans reporting discharges to the county selective service board since September 1 follows:

WAR VETS SET NOV. 11 PLANS

Veterans of all wars, whether members of the American Legion or not, and men now in the armed services who may be at home on leave, are given a warm invitation to attend the annual get-together and fish dinner of the West Post, American Legion, on November 11.

Homer Pitcock, post commander, and Jim Risner, adjutant, said a special invitation is extended all veterans of World War No. 2 regardless of whether they belong to the Legion. Incidentally 31 veterans of World War No. 2 are now members of the Wheeler post compared with 23 men who saw service in the first World War.

It has been the custom of Wheeler Legionnaires to spend Armistice Day in "bull session," visiting and swapping stories, rather than in a formal, stilted program of patriotic speeches. The fish dinner is always "something," too, the veterans say.

Wheeler Legionnaires would appreciate local people passing the word around about the Armistice Day get-together, especially among discharges of World War 2, many of whom may be hesitant to attend unless they are extended a personal invitation and told "all the gang" will be there.

1946 Ford Will Be On Display Friday

Announcement is made the 1946 Ford will be on display in the showrooms of Holmes Motor Company at Shamrock all day Friday, and the public is cordially invited to attend. The new model has 103 distinct changes, the dealer said, offering more powerful engine, better performance, longer life, improved economy and a better ride.

Ford officials emphasized the 1946 model is not a "stop-gap" model hurriedly produced but is the result of four years of research and production know-how. It was designed and built without compromise of traditional Ford quality in workmanship and material, containing more mechanical improvements than were included in any previous year-to-year model.

Lewis M. Goodrich, the county veterans service officer, was in town Monday and right busy looking after the interests of men recently discharged from service. All men recently discharged are urged to talk to Lewis about the many problems confronting them. His services are free for the asking and he knows the answers to your questions.

The Jackpot Question In Wheeler Is How Can We House New Residents

If you can come up with a workable plan to solve the housing shortage in Wheeler, you will go down in history as the city's No. 1 benefactor.

The situation is daily growing more critical, real estate men, school and public officials, and others report.

Dozens of families, either moving here to accept employment or desiring to set up housekeeping, constantly are on the search for a place to live. And there just ain't no such place.

Many of them are returned service men who with their wives want to locate in Wheeler if they can find living quarters. Others are families who have been away for the past three or four years working in war-connected activities and have come back to Wheeler to live—if they can find a place. Still others are new people who see a future for Wheeler and wish to engage in business or secure jobs.

In several instances people desiring to fill public important positions in our community have left Wheeler because they can't find places to live.

The demand for apartments, housekeeping rooms and houses is greater now than it was at any time during the war. And the tough thing about it is that no one can see much relief until new living units are built—and that cannot be done overnight.

The Wheeler Chamber of Commerce recently made an appeal for every person who has the means to do so, to prepare some kind of fit place for some one to live. It was suggested persons having barns, garages or other buildings which could be wrecked and the material used in part to build a small living space to do so for the sake of our community.

The idea was advanced for persons having vacant houses of any sort located on farms, to investigate the possibilities of wrecking them and rebuilding in town.

It's the jackpot question, folks, so come up with some ideas. What are they going to do with all those government building units at McLean, Pampa and Amarillo, by the way? How are we going to provide housing for new citizens? Won't somebody please have an idea?

Times Appreciates Discharged Service Men Giving Report

The Times is attempting to keep up with the men and women of North Wheeler County as they are discharged from the service. With several hundred in the various branches of service, it is difficult to learn when they return, much less what their future plans are.

The Times will greatly appreciate it if relatives and friends of discharged veterans will report the fact to your newspaper. We understand why the returned fighters would prefer that no "fuss" be made over them but everybody is interested in knowing when they return home, and something of their future plans.

BRONZE STAR IS AWARDED HOGAN

T5 Calvin G. Hogan, son of W. C. Hogan of Mobeetie, has been cited for the Bronze Star medal for "meritorious service in connection with military operations against the enemy," by command of Major General Culin of the Headquarters 87th Division, known as the "Baby" Division because it was made up of 18-year-olds. Hogan who attended school at Mobeetie has been in service about three years.

The citation reads: "Calvin G. Hogan, 38341675, Technician Fifth Grade, Headquarters Battery, 336th Field Artillery Battalion, for meritorious service in connection with military operations against an enemy of the United States in France, Belgium, Luxembourg and Germany, from 6 December 1944 to 8 May 1945. While serving as an Aircraft and Aircraft Mechanic, Technician Fifth Grade Hogan was responsible not only for the maintenance of one liaison airplane but also for the maintenance of a 34 ton weapon carrier vehicle.

"The airstrip upon which he performed his duties was remote from the installations, was subject to infiltration by the enemy, and frequently received artillery fire. Despite these difficult and hazardous conditions, Technician Fifth Grade Hogan consistently maintained the efficient operation of his vehicles. His courage, skill and devotion to duty reflect most creditably upon himself and his training as a soldier."

The Times joins other Wheeler firms and citizens in extending Mr. and Mrs. Carrick a warm welcome to our town. We are glad to have you folks as citizens and hope you will like it here.

DRIVERS ASKED CHECK LICENSE

As a result of several cases having been filed by state highway patrolmen involving people picked up without driver's licenses or holding permits which had expired, the Commissioners Court of Wheeler county is running an advertisement in this week's Times, warning people to check up on their driving permits.

The sheriff's office advises all motorists to check the expiration date of their licenses, pointing out driver's licenses are good for only two years after date of issuance and chauffeur's licenses are good for only one year.

No test is required to renew a license. A state highway patrolman spends the second Friday of each month in Wheeler conducting driving tests and handling renewals of license. He is in Wheeler the entire day.

Freshman Gypsies To Mix With Spooks

A gypsy Halloween party has been planned for the freshman class of the Wheeler High School for Tuesday night, October 30. The party will be held in the Methodist Church basement. All guests are requested to come dressed in costume. The party will begin at 7 o'clock and end at 10 o'clock.

The hostesses for the occasion are Mesdames Bob Rodgers, George Porter, R. Wm. Brown, and H. H. Hunt. All teachers of the freshman class are invited and all class members are urged to be present.

Barney Burgess Has Close Call In Gin Accident

Barney Burgess, manager of the Farmers Co-operative Gin, miraculously escaped loss of a limb and perhaps fatal injuries in an accident in the gin house Friday morning.

Burgess attempted to push a belt on a pulley with his foot while seated on a safety platform in the top of the gin house, a trick he had performed a hundred times. Whether it was the belt lacing, Burgess does not know, but the belt suddenly caught his foot and gave it a wrench that twisted his foot completely around.

The large leg bone was jerked from the ankle socket and left protruding from the flesh. His right foot was left turned backwards. Burgess summoned enough strength to crawl down from the railing to the floor where employees rushed him to the Wheeler Hospital.

In their lifetimes as physicians, Dr. H. E. Nicholson and Dr. Glen R. Walker of Wheeler and a physician from Canadian summoned here for consultation, said they had never witnessed a similar case. The large leg bone had been jerked clean at the ankle joint and was unbroken. A small bone above the ankle was broken and there was a bone fracture below the knee.

Burgess had lost very little blood. He surprised physicians by showing them he could wiggle his toes shortly after they had set his ankle, the flesh of which had been twisted and torn.

Physicians inserted three tubes in the leg through which they are administering sulfa drugs. Barring complications they are hopeful Burgess will be able to walk again without noticeable signs of his near-tragic experience.

150 BALES ARE GINNED OCT. 1

A Census report shows that 150 bales of cotton were ginned in Wheeler County from the crop of 1945 prior to October 1 as compared with 82 bales at the same time last year, according to J. D. Walker, special agent with the Bureau of Census of the Department of Commerce.

Protracted hot, dry weather of the late summer caused cotton to open more rapidly than last year or in an average year.

Condition of cotton over the county generally is extremely bad due to the drought. And in spots where cotton has been good the farmers have been finding it all but impossible to get pullers to get it out. Many of them say the prevailing ceiling wage in this territory, coupled with generally bad cotton, have combined to make gathering a tough problem this fall.

Rexall Original 1c Sale Is Next Week

Lonnie Lee, manager of the City Drug Store, announces the Rexall original 1c sale will be held at his store Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week, Oct. 31, Nov. 1, 2 and 3. During the sale two Rexall items will be sold for the price of one plus 1c.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mann of Wheeler visited her son, Mrs. Mann, and family of Allison over the week end.

Wheeler Mother Greet Third Son Back From War

Others longingly awaiting the return of one or two sons from the armed services can understand the boundless joy of Mrs. A. B. Griffin of Wheeler this week.

Last Saturday Pfc. Ben T. Griffin arrived home after 37 months in the European theatre.

He was the third to be discharged of five Griffin brothers who have been scattered around the globe in this war.

The happy mother is momentarily expecting arrival of a fourth son, Pfc. Tony Griffin, who is en route home and due any day now after a tour of duty in England, France and Germany.

Sgt. Bill Griffin, eldest, was the first one separated from service. He got a discharge last July when the 38-year-age limit was invoked. He is now employed as a mechanic at Berkley, California.

Cpl. Jeff Griffin, discharged last July under the point system, was

Times Appeals To Merchants, Public For Earlier Copy

The Times wishes to call to the attention of advertisers and the public the reasons it is necessary that advertising copy and news items be turned in early in the week even if the newspaper is not published until Thursday afternoon.

We print two pages of the paper each day, starting Monday. We must have enough advertising and news in on Monday to make up two pages which go to press Monday afternoon. And it takes considerable time to write and arrange the news and advertising after it reaches our office.

With two pages printed Monday afternoon, we start in on two more pages Tuesday morning and complete the printing of these Tuesday afternoon. The same on Wednesday, two more pages to get up and print. Then on Thursday we print the front and back pages of the paper.

It frequently happens — as it did this week — that we have a hard time getting enough news and advertising to fill the two pages on Monday and the next two on Tuesday. Then late Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday we are so flooded with both news and advertising, we do not have room for it on the remaining pages. We had to leave out both advertising and news this week for that reason.

Please cooperate with us and help us give you a newer, better newspaper by getting your ads and news items to our office not later than Monday or Tuesday. And if you can turn them in on the Friday or Saturday before, that will be fine.

PIRATES PLAY WHEELER FRI.

Wheeler fans will have a chance to see one of the conference's pace setters in action Friday night when the powerful Lefors Pirates invade the Mustang corral Friday night. Kickoff time is 7:30 and school officials expect a good crowd even if the Mustangs have little chance against the highly touted visitors.

Lefors is rated by many observers as the strongest team in the conference, sharing that spot with Wellington. The Mustangs dropped a game to Clarendon on the Bronc's home lot last Friday by a score of 19 to 0 but the game was closer than the count indicates. Two or three times Wheeler was within striking distance of a touchdown, only to be frustrated. The Mustang defense was an improvement over earlier games.

Wheeler's new coach, W. O. Carrick, towering seafaring chief recently discharged by the navy, met the Mustang lads and watched them workout today. Able to devote the time necessary, he hopes to show some improvements in the squad later. L. G. Kammerdiener, superintendent, who has pinch hit as coach has not had the time to spend with the boys he would have liked to. Carrick hopes to strengthen the Mustang crew by time of the Wellington game, three weeks hence.

The peppy Kellerville kids band will be on hand to liven things up at the Lefors game Friday night, coming as guests of the Wheeler school. Adult tickets for the game may be purchased at the drug stores and Kammerdiener urges fans to buy their duets ahead of time and avoid congestion at the stadium gate.

Mrs. C. E. Wilham of Allison, was in Wheeler, Saturday.

Last Rites For W. O. Turlington Will Be Friday

Funeral services will be held from the Wheeler Baptist church at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon for W. O. Turlington, 71-year-old Wheeler resident who passed away at his town home at 2 p. m., Wednesday. Rev. E. J. Norman, Primitive Baptist pastor of Wellington, will conduct the rites and interment will be made in the Wheeler Cemetery with Hunt Funeral Home in charge.

Death came to Mr. Turlington at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon after an illness of five years. A resident of Wheeler county since 1916, the popular farmer lived at Allison for 12 years, moving to a farm southwest of Wheeler. He moved to town a few years ago when failing health forced him to give up the strenuous labors of running a farm.

Mr. Turlington was born in Alabama in 1874 and would have been 71 years old in December. He moved from Alabama to Hawkins, Texas, with his parents while a baby. He was married to Laura Jones 1898 and of their six children, two preceeded him in death. Mrs. Turlington passed away in 1913. Surviving children of this union are: Mrs. Lillia Sorensen, Mrs. Lura Bills, Olney Turlington and Jim Turlington.

In 1925 Mr. Turlington was married to Gertrude Simons and their two daughters, Lovetta and Lavette of Wheeler, survive.

After leaving Hawkins, Texas, Mr. Turlington resided in Wilbarger county a time before moving to Wheeler county in 1916.

He was a respected citizen and leaves a wide circle of friends to mourn his death. He has 16 grandchildren and two grand grand-children. Two grandsons in the services, E. L. Bills, Jr., in the Navy Air Corps, Bernice Sorensen in Japan in the Infantry.

DELEGATES AT O.E.S. MEETING

Mesdames Lloyd Lee, J. I. Maloy, Lonnie Lee, and Chester Lewis of Wheeler and Mrs. Homer Mathews of Mobeetie, are representing the two chapters at the Grand Chapter of Texas, Order of Eastern Star, at Amarillo this week. Approximately 3,000 members representing 200 lodges are in attendance.

Representatives of various groups who are attending the grand chapter, entertained Tuesday noon with a luncheon honoring the worthy grand matron, and the worthy patron at the Crystal Ballroom of the Herring Hotel.

The program Tuesday included greetings by Mrs. Nell Christian, Claude; invocation by Mr. Guantt; a special song by the group dedicated to Mrs. Barnard; a welcome address by Mrs. Claudia Adams, Coahoma; response by Mrs. Lucille Williams, San Antonio; a solo by Mrs. Velma Daniels; a reading by Mrs. Joyce Qualthrough of El Paso; and a group singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Business sessions were held at 9 o'clock, 2 and 9.

Local delegates to the grand chapter plan to stay over until Thursday night.

Draft Board Office Changes Its Hours

New office hours for the Wheeler office of Selective Service have been announced by Mrs. Cleo Meek, board secretary. The office is now open from 8 until 12 noon on Monday and Saturday and from 8 until 5 p. m. Tuesday through Friday with exception of the noon hour.

Poor School Kids, It's Back To Work On Monday Morning

And now it becomes The Times' unpleasant duty to remind Wheeler school children their vacation is drawing to a close. School takes up Monday morning with no relief in sight until Thanksgiving, a long month ahead.

Supt. L. G. Kammerdiener said he expected teachers and children alike to resume school work with renewed energy as a result of the three weeks rest. (Or were those your exact words, Supt.?) Any way, the gong sounds Monday so get in a busy week end of loafing, all you school folk.

Miss Alpha Gaines of Pampa spent several days with relatives in Wheeler last week.

Let's Help Teen Agers

The Times believes the proposal of the Wednesday Study Club to investigate the feasibility of establishing a Teen Age Canteen in Wheeler is deserving of serious consideration by parents, civic leaders and church groups.

Boys and girls of 'teen age crave entertainment and are going to find it; more so nowadays than ever before in the lives of our oldest residents. The radio, movies, magazines, and newspapers present a fast-moving drama of colorful life to them. The excitement of war has added to their restlessness. Don't expect children to be content to sit in the parlor, contentedly absorbing educational and cultural literature or listening to the Quiz Kids night after night, any longer.

This writer is not a parent but has enjoyed the friendship of scores of youngsters of high school age, and has been the confidant of many of them. He has employed many boys from 12 years of age on up. And the kids have told us a thing or two about their differences with their elders - their parents, school teachers, church leaders, etc.

What the kids can't understand is why there is so little fun and recreation available that they can enjoy with parental blessing. They can't understand why parents object to their drinking, mixed car trips at night, pool hall loafing and dancing in public places. What they can't figure out is why some substitute entertainment that will appeal to a healthy, vigorous boy or girl is not offered to them. They can go in for admittedly questionable entertainment without sneaking off, and yet their well-wishing elders go no further than say, "I would rather you did not do that as it is not best for you." It doesn't make sense to them.

Well, what is best for the 'teen agers? Many cities have provided a social center for their exclusive use for many years. The war intensified interest in such projects among the smaller towns where goodness knows it has always been needed worse than in cities. Rapid rise in juvenile delinquency has spurred the program. No one argues that clean, supervised mixed entertainment at a fixed center, provides an outlet for youthful enthusiasm and often channels thinking along saner, more wholesome lines than the make-shift pattern of waiting for good times to happen. The plain truth is that many of we middle-aged people are too darn busy to take the time to help our youngsters with their problems. We take for granted "it will work out all right just like it has in the past."

cessful 'teen age canteen. Perryton is opening one next Friday. And Pampa has announced plans for one under sponsorship of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

What about one for Wheeler? We do not suggest erection of a large building and the expenditure of thousands of dollars. Rather we believe we should approach the problem conservatively. Is there a building that could be converted into a 'teen agers' canteen for use about twice a week? Couldn't enough money be raised to equip it without anybody being hurt? Isn't there some organization that will take the initiative in befriending the fine young men and women of our community?

Proper development of character and clean habits among our young people would pay the biggest dividend we ever received on such a small investment of time and money.

Again Reminding You

Those of you who haven't gotten around to making a donation to United War Chest, won't you do it right now while it's on your mind?

We all recognize the importance of maintaining U.S.O. for the entertainment of our home-sick men in the armies of occupation and in the navies patrolling the world. We must surely recognize that keeping the peace is fully as important as winning the victory. We understand our valiant allies in victory, especially China and the Philippines, have been ravaged and destroyed until death from starvation is imminent for thousands, yes millions, without whom victory would have been far more costly to us in precious American lives.

This War Chest drive will be the last one. Wheeler county has always gone over the top in every fund-raising campaign for our fighting men. We cannot let them down. We will not let them down. Give today, and give freely, in appreciation of what has been done, and in anticipation of what must yet be done to achieve complete victory. Mail your check to your own committeeman or send it direct to Chairman Harry Wolford at Wheeler and your community will get credit for it.

Deserved Thanks

(Christian Science Monitor) Our neighbor had a smile on his face the other morning.

"Are they going to abolish the Ration Board system?" we asked, knowing that his had been one of the most thankless tasks of the war and that he had often looked depressed.

He shook his head and handed us a letter. "Read it," he said. Unfolding the piece of paper we saw the following:

"Mother and I want to thank you for your advice and help. It has been very hard at times for the two of us to see the reason behind rationing and other wartime rules, but you have always found time to talk to us and explain things when we asked you. We really haven't been without much; in fact, Mother said only the other day she believed we had more of some things than before the war. I think it was because of rationing that we learned to appreciate more what we have had in this country compared with what people who were nearer to the war had. I know you don't get any pay for what you do, and that some people say mean things about ration board people, but at least we want you to know that we appreciate you and what you have done. Thanks a lot."

We folded the letter and gave it back to him, and wished we had thought of sending a letter like that, too.

No Time To Forget

(Amarillo News-Globe) The folks who are heading up Potter County's participation in the National War Fund, realize they face a difficult task as they seek to raise $61,782 of the nation's $115,000,000 goal.

The Potter County campaign, which begins tomorrow and continues through Nov. 11, comes at a time when we are enjoying relief from the worries of war. The shooting is over.

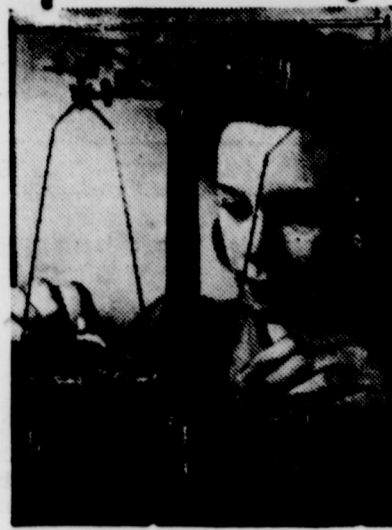

But not all of the peoples of the world are free from the worries of war, our own veterans among them - men who must remain in foreign lands in the armies of occupation, men who lie in hospitals, broken in body and spirit, mothers and fathers of 'teen-age boys who are being trained and shipped to lonely outposts throughout the world.

Contributions to the National War Fund support the USO and the USO Shows which entertain men in this and foreign countries, in camps and hospitals, and as long as a single American lad remains abroad, or in a veteran's hospital, there can be no thought of abandoning him. Now that we are asked again to give so little to those who gave so much, let's not be guilty of forgetting so soon.

By BOYCE HOUSE

What makes a Texan tick, anyhow?

To understand Texas, and therefore Texans, it must be borne in mind, first of all, that Texas is big. Senator Ben (Pitchfork) Tillman of South Carolina is credited with having said (and Texans gushingly repeat it) that Texas has more trees and less timber, more rivers and less water, more cows and less milk, and you can see further and see less than any durned country in the world.

From north to south, the State is about 900 miles and it is nearly as huge from east to west. The Gulf Coast line is 370 miles long and for nearly a thousand miles the Rio Grande separates Texas and Mexico. Amarillo is closer to the capitals of five other States than it is to the capital of Texas. It is often said that the people in El Paso call the citizens of Texas "Arkana efete. Easterners and the inhabitants of Brownsville call those of Dallas durnyankees.

Not only is Texas big, but the State has a wide range of soil, of rainfall, of terrain and of climate and so it is a land of contrasts.

In the eastern part there are saw mills and farms; mockingbirds sing in the thickets and dogwood blooms in the shadow of tall pines. At Tyler is the world's biggest rose garden and East Texas has the largest oil field in the world - 30,000 wells.

Then in the western part of Texas is the Llano Estacado, the endless "Staked Plains." Tradition says that the early Spaniards in that hill-less, tree-less region marked their course with stakes so they could find their way back. In this general area are great ranches with their cattle and sheep - and more oil wells. And here are sagebrush, cacti of many species, and the twisted mesquite; the rugged Big Bend section, its grandeur unsoftened by man, and the highest peaks east of the Rockies, the loftiest almost 9,000 feet.

In between the east and the west can be found the "black waxy" soil where there are cotton fields and singing negroes gathering the white bolls; pastures that are glorious with bluebonnets and Indian paint-brush; the Heart of the Hills country, with clear streams and abundant game; in the southeast, rice fields, magnolias, moss-draped oaks, and swamps through which alligators creep; and at the tip of Texas, the Magic Valley, a land of semi-tropical beauty with orange, grapefruit, lemon and olive groves.

Then Texas has picturesque creatures, some of whom could have escaped from Ripley's Believe-It-or-Not Drawings: cunning coyotes, armor-plated armadillos, prairie dogs, scorpions, centipedes, fierce javelinas (wild boars), the comical-looking roadrunner that kills deadly rattlesnakes, that

TEEN AGERS AT PERRYTON BUSY

Carpenters, painters, plumbers and electricians are putting the finishing touches to "Wagon Wheel" building this week. High school boys and girls have been contributing their part by digging sewer ditches, painting, decorating and cleaning up.

The youth recreation center at Perryton will be formally dedicated and turned to the student governing body on Friday evening, October 26. The center has been made possible by the Community Recreation Council, an organization of adults who purchased the old Twichell school building, moved it to the site across the street from the courthouse and with the assistance of students, prepared it for use.

Funds for the project were raised by free will offering, no direct solicitations. Cecil Dodd, treasurer of the Council, states that there are not sufficient funds on hand to pay all outstanding bills and that donations will be accepted.

Mrs. Violet Igou has been employed as a paid supervisor for the recreation center. She will be on duty at all times when the building is open to student members. However, Mrs. Igou will need the assistance of parents at any time.

The general public, both students and parents of Perryton, are urged to attend the dedication.

USES AND DANGERS OF BUTANE AND PROPANE GASES SHOWN

By T. J. ELLIS.

State Fire Marshal of Oklahoma

Thousands of families will soon be using butane and propane gases in their homes for cooking and heating public buildings and power driven machinery. The use of these gases will magnify and increase rapidly, now since the materials are released by the government, which were badly needed for the installation of storage plants and systems.

Rural folks especially, and many of the towns too, because of the desirability of these gases will be burning thousands of gallons of either butane or propane gas instead of wood or coal.

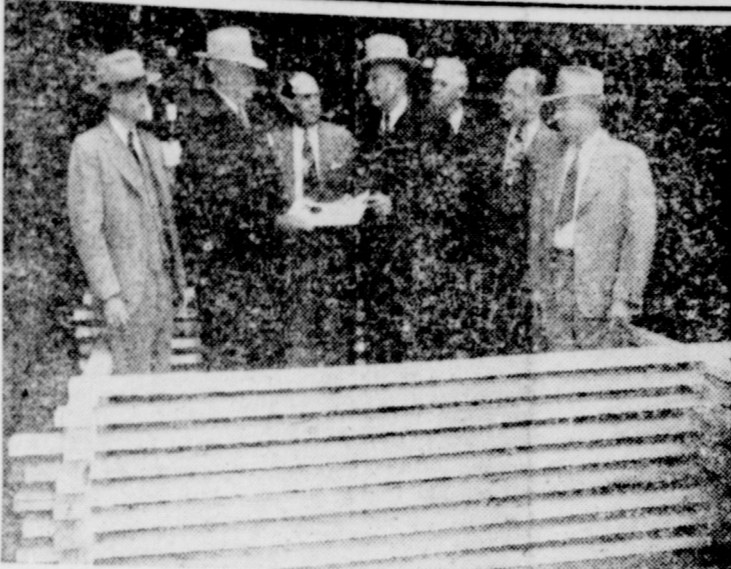

Because of their extensive use and because butane and propane gases are somewhat new as fuel and are held in tanks under high pressure much precaution must be used by all who use and handle them.

Just as carelessness is the cause of most of the common fires we have had for years past and are still having, carelessness will be the cause of fires and explosions growing out of the use and handling of these gases, unless the people exercise much carefulness and precaution.

The state fire marshal has by the law the supervision and administration of the butane and propane industry in Oklahoma as to safety methods for the protection of life and property in the handling of these gases from the refinery to the consumer. This office has given much thought and

Governor Sets October 21-27 As Texas Forestry Week

Fenced in by his Texan's share of Texas-made lumber, Governor Coke Stevenson hands R. M. Eagle, president of the Texas Lumber Manufacturers Association, Lufkin, a proclamation he has just signed setting October 21 as Texas Forestry Week. Looking on are, left to right: N. D. Canterbury, president, Texas Forestry Association; Eagle; F. W. Sternberg, past president of the Lumberman's Association of Texas; Governor Stevenson; Bronson Morgan, president, East Texas Chamber of Commerce; A. E. Cudlipp, secretary, Texas Lumber Manufacturers Association, and W. E. White, director, Texas Forest Service, A. & M. College. The pile of lumber shown represents the average annual per capita lumber consumption in Texas, about 229 board feet.

study to the best safety methods to be used. Rules and regulations have been prepared covering every phase of safety. If strict adherence to these rules and regulations are complied with, beginning with the refinery who makes the gas, and the man who takes it away from the refinery in the truck tank or tank car, and the dealer who sells it and puts it in the consumers tanks, or the factory who makes the tanks and appliances for the consumers use and the installer who installs the tanks and appliances for the consumers, then the danger of the use of them are negligible.

The consumer too is controlled by these rules and regulations. He is expected to comply with them and adhere to the instructions given in the use by him of the tanks and appliances and the gases too, in his home, in his school, in his store, or in every way they are used.

The rules promulgated provide for the use of only standard equipment. Equipment that has been constructed out of materials approved by and in accordance with the standards and codes of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, and with addi-

The state fire marshal under these rules provide for certain methods and standards to be used, and certain specifications for tanks in the transporting of these gases for the protection of the public. This protection is essential from the time the tank truck leaves the refinery until it unloads its gas in the consumer's tank.

The law provides for competent installers, and provides the method by which these installers are selected. They are required to pass an examination as to fitness, post a bond, to guarantee proper and satisfactory work, and these installers so appointed and licensed by the state fire marshal, are the only ones who have a right by law to make installations of butane or propane gas systems.

The law also provides for licensing of dealers and for bonds to be posted by dealers who deal in these gases and who deal in tanks and appliances used by the consumers. The dealers are required, under the law, to sell only such systems as are approved by this office. Violation of the law provides for a heavy penalty. We expect all dealers to comply with the law, and sell only equipment and such gases as are approved by this office.

Beavers Build Dam In Lipscomb County

Beavers are busy in western Lipscomb county according to County Judge A. Bissantz who reported the following conduct of a colony of the little amphibious rodents:

Eleven miles west of Lipscomb and two miles south of Wolf Creek where a county road crosses Buffalo creek, the beavers have dammed the 36-inch tube which carries the normal water of the creek under a 100-foot concrete slab at that point. The tube was found to be filled with sticks and mud. About 130 or 140 feet south of the tube the beavers have built another dam in buffalo creek. It is presumed the beavers built the dam in the tube to raise the water so they could build the dam a little farther south.

The site of the beaver activity is on the ranch of Alex Barton, Sr. We understand state trappers will be requested to come and remove the rodents before other means of extermination are resorted to.

Later: a game warden came this week and set traps for the beavers and caught Papa and Mamma Beaver alive, weighing 40 and 30 pounds each. The animals will be transplanted some place where they will not do so much harm.

law, adhere strictly to the rules all of which are provided for the protection of life and property, then the danger of the loss of life or injury to persons or property will be eliminated.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks for the many kind words and acts of friends in our bereavement. Especially do we appreciate the kindness of the people of the Briscoe community and of the members of the Briscoe Methodist church. May God's blessings rest on all of you. Wheeler Doctors At Pampa Medical Meet

Drs. H. E. Nicholson and G. R. Walker of Wheeler, attended the monthly meeting of the Gray Wheeler County Medical Society held at Pampa Thursday of last week. Eleven physicians from Pampa, two from Borger and one from Oklahoma City were in attendance.

Several clinical cases were reported.

Judge Bissantz says the beavers had woven and wedged the sticks in the culvert so tight a tractor had to be used to remove them.

Dr. H. L. Wilder read a paper entitled "Results of X-ray Treatment of Superficial Malignancies." The paper was illustrated with lantern slides.

Dr. Everett S. Lain of Oklahoma City read a paper entitled "The Cancer Problem, Present and Future Research." The doctor showed a number of lantern slides of the different forms and the various stages of cancer.

The society voted unanimously in favor of a bond issue for a city-county hospital and to give all support possible to a campaign favoring the bond issue.

THE RIGHT TRACTOR FOR THE PARTICULAR JOB

THE proverbial Jack-of-all-trades was master of none. The modern world of science and technology passed him by.

The same principle applies to farm tractors. The tractor that does a wide variety of jobs unsatisfactorily can't possibly produce the greatest results at the least cost in any job.

But that's what the farmer — particularly the small operator — has got to do to meet postwar competition: he's got to produce the most food possible with the least effort and, consequently, at the lowest cost.

The farmer with 10 acres in truck crops needs one kind of tractor. The farmer with 100 acres in wheat alone needs another kind — or, as is usually the case, two or more different tractors. The tractor which does a good job on the Great Plains may be useless in the rice territory. And so it goes.

Conditions of climate, the lay of the land, and the character of soils in the different parts of this vast country, together with wide variations in the nature of crops and the size of operations, combine to produce wide differences in the requirements for tractors. Harvester's policy is to meet all these requirements.

That is why Harvester's postwar line includes a great variety of Farmalls and other specialized tractors and attachments rather than a single tractor with a single system of tools. Every tractor in the line was developed after scientific research and testing under actual operating conditions showed the specifications needed for efficiency and economy.

Every Harvester-built tractor is the right machine for its particular job.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER

From Every Angle FARMALLS ARE FIRST

Any farmer who buys a tractor buys it for one big reason: The work the tractor will do. The quality of work, the volume, and the variety are the real measures of tractor value. Couple these factors with original cost, plus upkeep and operation, and you have the whole story.

That's the way most farmers figure it out when they make this important investment. The answer has turned out to be a Farmall tractor more times than all other makes combined.

INTERNATIONAL is proud of this splendid record of achievement. This big firm has rendered service to all owners of its farm equipment in the past, and is pointing to the future with a determination to give International owners better service than in the past.

That is why we are so strong for International farm equipment, as we know the achievements of the past, and the determination to give service in the future.

While you wait for new INTERNATIONAL equipment, let keep your old machinery running in first class condition for that big food crop for 1946 which the world must have.

Pakan Achievement Club Day Big Affair
It looked like a day at the county fair when the Pakan Home Annual Achievement Day at the home of Mrs. Roy McMullen on October 12.
Jars of fruit and vegetables, pickles and preserves were on display in the dining room. The living room held the fancy work, while a bedroom was filled with garments of various types.
Mrs. McMullen was the club's clothing demonstrator the past year. She reported having made almost one hundred garments during the past twelve months. Of the many garments she had on display, attracting the most attention were a three piece set made of brown velvet for her two-year-old daughter, consisting of a dress, coat and bonnet; a nylon dress made from part of a discarded parachute, and a dress made of many scraps put together "crazy quilt" fashion. She had garments from feed sacks and garments that were made over, cotton garments, woolen garments and garments made from rayon materials.
Other club members had many interesting garments on display. There were curtains made of unbleached muslin with hand tied tassels, and beautiful cup towels trimmed with odds and ends of bald tape and rickrack. All proved that much can be achieved with a little imagination and some effort.
Refreshments were served to Mrs. John Stuffer, Mrs. Walter Stauffer and daughter, Lorenda, of Hutchinson, Kan., Mrs. Charles Stauffer of Bell, Calif., Mrs. G. W. Hanes, Misses Christine Macina and Emma Jean McMullen, visitors and Misses J. W. Stauffer, C. Winters, W. A. Allen, Paul Macina, W. L. Walker, Misses May Ruth Stauffer, Louise Risian and the hostess, members.

Any way he brought a mighty cracked up, giant-size potato to The Times office. Said it weighed three and one-half pounds. At least all of that is what John Henry said but then you know John Henry.
The members of County Commissioners Court were sitting around during a lull Monday morning and somebody was telling about talking to a County Commissioner from the Piney woods of East Texas a few years ago. Somebody asked the Piney woods commissioner if he had anybody running against him last time and he said, "Yeah, I had four but I beat 'em all in the first primary and could have shook off a half-dozen more if they had seen fit to run agin' me." Wheeler county commissioners sure licked their chops when it was added the East Texan had held office for about 10 years. A good reasonable length of service, they all agreed.

NEWS OF OUR MEN AND WOMEN IN UNIFORM

S/Sgt. Rex P. Newkirk, of Wheeler, with 80 points under the Army demobilization plan, is among the first group of men selected from the 1st Cavalry Division for return to the United States from Tokyo.

Overseas 17 months, Sgt. Newkirk served in the Medical Detachment, 7th Cavalry Regiment. A veteran of four campaigns, he wears the Asiatic-Pacific Ribbon with campaign stars for New Guinea, Admiralty Islands, Leyte and Luzon and the Philippine Liberation Ribbon with two stars. He has been awarded the Silver Star, Purple Heart, and Oak Leaf Cluster.

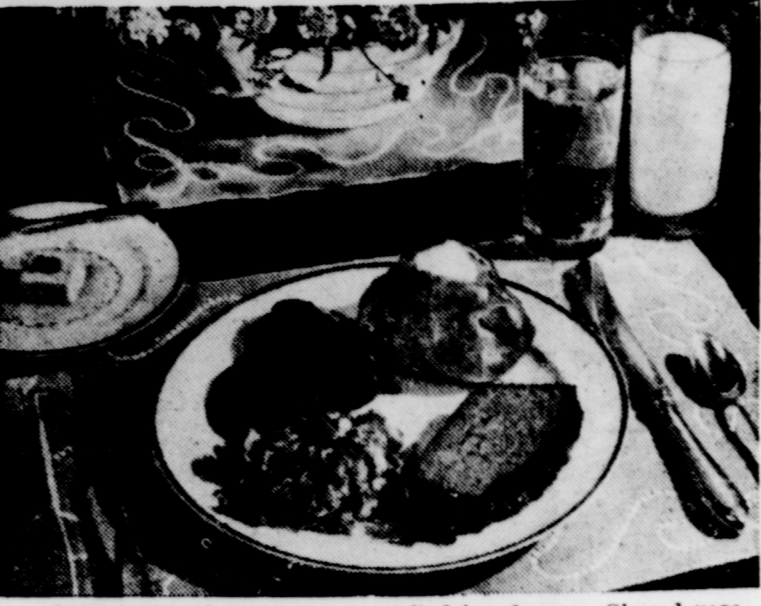

A farmer in civilian life, Sgt. Newkirk attended the Wheeler High School and entered the army in January 1943. After discharge, he intends to continue farming. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Newkirk of Wheeler.

1st Sgt. Willis E. Fillingim has been discharged from the army and with his wife, Mrs. La Verna Fillingim, plans to make his home at Briscoe, according to a release from Headquarters 929th Field Artillery Battalion at Camp San Luis Obispo, Calif.

Sgt. Fillingim was inducted from Briscoe on January 6, 1942, and was assigned to the above unit shortly after induction. He has served faithfully as first sergeant for the past year and one-half.

The 104th Infantry (Timberwolf) Division was the first to travel directly from the States to France. Little more than a month after landing, the Timberwolves, led by Major General Terry Allen, went into the line and remained in continuous combat for over six months. After fighting with the First Canadian Army in the successful Holland campaign which opened the port of Antwerp to Allied shipping, the Timberwolves took their place in the First Army line at Aachen. In a slashing campaign that was featured by night attacks the Division drove through the industrial Eschweiler area, then assault-boated the Roer, Dinner Menu to Save Time.

Meat loaf and potatoes are readied in advance. Glassed vegetables, creamed and seasoned, add color variation to the plate, require little preparation.

When it comes to planning hurry-up meals for busy days, all possible short cuts in preparation time are in order.

At the same time, the well-planned menu must have interesting contrast in color, texture and flavor and, of course, it must be balanced nutritionally. Here is just such a main-course menu, ideal for busy days and particularly appropriate for the growing child:

Meat Loaf — Baked Potatoes
Buttered Sliced Beets
Creamed Cut Green Beans
Milk

The meat loaf is made early in the day and placed in the refrigerator ready to bake. Potatoes are scrubbed in advance and the skins rubbed with salad oil to keep them soft. To serve four or five, one pound jar each of sliced beets and cut green beans are used, with a minimum of preparation time required. Designed for the busy homemaker are the sparkling duraglas jars in which ready-to-serve vegetables are packed. Remember these points in serving glassed vegetables: Lid is pried off the jar with the bowl of a spoon—a simple operation. Never waste the liquid in which the vegetable is packed. If it is not served, save it to use in soups, sauces or vegetable cocktail. Use imagination in serving—a simple sauce or proper seasoning provides variety. Here are hints on serving the beets and beans scheduled on the menu above:

Buttered Sliced Beets: Drain beets. Place liquid in saucepan and boil it quickly to reduce the amount. Then add beets, heat thoroughly and drain. (Save the liquid.) Now add about 2 tablespoons of table fat, season to taste and serve at once.

Creamed Green Beans: Drain beans. (Save liquid.) Melt 2 tablespoons of table fat in saucepan, add ¼ cup chopped onion and simmer gently until tender. Stir in 2 tablespoons flour, blending well, then slowly add 1 cup bottled milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick. Add beans, season to taste, and heat through.

able him to enter into the business of farming, ranching, or allied enterprises, with the education that modern agriculture demands.

The curricula announced for these courses, one to be completed in nine school months and the other in 18 school months, represents intensive work by Dean Shepardson and his department heads during the past year. As approved by the Veterans Administration, it consists of about half class work and about half-time spent in the laboratories and on the farms and stock farms owned and operated by the Texas A&M College.

The nine month's program is designed especially for farm mechanics, nursery workers, landscape gardeners, meat and freezer locker plant operators, and for poultrymen.

The two-year program will reach those more interested in being dairymen, dairy plant operators, or field crop, truck, fruit, livestock and poultry farmers, and those who seek training for managing agricultural business enterprises.

Business concerns operating in the agricultural field are so varied in type and the duties in various positions are so different, that only studies that are fundamental have been listed as prescribed subjects. Dean Shepardson has left ample room in each course for elective studies that will fit the trainee for the particular employment in which he is interested.

These practical agricultural courses do not lead to a college degree. While records of high school work are not required upon entrance, Dean Shepardson pointed out that it should be to the advantage of the student to file any high school credits with the college so that later, if he so desires, he may transfer to the regular four-year agricultural course and work toward a degree.

The first class in practical agriculture got under way Oct. 2 with advanced registration of ten students.

dents. This number will be increased as redeployment mounts and veterans learn of the progressive action the Texas A. & M. College has prepared in their behalf.

Through these courses, the Texas A&M College is carrying out President Gibb Gilchrist's program for terminal schools to provide short and intensive courses for students in something that will enable them to make a better living.

They have been designed to attract those who are not able to complete the normal four and five year courses, or who find courses to difficult.

VETS OFFERED FARM COURSES

Returned war veterans are being offered one and two-year programs of practical studies at the Texas A&M College to prepare them for opportunities in business allied with agriculture.

Chas. N. Shepardson, dean of Agriculture, has announced.

A practical agricultural education is becoming more and more essential to successful conduct of crop and livestock production as new developments appear upon the vast agricultural scene, Dean Shepardson said.

These basal courses, therefore, are designed to give the veteran a scientific background for agricultural production that will enable him to take Cologne.

Once across the Rhine at the Remagen bridgehead, the Division stabbed furiously into the heartland of the Reich, taking part in the Ruhr pocket encirclement.

The final phase of Timberwolf combat in Naziland saw the men of the 104th racing to the Mulde river where the last remnants of the Wehrmacht were crushed between the Russians and the American First Army making that sector the first in Germany to be cleared and completely conquered.

Sgt. Fillingim took part in all the actions enumerated above, and has to his credit the Battle Participation Stars for the Northern France, Central European, and Rhineland Campaigns. In addition, Sgt. Fillingim was awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious service in Holland, Belgium, and Germany.

ANY FARM WOMEN HAD PART SUCCESS OF DAVIS CLUB

MRS. LUTHER BULLOCK

As we look back through the 14 years since the Davis Demonstration club was organized we think of the many kind words, the thoughtful deeds members, the many rough days we have helped over one another. "Have I measured up?" or "It there something I had done to help lighten the load?"

Mrs. A. S. Anderson, our beloved first president, passed away the club was young. Mrs. Meason, now of Muleshoe, the second president. Mrs. Meason was a cheerful person, always ready with her bit of wit.

The "mother" of the club is Mrs. "Grandma" Shinn. She has an honorary member for several years, not taking an active part for some time. Mrs. Shinn is young and old. She is 75 years old and spends her time visiting children and grandchildren.

Mrs. Mary Wright now of California and Mrs. Ethel Anderson of Amarillo, were the club's "house fixers," never a house too shabby that those two could not find a way to make it look "livable," as several homes in this and other communities nearby can testify.

Mrs. Charlie Homesley, now of Borger, could make cucumber pickles and American cheese that couldn't be beat any place.

Mrs. Brown whose present address is unknown to this reporter, had a specialty of canning string beans and preparing fair exhibits. Mrs. Charlie Nixon was a loved member of the club about three years before moving to Mobeetie. And Floy, she was the club's sweetheart, everyone loved Floy. She was always ready to lend a helping hand, and the community lost and Borger gained when Floy and Harold Nixon moved away.

Mrs. R. A. Watts, Mrs. W. F. Shinn, Mrs. John Kenney, Mrs. Jan Marlow, Mrs. Ashton, Mrs. Roxie Barker, Mrs. Lee Gipson, Mrs. Ruby Willoughby, Mrs. B. Sanderson, Mrs. Ester Shinn, Mrs. Lila Anderson, Mrs. Oma Richardson, Mrs. Joe Cooper and Mrs. Althea Lee Pillars, all were members while living in the community.

The present secretary is Mrs. Viola Krug. Mrs. Krug is the former Viola Jones and was home demonstration agent of Wheeler county 10 years, going to Jefferson county where she served in like capacity until her marriage and return to Wheeler county three years ago. The Davis club is fortunate in having her as a member.

Mrs. Mabel Krug, president. Mrs. Evelyn Aderholt, Mrs. Charlie King, Mrs. Layla Kenney and Mrs. Luther Bullock, reporter, comprise the rest of the present membership.

Mrs. Bullock is the only charter member who still retains membership in the club.

Common Sense Health Rules Will Keep Family Well and Fit

By Peggy Mason

Why is it that some people are constantly troubled with minor illness of one kind or another—while others seem to sail through life, exuding good health?

Many things may affect one's general health, but no one can dispute the fact that faithful following of the simple, basic rules of good health will do much to bring the glowing skin, clear eyes and abundant energy of real physical fitness.

Diet Important

Take just the matter of the food we eat. Many illnesses may be avoided by proper diet alone—for the well-balanced meal gives us all the necessary food values to keep our marvelous body machines going at full efficiency. It is the serious responsibility of every homemaker to know how to plan balanced diets, to know how to store and cook foods to get the greatest value from them.

If you supplement regular foods with vitamins, as many families do, it is wise to keep the bottle in a handy place where it will not be forgotten at mealtime. The china cupboard is usually a good spot, for then the vitamins will be remembered when the table is being set. It is important to replace the cap tightly on the bottle each time also to protect the contents from air and moisture.

Everyone should know the elements of home first-aid in order to be ready for emergencies.

Frequent application of hand lotion helps prevent the rough chapped skin that invites infection. Keep bottles handy throughout the home.

Then, too, doctors are still over-worked and should not have to be called for every minor trouble. But don't take chances. If there is any doubt whether an illness is serious, call the doctor quickly. And every member of the family should have a regular check-up every six months or so.

It is hardly necessary to mention keeping clean, for American families probably are more cleanliness-conscious than any people on the earth. Nevertheless, growing children should be impressed with the health aspect of cleanliness, for germs do not thrive on well-scrubbed surfaces. And it is that well-scrubbed look that makes one appear healthy and handsome.

Care for Skin

Care of the skin is even more important during the winter, for exposure to cold winds and rains tends to dry the skin and make it crack, inviting infection. Form the habit of applying lotion several times a day to prevent chapped, rough hands during the winter. It is simple to acquire this health habit if you keep a bottle of hand lotion near each wash bowl, and in the kitchen, and encourage all the family to use it.

As winter approaches, avoid coughers and sneezers, and don't be a germ spreader yourself. Stay away from other sick people, even with a common cold. Getting plenty of sleep, keeping warm enough and having a certain amount of relaxation each day does much to ward off germs.

Every time we go to the dentist's we get bored to tears.

The wife maintains that back-seat drivers are no worse than men who cook from the dining room table.

VETERANS FIND JOBS IN AREA

"A great number of the 132 persons who have been referred to jobs during the past two weeks have been veterans," said Mrs. M. Brown, Pampa USES representative and acting manager.

There are 321 employment opportunities in the local USES area, with 59 local firms and one outside firm requesting manpower, according to USES records. "Many of the firms are giving preference to veterans," Mrs. Brown said.

Persons registered for jobs total 133, with 10 outside persons registered. Sixty persons have been reported as having accepted positions with companies to which they were referred by the office. Several were physically handicapped veterans.

Men are easily placed in suitable work but many women formerly employed in war plants in other areas are unable to find jobs here, the USES reports.

Several shops in Pampa, particularly mechanical and repair shops, are giving apprenticeship training to veterans under the GI Bill of Rights. While men are training they draw a monthly subsistence allowance of $50 if they are single, $75 if married, from the veterans administration.

By far the greatest need at present is for construction laborers, 131 being needed in this area of Gray, Wheeler, Hemphill and Roberts counties. Carbon black workers are also in demand, with 30 now open; there are 10 calls for oil refinery laborers, 12 for foundry laborers. All positions are for men.

Backed Every War Drive Since Pearl Harbor NOW IS NO TIME TO FORGET!

What a shame — a pitiable shame — that last week's report showed the town of Wheeler and communities of North Wheeler County had subscribed less than ONE-FOURTH of our United War Chest quota.

This can't mean we as citizens are unappreciative of the sacrifices of our fighting forces; that we are forgetful of the many thousands who must remain in service to police the world. It cannot mean that in Victory we will leave such valiant allies as China and the Philippines in starvation and suffering. ALL IT MEANS IS WE HAVE BEEN TOO BUSY. WE WILL PUT OVER THIS WAR DRIVE LIKE WE HAVE EVERY OTHER DRIVE SINCE PEARL HARBOR!
