National Newspaper Week

An occasion is the observance of National Newspaper Week, October 1 through 8. The theme stressed in this year's participation is, "A Free Press — Torch of World Peace!" The recent war has taught us the value of such a slogan. No democracy is such without a free press and tyranny would strangle it to achieve its aim of dictatorship. The American press belongs to the nation. Its men and women have promoted its principles by whole heartedly supporting the activities of wartime. Accepting censorship voluntarily, the press protected the security of the people. Thirty-three war correspondents were killed as they served their country. Sponsors for scrap, and metal, fats and paper collections, War Bond drives, draft service and news, rationing service and news, blood bank campaigns, appeals to nurses and mechanics for help, newsboys busy selling War stamps and bonds, are all but a part of the many jobs of the newspaper in wartime.

Now is the peace and the press enters it with an even greater obligation to its public since news is the basis for the majority of public opinion. We have a serious service to perform. Freedom of opinion, freedom of inquiry, is followed by all newspapers who feel their duty of keeping their readers informed.

We are a public servant and must bear our responsibility with dignity, serving honorably and truthfully. Only in this manner will a free press be a torch for peace at home and abroad.

Pleasure Ahead

There is already discussion concerning the pleasure trips by auto soon to come. Perhaps the present car will make it, due to careful treatment, or perhaps it will be when new models are on the market. The American Automobile Association through a poll of members found that more people expect to take more frequent vacations, than before the war, and a greater per cent plan longer vacations. Sixty per cent won't wait for new cars and over this amount expect to go farther away for their vacation. Half of the folks questioned figure on spending more money for this pleasure trip.

Going further, only a few will use war savings for travel, the rest waiting to see how we stack up economically, especially in employment, before cashing in on bonds and stamps, and war savings in salaries. The most want to spend vacations here in America with Alaska and South America next in popularity. Summer is the choice of 70 per cent.

In this poll it would appear that war has made us more anxious for relaxation in peace and in spite of feeling we are speeding up our lives, the polling indicates the most want to vacation in a leisurely fashion, in longer doses. Looks as though we are aiming to build for a longer life through less pressure.

Not Interested

It could mean the rise in cost of farm prices which would result in the city's cost of living going up, just in order to get men back on farms. War Workers made pretty good money as salaries go. Many of them were getting $2 an hour and cashing in on overtime. They liked that war-

Pertinent Paragraphs from Panhandle Press

Items of interest culled from newspapers on the Times' exchange list.

Dale Low, manager of the Miami Motor Co., lays claim to being the champion coyote roper in the Panhandle.

One day the past week while out at the Alfred Cowan farm, Low jumped a young coyote while riding his favorite roping horse in a pasture near the farm home. He chased the animal several hundred yards until he ran into a deep ravine with a deep ditch and stopped very suddenly. It was then that Low gently laid his lasso around the coyote's neck.

Low was alone when he performed the rare feat, but dragged his victim to the house as proof of his accomplishment. It is a rare thing that a coyote is roped on a horse in this day and time and the Miamian is rather proud of his accomplishment. Who wouldn't be? —Miami Chief time salary so much they don't want to end. Back to a farm, to the wages of a farm? No for a $1 an hour individual. Shipyards close but the feel of the pay check lingers on. In many cases where guaranteed farm wages were more than fair, the factory worker says "no." Farm wages are higher than ever before but we all realize the farm can't meet war plant pay. And there is a severe shortage of farm labor now as during the war. Will farm wages go up or will war workers come down?

America should closely follow in-

Investigation of Pearl Harbor, by Congress. Future security demands that it be thorough, impartial, and searching, with no attempt to whitewash those responsible, high or low.

We recently talked with a minister, stationed there before the war. He told an amazing tale of the stuffed shirt jealousy, existing in peace time forces in the islands.

Social functions had to be arranged so that Army and Navy were never present at the same time. Even at State functions where both were forced to attend, they grouped themselves in hostile groups, to the embarrassment of their hosts.

Once invited to participate in aid for underprivileged children by appearing at a benefit, the chiefs of staff, Army and Navy, requested appearances on separate nights. Not even for indigent children could the armed forces afford to associate with each other.

The minister told too, of stuffed shirt officers who took Jap officers on tours of the defending fortifications at Honolulu and over high ground, from which all the key defense positions were spread out to view. It was a case of Navy speaking only to Marine Corps and the Marines speaking only to God. —Moore County News

We Americans love to honor our heroes, and this last war has given ample opportunity. There is always a special glory in paying tribute to the "home boys." Thus in Syracuse, N. Y., the home folks have just paid tribute to Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, hero of Bataan and Corregidor. He was dubbed Doctor of Laws, by the local university, while 15,000 people stood in the rain and raw wind in acknowledgment of the honor.

Never in American history have so many scholarly tributes been paid to our military men as in these last months. And never have our armed forces so well deserved them. Military life was rather simple at the beginning of this century, when a glowing figure like Theodore Roosevelt could win fame and honor with a handful of "Rough Riders" in Cuba, in a war which he apologetically described as "not much of a war, but the only war there was."

Well, we have all had our fill of war since then. And the more we have seen and heard of it, the less we like it — but the more we honor the men who stood up and took it, whatever the cost. And if, as many think, it will prove to be the last great war — because ways will have been found to stop wars — then these last sad reaping from the scythe of the war god will be famous forever. —Amarillo Times

Dr. J. A. Hill, president, has devoted many months this year to plans for erection of a chapel at West Texas State College, Canyon. More than $15,000 have already been paid into this fund.

The college hopes that sufficient money will be given to erect a $50,000 chapel, establish a $25,000 ministerial scholarship fund and a $25,000 religious and morality lectureship fund, as well as $1,000 for a library on religious literature.

Erection of a non-sectarian college with chimes and pipe organ is the goal. The chapel movement seems to be sweeping the United States. Oklahoma A. & M. College is planning a $250,000 chapel as a World War II memorial project.

Community leaders to handle the campaign in Carson county will be announced shortly. Carson county undoubtedly will co-operate with these leaders to give creditable gifts from all communities.

Hundreds of students from Carson county have attended college at Canyon. These ex-students, their parents and the citizenship in general should welcome the opportunity to assist in this great non-sectarian religious project. —Panhandle Herald

The weight of many centuries of hallowed tradition in Japan was tossed aside like a feather when Hirohito went to visit MacArthur. One cannot conceive of a more striking manifestation of the changed order of things in that country than is afforded by this incident.

True enough, the tradition was a synthetic one. Probably there is in Hirohito hardly a vestige of the ancestral blood which, in Japanese eyes, makes him divine. The fact remains that the visit was as violent break with the past as anything history has ever recorded.

Whether it means that Japan has ceased to look back and is turning its eyes forward, time will reveal. But certainly there cannot be the same feeling, the same blind reverence, as before. The god-emperor has met a mere American general face to face, like two business men conferring. Japan can never be the same as before. —Wichita Daily Times

GOOD? IT OUGHT TO BE GOOD!

Sure, the New Phillips 66 is a swell gasoline

Why Not?

...hundreds of thousands of man-hours and brain-hours... weren't spent in vain!

Good gasoline? Man, it ought to be good!

We'd be ashamed of ourselves if it wasn't! Since Pearl Harbor we've put every ounce of sweat and energy we possessed into perfecting the finest combat fuels the world has ever seen.

And if you're one of those who aren't surprised that Phillips research and Phillips know-how have produced a world-beater of a gasoline, here's a little thought you can tuck in your hatband:

Millions of dollars worth of new equipment

The most important thing about a Phillips 66 Service Station is still the man who runs it. Yes, he can give you fine gasoline. But he'll also give the consistently high standard of thoughtful, courteous service that has always characterized the sign of 66.

We didn't forget how to deliver that during the war, either!

Pakan Club Member Proves Flowers Can Be Grown In West Texas

When Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Bertram moved to the Consolidated Oil company camp in the Pakan community they said they came from Kansas. Today their neighbors are inclined to believe they came from Missouri instead.

The Bertrams were very enthusiastic about their hobby — gardening. In almost the same breath they talked about their vegetable and flower garden they had in Kansas and what they would grow "next summer." Their neighbors were amused by their plans. They did not outright tell them that their plan did not have a Chinaman's chance, but did remind them that they now are living in West Texas.

What the Bertrams accomplished the first summer here is still a secret. Perhaps their experiments were on a small scale, or perhaps they were not too successful. We do not know. In the spring of 1945 they again began to speak of their hobby and their plans and again the neighbors smiled.

In July the Pakan Home Demonstration club met in the home of Mrs. W. L. Walker who also lives at the Consolidated Company camp. In her living room was a bouquet of gladioli that would have made any florist green with envy. The women eagerly asked Mrs. Walker where she got so many beautiful blossoms. It was Mrs. Bertram, who with a twinkle in her eye, replied, "My dear fellow club members, today I am going to prove to you that flowers will grow in West Texas." And prove it she did.

If the wind had not been blowing at 40 miles per hour and carrying with it the familiar Texas soil, we might have believed we had been carried on a magic carpet to some distant fairyland.

At a distance it was a great mass of brilliant colors against a background — of all things, tall, tasseling sweetcorn. The corn, Mrs. Bertram told us, was planted there to serve as a windbreak to protect the tender gladiolus stocks.

The gladiolus bed was 30 feet long and 10 feet wide. There were tall dark red glads and bright red glads, and shorter yellow ones with ruffled edges. There were white gladiolus and glads of many shades of pink and coral. There were also blue and lavender gladiolus. There were hundreds of spikes of each. The wind was swaying the stocks back and forth and almost to the ground as if to make the colors dance for us. The women looked on in profound admiration, drinking in the beauty of each blossom. Mrs. Bertram explained that the gladiolus were really Mr. Bertram's project only no one believed her for the glow of pride and pleasure on her face.

Our favorite gladioli is the dainty lavender minuet but to Mrs. Bertram the minuet is very common, her favorite is the ruffled yellow beauty.

There were many varieties in the bed. Each row had its name on a metal tag, but the Bertrams know each blossom by name on sight and can tell you the history and characteristic of each. They had the golden poppy, maid of Orleans, vagabond prince, blue admiral, King O'Leary, bleeding heart, and the minuet along with many others. They recommend the maid of Orleans and the golden poppy as very well adapted to this territory.

Suddenly Mrs. Bertram remembered that she had a special spike of blossoms in the house that we must see. Her living room boasted even a larger and more gorgeous bouquet than was Mrs. Walker's, but she brought her prize out from the kitchen. It was an enormous stock of very delicate green blossoms with a dark green edge. Mrs. Bertram did confess she fed the stock of white Maid of Orleans a little green cake coloring in water. The effect was so beautiful that we forgave her for tampering with mother nature's course.

Nor were the gladiolus the only attraction on the camp grounds. There were 8 rows of giant zinia, each 100 feet long. There were several rows of same length of perennial phlox and several more of the tiny pompon. There were also annual phlox and petunias and marigolds, and 300 chrysanthemum plants. But these, like the lavender gladioli, were quite common and did not hold our attention very long.

When someone asked Mr. Bertram what he would do with 300 chrysanthemum plants, he gave the very self evident answer that he would look at them.

Now we are happy that the Bertrams had enough of the "show me" complex not to be discouraged with

"HARVEST OF STARS" IS NEW INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER PROGRAM STARTING SUNDAY

International Harvester Company offers what may be considered a new concept in radio entertainment in its "Harvest of Stars," which goes on the air over all NBC stations for a half hour broadcast at 2:00 p. m., Eastern Time, Sunday, October 7th, and regularly thereafter.

Woven in a dramatic and musically colorful pattern are the people, places and events that are America, under the talented hand of Raymond Massey, in the dual role of narrator and actor. With him will be noted Howard Barlow as conductor of the seventy-piece International Harvester Orchestra. A choir of twenty mixed voices, under the direction of famed choral leader Lyn Murray will lend vocal support to the production.

Taking off by plane from Europe, where he has been entertaining our GI's in the leading part in the play "Our Town," Massey will fly home and is scheduled to arrive two days before the "Harvest of Stars" goes on the air, thus personally dramatizing the best tradition of the stage that the play must go on.

Jan Peerce, noted tenor of opera and radio, will be the first guest star on this program, which has been announced as the first of a series of which many other guest stars will appear, among them Gladys Swarthout, Eugene List, and Bidu Sayao.

our pessimistic attitude. The Pakan club members may have been resigned to the fact that gladiolus are too hard to grow in Wheeler county to be practical, but after seeing the Bertram garden we believe there will be many beds of the lovely glads in Pakan community next year.

You will be interested in the following reasons why our Wheeler County Quota is the same as last year even after the war has ended:

1. Demobilization of our forces not needed as a permanent unit or used as occupational troops, will take from 8 to 12 months.
2. Permanent centers for USO must be set up, especially in the Pacific areas, where relief and means of entertainment are badly needed at this time.
3. Temporary relief agencies as well as USO centers must be replaced by more or less permanent agencies. This was impossible during hostilities.
4. USO must continue for those in occupational zones as well as for the sick and wounded being removed from overseas to the U. S. A.
5. Re-allocation of relief funds are necessary since the war has ended, including increased budgets in China and Philippines.
6. Since the war has ended, it will be more difficult to keep our service men and women contented, the majority placed in occupational zones indefinitely.

Our Regional Director has advised us that the National War Fund will not exist for another year.

NEWS OF OUR MEN—WOMEN IN UNIFORM

CLINT EVANS
With the First Airborne Army Occupying Berlin—When Clint E. Evans of Allison, a member of the 713th Military Police Battalion attached to U. S. Headquarters, Berlin District, starts his daily tour in the American Sector, he must cope with myriad problems that tax all the resourcefulness and ability he can muster.

Among the problems are those of the incessant migratory movements of masses of homeless people within the six American precincts, coordinating international administrative police regulations, and setting up adequate traffic control with as yet insufficient equipment.

In addition to the 713th MP's duties involving all American military personnel, he aids and cooperates with the growing civilian police force being trained and guided by the U. S. Military Government.

As the American Sector's general police force, the 713th operates an investigation section to take care of minor and preliminary investigations of all criminal and subversive activities, military and civilian. Major criminal cases are turned over to the Criminal Investigation Detachment of the Provost Marshal's office for further prosecution. Civilian criminal offenders are turned over to civilian police authorities with complete reports.

The efficiency of the 713th's investigation section and constant patrolling have almost eliminated the once widespread looting, stealing, "appropriation," and "liberation" of furniture, food, household goods, etc., by civilian and military personnel. Primary purpose for looting in recent weeks has been for resale of stolen goods in the fast fading Berlin black market rapidly being wiped out by combined American, Russian, French, and English military police.

Aboard The USS Alpine — Chester K. Bowles, S1C, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Bowles of Wheeler, is a crew member of this troop transport, damaged twice during six Pacific engagements, returned to the fighting fleet in time to carry the final assault on Japan to victory.

Inaugurating her combat career during the recapture of Guam, the vessel engaged in succeeding assaults at Leyte twice, Lingayen Gulf, Subic Bay on the Luzon coast, and finally Okinawa where she sustained near fatal damage. Earlier the ship was struck by a Jap suicide plane at Leyte.

A kamikaze attack which nearly sank the Alpine struck at Okinawa causing heavy damage and casualties. Expert damage control tactics by the crew saved the vessel from being lost.

The Alpine unloaded assault waves into landing craft and disembarked guns, tanks and munitions during fierce invasions of Jap-held Pacific islands.

Bowles' battle station is forward mag. 5". He reported aboard the ship April 22, 1944 and has taken part in the battles of Guam, Philippines and Okinawa.

David Harun cynically but humorously said: "Do unto the other fellow as he would do unto you—and do it first."

Of all the affectations of speech, the free, frilly and fancy over-use of "oneself" is about the worst. Instead of saying, "A man should be careful of his speech lest he give offense," your purist goes off the deep end thusly and to-wit, or maybe halfwit: "One should be careful of one's choice of words lest one give offense to one's listeners."

And someone should tell the Hollywood publicists that there is nothing clever in referring to a cup given for the year's best performance as "an oscar." The award is presented for outstanding achievement and should not be cheapened by some silly term.

While on the general subject of movies, the theaters ought to set aside a section for those who go there to see and hear the picture and not for an hour's conversation. Such a section would not need to be very large.

Came across this bit of worse — I mean verse — somewhere:

Johnnie drove a Model T,
Harold drove a limousine;
Johnnie's girl lived 'cross the tracks,
Harold went with the campus queen;

But Harold is now a forgotten man
While Johnnie every girl admires;
Harold's limousine is on the rims—
And Johnnie still has four good tires.

"There's just two things the matter with that horse," the owner said to a man who was thinking about buying the animal.

"What are they?" the prospective purchaser asked.

"I'll tell you what one of them is and, if you buy him, I'll tell you the other one then," the owner replied.

The prospect agreed.

"The first fault is that he's hard to catch."

"Well, I'm pretty active; I can catch him all right; here's your money; now, what's his other fault?"

The man pocketed the money and as he edged away he answered, "In the first place, as I said, he's hard to catch and, in the second place, he ain't worth a darn after you catch him."

Mr. and Mrs. Ansel McDowell of Pampa visited friends here Monday.
