Outstanding 4-H Club Girls Given Recognition

The most outstanding girl in each 4-H club was given special recognition at the Girls' Annual 4-H Encampment held recently. Each girl wishing to enter wrote a story of her 4-H club work for the year 1945 and a committee of sponsors judged the stories. The winners received a certificate of award and a 4-H club pin. Those receiving these awards were Billie Howard, Bethel 4-H club; Claudell Cox, Wheeler 4-H club; Helen Marie Marshall, Allison 4-H club; Joy Coe, Lela 4-H club; Nellie Jean Brown, Mobeetie 4-H club; Joy Williams, Shamrock 4-H club; Rozena Helton, Briscoe 4-H club; Mary Beth D-Spain, Kellerville 4-H club; Alice Jean Whitten, Magic City 4-H club; Wynnona Lister, Kelton 4-H club.

Some of the projects carried on by these winners were poultry raising, landscaping, food production and clothing. Many of them have invested their profits in war bonds. Some have taken their brothers' places in the field on the farm. Two of the winners are raising a cotton crop on their own this year. Another winner is selling $3.00 worth of eggs daily from her poultry flock plus raising 150 fryers. Other winners have spent a lot of their time canning — averaging from 100 to 250 cans of fruits and vegetables. Other winners are helping with the meat situation by raising pigs and calves. 4-H club girls in Wheeler county have done a good job in 1945 and should be commended for their splendid work.

Secretary of Agriculture Declares Support Promises Must Be Kept

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson has repeated his previous declaration that the Government must fulfill its price support promises to farmers to protect them against possible future consequences of increased wartime production.

In a recent speech at New York, the new Secretary said that farmers want assurance that the promises will be kept. He urged that "we total up our food needs, both military and civilian, and set that total as a production goal for agriculture in 1946 but that the military requirements be regarded as firm contracts or commitments.

"I think the Army and Navy will need the food, but if they don't the surplus must not be used to break the economy of the American farmer. It can much better be employed in relieving distress around the world."

Prescribing himself as "an apostle of abundant production," Mr. Anderson said that food subsidies will be difficult to eliminate "but the job must be done." If the elimination of subsidies is not to have serious effects on the producer, they must be removed when "the demand is good and the price strong."

He praised the farmer for his wartime efforts and said that he must be protected "against the possibility that his very patriotism and hard work will become the instrument of his own destruction."

Mrs. J. M. Glover was called to Erick, Oklahoma Sunday afternoon where she attended funeral services held for her brother, Fletcher A. Pigg.

For generations many Wheeler County Farmers have been "fighting grass" when grass might be, often times, turned to profitable use equal in value to many of our staple cash crops.

The rapid expansion of the livestock industry in this county has emphasized the need for better permanent pastures as a source of good cheap feed. In this county most farms have lands which are not contributing to the owners. Many of these acres could be developed into good permanent pastures and made to yield a source of income through livestock and livestock products.

Since the beginning of the Agricultural Conservation program farmers have been offered cash assistance for the establishment and maintenance of permanent pastures. Last year many farmers took advantage of this program and received valuable assistance for carrying out and improving pasture practices.

There are many instances in this county where farmers have waste land that could be brought into profitable grazing by seeding to clover and permanent grasses. Application of lime, phosphate or potash applied to the old sod and field land will inject new life into the soil and eliminate it from becoming more and more depleted.

It usually takes plenty of work and patience to establish a good permanent pasture — a pasture does not come overnight following the broadcasting of some seed — but when established and properly maintained, it may easily be one of the most profitable crops on many farms.

The same general type of pasture improvement program and cash assistance as previously offered by AAA is in effect in 1945. Interested farmers may get details from their community committeemen or county AAA office.

Home Improvement

Here I go again after the surrender of Tojo with a few pleasant remarks for the beautification of our little city of Wheeler.

Pardon the lapse of news for the past week, but we were all celebrating the good news of Victory.

My hat is off this week to Dr. Merritt, who has completely overhauled a home with very little additional labor other than that of the public desiring to drive by such a new beautiful home as that in which the Doctor has remodeled.

The mayor of Wheeler, namely, Judge Forrester, has developed the idea to remove all obnoxious weeds from around his home. Folks, let's all get the Old Spirit in our bones and get things to humming. Oh, if I could really know that I would never be suspected as being the author of this little article each week, then I could bring to your attention some of the undesirable things, but we will overlook them just yet. If some of you know of some outstanding job of yard and home improvement please drop a personal note to yours truly, in care of the editor. I will elaborate on the subject.

School Days Again

Starts the line again of youth back to its class rooms, boys and girls beginning another term of learning. This privilege is one of the principles for which American boys have laid down their lives on foreign fields, the continuance of education in a free country. Parents of soldiers have tears in their eyes as they see the youthful parade and wish that their boy was off to school with books underarm. Youth affects us oldsters such, anyway. Many of those lads who picked up guns as they put away their college pen and pencil sets, will be joining the campus crowd this September, thank heavens. The lives of youth are being shaped all over the land, in rural districts and metropolitan areas, formed to believe or disbelieve certain truths and falsehoods. The task of teaching is vast and important and not without error and prejudice. But the responsibility of instruction lies not only with the instructor in the schoolhouse, but in the child's home, with his parents. We are all answerable in the making of our nation's future citizens. Let us make our job a successful one, a monument to all these unborn who are to come, and to profit from our teachings.

Labor Day

Without labor there would not have been a force to resist the enemy in war, let alone conquer him. Such a flood of strength has been wrought from factories, mines, fields, shops, that the war comes to a conclusion as a just reward. From millions of munitions, ships and submarines for the sea, planes for the air. Providing for the needs and comfort of the fighting man, labor has taken care of the civilian here at home as well as our allies overseas. The American worker will listen to many speeches on Labor Day of objectives to be gained in the future, of certain losses labor has met due to war measures, of rights to be attained, infringements to be corrected. Speechmaking follows in the wake of holidays. Strikes will be discussed, and strikes have caused emergency steps to be taken during war, but lessons should have been learned by both sides in the settling of difficulties, lessons to be remembered tomorrow. Yet labor which has borne itself so effectively through war faces a task of solving gigantic problems in the peace. It will take labor and capital together to bring about a solution for postwar unemployment. We have undergone a terrible experience of depression and panic in the 1930's and feel we can avert such a recurrence by business co-operating with government. Labor has a louder voice now than ever before in our history, and labor should not let it become so loud it grates and kills out the sound of any other voice. Labor has discharged its office, in the main, with honor. It is equipped, through wise heads, to plan for its proper place in the lives of American workers in the days to come.

Peace Be With Us

Praying, dying, laboring and fighting have brought about the settlement for which we have waited so long —the peace. The persistent efforts of united nations to win has brought to a conclusion the most horrible war in history. Rejoicing for personal reasons, in the interest of all men. Victory brings elation, extreme jubilation records a world stripped for emotion, generally un-

Pertinent Paragraphs from Panhandle Press

Items of interest culled from newspapers on the Times' exchange list.

The fate of Hirohito and the royal house of Japan depends much in the dispensation of the Allied commands. Japanese like Russians and Germans will worship and be ruled by an iron hand just as long as they are winning and are well fed. There was a time when the czar was almost fetish in the Russias but want and privation drove the populace to a sudden and drastic change. So with the case of Hitler, who rose to fill a void and fell when he could no longer meet demands made by his people.

Cut off from international trade, imports and exports limited, manufacturing curbed, with all this to break up the routine of life for the Japs, it is probable that Hirohito will be found to have feet of clay by enough of his subjects that some sort of a deal will be demanded before many months. Even a diet must meet certain needs or a change of worship follows.

—Quannah Tribune-Chief

controlled. The celebration dies and the approach to normalcy comes with the morrow. Then, the session with ourselves with what next?

Does peace mean security? The future of the world, general living standards, race and cultural relationships of nations and peoples, correcting causes of war, are major points to consider. Japan's feeling of a divine right of conquest, Germany's of supremacy through superiority, shows need of reeducation to develop different attitudes for any security. The reforming must go into all places, the repressing of Japanese and Germans in domestic changes will be a step in the right direction.

The result of crushing our enemy is a joyful occasion, but not a solemn consideration for those American homes where sons will not return. This makes the heart sad in the midst of revelry, the ceremony is not without its tears and crepe.

To qualify us for the true appreciation of peace we must have given some of ourselves to the war. There are few in Wheeler County who cannot freely take part, in sincerity, in the reward of deliverance from destruction. Do we expect to have contributed our part, and plan to reject international problems of relations and security as yesterday's bad news and assume an angle of sticking our heads in the sand, slumbering and snuggling into our cozy corner and regretting that everyone can't have such a wonderful land as America?

Peace be praised and may its power envelope the hearts of everyone, may its light shine into every dark corner of a blasted, shaken world, its shape imprint itself on every mind for evermore. We thank God for this reprieve from oblivion, wretchedness and condemnation. Carry us into the new days ahead with courage and spirit, with the determination to produce a society that hungers so much for peace that it will WORK to maintain it, rather than have to DIE to obtain it.

Is Japan whipped? No! If we take literally the words which come out of Tokyo.

Without knowing anything about it, we venture this prediction:

The people of the Japanese home islands are whipped, but there will be considerable trouble from the fanatical groups of the home islands, but this will be a minor affair, we hope. As far as the Jap armed forces scattered throughout the Pacific are concerned, this may be a different story. Japan had one of the largest armies in the world when the Emperor decided to quit. It is of more or less guerrilla nature, composed of bands in widely scattered places. They may cause trouble.

Our armed forces will be in danger for many months to come.

—Canyon News

Now that peace has returned, many Americans doubtless are wondering how long it will be before the government begins dispensing with its many war-born alphabetical agencies.

Past experience will compel those thinking along this line to recognize that many of the wartime bureaus are likely to be around a long time. So far as many of them are concerned, they probably will continue until popular demand forces them into oblivion.

This does not suggest that all war agencies should be tossed upon the scrap heap immediately. Doubtless there will be important, even necessary, work for some of them for a good many years. But it is inevitable that every effort will be made to prolong many, if not most, of the agencies — and the political jobs they represent — until long after all real excuse for their existence has ceased.

The most recent evidence to support this prediction was supplied by various agencies created during the depression. They clung to life with the most desperate tenacity. And, although the depression was the only excuse for their existence, most of them still were alive, and spending vast sums of money in the midst of the most amazing boom this nation has seen.

So, how long are the war agencies likely to continue? In most cases, it will be until the American people make clear that such things will be tolerated no longer. It will not come through any voluntary liquidation.

The OPA's rule about ceiling prices on washing machines and other durable goods is a good idea if it works. The odds against effective and orderly enforcement of it are so heavy, however, as to be forbidding.

There are many potential buyers prepared to pay almost any price that is asked, whenever the items are available. A dealer will thus be under several temptations when he sees the customers streaming in. He may see to it that his good friends are supplied first. He may require the customer to buy something else, something that isn't moving readily, in order to be eligible for the desired item. He may allow his brother-in-law to take over and sell the equipment for whatever buyers are willing to pay, and keep the extra profit in the family. The OPA rule is a direct invitation to black marketing.

Anyone who criticises the set-up should of course be ready with an alternative plan that seems more

A soldier from another State caught sight of the column and read aloud, "I Give You Texas," then added, "Now there's a fellow with the right idea; he offers to give you the State!" And each week when the paper arrives somebody yells out, "Is that guy still trying to give Texas away?"

Along the same line: Two soldiers, undoubtedly from some other section, looked at a display of books in a Gainesville store window and one said, "I Give You Texas" and his companion replied, "I'll give it right back to you." A chap lounging on the

OF Cream Producers

The Federal Food and Drug Administration is condemning thousands of cans of cream and milk daily.

The buyers in Wheeler as well as every other town, have taken losses on illegal cream. Illegal cream is cream with an unpleasant taste or cream that shows dirt, insects, or any foreign matter on a sediment test. Boiling cream or cream unpleasant to the taste will invariably be illegal on account of sediment. All buyers must reject cream not up to Government standards, otherwise the losses will force us out of business.

This Government program is here to stay, and we must either get in line or get out of business. Cream producers must do likewise.

NEWS IN THE WORLD OF RELIGION
BY W.W. REID

According to the Chinese News Service, Chungking, the greatest mass trek of people in all the world's history has been the migration of 50,000,000 Chinese refugees from the eastern coast and central provinces of China into the western provinces, just ahead of the Japanese armies. This number is more than the population of Great Britain, France, or Italy, and it is more than twice the number of immigrants from Europe to America between 1776 and 1860. The Red Cross and various Christian relief agencies have expended millions of dollars in helping these refugees with food, clothing, and shelter — and their task is still going on.

Between 1828 and 1889, at least sixteen descendants of Martin Luther migrated to the United States and most of them raised families, according to Lutheran historian, Dr. O. M. Norlie, of Northfield, Minn. They bore family names of Luther, Schede, Trunkler, Avenarius, von de Groeben, von Poswik, and Brackner; they settled in Minnesota, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, and Wisconsin. Dr. Norlie would like to have information concerning present-day Luther descendants.

In honor of his own thirty-one years of service to Liberia's growing educational institutions, and to the Methodist Church's 112 years of service to the Republic, the Rev. Thomas Smith Donohugh, secretary of the Methodist Board of Missions, has been decorated by the Liberian Government. At a recent dinner at the National Arts Club, New York City, he was made a "Knight Official of the Liberian Humane Order of African Redemption." The presentation was made by Liberia's Secretary of State, Dr. Gabriel Dennis, on behalf of President William V. S. Tubman.

"The devil goeth about as an Anopheles seeking whom he may poison," is the colorful translation of a certain scripture passage made by Chaplain George W. Schardt, Lutheran pastor serving in Burma. He believes that every serviceman in the South Seas understands exactly what this picture means. Without benefit of mosquito netting or insect repellent, he has been holding communion services among many outlying organizations and detachments.

The Protestant churches of the United States are planning to raise between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000 for relief and reconstruction of human life and church services in Europe and in Asia during the next four years, according to Dr. Leslie B. Moss, director of the Church Committee on Overseas Relief and Reconstruction which coordinates these efforts. This total will probably be considerably increased with the end of the Pacific war and the totalling of the needs there, Dr. Moss believes. Twenty-three leading denominations are raising these funds at present. Their use will vary according to need, but most of the budgets provide for relief of Christian clergy and congregations that suffered through the war, aid in rebuilding or repairing religious institutions, printing and distribution of scriptures, aid to war prisoners, refugees, and orphans, aid to mission groups cut off from their homelands, and ministries of health, social welfare, care of mothers, care of the undernourished, etc.

"Can American people become a holier people?" the Rt. Rev. Monsignor L. G. Ligutti, of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference, recently asked an audience in Yellow Springs, Ohio. "By holier, I do not mean a sissy or backward people, but manly — with the virtues of self-reliance, of honesty, of justice, and of charity. If American leadership is of the spiritual type, the American nation will be happier and its example will lead others to follow. The mad scramble for material and spiritual suffering entailed. Misery and poverty are the results of selfishness and greed, which in turn are necessary concomitants of materialistic philosophy and ideals."

"Much of the difficulty in the world of business is due to the fact that too many people are trying to get material gain without giving their best or by foisting unfair values upon the public," says James C. Penney, New York merchant. "When we discuss honesty in the abstract there is no difference of opinion. It is only when the principle is applied to our activities or to our commercial enterprises that we may contradict one another. No one will say there is ever justification for an employee's taking a dollar out of his employer's till, or for the head of an organization to increase his prosperity by deceiving the public; but how often many of us fail not only to give the best goods for the prices offered but also to give to business the best of our minds and talents — the best of our loyalty."

YOUR COUNTY HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT
TEXAS EXTENSION SERVICE

Mrs. V. J. Zeman, County Home Demonstration Agent

Sugar Saving Desserts will continue to hold appeal. Latest information states that sugar supplies will be short for some time yet. Desserts made with ribbon cane, sorghum, honey, or cane syrup have mineral and vitamin values superior to sugar. Ribbon cane molasses has the highest supply of mineral. When using substitutes for sugar, it is advisable to try recipes that have been tested and adjusted. The recipes given in this article were demonstrated in Wheeler County on August 21 by Miss Edith Lawrence, Specialist in Food Preparation for the Texas Extension Service. Women from 7 communities in Wheeler County saw the demonstration at the Homemaking cottage. They put their taste o. k. on the following recipes:

Apple Cake
3 cups dried apples
3 cups cane syrup
1 cup raisins
1 cup butter
3½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon nutmeg
3 eggs, well beaten
Cover apples with water and soak overnight. Drain off excess water. Chop apples. Add syrup and cook until apples are soft. Add raisins and cool. Add dry ingredients which have been sifted together, then the well creamed butter. Add eggs which have been well beaten, and pour into greased pan lined with wax paper. Bake in moderately slow oven (325 to 350 degrees F.) for about 40 minutes. For variation: Add 1 cup of nuts. Miss Lawrence did. (Note: If fresh apples are used steam in a very little water until tender. Add syrup and cook until soft. If canned apples are used drain off juice and use for beverage. Add syrup to apples and cook until soft.)

Molasses Crumb Cookies

¾ cup molasses
2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup bread crumbs
½ cup shortening
1-3 cup sugar
1 egg
2 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup chopped nuts
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
Pour molasses, milk and vanilla over bread crumbs. Mix and let stand about five minutes. Cream shortening. Add sugar, unbeaten egg and lemon rind. Mix well, sift together dry ingredients and add nuts. Add dry ingredients and crumb mixture to creamed mixture and beat well. Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) for 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: about 4 dozen cookies. Variation: Use coconut in place of nuts.

Miss Lawrence served lemonade sweetened with corn syrup and a cherry dessert which used honey. Additional recipes were given at the demonstration. These can be secured from the Home Demonstration Agent's office.

PHILLIPS 66

We're lucky! So are you!

For 24 hours a day, from Pearl Harbor to V-J Day, our refineries went full blast for Uncle Sam.

And now? Why, they're going full blast for you . . . speeding the wonderful new Phillips 66 gasoline on its way to you.

That's what we mean by reconversion!

The high octane fuels that once went into the big bombers will now go to you — especially adapted for your engine.

All the tricks, all the better ways we learned to do things, will now go to work for you.

From now on mister, the only priority you're going to need to get a tankful of Phillips 66 is the car you drive and your own good common sense.

Come and get it!

We in towns and rural districts are in a better position to save fats than most city folks, so the government is depending on us. Save every drop, every scrap. Melt down solid fats. There's never too little to save! Butchers will give you up to 4¢ and 2 red points a pound. If you have any difficulty, call your Home Demonstration or County Agent. Approved by WPA and OPA.
