TOUGH VISHINSKY GOES UP LADDER

The two most significant facts that meet the eye in the brief Soviet announcement of top drawer changes are that neither of the new ministers is a member of the Politburo and that the Soviet's toughest diplomat appears at the head of foreign affairs. Perhaps it is more accurate to say that neither Andrei Viskinsky nor M. A. Menshikov has been a member of the Politburo. It is possible that in becoming respectively Ministers of Foreign Affairs and Foreign Trade, the two may also be joining the compact group that runs the Russians.

Folk keeping a weather eye out for the storm signals of World War III and more especially neighboring nations with awareness of Soviet methods of political aggression have a right to be alarmed at the appearance of Vishinsky in the foreign office. Once the ruthless prosecutor of the bloody internal purge, Vishinsky has been the equally ruthless representative of Stalin in laying the law down to hapless neighbor countries that apparently had no desire to shed their own democracy and come under the dubious shelter of the Soviet orbit. Vishinsky is the stage mechanic who has brought down the iron curtain in front of hesitant Balkan neighbors that wanted to go on playing alone in front of the footlights.

So it is highly probable that Vishinsky has been moved into the foreign office to deal with the Soviet's Scandinavian problem, brought into sharp focus this week with Norway's rejection of the non-aggression pact that move to join in the North Atlantic Alliance.

Deductions as to the reason for putting Vishinsky in his new post are more likely to be accurate than a guess as to what disposition will be made of Molotov, the oldest member of the Politburo except Stalin in point of service. Will Molotov pass into obscurity in the wake of Litvinov, his predecessor, or is this a possible prelude to succeeding Stalin and as such an indication that the latter's health is precarious? Litvinov was never a member of the Politburo and his eclipse as a result was not as significant as would be that of Molotov.

In his recent book on the Politburo, "Stalin and Co.," Walter Duranty regarded A. I. Mikoyan as one of the most important men in the group. The brilliant Armenian, once a visitor to this country, has done a remarkable job in bringing up post-revolution Russian food standards.

Molotov is 59, Mikoyan only 53, so, Stalin, who is 70, can hardly be figuring that the top posts need younger men. But doubtless we shall not have to wait long to solve the new mysteries of the Politburo's changes.—From The Dallas Morning News

War or peace for the United States, unfortunately, is left to this nation.

Take care of your clothes Electrically

EVER stop to think of what a beating your clothes take when hanging on the line on a windy spring day?

That whipping wind tosses them, pulls them, twists them, detracting every minute from their future usefulness to you.

That can be easily avoided through the use of a scientifically designed labor saving home clothes dryer. In this economical machine, gentle puffs of warm air remove the moisture from your wash, leaving it toasty dry. You'll avoid, too, the trouble of bundling up to go out to "hang up clothes" and resulting colds and sniffles.

Put an electrical clothes dryer on your list of electrical needs... you'll like it.

Your appliance dealer will gladly give you a demonstration of the efficiency of the new automatic clothes dryers. See him soon.

KITCHEN MEMO

BY JEAN CLARKE

For that individual touch to a meal for guests or when you feel the family would especially appreciate your adding a decorative food, serve Orange Sweet Potato Baskets. Squeeze the juice from 6 large orange halves. Remove and discard the membrane. Cut the edges of the orange shells in a scallop design. Mash 2 cups cooked sweet potatoes and beat in 1/4 cup orange juice, 1 tsp. brown sugar and 1 tsp. salt. Pipe sweet potato mixture into orange shells. Dot with 1 tbsp. melted butter or margarine. Place on broiler tray under a medium flame and broil 12 mins. Save time and gas by serving a complete broiler meal including thick ham slices and broiled grapefruit halves.

An 1856 cook book advised cooks to drop water on the oven bottom. If the water hissed, the oven was supposed to be hot enough for baking. Today the thermostat on modern gas ranges keeps baking temperatures at exactly the degree needed.

Yellow and light green celery tops combined with brown onion skins simmered in water over a low flame for about 20 minutes makes a nourishing and tasty drink. The liquid can be added to soups and gravies for flavoring.

All water has some sediment in it. To keep your automatic gas water heater free of this sediment, once a month draw off a quart or two of water until it flows clean.

When washing windows in cold weather add a little vinegar or household ammonia to the water to prevent it from freezing on the glass.

DIDN'T NEED ONE

"Waiter, there is no wishbone in this chicken."
"It didn't need one, sir. That chicken lived such a contented life that it had nothing to wish for."

feeding trials were conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station to study the value of sorghum by-products as pig fattening rations. The first experiment was made up of 40

Duroc pigs, averaging 79 pounds
each, and divided into four lots of 10 pigs each.

The ration in each lot was composed of whole grain milo and a protein supplement which was fed free choice in self feeders. Each group of 10 pigs also had free access to mineral mixture containing 80 pounds of salt. The sorghum by-products were used as part of the protein mixture. The protein mixture in the check lot consisted of 50 pounds of meat scraps, 30 pounds of soybean oil meal and 20 pounds of dehydrated
alfalfa leaf meal.

In place of the 30 pounds of soybean meal in the check lot, one lot contained 30 pounds of sorghum gluten meal and another had

THE BUTTER LOBBY'S IDEA OF A FAIR COMPROMISE

The results of these tests indicate that the protein supplement
for fattening hogs may contain up to 30 percent of sorghum gluten meal. Also they found gluten feed is not as good as the gluten meal
in hog fattening ration.

The group of pigs getting the soybean meal as 30 percent of the protein mixture made 10 percent greater daily gains than did the pigs fed the sorghum by-products.

Since grain sorghum by-products are low in lysine, it may be a better practice to replace a part of the grain with these by-products rather than use them in the protein supplement when feeding
the grain and protein supplement free choice in self feeders, these men report.

RANCHING NOW MUCH DIFFERENT TO GRAND DAD'S

These days it's different from what it used to be on the Texas ranches. Today's cattlemen are doing the same job their grand-dads did, but they're doing it a little differently.

For instance, says A. L. Smith, extension animal husbandman of Texas A. and M. College, the jeep and the pick-up truck are fast replacing the cow ponies in many ranch operations. And, too, the old dipping vat is given way to the portable power sprayers in insect control.

Other mechanical equipment
that's coming into the picture are the mineral dispensing machines, pushing the mineral boxes for supplying phosphorus supplements into the background. Call tables for dehorning, castrating, and branding have replaced many a
"heeler".

The maximum use of grazing crops such as small grains, sudan grass and re-seeded pastures have taken the place of dry-lot finishing of cattle for slaughter purposes.

There's a noticeable trend toward more crossbred cattle in Texas, particularly in the southern and eastern part of the state. This crossbreeding is to increase the market weight of cattle. As a result of the crossbreeding work, the King Ranch has developed the Santa Gertrudis breed, the only breed developed in the western hemisphere.

On Texas ranches cattlemen are practicing a more rigid culling of herds, and stocking their ranges with less cattle. They realize the pounds of beef rather than the number of cattle is the secret of profitable production.

In the continuous fight against animal parasites, many new insecticides are being used today that were unknown just a few years ago. Rotenone, DDT and BHC have replaced the old standbys of arsenical dips in controlling lice,
ticks, cattle grubs and horn flies.
Chloroform has been replaced by Smears 62 in the control of screw worms. Phenothiazine has proven more effective in controlling stomach worms than the bluestone used by cattlemen of a generation or two ago.

Texas 4-H Club work has been responsible for a generous share of these "new-fangled" ideas in beef cattle production. Club boys seeking information on raising beef calves have learned better and faster methods of feeding and management through the county agents and animal husbandmen.

In doing so, they have pushed boys' club work in beef calf production ahead in the lines of calf selection, rations, care and management, control of animal parasites and fitting calves for show
and marketing, says Smith.

Break Of Drought Gives West Texans New Hope

The drought is broken.

These words have brought new hope and cheer to the ranchmen of West Texas. Even in far West Texas, rains have been favorable.
Moisture penetration in the San Angelo country, on the good condition ranges is 16-18 inches. A.
H. Walker, extension range specialist of Texas A. and M. College, says ranchmen are pleased with range prospects, and many are thinking now of restocking their ranges. With livestock prices good and the numbers low, ranchmen
figure they can't lose.

But Walker says they can lose if they are not careful. The drought and overgrazing have severely reduced the stand of the better grasses and heavy grazing this spring will keep grass from coming back.

Perennial grasses must build their top growth each year from plant food stored in the roots, and the better grasses, already weak, can't stand too much heavy grazing.

The poorest condition pastures should be rested this spring and summer. This will give desirable grasses a chance to make a seed crop and re-establish themselves.

It will, concludes Walker, pay off in the long run with more pounds of meat produced per acre.

First things first, and we think that right now is the time to write your representatives in Washington, urging them to vote for repeal of discriminatory margarine legislation. And if your state prohibits yellow margarine, contact your state legislators and ask them to do something about those taxes, too.

Before handling fish, rub your hands well with salt which helps to remove odors more easily. . . . That goes for onions, too.

Here's a leftover dish that steps into company class: spread well seasoned mashed potatoes with a mixture of real mayonnaise and finely diced green pepper and onion. Top with grated cheese and bake in the oven till potatoes are heated through and cheese is melted.
So tasty!

Use a small magnet to pick up stray pins and needles in your sewing basket.
Prevents pricked fingers.

Pick-up your basic black dress with accessories in the Springtime mood.
Bright bunches of flowers and matching gloves give a lovely lift. Or a fetching scarf lends dash. . . . No need to mention what a hat does for the ego.

Speaking of Spring, new kitchen
aprons are a sign of change of seasons.
And did you know that old bed sheets can be converted into the most perfect little numbers? Just dye them with all-purpose dye and trim with buttons or bows and you can have several for the price of a few packages of dye.

POSSIBLY

"The ivory carvings you sold me

Honey-Topped Coffee Cake
It's called "honey twist," for a honey topping flavors this coffee cake. Extra honey may be served to those who like coffee cake dripping with sweetness.

Women who enjoy baking rolls and coffee cakes are always discovering how to make new good things to eat from a basic sweet yeast dough. A honey twist is another one to try. This delightful coffee cake results when you coil a slender roll of rich yeast dough around and around in a pan, then brush on the honey topping. Set it to rise until light and then bake it. The honey topping makes the icing.

Since food should be nutritious as well as taste-satisfying, it is in order to mention that the honey twist is full of good food value. Enriched flour makes all breads important sources of B-vitamins and iron.

Note that the recipe calls for "from five to six" cups of enriched flour. This means you should add only as much as is needed to make a dough which can be easily handled. A dough just stiff enough to hold its shape when formed into a ball is the right consistency. Too much flour will make a stiff dough that rises slowly and produces coarse-textured breads. Too little makes the dough so soft the coffee cake won't hold its shape.

Your family will make honey twist one of its breakfast favorites. It is also a good coffee hour companion, yet it is plain enough to serve as luncheon or dinner bread.

HONEY TWIST
2 packages yeast, compressed or dry granular
1/2 cup lukewarm water
1 cup milk
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup confectioners' sugar
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, beaten
5 to 6 cups sifted enriched flour

HONEY TOPPING
1 egg white
2 tablespoons honey, warmed
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup confectioners' sugar

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk. Add shortening, sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Add yeast and eggs. Add flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on floured board or pastry cloth and knead until smooth and satiny. Form into a ball and place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled. When light, punch down, and shape into a long roll about one inch in diameter. Coil the roll into a greased cake pan beginning at the outside edge and covering the bottom. Cream together ingredients for Honey Topping and brush over Twist. Let rise until doubled. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Makes two Twists nine inches in diameter.

STRICTLY FOR THE NOSEY PEOPLE

Since the senior girls seem to know so much, they have been asked many questions. Here we are trying to give satisfactory answers to each one.
 Q. Why has W. T. been singing "I've got those take 'em to the door, that's all there is, there ain't no more, blues?"
 A. Maybe he's hinting to a junior girl.
 Q. Why was Doris so mad at Bobby?
 A. Just a small matter but she really got him told.
 Q. Why was Reba so happy Friday?
 A. We think she received some letters.
 Q. Why do Naomi and Bill fight so much?

A. So they can kiss and make up.
 Q. Why is Mrs. Noble always mad at the seniors?
 A. If you have ever attended an English IV class, you would not need to ask this.
 Q. Why is there so much yelling in the study hall after noon?
 A. Maybe someone is shooting paper wads.
 Q. Why does the hall look so much brighter lately?
 A. This is simple—the senior panel has been hung.
 Q. Are Jimmy C. and Betty Haines getting serious?
 A. We doubt it since he went with another freshman girl Friday night.
 Q. Why didn't the junior boys basketball team make any more points than they did in the tournament?
 A. The high school team set the example.

Texas Premier May Decide Movie Fate of Ten-Year-Old

PRIZE-WINNING drop biscuits won feature role in "The Green Promise" for Jeanne LaDuke (above) shown in the kitchen of her Mount Vernon, Indiana home.

LITTLE Jeanne LaDuke, a ten-year-old with a sparkling smile and tightly-plaited pigtails, has found the most unusual recipe to date for a motion picture contract. It's an easy method, too, according to Jeanne, who lives with her parents on a farm in Mount Vernon, Indiana.
 All she did was to sift two cups of Swans Down Cake Flour, add three teaspoons of baking powder and one-half teaspoon of salt, sift again, cut in four tablespoons of shortening and add about one cup of milk. She dropped the dough on a greased pan and baked the biscuits in a hot oven for 10 to 15 minutes. The result? Just about the best drop biscuits anyone in the state of Indiana ever had tasted.
 The delicious biscuits practically put Jeanne in the movies. They were judged the best in the Indiana state-wide 4-H contest. As a reward her photograph was submitted to Hollywood director William Russell for consideration for a feature role in "The Green Promise". She was selected over 12,999 other 4-H club girls.
 Jeanne's part in the Glenn McCarthy production, soon to be released by RKO Radio Pictures, Inc., proved easy for her, too. After all her work with Walter Brennan, Marguerite Chapman and Robert

Trees Can Be Grown Without Irrigation Anywhere In Texas

Trees can be grown without irrigation in any county in Texas. That goes for shade trees, windbreaks and ornamental, says Sadie Hatfield, extension landscape gardening specialist of Texas A. and M. College.
 But she admits there's a trick to it. The secret of success is in properly collecting and storing rain water in the soil for the trees to use. Terraces and contours should be constructed so as to collect and hold the moisture which falls throughout the year. And the terraces may be built any time you can get around to it.
 Soil is the most natural, the easiest and the best place to keep water for growing trees in the Panhandle, the plains, and in all the drier regions of Texas, says Miss Hatfield.
 She goes on to say it is true that three or four acres of soil may be needed to produce one acre of trees, because it's necessary to take rainwater from nearby soil in order to give a tree—or a group of trees—as much as two or three times the annual rainfall of a semi-arid region.
 That's where terracing and contouring come into the picture. These practices, long recommended by county agricultural agents, can bring about a diversion of water in almost any area selected for trees.
 Among the trees which are being grown successfully—and have been grown for more than 10 years—by landscape garden demonstrators in the Panhandle and on the plains are black walnut, red cedar, osage orange or bois d'arc, green ash, desert willow, hackberry and honey locust, says Miss Hatfield.
 Also grown in these and drier regions of the state are the jubate, mulberry, Russian olive, salt

ROSES SHOULD BE PLANTED NOW

Rosebush fanciers: roses are better if set in ground now than five years ago. The recent state-wide freeze injured a large number of shrubs. Don't prune such frost injured shrubs right away, she warns. Leave the injured part on for a while as further protection against other cold snaps, should they occur.

About the care of shrubs, Miss Hatfield has this to say. It's a good idea to examine the flowering quince, gardenias, roses and wax leaf legustrum for signs of scale. That goes for peach and plum trees as well. County agricultural agents have further information on the treatment and protection of shrubs from insects and diseases.

When shrubs, trees or roses have abnormally yellow leaves, this specialist suggests using a corrective treatment of one cup of iron sulphate (or copperas) and two cups of sulphur. Mix this in well with the soil within 15 square feet of the plant, says Miss Hatfield.

Proper Care Will Help Cure Pyorrhea

Contrary to the popular belief that pyorrhea is always incurable, this is only true in the most advanced cases, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. His advice to persons who even suspect the presence of pyorrhea is to seek an early diagnosis from their dentist so that proper treatment can be instituted while the disease is still curable.

"Early detection and proper treatment of pyorrhea represent the formula for a successful cure. This means that the dentist must have an opportunity to discover the presence of the disease at the earliest possible moment. Since the symptoms are often so vague that the patient is unaware of having pyorrhea," Dr. Cox said, "regular visits to the family dentist are extremely important in the control of this disease."

The treatment of pyorrhea is not an involved procedure. In the average early case one of the main therapeutic features is the proper hygienic care of teeth and gums as outlined by any reputable dentist. Carelessness regarding mouth hygiene is usually the basic cause for the condition.

The family dentist can usually remove the cause of the trouble, Dr. Cox said, and when this has been done, intelligent routine care of the mouth by the patient will help to effect a fairly quick cure in the majority of early cases.

OUTLOOK FOR POULTRY GOOD

The egg-shaped crystal ball of the Texas A. and M. College extension specialists in poultry husbandry, and agricultural economics has several pictures for the 1949 poultry prospects.

Prices are expected to be about like those of last year, and they may average higher for the first half and a little lower for the second half of the year. Texas farms will have fewer layers, but the demand for eggs is still strong. Total egg production this year may be as high as it was last year, these specialists believe.

Feed for layers is more plentiful these days, and prices may drop this year about one-fourth lower than last year. This year's pullet crop is expected to jump sharply, which means Texas will have a large holding of layers by next January 1.

From the poultry meat angle, the crystal ball shows that recent prices of broilers and turkeys is good. This will likely make for larger production this year. Outlook on the feed supply show there is plenty, and the costs are more favorable. The demand for broilers and turkeys is dropping off slightly, but prices are expected to remain near the 48 level in first half, and less favorable the latter part.

Transportation, equipment and other production costs — except feed — may go up some. On the other hand, a higher net income from broilers is expected. As for turkeys, a larger number is predicted for 1949, giving an improved outlet for hatching eggs, says these specialists.

Clothing stores have recently reported that from 20 to 50 percent of their total pattern sales are for children's clothes.

To hide water spots or other stains on a smooth leather purse, rub it with a colored shoe cream or wax polish, either colored or clear. Shiny spots on a suede bag often may be removed by light rubbing with fine sandpaper.

WRONG NUMBER

A very strict lady was called out of bed one morning at 5 a. m. The following dialog ensued:
Voice—Hello.
Lady—Hello.
Voice—How are you this morning?
Lady—All right.
Voice—Then I guess I must have the wrong number.

THIS 'N' THAT

Wonder why Beulah and Ernest Dale aren't at school today?

The Leaguers went out to Bessie Jo's house Sunday night after League? We go to Kat's and Jo Brown's house next Sunday night.

Beulah, just who did you get a note from Thursday evening? What about this B. B. L.?

John Jay, why weren't you out to the party Saturday night? Bessie Jo, did you have a good time at Billy Ray's and Armenda's house Saturday night?

Jerry, how do you like to ride around in Jane's new pick-up? Bessie says she wants to make a correction referring to last week's paper. She says, "David did not take me home that night. No one did."

Helen, who is this certain curly haired boy you like? Shirley Jo, Jerry, and Bill, we were glad to see you at the party Saturday night.

Katy, how did you like running the kissing booth Friday night? Jane, when did you receive your last letter from him?

Gerald, who was it you called "Honey" on the telephone Saturday night?

Cigar Levitt finally came to the party Saturday night. Couldn't you get your car started? Was Jane happy Saturday night?

Who was the fortune teller from Cuba Friday night? Could it have been Laura Walls?

Jay Dean and R. C., how was Reydon Friday night? Boys where did you get your headaches?

Laura, who was that mysterious letter from? Why do people have to wear white shirts and blouses? Why don't they wear blue sweaters? Shirley Jo, why wouldn't you help Katy and Shirley S. sell kiss-

Stars In Truck Shows

Created especially for display purposes, this strikingly beautiful vehicle is the hit of truck shows throughout the country. The unusual unit has a pick-up glass body mounted on a Chevrolet Forward Control Cutaway Chassis showing the moving parts of the engine and is pictured here with a cargo of flowers and attractive Pat Matheson and Kathleen Doran. Forward Control model trucks are used extensively by department stores, bakeries, florists, cleaners and other establishments in the delivery of many kinds of packaged goods.

appointed Friday night when a certain boy from Canadian didn't come?
Glenna Sue, why did you want to stay in the hall Friday night? Could a certain brown haired boy have been there?
Donna Jo, were you so happy when C. E. McCoy came to town? He wasn't with him.
Punk, who was it you kept talking to over the telephone Saturday night?
Helen, who is this certain curly haired boy you like?
Shirley Jo, Jerry, and Bill, we were glad to see you at the party Saturday night.
Katy, how did you like running the kissing booth Friday night?
Jane, when did you receive your last letter from him?

es Friday night?
Who was it that wouldn't let Edna Mae walk in the mud Friday night?
WHAT IF?
Punk's hair was long?
Edna Mae liked Jimmy?
Lyn didn't like to smoke cigars?
Kenneth's hair wasn't curly?
The juniors and seniors could all learn their plays?
Bobbie could go with Katy?
Jay Dean didn't get proposed to?
Johnny didn't live close to Bette?
Jerry wasn't so cute?
Helen's hair wasn't so pretty?
