

SCHOOL STARTS: DRIVER HAZARD INCREASES TOO

"Give children a brake." This play on words was made today by Sheriff Bus Dorman in behalf of the annual Back-to-School safety program.

"With the arrival of a new school year, the pattern of life for nearly every Texan will undergo a radical change. The size of our school system will bear this out," he said.

The enrollment in Texas' public schools, for the '57-'58 year, is expected to reach 1,883,881 pupils; plus 75,280 teachers, principals, coaches, etc., and more than 8,000 school busses.

"The opening of school doors affects every driver too," Dorman continued. "When he gets behind the wheel of his car, he is sure to notice some differences.

"School areas will be guarded by the police, extra traffic signs and signals, and by Safety Patrol boys. But special care on the part of the individual driver will need to be added."

He then explained that in the hours just before and after school there are increased numbers of bicycle riders, large groups of child pedestrians and many school busses. All of which are signs, within themselves, for added carefulness while driving on our streets and highways.

"In 1956, there were more than 150 students killed in Texas traffic accidents and approximately 8,920 injured," the Sheriff stated. "Of course these are 'just statistics'—unless you or a close member of your family was involved.

"A sense of responsibility and dependability should be a part of the licensed driver's habits. He must recognize that a child can't be relied upon to follow the rules of safety, thus the driver's added alertness must compensate for children's mistakes—'give them a brake!'"

As a short course in safety, Mr. Dorman offered the following five suggestions to motorists:

1. Be alert for children at all times, especially around school zones, playgrounds and other places where children congregate.
2. Know and obey the special warnings given in school areas by signs and signals, traffic police and Safety Patrol boys. Watch for human caution signs in action—the children themselves.
3. Don't be juvenile and try to compete with bike riders—go slow and let them grow.
4. Stop when a school bus stops.
5. THINK safety always.

Bessire-Rutherford Vows Read Recently

Miss Annetta Bessire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Bessire, recently became the bride of Mr. J. R. Rutherford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cap Rutherford in the Church of Christ in Canadian, with Brother Alfred White, officiating.

The double ring ceremony was read before an altar decorated with baskets of pink and white gladioli tied with white satin ribbons and flanked with candelabra.

Mrs. Calvin Issacs, Mrs. Bill Gray, Mrs. Boyd Williams, Mary Bill Williams and Paul Sackett, of Pampa, sang "I Love You Truly," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The candlelighter, Miss Kathryn Cloyd, wore a pale yellow dress of nylon taffeta with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Laura Bessire, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a navy dress trimmed in white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Charles Vincent of Lubbock served the bridegroom as best man.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a sleeveless ballerina length dress of pink lace over pink satin, with blue and white accessories. The fitted bodice was trimmed in pink satin and designed with a scalloped neckline. She carried out the tradition of something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue. The bride carried a white Bible topped with a white rose bud bouquet with white satin streamers.

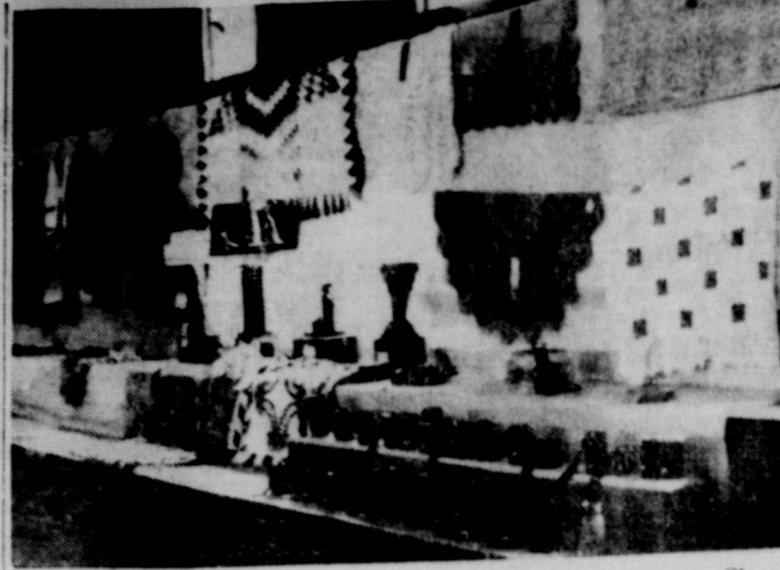

Mrs. Jess Bessire chose for her daughters wedding a two piece navy blue nylon shantung dress trimmed in white with white accessories. Mrs. Rutherford mother of the bridegroom, wore a two piece gray suit with white accessories. Both wore white mum corsages.

Following the wedding, a reception was given in the home of the bride's parents at 302 North 7th Street in Canadian. The serving table was covered with a white lace table cloth over pink, with pink satin bows at each corner of the table.

The centerpiece was an arrangement of pink and white carnations flanked by pink candles in crystal holders.

The focal point of the table was a four-tiered, white wedding cake decorated with pink rosebuds and pink hearts and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. Shirley Hammons served the cake and Mrs. Dora Vincent of Amarillo, sister of the bridegroom poured the punch. Miss Mary Ellen Price registered the guests. Each wore a white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Rutherford attended Allison and Canadian schools and was employed by Bell Telephone Co. before her marriage. Mr. Rutherford

For the wedding trip to Paris of Texas, the bride chose a blue sheath dress with white accessories. They will be at home at 608 West Third Street in Crane.

High Plains Girl Named First Miss REA Of Texas

A High Plains girl is the first Miss Rural Electrification of Texas. She is Sydney Slack of Perryton, seventeen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Slack, Jr.

She was selected from eight finalists from throughout Texas during the Seventeenth Annual Meeting of the Texas Electric Cooperatives, Inc., in San Antonio, August 29-30. She will compete early next year for the national beauty title.

On the business side, rural electric leaders attending the conference highlighted the legislative problems of the electric cooperatives of Texas.

They stressed their dissatisfaction with the so-called "REA bill" passed by the Texas Legislature this spring. They also discussed the need for more favorable legislation in the next session.

An all-time record of 525 members attended the meeting in San Antonio. They heard talks by three legislators, and REA special consultant, and a Texas editor who declared that "Texas politics stinks like a rotten egg that has been broken open."

The editor was Ronnie Dugger of the "Texas Observer." He urged support of a lobby control law such as was advocated by Governor Price Daniel during the last session.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Harris and son of Sayre, Okla., are visiting her mother, Mrs. Alta Barber.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Ford and Glenda left last week to make their home in California.

Wheeler County Soil Conservation District News

Cooperators with the Wheeler District report increasing numbers of game birds this year. The weather has had something to do with this increase even though quail were increasing last year.

Quail numbers run in cycles and the cycle is on the increase. Conservation can give the birds the boost they need on this upswing and make them really abundant for the next few years. The same thing can apply to turkey and prairie chicken.

The conservation reserve land will furnish a lot of cover for the next few years. Cover is usually shorter than food. Some of the good food plants such as bundle-flower, wild lespedezas, partridge-pea, wild beans and tick clovers are legumes. These are good plants to have in pastures as they are soil builders and furnish good grazing. The bird food is an extra bonus.

In September birds will begin the slow migration to their winter home. Some may move short distance others may 4 miles. Very few, if any winter near their nesting in few weeks, don't assume dead. With the plentiful cover available, a good will come back next spring is any grass left in the grounds.

Every game bird pass keep in dead grasshopper. The other insects and destroyed are pure profit. game birds in your coat plans.

Hour Inspection May Save Home

A one-hour inspection of your home may save you from injury, death, or property loss by fire.

The National Fire Protection Association said the inspection should start with the kitchen — checking heating and cooking equipment. Check the living room for frayed wires or an improperly protected fireplace.

Check all wiring in the basement, attic and closets and see that rubbish has not collected. Above all, keep matches, lighters and flammable liquids well out of the reach of children. Fire Chief R. J. Holt, said recently.

The fitted bodice was decorated with rows of silver trimming and raglan sleeves, with blue accessories. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The table was laid with a crocheted cloth made by the bride's grandmother and centered with the three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Silver and crystal adorn the table.

Mrs. Orville Gillespie, Higgins, aunt of the bride, presided at the punch bowl while Mrs. Floyd George of Borger, sister of the bride, served the cake. Aneta George of Borger, niece of the bride, secured names for the guest register.

Housewives Cry for End To Flat Roofs

Flat roofs on homes of the future in most parts of the country are doomed if America's housewives have anything to say about it.

Most of more than 100 delegates to the Women's Congress
on Housing in Washington, D.C., agreed that the home to suit their family needs best should have a pitched roof.

According to Miss Janet Shair, of New York City, one of the discussion leaders, the housewives listed three principal reasons for preferring pitched roofs:
1. Space. A flat roof rules out an attic, while a pitched roof automatically creates attic space which can be used for storage and future expansion to serve a growing family.

2. Ventilation. Pitched roofs permit free circulation of air above the living areas of the house. This is particularly important in summer. Louvers installed in the gables act as an escape hatch for the hot blanket
of air under the roof.

3. Individual appearance.
Pitched roofs normally are covered with colorful asphalt shingles.
Color in roofing helps set
a house apart from its neighbors, even when homes in the area are similar in architectural design and it gives a home-owner opportunity to express his individual taste.

be living. Why didn't you?"

"Can you realize what you've done to us? Until you killed our son we had four wonderful boys
we were proud of. We had a happy home, a good life together.

"Now, because of you, one of our boys is gone forever. He's lying out there in the cemetery, alone. He was never alone in his life until we took him there and left him.

"I can't eat or sleep, all I do when I close my eyes is dream of Stevie. I see him running alongside the road, I see you hitting him. I dream I have him back again and he's just a tiny baby.

"Do you know what he died from? You crushed his little head, you broke his left leg & gave him internal injuries. All that, and you said you were only going 35 miles an hour? Do you know that you knocked him out of his little shoes?"

"Maybe if you could answer the questions I've asked I could forgive you and find peace of mind.
Can you answer them, or is it impossible? Aren't you afraid now to let your children out, for fear someone as careless and heedless
as you might come along and kill them with a car?"

Little girls seem to be "natural-born" little women, right from the start. Laura washes for her dollies just as seriously as if she were tending a "real-life" family. She likes to bake tiny cakes and cookies too, and she has her own way of enforcing discipline when her dollies are "naughty".

Sometimes I'm amazed by her, even if I am her mother. And I am awed at the way God fashioned little girls, so that from the beginning they seem to sense that one day they will be mothers themselves.

When I take Laura to Church with me, she's such a little lady, demure and yet amazingly intent for one her age. I look at her. I see one of God's miracles, and I marvel anew. Watching a child grow is a perpetual lesson in Faith.

Sometimes after Church Laura lines her dolls up on a bench. She tells me that "the dollies are in church."—and I don't feel in the least like chuckling at her childish union. Rather, I am grateful.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
