Magazine Sales

The concluding activities of the seniors of Wheeler School, plan for this fall's magazine subscription program. The campaign is scheduled to start Sept. 2nd and will be worked with the Quality Plan. The profits from the sale of new and re-subscriptions to over 20 quality magazines, including Digest, Life, Time, McCall's, Better Homes and Gardens, Sports Illustrated, will be used for the trip.

Participation in the program affords families in this school area the opportunity to purchase subscriptions through a known source.

It is appreciated as, probably, these families are purchasing the subscriptions anyway, and doing so through the seniors helps to finance the year's trip. As B. K. Barnard, principal, pointed out, seniors sell at regular subscription rates and may also receive a good number of spectators. There is absolute no additional cost, purchased through the school.

The seniors hope for your help and would like to remind you that their Fall subscription program is planned for the same time as last year. Therefore, renewals continue any subscription during last year's program, without loss of time.

We will have a school subscription program, scheduled to start Sept. 2nd. No school before that time. We hope you will save subscriptions, new or old, for the Senior Magazine subscription this fall.

BAD, ALONG WITH THE GOOD: The rains Sunday night did a lot of good, but they were costly in the amount of damage to the county roads. Commissioner O. W. Pendleton (left) reported eight structures damaged in precinct 2. The wash pictured above is located three miles east, two miles north and one mile back east of Wheeler. The wash is 30 feet wide with cost of a temporary structure between $500 and $2,000. Two men with General Telephone Co. are shown uncovering the underground cable which was washed down stream. The men are Gale Gilbreath (left) and Bob Douthit of Memphis. — Wheeler Soil Conservation Photo

36" TINHORN: Commissioner Pendleton looks at the damage to the county road north of the airport. The tinhorn in the picture is 36" in diameter. Labor and equipment to repair the damage is estimated at $400. Good conservation upstream might have prevented the damage to many county roads.

CURB AND GUTTER LOST: 400' of curb and gutter on the 600 block of Seventh Street was washed out by the heavy rain Sunday night. Several yards of loose dirt were used in filling in the street. The curb and gutter had been run, but none of the base for the paving had been applied at the time the heavy rain came.

Bollworm Insect South Plains Area

Bollworms are being found in many cotton fields throughout the South Plains, reports Dr. Bill Clymer, Extension entomologist, and producers should pay particular attention to avoid economic damage from this insect. However, he cautions against spraying if not needed as an application of insecticide will kill the beneficial insects and probably necessitate continuation of spraying at approximately 5 day intervals.

Bollworm adults or moths tend to be more active in lush growth and after the recent rains cotton will be in better condition and more vulnerable to attack. Also, damage may be greater in the younger June planted cotton.

According to past research one bollworm can destroy 8 squares and about 2 bolls, says Clymer. This can be quite an expensive pest when heavy populations are present. Research has shown 2,000 - 2,500 worms per acre are of economic importance. This is about 1.5 to 2 bollworms per ten feet of row.

Producers are urged to check their fields closely by carefully examining plants in several areas across the field. If an average of 2 bollworms per ten feet of row is found, control should be considered. Clymer points out, however, that worms over 1/2" in length are most difficult to control.

Your local county agricultural agent has available insect control guides which give the latest information on when to spray and what chemicals to use. If you are in doubt on control measures do not hesitate to contact your local agent.
