WHEELER TO OBSERVE 75th BIRTHDAY

Former Residents Are Encouraged To Make Plans To Attend

Plans for Wheeler's 75th birthday celebration continue with the naming of committee chairpersons. Overseeing the August 22-24 activities will be the steering committee which will consist of the chairperson from each committee.

For those Wheelers who have moved away, the dates were announced early for you to plan your vacation to include a return visit to Wheeler. We will see that you and the local citizens are entertained and well fed.

The program has not been arranged, but a lot will be included in the three days. Saturday will be the big day with a few activities Friday evening and a community church service Sunday morning. Planned for Saturday will be an Early Settler's Reunion, Fiddlers Concert, a picture show, picture display, street dance, kiddie parade, and barbecue to name a few. At the same time groups and organizations will operate carnival type booths and offer souvenirs and food.

The picture display will be a great deal of interest to everyone, but will take the cooperation of all as will all the activities of the celebration. We have asked in an early edition of the "Times", and will repeat the request. Take time to go through your collection of pictures and make copies of those which you feel would be of interest to others—in fact, make several copies, so each of the "kids" will have a copy. Send one copy to Sallie Harris, chairperson of the picture display; after the celebration, the pictures will be placed in the library for future reference. Note: The pictures do not have to be old; pictures of general interest is what is wanted—the more recent pictures will someday be old. If possible, date the pictures.

Booths will be outside and are limited only to the imagination of the organizations. An effort will be made to eliminate duplication and by contacting Mrs. Steve Walker you can reserve your booth. Here is an opportunity for a church group, club or other organization to earn some money and have a good time at the same time.

A brochure on the history of Wheeler is in the works. Again, this will take the full cooperation of everyone. It is hoped to include a history of the businesses, churches and organizations of which you are a part puts someone in charge of writing the history. Some may already have a history prepared and it will just need to be brought up to date. Harrison Hall is the chairman and should be contacted by the person writing or compiling the historical information.

NOTICE

Harrison Hall reminds those purchasing advertising in Wheeler's 75th birthday brochure that the time is near for turning in the information. A history of the business and building it occupies is needed.

MURDER TRIAL BEGINS IN WHEELER MONDAY

Russell Eugene Galler from Minnesota went on trial in Wheeler Tuesday morning.

He is charged with murder in a shooting incident which occurred March 19 west of Shamrock on Interstate 40.

The jury for the trial was selected Monday and the state started and completed its testimony Tuesday. The defense began testimony Wednesday morning.

The jury consists of five women and seven men.

CITY ORDINANCE CONCERNING FIREWORKS

The Fourth of July is upon us and once again, we hear the explosions of fireworks. The City of Wheeler has an ordinance concerning the shooting of fireworks. The shooting of fireworks is prohibited "on the square or within 3 blocks of the square" or "within 300 feet of any business".

Punishment for violation of the ordinance is a fine. The maximum fine is $100.

Be aware also of the dry weather. Each year the Wheeler Volunteer Fire Department is called to extinguish one or more fires set by fireworks.

Evolution of Wheeler FIRST SCHOOL

A one-room school was built on Sec. 41, Blk. A-8 in 1900 not far from the head of a little stream called Broncho Creek.

The first teacher was Miss Emma Wine. She says in a letter: "During the winter of 1901-02, I taught in Broncho School. It was a one-room, one-teacher school. All the furniture, as well as the building itself, was built by the men of the community. We had a little stove in the corner of the room, and the drinking water was carried from a nearby spring. The fuel was shinnery roots and cow chips.

Needless to say, the teacher secured the wood and the water, built the fires, did the sweeping—in fact all the janitor work—as well as holding classes.

"I recall only four families of children attending this school and I taught everything from beginners to and including high school. Judge Grigsby was the county Judge and Ex-officio County Superintendent at that time.

Within the next two or three years, several more families moved in and a community sprang up a ways north of the school site. There were now more newcomers than old timers and the new people thought the school should be moved nearer the new community. But, this made the distance too great for the children of the original families. Besides, they had built the school and felt the newcomers should build a school of their own and leave theirs alone.

A meeting was called for March 5, 1904 to discuss and vote on the issue. Feelings ran high that day. There was a ditch in the school yard and when they took the vote; it was done Alamo fashion. Each man standing on one or the side of the ditch. W.M. Hampton did not want to vote; so he laid down in the ditch. The majority voted against the move.

After the town of Wheeler came into being; the building was moved again, an addition built on and was finally destroyed by fire.

Maudie Chance Rites Are Today

Mrs. Maudie Irene Chance, 79, died Tuesday, July 1, 1980.

Services will be held at 2:00 p.m. Thursday, July 3 at the Christian Center with Rev. Denzil Leonard pastor of the First Baptist church in Yukon, OK will officiate. Burial will be in Wheeler Cemetery under the direction of Wright Funeral Home.

Mrs. Chance was born in Anson and moved to Wheeler in 1947. She married Joe Chance in 1921 in Fort Smith, Ark.

Survivors include her husband; two sons, A. M. Chance of Sweetwater and Billy Joe Chance of Houston; two daughters, Mrs. Helen Woody of Clarendon and Mrs. Charlene Turner of Pampa; two brothers, Lee Thompson of Oklahoma and Willie Thompson of California; three sisters, Mrs. May McIntire, Mrs. Joyce Shelton and Mrs. Florence Cox, all of Anson; 10 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be her grandsons.

RADISH: Francis Hefley of 1108 S. Canadian brought a radish from her garden to the Times office Monday. The vegetable was a little different from most you find in local gardens. The Chinese Radish measured 3 inches across and 14 inches in length. The foliage measured 24 inches across and resembled a dandelion. The produce is very mild and is quite good cooked in a meat broth. Mrs. Hefley planted several of these in the row with her other radishes.

STRAIGHT DOWN: The auto, bottom left, left the roadway early about 7:45 Wednesday morning and dropped off a 20 foot embankment — almost straight down. The car came to rest on its wheels against the bridge abutment.

ONE CAR ACCIDENT: Four Mobeetic men returning from work near Sayre were involved in a one car accident east of Mobeetic on Highway 152 early Wednesday morning. The auto left the road and dropped down a 20 foot embankment and struck a bridge abutment. One man, Harvey Greene, climbed to road to summon help, as the accident was completely hidden from view; he was taken by private vehicle to Parkview Hospital. Wheeler Ambulance was called to the scene and the three remaining at the wreck were brought by ambulance to Parkview for treatment and possible transfer. The extent of injuries were not known at press time.

Here & There

Laura Guthrie

In the days before air-conditioned houses and cars and how did we stand the heat? May be we just didn't have such hot weather. Then again maybe we weren't such pansies as we are now. We didn't know luxury, and our constitutions were hard enough to stand nature elements.

But folks do get around. Air conditioned cars make it more pleasant. Last week Clarence and Hestelle Killingsworth hopped about all over the country. Their first stop was with an aunt and uncle in Chillicothe. After a nights rest they took their hosts with them and stopped overnight with a cousin, Mrs. Blanch Lewis in Hastings, Oklahoma. This cousin joined the party and they drove to Duval to see Mrs. Cecil Keter, another cousin. They reversed the route, delivering passengers they had picked up. In Chillicothe they spent another night. At home they got busy with the water hose to try to put life back into their over-heated garden and yard.

For people over sixty most of the family reunions are of cousins. Elva Wood has just returned from a gathering in Houston. There was an assemblage of 43 cousins - the Willard side of the family. I'm sure there was a lot of activity, but Elva brought home "The Willard Cookbook." Now she is trying out new recipes.

Little Miss Carlene Britten of Groom is spending three weeks with her grandparents, Fred and Elva Wood.

The S.L. Iveys have had a seige of company, but I don't know of anybody that enjoys it more. Early in June their two daughters, Mrs. Bill Fisher and Mrs. Louise Melburg who live in Cheyenne, Wyoming, came, also two granddaughters, Mrs. Carol Farentola, Jasper, Wyoming and Mrs. Janet Adams, Cheyenne, and her grand daughter Kristie. (Best I can figure there is four generations) A grandson, Bobby Fisher and two sons from Midland showed up in the middle of the week. Then Bob Fisher and his mother from Yucca, Arizona spent a few hours with the party. Mrs. Ivy says they had most enjoyable time just visiting.

It was a pleasant surprise to get to visit with Mrs. Grace Meek for a few minutes Sunday afternoon. Grace is traveling with her son Wendell and wife Cleo. They have been several weeks in Iowa visiting with Wendall's daughters. Coming to Wheeler briefly, Grace stayed with Celeste Wiley while Wendell and Cleo went to Albuquerque to see Cleo's brother who is ill.

They returned to Houston early in the week.

Wade Childress of Pampa is spending the week with his grandparents, Adrian and Dorothy Risner.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stas and Jennifer, and Mr. and Mrs. Greg Christner went to the Stas reunion in Oklahoma last weekend.

Mr. B.T. Clemens and Mr. Fred Grimes spent Sunday in Amarillo, carrying on their work as Gideons.

Mr. and Mrs. Clemens have their grandchildren from Amarillo this week.

Frances Nowland is spending some time with her sister, Mary Woford.

More than 900 West Texas State University students received degrees during spring graduation exercises for the class of 1980.

The 930 students included bachelor's degree recipients and 114 who received Master's degrees. Seven students received the Master of Science in Nursing degree which was awarded for the first time. The program began in the School of Nursing in 1978.

The graduate from Mobeetic is Lallie E. Webb, a business major, received the Bachelor of Business Administration degree, Route 1.

The graduates from Wheeler are Margaret E. Bryant, a nursing major, received the Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree, Route 1; William A. McWhorter, a geology major, receive the Bachelor of Science degree, 800 S. Main.

Battons Join Hereford Group

James and Kay Batton of Mobeetic have been accepted into membership of the Texas Hereford Association.

The association, headquartered in Fort Worth, is the oldest state breed association in the world, having continuously served the Hereford breeders of Texas since its founding in 1899.

The Hereford breed, one of the oldest in the United States, is well known for its high fertility, ability to adapt to extremes in climates, and its ability to convert grass and grain to beef efficiently.

Conservation Cleaning
So you missed "spring" cleaning this year — after all rainy days aren't the best incentive.

Then do some "summer" housecleaning — and this year, make it "conservation cleaning" with energy savings in mind.

Clean 'Big Energy' Users
Pay lots of attention to your heaviest energy users — such as furnaces, air conditioners and major appliances. That includes the clothes washer and dryer and the refrigerator and freezer.

Energy-saving cleaning also means maintenance — like drivebelt tightening or lubrication — to help your appliances work more efficiently and last longer.

Start With Furnace
Start with the furnace. Since the average household furnace uses about half the total family energy consumption in a year, give it top priority.

You won't use the furnace until next fall, but now's the time to get it in shape.

Make sure the filter is clean — and promise yourself you'll clean the filter or change it every two months when you're using the furnace. This can save much money.

Some filters just need a tapping and a good vacuuming for cleaning — or you can wash them with a hose or under a faucet.

Most are disposable now. Also, lubricate electric motors, fans and pumps according to the manufacturer's directions. Use oil sparingly once or twice a year.

Check all the drive belts for proper tension. If belts are properly adjusted, you should be able to press them together one-half to one inch. Replace cracked or frayed belts.

Clean Air conditioner
Clean the air conditioner next.

Inspect the filter. Clean it or replace it every month during the cooling season.

Make sure the condenser is clean. If not, the unit will have to run longer to do the job. Regular lubrication is important, here, too, if required by the manufacturer.

Have a professional repairman check the air conditioner every other year.

Other Energy Savers
Here are some other energy-saving things you can do:

Keep the condenser coils on your refrigerator and freezer clean — to help them work their best during the hot summer months when demands on them are heaviest.

Think about repainting the walls with lighter colors to reflect more light and reduce lighting costs.

Keep all lighting equipment clean. Dust and soil reduce lighting efficiency.

Check lampshades for discoloration. White reflects more light. If the insides of your shades have darkened, clean the shades, reline them or replace them.

Draperies, kept closed, will go a long way toward keeping hot summer sun from heating your home — and they will reduce air-conditioning costs.

In winter, they can help keep out cold air, and that reduces heating costs. Make sure your draperies are clean and in good condition for the greatest efficiency.

"Summer" cleaning means heavy laundry chores, too — bedspreads, curtains, blankets and other bedding. Be sure to use full washer loads to save energy.

For heavily soiled items, use hot water. For the rest use warm or cool water to save energy, if possible.

Line drying is fashionable again, so cut even more energy costs by drying clothes outdoors in good weather.

During balmy days of late spring and early summer, save energy by opening windows more and using air conditioning less — but make sure your screens are clean to allow optimum air circulation.

COUNTY AGENTS Report

JOE DON KING County Extension Agent

Check Cotton For Insect Damage

Cotton producers should be checking cotton for thrips damage. Once cotton reaches the 4th and 5th true leaf stage, it is generally past being damaged by thrips.

As cotton grows into the squaring stage, producers need to begin to check for fleahoppers. Fleahoppers are 1/8 inch long and pale green. Nymphal fleahoppers are smaller, lack wings and are whitish in color. In order to detect these pests, one must carefully approach the cotton plant; otherwise, at the slightest disturbance, the fleahopper will fly from or crawl down the cotton plant and not be noticed. During the first three weeks of squaring, an insecticide application is needed if 25 or more fleahoppers per 100 terminals are found.

Grasshopper Situation

The grasshopper hatch should be complete by now. Producers and home owners should watch for grasshopper damage.

Those who have a grasshopper problem can call the County Extension office for insecticide recommendations. Consider Farm Grain Storage Investments. Due to economic, marketing and agricultural policy developments, grain producers might consider investing in additional on-farm storage.

Worth Friday people dying from heat. I tried to think back when we was having all that ice but it don't help much.

David and Winnie Gilmer, Tonya, Julie and Davy visited Maurine Falls, and her mother Mrs. Post in Sayre, OK last Wednesday. Winnie and kids spent the day with them while David attended a Tool pusher meeting in Elk City (Winnie lived with Mrs. Post while attending Jr. college in Sayre. Mrs. Pat is suffering from a stroke, so they visit them as often as possible). Jan Bonanon also came over and visited while Winnie was there.

Millie Williams and girls visited David and Winnie Gilmer and kids Sunday evening. David and Winnie Gilmer and children spent the weekend at Skip-Out while there they visited and fished with Mr. and Mrs. Gene Keelin and Daniel and Mr. and Mrs. Danny McNeil and children. Sunday afternoon they visited Venson and Fry Smith and helped celebrated Venson's birthday. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hand and James L. Smith were also there.

Domestic and worldwide production uncertainties, increasing volumes of stored grain with the resulting decrease in available commercial storage space, uncertain transportation during harvest, and grain embargos are just a few factors that make the flexibility of on-farm grain storage more important.

Besides being an alternative for adjusting to various uncertainties, on-farm grain storage may represent an essential building block for the producer who intends to assume an increasingly greater role in marketing his grain commodities.

In general, grain storage is profitable whenever the expected seasonal increase in price is greater than the cost of storing the commodity over the specified time period. In evaluating the pay-off of farm grain storage, there are a number of principles and considerations provided by farm management specialists:

1. If in a planning situation (before erecting the grain storage facility), the average seasonal increase in the grain price should be adequate to cover the per bushel or per hundred weight fixed cost and variable cost of storing grain.

2. In the planning stage, the producer should identify commercial grain facilities within his immediate area and determine the year-round availability and cost of that storage.

In this stage, the producer may be ill-advised to erect on-farm storage if his projected total fixed and variable cost is greater than the cost of commercial storage, with all other factors equal.

3. If the grain bins are already installed and the producer considers storing grain, then the seasonal increase in the price of his grain must at least exceed the amount of his variable cost per hundred weight or per bushel. In this situation, since the fixed cost must be incurred whether the facilities are used or not, fixed costs are irrelevant in deciding whether to store grain.

4. A producer who already has on-farm grain storage would choose commercial storage over his own only if his variable costs of storage exceed the cost of using commercial storage.

5. Numerous factors which influence investment requirements and variable costs would be expected to differ from farm to farm and from year to year. Interest on the grain investment, for instance, is influenced by the value of the grain, interest rate and length of the storage period.

6. Due to the size of Texas and the resulting variation in harvest dates for a given commodity, published state monthly average prices may be inappropriate for establishing the seasonal price pattern at a specific location. Ideally, one should use price data specific to that location. Rather than assuming that the producer is always able to sell for the highest price during the storage period, assume that he will realize the average of prices established during that period.

7. If farm grain storage appears unprofitable, one should consider the size of the grain storage facility evaluated. Smaller systems appear to be relatively more expensive to buy and operate per hundred weight or bushel than larger systems.

8. Although investment in grain storage facilities may be projected to be profitable, the ability of the firm to meet the cash flow requirements of servicing the debt must be established. In addition, storing the grain after harvest rather than selling at harvest as usual will affect the firm's cash flow pattern as established in previous years.

9. Profitable grain storage depends upon management maintaining good quality control over stored grain. Otherwise deteriorating grain quality may eliminate any gains from seasonal price increases.

10. Other benefits and considerations are that onfarm storage may increase harvesting efficiency selling grain through livestock or in small lots offers flexibility, and income tax advantages include investment credit and depreciation and the opportunity for timing sales.

It is important to include these principles and considerations in making correct investment decisions that will pay off in the future. Call Goes Out For "Worm" Samples

The "S.O.S." call is going out to all stockmen over the state—that's "Send, oh Send" any worm samples found in livestock wounds.

The reason for the appeal is that worm samples are coming in slowly to the USDA Screw-worm Eradication Laboratory at Mission and prime screw-worm season is at hand.

The only way for officials of the screwworm program to successfully attack the flesh-eating pest is to first identify worm samples as positive and to know location of all possible cases through ranchers' reports. Then some recently developed insecticide pellets can be air-dropped to kill adult flies followed by an air-drop of sterile screwworm flies.

The insecticide pellets, known as the Screwworm Adult Suppression System (SWASS), quickly reduce populations of wild screwworm flies in an area. This enables sterile flies which are then dropped to "do their thing." Female screwworm flies that mate with sterile males produce eggs that will not hatch—and the females usually mate only once.

Since sterile flies are no longer air-dropped routinely in Texas, it's especially imperative for stockmen and pet owners to check their animals closely on a regular basis and to submit any worms that may be found in wounds. With most of the screwworm eradication fight now being conducted 100 miles or more south of the border in Mexico, individual stockmen are now the first line of defense against this destructive pest.

Only one positive case of screwworms has been confirmed in the United States this year so far, that one being in Coleman County, Texas, in April. However, unless everyone keeps their guard up and submits worm samples as soon as possible, it could be a costly summer. Worm samples can be sent to the Mission Lab in postage-free mailing kits available from veterinarians and the county Extension office. Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

MORE ABOUT BOOKS, Etc.

Wheeler Public Library
Wanda King, Librarian

During these hot summer days would be a good time to come and explore the library. We have all kinds of things to incite one's imagination. We have a collection for all ages and interests. We are receiving new books all the time and know that we have a little something for everyone.

We have been receiving a good number of the books that we are using for memorials. Memorials are established remembrances of persons both living or deceased. After a memorial is purchased for the library in a given person's name, we try to find a book that would be applicable to that person's interest. For example, in memory of Nell Rogers, we purchased Fire Engines Firefighters, the Men Equipment, and Machines, from Colonial Days to the Present by Paul C. Ditzel. Another example, we purchased a Medical Dictionary in the name of Peggy Puryear. Inside the books there are a small certificate that tells the presentors as well as the persons name that was given the memorial.

Memorials are a good way of having a lasting remembrance for those that we care for and in the case of the library, it also enlarges our book collection in a way that might not be met in other ways. Memorials are also tax deductible.

The J. Frank Dobie Trust Fund is the source of the monies the Wheeler Public Library won in early spring. The library now has three of his books in our collection. They are (1) The Longhorns, (2) Some Part of Myself and (3) Coronado's Children. These books will make some interesting reading to those that enjoy Texas history.

CORONADO'S CHILDREN
Tales of Lost Mines and Buried Treasures of the Southwest, by J. Frank Dobie. University of Texas Press. 329 pages.
Written in 1930, Coronado's Children was one of J. Frank Dobie's first books, and the one which helped gain him national prominence as a folklorist. In it, he recounts the tales and legends of those hardy souls who searched for buried treasure in the Southwest, following in the footsteps of that earlier gold seeker, the Spaniard Coronado.

"These people," Dobie writes in his introduction, "no matter what language they speak, are truly Coronado's inheritors. . . I have called them Coronado's Children. They follow Spanish trails, buffalo trails, cow trails; they dig where there are no trails; but oftener than they dig or prospect they just sit and tell stories of lost mines, of buried bullion by the jack loan. . ."

This is the tale-spinning Dobie at his best, dealing with subjects as irresistible as ghost stories and haunted houses.

A Bit Of History

Little Stories
About Wheeler County
In The 20's

Last June a hailstorm totally destroyed every field of growing crops within a seven or eight-mile radius in the community of Kelton, Wheeler county. On the day following the storm neighbors got together and made plans for repairing the damage. On an appointed day every farmer for miles around brought teams and plows and in one day every storm-punished field was plowed and planted to the finest grain-sorghum seed in the county. The writer saw those fields while on a recent visit in the county and they looked as though they had responded to the neighborly kindness by giving their best harvests. Even though planted so late in the season the fine stand of enormous heads of grain sorghums promises to harvest something like a ton to the acre. Had each farmer been obliged to depend on upon his own individual efforts at the time of the hail devastation not a tenth part of the fields could have been planted in time to make a crop. "A friend loveth at all times and a brother is born for adversity."

A Lasting Memorial
The people of Heald and Pakan communities have set out shade trees on the grounds of their schools and churches in memory of the soldier boys who did not come home from France. Each tree bears the name of a soldier boy, and all the people of the community unite in making that tree a living monument to the boy it commemorates. The trees are carefully guarded from harm by stray animals, by insect pests or plant diseases. They are watchfully tended. Plenty of water and abundant fertilizer is supplied to enable them to grow at their best. Many towns and communities throughout the United States have set out trees as monuments to their loved, lost soldier boys, but not all of them have given the trees the constant care they need to keep them growing.

A Stranger In A Strange Land
Within the last year a family consisting of a father, mother and seven children moved to Wheeler county from a malarial country. Before the family had become fairly settled in the farm home they had rented the mother was stricken with typhoid fever. Kind neighbors at once came into the home, tenderly nursed the woman and at her death ministered with friendly kindness to the sorrowing family. Then one by one the seven children became ill. Under a good doctor's direction the neighbors took turns in nursing and employed the children was brought back to health.

Neighborly Kindness

There is a little rural club of Christian women in Wheeler county which has for its daily motto the words, "Good Cheer." Not long ago each member of this club gave one hen from her flock of chickens to be sold for a fund toward the purchase of a wheelchair for the invalid child of a widowed neighbor. The hen sale brought $46, the chair was procured and now the little invalid enjoys more good cheer than when she was obliged to lie in bed all the long day as well as the night. Each day she is lifted into her wheelchair chair and can propel herself around the house and even out onto the porch.

Last fall the mother of three small children died. The members of this club decided to attend to the family sewing for the winter. All-day sewing bees, from time to time, provided sufficient clothing and quilts for the comfort of the family, and the family storeroom was kept supplied with canned products, because each member of the club shared the things she had put up and at Christmas-time each mother in the club (every club member is a mother) remembered the motherless ones when she was preparing Christmas happiness for her own children.

Good Will Meetings

There are a number of community clubs in Wheeler County and each one has frequent gatherings which they call "Good will meeting". These meetings are usually held in the school-house and the purpose is purely social. Just a good time and the kind of a good time that father, mother and the children can enjoy together.

The people of the county have another kind of "goodwill meeting," too, though they do not call them by that name. When a protracted meeting is being conducted by anyone of the various church denominations the members of all the other denominations drop their work and attend the meetings with as much interest and as punctual regularity and give as freely as though the meeting were their own church function.

Community Co-Operation

Communities are also co-operating in their buying and selling. And they are interesting themselves in civic undertakings, such as the improvement of their church and school properties and the betterment of school conditions. Plans are now under way for consolidating a number of small schools into larger schools with better equipment and superior opportunities for the children. They are holding community fairs, too. This month there will be five one-day fairs, starting this Monday at Center, Tuesday at Locust Grove, then Mobeetie, Kelton and Wheeler, in turn and the best exhibits from each of these fairs will be shown at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo, Sept. 25-29.

Extension Service Work In The County

The A&M College Extension Service is doing some exceptionally fine work in the county. A number of representative business men told me that the farming interests of the county had been greatly benefited through the county agent influence in stressing diversified farming and greater sociability in country life. Also much of the present prosperity of the county is traced to the increased poultry industry interest that has followed the activities of the county poultry association which is a product of the extension service.

More than one-eighth of the people of Wheeler County are members of extension service clubs. The county has a population of 8,250. Miss Ollie Terry, home demonstration agent, has 200 girls and 117 women enrolled in her home demonstration clubs and the county agent, N.R. Tisdale, has 641 boys under his instruction in the boys' club work. Sterling Evans, State leader of boys' club work, states that this enrollment will probably lead the State in county enrollment this season. Last year Wheeler Co. stood first in the State in the enrollment of boys in proportion to the population of the county and fourth in the State in point of actual numbers.
