Here & There

Laura Guthrie
Traffic! People are on the move. Sometimes to cross Hwy 152, you must wait for ten or more cars. I wonder what I-40 is like?

Some of the people stop in our town, a lot of people have guests. Willie Mae Stevens sister is here from Oklahoma. Today along with a sister from Shamrock are going to Springer, N. M. to visit still a brother and sister. Later in the week a brother and his wife from Shamrock will join them there. As often as those girls get together, they must have a lot of fun.

Clara Finsterwald Holmes from Albuquerque is visiting with her brother Milton and Katie Finsterwald and other relatives. In fact the ranch house is just Clara's headquarters. She and Katie are doing a lot of running around. We've seen her here with friends several times and expect to see her a lot more.

Today, I understand they are going to Berger to see friends.

Grace Porter and Vida Brown returned Saturday night from a two-week trip to Alaska. They went by air, but during the tour they had the experience of travel by bus, train and ship. (Four days on the high sea.) They had a great time, but of course, they are glad to be home. (We are glad, also.)

Last week I failed to report that Shelby and Grace Pettit, Gladys Reeves (Shelby's sister) of Duncan, Oklahoma and Ida Farmer, have recently had a two-week trip to Merced, California. They visited Grace's sisiter and did a lot of fun driving.

On the weekend Ida Farmer accompanied the Clark Regains to Odessa to visit relatives. Ida visited with a brother. That rounded out her visits with all her sisters and brothers in the past few weeks. Soon she will board a plane to visit (again) with her son, Glen, wife Janet, and the grandchildren.

Children of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Noah, and other relatives, are meeting this weekend for a reunion in Duncanville, Texas. Gladys Koher, of Canton, Ohio, and Frances Nowland of Albuquerque, are here with their sister Mary Wofford. On Wednesday Josephine (Noah) and Bill Sides of Jacksonville, Fla. will arrive here and proceed to Duncanville. Their daughters, Mrs. Jim Woods and Lugene Sides will be with them. Bob and Bill Noah and families Amarillo and Patsy (Noah) Hardecave of Sherman will join the caravan. Everybody is looking forward to a great time.

On the weekend Reba Wofford was so pleased to have her aunt, Mrs. Ruth Jett, and her daughters, Marie Jett and Reland Taylor, from Tulsa, as her house guests. Reba has just finished up with a fresh job of interior decorating, so she could entertain "without a speck of dust showing", (as if ever you could find a speck of dust in Reba's house.)

Mrs. Essie Finsterwald has come home from an Amarillo Hospital, after having a broken hip repaired. She is doing quite well.

Chip Hill is also home from an Amarillo Hospital, having suffered injury from a freak injury with tractor and dog. See Chip. He will tell you about it.

Mrs. Opal Armstrong is now in Amarillo Hospital suffering injuries from a tractor accident. I am not informed as to the extent of damage.

Plans are being made to have a formal opening of the Mobeetie Museum in the near future. Anyone able and willing is invited to come and help with the final painting to speed the opening time. We are having many visitors every day even tho it is not ready thanks to all of them for coming to see the 'Historic Mobeetie Jail.'

Be sure to attend the opening of the Shamrock Museum, Saturday, July 1, 1978. The program will be presented from 8:00 to 9:00 in the cool of the evening.

Sen. Benson Aide Visits In Wheeler

Senator Bentsen will be receiving a specially prepared report on Wheeler and its problems as a result of a visit Thursday, June 15th by his "Travelling office".

Senator Bentsen's representative, Bob Block, met with County Judge Wendell Morgan and Mayor Pete Burton during the morning to discuss local matters and federal programs available to small cities.

Block met with local citizens at the County Courthouse during afternoon. He noted that Senator Bentsen began the Travelling Office project to learn from Texas citizens which federal programs and regulations are of particular concern.

In his statement announcing the program, Bentsen noted that contact with constituents, particularly in rural counties, is one of his highest priorities.

"I represent all the people of Texas, whether they live in Houston, Dallas, or Wheeler. Hopefully, the Travelling Office program will help me learn more about how Texans feel about Federal programs and will assist in my efforts to help individual citizens overcome specific problems they have run into in their dealings with the Federal government," Bentsen said.

O. ARMSTRONG IS CRITICAL AFTER TRACTOR ACCIDENT

Opal Armstrong of the Kelton Community remains in critical condition in St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo following an accident at her home Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Armstrong is being treated for internal injuries she received when she was pinned under a brushbeater. The 72-year-old Mrs. Armstrong was cutting the weeds around the outbuildings at her home nine miles east and one north of Wheeler Friday evening. Around 4:30 a piece of wire became tangled in the machinery. Mrs. Armstrong lifted the brushbeater and killed the tractor. She crawled under the cutter and was in the process of removing the wire when the lift failed, before she could get out of the way, the entire weight of the equipment was resting on her abdomen.

Mrs. Armstrong remained under the brushbeater for 3 1/2 hours. The accident happened just off the Kelton Highway and the tractor was visible to passing motorists, but Mrs. Armstrong could neither be seen nor heard. A little before 8, Edgar Blocker went to the Armstrong residence to tell the lady of his wife's expected release from the hospital; he found and freed his neighbor.

The North Wheeler County Ambulance was called and Mrs. Armstrong was brought to Parkview Hospital where she was treated and kept for observation. Saturday morning at 4 a.m., she was transferred by ambulance to St. Anthony's Hospital.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

DEAR EDITOR:

On July 8, 1978, we, the citizens of Wheeler, are going to be given the privilege to vote a bond to pave 51 blocks of streets in town.

The question arises—is this necessary? I for one think so, if we plan to progress and grow.

As we are becoming aware, a loan to build a home is becoming almost impossible to obtain if the lot isn't located on paving. If you have been 'not hunting you know such places are hard to find.

If we have the paving project I believe there will be some building sites available. Beside this, the City is spending LOTS of tax monies trying (and I say trying) to keep the streets in repair now and this is next to impossible. There are lots of man hours put into the street maintenance and as far as I can see it's practically fruitless. Every year when the rains come a big portion of our streets go down the creek.

Next problems is—the property owners portion of cost is too high. I realize there are lots of people who live on fixed incomes and this will be a burden. But go to some of the ones who paid for it in our last paving encounter and ask if they would like to go back to the good ole days of unpaved, muddy streets in front of their property. Not a one will say they do. Therefore the improvement to comfort and property value out weighs the cost. I know it will be a burden, but your children would probably be glad to help in order to have paving by your property when they come to visit you. Ask them and see what they say.

In the last five years we have seen some of our young people returning to make their home here. We need these young people in order to progress and keep our town going, so lets help them have a place to raise a family in, that they won't be looking for a more aggressive town.

We need paving and the bond issue needs your vote so get out and vote for paving—Saturday, July 8, 1978.

KINGS KOMMENTS

By Joe Don King CEA

FERTILIZER NEEDED FOR TOP HAY PRODUCTION

Most Texas farmers and ranchers are faced with empty hay barns and need to harvest a bumper crop this year. However, that potential depends on two things—fertilizer and rain.

Producers can't do much about the moisture situation unless they have an irrigation system. However, they can and should fertilize their hay crops.

There are several reasons why producers shouldn't spare the fertilizer on hay crops this year. In addition to the hay shortage, cattle prices are up, which means that a good supply of hay will pay dividends this fall and winter. Also, fertilizer prices are reasonable and supplies are adequate.

Chances of rainfall remain good during June before the hot summer sets in. So fertilizer should be applied as soon as possible to take advantage of any moisture that comes. Of course, waiting on rain before fertilizing will not help much. If the rain doesn't come, all is not lost. Most of the fertilizer usually remains for rain that will come sooner or later. Not nearly as much of the fertilizer is lost as is commonly thought by many producers.

VEGETABLE INSECTS ALERT GARDENERS WITH FEEDING SYMPTOMS

Wheeler—One of the best ways to protect your vegetables from insect injury is to recognize symptoms of early feeding, says Don King, Wheeler County Extension agent.

The tender, succulent leaves of young vegetable plants are very attractive to insects, King said. Insect feeding on seedlings and transplants can severely stunt early growth.

"Recognition of early signs of such feeding will help the gardener determine what insects to look for and, once the insect is identified, to take prompt and correct control measures," the Extension agent said.

King noted that some insects, either through coloration or size, can hide from the keenest eye. "The tomato hornworm, for example, may chew one or two leaves from a tomato plant before it is noticed," he said. Left undetected, it can consume half of a young plant overnight.

Another example is thrips, which are difficult to see without a magnifying glass. Early feeding by thrips is usually signaled by stunting and distortion of new leaves emerging from the center of the plant. Early detection and control of thrips vital to assure optimum growth and productivity of the plant.

The ability to diagnose feeding patterns of various vegetable insects is important, especially to new gardeners who may not have learned to identify the various insects that will feed on their vegetables, the county agent said. Being able to identify early damage provides clues as to what insects gardeners should be looking for.

When the stem of a newly emerged bean seedling or recently transplanted tomato has been cut off about one-half to one inch above the ground, the gardener knows that a cutworm is lurking in the soil near the surface.

Small pinholes in the leaves of young seedlings are usually caused by beetles. Fleabeetles chew holes in radish foliage and the leaves of newly transplanted tomatoes, peppers, and eggplants. If allowed to go uncontrolled, they can severely sap the strength of these young plants by destroying the leaf area.

The imported cabbageworm, the cabbage looper and other worms signal their activity by chewing small to large single holes in the outer leaves of cabbage, broccoli and related crops.

It is advisable to initiate control measures when this injury is first seen, the Extension agent said. These worms will move toward the center growth of the developing cabbage head where they will be protected from insecticides by the cupped head leaves.

Adnormal dwarfing of tomato plants and stunting of the terminal growth, accompanied by curling of the leaves and purple coloration of leaf veins indicate the presence of curly top virus disease. This virus is transmitted to young tomato plants by a leafhopper.

It is always a good idea in this

READ AND HEED WARNINGS ON LABELS

Be a label reader and live! Every year there are thousands of serious accidents and fires caused by failure to observe warnings printed on containers of flammable lacquers, finishes, paint removers, thinners, mastics, cleaners and similar materials, according to reports studied by the international center of fire safety.

Before you use materials of this kind, NFPA urges, give the label a good, careful reading. If it contains a flammable solvent, the label will carry a warning. Your own safety depends on your heeding that warning.

Materials safest to use are marked "Non-combustible" or "Non-flammable." If there is a choice, use materials labeled this way.

Whenever you must work with materials of any kind labeled "Flammable" or "Combustible" follow these rules and be fire-safe, NFPA advises: Work in a well-ventilated area, preferably outside; shut off and pilots, stoves and other flame-producing devices in the area; and don't smoke!

Bill Tell Zortman Named President

Bill Tell Zortman, News Director of KVII-TV in Amarillo, has been named President of United Press International Broadcasters in Texas for 1978-1979.

Zortman served as one of seven regional Vice-Presidents during 1977-1978 and was chosen head of the 190 UPI Texas Broadcast outlets at the wire service convention staged recently in Amarillo.

Zortman becomes the first Iowa transplant chosen in 23 years to head UPI Broadcasters in the Lone Star State. The Amarillo News Director grew up in Onawa, Iowa and later attended the University of Iowa, Amarillo College, and is now a senior at West Texas State University.

The KVII-TV news operation also boasts of continuing to have the highest rated 6:00 and 10:00 News show of any station in the country where there are three or more VHF television stations.

KVII-TV at the Texas UPI Convention captured three of the four statewide awards for television stations in cities under 300,000 population. KVII won Best Spot News, Best Editorial, and Best Public Affairs Documentary News Director Zortman anchored the documentary set on location by Mark Baker at Omaha, Nebraska when Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland met with members of the American Agriculture Movement.

Zortman delivered the Editorial chastising public officials for hiding behind the Fifth Amendment rather than telling the truth to their citizens. The Best Spot News was a six part report that covered five minutes on tornado damage at two schools 100 miles apart, structural damage to three other communities and flood damage in Western Oklahoma.

Zortman has been with KVII-TV since January 1970 and after serving as Man-in-Motion, Hotline Editor, and Sports Director, was named News Director in May 1975.

Protect Against Sunburn

Follow a few easy tips to protect against sunburn.

A tan has become synonymous with health and youth, but too much sun can cause sunburn, the skin to age more rapidly and also, skin cancer.

For those who are still determined to get a suntan, follow these suggestions to help avoid some of the problems:

- (1) Avoid exposure to the sun for too long during the strongest sunlight hours. Strongest sunlight hours for the Southwest are 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.
- (2) Certain drugs, hormones and heavy metals in a person's system may cause the skin to be extra sensitive to ultraviolet rays of the sun.

These drugs include certain antibiotics, tranquilizers, sulfa drugs, some birth control pills and some drugs prescribed for treating ringworm and high blood pressure.

Check with a physician or pharmacist for more information on drug-sun interactions.

(3) A beach umbrella does not provide full protection from the sun. The sun's rays are reflected from sand, water, a patio floor or boat deck.

(4) Sunburn can occur on a cloudy day. Up to 80 percent of the sun's rays can penetrate the clouds.

(5) Protect the most vulnerable body areas such as the nose and lips with a sunscreen preparation. Also, bald men need to protect their heads.

(6) Wear a pair of good sunglasses to protect the eyes. Medium to dark grey lenses provide less color distortion than other colors which are used to tint lenses.

(7) Drink enough water when the temperature gets high to replenish the liquid lost in sweating. Sweating is the body's natural mechanism for reducing body heat.

(8) Wear a wide brim hat to protect the face and neck from the sun's rays.

WHY SPS MUST HAVE A RATE INCREASE
The costs of labor, materials and other items necessary to the company's operations continue to skyrocket. Despite the fact that we have adopted programs for cutting expenses and capital expenditures, it becomes increasingly difficult for us to keep up with these rapidly rising costs.
Although we have been operating in a highly inflationary atmosphere for the past several years, there has been no general increase in SPS electric rates since 1974. Now, however, we are forced to seek rate relief if we are to continue to provide the electric service needs of our customers.
Our goal is to provide the best possible service at lowest possible cost, now and in the future. The increase in our rates that we have requested will allow us to realize that goal.
