

Attlee Plunges Into Reorganizing Cabinet

By W. W. HERCHER
LONDON, July 27 (AP)—Clement R. Attlee plunged into work today as head of Britain's first labor government in 14 years, pledging to give top priority to finishing the war with Japan.

There was a general belief here that the new prime minister would return to the Big Three conference at Potsdam during the weekend. However, it seemed likely that he would fill at least the major cabinet offices before leaving. The press speculated that he might make known the top selections before the day was out.

The triumphant laborites, holding 390 of the 640 seats in the house of commons, appeared to be settling down for a long term in office—possibly the full statutory five years.

Labor members of parliament have been called to meet here tomorrow to elect the leader of the party, which always is done at the start of each new session.

New members of the house are scheduled to be sworn in August 1.

Attlee arrived for work well before 10 a. m. His first task was the cabinet selections.

When he returns to Potsdam, Attlee will take with him a foreign minister also pledged to carry on the victorious Churchill foreign policy.

It was believed his choice for foreign secretary would be Ernest Bevin, former labor minister in the coalition cabinet, who would succeed Eden at the Potsdam conference.

For Churchill, since 1940 the Empire's outstanding figure, there was left the relatively humble position of leader of the house of Commons minority—one so small it can wield but little influence in shaping Britain's immediate future.

The leftward tide of votes swamped his conservative party in the worst political defeat any major British party has suffered in many years, and gave the laborites the first clear commons majority the party ever held in Britain.

The London Press was frankly amazed by the result and not agreed in the explanation thereof. Most commentators agreed, however, that it did not constitute a personal repudiation of Churchill, whose record as a war leader was praised even by the staunchest of labor supporters. But none denied this was a swift leftward surge for traditionally conservative Britain. Some attributed it to natural dissatisfaction among the people after six years of wartime hardship.

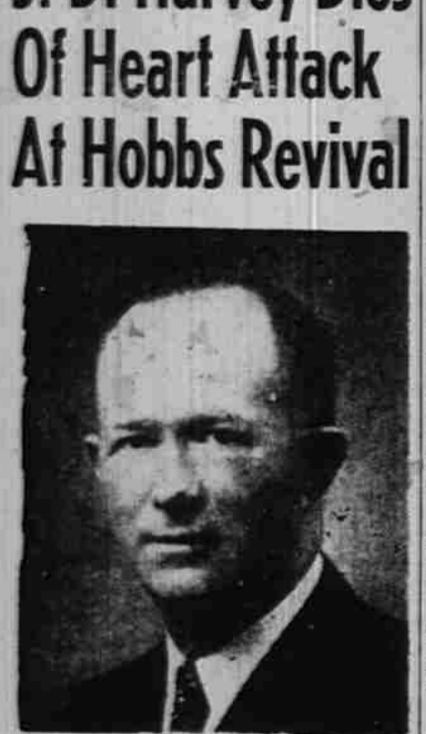

"We are embarked on a great adventure," Attlee declared, summarizing the party goal as "the highest standard of life we can achieve for all."

"We want a security that will banish war forever," asserted the soft-spoken, 62-year-old labor leader who worked 26 years in politics for this chance to test his socialist theories in action.

"We want widespread prosperity for all people," he said.

Churchill, in a laudatory statement as prime minister, said all plans and preparations had been made for a victory over Japan which might come "much quicker than we have hitherto been entitled to expect," and declared he regretted he had not been permitted to finish that job.

J. D. Harvey Dies Of Heart Attack At Hobbs Revival

J. D. Harvey

J. D. Harvey, minister of the Church of Christ here for nearly three years, died Thursday evening at Hobbs, N. M., where he was conducting a revival meeting.

He became ill Thursday morning and Mrs. Harvey was summoned to the bedside. However, he was improved late in the evening before he suffered a stroke that ended his life.

Mr. Harvey, 54, came here in Sept., 1942, from Paducah, Ky., where he had been minister of the Church of Christ. Prior to that he had been minister at Colorado City for five years.

Born Dec. 5, 1891, in Jones county, Mr. Harvey was reared near Deadman creek and was a graduate of Abilene Christian college. He spent the greater part of his life in Jones county and had conducted 84 revivals in that county.

Churchill's Defeat Upset Timetables

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
POTSDAM, July 27 (AP)—The defeat of Prime Minister Churchill's government upset the Big Three timetable today, but took nothing from the American, British and Chinese surrender ultimatum to Japan which was issued here yesterday.

The labor party victory which removed Churchill, one of the original Big Three, as one of the principals in the parley, presumably left the time of resumption of discussions up to Labor Leader Clement Attlee.

As opposition leader, Attlee had been attending the conference as an "observer," and is well acquainted with President Truman, Premier Stalin and the agenda over which they worked with Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden at nine successive meetings.

The warning to the Japanese to overthrow their warlords and seek immediate peace or face virtual annihilation was made jointly by Truman, Churchill and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. Attlee indicated that the ultimatum will have his full support when he declared last night in London: "The first thing we have to do is finish the war with Japan."

Observers here believed it was not unlikely that Premier Stalin had prior knowledge of the contents of the ultimatum.

There was no comment from Mr. Truman or his delegation regarding the labor party victory. Silence likewise was maintained at Stalin's headquarters.

In London, Eden, who was re-elected to his seat in commons but lost out as foreign secretary when Churchill's government was defeated, was quoted as saying that he would return to Potsdam to help in the work if he were asked.

Stimson Hints Big Three Disagreeing On Unified Policy

By JAMES F. KING
FRANKFURT ON THE MAIN, July 27 (AP)—Secretary of War Stimson hinted today that the Big Three powers were meeting difficulties in reaching unified policy on the administration of Germany.

The Big Three were "working on discrepancies when I left Potsdam two days ago and they will probably still be working on them when I am back in the United States," Stimson said in answer to a press conference question.

Stimson declined to comment further on the Potsdam situation, saying he had been present at the invitation of President Truman as a "stand by."

The secretary expressed satisfaction with the way the military government was working in occupation zones.

Stimson is returning directly to the United States.

Blum Hurls "Treason" At Petain

By RELMAN MORIN
PARIS, July 27 (AP)—Leon Blum, who was French premier in years of the popular front before the war, hurled the charge of "treason" at Marshal Petain today and said the old soldier "gave himself powers which may be compared to those of a jungle sovereign."

Charles Roux, a diplomat who followed Blum to the stand, said that when France was falling in June of 1940, Petain's predecessor, Paul Reynaud, appealed to President Roosevelt and "suggested that the American fleet come into action."

Blum, released only a few weeks ago from German detention, told the high court of justice on this fifth day of the trial:

"The people of France, with the foundations of the nation gone, terrorized and overwhelmed, looked for reassurance. Petain told them with all the authority of his past that the armistice was not dishonorable. I call that treason."

Blum said Petain first entered the Daladier government after former Premier Edouard Herriot suggested it. In relating the decision to abandon Paris to the oncoming Germans, he testified:

"I said Paris not only was the capital of France; it was everything."

"From the moment the armistice was introduced, I had the impression that great pressure almost forced the cabinet to accept it," Blum said. "A number of us decided to leave France. My bags were packed and ready. The government was to have gone on June 20."

Blum said that when he, Herriot and Senate President Jules Jeanneney reached Toulouse to sail, "we learned that the government had decided against leaving and all departures were cancelled."

"I saw France torn in two," Blum said. "I learned that—unique in our history—France had agreed to surrender those who had sought refuge with us."

Blum said that, in his opinion, "Petain betrayed the Republic of France."

The former premier said he followed the Petain government to Vichy and worked for a while there "in fear of Jacques Doriot's men, in fear of the Germans, and in fear of Petain's soldiers." Then Blum was arrested and taken to Rome.

Aussies Plan To Cut Army And Air Forces In Half

Still Consider Main Offensive Against Japan Vital Task

CANBERRA, July 27 (AP)—Australia plans to reduce her army 50 per cent and her air force nearly as much, but considers it vital that her forces take part in the main offensive against Japan, Prime Minister J. B. Chifley, told the house of representatives today.

He said the army would be cut from six divisions to three and the air force from 53 squadrons to 36, but that the navy would be maintained at its present strength.

Chifley added that the government advisory war council proposed Australia's main contribution to the offensive be a Royal Australian navy squadron, under its own commander, and an expeditionary unit of land and air forces operating under Australian commanders.

He added that three Royal Australian Air Force (RAAF) squadrons from overseas would be provided as a contribution to the very long range RAF task force in the Pacific. These would be in addition to two RAAF fighter squadrons already overseas for participation with the forces of occupation in Europe.

A token force would be associated if possible with the British in operations to recapture Singapore to avenge defeat there in 1942 and to contribute to liberation of Australian prisoners of war.

The remainder of Australian forces would continue their present operations in Borneo, New Guinea, New Britain and the Solomons.

Japan To Fight To Bitter End, Domei News Agency Says

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27 (AP)—The Japanese Domei news agency said today it had "authoritatively learned" that Japan will ignore the Churchill-Truman-Chiang proclamation calling for unconditional surrender.

"Japan will prosecute the war of greater East Asia to the bitter end in accordance with her fixed policy," it said authoritatively stated, "the Domei dispatch intercepted by the Federal Communications Commission."

The Domei announcement was the first Japanese report indicating official reaction to the tripartite demand issued by the United States, Great Britain and China yesterday.

Domei reported that the Japanese cabinet met in Premier Suzuki's home to hear a report by Foreign Minister Shigenori Togo on the Allied surrender proclamation.

The dispatch did not disclose from what "authoritative" source the decision to reject the ultimatum had been obtained, but presumably it might have come from some member of the cabinet.

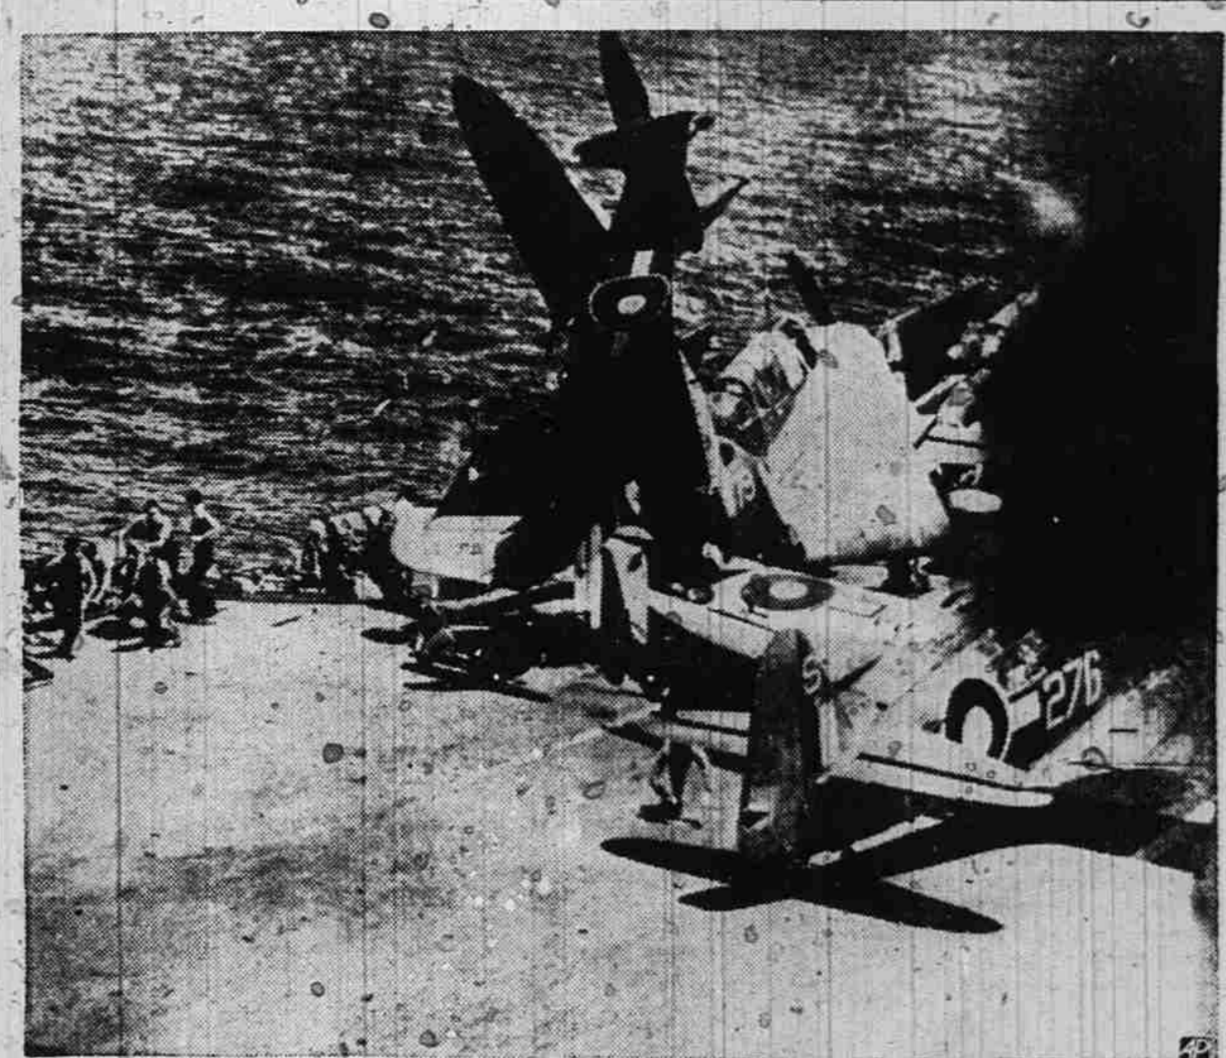

Earlier, a Domei political commentator said that the absence of neutral Marshal Stalin's name from the surrender proclamation was "conspicuous."

British, Indians Kill Huge Number of Japs

CALCUTTA, July 28 (AP)—British and Empire troops killed more than 3,000 Japanese and captured more than 400 in six days of fighting along a 77-mile stretch of territory between the Mandalay-Rangoon railroad and the Sittang river, Southeast Asia Command headquarters said today.

According to previous estimates of the number of Japanese believed to be pocketed in the general area including Nyaunglein, about 90 miles northeast of Rangoon, and Toungoo, 77 miles to the north, these figures accounted for about half of the total force.

Leaflets Dropped To Spread Word To Population

GUAM, Saturday, July 28 (AP)—The Twentieth Air Force bluntly announced to Japan today the 11 cities which are next on the B-29 fire-bombing target list and, in the unprecedented prestrike warning, announced that four or more of the cities will be ignited within the next few days.

The warning, punctuating Allied demands for Japanese surrender, was issued by Maj. Gen. Curtis Lemay, who advised 890,000 Nippon civilians to flee to safety and "restore peace by demanding new and good leaders who will end the war."

In a frank effort to convince the Japanese people their cause is hopeless, the military is powerless to protect them, Lemay gave the Japanese this warning. As this was written Superforts from the 73rd wing were returning to Saipan after showering 60,000 warning pamphlets on each of the 11 cities.

The warning, which will be broadcast to Japanese at intervals by the Office of War Information starting at 8 a. m. today (Japanese time) came while pillars of fire rose from ruins of three industrial cities set afire by 350 Superforts early Friday.

Friday's raid was the third in four days.

Black-haired, stocky, cigar-chewing Lemay said:

"The Japanese have refused to come up and fight. We have been roaming their air at will, burning down their cities. Now we are telling the citizens what towns we are going to burn down."

"We know there are many who are convinced that Japan has lost the war and we feel that if we can convince enough of them they have nothing to look forward to but total destruction, we may shorten the war."

"We are not trying to kill civilians but to destroy the war potential of the military clique. We are telling them where we are going to hit and they can't do anything about it."

Lemay said his command has given much thought to the safety of the crews but "we don't expect any more opposition than usual. They can't mass sufficient defenses over 11 widely separated cities to make this any more than the normal mission."

"The crews themselves are for it. There wasn't a dissenting voice when we told them what we were going to do," Lemay said.

Lemay said the unique plan was his idea and he worked in cooperation with the CINCPAC's psychological warfare office.

The pamphlets have pictures of Superforts dropping bombs on one side and the text of the message on the other. Under the picture of the Superforts are 11 circles, each containing the name of a city.

Japs To Decide Between Surrender, Destruction

Ultimatum Includes Eight Basic Points Enemy Must Meet

POTSDAM, July 27 (AP)—Japan today faced the alternatives of "utter and complete destruction" or unconditional surrender, since the joint proclamation issued yesterday by the United States, China and Great Britain. As yet, no official word has been received from the enemy.

The ultimatum included these terms and said "we shall not deviate from them: There are no alternatives: We shall brook no delay."

1. Japan must overthrow her militarist ruling clique.
2. Undesignated points of Japanese territory will be occupied until Japan's war power is convincingly destroyed.
3. Japanese sovereignty will be limited to the four main islands of Honshu, Hokkaido, Kyushu and Shikoku, and minor islands. This would strip Japan of all her conquests and other dominated areas.
4. Japan will be disarmed completely, but soldiers will be allowed to return to peaceful pursuits.
5. Japan will not be enslaved, but "stern justice shall be meted out to all war criminals," especially those responsible for cruelties on prisoners.
6. Japan must restore freedom of speech, religion and thought and establish respect for fundamental rights.
7. All armament industries will be taken from Japan. Raw materials will be permitted for essential economy and to permit payment of reparations.
8. Occupation will end when Japan loses her warlike attitude and leadership.

"We call upon the government of Japan to proclaim now the unconditional surrender of all Japanese armed forces, and to provide proper and adequate assurances of their good faith in such action," the ultimatum from President Truman, President Chiang Kai-shek and Winston Churchill, then British prime minister, said.

The alternative for Japan is prompt and utter destruction.

Hittson Meat Co. Still Operative

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—This capital buzzed with speculation and rumor today over the possibility of a prompt Japanese surrender under the Potsdam ultimatum.

Many officials hoped that the bold stroke of psychological warfare engineered by Truman, Churchill and Chiang Kai-shek would get that result. But none could or would predict it.

The consensus on Capitol Hill was that the 8-point definition of unconditional surrender constituted a hard, just peace.

What Nippon's leaders have to gain by accepting now is an end to the destruction of their country. Against this they have not only the certainty of mounting Anglo-American-Chinese assaults but also the obvious possibility that Russia might go into action in Asia. This possibility is emphasized by the fact the ultimatum was issued at Potsdam.

And Japanese leaders now know definitely two things of which they appear to have been unsure before:

1. The Allies have no intention of offering a soft or compromise peace.
2. The way is left for the Japanese people to try to save their imperial throne.

Diplomatic authorities consider it significant that yesterday's ultimatum made no mention of destroying the emperor or the throne while on the other hand it promised the enemy freedom of religion and eventually of government.

Whether the present emperor, Hirohito, would be allowed to remain on the throne might depend on whether the Japanese people appeared to want him and whether he could serve Allied purposes in giving Japan a peaceful, responsible government.

Nine Departments To Be Viewed By Public At Open House At Field

Nine major departments of the Big Spring Bombarrier school will be opened to the public during the field's third annual open house next Wednesday in observance of Air Force Day.

Visitors will be met at the gate by specially chosen guides of the Military Police department, who will furnish them with maps of the base and a program listing special features.

Col. John K. Nissley, post commanding officer, announced that special arrangements have been made with other fields to display the B-29 Superfort, the B-24 Liberator and the B-17 Fortress.

Also on the flying line will be the UC-64 transport, the AT-6 single-engine pursuit trainer, and the AT-11 twin-engine bombing trainer.

Bomb training bangars, according to Col. Elbert Helton director of training and operations, will feature the A-2 and A-6 bomb trainers in action, which simulate actual flying conditions for the bombardier.

The ordnance area will show different types of bombs and the armament section will exhibit bomb loading equipment.

Among other departments open to the public will be the physical training section, where physical fitness proficiency tests will be in progress under the direction of Capt. George D. Allen, athletic director.

The three post chaplains—Captains Frank B. Webb, Martin B. McMahon and Francis B. Baldwin—will escort visitors through the post's twin chapels.

Base maintenance shops, under the direction of Major Eugene R. Mardner, will show sheet metal and wood work, wing sections and fuselage cutaways.

Specialized types of flying equipment and auxiliary facilities to be displayed on the flight line include life saving equipment, life rafts, parachutes, Mae Wests, flying clothing, oxygen masks and, if possible, flak suits.

Jeanette Hightower First Girl Entrant

Jeanette Hightower of Garden City was the first girl to enter the Big Spring rodeo which begins next Thursday, J. H. Greene, general chairman, said, Friday.

Operating under a different plan from last year's, any girl is eligible to enter as many contests as she wishes, rather than enter as a sponsor according to previous rulings. The cowgirls enter and compete for prizes under the same rules as boys do, Greene said.

Although this is the first time this has been done at the local show, the ruling is used many places in Texas, and the Sellers brothers, producers of the Big Spring rodeo always use it.

Nothing quite like Neutracid to bring fast, quick relief to the sufferer of stomach distress, acid indigestion, gas pains, heartburn, burning sensation, and other conditions when caused by excessive stomach acidity.

Ration Cuts May Force Closing Of Big Spring Cafes

Recent cuts in ration points to public eating establishments had drastic results, Big Spring operators declared.

One cafe owner whose supply was slashed to a third of former allotments, stated that the only way he saw to meet the situation was to close his place a day or more weekly.

The operator of a cafe specializing in hamburgers said that although he had not received his rations for the month he was sure that the amount of meat he would be granted would be reduced. "I'll either have to close earlier, or remain closed at least one day a week, if reductions are too severe," he stated. "Meat substitutes can't be used in hamburgers."

The manager of a local coffee shop said that although he had not received his cuts yet, there undoubtedly would be reductions. Although he did not believe that it would be necessary to close the doors to diners, it would be necessary to serve meatless meals several days a week.

Ration officials said this week that cuts had to be made due to a shortage of meat, but that the results would not be so noticeable because of recent lowering of meat ration values. They added that many of the entries which received sharp reduction had overdrawn their accounts of ration points at the banks. The slashes were necessary to balance their accounts.

Webb To Address Joint Services

Formal recognition of the 170th anniversary of the creation of the army chaplain corps will be taken here Sunday evening at the customary fifth Sunday union services.

Chaplain Frank Webb of the Big Spring Bombardier school will address the joint service scheduled for 8 p. m. in the First Methodist church.

Arrangements for the service were completed Friday by the Big Spring Pastors association. At the same time, the association announced that Dr. William Elliott, widely known Presbyterian minister from Dallas, will be the evangelist for the union revival meeting Oct. 21 to Nov. 1 at the First Methodist church. The Rev. H. C. Smith, First Methodist church pastor, the Rev. Dick O'Brien and Ernest Hock, pastor and educational director, respectively, of the First Baptist church, were named as a publicity committee for the meeting.

The association has a committee considering the possibility of engaging a full-time Bible instructor at the high school, where the non-denominational course is offered for convenience of the students.

through Rev. J. E. McCoy, First Christian church pastor, secretary, the association asked for reaction to the sponsored radio program at the Friday advertisements in The Herald. Responses from readers and listeners should be directed to the Rev. McCoy.

Military Timetables For Defeat Shorter

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP) — Maj. Gen. John M. Franklin told a senate committee today that the "military timetable for defeat of Japan" had been shortened.

Because of this, more shipping will be required in the Pacific, he said, and the rate of return of troops from Europe to this country will therefore be slower from now on.

Franklin, acting chief of transportation for the army air forces, indicated at one point that more troops might be moved directly from Europe to the Pacific than originally planned. But under questioning from Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) he said he had not intended to give that impression.

He testified before the senate war investigating committee which is inquiring into a transportation crisis resulting from the heavy transcontinental movement of troops.

"A larger portion of our shipping must be used from now on for direct shipments from Europe to the Pacific and from our own west coast to the Pacific," Franklin testified today.

"Our military timetable for the defeat of Japan has been moved forward as a result of our recent air, sea and ground successes, and top priority must be given to the movement of the forces and supplies needed by General (Douglas) MacArthur and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz."

Webb To Address Joint Services

Formal recognition of the 170th anniversary of the creation of the army chaplain corps will be taken here Sunday evening at the customary fifth Sunday union services.

Chaplain Frank Webb of the Big Spring Bombardier school will address the joint service scheduled for 8 p. m. in the First Methodist church.

Arrangements for the service were completed Friday by the Big Spring Pastors association. At the same time, the association announced that Dr. William Elliott, widely known Presbyterian minister from Dallas, will be the evangelist for the union revival meeting Oct. 21 to Nov. 1 at the First Methodist church. The Rev. H. C. Smith, First Methodist church pastor, the Rev. Dick O'Brien and Ernest Hock, pastor and educational director, respectively, of the First Baptist church, were named as a publicity committee for the meeting.

The association has a committee considering the possibility of engaging a full-time Bible instructor at the high school, where the non-denominational course is offered for convenience of the students.

through Rev. J. E. McCoy, First Christian church pastor, secretary, the association asked for reaction to the sponsored radio program at the Friday advertisements in The Herald. Responses from readers and listeners should be directed to the Rev. McCoy.

Barkley Urges Vote To Ratify Charter

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP) — Senator Barkley (D-Ky.) urged the senate today to prepare for a final vote ratifying the United Nations charter at 5 p. m. (EWT) tomorrow.

Barkley's move to wind up consideration of the 50-nation peace-keeping agreement this week won the support of Senator White (R-Me.), the minority leader. White said it was "difficult to conceive that anything new can be said" about the charter.

However, Senator Morse (R-Ore.) served notice he would object to any limitation on debate, declaring "I'm going to keep the forum open." Morse said he had no objection to working late today and early tomorrow in an attempt to conclude the discussion.

Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow

For several years it has been the practice of those Churches whose ministers belong to the Big Spring Pastors Association to meet in one of the Churches for a union service on each fifth Sunday evening. This cooperative effort has impressed the community very favorably. We believe the people appreciate having a group of ministers who are brothers in Christ, and have a vision larger than any single Church program. We also believe congregations appreciate the privilege of worshipping together occasionally. "United we stand, divided we fall." In this day when so much is being said about World Brotherhood, the Churches should set an example.

This Union Service will be in the First Methodist Church Sunday evening, at eight o'clock. Chaplain Webb of the Big Spring Bombardier School will preach the sermon. Rev. James E. Moore, president of the Big Spring Pastors Association, will preside. We extend to one and all a cordial invitation to be present. Let us make this a great occasion in our community, and pray that it may be a very helpful service.

All are urged to attend their own services at the morning hour. People who worship on Sunday find help to live abundantly during the week that follows. Won't you plan now to go to Church next Sunday?

Lord Byron, Little Ben, Native Texans, Rivals In Tam O'Shanter

CHICAGO, July 27 (AP) — Lord Byron Nelson and Little Ben Hogan, who once met for the caddy championship at the Glen Garden club in Fort Worth, Tex., today were the one-two favorites for the $10,200 first prize in the all-American open golf tournament.

The native Texans, who traveled golf's glory trail together until "Little Ben" became a lieutenant in the army air corps two and a half years ago, loomed as likely stretch rivals after shattering Tam O'Shanter's par in the opening 18 holes of the 72-hole route.

Nelson, who has won nine straight tournaments this year and is seeking his fourth Tam title in five starts, fired a sizzling 66, six under par, yesterday, roaring back with a record-tying 30 on the last nine.

Hogan, playing in his third tournament since joining the armed forces, touched off a 33-34-67. His 25-foot putt on the home green fell nine inches short to rob him of a first day tie with his Texas pal.

Nelson's 66, one stroke off the course record, placed him three strokes ahead of Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., an army flight officer at Fort Myers, Fla., who fired a surprising 69 to pass veterans Denny Shute and Gene Sarazen by one stroke.

Army Sgt. Joe Louis, boxing's heavyweight champion, ripped off a par 36 on his first nine but Joe slipped to a 44 on the in side for an unimpressive 80.

Tourney Mates Call Nelson 'The Iceman'

By JIMMY JORDAN
 CHICAGO, July 27 (AP) — The boys who trek along golfdom's pot o'gold trail are starting to call Byron Nelson "The Iceman."

He's been winning that pseudonym while he's been winning almost every tournament he has entered by the cold-blooded way he plays the game. When he needs to shave a few strokes off his score, he does it, just as mechanically and cold-bloodedly as a machine.

He proved that yesterday when he finished the first nine holes of his 18-hole stint in the first round of the $60,000 all-American tournament at Tam O'Shanter country club here in par 36. He learned that Lt. Ben Hogan was three under par after six holes.

Nelson toured the incoming nine in 30—six under par.

But the Iceman is the first to disagree when that nickname is brought up.

"Maybe it looks like it when I play, but I don't feel that way inside," he said after he had posted his 66, low for the first round in the world's most lucrative golf tournament. "I have just as many worries and all the troubles the rest of them have."

Shore Reports Supply For Ice-Hockey Team
 FORT WORTH, July 27 (AP) — Eddie Shore, one of the famous names of ice hockey who operates a talent scouting and developing system in the game's promotion, says he has at least 47 players available for this winter when his newly-acquired Fort Worth club opens its campaign in the United States league.

Shore, for 19 years a player in the game's big-time, yesterday signed a contract to handle the Fort Worth Rangers with the prediction that the league, which replaces the dormant American Hockey association, positively will operate.

Burrus Ticketed For End Position On Airforce Team

Harry (H. C.) Burrus got a big plug in Fleim Hall's column in the Thursday Fort Worth Star Telegram as the "best offensive end the Southwest ever had."

The statement was made by J. D. "Jake" Sandefer, Breckenridge, but Hall said not a few agreed with Sandefer's position.

He appraised Burrus, now a physical training officer in the AAFPC, as a "very good hand on the defense, a better than average blocker and a phenomenal pass catcher."

Curiously, the young officer who made little All-America with Hardin-Simmons a few years back, was not a world beater when he played with Big Spring high school.

This is no disparagement of his ability, for he was among the best ends in District 3-A and was a consistent performer. He was so young that he was just beginning to show his ability. Even then his best work was in the pass catching field. He was only 16 when he finished school here and with honors.

At Hardin-Simmons he hit his stride and starred in the North-South game in 1942, and was one of the fabulous Randolph Field Ramblers last season. He grabbed 12 passes during the season, five for touchdowns, one of them a long heave taken in full stride to win the AAF championship for the Ramblers against the 2nd AAF at New York. Burrus out-ran the famed Glenn Dobbs to make the score.

This year he will be right end on the Army Air Force Training Command team at Fort Worth, and no one is worrying about the position with this 24-year old expert around.

Rocky Stone, Iwo's Host, Speeds Guests On Way With B-29 Repairs
 By I. JOBBIN COONS
 IWO JIMA (AP) — "Rocky" Stone is an unconventional host on Iwo. He speeds the arriving guest, the whole slogan of his war effort is: "Here's your hat, what's your hurry?"

Officially known as Maj. Charles A. Stone, he welcomes crippled or gasoline-thirsty American Superforts, going on or returning from Japanese bombing missions. He tries to get them under way again to their Marianas bases as quickly as possible.

He is chunky, good-natured 27-year-old, from Bellflower, Calif., whose official title is maintenance controller for the 20th Air Force, Iwo branch.

His desk is near a quonset hut door. At intervals, he aims a stream of tobacco juice at that door—across his desk. Sometimes he misses the door and his the floor, but not once does he stain his desk or papers.

Rocky is a precisionist in other ways, too. When mechanics come in with their problems, he greets them with "shoot, Joe" or "shoot, Harvey," and answers their questions with exactness.

But most often during a day—or night—you'll find him out on the repair strip, checking this job, hurrying that one, looking through his graveyard of wrecked B-29s for a needed part. But he likes to say, grinning all over, "I still don't know anything about the damned planes."

One day Rocky, sitting in his jeep by the emergency strip, saw an empty burning Superfort running wild on the runway. Its crew already out. It was headed for another group of Superforts, total value several million dollars. Rocky sped in his jeep, chased and caught it, jumped in and stopped it short of wholesale destruction.

"That?" he says. "Aw, that wasn't anything. Anybody standing around would've done the same thing."

Red Ruffing Returns To Aid Tailspinning Yanks

By JACK HAND
 (Associated Press Sports Writer)
 Red Ruffing still has enough on the ball at 41 to be a winner in wartime baseball despite an absence of two and a half years spent in the army air corps.

Bulging at the waistline but canny and control-keen in his pitching, the first of the "Old Yankees" to return to the Yankee Stadium, made an encouraging comeback trail in yesterday's 13-4 New York romp over Philadelphia.

It must have been welcome news to Manager Joe McCarthy in Buffalo, for the victory pulled the tail-spinning Yanks out of a losing streak that had cost them 17 of their last 24 games.

Ruffing wasn't able to finish although he had a neat two-hit shut-out through the first six innings, played in oppressive heat and gathering gloom that twice forced interruptions, once for an hour. It was so dark in the mid-innings that spectators followed the ball only by watching movements of the players.

Charley, the Red, sat out the long wait and picked up again where he had left off. But after tripling in the sixth, was forced to retire after yielding a walk, two singles and the first A's run in the seventh. Al Gettel finished but Ruffing received credit for the victory.

New York's victory in the only scheduled American league contest sent them into a three-way tie with Chicago and Boston for third place, only four lengths behind leading Detroit.

Cincinnati continued to contribute to the support of the Chicago Cubs, bowing to the National pace-setters for the ninth straight time, 2-1. Hank Wyse did the job on the Reds who haven't beaten the Browns this year, an eight-hitter for win No. 14, tops in the circuit.

St. Louis kept step with the Cubs by slaughtering Pittsburgh, 10-2, knocking out Nick Strincevich, who had beaten them twice, in the second frame. The Birds banded three Pirate tossers for 18 safeties, including a perfect four-for-four for Augie Bergamo as Ken Burkhardt coasted to his 11th triumph.

The four eastern clubs in the National were enroute home and not scheduled, but all 16 major leagues are due for action today.

A Great Man Retires

The historic leadership of Winston Churchill as prime minister of Britain is at an end. If his retirement from the leadership of the Empire is providential, it was brought about through the hands of the people.

It will be difficult for American minds to grasp the astounding fact that his party was swept under a 2-1 majority, for his dynamic and inspiring leadership during the darkest hours of Britain's and, indeed, the world's history, had begat a tremendous personal admiration.

Yet, under the mechanics of English government, he was tied inseparably with his party. The blunt truth is that the vast majority of British people did not want the conservative party, of which he was the leader, and its demise at the polls took him with it.

Winston Churchill might have retired in good grace at the peak of his career, but he felt that he had been challenged and it was never in his nature to quit. Perhaps it is just as well that his noble war record will be unstained by the grime of domestic and reconstruction problems.

Although it may be a bitter cup for the robust old man who looked and brilliantly acted the part of John Bull, defeat of his government at the hands of the people can not diminish his achievements.

Even as time separates us from the doomsday into which he plunged to rally mankind and as something of immediate adulation is lost, the fact of Winston Churchill's greatness is constant.

Who but him could have pleaded with France to fight on from distant shores, wept bitterly when she crumbled, and yet grew out defiance to the Axis that Britain would fight to the end for every foot of her soil? Who else could have rallied British subjects—and all democracies of the world—with such directness and simplicity as a promise of only "blood and sweat and tears"? Who but Winston Churchill could have combined such a capacity for work, direction, and electric rhetoric?

The stature of this man will increase with time.

The War Today

by Dewitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign News Analyst

Winston Churchill has gone down to political defeat in the midst of that stirring drama which brought him to power and in fact has marked his whole adventurous life, for as his government was being voted out of existence he signed the historic Allied ultimatum of Potsdam, calling on Japan to surrender unconditionally or suffer "prompt and utter destruction."

That was a fitting farewell gesture for a gallant warrior—one of the great figures in English history—who has had so great a part in saving the world from Axis slavery. This edict, which in effect renews Britain's pledge to wage war against Nippon to the finish, of course had the approval of the new prime minister, Major Clement Attlee, who has been attending the Big Three conference as Churchill's "deputy." Attlee says England will see it through.

Labor's triumph in the British general election isn't a rebuke to Churchill—for the country reveres him as the man who led them out of the wilderness of defeat. Rather it's a repudiation of the conservative party and represents a heavy swing to the left.

The leftist development in England isn't revolutionary but evolutionary—a gradual development arising from the search of the working class for a better way of life. One would expect it to progress without fireworks.

The labor party aims at "a socialist commonwealth of Great Britain." This contemplates as an initial step the nationalization of coal mines, iron and steel plants, railroads and all other forms of public transportation. Public ownership of the Bank of England also is advocated.

Of course this presages a great change in England's domestic policies. It means further breaking up of the vast estates of the landed gentry. It means an acceleration of the leveling off of incomes. The England of Queen Victoria has gone forever. Britain's foreign policy is likely to remain broadly the same.

There's one qualification which I think we should make here. The laborites undoubtedly will do their utmost to shake off the tradition of imperialism that has clung to the conservative party like the old man of the sea.

Sixty-two-year-old Attlee while totally lacking the color and magnetism of the Churchill personality, is an earnest and determined leader.

Attlee has been a laborite since the birth of the party. He is the son of a London lawyer and is a graduate of Oxford. He also studied law but deserted that for social work. He went to live on London's poverty ridden east side, and earned a living as a dock worker. The constituency which returned him to commons is Limehouse, locale of some of the world's most famous mystery stories.

Bridge

With The AEF: Shakespeare Popular "Guy" With GI's In England

By ROMNEY WHEELER
(Substituting For Hal Boyle)
STRATFORD - UPON - AVON (AP)—Shakespeare is rolling 'em in the aisles at Memorial theater, and some of the biggest belly laughs are coming from delighted American GI's.

Officers and enlisted men through this famous tourist center—many of them on seven-day detached service for army-sponsored Shakespeare courses. Canadians, Australians and New Zealanders are visiting on a similar educational plan.

For the Americans it's part of the army's redeployment program and the only gripe is that the courses aren't long enough.

Some GI's, like T/4 John A. McGeachy, Fayetteville, N. C., history instructor at Davidson college, have studied Shakespeare's plays. Others are meeting them for the first time and finding, with some amazement, that Shakespeare's humor is quite as rollicking as the best Music Hall variety.

Approximately 30 American

GI's are sent to Stratford each week under an arrangement with the British council which provides leaders for talks and discussions on plays which are to be presented. Most of the men—and some nurses, too—stay either at the American Red Cross enlisted men's club or officers' club where American Red Cross personnel arrange tours of historic places associated with Shakespeare.

There's no brass hat formality, and officers and enlisted men frequently engage in spirited arguments across dinner tables in the Red Cross mess, T/5 Alfred G. Hill of New York, former estate superintendent for the late Frank M. Gould, dominated a 30-minute discussion with an air force major on the presentation of "Antony and Cleopatra."

The GI's pay the equivalent of $6.50 and the officers $14.50 to participate in the program. These amounts provide tickets for five plays and daily luncheons. Morning sessions are devoted to discussion of plays and Elizabethan drama.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Braden Choice Is Slap To Argentina

By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Jimmy Byrnes already has two key men up his sleeve for top jobs in the state department. Unless something changes his mind before he gets back from Potsdam, the new undersecretary of state, replacing Joe Grew, will be Spruille Braden, now U. S. ambassador to Argentina, with the assistant secretary for Latin America, replacing Nelson Rockefeller, will be Norman Armour, now U. S. ambassador to Spain.

The promotion of Braden to be undersecretary will be a direct slap at the Argentines, where crowds have been booing Braden and handbills have been posted all over Buenos Aires denouncing him because of an accident in the Braden copper mines in Chile.

Braden is a political diplomat with plenty of career experience. He worked on the fringes of the old Roosevelt brain trust in 1932, and FDR considered appointing him ambassador to Chile in 1933. However, there was too much resentment from Chilean labor because of Braden's heavy copper interests there and he was given one of the hardest diplomatic jobs in the western hemisphere instead.

He was made a diplomatic troubleshooter to iron out the Chaco war between Bolivia and Paraguay, and other troubles. In the western hemisphere. Later, Braden became ambassador to Colombia and Cuba where he did an A-1 job.

Norman Armour, slated to succeed Nelson Rockefeller, is one of the outstanding career diplomats, having been ambassador to Argentina and Chile, and minister to Canada and Haiti.

When Braden leaves Argentina as ambassador, his post will not be filled—a slap at the Argentine fascists, and also indirectly at the state department group who rushed us into Argentine recognition at San Francisco.

England's Ex-King

There were half a dozen empty chairs last week as Hugh Fulton, former counsel for the Truman committee, hosted a luncheon in Washington's swank Hotel Statler for the Duke of Windsor. Fulton, whose New York law firm represents the duke's interests in this country had invited a small group of high Washington officials and the entire membership of the Mead committee (formerly the Truman committee) at the duke's special request.

Half a dozen busy senators found time to rush to the Statler for the luncheon, which they described as a pleasant affair with no particular significance.

High spot of the luncheon was furnished by Wyoming's Senator Joe O'Mahoney, who produced a letter from an Episcopal minister in his state. The letter related the plight of an Englishman who had married an American woman and settled in Wyoming. The Englishman now wants to be naturalized, the minister wrote, but is running into difficulty because his wife is determined to press charges of assault against him.

If he didn't beat his wife, he should have, the minister wrote O'Mahoney.

The letter was shown to the duke, who remarked:

"I can testify that the Church of England is peculiar about domestic life. Here is a minister of the church in apparent approval of domestic disharmony. Yet when I decided to marry, the Church of England insisted that I step down as king because my wife-to-be had been divorced."

"The amusing thing to me," the same thing as a civilian, it was an entirely different story. He has the black eye to prove it."

continued the former king of England, "is that the Church of England was originally founded by Henry VIII in order to provide clerical sanction for his several divorces."

Note—King Henry VIII had six wives.

Soldier Slap-down?

Another Patton soldier "slap-down on a lesser scale" has just been settled by General Eisenhower, resulting in a reprimand for Brig. Gen. Julius Slack.

General Slack, an artillery commander in Patton's Third Army, was reprimanded for "intemperate and reprehensible actions and language" toward 22 enlisted men in an alleged rape case.

Slack had accused three enlisted men of taking two German women, at the point of their guns, upstairs in a German house, where other men watched the rape.

But according to Pvt. Walter M. Coulter of Providence, R. I., General Slack acted "on the word of two German women who are without doubt as fanatical as the German army that we have given the best years of our lives to defeat."

"We were taken to headquarters, 204th field artillery battalion, where we had the most insulting talk delivered to us that we ever had to endure. General Slack called us a bunch of dirty — two or three times. He told the three men accused of rape that they would personally see that they were hanged and underground within 30 days. He also said that his judge advocate had never lost a case and would not lose this one."

But when fair-minded Senator Theodore Green of Rhode Island heard about this, he asked Undersecretary of War Estlinson for an investigation. General Eisenhower, in turn, ordered a full report by the inspector general, on the basis of which Eisenhower reported that he was reprimanding General Slack, though he added the general "has a long record of arduous and efficient battle service."

The enlisted men accused in the case were court-martialed, and all 22 who were present at the scene were acquitted.

New Soviet Ambassador

Nobody quite knows what is behind it, but Joe Stalin and V. Molotov have decided to transfer Solzhenitsyn, youthful ambassador Andrei Gromyko out of the Soviet embassy in Washington right after the Potsdam conference.

Gromyko was number two man of the embassy under Maxim Litvinov, and succeeded to Litvinov's job after the one-time Russian foreign minister and champion of collective security was ordered back to Russia two years ago.

Since then, cold, unsmiling Gromyko has not got on too well in the capital. But he is well liked in Russia, where he is considered one of the Soviet's up-and-coming diplomats, and he may become assistant commissar for foreign affairs.

Gromyko's successor hasn't been chosen yet, but may be another equally unknown Russian diplomat, Alexander N. Kapustin, now counselor of the Soviet embassy in Washington.

Japan Faces A Grim Choice

Rumors have been rife again that Japan has surrendered unconditionally. Most of these arose from radio reports. Some of this is due to undue speculation by so-called analysts, but in justice to radio, most of it was due to poor listening. People heard one thing and thought they heard another.

Basis for the whole thing was the ultimatum by the heads of Britain, the United States and China, ordering Japan to surrender now or be destroyed. While this is a long way from actual surrender, it is nevertheless highly significant. As a result, we may soon learn which way the enemy chooses to go.

There can be no doubt now that Japan is seeking some way, short of unconditional surrender, out of the war. That is impossible. It is well for her to reappraise the possibilities of meeting Allied terms in the face of utter destruction.

Even Japan knows that the situation is hopeless. The war can be prolonged and the cost in material and life and misery multiplied, but in the end Japan's lot will have but deteriorated.

Churchill Victim Of Imponderables

(Editor's note: Mr. King, Texas bureau chief of the Associated Press, formerly served the organization as head of the AP in London, where he covered the last general election in Great Britain.)

By FRANK H. KING

The overwhelming defeat of Winston Churchill's government and the British labor party's advent to power may seem incomprehensible in far away Texas.

But in the quiet villages of England, in the blitzed areas of Bristol and Coventry, the Thames valley towns and the industrial Midlands; from Somerset, Devon and Cornwall to the top of Scotland, the upheaval means but one thing.

Domestic problems, such as housing, local rehabilitation, jobs for soldiers and home affairs generally dominated the minds and thought of the people. Without reflection or criticism of the magnificent results of Churchill's leadership, they accepted in their home constituencies the programs and the promises of labor party leaders.

Churchill wasn't the dominant issue. His great war work was done in an English election year little known, about three inches square, lists names of your local liberal, conservative and labor candidate for the house of commons. You mark the one you want. That's all there is to it. Churchill's name would be on the ballot only in his own constituency.

Even on election day the predictions were that Churchill's party would win, but all the imponderables are now revealed to have favored the aggressive opposition, which was especially well-organized throughout the country.

Some of the imponderables were whether the voters would consider themselves "ungrateful" to vote against Churchill, whether world affairs and unsolved international problems should be taken into consideration. Great war time shifts of population and the soldier vote by mail were unknown and unpredictable.

Churchill's conservative party made every possible effort to center the campaign around his real achievements and his personality. A triumphant tour featured his campaign, and he was cheered everywhere.

He drank a big mug of bitter beer before a radio mike and smacked his lips. Bitter beer is like biscuits in Texas.

He lunched at the roadside on a small sandwich and a double Scotch. He admired prize bulls at country fairs, and shook hands with bewhiskered ancient who had shaken hands with Mr. Gladstone. He sampled last year's cider and commented on the new hay crop.

Throwing everything he had in personal magnetism and personality into the campaign he tried to save his Tory colleagues but now that it is over and he has resigned as the king's first minister, it is clear that even his great resources of personal leadership were not enough to turn the labor tide. His team wasn't strong enough.

A short term program or socialistic planning apparently appealed to the British electorate.

They have had labor government before—and have thrown them out.

The throwing-out process is relatively simple, as compared with a changeover of national administration in the United States. Failure on a vote of confidence in the house of commons, and out you go, any day.

Ramsay MacDonald's first labor cabinet toppled quickly when it promised failed.

Laborite Clement Attlee, who will succeed Churchill as prime minister, doubtless has his plans and specification for post-war England in better shape than MacDonald had. If not, he is in for trouble. Britain's first labor government staked much on the great intellect of the famed economist and social thinker, Sidney Webb, who in due process of British change became a member of the house of lords. But not for solving Britain's unemployment problems. Webb had many theories, but no portfolio or specific plans and projects, and as a practical politician he was far from successful.

A sidelight on today's results in England is that Sir William Beveridge, apostle of a comprehensive plan of "cradle to the grave" social security in England, was defeated for commons. The Beveridge plan is in the forefront of social planning in England, but the defeat of its author will not affect his role or influence as a social philosopher.

Dorothea Dix was the first head of an American Army nurse corps in the Civil War.

Hollywood—Bob Puts Bite On Handsome Wolf

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — Underground sources have reported Alan Curtis, the handsome Universal actor, to be a Hollywood wolf. So when I met him on the "Shady Lady" set, I immediately inquired: "Are you a wolf?"

"This is very embarrassing," he said.

"That's beside the point. Are you a wolf?"

"Perhaps I could be called one. But I am not a cad."

"What's the difference?"

"Well, I mean I'm not the table-hopping kind who tries to steal girls away from other men. Nor am I like some Hollywood individuals who study the newspapers to see who is thinking of a divorce and then call her up for a date."

Alan's qualification for "wolf-hood" is the fact that he often takes out four or five women a week.

"If that's being a wolf, I plead guilty," he said. "But actually the blame should be partly on the women too. Each girl is having four or five different dates a week too, and that's why I can't get more than one date at a time."

"What would be your definition of a wolf?"

"A wolf is merely a guy who figures he is too young to get married," he said. "How this applies in his case I don't know and didn't ask. Curtis has been married twice.

"A wolf is really shopping for the right mate," he expounded. "It's like when you go in a store and say 'I'm just browsing.'" Offhand, Curtis would appear to have seen more browsing than the Congressional Library. Nearly every day his name is connected in the gossip columns with some new dish.

I brought Lt. Austin Sellery of Los Angeles along with me on the interview and I suggested that Curtis could give him some pointers on how to handle Hollywood women. A former prisoner of the Germans, Austin claimed to have lost his technique with the women.

"I can't give you any pointers," Alan said. "I don't have any lines or routines."

"Maybe you could lend him your telephone book."

"But I don't have one. I keep all the numbers in my head. I figure if I forget the number she wasn't important anyway."

"Anyway, as long as you're in uniform, you don't have to worry about a line or telephone numbers. I have a paratrooper friend who used to go up to strange girls and pat them on the back. He figured he could get dates with 50 per cent of them without an introduction. But when he tried

Women Clean Streets For 95 Cents An Hour

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27 (AP) Women street-sweepers are the latest by-product of the manpower shortage in San Francisco.

Eight of the gentler sex yesterday started pushing seven and one-half pound brooms on the city's thoroughfares.

But they don't do it for free, as they sometimes do at home. Their pay is 95 cents an hour.

Second Defeats F For Initial Victory

The Second Platoon nosed out Squadron F, 2-0, at the City Park Thursday evening, giving it an initial victory in three tries against the F boys.

Both of the highly rated softball pitchers—Cpl. Leon Bredemeyer for 2nd Platoon and Cpl. Leroy Mullins for F—turned off top performances. Bredemeyer whiffed three, allowed only three hits and no walks. Mullins also held the hits to three, walked one and struck out two.

Some of the oldtime bleacher spirit was revived as civilians and spectators alike, jamming the stands, loudly argued decisions and merits of plays.

The Guard squadron, which already had lost its entire transfers, yesterday lost its manager, S-Sgt. Walter Dever, to a transfer and its catcher, Sgt. Sherman Johnson, to an appendectomy. Accordingly, the Guards withdraw and forfeited to Group I.

Last night's game completed the third round of the Big Spring Bombardier School's playoff with the Guards and Transition out voluntarily. Second and Fifth Platoons lead with three wins. Squadron F had two wins and a loss while Group I had one win and two losses. Seven rounds remain.

Feigle testified he took $50 and that Sgt. Thomas G. Redwine made an entry of "valvular heart trouble" in the man's examination papers.

Housewives Still Need To Save Fats

Stocks of fats and oils stand at record low levels, according to E. C. Munro, acting district representative of CCC's Office of Supply, USDA.

Factory and warehouse stocks of fats and oils on May 1 totaled 1,823 million pounds compared with 2,709 million pounds last year.

"This shortage of fats and oils plus the fact all of the principal sources of imports are still in Japanese hands should convince housewives of the growing need for intensified savings of used kitchen fats to fill essential war needs," Munro declared.

Texas Extension Service, industry, local salvage committees of the War Production Board, OPA and the United States Department of Agriculture have pooled all their resources to help housewives save 250 million pounds of used fats, their goal for 1945.
