HAPPY NEW YEAR! -cwe-

The New Year came in without our noticing; we were in front of the TV, watching recorded programs.

-cwe-Monday night cards had already been completed with Leroy and I winning both games. Rhonda and Barbara were our opponents.

. I went to the post office when we returned home Sunday afternoon and noticed the cars in front of the funeral home. -cwe-

It was the Christner family and friends. Mary K. Christner had died on Friday.

-cwe-Mary K. and I-bandaid buddies-spent nearly 25 years as a team delivering a baby, getting people out of wrecks and transporting the sick.

-cwe-And, we were in three wrecks ourselves. We found out what it was like to be waiting for the ambulance to come pick us up. (None of these were our fault).

for their Bryant Christmas -cwe-Cathi and Dorcie arrived on Wednesday morning to spend the remainder of the week, but had to leave Saturday morning, because they had a show at the store Saturday night.

-cwe-On Saturday evening, Barbara, Jennifer and I went to the home and Tate of Jeanna (Meriwether) Musea between Yukon and Mustang for the Meriwether Christmas.

-cwe-We certainly had a cold reception when we got home. We knew we had heater problems when we left. The heater, poor old thing, finally wore c after 30 some years.

-cwe-So far, we have only had one cold night. More repairs were made Monday morning. The replacement is in the works.

-cwe-

Stormie's Christmas was a little scattered out. She received her presents from Jenna, Greg and "Joe'ge"-pronounced with Stormie's southern drawl, and Baba and Pop Monday evening.

-cwe-

And she really needed our gifts; she had hardly received anything for Christmas. Ha! Ha! -cwe-

She had helped Jenna open "Joe'ge"'s presents from her Saturday evening.

I had read the email at OKC and was also saddened to see that Charlotte Coward had passed away.

-cwe-I always enjoyed a visit from Charlotte. She always had a story and a comeback when I tried to give her a hard time.

-cwe-Also on December 23, word was received of the death of relatively new friend, Tom Rose. We had gotten to know Tom through his visits with his cousin, Rhonda Meriwether. He had been fighting cancer for the past 18 months, but he did not give up without a fight and maintained his sense of humor.

---cwe-2007 was the year for saying good bye to friends. But, we know they are in a better place.

-cwe-My work on Tuesday, Jan. 1, was disturbed by our dedicated city employee, Frank Clymer, He was out scattering dirt on the ice in front of the businesses on Texas Street.

They had come up right after one of the snows last week and tried to get the snow up then, but the snow was too fine to pick up.

Vinnie Ruiz.....2

... Southern California that is.

Five days before Christmas we went to Oklahoma and brought our grandson, Kelton Green, home for a 9-day stay with us. He wanted to hunt with his grandpa and me. Now, in California that is not what we do with our grandchildren when they visit, but here in Texas that is pretty much the normal thing. Now, maybe my Texas husband, Glenn Frosty Forrest, just told me that for his own hunting needs as he loves to go every day to just watch the deer, if nothing else. We stopped in Weatherford, Oklahoma, on the way home and, lo and behold, there was an antique shop I had missed! Then, I found out that Kelton loved antique shops, too, and, yes, that is rather strange for a 12-year-old, but he said he likes old stuff. Maybe that is why he loves to stay with us. When we got home, he found out that he had brought his hunting boots...both for the left foot! That is different and I guess he has the matching pair in Oklahoma. Then, he found that he left his hunting license at home along with his coat. Grandpa's coat was too large and mine all had the buttons on the wrong side so they were all girlie things. It is too cold here to go without a heavy jacket. So, off we went to Amarillo...a mere 110 miles west. But, it was closer than his home by a long shot. I had to do Christmas some wore him out, for he slept all the away and went hunting every Christmas and we had a very happy young man. The telephone town of Binger, Oklahoma, were learn how to diet this week?!

My son, Patrick in California, called on Sunday and he got to talk to our 2-year-old great-granddaughter, Kendi. That girl amazes me with her adult speech as she told Patrick to come see her sometime. Guess he said for her to come see him for I heard her say, "Well, I'm already at drandma's house." Patrick was quite taken with her on the phone and I think he would have liked to have talked another 5 minutes, but she said, "Well, I have to go for now. Come me. Goodbye." Later, I took Kendi to watch me feed the chickens and she wanted to get into the pen with me. I thought it better to carry her since Glenn is her greatgrandfather, Henry just might think she was worth flogging. We took no chances and all was well as Henry was not interested in Kendi. The other day, Henry attacked Glenn's shoes and he got a spur caught in his shoelace. Poor Henry could not get loose and Glenn was a real gentleman for he could have slung Henry to the tree tops. Henry finally got the shoe lace untied and loose from it and then turned his back on Glenn strutting away as if nothing happened. Such is life on this three and a half acres. Happy New Year to all of you. With love, Betty Boydston.
