JOS. W. BAILEY WILL SPEAK HERE SATURDAY

According to a campaign schedule arranged for Congressman Jos. W. Bailey in his swing through the Panhandle, and published in Monday's Amarillo News, he will speak here Saturday forenoon. Lewis Occupies New Location

John Lewis is now located in the new brick service station and garage building just south of the Lott hotel, which he has named the Lewis Garage. Beginning the latter part of last week, Lewis has completed transfer from his former location opposite the People's store, where he was associated with Norwood McPherson.

McPherson and Lewis had first planned to continue their partnership and move the entire business to the new building. Later they decided to discontinue the dual ownership and each continue for himself. They had been associated for the past seven and a half years in the service station and garage business, in the same building. Their dissolution was effected amicably and with perfect harmony. McPherson will continue under the old firm name, The Wheeler Service station.

Lewis has an excellent location, with ample room to accommodate customers in all branches of the business. Al Talbott is employed as head mechanic in the repair department.

Both Mr. McPherson and Mr. Lewis have a wide acquaintance in Wheeler and throughout the county, and a host of friends will wish each of them success in their new undertakings.

SHERIFF BRINGS ALLEGED PERJURER FROM OKLAHOMA

Sheriff John Porter made a trip this week to Cleveland, Okla., where he took charge of T. R. Cooper, one of the witnesses appearing for the defense in the recent "Son" Jones' trial. Porter returned Wednesday with his man, who is lodged in jail here, charged with giving false testimony at the Jones' hearing. Bond is fixed at $2,500 in Cooper's case.

It was learned today that Mrs. Helen Cooper, one of the others confined in the county jail on the same charge in the same case, has raised bond for her freedom. The document awaits approval of Judge Ewing before she can be released.

WHEELER LADS MOP UP ON PAMPA BALL CLUB SUNDAY

Unable to come to Wheeler, Saturday, because of bad roads resulting from heavy rain this side of Pampa, the widely-touted Pampa Harvesters arrived Sunday for a session with the Wheeler ball-tossers. The visitors took a stinging defeat in a 23 to 3 game.

The Wheeler club is now under auspices of the American Legion. Failure to find other similar teams in the junior class, which the Legion had expected to sponsor locally, compelled abandonment of the younger ball players club. Now the ex-service men will back the older club, and hope to present some first class baseball here during the season.

The hostess served lovely refreshments of ice cream and cake.

Highway 152 to Get Finish Coat Shortly

Contract Let for Surfacing Strip from Wheeler to Gray County Line

That Wheeler county is soon to benefit in the sum of $35,299 additional road money expended for permanent improvements on Highway 152, from the county seat northwestward to the Gray county line, was shown in advices received here Tuesday. According to information reaching this office, a contract has been let to Coker & Braden, of Marshall, to finish the 16.8 mile stretch with a double bituminous surface.

It is not known just how quickly work will start on this project, but the supposition is that as soon as the necessary bond has been posted by the contractors operations will begin. Probably the next thirty days will see the job under way.

The new surfacing will consist of gravel and asphalt and will afford a permanent finish expected to last for many years.

This stretch of road was improved to its present status about three years ago, when the grade and drainage work was done and the base laid. It was not intended at the time to remain in that condition indefinitely. Some financial difficulties arose, however, which deferred completion longer than was anticipated. It is the opinion of those familiar with such matters that the proposed completion has not been arranged for any too soon, from an economy standpoint.

Although the base was laid according to specifications and has stood up as well as such construction could be expected to do under the travel to which it has been subjected, the fact remains that it is beginning to deteriorate. If left in its present condition much longer an additional outlay would be necessary to put it in shape for the surface coat.

The work soon to be undertaken on 152 will perfect another link in that main thoroughfare which will traverse Wheeler county from east to west before many more months have passed.

McPHERSONS ATTEND BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY SUNDAY

Mrs. J. D. Harrison and children gave a dinner Sunday, May 20, in honor of Mr. Harrison, who celebrated his 74th birthday at their home, six miles west of Shamrock.

Messrs. Weatherly and Derryberry recently discontinued their partnership and he is no longer associated with that enterprise.

Derryberry took up his new duties with the gas company this week.

A. cabinet and will spend ten days with the group at Hollister, Mo., on an outing and study trip.

County Again Leads In Oil Development

For Second Time in Few Weeks Has Most New Locations—West Side Favored

Wheeler county maintained its reputation as a "hot spot" in Panhandle oil and has development during the past week, with nine new locations out of 20. Gray county tallied eight and three were in Hutchinson county. The west side of Wheeler county proved to be the favored area of this sector, getting eight of the nine county locations.

Forty-three active drilling wells are reported in that region, with about 21 completions in the past 30 days. With 12 tests going down in other areas, the county had, the first of this week, a total of 55 potential oil or gas producers.

Last week showed the smallest number of completions in Wheeler and adjoining counties for several weeks. This was attributed partly to interference by rainy weather and partly to natural progress of the field. Average daily production, however, not only held up to normal but totaled a slight increase.

New locations in Wheeler county are as follows:

Dyke Oil Company No. 1 Sitter has the cellar ready and is moving in rig 330 feet from the north line and 330 feet from the east line of the north half of the northwest quarter of section 28, block 24, H&GN survey.

Dumar Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Bell has been located 660 feet from the south line and 660 feet from the east line of the southwest quarter of section 73, block 23, H&GN survey.

Humble O&R Co. No. 3 Koons has the cellar 330 feet from the south line and 330 feet from the east line of the northwest quarter of section 43, block 24, H&GN survey.

Magic Oil Company No. 3 Koons has the cellar ready 1,650 feet from the east line and 330 feet from the south line of the north half of the southeast quarter of section 43, block 24, H&GN survey.

Mert Oil Company No. 3 Sitter has been located 330 feet from the north line and 330 feet from the west line of the northeast quarter of section 33, block 24, H&GN survey.

Skelly Oil Company No. 2 Derrick has the rig on the ground 330 feet from the south line and 330 feet from the west line of the south half of section 53, block 24, H&GN survey.

Smith Bros. No. 2 Harlan has the cellar 330 feet from the north line and 660 feet from the east line of the northwest quarter of section 49, block 24, H&GN survey.

Smith Bros. No. 1 Plummer has the cellar 330 feet from the north line and 330 feet from the east line of the north half of the southwest quarter of section 45, block 24, H&GN survey.

Texas Company No. 1 Kellar is building the rig 330 feet from the north line and 330 feet from the west line of the northwest quarter of section 48, block 24, H&GN survey.

Within the past ten days a six-inch line of the Texas company from the Lefors station to the Carwiles lease in 31, in western Wheeler county has been completed. Two other lines tap the field there, the Humble and the Shamrock, with each running to capacity. The new line is the first major oil line construction in the Panhandle for two years.

WHEELER GOLF CLUB ORGANIZATION COMPLETE

Christened the Hillcrest Golf club, a local organization composed of some 23 members was perfected this week. A course beginning at the Stanley grove, in the southeast part of town, and extending southward over adjacent lands has been secured and work of putting it in shape for use is progressing rapidly.

It was stated yesterday by one of the club sponsors that the grounds should be in readiness by Saturday or Sunday, when the public is invited to inspect the course and devotees of the sport may shoot a few—just to try it out.

Fred Farmer, Dr. H. E. Nicholson and R. H. Forrester were Amarillo visitors last Thursday night at an initiation session of the 40 and 8, a "playtime" organization of the American Legion.

PLANE LEFT WEDNESDAY

Barney Barnard, a pilot who has made his headquarters at the J. R. Cooper home in Wheeler since the air show early in April, left this week. On Wednesday, Barnard took his ship to Sherman, where he expects to have a new motor installed.

Warning Issued to Livestock Owners

County Attorney Clyde Fillmore has issued the following warning concerning livestock being allowed to run at large upon the highways of the county. It is a friendly bit of advice, intended to remind the public of the legal restrictions, and possibly avert serious human or animal injuries or even loss of life.

"There has been much complaint of late about horses and cattle and other livestock being permitted to run loose upon the highways in Wheeler county," states Fillmore.

"Such practice endangers the life of every person driving an automobile and has already been the cause of several serious accidents, and if continued may result in accidents which might prove fatal to the occupants of the automobile.

"Since Wheeler county has a county-wide stock law it is therefore unlawful for any person to permit horses, cattle and other livestock to run at large or be on the highways in this county, and Article 1370 of the Penal Code provides for a fine of not less than $5 and not more than $200 for any person who does so permit his livestock to run at large and be upon the highways of this county.

"So please, for your own protection, and for the safety of the traveling public, try and keep your livestock up and not let them wander about, either during the day or night upon our highways."

BUSY BEE DEMONSTRATORS GIVE PRE-NUPTIAL SHOWER

At the conclusion of the contests and games, delicious refreshments of cake and punch were served to mesdames E. H. Herd, Rufus Watts, S. A. Maxwell, J. E. Willard, J. M. Herd, H. H. Herd, J. B. Roper, C. C. Robinson, Elmer Maxwell, Lawrence Crowder, Russel Criner, Roy Esslinger, L. A. Gaines, Cleo Gaines, J. H. Richards, Lee McCasland and J. B. Crowder; and Misses Muri and Jackie Gaines, Bessie Herd, Adell and Alver Hampton, Lorene Roper, June Ashley, Norma Lou Maxwell and the honoree.

PORTER'S STOLEN CAR FOUND IN DENVER; ARREST SUSPECT

Word reached Wheeler the latter part of last week that Glen Porter's Chevrolet, stolen from a garage here on the night of May 17, had been located in Denver, Colo. When found the car was in possession of John Bennett, who was attempting to sell it. He was arrested and charged with the theft. Efforts are being made to obtain extradition papers and return Bennett here for trial.

Up to Thursday, the car had not been returned to Wheeler, although it is expected in soon. The insurance company is handling the matter.

BAPTIST MISSIONARY MEETS

The W. M. U. of the Baptist church met Monday afternoon at the church with 12 members and one guest present. Mrs. R. E. Brazil was leader of an interesting missionary program taken from the Royal Service magazine. She was assisted by Mesdames Ernest Dyer, Jim Risner, Minnie Farmer, Alamo Starkey, C. R. Weatherly, Lee Guthrie, W. W. Perrin and C. G. Miller and Rev. Alamo Starkey.

During a short business meeting, a daily vacation Bible school was discussed. Also it was decided to organize a group of Royal Ambassadors for the boys and a girls' auxiliary at an early date. Rev. and Mrs. Starkey will be in charge of the organization.

Sue, the three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tobe Giles was quite ill Tuesday, with bronchial pneumonia. She has been ill for a week.

Huge Amount Cotton Payments for County

Grand Total of Nearly $300,000 Coming to Farmers—First Payment in June

Figures issued today by the county agent's office on cotton acreage reduction and the amount of money thereby due Wheeler county farmers show a surprising total, especially the money involved.

Wheeler county has a total of 1,282 cotton acreage reduction contracts for the years of 1934 and 1935 which have been approved. Settlement to be made on the rental basis total $227,497.70, to come in two payments. Added to this will be a total parity payment of not less than $66,452.26, which is figured on the basis of one cent per pound on 40 per cent of the total farm allotments. It is possible that the parity payments may be as much or more than the rental payments.

The above sums aggregate $293,949.96, which will be paid to Wheeler county farmers holding reduction contracts. This huge sum covers the cash payments which the government is making to them for not planting cotton on 36,771 acres, which is approximately 40 per cent of the allowable cotton acreage for the county.

The first installment of rental money is expected during the early part of June, according to Jake Tarter, county agent. The second installment is looked for about August 1. The parity payment will be paid some time between December 1, and the first of January, 1935.

CITY DEVELOPERS ATTEND PERRYTON ROAD MEETING

R. E. Brazil, president, and C. R. Weatherly, secretary of the Board of City Development, attended the tenth annual meeting of the Great Plains Highway association, held at Perryton on Tuesday of this week. These men represented Wheeler at the gathering, and brought back a fine report.

This association, with J. V. Romigh as president, has headquarters in North Platte, Nebr. Its object is to obtain recognition of a designed federal route from Canada to Old Mexico. That goal now appears to be definitely assured. Boosters for the organization have labored long and hard to accomplish their purpose.

Tuesday's meeting was attended by delegates and good roads boosters from as far south as San Antonio, and from cities along the route northward for a considerable distance. Much enthusiasm prevailed throughout the sessions. Great hopes were expressed that, with the ironing out of certain minor difficulties now accomplished, progress toward perfecting the road and properly publicizing its advantages will make rapid headway.

It is confidently believed that within a reasonably short time the route will be extended further into Mexico. Its eventual objective is a north and south thoroughfare from Canada to South America.

The greatest local interest in the huge enterprise lies in the fact that Wheeler is on the highway, and that it will strive to do its share toward upbuilding and furthering the road, and expects to derive its share of benefit from the traffic passing over a great transcontinental road.

WEDNESDAY STUDY CLUB ENJOYED FINE PROGRAM

The Wednesday Study club met at the club room in the court house, May 23, when a most enjoyable Bible program was given, with Mrs. R. E. Brazil as leader. The meeting was opened by singing in unison, "Wonderful Words of Life," followed by the club prayer. Roll call was answered by a favorite Bible verse.

The club was fortunate in having as its speaker Rev. J. Edmund Kirby, who discussed the subject: "The Bible as It is Exemplified in Human Nature." A round table discussion was given on, "Women Characters of the Bible." Mrs. Robert Bowers and Mrs. Cora Hall sang a duet, "Thy Word is Like a Garden, Lord."

Those present were Mesdames Melvin Howe, Robert Bowers, C. B. Witt, Cora Hall, C. F. Pennington, Buck Britt, J. M. Porter, R. E. Brazil and Rev. Kirby.

The next meeting of the club will be on June 13, when a Federation Day program will be observed.

REAL CROP REDUCTION

Main agricultural problem is surplus. Solution was the crop-curtailment plan, whereby the government signs agreements with farmers stipulating how much of every kind of product they can produce. In return, the government pays them for the land taken out of cultivation.

Now a greater power than legislation has taken a hand—and shown the nation what crop curtailment in the grand manner is. The power is nature. The crop is wheat.

The middle west is literally a desert.
There hasn't been so disastrous a spring in 40 years, and great agricultural states are dry as the Sahara.
The drought is trimming almost two million bushels of wheat a day from the official May 1 crop estimate.

The drought was accompanied by a dust storm that picked up billions of pounds of top-soil, with its planted grain, and carried it away, to fall along the Atlantic seaboard as well as the middle western cities. Some of it fell on the dome of the capital at Washington. Some fell in Wall Street. Twelve million pounds fell in metropolitan Chicago—four pounds for every man, woman and child in the city.

Federal farm officials are considering allowing farmers to plant areas that were retired—have advanced the date for signing wheat production control contracts. In many areas hit by drought it will be impossible to raise any crops at all this year, and government benefit payments will be the only source of income the farmers will have. Even abundant rainfall could not save the crops, as great has been the damage.

As a result, the agricultural administration has a new and grave problem on its hands—how to carry stricken farmers through a barren year.

A GRAVE RESPONSIBILITY

The automobile got off to a bad start in 1934. Returns for January show an increase of close to 17 per cent in motor vehicle fatalities, as compared with January, 1933. The death total for the month was 2,409
—only very slightly less than in the same month of 1931, the year which established the existing "high" for fatal automobile accidents.

That record places a heavy responsibility on automobile drivers and traffic authorities. The reckless, the incompetent, the discourteous, continue to rule the highways. They are, of course, in the minority, representing less than ten per cent of all motorists. But they menace the lives, health and property of the 90 per cent who are competent, cautious and courteous.

There are three distinct phases to the automobile accident problem. One is traffic laws—the state or community which lacks a reasonable, modernized traffic code, thoroughly and efficiently enforced by highway police, is itself, encouraging accidents.
The second phase is the licensing of drivers—as yet, only a proportion of states have set up machinery for checking on the experience, the ability, and the physical attributes of motorists. The third phase is the car itself—millions of automobiles which are defective in brakes, steering mechanism, lights or signaling devices are permitted to use the streets and highways.

Every responsible citizen should stand squarely behind proposals designed to reform, perfect and improve legislation concerning one or another of these factors. The automobile is killing 30,000 people every year—and no one knows where death, behind the steering wheel, will strike
next.

MAY BE SHORT LIVED

The Clarendon News is authority for the statement that horse racing in Texas may be short-lived. Nearly $4,000,000 was gambled away by North Texas people at Arlington
Downs says that paper with the result that among Fort Worth and Dallas merchants there is a mounting dissatisfaction over the fact that the races not only are subversive of morality but are disastrous to collections.

While there is another side to the reports which come out of the North Texas metropolises, namely that the races at Arlington Downs and at the state fair grounds brought in thousands of visitors to spend their money,
The News declares that "we may expect a righteous indignation combine of business men to appear before the next legislature with a set determination to rid Texas of the dire results of horse-race gambling." The argument is made, especially, that much of the money put up on the races was by people who could ill afford the luxury, in fact needed all their money to pay for necessities of life.

Somewhere between the two extremes—the one that public morals can be controlled by law and the other governmental recognition should be given all forms of license —somewhere between these two lies the answer of wisdom. Society has the acute and ever-present problem of answering the riddle.

WANTED—A NEW STATE

There is considerable agitation in the panhandle of Oklahoma and the southwestern part of that state for the creation of a State of Texas out of some thirty or forty counties in northwest Texas and seventeen or eighteen counties in west and southwest Oklahoma, says the Amarillo Daily News.

This kind of agitation arises about every so often, but nothing ever comes of it.

We wish we could get the farmers of this section as hot and hostile about this movement as they get about a lot of things not half so important. Our part of Texas is not getting any consideration whatsoever in a hundred different ways in the legislative and executive councils of the state. It is attached for rever-sive purposes only. It is "away out yonder" really and truly to every state executive we have with two possible exceptions. The Panhandle and plains country just helps pay the bills.

Down in Texas they have the pleasure of being "their own folks." They know their senators, their governors, their commissioner of agriculture and everything. They even know the make-up of the commissions and bureaus, scores in number—who they are, their background, everything.
Dallas, (20 square miles) for instance, has three congressmen in Washington—two of them ostensibly congressmen-at-large. Cherokee county has a congressman-at-large elected because West Texas had an immense growth in population between 1920
and 1930.

But West Texas farmers meet on the streets and raise hell about Jim Ferguson or something when there are plenty of things that really matter.

Of course, making a state out of some Oklahoma and some Texas counties could not hurdle the legal and constitutional objections that could and would be raised. But no constitutional barriers could be raised against the creation of a state of West Texas. It would be according to the agreement made when Texas
—a free republic in its own names—was admitted into the union. 100 or more counties in this area would make a wonderful state. We could make our taxes high or low as we wanted to do. We could have some state institutions that we could see, if we were too poor to set them up
we could wait until we had sufficient wealth to establish them. We could have senators we know, we could have a governor of our own pattern. We could raise Cain about something of which we would have some knowledge of our own. We could be rid of Dallas and San Antonio and Houston and Beaumont and play woods domination.

Dividing Texas and giving West Texans an opportunity to be their own people in their own way, with charity toward all and malice toward none, is not just an idea. It is badly needed to give a young civilization its opportunity to beat away from the beseating prejudices and lowland ideas of government.—Floyd County Hesperian.

Robbery with firearms is getting all too common in Texas. Although it is a capital offense, the courts are assessing light penalties and just so long as the bandit thinks he can rob, kidnap and even kill with impunity,
he will pursue that calling and recruits will be coming in on every hand. When a citizen cannot drive a few miles in the country without being robbed and shot it is time the officers of the law bestirred themselves. People can't feel safe to be out after dark and city people cannot drive out for fresh air at night and feel safe. What is our country coming to and how will it all end?—
Miami Chief.

tlemen of Texas and president of the Canadian State Bank, died at his home Friday night, May 18, at 8:45 o'clock following a three months illness.

Mr. Issues was one of the most widely known and highly respected of cattlemen in the Panhandle. He had resided in Canadian for the past 46 years and had been engaged in the cattle business in Texas practically all his life, since manhood.—Canadian

After the program the girls played, "Pleased and Displeased" and one girl had Miss Williams go behind the stage curtain and found a basket filled with utensils.

It Must Be All Over

It seems that the time we have most wished for in life has come, and yet we do not feel as big and as smart as we should. We realize that it is impossible for this group to stay in dear old W. H. S. forever because we must part and make room for others who are just as intelligent as we are. We don't like to be told "good-bye" and "farewell" but it seems that it must be. Now, we realize just how the senior classes who have gone before us felt and how those that will follow shall feel. This is one of the greatest times in our life yet, it is one of the saddest as some of the seniors will never enter into another school career during their life.

Probably the teachers and underclassmen will miss us from classes and study hall next year, but we will miss them as much, if not more, than they will us. Isn't it strange why students say, "If I ever get out of this school, I'll be glad," but if you notice when the last round comes, these pupils usually have to swallow a lump and maybe shed a few tears.

We wish to thank the "Corral" for the dedication of this paper to the senior class of 1934, as we realize that this same group shall never have this honor bestowed upon them again in school history. We know that we have enjoyed our school days immensely, but it seems that it took a long time to realize the matter. Now, this is farewell and adieu to each and to all. Again we wish to thank each one who has made it possible for this class to have spent such pleasant days in school, and we sincerely hope that we may accomplish "things" in the world so you may feel that your efforts were not all in vain. So good-bye.—A.M.P.

TWO SENIOR GIRLS GIVE CLASSMATES PARTIES

On last Wednesday night, the senior class was entertained with a party at the Joe Pillars home, about six miles south of Wheeler. The party was in honor of Willie Mae Hollabaugh and Velma Pillar's birthdays.

Games were played in the house and outdoors. Refreshments of cookies and lemonade were served to the sponsor, Miss Winona Adams, Anna Mae Puett, Marguerite and Bessie May Ficke, Exie Creekmore, Doraean Woods, Inez Shipman, Thelma Bradstreet, Ruth Dill, J. C. and A. B. Turner, C. L. Balch, Earl Farris, Raymond Creekmore, Chris McClain, Coy Hix, Walter Adams, Billy McCarroll and the honorees Velma and Willie Mae.

Inez Shipman gave a party for the seniors at her home last Thursday night, May 24. Many interesting outdoor games were played. The seniors present were Exie Creekmore, Marguerite and Bessie May Ficke, Ruth Dill, J. C. and A. B. Turner, C. L. Balch, Billy McCarroll, Walter Adams, Coy Hix, Joe Field Meek, John May, Earl Farris, Dewey Vice, Chris McClain and the hostess, Inez.

CAUGHT IN THE LASSOO'S NOOSE

What will the girls do next year without C. L. and Raymond to flirt with?

School will not seem natural next term, because Walter and Willie Mae will not be there to hold hands.

It seems as if Elizabeth didn't want to organize with Bessie Mae and form a "No date club."

Come, come, Walter! You were talking about a senior girl's conduct Sunday. Do you think you are innocent?

Ruth Dill seems to be giving Curtis a sweet farewell Tuesday afternoon.

I can't say anything about wishing some people a happy(?) life, so I won't mention it, Doraean.

Can you imagine it? An ex-senior has beaten J. C.'s and Joe Field's time with a certain Ficke girl.

INTERVIEWS

Starting his high school days in Elk City, Okla., Dewey Vise went there three semesters. During this time he was secretary of the freshman class and played on the football team. From there he went to Briscoe where he took up school work and stayed there a year and a half. While at Briscoe, Dewey was on the debating and track teams.

He then came to Wheeler, although he wasn't out at the first of the season, he was a member of the football squad. Dewey was in the first senior play of the year, taking the part of a college professor. His ambition is to be an aviator, and he plans to go to A. and M. college next year.

A popular member of the senior class who started his school days at Corn Valley is "Creeky" or Raymond Creekmore. During his sophomore year at Corn Valley he was president of the class and captain of the basketball team.

"Creeky" spent one year at Mobeetie; there he was a member of the basketball team and in the senior play. Raymond then came to Wheeler to finish his schooling. Here he was co-captain of the basketball team, a letterman in football, and a member of the track squad. "Creeky" was the leading man in "The Ghost Chaser," a play given by the senior class.

Raymond plans to go to Washington and take a course in aviation.

Augusta Guynes states that she has spent all her school career in Wheeler. She enjoys attending dances and picture shows and she likes playing baseball. Augusta does not know just what her hobby is as she likes to do so many things. Her highest ambition at present is to learn to skate and she thinks that she can soon get this accomplished if she can get to the roller rinks somewhere. Her worst by-word is "aw, heck." She says that she does not have any nickname but I think that it is "Runt" and "Gusta." "Gusta" says that she doesn't plan to enter school next fall but her plans may change before that time comes.

Augusta has been a member of the pep squad for the past two years and a loyal booster of the senior class. Augusta has never been known to lose her temper although she is "red headed" as the saying is.

Florine Callan is the girl that is seen with Augusta Guynes and is about the same size as her chum. Florine says that the only good by-word that she can think of just now is "aw, shoot." She likes to play baseball and to attend the movies at all times. She states that if she has any ambitions, they are to enter business school next fall. She says that some people like to call her "Pee Wee," but that isn't her name. She is also a popular member of the senior class. All of her school thus far has been spent in Wheeler.

Florine has been a member of the Spanish club for two years and a member of the pep squad for the past three years. She is good natured and has many friends. Here's hoping that she gets to enter Hill's Business College next fall as these are her plans at present.

Lorene Roper has gone to school here all of her life and is still having a good time, so she says.

Lorene is a member of the Spanish and Home Economics clubs; her favorite subject is English and hobby is holding boys' hands (yes she is truthful.) She seems to be interested in the well known "Hibe" family. She thinks that it is fun sitting on the back seat of the study hall, especially when there is a handsome young blond to entertain. Lorene does not plan to go to school next year and it looks bad cause she confessed that her ambition was to get married.

SNICKERS

Tuffy: "What's the matter with you? We're dignified seniors."

H. E.: "Well, why don't you act like it?"

Faye: "I used to like Donald quite a lot, but he died."

Mary: "I can't blame him."

Charlie: "What is the right way of pronouncing this word, 'Fancil'?"
Derwood: "Oh, it's quite easy, just as if you were slightly tight."

C. L.: "I was never 'canned,' but once in my life, and that was for speaking the truth."

Walter: "Well, it sure cured you."

Seniors Observe Two Big Events

Two important dates in every senior's calendar have been celebrated this week: The commencement sermon and class night. The 28 graduates are now looking forward to the final exercise tonight, commencement night.

The sermon was unique in that it was preached at a twilight service on the west side of the courthouse lawn. Rev. J. F. Kirby was the speaker; he was assisted by Rev. Alamo Starkey who gave the invocation and the benediction and Rev. Flavil R. Yeakley, who read the scripture lesson.

A special song, "My Anchor Holds," was sung by Mrs. G. O. McCrohan, Mrs. Tom Britt, Ernest Lee, Walter Flynt, Tom Wood, Lawrence Crowder, W. O. Puett, and C. J. Meek. The choir sang, "Day is Dying in the West," "America the Beautiful," and "The Awakening Chorus." Mrs. McCrohan played the piano and Helen Gilmore and Dawn Weatherly assisted with their violins. Ushers were six members of the sophomore class: Faye Ficke, Nerine Young, Ruth Garrison, Billy Noah, Junior Jamison and Warren Mitchell.

On Tuesday night the seniors observed class night. Bessie Mae Ficke announced each senior's name and outstanding activity as he came on the stage. Walter Adams class treasurer, read the program which was as follows:

Mobeetie Happenings

Vacation Bible School Is Very Successful

First Effort of its Kind Attracts Enrollment of 60—Much Interest Shown

Mobeetie Methodist church is in the second week of a very successful Vacation Bible School. This is the first school of its kind ever attempted in Mobeetie. Over 60 pupils have been enrolled and there has been an average attendance of about 50.

The children are enthused about the school and some have wished that it would last all summer. Through the splendid leadership of their teachers, they are learning to study, play, sing, pray and worship together. The central theme of the school has been Christian citizenship and the children have enthusiastically carried out this theme.

The school has truly been a revival among the children, and it is the thought of the pastor that it will do much good.

Leaders of the school appreciate very much the splendid co-operation given them by the parents, and they hope that their efforts may be a help to the children and the homes of the community.

TO ELECT TEACHERS

At a school board meeting on May 19, one teacher was selected. The board will meet again on June 9, and elect teachers to fill the two remaining vacancies in the grade school.

The following teachers from last year's faculty will be back: Carl Chaudoin, superintendent, and the following high school teachers: J. M. Knowles, Elsie Simpson, Jennie Lynn Walker and Hazel Cooper. In

A good rain fell over the Mobeetie territory last Saturday morning. The rain was very heavy west of town, and the creeks were higher than any time in several years. Several animals were drowned and the Mobeetie gas line was broken by the flood waters. The rain was very beneficial to the farmers.

This promises to be an exceptionally interesting play and the public is urged to attend. Funds realized will be used to support a needy cause.

METHODIST MISSIONARY MEETS

The missionary society of the M. E. church met on Monday of last week at 2:30 p. m. in the church, with Mrs. H. E. Nicholson in charge of the program, which consisted of choice articles from the World Outlook of May, not including the regular Outlook program for June. Assisting Mrs. Nicholson were Mesdames Wren, Kirby, Badly, Robison and Adams.

For the past three months at one meeting each month, Brazil has been the subject for discussion. As Brazil is one of the most promising fields for missions, the study has been one of much interest. When the needs of institutional churches were ably set forth in an article by Zula Terry (I had known Miss Terry when she taught in one of the grade schools in Texas City), and knowing her Christian worth and merit as an educator, my interest was vastly greater than it had been before.

It is said we forget those we do not see,
But I have not found it so.
Even Heaven could not be so glorious for me
If no friends were there I know.

Or
It is said we forget those we do not see,
But I have not found it true.
Why, Heaven, it seems, would be less fair to me
If no friends were there I once knew.

SAMUEL HILL MITCHELL

A resident of Wheeler and vicinity for several years, Samuel Hill Mitchell passed away at his home in this city on Saturday, May 19, a few days after suffering a paralytic stroke, culmination of the dread malady which had afflicted him for some time.

Mitchell was born at Knoxville, Tenn., on February 6, 1887, and died at Wheeler, Texas, on May 19, 1934, at the age of 47 years, three months and 15 days. He was married to Maggie Clements at Pleasant Hill, Mo., November 8, 1911. To this union were born ten children, two of whom preceded the father in death.

Besides the sorrowing widow, Mitchell is survived by eight children: James, Magnolia, Jesse Lee, Edna Mae, Marie, Junior, Woodrow and Evelyn.

Funeral services were conducted at the home Sunday afternoon by Rev.

Alvin Walls, pastor of the Assembly of God church in Wheeler. Burial rites were directed by the Wheeler Funeral Home, with interment in the White Deer cemetery.

"Cornered"

Tim McCoy and Shirley Grey come to the Rogue Friday, Saturday and Sunday matinee in a real western entitled, "Cornered." Shirley is the little Miss who played with Buck Jones in Treason, and all who saw her in that one will be pleased to welcome her again in, "Cornered." Tim promises plenty of action and thrills for lovers of outdoor stories. Then, there will be a Mickey McGuire in a real top-notch comedy, which will please all. The title is "Mickey's Covered Wagon." It is really a kid western and the best comedy that Mickey has ever appeared in.

"Storm at Daybreak"

It has been some time since either Nils Asther or Kay Francis have made an appearance in Wheeler. This time they appear together at the Rogue, Monday and Tuesday in a picture of the better class of entertainment, "Storm at Daybreak." As for a title we admit that this one is not so hot. Neither was the title of "Stranger's Return" or "Another Language," so hot, but both of them turned out to be good pictures—far above the average. And, with this in mind, we feel sure that you will be pleased with Miss Asther in "Storm at Daybreak." Also, a comedy called "The Daredevil."

So strong and compelling was this that to save her life she could not help the flicker of her eyelids, the almost unbearable desire to turn and look. But she did not turn. Angry to her boot heels, both with her out- raged memory and with herself, she walked to the door and out. So stirred was she within herself that she sat slumped in her seat, her hands thrust in her sweater pockets, and did not turn even when she heard Parks, or who she thought was Parks, come out across the porch with her box of sup- plies.

“Put them in back,” she said, nod- ding over her shoulder, “and thanks.”

As she reached for the gearshift she stopped in the act, arrested by a voice that was not Parks’.

“Miss Savarin,” it said, “can I speak to you a minute?”

Sonya straightened up and looked at the owner of the voice. Straight in the eyes she looked him, her mouth shut hard again.

And at that straight look she saw again the wild blue eyes under the level bronze brows that had stared down in her face as she hung to the dead root of the pinon stump on the windswept face of Lone Mesa.

But they were vastly changed. The black pupils that had spread so wildly over the blue of the iris that day were normal now, the expression anxious.

“Well?” she said thinly. “Why should you talk to me?”

“Why—why, just because it seems I must. I want to—to tell you—to ask you if— Can you believe me when I tell you that I’ve never had a minute’s peace since that day on the Mesa? I’ve never forgotten your face—or your hands—or the wind blowing your hair up around your head when you hung—there. I’m a bad lot, Miss Savarin, and not fit to speak to you or look at you, but no matter what I am I’ve got to tell you this—that there’s enough white man in me to make me live in hell because of what I did—or tried to do—to you. I’m on my knees to you. Not asking your forgiveness—that couldn’t be—but just down in the dirt and wanting you to know it. That’s all. Thanks for listening.”

He took off his hat and turned sharply on his heel, and as Sonya threw in the clutch and roared away she was conscious of the two dark strangers and Parks in the shadow of the doorway intently watching them both.

So. He was in hell, was he? In the dirt, was he? Well, that was where he deserved to be, rotter that he was!

A tall man. Lean and built with un- usual grace. Narrow hiped, broad shouldered, straight in the back. He wore a blue flannel shirt with pearl buttons and a dark hat, and there were belled spurs on his stitched boots. Cowboy stuff, yet she did not know of any cattle ranch in this wide sheep country where he might work.

Where did he come from? What was he doing in this part of the coun- try? Why had he come round the curve of Two Fingers’ hogan that day —on foot? She’d ask Two Fingers about that matter.

Yes, she would do so. She had a certain right to know who this man was and what he did in this land, since he had all but been her death.

“Well,” said Serge at supper, “it seems lonely without Rod. Good old scout. You’re a lucky girl, Sonya.”

“Am I?” said Sonya. “Sometimes I wonder.”

“What? About Rod Blake? No finer man in this world! He’s still young, and one of the best lawyers in New York; rich, partly by his own efforts, partly by family inheritance, of good blood and impeccable prin- ciples. I’m surprised at you.”

“Yes. Well, maybe,” said the girl. Lila looked at her across the table for a long moment with a strange ex- pression in her eyes but said nothing. Later, as the two women washed the dishes and set the house to rights for the night, she look at her again.

“Sonya darling,” she said calmly, “Rod Blake is not the man. I don’t believe you love Rod, honestly, deep down, as a woman should love the man she marries. I haven’t thought so for a long time, for nearly all of this last visit of his.”

A flame of loyalty flared up in Sonya.

“Lila!” she said hotly. “Of course I love him, the old dear. Go on, put Baba to bed, and don’t worry that yellow head of yours. By this time next year I’ll be Mrs. Rodney Blake, riding around New York in a limousine—and you’ll be darned lonesome out here without me.”

“And how!” said Lila inelegantly but fervently. “I don’t want to think about it.”

“Then don’t. There’s a long time and a lot of things between.”

How long and how many, measured by their importance, Sonya herself could not foresee.

The next day she rode over to Chee wash again and found Little Moon so much better that she was sitting up. Also she found one of her enemies. This was Yellow Buck, a medicine man, who regarded her service to his people as a direct inroad on his territory and hated her accordingly. She was trying to replace his sings and devil-chasing with the medicine in her saddlebags. She was all bad.

“Two Fingers,” said Sonya when she was ready to leave that day, “who was the man who came here on foot the day my man came after me? Tall man with sun hair, sky eyes?”

Two Fingers shook his head.

“No can say,” he said. “Come here for other horse. His horse go bad lame. I give him horse, go get his next day. In corral now, Good horse. No see so good horse, ever. Come see.”

“No Can Say,” He Said. “Come Here for Other Horse.”

Sonya swung up on Darkness and followed him around the hogan and up a little rise to where several brush- and-stick corrals stood among some low trees. There, in one of them, stood such a horse as she had not seen ever, either. Taller than Darkness, who was a fine specimen of native animal which the Indians called American horse, bright as new gold and of its color, though paler, this horse was built with a grace and beauty that transcended description.

“My heavens!” said Sonya wonder- ingly. “My heavens! You’re right, Two Fingers. No see so good horse, ever. And this is not the one—”

She had almost said, “he rode on Lone Mesa,” but checked herself.

“Well,” she said instead, “I must get going. Long ride home. You take good care of Little Moon. I’ll come back in three days.”

So she jogged away down Chee wash, her hat down over her eyes, smiling a little just in the joy of living and the beauty of the desert.

There was no one sick about, now that Little Moon was getting well, and she would do some of the things she had wanted to do for herself for a long time. For one, she would go over and spend a couple of days with her friend Myra Little, on the Black Sheep ranch. She hadn’t seen her for three months, and she was very fond of her.

Lila agreed heartily with Sonya’s plan to visit Myra Little, and two days later the girl departed on Darkness.

She started early to avoid as much of the day’s heat as possible, and made the long hard ride in good time, trotting into Myra’s door yard just as she was putting dinner on the table.

Myra, a tall gaunt woman, desert bitten of face and form but dawn fair inside her soul, was at her stirrup before she could dismount.

“My soul alive!” she cried catching the girl’s hand, “now just isn’t this a treat! Ah, Sonya, how glad I am to see you!”

She put her arm around the girl’s waist and the two women entered the wide low ranch house where the savory smell of baked mutton and potatoes scented the warm air.

CONTEMPORARY THOUGHT

A young man took his vacation working in the Maine woods. He was put at one end of a cross-cut saw cutting trees into sawlog length. After two hours he was hardly able to go on. His back was well nigh broken and his spirit completely so. At the other end of the saw a brawny wood- man paused at the end of three hours and said, “Young fellow, I don’t mind your riding on that end of the saw, but for the love of Mike, stop letting your feet drag on the ground.” Maybe that’s what you are doing in your home town—not only riding on the town but dragging your feet. The least you can do is to quit dragging. —Tulia Herald.

An old timer says that the modern petting party reminds him of rock salt placed out for the cattle to lick and slobber over. Well, that’s that. —Donley County Leader.

And speaking of rabbits, Childress County has placed a bounty of five cents a pair on all rabbits killed in that county after May 28. The order was passed by the Commissioners Court.—Wellington Leader.

Does it Pay To Be Honest?

$8.50 Given in Prizes for Best Answers

In the February issue of the American Magazine, “A Young Man Speaks His Mind,” and asks, “why should I, or any other young fellow, be honest?” He says: “I think honesty is not necessary for business success and dishonesty pays, at least sooner. It looks to me as if it doesn’t make much difference whether you are honest or dishonest, because people don’t seem to care about honesty. Neither do they care about dishonesty unless they consciously suffer by it. . . .”

“I’ve watched until I know how to be a respected crook and it’s simple. Anybody can do it. You make people laugh. You sympathize with them. You agree with them. You are polite. You flatter them. You do an occasional conspicuous good deed, like returning a lost pocket-book with a lot of money in it, or giving a lot to charity. You have a legitimate business. Behind that front you work your graft. If your graft is exposed you cry to the farthest stars of cruelty and persecution, and everybody will be sorry for you. It looks to me as if chances of failure aren’t any greater than in strictly honest business. I doubt if they are as great.

“I want to be a lawyer and then go into politics. I know I could make money. Others do it. People talk their heads off about rotten politics, but did you ever hear of any group seriously setting out to discover if a political candidate is a person of moral integrity? I never did. . . .”

“Honesty could pay big if the so-called good people of this world cared enough about it to patronize it. But good people do not practice what they preach. Consequently, honesty does not pay.”

This young man asked the editor of the American Magazine for one good reason why he should be honest, and promises if that reason is a reasonable one, he will be honest.

The Wheeler Times will pay $5.00 in cash for the best letter giving reasons why one should be honest; $2.50 for the second, and $1.00 for the third.

Anyone may submit a letter on this subject. All communications on the subject must reach The Wheeler Times not later than July 1, 1934. Awards will be made immediately, and winners announced in the July 5th issue of The Times.

Right is reserved to publish any or all letters, in whole or in part. No letters will be returned to senders. No obligation, implied or otherwise, attaches to submission of letters. All entries will be judged by a fair and impartial committee.

She is a very brilliant girl, and she doesn't talk much. She is a sophomore, blond haired, small, and very agreeable. The “Boy Friend” doesn't worry her, for she is level-headed. She manages to get over “Mr. Roger's passing line.” When she works, she enjoys it. Well, in all, she is an excellent student, and well-behaved child—that is she is just an old fashioned girl. She only takes five subjects; you should see her report card. I'll venture to say that her mama never spansks her for making Ds. She can wash dishes, too; so you see she is a very desirable person.

Mrs. Smith plans to take a correspondence course or an extension course to be given at Shamrock; Wheeler or Wellington.

Mr. Montgomery plans to visit his people at Lubbock about two weeks. Then he is going to enter the Texas University at Austin.

Miss Scott plans to get married or to enter W. T. S. T. C. this summer. She has already received her B. A. degree and will start work on her masters degree.

Mrs. Cook plans to enter Texas Tech this summer.

Mr. Dodd and Mr. Evans are planning to either take an extension or a correspondence course.

Miss Hicks plans to enter school at Denton this summer.

The other three teachers are undecided on what they will do.

Picnic for High School

Saturday, May 19, the school had to make up for a lost day. At noon the superintendent, Mr. Rogers, informed the high school that we would have a picnic, which took place on R. W. Brown's ranch.

After lunch the groups indulged in swimming and ground ball until it was time to come home. We are sincerely hoping that Mr. Rogers surprises us again in the near future.
