TOO MUCH POLITICAL CANDY

The American people cry louder over high-priced luxuries than they do ordinarily over high-priced necessities. Just now we are about to discover that we have been paying nearly double for certain political, red-stick candy.

We are developing a political philosophy that not only invites the people, but urges them to get their noses in the public trough on the theory that someone owes them a living.

It has become good politics to give the people a nice, red, five-cent stick of political candy for ten cents in taxes. So long as the people can be kept ignorant of the fact that they are really paying for the candy plus about 100 per cent additional for political overhead to handle it, just so long will they clap their hands and cry for more.

But a lot of good folks are getting a stomach ache from too much political candy.

They are going to ask questions when they find what their candy is costing.

HATS OFF TO THE LADIES

Since all men love pretty women, nice homes and lots of good things to eat, the men of Wheeler county are raising their hats to the demonstration club ladies of the county and to the home demonstration work which is under the supervision of Miss Viola Jones, home demonstration agent of the county. None of the efforts put forth in the county has been more successful or beneficial than the work of the demonstration club ladies of the county.

Since living takes place at home more than any other place, despite our active society and the wonderful convenience of the present day automobile, the work of the home demonstration ladies of the county in building up better homes, and training the younger ladies how to keep their homes and how to live pleasantly with their families, as well as provide more and better things to eat, the club ladies of the county again attract the greatest attention of any educational and working force in the county. Other counties have made and are making fine progress, but what county is making greater progress in this respect than Wheeler county?

The outstanding work of the home demonstration department of our county in provisions and government is seen beautifully and effectively in every local community in the county. The bed rooms, wardrobes, pantries, yards, etc., will speak for themselves; but this is not all the demonstration club ladies are doing. These ladies are making splendid progress along educational and social lines. The 4-H Club girls are being schooled in all practical ways which is meaning as much and more to the county than anything else. Training people to live as well as qualifying them to hold positions is the greatest part of practical education.

The Times has been steadily watching the progress of the home demonstration work in the county and has published club reports and other achievement evidence from week to week, and the columns are still open to these ladies and their fine work. The growth of this work in the county has been watched with interest from week to week and The Times compliments these ladies on the fine work they are doing. Miss Jones has done outstanding work in the county and her influence is growing year by year. "Hats off to the demonstration ladies of Wheeler county!"

After exercising the advantages in taking care of her pantry, a demonstration club lady from another Texas county hands in the following list which proves the real value of home demonstration work. The list is for the month of February of this year:
Gasoline for family use: $6.73.
Cosmetics, cigarettes, etc., $1.68.
Groceries, toilet articles, etc., $12.93.

There are six in this farm family and the living expense for last month was just a little better than an average of 7 cents per day. At this rate a farm family can meet the present emergencies growing out of over-production and consequent low prices offered for what is produced. It will take something like this to meet the emergency, so hats off to the demonstration club ladies of Texas!

GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS

One of the most vicious and far-reaching bills of a harmful nature to small businesses and investors is the Rayburn bill seeking to exterminate the holding companies of the country. This, on its face, might seem to be a "step in the right direction."

When analyzed, however, there is found a desire on the part of those offering it to place the government in business. So much of this, with the subsequent ill effects, has been seen that the people are becoming disgusted with efforts to place government control over present owned corporations as well as privately controlled business enterprises.

An unbiased survey shows that the government pays no income tax, no federal tax, no state, county or city taxes, yet we see the steady encroachment of the government into almost every line of business and industry. The decision of Federal Judge Grubbs of Birmingham, Ala., that the government has no constitutional right to make electricity for sale to cities or private firms, if confirmed by the supreme court, will have a far-reaching effect. Many cities up and down the Mississippi Valley are applying for government loans to build transmission lines, preparatory to buying electricity from the Muscle Shoals plant. Judge Grubbs rules that this cannot be done. He said it meant the same thing as confiscation of privately owned electric companies. The judge is a Democrat and has been on the federal bench since 1909.

Unquestionably, if electric companies are charging too much for light and power they should be regulated and it should be left up to the states to do it. It is easy for the public mind to be prejudiced against any great corporation, such as the power companies, banks, and other public service institutions, but it must be remembered that these corporations are financed by selling stock to the public, and hundreds of thousands of persons of moderate means have their life savings invested in them.

But these larger enterprises are not the only ones affected by the steady advance of government in business. Printers are losing practically all of the best envelope printing because the post office department has them printed and delivered to business and professional people in every town and hamlet in the United States at a price far below what any printer can do the work. In fact there is hardly a business that does not feel the effect, directly or indirectly, of government ventures into business. Private business is compelled to pay taxes in a hundred different ways to support and maintain the government. The government pays no taxes, and therefore need not make any profit on its business. Tax-paying private business cannot long exist and compete with tax-supported government business.

How the government expects a substantial recovery in industry and business in this country under such conditions, we can not understand. It is urged that private industry speedily put the unemployed back to work at shorter hours and increased salary, yet we find one of the most serious obstacles to such recovery to be government competition.

Our Exchanges

Pending a settlement of tax payments, all marble vending machines and similar devices are banned in Swisher county. It seems that there is a difference of opinion in the minds of state officials as to whether or not these devices are permissible under the laws governing such machines, and state officials have been enjoined from taxing them.—Tulsa Herald.

Every country passes through three stages; the first when nature turns over the land it is full of beauty, but in the second stage man, in his efforts to make a living, cuts down trees, dams streams, blasts rocks, builds ugly buildings and destroys all marks of beauty. However, in the third stage man begins his attempts to bring back the beauty of the country, and that is the stage we are entering in the Panhandle at this time. The springing up of garden clubs and the beautification plans of the state centennial committee will bear fruit that can be appreciated, not only by ourselves, but by future generations. Every man owes it to himself and his community to work for beauty in nature in all its forms.—McLean News.

J. P. Osborne, Roberts county Hereford breeder brought home several worth while trophies from the 1935 Amarillo Fat Stock show the past week. A large silver tray and pitcher was awarded by the American Hereford Journal. The Tri-State Trophy was awarded for the champion carload of bulls. These trophies are on display here.—Miami Chief.

Gardening is hot news these days even if the weather man is not offering all the co-operation possible. But come rain or shine or hail or blow, now is the accepted time if the home table is to be served with garden sass.—White Deer Review.

The wastebasket at the postoffice had a full day Monday. A big batch of "Box-holder" advertising arrived.—Illmo Jimplicute. And one never sees the wastebaskets stuffed with local newspapers, now does one?—Clarendon News.

Republicans and the single Progressive on the investigating committee, were out-voted by the Democrats who seem to think that the head of the Democratic party is infallible. The democrats at large have seen many other investigations made on a lesser charge, and would feel better about the matter if Jim Farley's official acts had been aired. In fact it would have looked better if Big Jim himself had insisted on a thorough investigation.—Donley County Leader.

The only trouble with Huey Long's program to give everyone a home, a car, a radio and $2,500 is that Huey or anyone else cannot do it. I thought Townsend and his $200 a month old-age pension was the limit of impossible promises, but Huey has Townsend so badly beaten that there's no comparison. And the sooner the world wakes up to the fact that Huey, Townsend and the like are fakirs of the first water, the sooner we will return to a normal state where effort counts and hard work wins. President Roosevelt promised everyone a job at living wages and even he went too far. There were just too many applicants and not enough money. He came nearer making good than either Townsend or Huey can and see how far he fell short of the mark he set.—Pampa Advocate.

Imagine how a poor editor feels after receiving the following letter: "Please send me a few copies of the paper containing the obituary of my aunt. Also publish the enclosed clipping of the marriage of my niece who lives in Uerham. And I wish you would mention in your local column or classified, if it don't cost anything, that I have two bull calves for sale. As my subscription is out please stop the paper as money is too hard to get to waste on newspapers." Well, anyway, he was polite to start with and said 'please'.—Clipped.

Trees along the rivers and streams of Hemphill county are one of the beauties of nature which make this county the most picturesque location in the Panhandle. That the above statement is true was demonstrated last Friday when a group of Canyon citizens came to Hemphill county to obtain between 300 and 400 trees to beautify a new golf course recently opened in the Randall county seat city.—Canadian Record.

ADVERTISING—TODAY'S GREATEST BUSINESS AL

IT'S EASY TO SEE THE POINT

Strictly a "Profit and Loss" Business Idea!

You men who buy advertising are not purchasing an indefinite, intangible quantity of white space, type and ink. On the contrary, the commodity you secure for your advertising dollar is a definite item of merchandise from which you expect results in accordance with the money you spend on it.

When you buy a car you expect mileage. When you buy a house you expect comfort. When you buy advertising you expect business.

The value of your car may be judged from the age you receive. The value of the advertising, in the time of business as compared to the amount expended.

Consider your advertising from the "profit and loss" standpoint. Judge it strictly on the basis of results, not on the initial cost. And you'll realize that space in the columns of The Times gives you more for your money. Here is a tested and proved medium, reaching a large proportion of buyers—buyers who are seeking new merchandise or services, Mr. Merchants.

Last Monday night the preliminaries in declamation were held in the high school auditorium. H. V. Hendry.

Journalism Class Play Nets $10.34

In spite of the terrific dust storm which lasted all day Tuesday, the journalism class made $10.34 at their program given that night in the high school auditorium.

This money will be used to pay fees to press clubs and to attend the Panhandle High School Press Club association convention to be held in Pampa on April 27. The class also hopes to arrange a visit to the News-Globe plant in Amarillo with these funds.

Every member of the journalism class and the two students who took the course last year participated in the program.

The first number was an original playlet given to acquaint the audience with terms used in newspaper work. The characters were: Mazie Bean, a hard boiled editor, writer of The Colts; Theodore Connor, a cub reporter, assistant editor of The Corral; Dorothy Burgess, reporter, literary editor of The Corral; A. B. Turner and Jack Guynes, copy readers and reporters for The Corral.

Helen Gilmore and Mamie Lee Starkey, two girls who had journalism last year, put on a dwarf stunt which included popular songs, dances and jokes. Helen was editor of The Corral last year and writes the Wampus Cat for the paper now.

The last number was a one-act play, "Who's Crazy Now?" The characters were: An escaped convict, Carlisle Robison, Sport Slants writer; Abigail Sniffen, an old maid, Fay Ficke, editor of the Corral; Professor Timothy Twitters, LaVeau Cole, humor editor; Snowdrop, the negro maid, Ruth Faye Garrison, literary editor; and the role of expressman and Officer Muldoon was played by

"Tack" Disappoints Cub Reporter, Coach

"Old Tack" evidently was trying to fool someone last week, because he told the coach that he would be in Wheeler Saturday. Sure enough he did not come.

One of those journalism students was expecting to get a good long interview with the "Tackless Texan" but he was very disappointed when the famous columnist did not show up.

The great writer was supposed to stay in the room with the Mustang coach for a layover before going to the banquet at Allison. Instead he went directly to the banquet. What a scoop for the Corral if luck had not been against the reporter!

DEBATE REPRESENTATIVES ARE SELECTED FOR MEET

In the debate preliminaries for the boys and girls which were held last Thursday, Mamie Lee Starkey and Aline Buchanan, Billy Noah and LaVeau Cole were selected to represent the school at the county Interscholastic League meet to be held in Shamrock next week. Fay Ficke and Travis Jones are alternates.

The three judges were: Lee Guthrie, C. B. Witt, and the Rev. H. V. Hendry.

The question for debate was: Resolved: That the government should own and operate all electric light and power utilities.

H. S. JUNIOR TRACK TEAM IS VICTORIOUS IN MEET

In a practice track meet held Thursday afternoon of last week the high school junior team was victorious over the juniors of the grammar grades by a score of 35 1-2 to 24 1-2.

ROLL CALL OF SENIOR CLASS

Here comes Theodore Conner, president of the senior class, assistant editor of the Corral, member of the Spanish club, and vice president of last year's junior class. He is an employe of Beal, the Tailor, and has been working there for the past three years.

"Doc", as he is commonly known, will begin a business course from the International Correspondence School of Scranton, Penn., soon. His ambition is to be one of the best tailors the country has ever known.

Of all the schools Doc knows, he would rather attend the New Mexico Military school, but he plans to stay with the tailor business for awhile. He has spent all but five months of his school life at the Wheeler Public schools. His hobby is playing tennis and collecting stamps. His favorite study is journalism but, from the good grades that he makes, it is seen that he doesn't slight any of his work. "I was born Aug. 9, 1918, in Wheeler and I have been here ever since," he told the reporter.

"I was born Nov. 2, 1916, somewhere near Corpus Christi," Ida Belle (Burke) Davis told the reporter last Monday. "I would rather dance than anything," she said. She doesn't like to take part in any sports, but she enjoys seeing others play. Her favorite study is civics. The only school she has attended is Wheeler.

On August 24, 1933, Ida Belle was married to Lindsey Davis in Sayre, Okla. At the present time she is taking a correspondence course from Hill's Business college at Oklahoma City and she will enroll in that school as soon as possible. She plans to be a stenographer.

"Nuts," as her husband calls her, is president of the Home Economics club and a member of the Spanish club.

MRS. McCROHAN HEARS S. C. W. RADIO PROGRAM

Mrs. G. O. McCrohan received a personal letter from Dr. Rebecca Switzer, Ph. D., inviting her to listen in on a radio program last Wednesday afternoon from 4:15 to 4:30 over station WFAA.

Dr. Switzer, head of the Spanish department of S. C. W., Denton, spoke on the subject "Spanish Folklore." The Spanish club sang a few songs at the conclusion of Dr. Switzer's talk.

Mrs. McCrohan was interested in the program because she was a charter member of the Spanish Choral club and was pianist for the organization.

GIRLS LOSE IN VOLLEY BALL

At the Briscoe tournament Friday night the volleyball girls were defeated by Miami with three games out of five. Saturday the Wheeler girls lost three games out of five to Mobeetie.

MUSTANGS TAKE INVITATION MEET

Mobeetie, Miami also Compete in Triangular Event
Here Friday

In the triangular track meet, held here last Friday, Wheeler came out in the lead with 65 points. Mobeetie was second with 46 points and Miami held third place with 15 points. Wheeler came to the front from the first and stayed there to the last. The result came as a surprise to everyone because Mobeetie track team is rated as one of the best in this section of the country, according to Coach Bob Clark.

The most spectacular event of the meet was the mile relay in which Pendleton did the first lap in 60 seconds. Newkirk took the stick and increased the distance between the Mustang runners and the visitors. The third member of the team, Lewis, held the pace, but when the finisher, Robison, took the stick, Locke of Miami started at a furious stride and threatened to overtake him. The finish came with a gruelling sprint by Robison that placed him 10 yards in the lead. The time was 4 minutes and 12 seconds.

In both the 100 and 220-yard dashes it was a tight race between Robison and Newkirk. Newkirk took first in the 100-yard dash and second in the other. Robison finished second in the 100 and first in the 220. Locke of Miami finished third in both events. In the 440-yard dash Lewis

Senior Class Plans "Cimarron" Matinee

Arrangements have been completed by the senior class with the management of the Rogue Theatre to give an afternoon matinee of the picture "Cimarron" on April 5. The class is sponsoring this picture and is to receive 50 per cent of the receipts.

Cimarron, in truth, is the story of the building of an empire, later to become the State of Oklahoma. The picture opens with the "Land Rush" of 1889. The story concerns itself with the hardships and life of those hardy pioneers and chiefly of the family of Yancy and Sabra Cravat and the discovery of oil and the statehood of Oklahoma.

The principal characters are played by Richard Dix and Irene Dunn as Yancy and Sabra Cravat.

The book "Cimarron" is highly recommended by chief educators, parent-teachers organizations and civic societies. Copies of the book may be found in almost any school library.

"School patrons should consider it a compliment to the Rogue theater in thus offering this great masterpiece to the children of the community," states Supt. J. L. Gilmore. "From the historical standpoint alone it is altogether worthwhile, to say nothing of affording an opportunity for the senior class to earn some much needed revenue. Each and every child and adult in the community should make an effort to see this picture," he added.

Boom! Rah! Mustangs, if Wheeler does as well in the county meet as we did Friday we are going to go places and go places fast.

Wheeler not only won honors in track Friday but they won a few in baseball, also. Kelton came up Friday afternoon for three games of baseball.

The volleyball girls seem to be having a hard time. They entered the tournament at Briscoe Friday and Saturday.

The high school junior boys and the grammar school juniors have been having it out among themselves the past week.

I made up my mind not to say very much about a gymnasium this week for I have told all I know about the subject.

This is station S-P-O-R-T-S signing off until next week at this same time.

Just Imagine

Illustrative slides of "The Life of Washington" were presented Tuesday. The Junior class sponsored this show and made $4.40.

STORY TOLD BY NAMES IN COUNTY DIRECTORY

Mary started out for a long ride in her little Austin car. She wanted to catch a Bo-az she didn't have one.

She thought that her Couch was much softer than the Clay she was sitting on. She was wondering Howe she would choose between a Farmer, Fisher, Forrester or Miller, whom she had met on her way.

The Fisher gave her a large Trout that he had caught in the lake. The Miller was very Meek, the Farmer was Moore industrious, but she loved the Forrester, so they went up the Hall of the county judge's office and were married.

The Weather(ly) was bad so May and her Newman started for town before the Hale beat the Straw-bridge out.

When they were about five miles out of the city the car broke down. A mechanic quickly fixed it by putting a Bolt-on. Then they continued their journey and became citizens of Wheeler.

CAUGHT IN THE LASSO'S NOOSE

We hear that Theodore had a hard time fixing a flat Saturday night. Couldn't you keep your mind on the work, Doc?

Miss Addison claims that someone tricked her with a fake note Monday morning.

H. E. has joined the rest of the boys who have "Heart Beats" in Kelton. Good luck, old man.

Fay seems to have a new "hobby". What about it Fay?

Were the track boys scared Friday afternoon or are they just good runners? They ran like they were both.

Wallace seemed interested in the study hall keeper Friday the first period after lunch.

We hear that Carlisle had a chair thrown at him at play practice Saturday night for saying something to Fay about Hobby.

"Little Audrey" seems to be getting popular with the high school boys.

The civics class is getting to be a good place to argue. The students have been debating over some of the questions in the book.

Did someone call for Jack Tate Sunday night? Could it have been a certain freshman girl?

Seen every day: Derwood talking to Nettie Vee and a good old West Texas sandstorm.

STUDENTS HEAR DECLAIMERS

Members of the junior and senior declaimers gave their readings in chapel Monday morning, at physical education period.

Those who declaimed for the junior girls were: Nell McPherson, Irene Hunt, Ruth Faust and Delilah Montgomery. The senior girls were Ruth Faye Garrison, Gladys Warren, Rutha Mae Conner, Jonnie Lewis, Curtis Weeks was the only senior boy present.

COLTS

Mrs. Lloyd Davidson had charge of the chapel program Monday morning. Several readings were given and songs were sung.

Coach Bob Clark says the ball and track teams are practicing hard this week so as to be in shape for the interscholastic league meet.

The second grade wrote a letter and made a scrap book for Mozell May who has been ill.

From the $1.87 which the second grade received from the faculty play there have been 10 books purchased for the library. The books cost $1.25 and 50 cents has been used to build a book case.

All the above books are interesting and beneficial, according to Mrs. C. C. Crowder, second grade teacher. "The money the second grade received was greatly appreciated by the pupils as well as myself," says Mrs. Crowder.

FROM OTHER BRANDING IRONS

Mrs. Adolphine Kaufman, 73, oldest college co-ed in America, broke her hip when someone threw her off balance. She was registering at the University of Southern California.

Father—"Edmund, your report card is terrible! Why are you always at the bottom of the class?"

Son—Gee, dad! what difference does it make? We get the same teaching on both ends.

"Little Women," the well known novel by Louisa M. Alcott, will be dramatized by the Amarillo Little theater in the city auditorium.—The Ranger.

"The student gets the paper, The school gets the fame, The printer gets the money, But the staff gets the blame."

RAMBLINGS ON THE RANGE

Elva Willard and Ruby Mae Roper went to the singing convention at Shamrock Sunday.

Dorothy Tolliver and Ruth Faye Garrison were in Shamrock Saturday.

Principal C. B. Witt went to the Collingsworth county meet last Friday to act as judge of the events.

Dorothy Burgess spent the weekend at Twitty.

Junk Man—My mistake. Any more?

Bits of Early-Day History About Texas

(This is one of a series of articles taken from the Bexar archives at the University of Texas. This collection, considered the greatest single historical treasure on the North American continent, has been catalogued and is now being translated by the university and supplied to the press for publication).

SERIES I, NO. 10

First land, then cattle, became the grounds for dispute among the inhabitants of San Antonio de Bexar and the surrounding colony. The cattle question assumed almost the proportions of civil war, a three-sided controversy, it is shown in the voluminous official records on the subject collected in the Bexar Archives, now deposited in the University of Texas library. These Spanish documents are now being translated by university translators, and the details of this fight for possession of the first Texas unbranded cattle are at last available. It was many years later that unbranded stray calves upon the range came to be known as "mavericks."

It was no mere quarrel for pelf or the riches of the cattlemen, as was the case in later Texas cattle wars, but a struggle for very existence on the part of the three forces engaged in the contest. The subalterns of the crown claimed the unbranded cattle as a governmental right, and possession was sorely needed to gain funds to carry on the municipal affairs of the presidio. The colonists maintained the cattle rightfully belonged to them, since all the beasts were propagated from the livestock which was part of the possessions granted to them and their ancestors. To make the conflict still more complicated, the priests entered it on behalf of the Indians whom they were attempting to Christianize.

A bulky petition for justice, entitled "Memorial, Explanation and Defense," was presented in 1787 by the citizens of the Villa of San Fernando de Bexar, capital of the Province of Texas, to Don Rafael Mrnz. Pacheco, acting governor of the province, in which they set forth their reasons why the government had no right to the unbranded cattle and horses that roamed the prairies within the colony. It read in part:

"We desire to forestall or to prepare a remedy in case orders may issue in the future from the tribunals to which this province and this villa are subject—especially from the commandant-general of these Eastern Interior Provinces of New Spain, who has been given false information by the former governor in regard to the undeniable, indisputable, and legal right we now have, have had, and will always have to the horses and cattle that are found in the pastures of this section or in the surrounding country to a distance of more than twenty-five leagues, especially to the north, east and west. These lands and pastures have for 60 years been in the undisputed possession of our grandfathers, fathers and ancestors, the first honored settlers. They held them by legal title and held them under absolute and legal claim without any protest on the part of earlier settlers or others who might have

We now have and enjoy this right under the same good title, since we are their heirs and since five times the space of ten years demanded by the municipal laws of our country and every other country for establishing legitimate title has elapsed. This you know and it is notorious. Our interests in the aforesaid cattle and horses have been greatly damaged for the last seven years through unfair decrees (speaking with all due respect) of your predecessor, Governor Don Domingo Cabello."

The arguments which follow trace briefly the history of the Spanish colonization movement until the settlement of the villa of San Fernando de Bexar, which "has continued to grow until now there are almost 400 settlers, including children." The settlers quoted Spanish law, offered the testimony of witnesses and cited common justice to prove their right to the cattle. The former governor's proclamation that all stray stock was the property of the royal treasury was catastrophic in its effect, they pointed out, saying:

"If our situation was most miserable during the whole time of the war, it was much worse when peace began, for, when we came to a realization of the situation, we found ourselves without horses or cattle. Some of them had been stolen and others killed by the enemy, others were frightened away, others were sold, and others turned into royal possessions. We were poor, hungry, naked, and in debt, after we had at such a cost kept up this long and devastating war. Not only was this true, but the thing that broke our manly spirits—for we could have borne even greater calamities and kept up our courage under them—but we had eyes and could not help pitying the sad condition of the widows and orphans. We also had ears to hear their lamentations, for, after the missions were left without Indians, the widows without husbands, the orphans without fathers or brothers, they were despoiled of their property."

All in all, a most piteous tale is unfolded in the lengthy document, which, translated and typewritten, runs in excess of 100 pages.

On the other hand, the rights of the Indians, whose existence on the Texas prairies antedated that of the Spanish settlers, was staunchly defended by the priests. A letter from Frey Jose Manano de Cardenas to Manuel de Espadas, commandant of the presidio, dated Sept. 5, 1790, depicts this phase of the first "cattle war" in Texas. It reads in part:

"I state that in this mission there are no stray or unbranded cattle which could belong to the royal treasury or to the coffers of his majesty. The proof of it is that because only those belong to him which after the public reclaiming are left without an owner according to law 11. Feb. 5, Tit. 5 of the Neuvo Recopilacion de Indias, all the cattle found in these pastures, although they were not branded and consequently are improperly called strays or unbranded cattle, have owners and belong to the Indians of this mission, marked with his own brand by his iron. Partus sequitur ventrem, since the law does not apply to them, nor do they belong to the royal coffers or treasury, the reason they have not been branded is because of affairs of fied reasons. Then, is it right to take away Indian's rights? It is certain that if they had all branded the cattle, they would have owned them; this is unquestionable, and if they have been prohibited the right to do so it was not meant to be done . . .

"It is claimed that they belong to the royal treasury, the fial must prove that the cattle do not belong to the Indians, and if they should prove the contrary in defense, the royal court must show them protection.

"Meanwhile, until they do not prove that the aforesaid cattle do not belong to these Indians, I shall not permit the agents of the king to take a single animal from their canal or from their pastures, because they are so certain the unbranded cattle belong to them, and it is impossible to make them believe otherwise. Upon one occasion during the time of Domingo Cabello, when the commandant, Joseph Santaja, ordered that some cattle without a registered brand of the king be taken from the canal of the mission, half of my Indians ran away, giving the excuse that the Spaniards were robbing them of their property. Of these some have died in the woods and have lost their souls, and some are still in the same danger and because of what? So as not to deprive the sovereign king of the trifling sum of four reales for each cow, as if his most merciful majesty does not value the salvation of a single Indian more than all his treasures.

"In conclusion, although it may be proved that the aforesaid cattle do not belong to these Indians, they should be given to them anyway. What little they have is taken away, they will no longer have the means of maintaining themselves, as is evident. Because of lacking the necessities, they will take to the woods, and will lose their souls, which our sovereign king should not permit, since the principal object of his majesty is the salvation of these Indians, as set forth by the laws of the Nuevo Recopilacion."

Mrs. J. A. Page and sons, Amos and Joe, and R. J. Puckett motored Sunday to Erick, Okla., where they were guests of relatives.

Roy Puckett, who has been taking medical treatments in Amarillo for three weeks came home Thursday night expecting to be able to return to work at Puckett's grocery store, of which he is manager. NO IDLE DREAM

Since the triangular track meet, held here last Friday, turned out so successfully it seems that W. H. S. has a very good chance to win the County Interscholastic League meet. Some very good material showed up in this practice meet and when the county event rolls around these boys will "show their stuff." Two boys, Carlisle Robison and Ford Newkirk, should go far because they entered and did some fast running in the 100-yard and the 220-yard dashes. It was a case of nip and tuck all the way around. The result was that Newkirk won the 100 and Robison the 220.

The mile relay also needs honorable mention for its speed on the track. The starter, Wallace Pendleton is as fast as any boy in this county. Despite an injured leg he made a good showing. O. D. Connor has plenty of power in that right arm of his. He won first place in the discus and javelin and third place in the shot-put.

Derwood Lewis, in the high jumping event, equaled Compton of Mobeetie, winner of the district meet last year, at the height of five feet nine inches. He has a rather odd way of jumping, but he knows how to do it. Stay in there, "Dirty."

It was plain to be seen that the boys were in excellent shape and that Coach Bob Clark knows how to train them. When a bunch of boys stay in training and are in high spirits they are hard to beat. So you see if a track team is to beat the Mustangs it must have a whole lot of everything. The Mustangs hope to take the county meet and to send a few representatives to state.

This is not impossible and is not an idle dream.—T. C.

Castor Oil or Capital Punishment?

What do you suggest that the people of the United States do to eliminate some of the crime of the world? Should they go back to the old fashioned whipping post like some of the states want to do? Or should they kill persons when they do some terrible thing such as committing murder? Several people have suggested that castor oil is the best remedy for drunkenness while one woman said that the best way to cure this crime was to put the individual in a casket in some dark place.

ment to take the lives of several because they had taken the life of one? Of course, it was wrong for the boys to murder, but why not give them another chance, to live a clean life, even if this chance would be offered while they were spending the rest of their days imprisoned for life?

Let us strive to find a better method of correction for those who break the law than by committing an equal crime in meting out punishment for wrongdoing. The aim should be to help these unfortunates, as well as restrain them from further violations, until their errors may be made apparent and a change for the better effected. Too drastic measures may gain sympathy and a following for lawbreakers more harmful to society than less severe treatment would create.—F. F.

SAGE BLOOMS

The End of a Day

How a day ends, I have discovered, makes a great difference in my feelings toward life. There is nothing to me that can compare with the short time between sunset and dusk. The delightful odor of fresh, clean-smelling country air, particularly on washday. What an enjoyable job of gathering in the clothes after the sun has set and the night air has become sharp.

The sweet and fragrant smell that exudes from the fresh washed clothes. When taking the clothes from the line one generally crushes them to make a more compact bundle. Doesn't that give you thrill of power over inferior things? If you're the youngest member of the family, that greatly aids in eliminating your inferiority complex.

Of course, the sun distinguishes the personality of the day. But what of the glowing colors and gold tipped clouds a beautiful sunset leaves the sky? There are so many ways a day can end but the two general ways are beautiful or dreary. A beautiful ending of a day has so many different forms. As a cloudless sky brilliant with many colors or the sun setting behind a bank of clouds, its silvery rays touching their joggled tops, or a confusion of clouds and sun rays. A dreary sunset holds no imagination for me. Some sunsets are dreary without a perceptible reason for being so and these seem to a skeptical person (not being inclined to poetry) too uninspiring to write poetry about.

Have not all of you heard some such sayings as, 'A rainbow in the evening is a sailor's relieving,' or 'A red sunset will bring windy weather on the morrow?' I have tried to work these sayings out scientifically as remembering the sunset and observing the weather next day. As hard as I've tried, not one single incident I can recall proves these sayings that perhaps our forefathers brought from Europe. My grandparents declare that they are true.

However, the day being whatever it may, I still maintain that from sunset until it is dark it is the most inspirational and romantic period of the day. The opinions of people differ as to the importance of the last minute impressions. But to me the ending of a day has sometimes proved the most memorable part of it.

(With Apologies to Odd)

Wheeler, Texas: Never saw a more stifling dust storm in all my life. Have seen quite a few, in other words, "I was dere, Sharlie". Only way to get a breath was to go to bed and cover your head up . . . I wonder why people in West Texas comment on sand or dust storms anyway.

Personal nominations for one of the best historical novels ever produced in motion pictures "Cimarron". It was run in '32 and liked so well that many "retakes" were made and is now coming out again in '35. It is to be sponsored by the senior class.

I thought Earl Farris would stop studying when he graduated last spring but he keeps adding . . . poundage. When Irene Hunt was keeping the study hall the other day, Fern George was sitting by Wallace Pendleton. Irene requested that Fern move. Now it couldn't be that she likes Wallace. Carlisle Robison and Rudy Valee have the same weakness . . . women.

DUST STORM CAUSES MUCH DISTURBANCE

People in London and California can rave and fuss about their fogs, Chicago and New York have hard times with their underworld characters, Germany must endure Hitler, and Louisiana is dominated by Huey Long, but a West Texas dust storm has them all bested.

The school house Tuesday morning was a scene of confusion and strife. Some teachers and students were going around with handkerchiefs over their noses; others were coughing and sneezing. Now don't get it in your head that there was no dust. There was dust in every room and hall; you could not see the person sitting in front of you the dust was so thick. One boy swears that he went to a class and was in the room 15 minutes before he found out that he was in the wrong class. One teacher taught English half a period before she discovered that there was no one in the room. The books had to be dusted off every two minutes to enable you to see the print.

This, my dear friends, shows you some of the hardships one has to put up with during a West Texas "rain". As for myself I prefer a cool spot in the shade by the side of a stream full of trout with a rod and reel in my hands. However, I suppose I will stay here with the dust and sand and tear my hair and cuss.

THE GIRLS' LUNCH ROOM

When one enters the study hall immediately after the 12 o'clock bell rings, he can readily see that it is the lunch room for the high school girls. Approximately 20 girls and a teacher eat in this room every day.

If the visitor has not eaten, he may attempt to rob some girl of her lunch because of the odor that reaches his nostrils. If someone has brought fruit, like a banana or an orange, it scents the entire room.

Not always would the visitor be tempted to steal because sometimes a dried-out biscuit and a slice of cold, greasy bacon may catch his eye.

Some of the girls are careless about the way they wrap their lunch. Several of the lunches are tied in colored "funny" papers while others are carried in a neat brown sack or a dinner-pail.

About 12:20 a boy could quite easily find out which of the girls would make and keep a tidy house. Some desks are not soiled at all, but perhaps nearby can be seen a desk with crumbs not only on it, but all over the floor close to the place where the person ate. Probably three or four lunch papers can be seen scattered about the room.

When a cleaner study hall is to be had, the girls who eat their lunches at school will help to make it cleaner.

A little girl went to the drug store for some pills.

"Anti-billious?" asked the clerk.

"No, sir. It's my uncle," replied the little girl.

Waiter—Hey what is the idea of taking the table cloth?

The distance was 125 feet 8 inches.

STATE RELIEF DIRECTOR ASKS FOR CO-OPERATION

Johnson Appeals to County Officials to "Do the Best You Can"

State Relief Director Adam R. Johnson, forced to carry on relief work this month under a curtailed budget, appealed to county officials to "do the best you can with what you have."

The state director and members of the State Board of Control have been harassed by delegations and telephone and telegraph messages from city and county officials seeking more relief funds.

"We haven't got any more money," said Johnson. "On the basis of this month's allotment, we still owe the counties approximately $2,300,000."

"State funds made available by the legislature amounting to $750,000 became available recently and federal officials wired us they will forward $750,000 for general relief for the last half of March as they promised previously to do."

"In addition to this, we have left in the bank approximately $368,000 of federal and state general relief funds. All of this adds up to $1,868,000, or nearly half a million less than we need to supply relief requirements."

Johnson said it might be necessary to transfer balances from more fortunate counties to those in dire need, and that in any event, "we will have to drain the till" to make ends meet. Future allotments, he said, depend upon the fate of the relief bill now in the national congress. Until the federal emergency relief administration receives a new appropriation, its funds are being supplied to a limited extent from the public works administration.

State funds also have been materially reduced, the final $3,500,000 of state bond money to be made available $750,000 in March and April, $400,000 for each succeeding month through November; $700,000 in December.

"We realize the counties are disturbed about the amount of relief funds they are receiving, but we are turning over every dime to them as fast as it comes to us," Mr. Johnson said.

Counties were requested not to send delegations to Austin seeking more funds and approval of work relief projects wherein the state is called upon to pay material costs.

"We just can't pay out any money for materials at this time," Mr. Johnson said.

"I know of nothing that has saved me more time and energy than my 4-H pantry," said Mrs. Roland Pike, who was farm food supply demonstrator for the China Flat Home Demonstration club three years ago. "Before I built my shelves, I sometimes moved 25 jars just in order to find the food I wanted," she continued.

"It is still arranged systematically and I can almost pick what I want in the dark," she said. "I surely was provoked and felt that I might be wasting time when I was working so hard getting ready for my Achievement day, but it has been the best work I ever did and I wish every woman would can by her budget and arrange her pantry by classifying her foods."

"In voting on a nomination, always vote first for the first person nominated," said Mrs. Estella Shinn, parliamentarian, to the Davis Home Demonstration club members, meeting at her home Wednesday of last week. Mrs. Shinn also explained the manner in which one should obtain permission to speak at a business meeting.

Mrs. Estella Shinn, Mrs. Zura Bullock and Mrs. Claude Mixon were appointed to plan a banquet and luncheon and program to raise money for the club treasury.

Those present were Mesdames Cleo Davis, Claude Mixon, Estella Shinn, Mary Urey, Roxie Barker, Alta Lea Merrick, Ethel Anderson, Zura Bullock and Helen Addis, a new member. Mrs. Jennie Shinn was a welcome visitor. Next meeting will be with Mrs. Ethel Anderson, March 27.—Reporter.

ORAL HEALTH

Teeth and Beauty

Care of the teeth is important, both for the preservation of health and beauty. No person with a filthy mouth can claim both health and beauty at the same time. The filthy mouth may not affect the health for a time but if it remains so for an indefinite time it is certain to play its part in the disintegration of the human mechanism. Neither will a filthy mouth permit beauty in its fullness.

It is a strong belief that beauty is external, but this is a misconception. Beauty comes from within. It is portrayed through the eyes, teeth and loveliness. You may take the most clever and perfectly formed external features and if the eyes do not exhibit mildness and loveliness and the teeth do not exhibit cleanliness, a great quantity of beauty is missing.

Some of our most attractive personages with who we deal today are very awkward and unattractive as far as outside appearance is concerned. But when these people have a clever disposition, clean teeth, and are blessed with eyes which can express the desires of a soul filled with love and kindness, they become beautiful. The expression of beauty comes from within and not from the surface. In other words, beauty is not skin-deep.

So in the preservation and promotion of health and happiness it appears to be wise to keep the teeth in tip-top condition if one desires to be either attractive, lovely or healthy. All of these combined is a wonderful combination. Each and every one can not be blessed with beautiful external features but all can do their part to create that internal qualification which portrays beauty, health and loveliness, by giving their teeth what they deserve and by so living that all of these will burst forth and become beauty.

On the contrary, you may take the most beautiful personage within your circle and if she or he does not place the proper value on their health and the manner in which they express themselves they soon become unattractive. It is just as impossible for a public official to hold and attract the respect of his subjects when his own personal respect is lacking as it is for a withered cocklebur patch to draw us away from a garden of roses. The woman who plays to the audience values her teeth as a superior qualification. Whether they be in perfect order of arrangement or whether nature has failed to bless her in this manner, to hold her high place among the celebrities of her day she must, and does, value her teeth as a valuable asset.

So whether your teeth be irregular or smooth it is wise to care for them. To say nothing of the value of your health, it is exceedingly wise to keep them in proper condition that beauty and loveliness may come to the surface and greet those around you. This example has and is being demonstrated each day. When beautiful expressions are made either by mouth or the soul within, and cleanliness has played its part, the one who makes the expression is much more charming than the one who may be beautiful on the outside but has no conception of internal beauty.—Commercial Feature Syndicate.

HEALTH SUBJECT AT GIRLS' 4-H CLUB MEET

Foods to keep you nourished and healthy was the theme used by Miss Jones, county home demonstration agent, while lecturing to the Briscoe club girls in the club house, March 18.

The fact that bad health and dentures are caused by undernourishment of children was stressed by Miss Jones. This is the reason for eating citrus fruits such as lemons, oranges and grapefruit; however, tomato juice is also recommended for the purpose. She also gave each member a copy of the Adequate Diet which is as follows:

Vegetables—Three servings (one green, one starchy and one other).
Fruits—Two servings, with tomatoes or citrus fruits at least three times a week.
Milk—One pint for each adult; one one-half pint to one quart for a child.
Butter—At least one teaspoonful, preferably more.
Grains—At least one serving of whole grain, oats, wheat and other grains in addition to the above. A good means at least one-half cup of all foods except butter and milk.

BRISCOE P-T. A. HOLDS MONTHLY MEETING

Russ Has Charge of the Entertainment

Thursday evening, March 14, the P-T. A. held its regular monthly meeting at the home of the president, Jack Vise. After the opening song, prayer and reading of the minutes, a discussion was held concerning the purchase of a piano. Mr. Barnett reported on the condition of local roads as seen by the committee, of which he is a member, and it was decided to get in touch with a music party in Amarillo before making a definite decision.

The by-laws which had been submitted by the committee some weeks ago were read by the secretary, Miss Mack, and adopted by the group. Mrs. Russ, third and fourth grade teacher, who had charge of the program, presented six girls in a song, "The Shining Gates", and some 25 of her pupils sang four songs. The interest and alertness of the group were manifest and gave evidence of what music could be had with a good piano.

It has been the custom in the past for votes to be taken for a picture to be given one of the grade rooms. Miss Scott's won. Then the six girls were shown, and each of the teachers was allowed to select one. Among them were Whistler's, The Lone Wolf, The Appeal of the Great Spirit, etc.

The president then appointed a nominating committee which is to meet at the next regular meeting, the second Thursday in April, and the last meeting of this year will be held in May, the nominee will be voted upon. We urge all who are interested in an active P-T. A. another year to be present at the next two meetings.

SPORTS NEWS

The Mobeettie groundball team came to Briscoe Tuesday, March 12, and played. The boys' game was a "tight" one, score being 21-22 in Briscoe's favor; however, the girls' game was a one-sided affair. Score was 4-24 in the Mobeettie girls' favor.

The Wheeler volleyball girls played the Briscoe girls a series of practice games at Briscoe, Wednesday, March 13. The Briscoe girls were victorious in all the games played.

OMISSION CORRECTED

Last week the name of M. W. Graves was unintentionally omitted from the list of faculty members who are directing contests in the Briscoe schools. This was an oversight, and we wish to state that he is directing high school declamation and girls high school volleyball.

MAGIC CITY WINS VOLLEY

The Briscoe invitation tournament held March 15 and 16, was an interesting and successful one in spite of the fact that some of the teams which entered failed to arrive. The following teams entered: Miami, Magic City, Mobeettie, Wheeler, Kelton, Lela and Briscoe A and B teams; but Lela and Kelton, for some reason, failed to come. There were good competition and splendid sportsmanship throughout the tournament.

Wheeler and Mobeettie were defeated Friday night and played for the "consolation cup" Saturday night. Briscoe's B team and Miami went to the semi-finals, and Briscoe's A team went to the finals because of a forfeit from Lela, and a victory over Miami. Magic City went to the finals because of a forfeit from Kelton, and won over Briscoe's B team.

Two games were played Saturday night. Mobeettie defeated Wheeler and won the consolation cup. The final game was between Briscoe A team and Magic City. Magic City won the three games out of five played and took first place and Briscoe A team won second. The trophies were awarded to the captains of the winning teams.
