Mother Of Abandoned Baby Asks Its Custody

Sheriff Andrew Merrick said today that the mother of Big Spring's "miracle baby" had been found, and that she wants custody of the infant.

She said a 24-year-old local woman had signed a statement telling of the birth of the child in the Birdwell pasture and of leaving the infant in a pasteboard box wedged into the branches of a cedar tree.

Working at the laundry she suffered pains and left work early. She said she thought perhaps a walk would ease her, and strolled through the Birdwell pasture, said Sheriff Merrick.

Ten Teams Are Ousted From AAU Tourney

DENVER, March 16 (AP)—The feeling here at the National A. A. U. tournament, now in its second day, is that basketball will weather the war like a 500 defense bond.

The fact that 47 teams came here from 21 states for the second national meet in a war year is an encouraging sign. The tournament went right through the first World war with Illinois Athletic club winning the 1918 tournament at Chicago.

Ten teams were eliminated in yesterday's entertaining first day show and 10 more get their walking papers today. This will go on until two teams are left to play Saturday night for the title that Hollywood Twentieth Century is here to defend.

Three seeded teams, all in the lower bracket, helped to open the second round today. Shreveport, La., Morris Dickson opens against the Chicago Y Clippers at 3 p. m. (Mountain War Time); Oakland, Calif., Golden State draws Denver Royal Arcanum at 4:30 and the Denver Legion, prime hope of the Mountain section, will play Salsan Boys Club of San Francisco at 6.

Notes From The Training Camps

MIAMI, Fla., March 16 (AP)—Tom Sunkel, Bob Carpenter and Rube Fischer are Manager Mel Ott's choices for New York Giants pitching duties today against the Boston Red Sox.

DELAND, Fla., March 16 (AP)—Bad weather and contract trouble have kept the St. Louis Browns behind the eight-ball instead of a baseball this spring but Manager Luke Sewell finally has nearly a full squad with which to work. Only Pitcher Jake Kramer is absent.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 16 (AP)—Kirby Higbe, the late reporting pitcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, has been granted a vacation of several days in hopes the rest will remove a kink from his shoulder.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 16 (AP)—Pitcher Red Ruffing accepted the New York Yankee terms about a week ago but hasn't appeared in camp and Manager McCarthy is becoming a bit irked—especially after losing two straight to the St. Louis Cardinals.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., March 16 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates split with the San Diego nine of the Pacific Coast league in a twin bill yesterday. Doubleheaders are rare in spring drills but Manager Frankie Frisch agreed to the plan because his players are far from being in condition.

ORLANDO, Fla., March 16 (AP)—There was talk around the Senators' camp today that Owner Clark Griffith had opened negotiations with the Chicago White Sox for a catcher to replace Al Evans, rated 1-A by his draft board. Departure of Evans would leave Washington with only one experienced receiver, Jake EARLY.

Tongue Twisters

DENVER, March 16 (AP)—Nothing personal, but the announcers at the National A. A. U. basketball tournament would just as soon see the Division Street Y. M. C. A. Clippers of Chicago eliminated. The Chicago club's roster includes Zmudski, Padrasa, Rybicki, Bagdanski, Kardonski, Prawdzki, Staryk and Gajewski.

Towering West Texans After New York Invitational Title

NEW YORK, March 16 (AP)—Doorways were being enlarged, beds lengthened and bridge spans raised today with the arrival of the West Texas State basketball team, one of the cage squads chosen to compete in the annual New York invitational tourney.

The towering Texans, labeled as the world's tallest team, lost a 28 to 26 overtime contest to Long Island University in a mid-winter meeting.

That triumph, plus 23 others the Brooklyn Blackbirds chalked up in 29 starts, makes Coach Chas. Bee's team the favorite to annex its third tourney title in four years.

Tonight the West Texas State five, which three times climbed above the 100 point mark in subduing opponents, takes on Creighton, co-champion of the Missouri Valley circuit, in the first game. Long Island mixes with West Virginia in the nightcap.

Thursday night, City College of New York, metropolitan champion, tangles with Western Kentucky State and Rhode Island State, with an average of 79 points in 21 contests this season, tests its marksmanship against Toledo university, winner of 23 while losing three.

Senators Setting A Rapid Clip In Grapefruit Loop

NEW YORK, March 16 (AP)—Don't look now, but those boys cutting such fancy capers in baseball's grapefruit league are your old friends, the Washington Senators.

Although they aren't on top of the standings, the American leaguers who campaigned so vigorously for more night games are bounding along at an .87 clip with six victories in seven starts—all against major league opposition and in broad daylight.

First place in the grapefruit standings at the start of the third week belongs to the Chicago Cubs, who have only two games behind them but won them both with lopsided scores and authority at the plate.

The St. Louis Cardinals, who dropped three of their first four games, have won their last six in a row and hold third place among the 18 teams of both leagues.

The New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, last year's world series opponents, tied with five wins in nine starts, and the Philadelphia Athletics, with six victories and five defeats.

The Cubs, who have yet to test their own National league foes, crushed the Athletics, 11-3, yesterday after swamping the Chicago White Sox, 13-3, with a 16-hit barrage in their opener.

While it won't help much in the pennant drive, five of the Senators' six wins were against teams in their own circuit. Since losing two out of three to the Yanks in their first series, the Cards have divided a pair with Cleveland and beaten Cincinnati twice, Detroit once and the Yankees twice, the last time yesterday, 5-3.

In addition to their two out of three over the Cards and their split with Washington, the Yanks boast single victories over the Boston Red Sox and Cincinnati Reds for a total of five out of seven until they bumped into the Cards in the two games the past week-end.

Brooklyn has confined its activity to the New York Giants and the Cuban All-Stars.

Philadelphia's Athletics won five and lost four against Pacific Coast league teams and downed the Pittsburgh Pirates before running into the clubbing Cubs.

The Boston Braves, Philadelphia Phils and St. Louis Browns are hanging on to .500 percentages, each with one victory and one defeat.

Hollywood of the Pacific Coast league, dumped the White Sox, 3-1, yesterday, leaving the Chicagoans winless in two starts. The Detroit Tigers are holding down the cellar with losses to the Cards, Reds and Senators.

B'Spring And Angelo Win In Bowling Meet

Big Spring and San Angelo came out on top of the heap in some fast matches in the West Texas Bowling league tournament, played at San Angelo Sunday. The meet was moved up a week because the Big Spring eagles will be on their way to the ABC tourney next Sunday.

In what was called the best all-round afternoon of firing seen in these parts in many a day, the Angeloans took six out of nine hits, and the local legions did the same. Midland was on the short end of a 4-5 count, while Abilene won only two while dropping seven.

Two-hundred-point games were commonplace affairs, and some exceptionally high series and match totals were recorded. The Angelo bowlers fired a 2,908 over Big Spring, a 2,907 in downing Midland, and a 2,893 in whipping Abilene. One of the most torrid matches of the afternoon was a 2,907-2,906 victory of the Angeloans over Midland.

Montgomery of San Angelo had high game with a 293, and Payne of Midland had top series for the afternoon, 643. For the locals, Stanley Wheeler rolled a 214 game, while Buckner showed the best series with a 603.

By matches, results were as follows: Abilene beat Midland 2-1; Big Spring beat Abilene 5-0; Midland beat San Angelo 2-1; San Angelo beat Big Spring 2-1; Big Spring beat Midland 2-1; San Angelo beat Abilene 3-0.

Notre Dame And Miami Victors In Butler Relays

INDIANAPOLIS, March 16 (AP)—Notre Dame and Miami University of Oxford, Ohio, held new track laurels today, gained by winning team championships in the university and college divisions, respectively, in the 10th annual Butler Relays.

The University of Michigan, winner of the university title for the past eight years, was outscored nearly two to one in total points by Notre Dame and finished fifth with 17 1-3. The Irish led with 33 1-3 points, 6 1-3 more than garnered by second place Ohio State, the Big Ten indoor champion.

Western Michigan placed second in the college section with 22 points, two more than Prairie View, Butler was fourth with 12; Earlham scored 4, and Kansas State Teachers of Pittsburg, two Indiana State, Drake and Texas failed to score.

Basketball Letters Awarded At TCU

FORT WORTH, March 16—Seven varsity basketball letters and five freshman numerals have been awarded at Texas Christian University for the '42 season, it has been announced by Dr. Gayle Scott, faculty chairman of athletics.

Varsity lettermen are: Buddy Barron, Sorger; Floppy Blackmon, Fort Worth; Lonnie Dowell, Parsons, Kas.; Max Humphreys, Ash-ton, Idaho; Bob McHenry, Independence, Kas.; L. A. Monroe, Coulton, Calif.; and Jorma Felto, Virginia, Minn. Student Manager Jim Farr, San Angelo, also received an award.

Freshman basketball numerals went to Barney Carroll, Dallas; Hatcher Haskins, Suffolk, Va.; Billy Hearn, Fort Worth; Douglas Kenney, Fort Worth, and Al Roller, New York City.

Dodds Misses His Chance At Record Mile

BOSTON, March 16 (AP)—Glenn Dodds, who has designs on Glenn Cunningham's mile mark, almost had the master's mark of 4:04.4 in his grasp but he realizes today that he missed out because he ran too fast.

The bespectacled theological student lost New York's Knights of Columbus mile by scant yards to Les MacMittell but until the last lap he set a blinding pace which shattered all the fractional marks of Cunningham's studiously paced effort over Dartmouth's lightning fast track in 1937.

"I guess I ran that last lap five or six times slower than I did all the rest of them," Dodds confessed. "I just ran as fast as I could as far as I could."

MacMittell, who conceded it was one of the toughest races he had ever run, had about as much left as Dodds at the finish. Both of them just about staggered across the line, according to Jack Ryder, the Dodds tutor.

Southern Cal Is Looking For Coach

LOS ANGELES, March 16 (AP)—The University of Southern California has no one in mind for the job of head football coach, Director of Athletics Willie O. Hunter says, but he will confer today with President Rufus B. Von KleinSmid on a possible successor to Justin M. (Sam) Barry.

Barry, who took over last August after the death of Howard Jones, stepped out to become lieutenant commander in the United States Navy.

Red Dawson Is Selected As Minnesota Backfield Coach

MINNEAPOLIS, March 16 (AP)—The smashing Bierman system, war or peace, continues at Minnesota. And Lowell "Red" Dawson who absorbed the powerhouse style to become a great quarterback and then a big league head coach will soon begin picking up at Minnesota where Bernie Bierman left off two months ago when he was called to active duty as a marine major.

Dawson's resignation as Tulane football coach was announced by Dr. Rufus C. Harris, Tulane president, late Saturday a short time after the University of Minnesota board of regents had hired Dawson as backfield mentor and chief assistant to Dr. George Hauser, line coach, moved along to Bierman's spot for the duration.

Thus it will be squarely up to "Red" Dawson, a quarterbacking hero when Bernie Bierman coached Tulane to the Rose Bowl spot in 1931 to produce the offensive staff for Minnesota's 1942 championship challenge and a continuation of a hot winning streak now at 17 games.

Dawson has known about other famous winning campaigns at Minnesota. When Bierman left Tulane in 1932, Dawson came along to Minnesota as backfield coach. When "Red" returned to Tulane as head coach in 1936, he had helped guide the Golden Gophers along to a victorious spurge that ran to 21 games before it was broken the fall after Dawson departed.

Hiring of Dawson helped partly to plug one of those everything-going-out-nothing-coming-in catastrophes that began when Bierman was recalled by the marines. Athletic Director Frank McCormick next became an army air corps major and then almost at the Dawson announcement it was learned that Sheldon Beise, backfield coach, and the great Gopher fullback of 1933-34-35 was going to Holy Cross as backfield coach. Lastly, Dallas Ward, assistant coach is trying for a naval physical education post and Bert Boston, end coach, is considering resumption of his first World war role as marine captain.

Waco To Pick A Successor To Tyson

WACO, March 16 (AP)—The Waco school board was scheduled to meet today and consider applicants for high school football coaching position vacated when the veteran Paul Tyson was relieved of his duties.

A new tutor of the Tigers—in the past terrors of the Texas interscholastic league—may be chosen this week. At least 35 applications have been made.

Consideration of Harry Stittler of Corpus Christi was believed to be the first order of the board's business, a reliable source reported.

Believed to be top candidates are Lloyd Russell, former Baylor star; Harry Chambliss of Electric, Pate Jones of Bryan, Logan Stollenwerk of Waxahachie and Charley Moore, Tyson's assistant. Others who have made application include Eck Curtis of Breckenridge, Puny Wilson of Seguin, P. E. Shottwell of Longview and Madison Pruitt of Gatesville.

Sabin Cops Honors At Daytona Beach

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 16 (AP)—Wayne Sabin, Reno, Nev., defeated Dick Sheen, Los Angeles, in the finals of the $1,000 Daytona Beach Tennis club professional tournament yesterday, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-0. Bruce Barnes, Houston, Tex., and Bob Harman, Oakland, Calif., defeated Sabin and Welby Van Horn, Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1, in the doubles.

Nashville, Tenn., March 16

(AP)—The Southern Lawn Tennis association, despite cancellations of tournaments elsewhere, plans to conduct a full schedule of tourney matches this summer.

"We feel there is no better conditioner for the armed services than tennis and we hope to give our southern boys as many playing opportunities as possible," said Secretary Pollard Parsons, Jr.

RANDOLPH FIELD WINS
SAN ANTONIO, March 16 (AP)—The Randolph Field Ramblers eked out a 6-5 win over the University of Oklahoma baseball team yesterday. The Ramblers made 16 hits, Oklahoma 9.

How advertising helps lower the cost of goods —brings more joy to living!

ONE of the great paradoxes of American business is that the more a business advertises a product the less the cost of the product to you—the consumer. For instance—take disposable tissues.

When first introduced in 1925 a 200 sheet carton cost you 65c. Today it costs 13c, or two for 25c.

How did this happen?

From the advertising you saw the advantages of disposable tissues and bought. Thousands of others did likewise.

This increased sales—made the economies of mass production and mass distribution possible.

In this manner advertising lowered the cost of disposable tissues to you so you could get them for 1/5 the former cost.

The same principle operates continually with most products. Remember what radios, electrical refrigerators, automobiles, vacuum cleaners, silverware, china, pottery, women's clothing, cameras, etc., cost 15 years ago and what they cost you today. In every case costs to you have been reduced.

And quality has been improved. The system of free competitive private enterprise takes care of that.

Businesses vie to give you better quality at lower prices and through advertising they tell you how their products are better. If a business man gets his prices too high a competitor comes in with a lower price. You are the gainer every time. That's how advertising brings you more joy in living.

WHAT TO DO

cost of goods. When you run into that one, tell them how advertising lowers costs through mass production and raises quality through competitive enterprise—the American system.

Labor Would Restrict War Profits If Wages Controlled

The Derby Right Now, Could Be Anybody's Race

NEW YORK, March 16 (AP)—The mourners' bench reserved exclusively for hopeful three-year-olds at this season of the year has the a. r. e. sign out today, going Col. Ed Bradley one better in his standing bet against the Kentucky Derby chances of any go-go in the bunch.

For years Col. Ed has offered 3 to 1 against any derby eligible getting to the post to take a crack at the neckline of roses. This year, although 150 three-year-olds — including such starry-eyed hopefuls as Requested and Alab—have been nominated, several of 1941's snappy juveniles weren't even named. Their owners wouldn't even invest $25 to make them eligible for the May 2 festival.

There are one or two good things who go bad every winter, like Bold Irishman last year, and therefore don't get the trip to see the blue grass. But the list this time is nearly big enough to mount a cavalry unit. And this doesn't apply only to the derby, mind you. The Pre-kness drew only 60 nominations. Not even Requested, the Flamingo winner and Florida fair-haired boy, got into that set.

Congressmen Claim Issues Are Related

WASHINGTON, March 16 (AP)—Congressional friends of labor served notice today they would fight to link a drastic limitation of war profits with any legislative wage controls that may be proposed by President Roosevelt as a result of current studies.

Senator Hill of Alabama, the democratic whip, and Senator LaFollette (Pro-Wis), both long-time supporters of labor, demanded that any action taken to place a ceiling on wages be accompanied by legislation which would take away most, if not all, of the profits on war production contracts.

Hill conceded that it might be necessary to apply brakes to wage increases to prevent inflation, but added that it was just as essential that war profits be limited for the same reason.

LaFollette said that while he was prepared to accept wage controls if they were accompanied by profit curbs, he thought the placing of an arbitrary ceiling over wages might result in disruption of the industrial machinery far beyond anything yet experienced.

While he declined to classify wages and profits in the same category, Chairman George (D-Ga) said the finance committee undoubtedly would study a proposal to impose a super war tax on all government contracts when it considers the new revenue bill.

Discussion of several other phases of the labor problem was scheduled and a senate appropriations subcommittee, headed by Senator Thomas (D-Okla) expected to touch upon these in hearings at which government officials and labor leaders have been invited to testify.

Thomas said he would ask the committee to depart from its usual procedure and hold public hearings on the progress of the war production program, as a result of numerous complaints he had received about strikes, the operation of the wage-hour law and the reputed failure of many war factories to keep their machines going around the clock.

At the same time, Senator Reed (R-Kans) asked a senate judiciary subcommittee to advance hearings on his bill to outlaw the closed shop on government contracts and Chairman Van Nuys (D-Ind) predicted the full committee probably would order hearings on a bill by Senator Holman (R-Ore) to raise the 40-hour week to 48 hours.

The senate meanwhile began its second week of debate on a resolution to unseat Senator Langer (R-ND) on moral turpitude charges, with leaders dubious about obtaining a vote for several days.

American Nat'l Statemen Shows '41 A Good Year

The year of 1941 was another outstanding year for the American National Insurance company of Galveston, according to the company's thirty-seventh annual statement which was officially released a few days ago. The progress enjoyed during the past year has helped this conservative and strong company to maintain its enviable position among the larger life insurance companies of the nation.

In addition to releasing the annual statement for publication the company has prepared and presented to its more than 2 1/2 million policyholders — a unique folder which shows graphically the consistent progress of the company since its organization under the laws of Texas, March 17, 1906. The folder contains a personal message over the signature of the founder and president, W. L. Moody, Jr., which reads in part: "Annually, the publication of our financial statement offers to me a welcome opportunity to review and report the accomplishments of the past year. Without quoting figures I want to cite with pride the splendid results that were obtained in increase in insurance in force, increase in premium income and the substantial increase in our assets."

"The American National Insurance company has always been conservative and strong. It will continue to be so. Now that our country is at war and in this hour of peril and need, it is with gratification that I report to you that our house is in order, that we are prepared and on the alert to be able to meet any contingency.

"May I repeat from my last year's comments that we are thankful for your loyal support, that we shall endeavor to merit your confidence and shall continue to keep step with developments that assure safety and leadership in the affairs of this company."

The company enjoyed an increase during the year of $55,626,502.00 of insurance in force, raising the total to the impressive figure of $884,261,702.00. Assets increased $11,523,801.16, bringing the total to $100,694,198.94. It has paid $111,458,364.69 to policyholders and beneficiaries since its organization.

New Proration Order Pending

AUSTIN, March 16 (AP)—How to distribute a statewide pot allowable among nearly 100,000 oil wells was the problem before the Texas railroad commission at a hearing today.

The commission called for evidence from operators on which to base a proration order for April.

A final decision could not be made however, until the office of the petroleum coordinator certified the quantity of Texas cruda needed next month for military and civilian needs.

The PCS's original March estimate resulted in nine non-producing days for Texas and later a transportation shortage caused a downward revision of the estimated production and addition for more holidays for Texas fields this month.

Let's Not 'Bargain' With The Government

An East Texas newspaper is sponsoring a program which seeks pledges of employed persons to invest a month's salary in U.S. bonds this day President Roosevelt issues a work-or-fight order or takes other action against defense industry strikes. The idea was proposed by Robert M. Hayes, chief of the Dallas News East Texas bureau, who wrote the paper saying he would like to head up such a list. Despite its journalistic support, the idea strikes us as another of those flash-in-the-pan fads and childish in its concept at best. None denies we would like to see everything possible done to curb defense strikes. Every red-blooded American deplores these, just as he deplores anything that stands in the way of the nation doing its utmost best when it comes to the war effort. But to say that we will not support the war program with our money until and unless the president does this or that is wrong in concept and dangerous in principle. Every penny that goes into United States defense stamps and bonds ought to be put in because of an abiding faith and love in the United States of America. Not one cent should ever be held back in the vain hope of luring some type of action. We are in war, and war is not child's play. Let's forget this business of promising to do this and that if and when the government will take a certain course. To fail to do our best at all times is failure. To tease Uncle Sam in the middle of his greatest fight is nonsense. Let's have none of either.

SHOW BOAT GIRL

Chapter Ten
WARNING FROM DOLORES
"Did you get settled comfortably? Like your quarters?" Randy asked her lightly.

"Oh yes—very much," she answered him eagerly. "I love the view—the river. I've always been friends with Old Al and I love having him so close."

"Did Al?" repeated Dolores, puzzled.
"That's what river people call the Mississippi," Randy explained quickly.

"I thought they called him 'Old Man River,'" answered Dolores carelessly.

"That's only the name of a song," said Melissa quietly, "written by a man who wasn't a river man."

"But he did all right as a musician," said Dolores, and smiled as though Melissa had been a small and not very bright child.

"He wrote beautiful music and my mother sang it on the stage," Melissa answered quietly. "It was the first music I ever learned to sing."

"Oh," said Dolores, and her eyebrows went up a little in swift pleasure, as she turned to Randy. "Now see here, Ace, fun's fun—and it's all right with me for you to drag along any pretty little piece of goods that strikes your fancy! But when you let her start singing any of my music—that's out!"

Melissa caught her breath, for Dolores wasn't nearly so lovely now and her voice was almost strident.

Randy looked straight at Dolores and his eyes were cold. "Who said anything about her singing your music?" he demanded curtly. "Melissa is not the best singer type—or hadn't you noticed?"

"For a moment Dolores' eyes tangled with his. Then she dug a fork viciously into the food on her plate and said through her teeth, "I suppose you are right. She's more of the 'Sweet Alice, Ben Bolt' type—and what you're going to do with her in a night-stub floor-show I'm afraid I wouldn't just."

"That's just it, Ducky," said Randy, and though the words were light and pleasant, his tone was still taunt. "And isn't it nice you don't have to know? That's for the boys in the band to figure out—which is exactly what we are going to do, right after lunch."

He grinned at Melissa, and her heart stirred a little and came to life and stopped hurting quite so badly; and the lump in her throat slid down a bit so that she realized she was hungry and that the food being served to her was delicious.

Dolores finished her luncheon in an ugly silence which the others at the table pretended not to notice. Alice and Hugh had their heads together with one of the boys in the orchestra, and their laughter made a pleasant, friendly sort of sound.

After lunch, when the tables had been cleared by the two new gro-waiters in their white coats, the orchestra assembled beneath the edge of the stage.

The six old-young men with their worldly-wise, cynical expressions vanished; Alice and Hugh, Randy and Dolores settled themselves to listen to Melissa's audition. And Melissa stood on the stage facing them, hoping desperately that her knees did not visibly tremble.

Bob, who led the orchestra, said with a friendly, heartening smile, "What would you like to sing, Miss Marlowe?"

"Try 'Lonesome Road,'" Melissa, said Randy.

"In a night-club? Ace, have you lost your mind?" demanded Dolores sharply.

"I don't think so," answered Randy, and nodded to the orchestra. "Hit it, boys. You can play it straight and then we'll see if we can 'swing' it."

Not so good
Melissa set her teeth hard while the orchestra ran through the number. And then she lifted her head, thrust out her pretty chin and sang it. She knew, before she was halfway through it, that she was doing it very badly and that Dolores was laughing at her, sneering at her—

When the last note died away she looked swiftly at Randy and saw his downcast expression, and her heart slid away down to her heels. One of the old-young men spoke from the dimness of the back of the room.

"Couldn't hear a peep back here, boss," he reported.

"O.K., Tim—thanks," said Randy, and the man went out.

Bob said unexpectedly, "Look, why don't we use a 'mike' and let her sing into it? Her voice is not bad—it's just small and parlor-sized. But it's kinda warm and soft. Couldn't we try a 'mike'?"

"Any singer who has to have a microphone to sing in a place this size would be much better off back on her river farm, light-lamps for the river-pilots," stated Dolores flatly.

"Look," said Randy, and his voice was taunt, with the sting of a lash in it. "How'd it be if you just ran along and played by yourself for a while? This must be boring you quite a bit—"

Dolores stood up swiftly, her teeth set hard. She flung Melissa a vitriolic look and her heels clicked as she stalked out of the room.

"Now," said Randy, as though relieved by her departure, "let's see about that 'mike' business."

Melissa came out in the auditorium and sat down at a table while Joe and the boys in the band, with Randy's assistance, set up the microphone.

Alice said in Melissa's ear, "Keep your chin up, kid. You weren't bad at all—and I'm for you strong. If you can just put a crimp in Dolores you are my pal for life. And if you hadn't been pretty good, you wouldn't have got under her skin."

Randy turned and said curtly, "All right, Melissa, let's run through it again."

Melissa went back to the stage. Bob showed her where and how to stand, gave her a friendly, encouraging pat on the shoulder and went back to the orchestra pit. Once more the mellow old strains of "Lonesome Road" crept out over the empty room and Melissa began to sing.

The room was held in a silence that was complete save for the music. And when the last throbbing note had died away there was a little spontaneous burst of applause from the direction of the doorway and Melissa saw that the men who had eaten at a table alone were all in the doorway listening and that they were applauding her.

"Sweet!" said Bob eagerly. "Boss, did you hear that? If there was ever a voice built to order for a mike, she's got it! Maybe we could do a daily broadcast with her over the New Orleans station—she'd be a knock-out!"

Flushed, excited, her heart trembling with eager hope, Melissa looked down at Randy, who was staring up at her as though the effect of the microphone on her voice had amazed him. And she knew that her voice had sounded well; there was a warmth, a mellowness, a throbbing, faintly husky note that the microphone brought out and amplified so that it caught the ear and caressed it.

Old South
"Look, boss," said Bob, excited and eager now. "You've got something here. You want to build up the show boat atmosphere. Dolores and Alice and Hugh are all good entertainers—but why don't you 'spot' Melissa here in hoopskirts and a funny little bonnet like the girls were in 'Gone With the Wind' and sort of build her up? A girl of the Old South, singing old Southern songs and all that stuff? You say she plunks a guitar—well, that's swell. It all adds up. Say, we can build up her number into a sensation."

"Shoot the works, Bob, my boy," said Randy happily. "You're staging the show—and she's the limit."

He turned to Melissa and held out his hand to help her down from the stage.

"Was I—was I all right?" she stammered eagerly. The others had said she was. But she had to hear him say it.

"You heard that applause, didn't you?" asked Randy. "Well, that came from probably the toughest audience you'll ever have—the boys who work upstairs in the game rooms. That's a part of the show boat you're never to know anything about, incidentally. I am forbidding you now ever to climb those stairs—see them? Well, the boat is yours and what lies above them! Remember that, youngster."

Suddenly she was resentful of his insistence upon her youth. "I'm not an infant," she told him haughtily.

Randy grinned at her. "You're about five years old in worldly wisdom," he told her flatly. "And that's the way I want you to stay. I promised Gran I'd see that you were taken care of—that I wouldn't let you be hurt—and it's a promise I intend to keep. So you stay out of the upper reaches of the show boat, mind you!"

Melissa stared at him, wide-eyed.

"You promised Gran? But of course, she thought I'd got imagining myself in love with you, and that you'd forget all about me the minute you left the Point."

Only, she stated Randy grimly, his eyes holding hers with a curious intensity that made her breath come very fast. "I did not forget you, you know."

"Yes," said Melissa, meeting his eyes, letting him read whatever he cared to read in the depths of her dark eyes lifted to his. "You did remember me. Thank you for remembering me."

A little later, from the porthole above her bunk, she saw him driving away in the handsome black roadster. And Dolores, very smart-looking in sheer black with a frosty white collar and a trig little white feather turban perched nonchalantly above one blue eye, sat beside him.

Oil Production In Texas Drops

AUSTIN, March 16 (AP)—Average daily production of Texas oil wells dropped 186,714 barrels to 1,295,062 in the week ended Saturday.

Three non-producing days, two of them added in a supplemental order to the original March statewide production schedule, accounted for the sharp decline.

Watch factories in Switzerland are curtailing operations because of the war's adverse effect on business, according to the department of commerce.

Bright Lights On Broadway Have Points Of Good And Bad

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — A great many people hereabouts work at a defense plant located a number of miles from New York. This plant manufactures various types of munitions and high explosives, and among these is smokeless powder.

One of the employees of the plant was describing the precautionary measures taken by plant officials to cope with any emergency. There is ample protection for employees even in the event of an all-out air raid . . . ample, that is, for everybody except the smokeless powder boys.

The smokeless powder department is so barricaded and protected that the rest of the plant could be bombed to obliteration and they would not be harmed. However, if anything like a stray spark happened to set off all that powder, neither air raid shelters, cellars, stone walls nor gouged out holes in solid cement would help them. They would all go up in one magnificent puff.

Bob Christenberry finds himself in a peculiar dilemma. He is president of the Broadway association, and, as such, the brighter the bright lights play along the Great White Way the better he likes it.

On the other hand, Bob happens to be the manager of the Astor Hotel. Just across from the Astor is one of the great landmarks of New York, a fantastic electric sign in which electric fish swim and open their eyes and make round O's with their mouths while exuding bubbles. This sign advertises a well known brand of chewing gum which is manufactured by the man who owns the Chicago Cubs.

Millions have gaped at this sign, startled by its immensity and delighted with the drollery of its absurd characters. Now here is the key to the Christenberry dilemma. The brighter the street lights glow around a hotel, the cheaper its rooms must be. Therefore, rooms facing on Broadway which are bathed in the light of an electrical advertisement, however attractive, command lesser prices than those which face only the light of the stars.

Now the great chewing gum sign is coming down. Its fishy characters will make bubbles no more. Reason: its conservative power. All of which makes Bob Christenberry, president of the Broadway association, very, very sad. But it makes Bob Christenberry, the hotel manager, very, very happy.

Now he can get more money for his Broadway rooms.

Mel Graff author of a well known comic strip sends me a mysterious package from Eustis, Florida. Oranges? No. Grapefruit? No. You wouldn't guess, so I'd better explain that Mel spends most of his spare time fishing. When he gets a big one he paints pictures of it and sends them to his friends. When I opened this box it contained the head of a black bass that was as large as a cabbage. It was stuffed. I never saw such a bass. I appreciate the gesture, but he just as easily could have sent me a picture. After all, as some one has well said, sending another stuffed head to New York is like carrying coals to New Castle.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds—Swivel-Chair Cowboy Turns 'Em Out Fast

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Art, as Mr. George Weeks once observed, is just another character name to The Range Busters.

Mr. Weeks ought to know. The Busters are his. And a mighty nice piece of property they are. Starting off in June, 1940, this trio of the western movie world played to 4,800 theaters. Less than two years later, they'll be playing to 7,400 houses. That's success—even without a character named Art.

Mr. Weeks is an expansive, but not expensive, producer who makes his own movies and releases them through Monogram. He hails from Michigan, and he has been with some of the major companies, but since he started making "Range Busters" he has gone as western as Autry. "I'm crazy about 'em," he says. "I feel I'm doing good." When I saw him the other day he wore a business suit but his shirt and black flowing tie were western. This, he said, was a concession to our meeting. Usually, he prefers full range regalia like a movie cowboy—even though Mr. Weeks, a stocky black-browed fellow who wears horn-rimmed specs, generally rides a swivel chair rather than a bucking bronc.

Around that chair revolve the planning and details that go into the business of bringing in each "Range Buster" movie on schedule and within budget. Mr. Weeks, like other western producers, shares credit with the great outdoors for his ability to inject maximum production value at minimum cost. Rocks, plains, and sky are no prettier for one company's cameras than for another's. The rest is planning, which leads to quick shooting, which is economy.

The Weeks formula is pure hoser opera plus "entertainment." He has followed it in all the 13 Range Buster films to date. John King, the handsome young singer, and Ray Corrigan, the two-fisted, ride the range with Max Terhune, the comic, and Max's dummy, Elmer. The boys always find trouble, always find a girl, and over the girl King and Corrigan always are rivals. In true western movie style, neither ever wins her, neither ever cops a kiss. They ride on—to new trouble and a new girl. The Busters, like people everywhere, dream of settling down in their own diggings.

Weeks and Company have about six weeks between pictures. That's when the story is whipped out (usually by new young writers for the young director Roy Luby) and schedule planned. Once shooting begins, it's 6 a. m. to dark—with a cameraman who knows how to take care of changing light. One day a violent wind arose, and the company telephoned Weeks of its plight. "Keep shooting—change the script," he said. "They did. With dialogue dubbed in later, it was quite a sequence. "After all," said Rancher (one acre in North Hollywood) Weeks, "major companies spend a lot of money whipping up a wind. Why not take advantage of a gift when it happens?"

Mexican Tanker Halted By Subs

MEXICO CITY, March 16 (AP) — An empty Mexican ship described as a tanker was twice detained by axis submarines on a recent trip from New York, and allowed to proceed with a warning not to voyage again, dispatches from Tampico said today.

The dispatches did not give the ship's name or the dates when she was held up.

Reports attributed to the crew said the ship was first stopped by a submarine late at night a half day out of New York. The submarine's captain, speaking English with a German accent, asked her nationality, destination and cargo. Upon learning she was empty, he advised her to take a course 50 miles to the eastward to escape "difficulties," it was asserted.

The Mexican ship followed the advised course and was stopped a second time in daytime by a submarine, believed Italian, near the Gulf of Mexico southeast of the Bahamas, the reports added.

The submarine commander is reported to have told the captain and crew in correct Spanish: "Pass, but let this be the last time."

More Vegetables

MANCHESTER, England, March 16 (AP) — Lord Woolton, minister of food, said today that "the war in the Pacific has affected meat supplies" and advised Britons "to learn how to cook vegetables and serve them in a manner which people like."

He spoke at the opening of a government restaurant.

Importance Of Youth Training Is Stressed

Training youth to keep American civilization intact is just another job that faces the nation during war time, Miss Mae Chrysler, girl scout regional director of Dallas, pointed out Sunday afternoon to the group attending the community singsong at the auditorium.

Miss Chrysler, as featured speaker, pointed out that there had to be armies trained to fight but that youth could not be neglected. She pointed to the 50% rise of child delinquency in England during the start of the war and also said that of the children evacuated from London to the country, it was the girl and boy scouts who were the leaders and most resourceful due to their training. Miss Chrysler is here to organize girl scout troops under sponsorship of the Lions club.

A trio composed of Dan Conley, Mrs. Pat Stoney and Hazel Sumnerlin furnished vocal selections and Helen Duley, who also played accompaniment for the community singing, played several selections. Dan Conley led the singing. There were over 400 persons present. The Ministerial Association is to sponsor next Sunday's program.

There's War Work For Everyone, Says Governor

AUSTIN, March 16 (AP)—America must assume the offensive in its gigantic war effort at the earliest possible moment, Governor Coker Stevenson declared today in his regular weekly radio address.

"We must have immense quantities of equipment," the governor asserted. "This requires intensive labor. There is work for all with the transportation systems—everywhere we must do everything necessary to win this war."

"I am happy to report that Texas is showing a rising tide of determination that our workers shall not fall the nation in its hour of peril."

Noting the advent of spring, Stevenson said the season always had been a harbinger of victory—"victory of life over death."

He called attention of his listeners to the fact that 106 years ago today, the "first constitution of the empire called Texas was adopted."

Second Destroyer Launched At Orange

ORANGE, March 16 (AP)—Let's give the navy the ships to do the job. There is no time today, nor any day until our job is done, for needless fanfare.

With this appeal from Captain Harry B. Hird, vice president of Consolidated Steel Corporation, the U. S. S. Charles Ausburne was launched today at Consolidated's shipyard, the second destroyer to slide into the Sabine river in two weeks.

Capt. Hird, speaking primarily to the workers' families, told them they had an important role to play in the war "that our country must carry to a successful conclusion."

He urged their cooperation in this "serious business of shipbuilding."

The Ausburne was named for Charles I. Ausburne, first electrician of the U. S. navy who remained at his post to give the warning when the U. S. S. Antilles was torpedoed Oct. 17, 1917, and sank in four and a half minutes.

Ausburne was born in New Orleans in 1888.

Here 'n There

Firemen had a fiery time of it Sunday evening for a time before they succeeded in bringing a lumber and post blaze under control.

In answer to a call at 5:35 p. m., one truck rushed to the scene. However, while water from a 200-gallon tank on the truck played water against a threatened barn and otherwise kept flames from spreading, a second truck arrived and tied on to the plug, and quickly extinguished the fire. Later in the evening, after the high wind had hit, firemen had to answer a call to a feed mill at the north end of Benton street viaduct.
