THE COUNTY SEAT NEWSPAPER

Cotton Price Forms Ready for Signers

Papers Covering Application for Adjustment Ready at Agent's Office

"Price adjustment papers are ready at this office for producers' signatures," states J. E. Crabtree, assistant in cotton adjustment at the office of County Agent Jake Tarter.

"The cotton sales certificates that are filled out by the cotton buyers," continues the statement, "which have been turned in at the county agent's office have been tabulated on the formal application for price adjustment payment. You need not wait to be notified to come in and sign these papers; they are now ready."

To sign these means another check for the producer, and if they are signed in time to get in the first shipment it will also mean receipt of a check in the first payment. These applications will be in first, second and final transmittals to the state board of review for payment. The first and second lots are ready for the signatures, after which they will be sent away. The final transmittal will be in August.

Cotton sold on the dates of Nov. 14 to 27, inclusive, and Dec. 3 do not draw any subsidy and will not be tabulated on the formal applications for payment.

Object of the 1935 cotton price adjustment plan of the AAA is to assure producers, insofar as possible, a return of 12 cents per pound, basis seven-eighths inch middling, for their 1935 cotton crop sold prior to August 1, 1936.

Harrell Plans Sale and Formal Opening

New Management of Variety Store Offers Merchandising Event Starting Saturday

Planned to start Saturday, shoppers of Wheeler and surrounding territory will find a remarkable merchandising event at Harrell's 5c to $1.00 store in its annual 9c sale and "get-acquainted" opening. It will be remembered that C. A. Harrell of Shamrock purchased the store some weeks ago from R. E. Brazil, who had operated it about two years.

Since taking over the business, Harrell has been busy making many improvements, both inside and out, at the store; adding and arranging much new merchandise and otherwise preparing for a formal opening at which time he hopes to meet the public of this region personally, as well as introducing his extensive stocks.

During nine years in the variety store business, Harrell has acquired valuable information on the wants of his customers and how to supply their needs in a mutually satisfactory manner. His ownership of four other similar establishments combined with membership in the Ben Franklin League of Retail Stores, permits buying in large quantities at advantageous prices.

As purchasing agent for the several stores, he makes frequent trips to the Dallas markets, thereby keeping in constant touch with the newest developments in the merchandising field. On another page of this paper will be found Harrell's advertisement with a few sample prices to indicate the big values during this sale.

Quail School People Visit Local Home Economics

Inspect Building and Equipment in Search of Ideas for Proposed Cottage

That the Wheeler home economics cottage, completed just a few weeks ago, is looked upon by school authorities as a model of achievement is borne out by the frequent inquiries concerning it, the favorable comment evoked and occasional visits by those planning similar educational units.

Latest visitors to the local home-makers unit were Carl Chaudoin, superintendent, and Henry J. Wischaemper, secretary of the school board, from the Quail consolidated district in Collingsworth county. The Quail school board has voted to build a home economics cottage and the two men here were Tuesday seeking ideas for the building and furnishings.

Chaudoin, it will be remembered, is a former Wheeler county educator and has many friends here. He was superintendent of the Mobeetie schools for two or three terms, leaving there last year to accept the advancement offered by the Quail position.

MANY MASONS VISIT LOCAL LODGE LAST THURSDAY EVE

Wheeler Lodge No. 1099, A. F. & A. M., was host to 40 visiting brethren from nearby lodges at an invitation "get-together" here last Thursday night. Representatives were present from Shamrock, Mobeetie, Canadian, Pampa, McLean, Allamreed, Bridgeport, Byers, Wellington and Borger, Texas, and Reydton Okla.

A highlight of the evening was when Harry J. Garrison, past master of this lodge, conferred the third degree upon his son, Jack, making him probably the youngest Mason in the state. The son had also received the two preceding degrees at the hands of his father. Garrison, junior, was 21 on Dec. 1, 1935.

District Deputy H. E. Nicholson and various visitors made talks. Refreshments, served in the Baptist church basement, concluded the evening's activities.

Shira's Garage Now Ready for Business

Well-known Local Mechanic Opens Garage, Service Station in Clay Building

Friends and acquaintances of Elwood Shira, well-known local mechanic, will be glad to know that he is now proprietor of his own establishment in Wheeler. The latter part of last week, Shira opened a garage and service station business in the C. H. Clay building at the southeast corner of the square. General repair work will be handled in the shop department. Magnolia gasoline, oil and greases are ready for the motoring public at the service station. Shira has made his home in Wheeler for several years, and has made many friends during his employment as a mechanic in various garages. Courtesy and efficiency makes him a favorite among his friends.

Milton Hubbard has been engaged to assist in operating the station.

ALLISON BASKETBALL GIRLS STATE CONSOLATION WINNERS

True sportsmen all over Wheeler county rejoice with the Allison girls basketball team in its winning of consolation award at the state A. A. U. cage meet in Plainview last Saturday. The Allison lassies battled through gruelling contests to meet Abernathy for consolation honors and downed them 32 to 23.

Lottie Bell Traylor, Allison, won a place on the all-star mythical squad. Georgia Cain, Briscoe miss, was judged the best looking blonde player in the meet.

The Plainview high school sextet won the state A. A. U. championship in a close victory of 42 to 40 over Wynnboro.

Ernest Lee Hardware Showing Frigidaires

Newly Developed Mechanical Refrigeration Unit Cuts Current Cost

A newly developed mechanical refrigeration unit that will cut electric current consumption of household refrigerators to the bone will be shown in Wheeler for the first time tomorrow at the display room of Ernest Lee hardware, dealer here for the household refrigerators built by the Frigidaire Division of General Motors corporation.

The mechanism, simple in its construction and with only three major moving parts, has been termed the "meter-miser," according to Mr. Lee, and is incorporated in most of the new models to be sold by Frigidaire dealers this year.

The "meter-miser" is being hailed as a milestone in the spectacular and rapid development of the refrigeration industry and economists predict it will widen the use of electric refrigerators sensationally by making it possible for even those in the lower income brackets to pay the hitherto unheard of low electric current costs that will prevail with their use.

"Research in the last few years has steadily lowered the operating cost of mechanical refrigerators," Ernest Lee said, "but the unit Frigidaire has put into production after months of testing in its laboratories in Dayton and in hot areas in the south lowers the cost even more. It is a fact that the smaller units use less current than a 30-watt electric light bulb, yet have been so improved in efficiency that they have greater refrigeration capacity for both food preservation and ice-making."

"The motor operating it is built into it and sealed in oil. The new development might be termed as important to the refrigeration industry as knee-action, no-draft ventilation or the turret-top were to the automotive field."

County Farmers Hear Report Memphis Meet

Delegate to Tennessee Conference Presents Summary Here Tuesday Night

Filling the district court room to capacity, Wheeler county farmers, many of them members of the county agricultural association, assembled here Tuesday night in a special meeting to hear a report from the Memphis, Tenn., regional conference on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, at which M. A. Pillers, Twitty, was a delegate.

During his talk, Pillers revealed many encouraging angles of the proposed program. The whole set-up, however, is still in the formative stage, with only tentative provisions, subject to much possible revision.

That all old obligations will be met in full by payments according to contracts under the AAA program, was affirmed by the speaker. County Agent Jake Tarter requested today that statements made by Pillers be withheld from publication by the present, offering instead the following article issued by the extension service of A. & M. college:

The federal government will make grants of money to farmers, conditioned upon the actual evidence of good land use, President Roosevelt announced last week upon signing the new $500,000,000 "Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act." The new law authorizes up to $500,000,000 for use in any one year to pay farmers for soil conservation. Grants will be made to farmers for this work.

Roosevelt, after signing the bill on Feb. 29, issued the statement that the new soil conservation and domestic allotment act represents an attempt to develop, out of the AAA efforts, a long-time program for American agriculture. Three chief aims of the legislation were listed by the president as tied up with the national welfare. Conservation of the soil itself was named as the first of the three to be attained by wise and proper land use.

"The second purpose," he asserted, "is the re-establishment and maintenance of farm income at fair levels so that the great gains made by agriculture in the last three years can be preserved and national recovery can continue. The third major objective is the protection of consumers by assuring adequate supplies of food and fiber now and in the future."

The president also strongly pointed out that there would be no contracts with farmers. Such contracts constituted one of the supreme court's objections to the AAA. While saying that such absence of production control might make impracticable the attainment of parity prices, Roosevelt said he is "confident that the farmers co-operating with the government will work hard within the existing legal limitations to achieve the new law's goal, which is parity not of farm prices but of farm income."

The money to carry on the plans will be allotted to each state after the state agency has been set up. The act further reads that the secretary of agriculture shall apportion, on or before Nov. 1 of each year, such funds as shall be necessary to carry out the state plans.

Farmers in preparing for the new program are planting soil improving and soil erosion prevention crops. Because planting time is so near, it is impossible for farmers to lay definite lines as to the acreage of such crops. However, Texas farmers, to profit by it are planting sufficient crops of such nature as to meet the demands of the new law which was enacted for the purpose of building up the nation's land.

Following the signing of the bill by the President, plans to speed the new program were immediately taken up in discussions by officials in the Department of Agriculture.

Calls for four regional meetings of farmers and farm representatives were issued. The first two in Chicago and Memphis to study details and make suggestions for the new set-up; the other meetings were scheduled in New York and Salt Lake City early this week. Administration officials also announced that the program will be put into operation first in the Southern states, where planting of cotton starts soon. Texas falls into this list.

Curtis Douglass, attorney of Panhandle, Texas, announces his candidacy for the democratic nomination for state senator from the 31st Senatorial District of Texas. Mr. Douglass is a native Texan and has been actively engaged in the practice of law for the past 15 years, ten of which have been in Carson county. He was formerly judge advocate of the Department of Texas for the American Legion. In submitting his candidacy, Douglass states:

the open and, for better or for worse, give the people a real chance to decide with their ballots. At the proper season, and in due time, I will endeavor to state as specifically as possible my views on every question confronting the public today. At this time, suffice to say, our most vital problems are those of governmental economy, taxation and the conservation of our natural resources.

"Expenditures of our state government must be decreased, and until a substantial reduction, ranging from the very top to the bottom, is had, there will be little or no relief afforded. Taxation is absorbing a large portion of our incomes, yet the revenue produced is still insufficient

PORTION OF PEACH CROP STILL SAFE

According to M. L. Clark, fruit grower living east of town, at least a portion of this summer's peach crop is still safe. Clark has made careful examination of blossoms on his trees and gives the following report on different varieties.

Hobson, full crop; Elberta, half; Elberta cling, fourth; Early Wheeler, full; J. H. Hale, full; seedlings, good; Henrietta cling, none. The plum crop promises to be a good one, he says.

"Now is the best time in the world," asserted Clark, "to get the peach tree borers, which are right at the top of the ground. Their removal will help any tree and save many of them," he concluded.

Aged County Woman Dies Sunday Night

Grandma Bradshaw Succumbs After An Illness of Several Months—Was 85 Years Old

Mrs. M. S. (Grandma) Bradshaw, 85, died Sunday night following several months illness at the farm home of her son, J. A. Bradshaw, four and one-half miles northeast of Wheeler.

She had been confined to her bed since the early part of February, during which time she suffered several paralytic strokes. She had the misfortune to fall and fracture her hip five years ago and had been in a wheel chair ever since.

Mary Susan Howe was born in Sedalia, Mo., Jan. 10, 1851, and died near Wheeler, Texas, March 9, 1936, at the age of 85 years, one month and 27 days.

In 1869 she was married to Bithel Marlow and to this union three children were born: Lillie, Charlie and Bithel Marlow. The husband and two of the children preceded her in death.

Several years later she was married to James A. Bradshaw in Denton county, Texas. To them was born one son, Jesse A. Bradshaw.

The family lived at Denton for a number of years, going from there to Hollis, Okla., where they resided for some time, coming to Wheeler county 20 years ago. Mrs. Bradshaw had made her home with her son, J. A., since coming here.

Mrs. Bradshaw was a faithful wife and devoted mother, living an exemplary life, having been a Christian for nearly 70 years, with membership in the Church of Christ.

She is survived by two sons, Charlie Marlow, Sunnyside, Wash., and J. A. Bradshaw, Wheeler; 15 grandchildren and 32 great-grandchildren, besides a host of more distant relatives and friends.

Funeral services were conducted at the Church of Christ Monday afternoon, with the pastor, C. C. Merritt, in charge. The grandsons were pallbearers and the granddaughters were in charge of the flowers.

Pallbearers were Charlie Bradshaw, Hugh and Raymond Spratt, Olen Pendleton, Otis Reid and Earl Pierce. Flower ladies were Mrs. Maude Patterson, Mrs. Rubye Pendleton, Mrs. Opal Reid, Mrs. Pearl Jones and Mrs. Cecil Boyer.

Relatives from out of town attending the last rites were L. J. T. Pierce and son, Earl Pierce and family, Butler, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Spratt, Tipton, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Spratt and Mrs. Cecil Boyer, Walters, Okla., and a number of relatives and friends from Hollis, Okla.

The Hunt Funeral Home directed interment, made in the Wheeler cemetery.

Raymond Holt Hurt In Car Wreck Today

Injuries of an undetermined nature were sustained by Raymond Holt when the car in which he was riding turned over near Guthrie, in King county, this (Thursday) forenoon. The accident occurred when the machine hit a soft shoulder in the highway at a turn nine miles east of Guthrie.

Holt was enroute from Brownfield to Dallas, with a negro driving for him.

He was brought to Paducah, 30 miles north of the scene of the accident, for treatment at a hospital. X-ray examination failed to reveal any broken bones or other apparent serious injuries, although he complained of severe pains in his shoulder.

D. E. Holt, the injured man's father, and Robert Holt, a brother, left here immediately upon receipt of word of the accident. They returned late this evening, leaving Raymond in a Paducah hospital.

Miss Ruth Trout of Allison was a week end guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Trout. She was returning from Amarillo where she spent a few days. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Newt Trout, came for her Sunday afternoon.

Casing Set In Oil Well at 1,935 Feet

Underreaming Job Past Two Days Locates Solid Footing for String of Tubing

Diverted from actual drilling operations for the past two or three days, while an underreaming job for the 12½-inch engaged their time, digging was again in progress late today at Porter No. 1, oil test well about 6½ miles south of town. Solid base for the string of tubing was found at the 1,935-foot level, it is said.

Crooked hole, developing late last week, caused temporary delay. After dumping a few loads of rock in the hole, but little effort was required to overcome that difficulty and straighten things out.

Much too early yet, of course, to hazard any predictions on the outcome of this test, nevertheless much interest attaches. It is understood that unless extra good production is found at around the 2,400 to 2,600-foot level, the original plan of a deep test, about 6,000 feet, will be carried to completion.

No choice was named at yesterday's meeting for the position of coach, which it is reported will be vacated by W. Varnell Hale at the conclusion of the present school year.

Spring Improvement Program Gets Going

Due to the approach of spring or from some other cause, a mild building and improvement boom has started this week in Wheeler. Largest from the point of preliminary indications, is a building foundation 50x60 feet laid during the past few days on lots owned by H. M. Wiley, just west of the postoffice.

No announcement has been made as to what the finished job will be, nor for what purpose the building is being erected.

Starting Saturday afternoon, workmen removed the portico on the front of the Agnes Reynolds abstract building and have enclosed the space. When finished this work will add much to the appearance of the building.

Windows and screens on the First National bank have been repaired and freshened up with new paint. A cement ledge extending the length of the room on the west side has also been repaired.

DAINGEROUS BURDEN

Recently-compiled records reveal some statistics which are of vital concern to every citizen—worker or employee, millionaire or day laborer. According to the records, there are more than 10,000,000 persons receiving salaries or aid from the federal government. (This figure included 3,400,000 receiving AAA payments, but were cut off by the supreme court's adverse decision. However, the new farm plan will also contain payments to farmers, so the chances are that the number of agricultural beneficiaries will not change greatly.)

Eliminating duplications, it is found the total number of persons receiving federal money comes to about one-fourth the total number voting in the last presidential election.

More persons are getting federal money than the number engaged in manufacturing industries. Almost as many persons are directly or indirectly on the federal payrolls as the number engaged in agriculture. And the list of federal beneficiaries is nearly double the number of persons engaged in trade on their own accounts in this country.

These figures do not include the millions of other public employees and beneficiaries on the payrolls of state and local governments. There are two obvious deductions to be gained from these startling facts. First, the growth of government payrolls is placing an increasing and intolerable burden on the taxpayer—already, it is estimated, direct and hidden taxes take a third of the people's income. Second, and equally important, we are permitting the creation of a vast and cancerous bureaucracy which saps the productive energies of the nation, limits our rights and liberties, and endangers the very existence of a free democracy.

We need less government and a cheaper government. We need fewer feeders at the public trough, and more productively employed workers. Continuance of the present trend will lead us inevitably to bankruptcy, chaos—and finally, ruin.

GOOD COMMON SENSE

The Public Works administration has offered to donate "its money"—that is, the money belonging to you and all other taxpayers—to the extent of 45 per cent of the cost of a municipal utility plant. In addition, the PWA will loan the balance of 55 per cent, and take long-term bonds paying a low rate of interest, as security.

This offer has been in effect for more than a year—and precisely 174 towns and cities—less than 1 per cent of all the towns and cities in the nation—have accepted it.

In election after election, voters of little villages and good-sized cities have decisively defeated proposals to put their towns into the electrical business with the aid of money belonging to all the people of the country.

excellent example of the public's attitude. One private utility serves 214 cities and towns in that state. In four of those towns, municipal electric bonds came up for a vote—and in every case they were defeated, the majorities against ranging from 2 to 1 to 6 to 1. One town did apply for its gift and loan—then after further investigation, cancelled its application.

As one Oklahoma editor said, "To us, this is a demonstration of the fact that taxpaying citizens in Oklahoma cities and towns are endowed with an abundance of common sense." Citizens of other states have slaughtered hundreds of aggressively-conducted campaigns to "subsidize" their communities into the utility business at expense of public treasuries.

COMMUNITY SUICIDE

One of the strangest phenomena witnessed in most towns and small cities is the apparent eagerness with which many otherwise good citizens contribute to the tendency to commit community suicide.

These citizens will often show uncommon zeal in boosting any movement to obtain city improvements, to promote the location of new industries, to secure better educational facilities and so on. Yet many of these same proud boosters will deliberately engage in a practice which nullifies all their otherwise laudable efforts—and wonder why their own doesn't go ahead.

We refer to the suicidal habit of buying away from home.

The enormous growth of the small order habit in recent years is largely responsible for the failure of many communities to make the progress which their natural advantages should make possible. The money that ought to be kept at home for the expansion of local trade and industry is sent away to distant cities, never to return. The life-blood of prosperity is allowed to ebb away through the indifference or thoughtlessness of the very persons who should set an example of local pride and loyalty.

A trifling saving here and there, usually more imaginary than real, is sufficient to cause the average citizen to forget his duty to his community and to himself, which if performed would mean far more in the direction of local prosperity than all his other boosting efforts put together.

Why boost in one direction, while committing community suicide in another?—Wellington Leader.

It was not long until it was discovered that people want the truth, and the truth does not hurt half so much as putting out falsehoods which were soon discovered.—Canyon News.

An application for a $9,600 WPA project improvement on the Clarendon school buildings and grounds has been granted federal approval, according to information received by County Judge S. W. D. 1935, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 2624, wherein

Mrs. A. J. Beasley, C. E. Beasley and C. H. Beasley, are Plaintiffs, and R. C. Wood, is Defendant, and a brief statement of plaintiffs' cause of action, being as follows:

That on the 11th day of April, 1934, R. C. Wood, defendant, executed and delivered to E. Tillman his four promissory notes bearing date on such day and year, and thereby promised to pay him, or his order on or before April 1 of each year of 1935, 1936, 1937 and 1938, the sum of $220.00, $200.00, $200.00, and $200.00, respectively, with 10 per cent per annum interest thereon from the 1st day of April, 1934, interest payable annually, 10 per cent on any unpaid interest or principal from maturity until paid, and 10 per cent attorney's fees upon principal and interest if placed in the hands of an attorney for collection or should suit be brought thereof, after maturity.

That on April 25, 1934, E. Tillman endorsed without recourse and transferred the said notes to Mrs. A. J. Beasley, C. E. Beasley and C. H. Beasley, plaintiffs being from April 25, 1934, to the present date legal owners and holders of said notes and on several occasions after the note, No. 1, was due and payable and the interest on notes Nos. 2, 3, and 4 was due and payable, made demand on defendant to pay and the defendant refusing to pay same.

Though repeated demands have been made by plaintiffs upon defendant to pay such note No. 1, and the interest on notes Nos. 2, 3 and 4 and attorney's fees, the defendant has failed and refused and still fails and refuses to pay same or any part thereof to plaintiffs damage in the sum of $1,076.96.

Said vendor's lien notes were given as part purchase price for the following real estate:

The East ½ of the Northeast ¼ of Section No. 50, Block A-8, Certificate No. 14-3041, issued to the H. & G. N. R. R. Co.

Premises being considered plaintiffs pray that defendant be cited to appear herein, and that on final hearing plaintiffs have judgment against him for such sum of $1,076.96, interest and costs, for foreclosure of such vendor's lien and order of sale, and for such other and further relief to which they may be entitled either at law or in equity.

Herein Fail Not but have before said Court, at its next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Wheeler, Texas, on this 4th day of March A. D. 1936.

Center Farm Home Undergoes Change

Mr. and Mrs. Dodson Repair House and Replant Orchard, Says Home Agent's Report

From a weathered house, with sagging doors and staring glassless windows, to a house beautiful in several, not so easy, steps is the record of Mr. and Mrs. Hester Dodson since moving to their new home in the Center community.

The windows were taken out and rebuilt as an extra protection against dust storms. All of the missing window lights, 15 in number, were replaced. The doors were removed and rebuilt to restore their natural lines. None of the locks were in working order; so they were all rebuilt and one new one bought.

With such a nice start on exterior fixtures, the interior walls were next renovated. A fine grade of unbleached muslin was used to canvas the walls to insure against the entry of too much wind. Muslin for the three rooms was purchased at an expenditure of $10.00. Tacks cost an additional $1.80. Wallpaper, in simple attractive designs, was bought for $7.93. The woodwork will be finished in a delicate ivory tone.

A clothes closet, 3x4, was built. Incidentally this is the fourth closet Mrs. Dodson has built in the four years of her club work. The interior of the closet was insulated with cardboard before papering. Five shelves were built in for the storage of clothes, and one shoe shelf was added.

Six shelves—32 inches long—were built in the kitchen as storage for dishes, emergency shelf, etc. One of the handiest of her new conveniences, according to Mrs. Dodson, is a spice shelf above the stove. A new linoleum rug, in a cheerful, gay pattern, was also added in the kitchen.

The Dodsons then began reclamation of their orchard. In preparing the soil they moved four wagon loads of stumps. As a starter they set out 42 trees—peach, cherry, apricot, persimmon, apple, pecan, and pear. Later on more plum and peach trees will be added to the orchard. Eighty-nine berry plants have already been set out. They will also begin their vineyard this year.

Seven shelves, nine feet in length, were built in the cellar to store the foodstuff canned by Mrs. Dodson last year.

The project is not completed, by any means, as this is a demonstration which will really grow.

Minister C. C. Merritt came home Thursday from Fletcher, Okla., where he visited his sister, Mrs. C. W. McKee, and his brother, C. V. Merritt, of Lawton, who was also visiting the sister. He also visited a niece, Miss Georgia Merritt, a trained nurse at Ft. Sill, and visited friends and relatives at Lawton and Elgin.

Thimble Theatre Treks to Texas

Popeye and his harassed troupe will make a one-night stand in Texas, March 17, when Crystal City holds its gala Spinach Festival. Hearing that this South Texas town is the greatest spinach producer in the world, Popeye wastes no time in transporting the full company to the scene of this picturesque Texas Centennial celebration. Segar, creator of Thimble Theatre for King Features, made this contribution to the Texas Spinachovnia, and Crystal City will retaliate by proclaiming Popeye as Mayor, Olive Oyl as Queen of the Festival, and Wimpy as City Meat Inspector. Grab on to Sweet Pea in the back there, folks, and follow the crowd!

BASKETBALL GIRLS

GO TO PLAINVIEW

The basketball team left Briscoe Thursday morning and arrived at Plainview at 11 o'clock. They played the strong Jayton lassies at 3 o'clock, being defeated by a score of 44 to 31. This game consisted of some very fast playing, but Jayton seemed to know where the basket was. Friday evening they played Childress at 8 o'clock, defeating that team by a score of 31 to 19. Saturday at three o'clock the Broncos played Abernathy and were defeated by a score of 33 to 25. After seeing many hard-fought, thrilling games, the Briscoe girls returned to their home town.

Honors at Plainview

In the State basketball tournament at Plainview, Georgia Cain was awarded a gold basketball for being the prettiest blonde player. The basketball has "State A. A. U. Tournament—1936—Prettiest Blonde" engraved upon it. Congratulations, Georgia, for bringing the award to Briscoe.

Wheeler county brought some awards from the State A. A. U. tourney. Allison girls received first place consolation and an Allison forward, Ruby Gunter, won a basketball for shooting 43 free pitches out of 50. A forward from Howard shot 38 and Lois Aderholt from Briscoe shot 31.

Notes

A box supper will be given at the gym Friday, March 20, by the basketball girls. Sweaters for the girls will be ordered out of the proceeds. Time for track practice is here once more. Ten hurdles have been made; track shoes and shorts have been purchased; broad jumping, high jumping and standard jumping pits have been completed. The girls are eagerly awaiting the volleyball practice, which will be in full swing by the first of next week. The home ec club certainly appreciated the complimentary remarks Miss Peek had to offer concerning the home ec department. She expressed a desire to have pictures made of the department and sent to the Amarillo Daily.

4-H Club

The Magic City 4-H club met in the high school auditorium Friday, March 6. Miss Viola Jones discussed the yard plan. Helen Shirley gave the club a report of her yard demonstration. The club is very proud of her, as she is making great progress in her work.

Miss Jones showed the club several garments that can be made in a short time. These were very pretty and only required a small amount of work to complete them. All members of the club are anxious to learn the knack of crocheting these lovely garments.

There were 27 members present, all of whom have their work complete. Club day meetings have been changed from first Thursday and third Friday to the first and third Fridays.

Meet the Seniors

Irene Derryberry was born July 19, 1917, in Forestburg, Texas. She is 5 feet, 6½ inches tall, weighs 133 pounds, has black hair, brown eyes and is dark complexioned. She spent the first 11 years of her life in east Texas, after which she moved to west Texas. She attended school at Malard school four years, Corn Valley one semester, and Magic City throughout her high school work. She is a 4-H club girl. Her hobbies are basketball and going to football games. Her ambition is to be a stenographer. Her favorite subjects are shorthand and typing.

Sports

The boys are coming along nicely in their track work. If the weather stays fair we will have a track team that will win the county. All our boys are back now. We have started the track work right. Boys on the relay team say they cannot be beaten. Some other events the boys are entering include:

Dashes—Herbert Green, Troy Derryberry; 220—Bobby Groves, Herbert Green; 440—Bobby Groves; 880—Troy Derryberry; mile—Harold Harmon, Calvin Harmon.

Hurdles—Ivan Burns; shot put—Ivan Burns; javelin—Troy Derryberry, Calvin Harmon; high jump—Ivan Burns, Troy Derryberry; broad jump—Bobby Groves, Troy Derryberry.

The boys are going to the invitation meet at Alnreed Saturday for a good workout. Tennis workouts indicate that Magic City may have winners in several divisions of that sport. Playground ball is creating much enthusiasm also.

The fourth and fifth grades are working on picture memory for the Interscholastic League meet.

Scandals

We wonder if Calvin and Miss Mason will continue to quarrel in the future as they have in the past. We hope so.

Ray Turnbow knows he has enough credits to graduate if he could ever get them collected. But collecting is some job when you have to pay the $10 before you can collect it.

The pupils are increasing their knowledge rapidly since they learned that "aunt" was a slang word.

The seniors have well prepared English lessons since they have started taking freshmen English.

We wonder why the scandals are so brief this week—don't ask if the reporters are asleep. "Spring fever" is Calvin's excuse for not getting assignments.

Debate-Declamation Work Gets Started

Two Enter Former, Three in Latter Division—Expect to Make Good Showing

Work has now begun on debating and declamation, with Mr. Hawkins as director. Those entering in debate are Clevel Lamon and Jessie Vernon. Those declaiming are Melvin Pettit, Inez Hunter and Myrtle Trusty.

Melvin has had a hard time finding out which section in declamation he is eligible to enter. After learning two different pieces, he has proven to be a junior.

We are expecting them to make a good showing in the Interscholastic League meet.

Senior Roster

It was that oldest child of Jeff Brewer who was born September 9, 1917, at Bowie, Texas. She began her school work in the Glenn school and then went to the Springer school where she remained until coming to Mobeetie. She came to Mobeetie school in the sixth grade in the year 1929 and has remained until 1936, when she is a graduating senior.

She says that her chief joy of the term is home economics. We have always heard that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach. Here's hoping you good luck, Bulah.

She has been a promising member of the basketball squad, and has been a good sport and player throughout the season.

Her chief work for the coming year is to take a beauty course. She has worked many years preparing for this course. Her motto is "Don't give up the ship."

Well, well, it seems that not much of her description has been given, but here it is. She has brown curly hair, brown eyes, and a good disposition. Her name is Bulah Beatrice Brewer.

4-H Boys and Girls Participate in All-Day Centennial Meeting, Feb. 29

On Feb. 29, the local 4-H boys and girls went to Wheeler to a county meeting of the organization to celebrate the Centennial birthday, which was March 2. The meeting was held in the high school gymnasium.

The assembly was called to order at 10 o'clock and the remainder of the morning was spent in recreation, led by Lynn Gott, Floyd Seago and Clevel Laman.

At noon a picnic lunch was served. The most attractive part of the dinner was a three-layer cake which was about 18 inches high. The icing was white and a map of Texas was outlined on top of it in green with a candle locating Austin. It also had the 4-H emblem, Wheeler county, and 100 candles for the 100th birthday of Texas. The beautiful cake was baked by Mrs. C. H. Candler of Briscoe.

After a business session in the afternoon, each club gave a stunt.

Adjournment was made at 3:45.

Club members were accompanied by W. D. Hawkins, sponsor to the local club boys.

AGRICULTURE BOYS RUN TERRACE LINES ON FARM

The agriculture boys have been running terrace lines on surrounding farms. They surveyed Doug Sims' farm first. On Tuesday, W. T. Johnston and Elvin Zell laid lines on the Laman farm. This week they are working in the Mt. Zion community and all farmers who wish to have such work done should get their name on the list immediately or see W. D. Hawkins.

The work is being done free of charge by the agriculture boys under the supervision of W. D. Hawkins.

Although they are not building terraces as yet, they are hoping that with another year they will be financially able to construct terraces.

CONGRATULATIONS EXTENDED TO JOHN L. McCARTY, EDITOR

To John L. McCarty of the Dalhart Texan, we wish to express our congratulation. For seven years he was with that newspaper. Under his leadership it grew from an unknown weekly to a prize-winning daily.

Now he has advanced to the position of editor of the Amarillo News-Globe which will give him an advantage in boosting the Panhandle of Texas. He has put his heart and soul into the newspaper business and he offers the best of his ability.

It seems that McCarty is retaining some of his interests in the Texan even though he is going to higher things. He still wants to keep in touch with the people who have befriended him. That shows what a fine upright man he is and that he is for the Panhandle as well as himself.

Mobeetie Girls Trim District Champs 71-49

In the final game of the season the Mobeetie girls took out Panhandle, district champs, to the tune of 71 to 49. Panhandle had previously defeated the locals for the district title, who were playing without the regular center. Dysart out because of the flu.

It was the first time in about six weeks that all of the home team had been in the line-up. With many members returning, the girls should have little to fear for another year—except the Allison jinx.

MAGIC AND TRACK EQUIPMENT

Coach Bob Clark of Wheeler presented an interesting and exciting program of magic and tricks at the grade school auditorium Tuesday night. The program included tricks of all kinds.

Proceeds from the program go to buy some greatly needed track equipment.

HOME ECONOMICS I GIRLS VISIT THE GRADE SCHOOL

The home economics I girls visited the grade school Monday, March 9. They weighed and measured each one of the students in grade school.

The girls are doing this in connection with the Blue Bonnet club, as a class project. The object is to see how many children are underweight. The children that are underweight will be served a hot dish each day at noon by the Blue Bonnet club ladies. The girls will weigh the children again in about a month and see if they have gained any.

Local Faculty Group Attend Canyon Meet

Report Enjoyable Week End Spent at Annual Educational Conference

On March 6-7, West Texas State Teachers college, Canyon, had as their guests approximately 3,000 Texas State Teachers association members and other visitors for the annual Northwest Texas Conference for Education.

Upon arrival at the college, teachers registered at the administration building. The Mobeetie faculty was registered free because they are T. S. T. A. members, but those who are not members had to pay a 50 cent registration fee.

The first general session of the meeting convened at 9:00 a. m., with W. B. Irvin, superintendent of schools at Perryton, presiding. The program which was opened by a 15-minute band concert given by the W. T. S. T. C. band directed by C. E. Strain, put the crowd in tune for an enjoyable day. Along with the other program, Willard W. Beatty, superintendent of the Bronxville, N. Y. schools, gave a lecture on the subject, "Will Teachers Give up their Right to Teach Without a Fight?" Another address of special interest was, "Is Teaching a Profession?" by Frank W. Hart, professor of education at the University of California at Berkley. Other addresses of special interest were "Human Understanding," "The Price of Civic Complacency," "Can Real Civic Education Avoid Controversial Issues?", "The State Department's Place in Building the New School," and another by State Superintendent L. A. Woods. Many other features too numerous to mention here formed the varied and interesting program.

During the business session I. B. Carruth, superintendent of Canyon schools, was elected president for the 1936-'37 term. Adjournment was made Saturday afternoon.

Another very enjoyable feature of the program was the singing of Texas Centennial songs by five of the Panhandle schools.

All of the teachers reported a very enjoyable week end and state that they are making plans to attend again next year.

ENGLISH I TURNS MAGICIAN

The English I students all welcome Warren Thompson back to school. We heard that first he had the flu, and then a case of the mumps. We certainly hope it isn't as serious as all of that. The very idea, he first flue, and then took a case of—. Oh, never mind, Warren, it will all come out in the wash.

We have almost finished reading the beautiful romance poem, "The Lady of the Lake," and will now begin a new work.

Now that Bob Clark has proven that he is quite a magician, we English I students are thinking about learning the tricks, too, so we can summon those hard questions from Mrs. Blankinship.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE SENIOR PICNIC —RELATING ITS COMEDY SITUATIONS

The senior class enjoyed a picnic at Mr. Lancaster's on Wednesday night, March 4. Several interesting games were played. One, especially enjoyed by all, was "gossip."

Sandwiches and fruit were served to the following: J. B. Carmichael, Fred Farmer, Weldon Turner, John Sims, A. B. Crump, Orval Key, Leo Fisk, Walter Brannon, Nellie Bartram, Susie Sims, Arlie Lee, Elizabeth Green, Ina Fay Robison and the sponsor, Miss Simpson.

Although "gossip" was a funny game of the evening, perhaps the "Where you are, etc.," game had the greatest hilarity of all. Can you feature—

A. B. Crump in the hayloft taking a bath with—O. B.?

Elizabeth Green up in a tree, with Mr. Hawkins, taking a typing test?

Walter Brannon in Sayre, Okla.,

eating onion ice cream with Viola Reed?

Weldon Turner in the woods farming with Susie Sims?

Orval Key on the water tower at Wheeler, spinning tops with Dora G.?

Saga of the Plains

(Editor's Note: The following vivid narrative of life in Western Oklahoma and the Panhandle during the 60's and early 70's is reprinted from an article brought to The Times by M. A. Miller, grandson of W. J. Miller, who told the story several years ago before his death. It was published at that time in a Kansas City newspaper. M. A. Miller now lives two miles north and four west of Sweetwater, Okla., and just across the state line east of Wheeler county. Incidentally, these Millers are not related to the publisher of The Times).

AN OLD INDIAN FIGHTER

W. J. Miller of the "Panhandle" Bears Many Wounds

Twenty-three Times the Plainsman Has Been Shot with Arrows—He Is Still Active, with a Violent Hatred of Redskins.

Cheyenne, Okla., Dec. 29.—To be surrounded by hostile Indians at such close quarters that the twang of their bowstrings can be heard, to be shot with arrows until one's body is pierced with twenty-three wounds, and then to escape and live to an old age is an experience that comes to few men. But this is what happened to William J. Miller, a ranchman who lives on the Sweetwater, in Wheeler county, Texas, and is known familiarly in Western Oklahoma and the Panhandle as "Uncle Billy" Miller. He has lived for years with an iron arrowhead in one of his lungs, but in spite of it is a man of large physique and robust appearance. Surgeons in Kansas City have located the arrowhead several times with an X-ray machine, but declined to remove it, saying that the operation would be more dangerous than to allow the arrowhead to remain.

Miller comes frequently to Cheyenne where several of his relatives live. To him an Indian is the incarnation of all that is fiendish and bloodthirsty. "If I had the power of lightning, I wouldn't let it thunder till I had killed every one of them," said he. To a group of listeners in front of "Smoky Joe" Miller's hotel, "Uncle Billy" told this story of his memorable fight:

One Memorable Fight

"In 1868 I lived in San Saba county, Texas. On the night of Jan. 17 in that year A. W. Morrow, a neighbor, now dead, and myself camped near the watermill of Major A. J. Rose, where Brady Creek empties into the Colorado River. There had been no trouble with marauding Comanches and when we started home early next morning with a four-horse team we were armed with only two dragoon pistols. We were traveling a main road, between two settlements, and had gone about eight miles when we heard the running of horses in our rear. Morrow was walking and, calling to me, said: 'Wait; a lot of cowboys are trying to overtake us; they must have bad news.' A herd of cattle close by had led him to believe that our followers were cowboys.

"I saw that Indians, instead of cowboys, were coming, and shouted to Morrow to jump into the wagon or he would be shot full of holes. Our wagon cover was up, and tightly drawn. I whipped our horses into a run, but the Indians soon overtook us. Morrow crouched in the rear end of the wagon and began the fight. He shot one Indian whose horse whirled and threw him to the ground. This caused the Indians to fall back a little, and enabled us to see that there were about 15 in the party. They were a dirty, greasy lot of wretches, much of their war paint having been off since they started on their raid. Several women were among them, riding astride and fighting as viciously as the men. Our horses ran away and went at breakneck speed for about three miles. The Indians kept close to our rear and fired at us with Winchester rifles, pistols and two old 'Long Tom' rifles, doing little damage, however, as they were poor marksmen with firearms. They killed one of our horses and then, luckily or unluckily for us, ran out of ammunition.

The Worst Was to Come

"We could see them unslinging their bows and shifting their arrow quivers into position, and knew that the worst of the fight was to come. The first arrow struck Morrow in the hand; the Indian who shot it tumbled yelling from his horse with a bullet in his chest. In the run-away, our horses threw the wagon into a ditch where we stuck fast. We were reduced to less than a dozen cartridges and saw that we must make every bullet count. We never fired at an Indian more than ten feet away. The Indians charged us time and again, often coming within eight or ten feet of the wagon. We could have hit them with clubs. They talked to each other in the sign language, making as little noise as possible, and pressing closer and closer upon us. Their leader came within six feet of me and I shot him through the hips. He yelled and clutched his saddle and galloped away.

"A squaw shot me in the right cheek with an arrow that protruded from behind my ear. Six more struck me in the head, the points 'kinking' against my skull making it difficult and painful to pull them out. Seven more lodged in my body between my neck and waist. I pulled one arrowhead from my abdomen that was as long as my finger and so keen that a person could whittle with it. The Indians were at too close range for their arrows to acquire speed, or else we would have been shot through and through. In pulling one arrow from my left side, the head slipped from the shaft and remained in my lung. It is still there. Another hit me squarely in the middle of the chest, sticking in the bone and standing out as straight as if it had been shot into a tree. Another missed the femoral artery in my leg by the width of a knife blade. I carried a steel barb in my right thigh till 1874, when Dr. Dowell, at Galveston, removed it. I presented the relic to Morrow as a souvenir. The cold acid sting of an arrow plowing its way in your flesh is a sensation never to be forgotten. It is less painful than maddening at first, but in the end it is sickening.

The Arrows Were Flying

"Poor Morrow was as desperately wounded as myself. An arrow struck him squarely in the left ear, and while I was pulling it out, another went whizzing into his right ear. He could see both shafts, and imagined that one arrow had passed entirely through his head. He groaned and said that he was killed. Before I could reassure him an arrow hit him in the left eye and glanced under the skin to his ear. Blood poured down his face in a stream and covered my hands and arms. 'They have shot my eye out,' he exclaimed. 'No, it glanced,' I replied, pulling the arrow from the wound. Morrow was hit three or four times before I was touched. When the Indians got under good headway the arrows came so rapidly that I couldn't pull them out as fast as they went in.

"We were now in desperate straights, suffering with dreadful wounds, out of ammunition, save one load in Morrow's pistol, and our horses unable to pull the wagon from the ditch. The Indians, in their excitement had shot away most of their arrows. The 'chuck' box fastened to the end of the wagon, bristled like a porcupine. I believe that a double armful of arrows was sticking in the wagon and ground. I told Morrow that our only hope of escape was to cut the traces and make a run on horseback. The Indians had withdrawn to parley, knowing that they had only a few arrows left in their quivers, and fearing that we might still have ammunition. Morrow and I mounted a horse each and started. An arrow whizzed and struck his horse in the hip, causing the animal to pitch. Morrow was thrown fully 10 feet high, falling on his head. He called to me that he was killed. I answered by pulling him up behind me, and was thankful to find that he still held to his pistol with its remaining load. We ran our horses as rapidly as possible toward a clump of trees. The Indians shot at us about twenty times, while we were cutting the traces, but upon reaching the deserted wagon they replenished their supply and a stream of arrows poured after us. A friend afterward trailed us for 150 yards by the line of arrows sticking in the ground.

The Indians Went Away

"We rode about three-quarters of a mile before reaching cover in the timber. Then a singular thing happened. Whether it was due to their savage admiration of our pluck and seemingly charmed lives, I am unable to say. We had killed, as later reports showed, about seven Indians. The remainder of the band now galloped to within 60 feet of where we crouched in the timber, and stopped. Their leader rode out and looked steadily at us for a few seconds, without saying a word, and returned to his former position. Each Indian in turn did the same thing, and then the band rode away and disappeared over the ridge. Although expecting death, we were in too much anguish to feel thankful for our immediate deliverance. Fearing that they would return, we secreted ourselves as closely as possible in the timber. Both of us were soon terribly nauseated, and burning with fever. We remained hidden till about 9 o'clock next day.

"Early in the morning of the fight, Jack Flood was cutting cedar posts in a canyon when he heard the Indians coming, secreted himself and saw them pass by. The appearance of a Comanche in Texas meant war. Flood ran to the farm of John Fleming, gave the alarm and raised a posse of 12 men. They reached our wagon about an hour after the Indians had gone. Morrow and I were wild with thirst and tried to reach Brady creek, but I grew so sick that I could go no further. I told him to scan the country, and fire the remaining shot in his pistol if he saw white men. He saw the posse, mistook our friends for Indians, and crept back to me with one of his boots full of water. I drank so much I was unable to walk. The posse searched all day without finding us.

Four of its members agreed to remain all night in an old log house nearby and resume the search next morning. Major Rose, now of Belton, Texas, and J. Z. Sloam of San Saba, were two of these four volunteers. About daylight on Jan. 19, Sloam found an arrow sticking in the ground and a few steps away another and another, which he followed till he reached the timber where we were hiding. He was within 30 yards of me before I saw and recognized him. Our rescuers got a wagon and hauled us home, reaching there about dusk. We recovered three of our horses. One of mine had two arrows in him. I cut down into his haunches 11 inches to remove an arrow head. Morrow and I were pitiable looking objects, covered with blood, gashed with wounds and almost dead. Both recovered after a number of surgical operations. I was compelled to use crutches for two years.

Indians Escaped from Texas

The Indians escaped from Texas before they could be overtaken. They had stolen away from the Fort Sill Reservation, in what is now Oklahoma, to burn and pillage and murder. We brought suit against the government for losses due to their depredations, but lost through the delay of our lawyers in prosecuting the case.

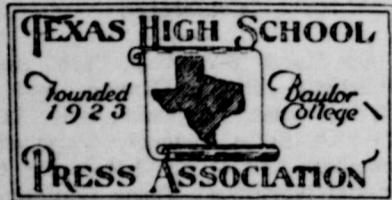

"The Indian I shot in the hips proved to be old Asaharber, who died in 1884. I saw him in 1883, for the first time after the fight, at a cow camp in the Panhandle, where I had gone to run horse races with the Comanches. He was in the grub shack eating when I entered. He stopped instantly and watching me carefully, got up and went outside, keeping his face constantly toward me. Through an interpreter he said that he knew me. I replied that there was no doubt of it, and felt an itching to kill him. Next morning his camp at the mouth of Sweetwater had disappeared; he had headed for Fort Sill as fast as his ponies could travel.

"I hate Indians like hell," said "Uncle Billy," his eyes flashing with anger. Then in greatest scorn, "The poor, homeless man of the forest! I want to kill a man when he talks that way. These devils did enough in that raid to turn any white man against their whole race. They stole a 10-year-old boy, William Herter, in Mason county, carried him tied on a horse to the head of the Concho, then to Pueblo and New Mexico, finally trading him for a horse. The boy was old enough to tell his name, and the man who got him wrote to Sheriff Milligan and the boy was restored to his father. In Gillespie county they killed two women by cutting off their heads, raised a baby by the heels and dashed its brains against a tree in the yard. I saw blood on the tree a year later. In Llano county they scalped a Mrs. Dancer four times. She had remarkable courage. The Indians jabbed arrows into her body to see if she was dead, but she never flinched, and crawled away after the Indians left. In Burnett county a farmer named Benson went about 100 yards from his house to tie a horse, his 8-year-old boy following him. The Comanches surprised and killed Benson, tied the boy and left him on the ground near where they concealed themselves all day and night. The child saw the neighbors bury his father's body. He was taken to Fort Sill and exchanged four or five years afterward. He returned to the Comanches, married a squaw, and may be still living with the tribe."

A QUERY

(This poem is dedicated to
 R. L. Dunn)

If a man is out riding,
 Whether great or whether small,
 Is it anybody's business
 Where that person means to call?

Or if you see a person,
 As he's calling anywhere,
 Is it any of your business
 What his business may be there?

The substance of our query
 Simply stated, would be this:
 Is it anybody's business
 What another's business is?

If it is, or if it isn't,
 We would really like to know;
 For we're certain if it isn't
 There are some who make it so!

Fannie Belle Scribner and Amellis Ann Green of Canyon visited school, March 2.

English Notes

The English II class have been making outlines of term themes. The class has also been learning how to build paragraphs and how they will help in writing themes. Bibliographies, footnotes, outlines and term themes seem to be the popular subject for conversation these days; my goodness, be careful to use the correct one for each and do not dare to misspell a word or leave off a period.

Did you know verbs have five properties? Do you know how the passive voice is formed? Can you explain how the person and number of a verb is determined? Well, neither could the English IV students when they started a study of verbs last week.

The first thing they learned was the conjugation of regular and irregular verbs. After that came tense, voice, number, mood and person. Some of the students may think they have learned all about verbs, but most of them are beginning to realize how much they don't know about verbs.

In addition to all the lessons on verbs there was one on diction and a list of 116 words to learn to spell. Imagine being able to spell 116 words!

GRADE SCHOOL

Again the grade school children have been made very happy by the Blue Bonnet club of Mobeetie. Mrs. Nathan Hunt, as a representative of the club, presented a volleyball and net to the grade pupils. The children certainly appreciate the ball and net and have been having lots of fun learning the rules of the game.

Even on high windy days a group of children can be seen trying in vain to bat the ball against the wind. Of course the side facing the wind usually loses the game, but they trade sides at the end of every game, and in that way they take time about winning.

If the Blue Bonnet club members could have heard the remarks of the children when they were told that a volleyball and net had been given to them, they would have realized how grateful the pupils are for this and all the playground equipment that the club has given them this year.

Students of the grade school enjoyed a short demonstration of sleight-of-hand tricks that Bob Clark from Wheeler plans to use in a program Tuesday night. All the students were very interested in what they saw, or what they did not see.

A plan for helping to bring all grade school children up to normal weight is being sponsored by the Blue Bonnet club. The plan was put into operation Monday morning when Mrs. Hinson and several girls from the home economics department measured and weighed all pupils in the first seven grades, preparatory to figuring which are the most under-weight. Mr. Cunningham was declared to be somewhat over-weight if the age he gave was correct.

As soon as the list of under-weight pupils is completed, tickets will be issued to the 30 who prove to be most under-weight and these will be served a hot lunch free every day this month. Since it did not seem advisable to begin with more than 30 free lunches, an opportunity will be given for other children who wish the hot dish to buy it for 5 cents a day.

During the first week each child in school will be given one hot meal free. It is hoped that if the plan proves successful some way can be devised to finance it on a larger scale in the future.

Mesdames Hunt, Walker, Elliott, Dyson and Love helped to plan and serve the first lunch. All the study club members are co-operating in promoting the lunch.

In order to raise money to help finance the school lunch a public elimination of contestants in Inter-scholastic league events will be held Thursday night in the grade school auditorium at 7:30. A small admission fee of 10c to all will be charged. The program will consist of a debate, declamations, choral singing, story telling, music and various other numbers. We can assure you a full evening of entertainment. Come and help us finance our hot lunch project.

The fourth grade geography class is showing much interest in the study of the Netherlands. Some excellent pictures of Holland have been brought by the pupils and are on display in the room. A project in the sand table includes a dike on which coarse grass (wheat) is growing, a tulip field, black and white cows in a pasture, some windmills, and dolls dressed in Dutch costumes.

The art work has included making a March calendar with a Dutch scene on it and making spelling booklets; the boys made Dutch boys and the girls made Dutch girls; each day all the perfect booklets are hung up in the room. Some very interesting souvenirs have been brought by the pupils.

SOPHOMORES

The sophomores were entertained with a class party at the home of Evelyn Corcoran, Wednesday of last week. Evelyn and Alma Gober acted as hostesses.

Who was it Odie Mae and Evelyn made so mad at the musical Monday night?

Odessa, you make a swell bouncer at class parties.

We are told that Elbert and Ralph brought some girls out to the sophomore party.

Mrs. Harris has got in style; she is wearing a beautiful smock.

Paul has been sporting a swell badge lately; he says he won it running the mile last year.

It seems that some of the sophomore girls go to bed too early to get to go to church on Sunday night.

We are told that Dora, Dorothea and Imogene behaved nicely on leap year night. Imogene, it seems that you turned into an information agent for the operator.

Alma, who was it you wanted to be at the class party so bad?

We heard some of the sophomore girls say that they are going to have a swell junior high team.

We wonder how come Isabelle to make the honor roll. Could it have been because she is so good lately.

Odessa don't you have any more to do than run your head in the ground.

We wonder why Dora has been claiming kin to Dorothea.

We understand that Wilma and Dora are going to make a trip to Miami, Florida, in the near future. Could it be with those Wheeler guys?

We wonder who Evelyn's boy friend will be now.

Omer be careful what kind of gum you chew.

Ina, beware of breaking your (watch) crystal.

It seems that some girl did a very good piece of work by getting Charlie back in school.

Since Warren is back in school, F. P. will have some one to listen at his running off at the head.

Tsh! Tsh! Sophomore boys should not take advantage of freshmen boys like A. L., especially on Sunday afternoons.

BIRTHS

On Sunday afternoon, March 8, a baby girl was born to County Superintendent and Mrs. B. T. Rucker. She was given the name of Gwendolyn Sue.

Mr. and Mrs. Tots Baird are the proud parents of a 9 pound baby boy. He has been named Jimmie Jack.

MODERN HISTORY

The modern history class has been studying about the "Scramble for Backward Countries," and they have turned in posters and maps. They have also finished about the scramble in Africa, part of Asia, and the opening up of China. The next chapter is about alliances and armaments, and it is hoped that it is as interesting as the other parts have been.

J. B. Carmichael and A. B. Crump wish to make an humble apology to Mrs. Harris for any past misdemeanors or felonies that they have committed and faithfully vow that they will, neither, allow such a thing to happen again.

"THE EYE"

(Ordinary people are never mentioned in these paragraphs. This column is devoted to those that reach the sublime and the ridiculous).

Last issue the Eye was asleep; however, it was awakened from its two weeks sleep. Looking around, the Eye saw J. B. Carmichael crawling out of a hole in his back yard. Just why J. B. was in this hole is unknown; hope he didn't get cold waiting for the company to leave so he could go in the house.

Why is Viola called the Trembling Tubb?

Mrs. Blankinship received some important mail last week. See her for information.

The Eye saw Odessa Cruse fall down at the sophomore class party. Wonder if she had been drinking ginger ale or something stronger?

Edd Dart was seen in Wheeler Saturday night. Why did he deny it out on the track field?

Ask Bulah who she went with to the party at Zell's. Boy, does she like them tall and handsome?

Some of the seniors must have enjoyed the picnic last Wednesday night, as they went on another one Sunday.

Mrs. Harris has been wearing colored glasses so the students can't tell whether she is sleeping or not.

Mr. Neice is our weather prophet; he said we would have rain by Tuesday noon. Well, it was a Panhandle shower.

Was J. B. trying to play pop-the-whip with Elizabeth the other night when she fell down?

Hornet StingsBy BILL BARTRAM*Cushing Cagers Take State

On the night of March 7, Cushing high school won the basketball championship of Texas Interscholastic league by defeating El Paso high school in a tense, thrilling game, 33 to 29.

Cushing is a small East Texas high school of only about 75 students. This is the first state meet in which this school has participated, and they have been highly complimented on their good playing and sportsmanship.

As the time for the Fort Worth track meet draws near the Hornets' training becomes more and more interesting and the prospects for a winning team improves.

There is talk about spring football going around the school grounds. The boys who have not had a chance to make the first string in past years are anxious to show what they can do. Although the squad will be made up mostly of new men it has very good prospects.

OCCUPATION

We, the occupation class, have recently completed the chapter in the books "How Buying and Selling Takes Place." Until now we had never completely understood why people trade. We are now able to answer it in this manner:

We trade to get a variety of goods, to promote national and world unity, and to obtain a sense of independence.

To make this more clear in our minds, we are preparing maps showing the important gold mines and trading ports of the world.

Poems Written by Geography Students

There are many people who travel today,
On the road called the Appian Way;
It's an old Roman road built before Christ
So you see it's been traveled a sight.

—LOUISE COMPTON.

Holland is where the windmills run,
From behind the dikes the water comes;

And in winter, in all frozen places,
They get their skates and all run races.

In Holland they wear wooden shoes,
For they are the best kind to use.
Their houses are so clean and neat,
That you walk around in your stocking feet.

—GLENN BERYL HAYNES.

Austria is the remnant of an old empire,
Mt. Vesuvius is a mountain of fire,
Greece was famous in days of old,
Switzerland has mountain climbers very bold.

In France they raise lots of wheat,
Geneva, in Switzerland, is where the councils meet,

In Spain they grow citrus fruits,
And Italy is the country shaped like a boot.

SIDE LIGHTS ON A. A. U.

Briscoe went to the semi-finals in the consolation.

Allison won the consolation.

Plainview won the meet, eliminating Winsboro in the finals, 38-40.

Channing placed fourth.

Lois Huff, formerly of Conlen, made the all-star team.

Miss Georgia Cain of Briscoe was selected the prettiest blonde.

Ruby Gunter of Allison won the free shot contest with 42 free throws out of 50.

Channing eliminated Panhandle 40-38 in the quarter-finals.

Next year the meet will be held at Hillsboro, Texas.

Mobeetie wishes to congratulate Allison on the splendid girls' team which has been developed this year and we are proud of your win at Plainview in the consolation.

Junior What-Nots

The juniors have selected their play. Look for the cast and date of "Bright and Early" in the next paper.

The juniors are still looking forward to receiving their class pins. They are expected to arrive at any time.

We wonder why:

Edd Dart persists in telling little white lies about not dating any one?

Bill Bartram wishes he were a freshman and Ida Lou Ward wishes she were a junior?

Guess who:

A certain junior girl who is very small, has black hair and dark eyes, and lives southeast of Mobeetie. We don't know who her boy friend is, but it has been said that he was one of the light-weights on the football team.

SENIOR PLAY SELECTED

Several plays were selected for examination by the senior class, and probably the one entitled "Among the Stars," by Kathryn Wayne, will be presented.

Soon after the presentation of the junior play, the seniors expect to give theirs. They want to use the proceeds for making a picture of all seniors to be placed in the entrance hall of the high school building.

DISTRICT MEET NOT ATTENDED

The Home Ec. club missed the district meeting at Memphis, Feb. 8, due to bad weather. The district president sent some newspaper articles about the meeting and a copy of the program.

The next meeting is to be in April, but the place has not been decided.

Senior Sidelights

J. B. Carmichael spent the week end in Sayre, Okla., visiting at home and with friends.

Several of the seniors attended the show at Wheeler Saturday night.

Elizabeth Green spent the week end in Liberal, Kansas, visiting with relatives.

Ola Mae Baird, who is the baby member of the senior class, was born at Quail, Texas, on May 1, 1920. She has attended Mt. View, Mt. Zion and Mobeetie schools. She began here in her sophomore year.

Her high school days have been well spent in study. She has made good grades, and her work has been recognized by both teachers and pupils. Bookkeeping is her favorite subject. Her motto is "To make the best better." Next year she plans to attend college at Canyon, where she will major in bookkeeping.

Her first date was a 1935-'36 senior whose initial is W., and her last date was another 1935-'36 senior whose initial is C. Would you have thought it of her?

She has black hair, brown eyes, weighs 110 pounds, and is 63 inches high.

Fred Farmer, a football hero of the senior class, was born at Forrestburg, Texas, April 26, 1915.

He attended school at Forrestburg, Corn Valley and Mobeetie. He started at Mobeetie in 1934 as a junior. The class was very glad to welcome Fred (better known as Ted) as one of its members. He had been very helpful to the class in many ways, especially in the time of need. Fred is always a willing helper.

Fred takes a great part in the school activities. He is crazy about football, loves basketball, and likes track work. His like for the girls is a combination of all three. Fred is the sergeant-at-arms of the senior class.

He likes practically all his subjects, but American history is his favorite. His motto is "A quitter never wins; a winner never quits." Like several other members of the class, Fred plans to enter college at Canyon, when he finishes high school.

Now for his description—he has dark brown hair, grey eyes, is 70 inches tall, weighs 165 pounds. Believe it or not, he is quite a handsome lad.

Guess who Fred's first date was with? You couldn't, so I'll tell you. Her initials are V. R. I'm not sure, but she must have made the date. His last date was with a blonde. Her first initial is F.

ABER AND JABER

I wonder whose Amarillo high school ring Viola Tubbs is wearing?

An old-fashioned girl blushes when she is embarrassed; a modern girl is embarrassed when she blushes.

Men positively do not snore louder than women, and it is impossible to distinguish between male and female snores.

The French Academy of Medicine officially ruled that the custom of kissing on the cheek is more hygienic than that of shaking hands.

I heard that Bill has started a new system of typewriting. He calls it the Columbus system; he discovers a key and then lands on it.

R. L.—"What's the use of washing my hands before I go to school, mother? I'm not one of them that is always raising them."

Mrs. Harris says that a guilty conscience doesn't lie.

St. Peter: "Who's there?"

Mr. Blankinship: "It is I."

St. Peter: "Get out of here. We don't want any more school teachers."

Mrs. Harris: "Who was Ponce de Leon?"

Leo: "He is the guy that was looking for a drink."

Edd Dart in English IV said that the oldest short stories were written by Egyptians on papyrus.

NEWS BRIEFS

Rex Sitton of Oklahoma City visited school Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Harris went to Amarillo to the hospital, where she had her eyes treated.

The Fish Pond

It seems that almost everyone has been wanting their dresses dyed (even the sissy boys) since Bob Clark demonstrated before the high school. At any rate, he will have quite a job on his hands before long.

I suppose you all noticed how closely Mr. Blankinship was trying to observe those tricks. But he was not the only one. Omer just knew he'd catch on when he marched into to study hall, but has anyone heard them giving instructions at to how they were performed?

Say Mrs. Harris, is your new smock described as Delos expresses it? (A gunnie sack).

Mildred, has "he" returned that picture yet? If not, you had better get it soon because it is almost gardening time, and, oh, the rabbits are so bad this year, and he lives on a farm!

The girls baseball teams sure have lots of fun during the physical education period. There are good prospects of taking the county at Interscholastic League meet, but it requires practice and genuine work. Keep on beating those seniors and boy, oh boy, you'll win.

First Declamation Tryouts Are Friday

Three Best Speakers in Each Group to Be Chosen—Finals Set for March 20

Come on and hear! Come on and hear! The preliminary eliminations in junior and senior boys and girls declamation will be held Friday afternoon (tomorrow) at 2:30 o'clock in the auditorium-gymnasium.

At that time the three best declaimers in each division will be chosen. The finals will be next Friday, March 20, probably at night.

Robert Mayne's pupils in the senior girls division are Ferrol Ficke, Ruth Faye Garrison, Imogene Jamison and Aline Buchanan, the boys are J. R. Burke and Billy Noah. Miss Willetta Templeton is coaching Delilah Montgomery, senior, and Johnnie Faye Templeton, junior.

Mrs. J. L. Gilmore is coaching Helen Sanders, a senior, and Ruth Faust and Irene Hunt, juniors.

In the grade school Miss Rose Bowden has charge of the declaimers who are Edwina Flanagan, Winona Red, Mary Ellen Westmoreland, Ineta Maxwell, Tommie Jo Pendleton, Ione Durham, Wilma Derryberry, Calvin Montgomery, Ethel Merritt, Emily Lou Ahler, Anita Hale, Waymond Herd, Joyce Faust and Norma Dee Robertson.

The grammar school junior boys who are being instructed by Miss Templeton are Billy Wiley, F. B. Craig, Alton Nations and Melba Wiley.

Cat's Trails, Ladders Seem Nothing Beside Eventful Friday 13

Are you shy of FRIDAY 13? Does something bad always happen to you on that day? Maybe you are the kind of person who isn't afraid of anything. If so, you'd better watch your step this Friday. Something is sure to happen to you.

One student said that rather than to cross a black cat's trail she would walk a mile to avoid doing so. Another student says that he walked under a ladder on a certain Friday 13 just to see if it would cause him any worry and what do you think happened to him? It fell on him (a prank of his smaller brother) but this student wants to warn the others, anyway.

Now if a teacher were to be suspicious, wouldn't the students have fun? They (teachers) say that they aren't one bit easy to scare. Still if some black cat should cross their trail and then a mischievous boy scare them—say, they'd tell the rest of you to watch 'cause this is FRIDAY 13.

State Superintendent Woods Confesses Early Farm Life; Nickname, Flat Head

Friendliness and humor stand out as the two chief traits of Dr. L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction.

When asked what kind of work he did while a boy, he replied that people wouldn't believe it, but he was a farmer. Dr. Woods was born in Newton county, Texas, near the Sabine river. While a small boy he learned to do many things such as learning to hoe, plow, split rails and various other tasks that must be done on a farm. Dr. Woods secured the name "Flat Head" while working in the sawmills. During his school days he won one scholarship; however, he says that he was only an average student.

In answer to the question, What motto would you give to a high school boy or a girl?, Dr. Woods replied, "The world cares little about the storms encountered at sea. The question is, Have you overcome them, however difficult they may be?"

Dr. Woods declared that music was his hobby for he enjoys listening to it very much. He said he liked classical music best, with love songs ranking second. His reading taste runs to educational literature and religious writings.

Dr. Woods enjoys a good football or basketball game but he said he did not care to participate in any kind of sports. He went on to explain that he liked debating much better.

Dr. L. A. Woods, a man of distinction, has three degrees, A. B., M. A. and L. L. D., all of which he received from Baylor university. He was a member of the debating society while attending college.

He said that he would advise each high school graduate to attend college if he could take whatever he or she desires most. Although he stated that he believed that if a person was going just to take a general course he should stay at home.

"I believe it would be possible to have a better school system by adding art, music, physical training and nature study to the grades and high schools everywhere," said Dr. Woods.

P.-T. A. to Sponsor St. Patrick's Party

In honor of St. Patrick's day the Parent-Teachers association will give a bridge and 42 tournament in the gymnasium next Tuesday night, March 17. The admission will be 25 cents each or 50 cents a couple. The entertainment will start at 7:30.

Mrs. G. O. McCrohan, Miss Frances Clark and Coach Bob Clark will have charge of the program, which will probably include magic tricks and musical numbers.

Mrs. Roy Puckett has charge of the tournament. Mrs. Cora Hall, Mrs. Al Watson and Mrs. Roy Puckett are serving on the table committee. Refreshments of coffee, cake and sandwiches will be served. Miss Ruth Ewing is in charge of the refreshments furnished by the teachers.

During the evening a reading lamp presented to the organization by the Panhandle Power & Light company may be auctioned.

Teachers Receive Sorority Pins

Miss Winona Adams and Mrs. C. J. Meek received their keys to the national Delta Kappa Gamma organization Tuesday. The pins are of old gold and are shaped like keys. They are decorated with a lamp of knowledge and a laurel wreath.

Grammar Grades Clean School Yard

Last Thursday the grammar grade students were dismissed for two periods to clean up the school yards. This work was supervised by the grammar grade teachers.

Two Juniors Place On "A" Honor Roll

Only two students in high school were on the straight A honor roll for the first six weeks of the new semester. They are Lilla Mae Crofford and Parilee Clay, juniors. Others in this class making A's and B's are Bonnie Adams, Orveta Puett, Maxie Lee Wilson and Martha Alice Wiley.

Alvern Hampton, Naomi Johnson, Johnnie Faye Templeton and Robert Smith are the freshmen making A's and B's.

Those on the sophomore list making A's and B's: Ruth Faust, Cleo Sewell, Amos Page and Huffman Walker.

Beulah Company and Helen Sanders were the only seniors making A's and B's.

Wendell Meek Wins College Cage Honors

McMurry College Indians, ending their basketball schedule, find Wendell Meek, first string center of Wheeler, among the highest scorers in the Texas conference race.

Wendell was graduated from Wheeler high school in 1933. He was a member of the Lettermen's club and took part in track, football, basketball and public speaking.

He has played left end on the college football squad and center on the basketball team the two years he has attended college.

He is also a candidate for varsity tennis this year at McMurry.

Large Group Attends Cottage Dedication

Addresses by Outstanding Educators of State Lend Dignity to Occasion

Dressed out in best bib 'n tucker, over 300 parents, students, visiting home economics instructors, superintendents and guest speakers gathered in the gymnasium-auditorium last Sunday afternoon to witness the dedicatory service of the new home economics cottage of the local school plant.

The opening number, "The Eyes of Texas," by the assembly was led by W. R. Clark, head of the music department at W. T. S. T. C. The invocation was given by the Rev. J. Edmund Kirby.

Girls' Chorus Sings

Two selections, "Sweet and Low" and "All Through the Night," were sung by the girls' chorus under the direction of Miss Frances Clark.

As the next part of the program, Supt. J. L. Gilmore introduced the platform guests and speakers which included: Dr. A. M. Meyers, teacher at the State Teachers College at Canyon; Lem Sone, principal of Pampa high school; Supt. Jim H. Dyer, Briscoe; Supt. Clyde Brown, Kelton; Supt. Lee Vardy, Turkey; the principal of the Childress senior high school, three Pampa home economics teachers, and the Memphis home economics instructor.

Recalls Miss Peek's Visit

Miss Ester Sorensen gave a humorous reminiscence of her period of teaching home economics in Wheeler. At that time the girls and vocational agriculture boys were housed in the basement of one of the local churches. While in this make-shift school room, Miss Lillian Peek visited Miss Sorensen's class. This incident served as a way of introducing the state director of homemaking education, Miss Peek.

In her address, Miss Peek likened the progress of the domestic science department in Wheeler to the mode of locomotion. First came the covered wagon, or the basement era, and then by gradual development to the most modern phase, the new cottage of today.

Robert Mayne presented two short vocal numbers which included: "For You Alone" and an Irish Ballad.

In his talk Dr. Woods stressed the need of domestic tranquility in the home and the belief that homemaking courses would in a way insure this. Also, he stated that the new cottage was a reflection of the community, proving that it was progressive and far-sighted. Dr. Woods officially dedicated the cottage to the future homemakers of America.

The Rev. Taft Holloway concluded the program with the benediction. Following this, the visitors adjourned to inspect the cottage.

WHAT PRICE ATTENTION?

Some students will stop at nothing to attract attention. Anything from stamping their feet to standing on their heads or shouting and whistling for no good reason at all.

Whenever you attend a program, please remember that, after all, you are not the person whom the crowd came to see. You may be better looking, etc., but don't try to attract the attention of the audience. The performers might not know how to appreciate it like they should.

The school is judged by the conduct of those who attend it. Help make a good name for Wheeler by your good behavior.

DON'T SNAP YOUR FINGERS

If you want to get your teacher's attention, get out in the aisle and jump up and down or clap your hands, but please don't snap your fingers. The teacher will answer you as soon as she can. Unless you have a spider down your back or unless your clothes are on fire, just politely lift your hand and you will get results.

People of long ago called their dogs and other animals by snapping their fingers at them. The donkey was the most rapid means of travel and there were no fast moving cars to crash into each other. The people of today are not living in the past. Therefore, their children should not conduct themselves in caveman fashion.

Hold your arm directly over your head, causing the least resistance. Do not cause friction by snapping your fingers and you will have a modern, up to date, streamlined method of getting permission.

ONCE AGAIN

Once more the teachers wish to reiterate their requests concerning library rules.

Books are checked out for the period of one week. If needed longer, they may be re-checked again.

Magazines, pamphlets, newspapers, anthologies and encyclopedias are not to be taken out of the library. The system of entering the name of the student using periodicals in the book provided for that use, is for the convenience of the librarian in "keeping tab" on them.

IN REVIEW

THE ENGLISH HUMORISTS OF THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY Thackery

This book, "The English Humorists of the Eighteenth Century," is especially recommended to English IV students. It is written by a required author, and if one has read any of Thackery's works, he will welcome this book.

This will prove very helpful to the student studying English literature, as it has a brief discussion of many of the old English writers.

Don't get the impression that this is a regular history book, because it is not. Thackery shows great humor in relating some of the incidents in the lives of these great men.

FROM OTHER BRANDING IRONS

From the Sandstorm comes this grain of laughter;

No school—
 Students gay—
 Teachers snort,
 "Holiday,"
 !—* xt*!

Paper wad—
 Victims duck—
 Hit professor—
 "Just my luck."

To get you in a good humor—a bit of wit from Canyon:

They had been sitting in the swing, in the moonlight, alone. No words broke the stillness for half an hour, until:

"Suppose you had money," she said, "what would you do?"

He threw out his chest in all the glory of young manhood.

"I'd travel."

He felt her warm little hand slide into his. When he looked up she was gone. In his hand was a nickel.

(That's a hint, girls. Keep nickels handy).

The sophomores of Hardin-Simmons gave their annual banquet last Monday night. The tickets were a dollar.

Book binding is taught in Home Economics club meeting at White Deer.

Students cross,
 Teachers cranky;
 Got to cry,
 Where's my hanky?

SAGE BLOOMS

A small pair of black slippers with a huge black bow, enough to thrill the heart of any small girl, were carefully set away in the trunk.

Thoughts of this girl during the day were centered around the tiny black objects. A premature instinct about clothes had been born in her with the purchase of the foot apparel.

Late in the afternoon the 'phone rang. The little child's mother answered it and the caller proved to be the girl's dear father.

The woman lived on the other side of town and the little girl wanted her to see the new slippers. So the child took the treasures from the trunk and proceeded to hold them in front of the telephone.

At that time the child actually believed that her slippers could be seen. Perhaps, this same idea will work in 10 years or so, when television becomes a common-place article in every home.

Caught in
The Lasso's Noose

I have a pal whose head
 Is made of hardest wood.
 He stands around just like a cow
 A-chawing on her cud.

Mrs. Allen Smith received a special delivery letter the other day. It was postmarked from A. & M. college and to top it off was from a man. This looks rather suspicious for our teacher.

"Knowing rules saves time, energy and crayon," says Mr. Gilmore.

Doctors have the ability to solve almost any kind of case, but there is one in Wheeler school that cannot be cured. Junior Jamison has a spell of laziness that has been dragging his deportment down into a low grade the past month.

L. C. Rackley thinks "debut" has something to do with the day time.

Many young girls' hearts were beating furiously at the sight of Coach Clark, complete with a new car, Monday morning.

Girls that interviewed the state people Sunday afternoon had one more experience. The two distinguished visitors were quite busy and the girls had a time to catch them. Never mind, girls, you'll learn.

Can you believe it? The dinner served by the third year home ec. girls Sunday was the best served this year. Believe it or not!

Out 'till three
 Having fun
 Wish I hadn't
 Now it's done.
 Elephants pink
 Elephants red
 Gosh I'm sleepy.
 Where's the bed?

R. J. (when playing tennis with W. J.): "You can't beat me a love game 'cause I don't even like you."

We know that spring is just around the corner because—

Mr. Clark is sporting a new car and suit.

Mr. Gilmore has been talking to his advanced arithmetic class about ice cream. This may be to arouse the interest of the class, as it seems that nothing else will.

Teachers have blossomed in newly purchased clothes. (They got them in Amarillo over the week end.)

Students are also wearing spring clothes.

The study hall and class rooms are filled with yawns (signs of spring fever).

Everyone is merrier.

FACULTY ATTENDS EDUCATIONAL MEET

F. W. Hart, California, W. M. Beatty New York, Speak on Teaching at Canyon Conference

Beginning Friday morning at 9 o'clock and continuing through Saturday noon, an educational conference was held at Canyon, Texas, for Northwest Texas teachers. This meet is held annually.

Chief speakers for the occasion were Frank W. Hart, professor of education, University of California, and Willard M. Beatty, superintendent of schools, Bronxville, New York. Professor Hart's address was entitled, "Is Teaching a Profession?," and Beatty spoke on the question, "Can Real Civic Education Avoid Controversial Issues?" Professor Hart sent out questionnaires to California high school seniors asking them to tell the characteristics of the teachers they liked best and the teachers they liked least. His address Friday night consisted chiefly of the reading of these descriptions of the teachers and commenting on them.

Other important talks were made by Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological college, Lubbock; D. D. Jackson, professor of education, Texas Technological college, Lubbock; and D. M. Wiggins, president Texas School of Mines and Metallurgy, El Paso.

Special sectional meetings were held Friday, March 6, from 2:45 to 4 o'clock p. m.

At 7:30 p. m., Friday, a massed choral concert consisting of 250 high school girls and boys from Plainview, Borger, Amarillo, Perryton and Pampa sang the songs "Texas, Pride of the South," "By the Bend of the River," "Texas, Our Texas," "Spring-time" and "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You."

Teachers were required to pay a registration fee of 50 cents. All of the teachers of Wheeler attended the conference.

CLASS INTERVIEWS HOLLOWAY

Wednesday afternoon, during journalism period, the Rev. Taft Holloway visited the journalism class for an interview by the class. Martha Alice Wiley was the main questioner and after she had finished questioning him, the pupils asked him any questions they wished.

Each student was assigned to write the interview.

GAY FLOWERS APPEAR TO BE RUSHING SPRING

Talk about rushing the season, those flowers in the office of the high school building are really doing it. Coming out in bright red and pink dress before the last frost has hardly melted away is one of the best that I have heard.

Perhaps the warm sympathy flowing from Mr. Gilmore and Mr. Witt toward the students has warmed the atmosphere in the office and caused the poor flowers to think that summer time was here. If this was the case, perhaps the superintendent and principal owe an apology to nature.

Some of the students had to look in at the bright green and red flowers last Tuesday to chase away the gloom caused by the sand storm. The bright sun was hidden from view by tons and tons of sand but the flowers held their own in this gloomy world.

Tut, tut, be gay with the flowers.

With Grey Eyes Twinkling Miss Peek Admits that Hobby Is Classical Music

With her bright grey eyes twinkling and smiling delightedly, she answered the interviewer like this: "You wouldn't believe it, but my favorite pastime is music, yes, classical music." Such is the hobby of Miss Lillian Peek, state supervisor of homemaking in Texas.

Her visit to Wheeler last Sunday to attend the dedication services of the home ec. cottage was not, however, her first time to be here.

Continuing with a soft voice, she helped the stumbling interviewer with: "I taught my first school in Haskell, Texas, and later, about 1923, became the supervisor of this district.

"On my first visit to Wheeler I found Miss Esther Sorensen teaching home making in a church," said Miss Peek. Then your department was just started and it can be called the 'covered wagon,' or beginning. Later on the little class was moved to the school building. This could be called the 'T-model' advancement, but now you have a 'stream-lined' department."

"Do you think that boys should take home making?" asked the interviewer. Pausing a moment to adjust her pert little hat to a better angle, she replied, "Yes, I do. You know that boys should be in a position to understand and sympathize with the wife and to know how to sew buttons on their shirts and to know the right kinds of food to eat and how to prepare them."

A smile ready for everyone and kind words for those in deepest woe characterize Miss Peek.

ADDITIONS TO HONOR ROLL

The honor roll for the sixth grade, section B, was overlooked in The Corral last week.

Marie Herd, Wanda Lee Hyatt and Wayne Rogers made all A's. On the A and B list were Katherine Tinney, Eugene Dowdey, Harriet Dean Tinney, Billy Cospers and Joe Griffin.

Minute Interviews

Question: What did you do on the holiday?

Martha Alice Wiley: "Oh, I played hookey from school."

Miss Addison: "I went to Canyon, then went home to see my 'mom' and 'pop'."

Miss Kirby (frowning): "Oh, I went to Canyon, but it wasn't much of a holiday."

Mrs. Gilmore: "I went to see my 'alma mater' and had lots of fun."

Mazie Bean: "I caught up on my back sleep."

All Teachers went to Canyon (wonder if they were glad to get away from those troublesome students)?

Wave Wallace: "Why, I went to school."

Rutha Mae Conner: "I played tennis."

"I worked at the office," from Julia Lou Tinney.

"I ate my dinner," responded Ocie Pace to the question.

Cordie Lee Farris, Adell Hampton and Laney Mae Tillman all sewed on home ec. home project dresses. (Did you get your 30 hours in, girls)?

James Passons and Cecil Parker both worked. (Can you imagine)?

You see, after being given a holiday, most of the students worked. Several took advantage of the leisure hours.

Now, students, quit your grumbling about not having any holidays or make use of them when they do come your way.

CONTRIBUTIONS ADD TO COTTAGE DECORATIONS

The Nix Florist shop of Shamrock furnished flowers to decorate the home economics cottage and gymnasium for the dedication services Sunday afternoon. They also donated flowers for the luncheon table.

An Electrolux and two gas stoves were loaned by H. M. Wiley. He has left the Electrolux at the cottage for a while. Mrs. Jim Porter furnished the department two rugs. Teachers and girls sent pictures to complete the decoration. The electric light company furnished the cabinet style Zenith radio. The department borrowed the dishes and serving tray used at the luncheon from Mrs. D. A. Hunt and the coffee set belonged to Mrs. Doris Forrester.

The Pampa home economics department presented the Wheeler department with a pot plant.

Girls Chorus to Sing Sunday Night

The girls' chorus has been asked to sing at the Methodist church Sunday night. They will sing "Stars of the Summer Night" and "All Through the Night." At the dedication last Sunday afternoon this group sang "Sweet and Low," and "All Through the Night."

My Heart's in Wheeler High

My heart's in Wheeler High, my heart is not there;

My heart's in Wheeler High, a-failing right here.

A-failing here and there, and making a D,

My heart's in Wheeler High wherever I be.

Farewell to Wheeler High, farewell to the school,

The best place to study and sit on a dunce stool.

Wherever I wander, wherever I rove, My desk at Wheeler High forever I'll love.

Farewell to the teachers with scornful looks,

Farewell to the classes and knowledge in books.

Farewell to my lover and classmates with wishes;

Farewell to the sophs and juniors and fishes.

My heart's in Wheeler High, my heart is not there.

My heart's in Wheeler High, a-failing right here.

A-failing here and there and making a D,

My heart's in Wheeler High wherever I be.

—CAPITOLA WILSON.

COLTS AWARDED SQUAD SWEATERS

Two Ponies Also Given Letters by Coach Clark, Tuesday in Assembly

Boy take a look at that yellow sweater. Isn't it a honey? That's right. Sweaters for the football boys who lettered as Colts and Ponies were presented Tuesday morning in study hall by Coach Bob Clark.

The sweaters are gold and the words "Colts" or "Ponies '35" are sewed on the front.

During the past season the Colts only lost two games. The Ponies were defeated only once.

Those who received sweaters were Guy Robison, captain and halfback; Charles Red, end; R. J. Puckett, quarter-back, Joe Forrest, guard; Harrison Hall, full back; J. B. Crowder, guard; Carol Adams, tackle.

The Ponies who were to receive sweaters were H. E. Young, full back; James Passons, guard.

COLTS PAW, PRANCE AS COACH AWARDS HARNESS

Proud and happy, the young Colts pawed and pranced as Coach Clark presented the bright gold and black sweaters to them last Tuesday. There was one Pony in the group and this Pony was not nearly so wild as some of the others.

Of course he has had more experience in the field of football and he naturally has been tamed more times than the Colts, who have played in but few games.

Anyway, each of those who received football sweaters were proud of them. At least they said so in their speeches after the awarding of the sweaters.

They did make fine speeches. So very fine that the students cheered after each one. The Colts will probably be the future Mustangs of Wheeler high school and they are in earnest about their football.

So it might be remembered that there is a group of wild Colts around Wheeler that have not shed all of their teeth yet, and it would be best to watch them.

SENIOR TRACK TEAM CONSISTS OF 7 BOYS

Track this year has not aroused as much interest in Wheeler high school as it did last year, according to Coach Bob Clark. Most of those who are out for track are going out for running and throwing events. The senior team this year is made up of Herbert Whitener, Wallace Pendleton, Dudley Callan, Lewis Cain, Ray Norman, W. J. Ford and J. R. Burke.

Juniors have not organized their team yet, but a meeting to that effect was held this week. Several are expected to participate in the junior track.

P.-T. A. Play Again Postponed

The play which the Parent-Teachers association was to have put on some time in March has been postponed again. It will probably be given in the late spring or after school is out.

NEWKIRK PREDICTS MAKING OF FOOTBALL NEW NATIONAL SPORT

"I think football is the grandest sport there is," says Ford Newkirk, Mustang left tackle.

"Football will be a national sport within two years if the officials will leave the age limit alone," he continued. "A good sport can play football much better than a quick tempered person. Football calls for quick and deep thinking. A good football player must always keep in good training. In order to keep in training you must not smoke or keep late hours at night."

Comments by different classmates and football players are: J. N. Tucker: "Ford Newkirk was one of the hardest hitters on the football squad this year."

Olen Maxwell: "I think Ford was one of the best sports and blockers on the team this year."

Baseball Fan Gives Bird's-Eye of Game

With Alvis Jolly pitching, one man on, Bob Tillman steps up to lob a beauty over left field. The next batter smashes a two-bagger. Ford Newkirk ties with ball on first. J. N. Tucker bumbles but reaches first by a good sprint. Ford and Tucker make home on the next batter. Albert Gunter, future Cochran, fans and walks his team to the field.

The next inning broke with Parker laying the cowhide in Center field for a three-bagger. One player fans as Parker feints. Another man outs and Hale makes second on an error.

Todd slashes a high fly to walk his team out of the dugout. Robertson pitches while Jolly holds down first. On an ace of a bat, Warren scores as Tillman makes third. Another player makes a high fly while Tucker dashes to first.

There seems to be some discussion in the umpire's box but Principal Witt settles it with lofty demeanor.

Tucker finishes on second while Puckett makes third. Albert poses again as he scatters fouls over the fence. Gunter finally rounds the third on a grounder.

Jolly cracks a fly to Newkirk on Tillman's pitching. Carver errs on first. Robertson makes second only to out at third. Badley outs at home on Umpire Witt's decision. Arthur Red lams a two-bagger into left field. Nations takes out on first. Badley backs to contact with a fly. Smith goes out on first, leaving two men on.

Parker meets the ball nicely for a single. Carver flops one to Newkirk in center field. Havenhill places one out of reach in Gunter's territory. Todd steals second. Jolly steals as Robertson takes his team out.

Badley pitches while Newkirk makes first. Tucker line drives into center. Carver fumbles on Puckett's grounder. Gunter fans and Red lays a honey in left field. The game ends with two on and Nations batting. Final count is Tillman's team, 15, and Jolly's, 10.

This is a bird's-eye description of a baseball game during the fourth period Monday as seen from an upstairs window of the high school building.

WHEELER BOYS TAKE PRIZES AT AMARILLO STOCK SHOW

Winning for his owner 18th place in its particular division, Billy, 11 months and 11 day old calf owned by James Passons, carried off prize money amounting to $2 at the Amarillo Fat Stock show and $1 from the Hereford association, Tuesday of this week.

Hiram Whitener, fifth grade pupil, took 17th place. His prize money was $4 from the show and $2 from the Hereford association.

James won the 17th award last year. This makes Passons' fourth year to enter the show.

Billy was left at the show to be placed in the auction ring on Thursday. James feels certain that his calf will be sold at a good figure.

Woodwork, Bleachers Are Stained

Appearance of the inside of the new auditorium-gymnasium has been greatly improved this last week. Janitor H. E. Cole has stained the woodwork and the bleachers a soft brown color to harmonize with other furnishings.

BEAUTIFICATION OF COTTAGE YARD BEGUN

Trees and shrubbery were planted around the home ec. cottage last Saturday. Small cedars are at each corner of the cottage. The school board is paying for the beautification of the yard.

As soon as the grass is green, it will be transplanted to the cottage yard, which is being watered almost daily in order to keep it moist and to prevent it from blowing.

Plans are being made to lay a cement walk as soon as possible, and a gate has been constructed directly in front of the cottage.

Hedges and other shrubbery have been ordered and flowers will be planted at an early date.

Last season—or was it year before—that boxing proved popular among the boys of this school: It is good exercise as well as being interesting to spectators.

It is a bit early to start advocating, but this column predicts that the 1936 Mustangs will defeat the Irishmen.

Reasons are: The boys have had more opportunity to learn the fundamentals of the game, their training is being supervised by a fully qualified coach, and two well-chosen boys are to lead them as captains.

There has always been pro and con on the value of spring football training. Some athletic heads contend that it should be abandoned and the boys encouraged to take up other sports. Still others declare that champion grid teams are really moulded in the spring. This period gives the coaches a chance to view their material and to take time in teaching the correct method of tackling and blocking.

Enough of football, because baseball is again coming to the fore. While not occupying as important a position as in former years, it proves a general favorite. Jack Tate, expert bat-breaker, can wield a wicked arm to the cowhide and string.

As for track, the prospects look good. Naturally, more work-out will raise the odds of a winning team.

In expectation of three times as many contestants entering as in the Los Angeles games, the Olympic village under construction near Berlin, will be enlarged over its present capacity of 3,500.

Spring Training Is Begun

Spring training in football has started; there are only a few boys out now. The most important part of the work-out is to start the first of April, when every one who plans to play football next year must be present.

Those coming out are: Jack Tate, Howard and Alton Nations, Troy Lee and R. J. Carver, J. B. Crowder, Clowes Jones, Albert Gunter, Bob Tillman, Everette Cole, Joe Markham, Reno Bibbs, Carrol Adams and Joe Forrest.

SENIORS TRY OUT FOR ANNUAL CLASS PLAY

Any senior who wished to try out for a part in the senior play, "Sh, Not So Loud," turned in his name to Miss Bernie Addison, sponsor, Monday. The cast will be chosen from this group. Play practice will begin soon.

Evelyn Balch, Lewis Cain, Junior Jamison, Cecil Sherwood, J. R. Burke, Bill Noah, Gladys Warren, Dorothy Burgess, Nerine Young, Cosette Croford, Adell Hampton, Estelle Scott, Evelyn Balch, Ocie Pace and Rutha Mae Conner are interested in being in the play.

Seniors Study English Literature

Completing the grammar part in English IV last week, members of the class started the study of literature this week. "Outline of English Literature with Readings" by Long, were issued to the students at class period on Wednesday of last week.

THE POET'S CORNER

You Have A Certain Loveliness (To May)

You have a certain loveliness,
 All others it excells . . .
 Devoid of even consciousness—
 And, oh, you wear it well!

One doesn't think of what you wear,
 Always you're trim and neat;
 Nor turn to see . . . one feels you there
 Your radiant self complete!

You have a certain loveliness
 That makes you so secure—
 Portraying inner happiness
 Your grace and charm allure!

A bet-setting match brings champion shot Foster and Miss Stanwyck into competition that shortly takes on a romantic love interest, and then moves into the aura of the famous Buffalo Bill Wild West show. With the pair as the stellar attractions, the show sensationally tours the country, bringing to the fore in addition to Colonel Cody, (Buffalo Bill) such characters as Sitting Bull and Rain in the Face, Indian chiefs who participated in the Custer massacre. The romance goes on the rocks when Foster is accidentally shot in a match. Annie rides on to glory while Foster disappears only to be found years later running a shooting gallery. The lovers are reunited and . . . see it at the Rogue, Friday and Saturday.

Aim: To record accurate accounts of school happenings interestingly.

WHAT PRICE ATTENTION?

Some students will stop at nothing to attract attention. Anything from stamping their feet to standing on their heads or shouting and whistling for no good reason at all.

Whenever you attend a program, please remember that, after all, you are not the person whom the crowd came to see. You may be better looking, etc., but don't try to attract the attention of the audience. The performers might not know how to appreciate it like they should.

The school is judged by the conduct of those who attend it. Help make a good name for Wheeler by your good behavior.

DON'T SNAP YOUR FINGERS

If you want to get your teacher's attention, get out in the aisle and jump up and down or clap your hands, but please don't snap your fingers. The teacher will answer you as soon as she can. Unless you have a spider down your back or unless your clothes are on fire, just politely lift your hand and you will get results.

People of long ago called their dogs and other animals by snapping their fingers at them. The donkey was the most rapid means of travel and there were no fast moving cars to crash into each other. The people of today are not living in the past. Therefore, their children should not conduct themselves in caveman fashion.

Hold your arm directly over your head, causing the least resistance. Do not cause friction by snapping your fingers and you will have a modern, up to date, streamlined method of getting permission.

ONCE AGAIN

Once more the teachers wish to reiterate their requests concerning library rules.

Books are checked out for the period of one week. If needed longer, they may be re-checked again.

Magazines, pamphlets, newspapers, anthologies and encyclopedias are not to be taken out of the library. The system of entering the name of the student using periodicals in the book provided for that use, is for the convenience of the librarian in "keeping tab" on them.

IN REVIEW

THE ENGLISH HUMORISTS OF THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY

Thackery

This book, "The English Humorists of the Eighteenth Century," is especially recommended to English IV students. It is written by a required author, and if one has read any of Thackery's works, he will welcome this book.

This will prove very helpful to the student studying English literature, as it has a brief discussion of many of the old English writers.

Don't get the impression that this is a regular history book, because it is not. Thackery shows great humor in relating some of the incidents in the lives of these great men.

FROM OTHER BRANDING IRONS

From the Sandstorm comes this grain of laughter;
 No school—
 Students gay—
 Teachers snort,
 "Holiday,"

 Hit professor—
 "Just my luck."

To get you in a good humor—a bit of wit from Canyon:

They had been sitting in the swing, in the moonlight, alone. No words broke the stillness for half an hour, until:

"Suppose you had money," she said, "what would you do?"

He threw out his chest in all the glory of young manhood.

"I'd travel."
 He felt her warm little hand slide into his. When he looked up she was gone. In his hand was a nickel.

SAGE BLOOMS

A small pair of black slippers with a huge black bow, enough to thrill the heart of any small girl, were carefully set away in the trunk.

Thoughts of this girl during the day were centered around the tiny black objects. A premature instinct about clothes had been born in her with the purchase of the foot apparel.

Late in the afternoon the 'phone rang. The little child's mother answered it and the caller proved to be the girl's dear friend.

The woman lived on the other side of town and the little girl wanted her to see the new slippers. So the child took the treasures from the trunk and proceeded to hold them in front of the telephone.

At that time the child actually believed that her slippers could be seen. Perhaps, this same idea will work in 10 years or so, when television becomes a common-place article in every home.

Many young girls' hearts were beating furiously at the sight of Coach Clark, complete with a new car, Monday morning.

Girls that interviewed the state people Sunday afternoon had one more experience. The two distinguished visitors were quite busy and the girls had a time to catch them. Never mind, girls, you'll learn.

Can you believe it? The dinner served by the third year home ec. girls Sunday was the best served this year. Believe it or not!

We know that spring is just around the corner because—

Mr. Clark is sporting a new car and suit.

Mr. Gilmore has been talking to his advanced arithmetic class about ice cream. This may be to arouse the interest of the class, as it seems that nothing else will.

Teachers have blossomed in newly purchased clothes. (They got them in Amarillo over the week end.)

Students are also wearing spring clothes.

The study hall and class rooms are filled with yawns (signs of spring fever).

Everyone is merrier.

FACULTY ATTENDS EDUCATIONAL MEET

F. W. Hart, California, W. M. Beatty New York, Speak on Teaching at Canyon Conference

Beginning Friday morning at 9 o'clock and continuing through Saturday noon, an educational conference was held at Canyon, Texas, for Northwest Texas teachers. This meet is held annually.

Chief speakers for the occasion were Frank W. Hart, professor of education, University of California, and Willard M. Beatty, superintendent of schools, Bronxville, New York. Professor Hart's address was entitled, "Is Teaching a Profession?" and Beatty spoke on the question, "Can Real Civic Education Avoid Controversial Issues?" Professor Hart sent out questionnaires to California high school seniors asking them to tell the characteristics of the teachers they liked best and the teachers they liked least. His address Friday night consisted chiefly of the reading of these descriptions of the teachers and commenting on them.

Other important talks were made by Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological college, Lubbock; D. D. Jackson, professor of education, Texas Technological college, Lubbock; and D. M. Wiggins, president Texas School of Mines and Metallurgy, El Paso.

Special sectional meetings were held Friday, March 6, from 2:45 to 4 o'clock p. m.

At 7:30 p. m., Friday, a massed choral concert consisting of 250 high school girls and boys from Plainview, Borger, Amarillo, Perryton and Pampa sang the songs "Texas, Pride of the South," "By the Bend of the River," "Texas, Our Texas," "Spring-time" and "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You."

Teachers were required to pay a registration fee of 50 cents. All of the teachers of Wheeler attended the conference.

CLASS INTERVIEWS HOLLOWAY

Wednesday afternoon, during journalism period, the Rev. Taft Holloway visited the journalism class for an interview by the class. Martha Alice Wiley was the main questioner and after she had finished questioning him, the pupils asked him any questions they wished.

Each student was assigned to write the interview.

GAY FLOWERS APPEAR TO BE RUSHING SPRING

Talk about rushing the season, those flowers in the office of the high school building are really doing it. Coming out in bright red and pink dress before the last frost has hardly melted away is one of the best that I have heard.

Perhaps the warm sympathy flowing from Mr. Gilmore and Mr. Witt toward the students has warmed the atmosphere in the office and caused the poor flowers to think that summer time was here. If this was the case, perhaps the superintendent and principal owe an apology to nature.

Some of the students had to look in at the bright green and red flowers last Tuesday to chase away the gloom caused by the sand storm. The bright sun was hidden from view by tons and tons of sand but the flowers held their own in this gloomy world.

Tut, tut, be gay with the flowers.

With Grey Eyes Twinkling Miss Peek Admits that Hobby Is Classical Music

With her bright grey eyes twinkling and smiling delightedly, she answered the interviewer like this: "You wouldn't believe it, but my favorite pastime is music, yes, classical music." Such is the hobby of Miss Lillian Peek, state supervisor of homemaking in Texas.

Her visit to Wheeler last Sunday to attend the dedication services of the home ec. cottage was not, however, her first time to be here.

Continuing with a soft voice, she helped the stumbling interviewer with: "I taught my first school in Haskell, Texas, and later, about 1923, became the supervisor of this district.

"On my first visit to Wheeler I found Miss Esther Sorensen teaching home making in a church," said Miss Peek. Then your department was just started and it can be called the 'covered wagon,' or beginning. Later on the little class was moved to the school building. This could be called the 'T-model' advancement, but now you have a 'stream-lined' department."

"Do you think that boys should take home making?" asked the interviewer. Pausing a moment to adjust her pert little hat to a better angle, she replied, "Yes, I do. You know that boys should be in a position to understand and sympathize with the wife and to know how to sew buttons on their shirts and to know the right kinds of food to eat and how to prepare them."

A smile ready for everyone and kind words for those in deepest woe characterize Miss Peek.

ADDITIONS TO HONOR ROLL

The honor roll for the sixth grade, section B, was overlooked in The Corral last week.

Marie Herd, Wanda Lee Hyatt and Wayne Rogers made all A's. On the A and B list were Katherine Tinney, Eugene Dowdey, Harriet Dean Tinney, Billy Cospere and Joe Griffin.

Minute Interviews

Question: What did you do on the holiday?

Martha Alice Wiley: "Oh, I played hookey from school."

Miss Addison: "I went to Canyon, then went home to see my 'mom' and 'pop'."

Miss Kirby (frowning): "Oh, I went to Canyon, but it wasn't much of a holiday."

Mrs. Gilmore: "I went to see my 'alma mater' and had lots of fun."

Mazie Bean: "I caught up on my back sleep."

All Teachers went to Canyon (wonder if they were glad to get away from those troublesome students)?

Wave Wallace: "Why, I went to school."

Rutha Mae Conner: "I played tennis."

"I worked at the office," from Julia Lou Tinney.

"I ate my dinner," responded Ocie Pace to the question.

Cordie Lee Farris, Adell Hampton and Laney Mae Tillman all sewed on home ec. home project dresses. (Did you get your 30 hours in, girls)?

James Passons and Cecil Parker both worked. (Can you imagine)?

You see, after being given a holiday, most of the students worked. Several took advantage of the leisure hours.

Now, students, quit your grumbling about not having any holidays or make use of them when they do come your way.

CONTRIBUTIONS ADD TO COTTAGE DECORATIONS

The Nix Florist shop of Shamrock furnished flowers to decorate the home economics cottage and gymnasium for the dedication services Sunday afternoon. They also donated flowers for the luncheon table.

An Electrolux and two gas stoves were loaned by H. M. Wiley. He has left the Electrolux at the cottage for a while. Mrs. Jim Porter furnished the department two rugs. Teachers and girls sent pictures to complete the decoration. The electric light company furnished the cabinet style Zenith radio. The department borrowed the dishes and serving tray used at the luncheon from Mrs. D. A. Hunt and the coffee set belonged to Mrs. Doris Forrester.

The Pampa home economics department presented the Wheeler department with a pot plant.

Girls Chorus to Sing Sunday Night

The girls' chorus has been asked to sing at the Methodist church Sunday night. They will sing "Stars of the Summer Night" and "All Through the Night." At the dedication last Sunday afternoon this group sang "Sweet and Low," and "All Through the Night."

My Heart's in Wheeler High

My heart's in Wheeler High, my heart is not there;
My heart's in Wheeler High, a-failing right here.
A-failing here and there, and making a D,
My heart's in Wheeler High wherever I be.

Farewell to Wheeler High, farewell to the school,

The best place to study and sit on a dunce stool.

Wherever I wander, wherever I rove,
My desk at Wheeler High forever I'll love.

Farewell to the teachers with scornful looks,

Farewell to the classes and knowledge in books.

Farewell to my lover and classmates with wishes;

Farewell to the sophs and juniors and fishes.

My heart's in Wheeler High, my heart is not there.

My heart's in Wheeler High, a-failing right here.

A-failing here and there and making a D,

My heart's in Wheeler High wherever I be.

—CAPITOLA WILSON.

THE POET'S CORNER

You Have A Certain Loveliness (To May)

You have a certain loveliness,
 All others it excels . . .
 Devoid of even consciousness—
 And, oh, you wear it well!

One doesn't think of what you wear,
 Always you're trim and neat;
 Nor turn to see . . . one feels you there
 Your radiant self complete!

You have a certain loveliness
 That makes you so secure—
 Portraying inner happiness
 Your grace and charm allure!

A bet-setting match brings champion shot Foster and Miss Stanwyck into competition that shortly takes on a romantic love interest, and then moves into the aura of the famous Buffalo Bill Wild West show. With the pair as the stellar attractions, the show sensationally tours the country, bringing to the fore in addition to Colonel Cody, (Buffalo Bill) such characters as Sitting Bull and Rain in the Face, Indian chiefs who participated in the Custer massacre. The romance goes on the rocks when Foster is accidentally shot in a match. Annie rides on to glory while Foster disappears only to be found years later running a shooting gallery. The lovers are reunited and . . . see it at the Rogue, Friday and Saturday.

Wheeler's Coming Revival

A Co-operative Plan that Cannot Fail Being a Great Uplift to Entire Community
By C. C. MERRITT

Because scientific men have given thought to the questions of almost every hazard that threatens the peace and safety of man, satisfactory solutions have been found and instruction has been forthcoming. But science has no solution for spiritual problems, because science does not enter the spiritual realm. Only the Holy Spirit can give us solutions for spiritual difficulties. The Bible is the book of spiritual instruction.

The situation among us as professed Christians presents difficulties that have been taken into consideration by our spiritual advisors. The solution is the kind of co-operation among the churches that will not go contrary to conscientious convictions and that will leave each group free to preach and practice what each believes to be right.

You work with your own pastor, in your own church house, according to your own methods. Therefore, you can put your whole thought, prayer and ability into this work. You can do everything possible to get your friend and neighbor to attend church where he may choose. You should not make any special effort for him to go to any certain church, for that would most likely thwart your purpose and it would not be in harmony with the spirit of this special campaign.

The idea is—all together, now, you Christians, to get everybody to attend this revival. And it will be the greatest revival Wheeler ever had, without a question.

LET US GET TOGETHER

was working with splendid success. Perhaps the same thing will be true here. We hope, however, that there will be a very few of these skeptics because a full and hearty co-operation of all church members is needed to put this work over in the greatest possible way.

Remember, too, that it is the Lord we wish to honor and to glorify. He died for lost humanity and we are only to be used as instruments in His hands to carry the glad message of salvation through the precious blood of the "Lamb of God slain from the foundation of the world."

Can the Lord depend on you? Then you will not be among that number who sit back and say, "It can't be done." "It won't work." You will be called upon to fill a place in this program.

CURTIS DOUGLASS IN STATE SENATOR RACE

to meet the expenditures. No government can successfully operate where it spends more than it earns. Useless bureaus and overlapping agencies burden us with their inactivity at a staggering and ever increasing cost.

"Political patronage has increased the public payroll to the extent of millions of dollars annually. A holiday must be declared in politics, and we must settle down to a well defined course of thrift and economy. More than ever, our economic salvation rests upon our ability to lay aside trivial differences, and personal wants, and to settle down to fundamentals applying just every day common sense to the administration of our affairs.

"The problem of taxation is a subject of such unlimited dimensions that a brief and hasty conclusion on any phase thereof will often, and more than likely prove impractical. Now, as ever, the views maintained are so varied and divergent that a proponent of any one measure inevitably finds himself entangled in a mesh of a thousand conflicting interests, each of which seeks to shift the burden to the other. We must accept the realities of this issue and meet the problem fairly and squarely. No increase in taxation is thinkable at this time.

"No new levies should be advanced

"Nor should one's attitude in this particular suffer change until such a time as, to the extent of our homes and the necessities of life, the ad valorem tax be totally abolished. With this accomplished, let us make an exhaustive and thorough study of the multiple problems presented in the redistribution and equalization of taxation to the end that a measure of justice and equity may be accorded to all.

"Of our natural resources, the gas problem most vitally affects this area. I am for the unqualified, positive and absolute conservation of this great natural resource. Four years have passed since our first gas conservation law was enacted, yet, since this time, the amount of gas wasted represents enough to supply all of the present domestic consumers of Texas for a period of 50 years.

"It is idle talk to say the sovereign people of Texas cannot remedy such a deplorable situation. This vast natural resource must be conserved, gas wastage must end, and it will when knowledge of the real facts are brought to the attention of our people. It's high time that the public, and not the conflicting interests, be represented in this matter.

"To the accomplishment of the above and my program in full, I will extend my efforts. I intend to make no false promises, present no pet policies, or becloud or straddle any of the issues. I will strive to simply state the facts, meet the problems and decide the questions to the end that the common will of the people will prevail. I take it that all prospective legislation, without regard to stimulus or objective, should be determined and controlled in the light of unquestioned progress and the common economy of our people. Any proposed legislation, however valid it may be, that does not conserve and defend the inherent rights of freedom does not deserve, nor will it receive, my consideration.

"I shall strive honestly and industriously to interpret the will of the people, defending it at all times against the hazards and conditions of the day."
