BOOSTING VS. KNOCKING

There is an old saying which is a good one. "If you cannot say anything good about a fellow or your home town, say nothing." Nothing is easier than knocking and fault-finding; no talent; no self-denial; no character are required to set up in the grumbling business. Anyway, boosting is so much more pleasant than knocking.

The difference between success and failure in most walks of human endeavor may be placed under the heading of pro or anti-boosting. We are told that the optimist makes hay while the sun shines, and from grass that grows under the feet of the pessimist.

The optimist believes in the oft-repeated idea—as a man thinketh, so is he. He keeps saying and advertising—Business is Good. He soon believes it and so do his customers. The same principle applies to our home town, our county, and our nation. However, it takes more than slogans and catchy phrases to produce tangible results, but the right frame of mind produces a good, first-class self-starter.

Boost your business or profession, but keep it on a solid foundation. Boost your home town and all will feel better, act better, and live better.

There is a wide difference between a booster and a boaster. Few have any use for a boaster, but fewer have criticism for the booster.

Personally, this editor doesn't want to live in a community devoid of something to boost. The Times may err unintentionally once in a while on over-enthusiasm, but it would rather be guilty of that than to live where there was nothing to legitimately boost—or to be too lazy or selfish to boost for what does exist.

BRIBERY-BLACKMAIL POLITICS

In a recent article by Glenn Frank, special writer on the Wichita Falls Record News, is found some mighty sound reasoning on governmental conduct. The Times has recently advocated the first proposition in Frank's article; it favors the second premise, but is not sold on the third as yet. Read this discussion and study it carefully. It follows:

There are three basic governmental reforms that would go far towards injecting a new honesty and a new realism into American politics, viz:

1. Take the determination and administration of relief out of politics by devising some non-partisan authority to take it in hand.
2. Extend the civil service to the point where anything like mass patronage would disappear.
3. Lengthen the presidential term and make the president ineligible for re-election.

Mass relief cannot but become a vast source of political corruption. I do not mean that a Roosevelt or a Landon will deliberately resort to bribery by the use of relief funds. I mean only that the temptation to throw out glamorous relief promises when votes are to be snared is well-nigh irresistible. The president who has spent money on relief lavishly establishes a vote-getting power quite irrespective of the soundness of his general policies. As long as relief is a matter of party politics relief will be a force for corruption in politics.

Mass patronage cannot but become a vast source of political corruption. No administration should be in position to buy votes with jobs even if the jobholders are capable. Administrations should come and go solely on the grounds of the soundness or unsoundness of their policies. It is politically indecent to see a cabinet member like the postmaster general, in one administration after another, little more than a job dispenser for political advantage. Here is a problem that goes beyond the Browns and the Farleys. It is the system that is wrong.

And, finally even the best man who reaches the White House must keep a weather eye on re-election, and this seriously hampers even the ablest man in disinterested administration of national policy. The president should not be eligible for re-election after a term long enough to give him a chance to do a decent job.

The handing out of relief, the enterprise of job giving, and the angling for re-election are three forces

Our Exchanges

Items of interest culled from newspapers on The Times' exchange list.

It was a case of too much "FORD," (not a V-8), but beef and brawn, in the football game at Wheeler Friday night. Fullback Ford was the whole team, aided by some nice blocking by his team mates. There simply was nothing the Miami boys could do about it, and local fans, which was at least 100, had to go through the ordeal of seeing our team lambasted 27-0. We are thinking Coach Bob Clark's Wheeler Mustangs will go a long way in the conference race this year as long as that Ford is hitting on all eight cylinders.—Miami Chief.

As a means of boosting beer consumption, a national publicity bureau for the brewers has just sent out a news release recommending the amber fluid as useful in setting the wave in milady's coiffure. Some people think that the darn stuff has been getting in the women's hair too much as it is, without pouring it on their skulls.—Donley County Leader.

At a pretty home wedding last Thursday evening, Miss Viola Smith became the bride of Boyd Meador of Clarendon. The nuptial rites were read by Rev. Geo. A. Weems of Ramsdell, brother-in-law of the bride. The ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Meador. Mrs. Weems, sister of the bride, was matron of honor; and Mr. Meador, brother of the groom, was best man.—McLean News.

That when Barbara Carpenter, daughter of J. M. Carpenter, principal of high school, awakened Saturday morning she said: "God's back on the job again, it's rained."—You Should Know column in Canadian Record.

Some fellows allude to their wives as the "better half" when the neighbors know she is the whole thing.—White Deer Review.

A lot of us are getting tired of attempts being made to prove to us that a democracy is better than a dictatorship. We know that from experiences with the infamous Blue Eagle episode of a few years ago. What most of us would like to see, is a restoration of a true democracy something like our granddaddies left to us but which we didn't have sense enough to appreciate.—Panhandle Herald.

It may not always rain when people think it should, but it does rain once in a while, and no one can kick at the way it comes to this section of country. Twelve and 15 inches in just a few hours is the way it rains in some sections of Texas, while here it falls softly, slowly and takes plenty of time so that practically all the moisture goes into the ground, storing a supply for future use.—Memphis Democrat.

Under receivership today is the Worley hospital, following the granting in district court Tuesday of a temporary injunction restraining Roy Wilmesmeter, manager, from conducting the business of the hospital. John R. Roby was appointed by Judge W. R. Ewing as receiver. The temporary writ will remain effective until Sept. 22.—Pampa Press.

The identity of a man, appearing about 35, who was found along the Rock Island railroad tracks near Rockledge 20 miles northeast of Clarendon Saturday morning with his head partially blown away by a shotgun blast, remained a mystery Wednesday night after hundreds of Clarendon citizens viewed the body which was being held here.—Clarendon News.

Economy moves to keep the county "out of the red" were taken today when Gray county commissioners' court ordered that five employees be dropped from the payroll and that salaries of two others be reduced, effective Oct. 1. The total savings for the remainder of 1936 will be $1,732.50.—Lefors News.

There is no more mystery surrounding the explosion that startled local people recently. Two boys, who are anxious that their names be withheld, loaded a giant firecracker with gunpowder, and with a dynamite cap and short fuse, shot it off in Hereford State park.—Hereford Brand.

Well, I guess you people are tired hearing about Albert Cooper. I don't want to say much more about him until after the Wheeler game and maybe not much then. Albert is a good fellow. The only trouble with him is that he is suffering from an inferiority complex. He is jealous of me and Miller up at Wheeler for a definite reason. We live in county seat towns and he doesn't. I am sorry, Albert, but all editors can't enjoy the benefits of living in county seats.—Deskin Wells in Wellington Leader.

Yeah, but you're ahead of us, Deck; we have to live in the same county with him.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE

STATE OF TEXAS) ss.
County of Wheeler)

By virtue of an order of sale issued out of the Thirty-First District Court on a judgment rendered in said court on the 26th day of May, A. D. 1936, in favor of Oil Field Operating Company, a Corporation, and M. Reynolds and against J. G. Edwards, in the case of J. G. Edwards vs. Oil Field Operating Company, et al, No. 2658, in such court, I did on the 18th day of September, 1936 at 1 o'clock, P. M. levy upon the following described tracts, property and lease hold estate, situate in the County of Wheeler, State of Texas, as the property of J. G. Edwards, to-wit:

A certain lease hold estate in a tract of land in the SE corner of the NE 1/4 of Section 47, Block 13, H&GN Ry. Co. Surveys, Wheeler County, Texas, described as follows: Beginning at a point on the East line of said section 47, where the same intersects the North line of the CRI&G Ry. Co. fence; thence North along said East line of said Section 47, 500 feet; thence West and parallel with the North line of said Section 47, 200 feet; thence South 500 feet; thence East 200 feet to the point of beginning; together with all refinery buildings, tanks, stills, boilers, towers, pipelines, equipment, machinery, supplies, tools, and connections, and any and all of the other personal property used or placed thereon or obtained in connection therewith, including two 4-inch pipelines extending diagonally across the NE 1/4 of said Section 47 above described a distance of approximately 3020 feet in each line of pipe, together with such valves, connections or rights in connection with said pipelines.

And on the 3rd day of November, A. D. 1936, being the first Tuesday in said month between the hours of 10 A. M. and 4 P. M. on said date, at the court house door of said County at Wheeler, Texas, I will offer for sale and sell at Public Auction all for cash the right, title and interest of the said J. G. Edwards in and to said property above described.

Dated at Wheeler, Texas, this 18th day of September, A. D. 1936

Passengers in the smoking compartment on my train were arguing about why railroad business is picking up.

A factory owner said it was because of this new Free pick-up-and-delivery of less than carload freight. This is door-to-door service with no extra charge added to the freight bill.

A traveling salesman said it was because so many passenger and freight trains now run on faster schedules.

There was a school principal in the group and he said it was because train travel is so much cheaper for passengers. He said passenger fares are at the lowest point in history, with substantial reductions if you buy a round-trip ticket—and no more surcharge for riding in sleeping cars.

One man, a farmer, said he liked something he could depend on, that's why he was traveling by train.

Another man, a newspaper reporter, said people were in favor of railroad travel because it is by far the safest. He quoted a lot of statistics from a book called, "Live and Let Live."

A banker we all know by name said railroad tax payments mean a lot in this state.

We are proud of railroad achievements, appreciate the public's good will and increased patronage, and pledge continued progress.

WHAT HAS THE PINEAPPLE TO DO WITH Light?

Simply this: as the pineapple provides vitamins and other necessary elements to a balanced diet of food, good lighting brings a balanced diet to EYES.

Good lighting may also help to bring you better health.

How? Good lighting reduces the strain that causes nervous tension and fatigue . . . for seeing affects every part of the body. Untold millions of cases of headache, nervousness and even indigestion are caused by improper lighting. For the sake of your health, as well as your eyes, be sure that the lighting under which you work is adequate for your needs.

An easy way to be sure of good lighting is through the use of I. E. S. Better Sight lamps, recently developed by lighting experts and eyesight specialists to protect eyesight. Their light is mellow as soft sunlight. No glare—no strain.

Marvelous for reading, study, sewing. Every member of your family needs the sight-saving help of these new lamps. See them at your dealer's.

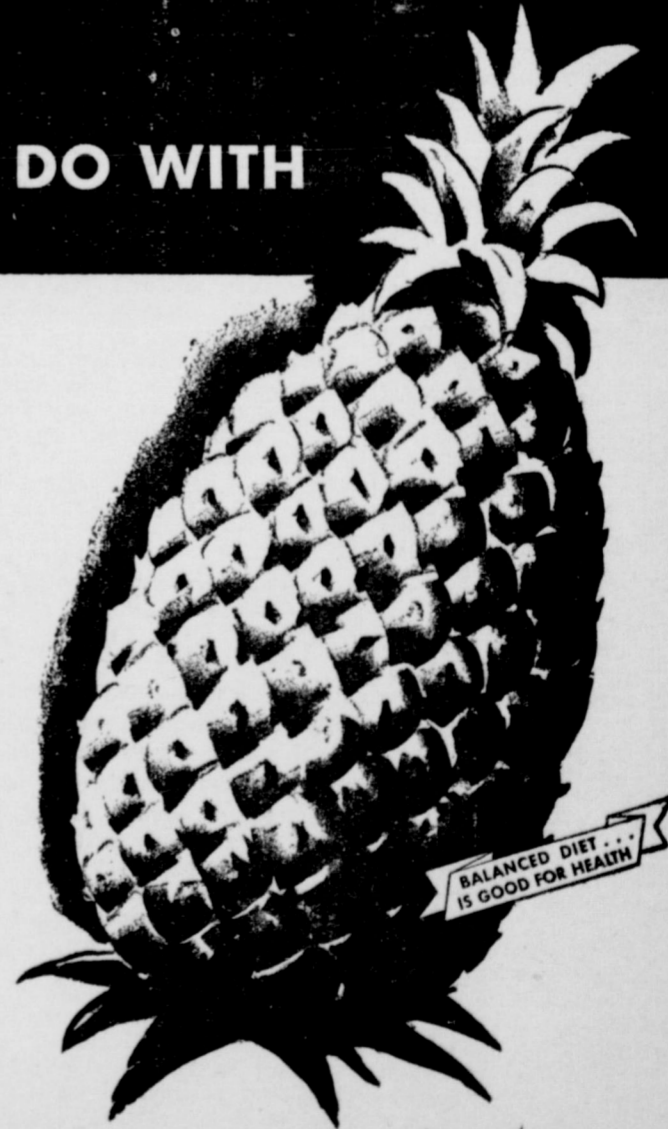

I-E-S Better Sight Lamps
Give Eyes Balanced Lighting

- ENOUGH LIGHT —to make seeing easier.
- FREEDOM FROM GLARE to relieve eyestrain.
- WELL-DIFFUSED LIGHT Soothing and restful.
- WIDELY SPREAD LIGHT Light where you need it.
- DIRECT AND INDIRECT LIGHT to reduce eyestrain.
- BEAUTY Stately lines, graceful proportions.

INSIST THAT THIS TAG is on every lamp you buy—it assures you sight-saving light.

set 410 eggs, and raised and bought altogether 310 chickens, 100 of which were buff minorcas. Doris was successful in raising 275 of these chickens. Total expenses for feed, eggs, and other supplies amounted to $27.10. Doris sold 233 dozen eggs and 28 fryers, for which she received $39.60. The value of eggs consumed by the family was $9.54; fowls consumed were valued at $14.50. The total profits from the flock this year amounted to $36.54. The chickens that Doris now has on hand are valued at $90.00.

Besides completing her poultry demonstration, Doris has made clothing which is valued at $13.80. The total expense for her demonstration and her clothing is $37.50. The income is $149.54, making this year's profit of club work to her worth $112.04.

rose bed, and phlox along the walk on the south side of the house. In the front bed, I have asters, daisies and phlox. Along the north side I have chrysanthemums, daisies, petunias and asters. There is a hedge of spirea separating the vegetable garden from the house.

In April, I sowed the front yard in clover. It did not come up well enough to cover the ground. The latter part of July, I set out Bermuda grass and it is covering the ground rapidly. I have spent most of the summer watering, since we have had very few rains.

When my shipment of shrubs arrived early in the spring I was disappointed in them, because they were not strong looking plants. To have my yard pretty in the winter as well as the summer, I set 2 nandinas, 2 japonicas, 2 junipers, 2 dogwood, 2 crepe myrtle, 2 roses and 5 cherry trees. I lost several of these, a few roses and 1 Chinese elm during the hot dry summer.

Total cost of shrubs and roses was $3.65, making a total of $7.40 spent on the yard. I have enjoyed this work, but I hope we have a season next year. The weather will show, if the weather is favorable.

Girls Take Honors In 4-H Club Work

Elva Willard, Helen Flynt Receive Prizes at Tri-State and County Fairs

Although Elva Willard has been a member of the 4-H club only one year, she has won many prizes. She rated high point girl at the county fair held here Sept. 11 and 12. At the Tri-State fair at Amarillo she received first on a pillow slip and green tomato pickles and second on apples and green and red pepper relish.

Helen Flynt, who has been a member of the club four years, has also won many prizes. At the Tri-State fair she took first place on cherries, second on sandwich spread and third on cherry preserves.

Cash Prizes Won

The girls received $1.50 for each first prize and 75 cents for each second at the Amarillo fair.

Elva is secretary-treasurer and yard demonstrator of the 4-H club. She is a senior in high school and belongs to the Home Economics club and the Glee club. Helen is a sophomore and a member of the Home Economics club.

At the county fair held here, the girls received 50 cents for each first prize.

Awards Enumerated

Elva won first on pillow slip, beans, red and green tomato relish, green tomato pickles, sweet cucumber rings, record book, apples, pear preserves, pickled beets, history of her yard and beets; and greens and peaches canned in jars made by the Ball company.

She was given second on pears, slip, tomato juice, cherry preserves and sour cucumber pickles; fourth on sandwich spread and peas; and fifth on a dress and jelly.

Helen won first on pears, bed-spread, and cucumber relish; second on cherry preserves and dress; and third on her slip.

LONG LOST RING FOUND IN VEGETABLE GARDEN

Two unusual coincidences have happened in the course of a few years to our superintendent in losing and finding things.

Several years ago when he lived on the farm he was plowing. He dropped his watch and the plow covered it. The next year his cousin was plowing the same plot of ground. He uncovered the watch and found it to be in perfect condition.

Two years ago he lost a Masonic emblem ring while picking tomatoes. A few days ago he was picking tomatoes in the same garden and found the ring lying under a large tomato plant.

PLAYFUL PARASITES DISTRACT STUDENTS DURING STUDY HOURS

We have some very playful little creatures in our study hall.

They enjoy the students' presence very much. In fact, they seem to think "the more the merrier."

These six-legged parasites light on the end of our pencil and try to attract our attention when we try to get our English lesson. They crawl slowly like small tractors over our books when we try to read.

As they light on our noses, we deliver a very decided slap and wake up to find the creature buzzing away, leaving us with an aching nose.

We students haven't time to do away with these creatures. So will some one volunteer to kill the flies in the study hall?

Officers Elected In Girls' Glee Club

The Girls' Glee club met last Wednesday during the regular recreation period for the purpose of organizing. Mal Wynne, instructor, gave some points on the types of persons to elect to the various offices.

Beatrice Miller was elected president, Martha Alice Wiley, vice president; Bonnie Adams, secretary-treasurer, and Lois Walker, librarian. The president appointed Dawn Weatherly, Dorothy Tolliver and Orveta Puett on a committee to decide how much sheet music to buy.

The regular Glee club meetings will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays at the activity period.

TEACHERS TO PRESENT DUET, TRIO at P.-T. A.

Among the numbers on the next P.-T. A. program to be presented on Oct. 6 are a duet and a trio by Wheeler high school teachers.

Miss Bernie Addison and Miss Lois Kirby will play a piano duet.

Robert Mayne, W. C. Zirkle and Mal Wynne will sing a trio.

This entertainment is under the direction of Mrs. J. L. Gilmore. A style show will also be included in the program.

TEACHERS ASSEMBLE FOR FIRST FACULTY MEETING

The general faculty met Thursday, Sept. 13, to pass on the sponsor and officers of the senior class which had been chosen that morning. All were accepted by the group.

It was decided that there should be a general faculty meeting consisting of all the Wheeler teachers, the first Thursday in every month.

MARY AGNES WILLIAMS IS SENIOR NURSE IN WICHITA

Miss Winona Adams received a letter recently saying that Miss Mary Agnes Williams, senior nurse in the general hospital in Wichita Falls, Texas, had been ill for the past six months.

Miss Williams was graduated from Wheeler high school in the class of 1933. If it had not been for her illness she would already have completed her course.

TEACHER KILLS RATTLER ON FALL CATTLE DRIVE

Last Saturday, Mrs. Allen I. Smith killed a rattlesnake as she and Mr. Smith, with another man drove more than 200 head of cattle to Shamrock from her father's ranch, a distance of 10 miles.

They had ridden about 35 miles over hills and pastures and across creeks that were very full, when they came to one that was so swift the calves had to swim. Mrs. Smith looked down and saw the snake. By throwing rocks at it she finally managed to kill it. It had six rattles and a button, which Mrs. Smith brought to school.

SCHOOLS ASK EXCHANGE WITH CORRAL THIS YEAR

Two requests for copies of The Corral have been received by Miss Bernie Addison, journalism instructor.

One letter of particular importance came from Southwest Texas State Teachers college, San Marcos, Texas. The journalism class of that school wish to exchange their college paper for The Corral.

The letter read in part: "The instructor in our course in high school journalism finds it necessary to have copies of some of the best high school papers."

The Eagle's Tale of Canyon high school also asked to exchange copies of their paper for The Corral.

BUSINESS FIRMS DONATE 3,000 BOOK COVERS

3,000 book covers, donated by business firms, are to be used in the Wheeler schools this year.

The Wheeler Motor Company of Wheeler and the Ewton Chevrolet company of Shamrock donated 2,000.

History of the Lone Star State is shown in illustrations on the covers.

Pictures of the leading men of Texas and the six flags that Texas has been under are shown on the front. The state capitol and other leading buildings of Texas are also shown.

1,000 covers were given to the school by firms in Wheeler. H. M. Wiley and D. A. Hunt's are listed on the front of these covers. Dr. V. R. Jones, optometrist at Shamrock, is also listed on the front of these covers.

'37 Seniors Choose Officers for Year

Class Re-Elects Robert Mayne for Sponsor; Ray Norman Named President

Thirty-six seniors met last Thursday to organize the class: Robert Mayne, sponsor of the class last year, was again chosen for this position.

Other officers include Ray Norman, president; Beatrice Miller, vice president, and Martha Alice Wiley, secretary-treasurer.

Ray, who attended school here last year for the first time, was class president in his freshman and sophomore years. He was also a member of the football and basketball squads last year. He plays quarterback on the Mustang team.

Martha Alice was one of the Pep Squad leaders last year. She was also assistant editor of The Corral, president of the Quill and Scroll society, and a member of Home Economics club, Spanish club and Glee club.

Beatrice was editor of The Corral last year and secretary of the Quill and Scroll society. She belonged to the Spanish club, Glee club and Pep Squad.

Eleven credits are required for a student to be classified as a senior.

The class plans to visit Carlsbad Caverns some time during the year.

STUDENTS APPOINTED FOR LIBRARY WORK

The library opened last week for the purpose of giving the history students access to the encyclopedia and reference books. The fiction section will not be opened until the library material ordered last week arrives.

Students who work in the library must have a B average in their school work. For this work they receive an unaffiliated half-credit. Those who will work are:

Lois Ficke, first period; Maxie Lee Wilson and Chlorene Morgan, second period; Wilma Riley and Parilee Clay, fourth period; Florine Wright and Amos Page, fifth period; Aubrey Warren, sixth period; Ruth Faye Garrison and Lois Walker, seventh period; Ferrol Ficke and Wave Wallace, eighth period; Fern Davis and Elva Willard, ninth period.

Librarians will probably be appointed to care for the library during the activity period.

Meek and Adams Invited to Society

Mrs. C. J. Meek and Miss Winona Adams have been invited to attend a special meeting of the Delta Kappa Gamma society which will be held Saturday at Pampa. Mrs. Meek and Miss Adams are members of this chapter.

THE CORRAL

Aim: To record accurate accounts of school happenings interestingly.

WE APPRECIATE THE BAND

Wheeler has tried for several years to have a band, but for some reason it did not attract enough attention or secure sufficient support to carry on.

But now we can say we have a band. It assisted in the last pep rally held in the gymnasium, helping the school and town make the boys feel that they were behind them in every play they made. They have been out to football games to entertain the people and keep up the spirit at half and between plays.

A great deal of praise we owe to the band master, J. W. Lummus. He has worked very hard to make the band entertaining and worthwhile.

Although we may not be able to play, music will arouse us for any occasion more than anything else. A little praise will go a long way toward improving the band.

Again we say, "We appreciate the band."

IT'S THE GYPSY IN US

The journalism class has decided to put on a drive for "Refreshments Between Classes."

Ice cream or lemonade during the warmer weather would certainly be refreshing. Or on these cold mornings a cup of hot cocoa between history and English would really put the vim, vigor and vitality back into a person.

Even if you eat a large breakfast you are exhausted by the time you walk from gymnasium to home economics building and back to the study hall again.

A movement of this sort certainly would be a boost to the school. We might even get a few new pupils. Those of you who have "papas" on the school board be talking to them about it.

BAND ENTERTAINS IN CHAPEL

The band furnished entertainment for chapel in the auditorium-gymnasium during the activity period Friday. Several pieces were played, including "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," "All In Favor," "Cheer, Boys, Cheer," "Old McDonald" and "Pop Goes the Weasel."

The Pep Squad girls sang and gave two yells. The students formed a line and marched while the band played several pieces.

Self Rating Test

Below are two tests as given to the home economics I class.

Test for Tact

1. Are you able to lead a group without causing hard feeling?
2. Can you work harmoniously with people you do not like?
3. Do you get along with people?
4. Do you show resentment when minor remarks are made about you?
5. Do you ask and grant favors in a pleasing way?
6. Are you able to discuss problems with your parents without causing hard feeling?
7. Do you keep from meddling in other people's affairs?

Test for Loyalty

1. Do you uphold your school standards when representing it on an athletic event, or a contest at home or at another school?
2. Do you refrain from making unkind remarks about (1) teachers, (2) friends, (3) school?
3. Do you make unkind remarks about your parents?
4. Do the things you do and say reflect credit upon your parents and yourself?

HISTORY INSTRUCTOR GAINS NEW KNOWLEDGE

Mrs. G. O. McCrohan, grade school history instructor, gave her fifth grade history students a test over their first few lessons in history the other day.

The first question in the test was, "Who were the two classes of people in early times?"

The answer to this query was the rich and the poor.

One bright student, who evidently had not studied his lesson very well, gave the following answer: "The Christians and the Yankees."

COLTS

Pupils in the first grade are progressing nicely, reports Mrs. John Ficke. They are learning to write and spell a few words.

Laura Ruth Glenn from McLean enrolled in the third grade this week.

Marion Lee Guthrie is back in school after being ill for about 10 days.

The third grade, under Mrs. John Hood, has organized a Health and Citizenship club.

The third grade, whose instructor is Mrs. Lloyd Davidson, has organized a club called the Health Scouts. The officers are: President, Garland Foose; vice president, Elmer Tolliver; secretary, Erma Jean Reed; Health guard, Floy Clark; Chairman of Safety First committee, Elmer Dollins; Thrift committee, Charline Burke; Character Study, Charles Hubbard; Good Manners committee, Nelda Jean Stinson.

Loveta Crabb, Gerald Glenn and Lonnie Shoop, jr., have enrolled in the fourth grade.

Mrs. C. J. Meek has a Citizenship club organized in her room. Each Monday different pupils present a little play.

Leon Stevens was a visitor in the fifth grade last Friday.

Two new pupils have enrolled in the fifth grade section A. They are Peggy Jean and Doris Manney from Vincent, Okla.

The pupils in Miss Ruth Ewing's room have a new project started. They have a health inspection each Monday that the class is studying the unit on "The Maritime Countries of Northern Europe."

Busy as a whirlwind—Aline Buchanan.

Playful as a summer breeze—Farrell Wallace.

Threatening as a thundershower—Teachers.

Serene as a frosty night—Beatrice Miller.

As unsettled as a Texas sandstorm—Lavell Jaco.

As graceful as a silver tide—Ray Holley.

As dainty as a violet—Mrs. J. L. Gilmore.

Loud as an old sawmill—The Pep Squad leaders.

Rowdy as a wild mustang—W. J. Ford.

Mannerly as a society lady—Dawn Weatherly.

Senior Statistics

On a ballot paper entitled "Statistics of Senior Class of '36-'37," the seniors answered the following questions:

The handsomest? Guy Robison.

The class beauty? Clarice Robertson.

The meekest? Maxilee Wilson, James Williams, J. N. Tucker.

The laziest? Parilee Clay.

The greatest social light? Orveta Puett.

The greatest favorite? Wallace Pendleton.

The freshest? Bob Tillman.

The most versatile? Dawn Weatherly.

The best athlete? W. J. Ford, Bobbie Groves, Julia Lou Tinney.

The most eccentric? "Dippy" Norman.

The slowest? Robert Guynes, Billy Noah.

The nerviest? Aline Buchanan, Dorothy Lee Burke.

The most likely to succeed? Lois Walker, Inez Hunter.

The biggest fusser? Dorothy and Ruth Faye.

The worst grind? Farrell Wallace, Ferrol Ficke.

The most melancholy? Beatrice Miller.

The brightest? Calvin Harmon.

The best natured? Ruth Barr, Eugene Smith.

The most religious? Martha Alice Wiley, Elva Willard.

The wittiest? Alvis Jolly.

The biggest bluffer? J. D. Badley.

The "class dude"? Troy Lee Carter.

The brainiest girl? Bonnie Adams.

The least studious? Raymond Badley.

The faculty rusher? Alice Hardin.

The class gossip? Wave Wallace, Wilma Riley.

The most conceited? H. E. Young, Troy Derryberry.

The quietest? Chlorene Morgan, Florene Wright, Evelyn Ray Bengé.

The most industrious? Everette Cole and Helen June George.

Two Members of Junior Class Ill

Lavell Jaco and R. J. Puckett, two members of the junior class, were absent from school the first of this week because of illness. Lavell has heart trouble and R. J. underwent a tonsilectomy Saturday.

Miss Addison Falls Heir to Pictures

Miss Addison fell heir to some copies of famous paintings this week. The pictures, "The Song of the Lark" and "Angelus," were secured from the Sandy Basin school. They can now be seen in the English room.

A certain right tonsil played freeze-out Friday night and it hasn't gotten over it yet. Rather hard for some of the pep members to sing in Glee club, due to hoarse throats.

Compliments in the Miami paper said though Ford wasn't a V-8, he was hitting on all eight cylinders in the Wheeler-Miami game. Wonder if Wellington agrees. . . R. J. Puckett is home convalescing this week.

Dawn is delightfully gay in an orange velvet jacket. . . Contrary to most days, the civics class was concentrating deeply Tuesday. They were given their first test.

Hooray for gummy weather and the odd sensation of leaving an overshoe a step behind, bogged down. . . Football sweaters have appeared as if by magic for these cool days. Bobby Groves gives the appearance of being a very good natured football player.

Much comment over the words per minute typed. . . The senior class has organized for the year's activity. The juniors got under way on Tuesday.

Many local boys helped in erecting the tent show in town. . . Albert Gunter sends out a plea for the return of the Mustangs' lucky "horseshoe." "Rosebud" was carrying the water-bucket and says it disappeared or is lost, one or the other.

Should hear "The Four Yacht Boys" sing the song entitled "The Body Beautiful" in "Stage Struck," with antics. . . A definite breaking from the currently popular swing is "In Your Own Quiet Way," rendition by Dick Powell.

Condolences to Lavell for her illness this week. . . The Ponies are to tie up with the Pampa Gorillas on Friday afternoon.

A penalty of 35 yards for Wheeler against the 135 for their opponents rather points to the fact that this school is not lacking in good sportsmanship.

It's time for this mad fantasy to stop with blue sky showing.

FIVE TEACHERS SERVE ON EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

There are five teachers on the P.-T. A. Executive committee.

Robert Mayne is vice president and Miss Ruth Ewing, secretary.

Mrs. G. O. McCrohan and Mrs. J. L. Gilmore are both chairmen of committees, Mrs. McCrohan of the finance committee, and Mrs. Gilmore of the program committee.

Supt. J. L. Gilmore automatically becomes an executive by being the superintendent of the school.

SPARKS FROM THE CAMP FIRE

Cowgirls Give Pep Squad At Wellington Game

Did you notice the Pep Squad marching to the game Friday night? They met on the court house lawn and waited for the band, which came from the gymnasium.

To the beat of the drum, the band and Pep Squad marched to the grid-iron. The mist and mud seemed to strengthen the spirits of the cheerers.

During the half both the Wellington and Wheeler Pep Squad gave a stunt. After the visitors' stunt was finished the Wheeler girls went on the field.

Ferrol Ficke played the part of a professor who had invented a sky-rocket that would go to the moon. Beatrice Miller, dressed as a colonial lady, unveiled the rocket. The rest of the Pep Squad were attendants and audience.

After making a speech the professor set a match to the rocket and seemed very disappointed to find that the rocket merely burned to the ground. The rocket was to represent the Wellington Skyrockets, who were supposed to have done great things.

History Instructor Is Ill with Flu
Mrs. G. O. McCrohan, history teacher of the grades, was ill with flu the first of this week. Mrs. Johnnie Reed taught in her place until she returned.

The person who would invent something to transport us from building to building would receive considerable recognition.

Learn this theorem, learn that rule.
I wish I wasn't such a fool,
Please have pity on poor me;
I'll never learn plane geometry.

Three girls, Orveta, Dorothy and Ruth Faye, were on the top floor of a two-story building in Shamrock Saturday morning. All at once the siren at the fire department let loose. The three girls, who had never heard anything like it, very hurriedly made their way to the streets to find that the excitement was several blocks away and not in that building.

Some people seem to be very superstitious about black cats crossing their path. Monday morning in the study hall, one was walking across the stage when Martha Alice picked it up and took it back.

Miss Kirby (in plane geometry):
"What is an arc?"

Troy Lee: "That is one of those things Noah made to haul animals on."

Funny the way Guy Robison took his rabbit's foot out of his pocket and looked at it longingly while taking three week's test in biology.

Believe it or not, "Dippy" Norman was seen with a date Saturday night. It was rather late at a certain country party. The date was Imogene Jamison. If they won't tell you about it perhaps Bonnie Adams and W. J. Ford will. They were along, also.

In English III:

Miss Addison: "Let's look at the poem 'The Bridge.' Longfellow is standing out on the bridge at midnight, the stream is running slowly under his feet, the moon is high in the sky and he is alone with his thoughts. Could you tell me why he is lonely, Wallace?"

Wallace Pendleton: "Because he's alone."

Home Economics I Girls Make Posters About Good Manners

You should see the nice posters sticking up all around the sewing room in the home economics cottage. As the home economics I girls are studying good manners for their first unit, they are making good manner posters.

The posters are made up of old sayings such as:

"Eat at your table as you eat at the table of a king."

"Good manners always demand that you remember the others."

"In relations with boys, girls receive the courtesy they demand."

"Politeness is to do and say the kindest things in the kindest way."

"The girls appear to be making great headway in their study of manners and we hope other people will see the posters and profit by them," states Mrs. Gordon Whitener, instructor.

RAMBLINGS ON THE RANGE

Dorothy Tolliver, Ruth Faye Garrison and Orveta Puett shopped in Shamrock Saturday morning.

Chlorene Morgan spent the week end in Shamrock.

Farrell Wallace was in Mobeetie Saturday.

Wave Wallace, Bonnie Adams and Ferrol Ficke visited near the Kelton community Sunday.

Orveta Puett accompanied her mother to Childress Sunday.

W. C. Zirkle visited with relatives in Miami Saturday evening and Sunday.

Huffman Walker was in Shamrock Saturday.

Dudley Callan and Virgil Greenhouse spent the week end in Wellington and Meridian, Okla.

Clarice Robertson motored to Shamrock Saturday.

Mable Barnes of Briscoe spent Saturday with Verna Greenhouse.

Dorothy Lee Burke visited in Shamrock Saturday.

Cleo Sewell motored to Shamrock Saturday.

Annie Mae Green, Beatrice Miller and Parilee Clay motored to Shamrock Sunday afternoon.

Louis Cain, former student here, visited school Tuesday.

As a result of driving some cattle to Shamrock in the rain last Saturday, Mrs. Allen I. Smith has a very bad cold.

The Bronchos of Clarendon will tangle with the Claude Mustangs, Friday night. They will have some tough Mustangs from Wheeler soon to attend to. These Mustangs are tough customers.

FROM OTHER BRANDING IS

There is a report from West Texas at Canyon of 50 freshmen out to try their luck with the pigskin this year. Nice going and good luck, "fish."

The Altus Times-Democrat carried a story stating that the big 250-pound Walter Adams, an ex-graduate of Wheeler high, is having a time keeping in his suit. He is showing up splendidly for his first year. No pansy, I'd say.

The Tulia F. F. A. boys won the trophy for first place last year at the Tri-State fair. They are now making plans for the trip this year. Here's hoping you bring home the bacon again, Tulia.

A boys' pep squad was organized in Tulia last week. Wouldn't it be nice if Wheeler could have boys in the pep squad. They have such strong voices.

SLOW DOWN AT NIGHT

Here is some worth-while advice to motorists: As soon as darkness descends, slow down pronto!

In spite of the fact that the bulk of cars are operated almost entirely during the day, well over half of all the fatal accidents last year occurred at night. Sixty-nine per cent of the victims were pedestrians. And the death rate for the evening rush hours was over 100 per cent greater in winter than in summer, due to darkness.

Unconsciously or otherwise, many motorists chronically "overdrive their headlights"—that is, they could not bring their cars to a stop within the illuminated distance before them. And more powerful lights are no cure for this—they produce glare, a potent cause of head-on car crashes, and are justly illegal in most states.

The pedestrian, of course, is not wholly free from blame. It has been extensively publicized that one should always walk on the left side of the highway, facing oncoming traffic—but a great many night-walkers apparently haven't heard the news yet. And many of them also don't seem to realize that to walk on a dark highway wearing dark clothes is an invitation to the coroner. Light refraction is an eccentric thing—and a darkly-dressed pedestrian often can't be seen by the motorist until it is too late.

Thus, we need education for the pedestrian as well as for the auto driver. But in the meantime, the driver should take every precaution—and even go to what may seem ridiculous lengths—to operate his car safely. After all, he is in command of a potentially lethal vehicle that literally kills more men than does war. Don't take a chance!

The Lasso's Noose

When Wheeler Mustangs fall in line,
The Clarendon Bronchos will soon find
That if Wheeler's line they try to break,
Mustangs will fight for Wheeler's sake.

Mr. Gilmore (making announcements about the football game in rhyme:

Pouring down rain
It will be the same
You'll get to see the game.

Heard in English class: "The Wake of Vicarfield" instead of "The Vicar of Wakefield."

Miss Adams (getting ready for school): "All I lack is washing my hair and combing my face."

If you really want to know where W. J. and "Dippy" were Saturday night ask Imogene and Bonnie.

Don't you watermelon thieves have any pity on the poor farmers?

Edward Smith in history III class: "Miss Adams, how long did the Seven Years' War last?"

In biology class:

Mary Belle: "When a honey bee stings you it dies.

Ray Holley: "Yes, and when a yellow jacket stings you, you nearly die."

Miss Kirby: "Our bodies have millions of cells."

Scotty: "How many does a flea have?"

Did you notice the strong odor of mothballs in the study hall during the rainy spell last week? Someone must have been trying to combat the weather.

Where, oh where has my imagination gone?

Where, oh where can it be?

With all of its cleverness and jollity,

It's gone; and it I cannot see.

Wham! Did you hear that? Someone surely got a good slap. The truth is that Ferrall Wallace was the target, and it sure didn't miss, either. Well, for the lowdown: the other day some of the seventh grade were in the study hall. Ferrall passed a desk and knocked a bottle of ink over. This desk was occupied by a seventh grade girl and did she slap him or did she slap him? Ask Ferrall if you want to know the details. It certainly made his face red.

Mrs. Adams: "Amos, do you think you should have a doctor's certificate before you can marry?"

Amos: "What if you don't want to be a doctor?"

Just because some of the students take music is no reason they should practice singing on the bus.

Imagine Marion Smith keeping quiet five minutes during the Wheeler-Wellington game for 25 cents! A man dared her to refrain from talking for five minutes. Well, she won the bet.

Page an inventor: Wouldn't it be nice if we had something to carry us from one class to another? The teachers would never be "gripping" about our getting to class on time.

Mustangs Defeat Skyrockets Before Crowd of 1,000 Fans

Teams Fight Neck to Neck In Line
Plunges to Win Hard Conference Game

A conference race looms ahead with the Wheeler Mustangs defeating one team after another. Last week it was the great Wellington Skyrockets, who were doped to be the conference winners this year.

Using a line that charged like never seen before and a backfield that ran like a scared jackrabbit, the boys from Wheeler high school defeated Wellington to the tune of 12 to 7 here last Friday night.

Crowd Estimated at 1,000

A crowd of about 1,000 fans watched the two-team battle, which was reported the best game ever played on the Wheeler gridiron.

Battling for three periods, the two teams fought neck and neck with Wheeler trailing 7 to 6. The Mustangs kept the Skyrockets in their own territory the last quarter and on an exchange of punts got the ball on the Wellington 30-yard line.

A pass from Groves to Norman put the ball on the Skyrockets 15-yard line. By a series of line bucks with Ford and Groves carrying the ball, it was finally pushed over by "Big" Ford.

Ford Makes 60-Yard Run

Wheeler's first tally came in the second period with a gallant 60-yard run by W. J. Ford to the 3-yard line, where on a fake play he carried it over for a touchdown. Ford failed to convert on either tally.

Wellington's lone score came in the first quarter when off-tackle end sm. carried it over. The Rockets converted from placement.

Outstanding Players Named

Perhaps the best player in the game for Wheeler was Olen Maxwell, who plays end. By his hard blocking and tackling he was by far the most progressive player.

Whitener and Green, the two Herberts who each play guard, were outstanding on defense.

Amos Page, tackle, showed that he could hold down the right side of the line.

Ray Norman, quarterback, by his quick thinking and pass catching, exhibited the greatest game he has ever played.

There were also about 15 other boys who played as good a game as these mentioned, but their names were given for their playing in the game last week.

The starting lineup for the Mustangs was: Ends, Maxwell and Emler; tackles, Page and Tillman; guards, Green and Whitener; center, Weeks; backfield, Norman, Ford, Groves and Derryberry.

Lineup for the Wellington squad was: Ends, Fuson and Clement; tackles, Blassengame and McClure; guards, Sullivan and Shields; center, Fulton; backfield, Austin, Parker, Jackson and Estes.

Stars for the Skyrockets were: Clement, end; McClure, tackle, and Estes, the hard-running back.

Supt. J. L. Gilmore and Coach Bob Clark went to Shamrock Saturday to attend to some school business.

In Return

The faculty and students of Wheeler high school wish to express their appreciation to Shamrock for their splendid attendance and support at the Wheeler-Wellington game last Friday night.

In return for this favor, many Wheeler fans are expected to attend the Shamrock-Lefors game this Friday night.

CLARENDON WILL BE MUSTANGS' NEXT FOE

The next foe for the Wheeler Mustangs will be the Clarendon Bronchos. The Mustangs will play their first game away from their own gridiron when they travel over to Clarendon next Friday.

Coach Bob Clark and Stina Cain are sending their chargers through stiff workouts in preparation for one of the toughest games of this season.

The boys seem to show their attitude to the coming game by their constant chatter and hustle. To stay at the top of the conference they must win this game.

To the Mustangs

If he's grinning and full of fun,
If his troubles are few and his worries none,
He's a Mustang.

If he's handsome and tall and big and strong,
If he knows what's right and does little wrong,
He's a Mustang.

If he laughs when he loses and smiles when he wins,
If he fights to the finish and works till it ends,
He's a Mustang.

If he plows through the line to make a touchdown,
If when he hits, you hear "The Music Goes Round,"
He's a Mustang.

If he fights you clean, and hits you hard and low,
If he knocks 'em out eleven in a row,
He's a Mustang.

If he wears a sweater black and gold,
If he's not so young, yet not so old,
He's a Mustang.

If he hits the basket in basketball,
If all is the game, and the game is all,
He's a Mustang.

We think, in track he'll go to State,
These other poor towns are just his bait,
He's a Mustang.

When the coach says "No" on the dames,
If he (almost) stops dating the "gal" of his aims,
He's a Mustang.

He studies some,
But he's no bum,
He's a Mustang.

If he's kind to you,
And a friend that's true,
He's a Mustang.

He's as good as this, and better too,
And I dedicate this poem to the ever true

MUSTANGS!

PONIES TO PLAY PAMPA GORILLAS

Locals Doped Under Dogs with Men
Averaging 140; Visitors Have 160 Pounds Per Man

Tomorrow (Friday) at 3:30 o'clock on the Mustang gridiron the small Wheeler Ponies will meet the overgrown Pampa Gorillas.

The boys from Pampa will average about 160 pounds to the man, and the Ponies will do well to average 140 pounds. Although rated as the underdogs, the lads from Wheeler are expected to put up a game fight to the finish.

Last year the Wheeler team lost to the Pampans to the tune of 43 to 7. From the report gathered, the score may be tough for the Gorillas, for the Ponies are working out every afternoon in preparation for this game.

Last Friday the Pampans lost to the strong Groom team 20 to 0. The Groom boys were playing their first string all the time and were just able to hold the Gorillas. The Pampa boys showed power on both offense and defense, especially in their offensive passing attack.

The Pampa Harvesters have a much smaller team than the Gorillas, according to the Pampa daily, but the larger boys just haven't had quite the experience of the smaller ones.

The probable starting lineup for the Ponies will be: Ends, Weeks, Ford or Markham; tackles, Campbell, Wright; guards, Badley, Williams; center, Thompson; backfield, Puckett, Smith, Pitcock, R. Badley and D. Groves.

Substitutes who will probably see service in the game are: Jones, H. Jones, Hall, Hampton, Crowder, H. Nations, Stephens, Adams and Carver.

There will be a small admission charge of 10 cents for school children and 25 cents for adults to cover the cost of the trip from Pampa.

PEP SQUAD SUITS ARRIVE

The new suits bought by the Pep Squad girls arrived last week. Enough material was ordered for approximately 30 suits, allowing two yards for each suit.

The uniforms will consist of black felt hats, black corduroy skirts and gold sweat shirts.

H. E. Young, Amos Page and Jack Pitcock were Shamrock visitors Sunday afternoon.

After the power the Mustangs displayed Friday night they should be able to beat any team in the conference.

Them thar Skyrockets from Wellington seemed to have shot in the first quarter last Friday night.

Tomorrow (Friday) at 3:45 you have a chance to see the future Mustangs of Wheeler play the Pampa Gorillas.

If some team don't slow down these fast running horses of Coach Clark's they are going to win the conference.

The dope bucket says the Mustangs are going to have a hard-fought battle this year. Memphis defeated Mobeetie 47 to 0, and Wellington beat them 37 to 0.

We wish to thank the city of Shamrock for their splendid support in helping us win from Wellington. We hope that the students from Wheeler support you Friday night in your game with Lefors.

The Mustangs surely did look good Friday night when they trimmed the Wellington Skyrockets to a score of 12 to 7. This was the first conference game of the season, against one of the hardest teams to whip.

The Mustangs will not play this week end, due to an open date. But they will train hard this week and next to meet the Clarendon Bronchos, Oct. 2.

Boys Phys. Ed. Class Elect Four Captains

The high school boys met in the gymnasium last week and were divided into four groups each containing 15. Each division then elected a captain and decided upon a name.

Group A which is coached by Ray Norman and Amos Page, has Alvis Jolly as captain. They picked the name Giants.

Group B elected Glen Weeks as captain. Bob Tillman and Olen Maxwell are coaches of this group, which selected the name of Buffaloes.

Group C is coached by Troy Derryberry and Herbert Whitener and is led by Louis Havenhill. They are called the Tigers.

Group D chose the name of Goats. They elected Harley Mitchell as their leader and they are managed by W. J. Ford and Bobby Groves.

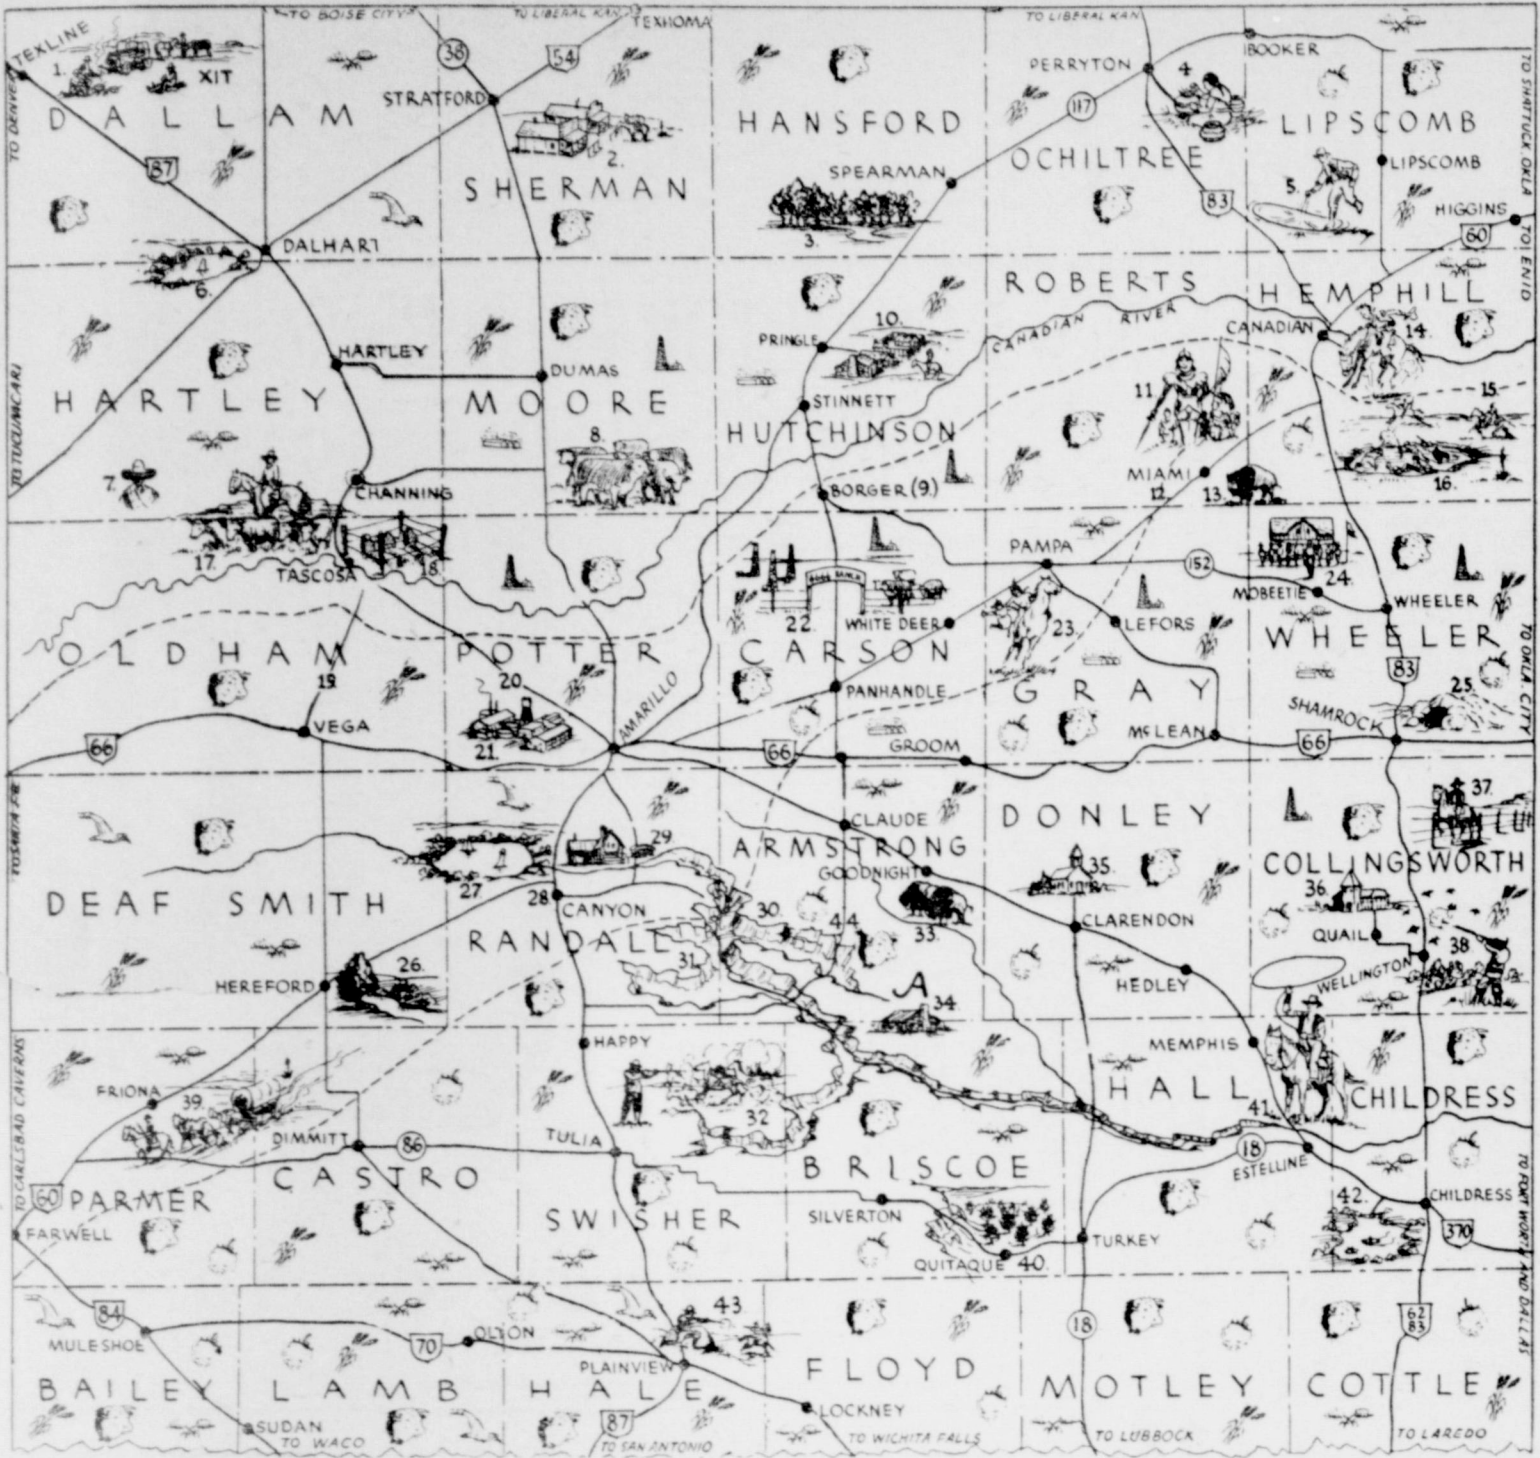

Two of the winners will play the other two winners and the losers will play the losers. Medals will be awarded to both teams and individuals.

ILLUSTRATED MAP FOLDERS TO ADVERTISE THE PANHANDLE

The above map is one of the features of the illustrated map folder now being distributed to the various cities of the Panhandle who participated in the co-operative advertising of this advertising. In the folder this map is twice as large and reproduced in two colors, with a welcome to visitors message on one side and details about the 54 points of interest to tourists in the Panhandle on the other.

of the illustrated map folder is, "Trails to Take In the Texas Panhandle."

Need for this type of advertising designed to attract tourists to the Panhandle was pointed out at an all-Panhandle meeting of civic leaders and chamber of commerce executives held several months ago. At that meeting the Panhandle Advertising committee was formed, to formulate a plan for suitable advertising literature. This was done, and the cities of Amarillo, Borger, Canadian, Canyon, Channing, Clarendon, Dalhart, Dumas, Hereford, McLean, Mobeetie, Pampa, Perryton, Plainview, Shamock, Vega and

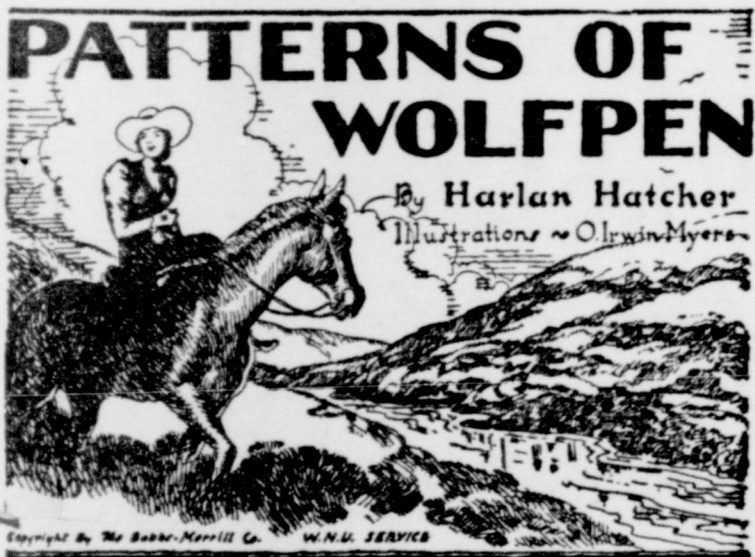

Wheeler each agreed to take 1,000 or more of the advertising folders approved by the executive committee.

Subscriptions totaled 40,000 for the first printing; and it is anticipated that reprints will be necessary at least annually. All of the highway ports of entry to Texas are being supplied with these folders for distribution by the Amarillo chamber of commerce. Other cities will receive their subscriptions in full for redistribution through merchants and others catering to tourists.

Arrangements have been made to provide framed copies of the two-colored illustrated map and adjacent printed historical and tourist information at a special price to schools, filling stations, restaurants, hotels and others.

"This first advertising folder is just a starter," states John McCarty of Amarillo, temporary chairman, Panhandle Advertising committee. "We plan to continue the organization and work started so well with this advertising folder. The Texas Panhandle has a big opportunity to get tourist business volume from now on, due to better roads, the Centennial, the new Mexico City highway and the much increased interest in Texas evident throughout the nation."

PATTERNS OF WOLFPEN

By Harlan Hatcher. Illustrations by Olin Myers.

Cynthia would carry it on, or she would drop it and be happy for a time in the presence of his energy and his confidence. She lived in the rich world of her imagination, for the most part, above the routine of the house where Julia was not. Soft white fluffs of snow, small hard pellets of ice, the sun and the thaws carried away the colorless days of January. The wind and the rain, the sleet freezing enamel on the pear tree, the sun cracking it and dropping it to the ground, brought in February. In Dry Creek more and ever more logs were piling up, and the rough men were getting more restive in the loins and irritable with one another in the long isolation from a town with good drink and women. Cynthia could know little about them, but Sparrel was concerned. He mentioned it to Shellenberger who dismissed it with a word. Sparrel said no more, except to himself. "A body hates to see that kind of life in here but it's just the men he brought up from, down the river. I don't reckon a little drinking will hurt any man, except it's encouraging some pretty bad characters to make it. I'd hate like anything to see Gannon Creek get a bad name from it. Things are bad enough down below where they come from, killings and then more killings if somebody witnesses against them in court. These feuds already give a black name to a lot bigger country than has title to it. I wouldn't want any of that around here even on Shellenberger's land. Maybe it'll be all right and I'm just touchy about things."

That everything was all right, it went abruptly awry. Sparrel himself was in the blacksmith shop at the camp when it occurred. The men came down from the woods with the tools to be sharpened. They were rough-looking laborer type of men. White liquor was heavy on their breath and red in some of their eyes. The trouble between Ike Dallow and Jack Caher had begun in rough humor when Ike said that Jack had been cutting timber for three months and still didn't know which way a tree was going to fall and would have got his fool self killed long ago if somebody didn't always pull him out of the way. The men, glad of words to break the silence and isolation, laughed; their laughter inspired Ike to keep it up, elaborate it, and go on baiting Jack. Then Jack Caher lost the humor of it, feeling himself in ridicule out of the usual good-natured but, and showed resentment. Ike Dallow couldn't very well stop without seeming to back down. So they carried on through the drink they had behind a pile of brush and down to the shop. Sparrel tried to quiet them, but they were too excited now to listen to him. They grew more boisterous, drawing others into the baiting. "That's about enough now, Ike," Jack Caher said. "Listen to the little rat-eared poodle," Ike said. "Enough what?" Then Jack lunged at Ike and hit him under the eye. Jack stumbled as he swung, and was carried to his knees past Ike Dallow and against the bellows for the forge. In the flash of blind anger, Ike seized a cant-hook, swung it over his shoulder, and before Jack could recover his feet he brought it down with crushing force on his neck and shoulders. Had the hook not caught in the bellows, the blow would have slain Jack Caher outright and instantly. He crumpled with a cry and groan, his bleeding head pushing into the soft leather of the bellows, causing the smoldering forge to throw up a shower of sparks. It was all too quick for anybody to intervene; the sudden flash of the long smoldering antecedents. Ike Darrow stood for a moment with the cant-hook in his hand, bereft of the anger, bewildered by the unwilling act some part of him had leapt forth to perform. Then he dropped the bloody cant-hook, stared in fright at the dying man; then he got out of the shop and began to run up Dry Creek toward the woods. The other men gathered around Sparrel who was working over Jack Caher. He was unconscious, bleeding, but not quite dead. They carried him into the bunk where Sparrel watched over him until he died in the early morning. Sparrel laid him out with the soiled blanket covering his face. Tired and worried, Sparrel tramped toward Wolfpen through the last of the dark, thinking it over and over. "I felt it in my bones, somehow, the way you know something you don't want to know, hope you won't have to know. Then, bang, and it's all done. No warning. Sheriff Hatler'll have come now, and a grand jury and all. Sheriff Hatler never rode down this creek before in his life only as a neighbor. Now he has to come on a murder. Right on the Pattern land it was. Only I reckon it's not Pattern land but Shellenberger land. Never any disgrace on it before. I'd like to have seen it stay that way. There was just no reason in it happening. Bad blood breaking out, it was. Seems like in the last year something's been at the heart of these hills, like it was sick or giving up. Not just here on my place. It's the whole Sandy Valley. Swamped with too many floating people I reckon, coming up the river and loafing around the new mine towns and lumber camps, not interested in the good of the land, making corn liquor and gambling, and things like this.

"Never been so busy in all his life, Sheriff Hatler told me at Pike, such a sight of lawbreaking going on in the country here lately. Trouble right there in Pikesville, too, about the jail, and that witness in the Harrison-McClurg feud getting shot. Jesse's only been there a few months and he's seen a sight of cases come up. We've been here about a century now. I feel kind of disgraced myself, like I was in it. And I reckon I am, because I'll be summoned. The loggers and the moonshiners will want to get it hushed over. Better get it all out in the clear light now before it goes any further. Better just tell Sheriff Hatler, and the grand jury about it and clean it all away. This is where we have to live. We must keep this country clean and decent and a fit place where a man's grandchildren can grow up good men with a pride like all their folk before them back to Saul and the time he saw this land as a place for a man to live in."

CHAPTER XV Sparrel passed it over as lightly as possible with Cynthia, and Abrial added nothing to it. It was just another accident. You had to expect them, on a big job, Shellenberger said. Men would not be careful. But Cynthia knew from the worried look on Sparrel's face that it was more than that. It involved the law and a sheriff, and that was a sinister thing quite apart from Jesse and Tandy Morgan and Blackstone. Shellenberger found business calling him down the river; he was gone when Sheriff Hatler came. Cynthia heard the sheriff talking in low tones to Sparrel after dinner, standing on the porch in the cold. "You're right, Sparrel. We'll clean it all up right now," he said. "I think we ought to," Sparrel said. "We'll have Ike Dallow in Pikeville tomorrow. They picked him up down at Beaver. You tell what you know about the liquor, too, Sparrel, and we'll get this cleaned up." "I'm sorry you had to come here on this business, but there wasn't any way of getting out of it." "Don't worry about it, Sparrel. We'll just get it cleaned up now. How's Doug Mason getting?" "He's up and around now, Hatler, and he's learning to do things again. He says he'll do the farm work in the spring." "It wuz a darn shame, Sparrel. Didn't your girl have an eye for him?" "I don't reckon so only just as a neighbor." "Well, she's too fine a girl for any cripple." Cynthia could not listen any more. She ran to the kitchen and began to scour the pots she had used to cook the dinner. "I couldn't ever have married you, Doug, not even if it hadn't happened. Why did you want me to, and why did you go and do that, and why don't you take Judy Wootton who always has wanted you, and why does Hatler talk about it? Things would drive a body plumb crazy if you didn't think about something else. Oh, Reuben, wherever you are in the woods, the place is different from when you liked it so much. It's been so long. April is so far way. Will you forget how you said, 'I will come back'?" On a gray winter morning Cynthia opened the gate for Sparrel and watched him ride away on the Finemare to obey the summons. He smiled to her above his worry, and again at the orchard he turned, straight-shouldered and handsome, to wave to her. "It's a sin and a shame that he takes it all so to heart. I'll try to make an apple pie for him and have it hot the way Mother always did when he gets back tonight from his hard trip." She was busy all day, weaving at the loom, cleaning the house, making the pies, cooking dinner for Jasper, tending to the milk, getting supper for Jasper, Abrial and the return of Sparrel. Then the flutter of the hens in the stalls and the barnyard among the mules, the sheep and the cows; and the dark slid into Wolfpen. Abrial came in from Dry Creek, hungry after his day in the open. Jasper sat quietly by the log fire looking into the flames, waiting. The crust of the dried apple pies browned in crisp flakes, deep stained with the juice in the fork holes in the dough patterning fern. Cynthia kept them in the oven as long as possible, and then set them on the warming shelf by the stove-pipe. The special dinner for Sparrel was ready. "He ought to be back now," Abrial said. "You can't always tell about getting an early start back from the trials," Jasper said. "He might have to stay over," Abrial said. "Let's eat, I'm hungry." "It's not like Daddy to say when he'll be back and then not be," Cynthia said. "He don't usually go in a law case either. You can't tell about them lawyers and a jury," Jasper said. They waited still longer, and then Cynthia at last took up the supper. "I wish he'd come," she said. "Time going on while they ate, while Cynthia got the fresh pie with the warm wet fillings between crisp hot crusts. "The best I ever baked," she thought; "and as good nearly as Mother's and him not here when they're just right. I wish he'd come now. I can feel it making me touchy and nervous." "I reckon he's stayed over with Jesse," Jasper said, going out. "I'll keep things warm for a while just to make sure," Cynthia said. Abrial finished and went outside following Jasper. Cynthia lingered at the table, resting, waiting. Then Abrial came bounding back into the kitchen. "She's down at the gate and scared as a rabbit," he shouted. Cynthia ran to the kitchen with the lamp. "Who? Who, Abrial?" "The Finemare," he said, grabbing his coat from the peg by the door. Jasper hurried in after Abrial. "What is it, Jasper?" Cynthia cried. "Jasper! Tell me! What is it?" Jasper was getting the lantern from the medicine-room, very calm. "I don't know," he said. "The Finemare's down there in a hot shiver. She's been running hard. The bride's gone and the saddle's slipped." "But how would she get through the mill gate, Jasper?" "How do I know?" They were already going through the door. Cynthia in a panic of fear seized a shawl and ran after them. "Wait, Jasper! Wait! I'm coming, too," she cried. "No, you're not!" Jasper shouted. "You stay right here and look after things till we get back." It was so sudden and imperative that it halted her on the porch.

"That mare's run three or four miles," he was still shouting from the yard. "We'll get back as soon as we can." Jasper fed the Finemare and quieted her in the stall while Abrial got the saddle mules, and then they rode fast down Wolfpen. Cynthia, alone, watched the jostling lantern disappear in the cold night. Then she turned and went back through the yard to the square of light in the open door. "Women always must sit and wait and suffer while the menfolk get relief in doing something," she sobbed at the door. The house was deathly silent. She dropped into the chair by the smoldering logs and began the long waiting. Time was no longer going on. It was waiting with her, Cynthia, yearning for it to move on, felt the hysteria of being imprisoned in an arrested moment which would not end. She paced the floor, pushing against it. She put a log on the fire, watching it burn without exploding the stopped instant of time. "How does a body live in eternity?" She stood in the open door looking at the mass of Cranesnest, a little blacker than the dark. She imagined each possible accident that could happen, enacting it sharply in her mind, shuddering at it, dismissing it, creating another in its place. She filled the sputtering teakettle which had boiled dry in the motionless time of the waiting. It continued for three hours. Cynthia felt that more hours had passed her by in this one lone evening than had gone through Wolfpen since April of a year ago. Then, when she thought she could abide it no longer without screaming and running after Jasper and Abrial, Abrial came out of the dark end of the moment wearily preceded by his voice muttering, "The yellow, stump-squatin' devils." "What is it, Abrial? Tell me what happened," she cried. But Abrial was almost incoherent, and she had to put it together piece by piece, disengaging the words of Abrial from the thoughts worn deep into her own mind by three hours of repetition; finding the bridge caught on the latch in the gate by the mill where the Finemare had got through; the search up Gannon Creek road; stopping at Castle's place and John saying, "Sure, boys, I heard that hoss go by running fast and light-footed, but I just didn't think any more about it," searching up Gannon to Ferguson's and George saying, "I heard a horse go by earlier in the evening but I didn't pay no attention to it hardly. Was that Sparrel's mare? It wouldn't hardly have thrown Sparrel," the growing body of men searching on up the creek toward Stepstone. Among the great stones by the cliff at the upper ford where the bridge trail branches off for Pikeville, they found Sparrel Pattern crumpled up in the sand. His boots still glistened with the wet from the ford. He lay on his right side, his left leg bent, his right hand clutching at the small pebbles. His head was crushed and fallen on the sand. Under the pale light of the lanterns shone sand crystals clinging to the blood on his forehead above the dead eyes and in his hair. They carried him over to Ferguson's place for the night. Jasper would stay there and ride over for Jesse and the girls at daybreak. She seemed not to be hearing Abrial's words now, only looking at the fire unseeing, feeling herself being crushed to death among the stones while a lantern beam fell on the sand glints in the blood. It was too much after the house alone, waiting. She collapsed into the chair and buried her face deep in both hands and cried; not hearing Abrial saying, "The stump-squatin' cowardly devils. Waylaying him, knocking in his head from behind." They laid Sparrel among the sandstones on Canesnest Shelf. The crowd of people was so great that it filled the house, the yard and the barn-lot. All down Wolfpen as far as the mill those who felt themselves strangers stood in little groups paying respect to Sparrel Pattern. Doug Mason came as far as the bend below the orchard, and sat there on his mule the handless arm thrust into his coat, and the sightless eye turned aside, watching them bear Cynthia's father up the path. The people wept. Lucy and Jenny cried from the house to the grave. Cynthia had wept in the night. Sparrel's voice was stopped and his feet were still, the medicine-room was empty, the desk by the mantel was closed and the ledger was ended. There could be no more grief now, only the lonely and silent and fruitless ache of the days and the nights after the people were gone away. Cynthia felt through the first days that this sorrow could not be eased. She dreamed it at night, seeing her father not Sparrel and yet her father among the stones which were both the stones at the upper ford and those on Cranesnest Shelf. It came over her in the daytime when, forgetting it for a time, she would feel a wondering unhappiness for an instant before there burst upon her the full weight of the sorrow. (TO BE CONTINUED) prodigal's elder brother had not taken himself too seriously, he would not have called down on his own head the hatred and contempt of the ages.

We pet and develop our rights and dignities like warts until they protrude and get in the way of other people, and then the trouble starts! Men quarrel and even kill each other over admitted trifles, but they almost invariably try to think there was a principle involved. When these inflated "prInCiples," with two capital "I's" in them, are punctured, it is found somebody was taking himself too seriously!

And I believe W. E. B. hit the nail and drove it in so deep that when we recover we will be more thoughtful, more considerate and more helpful to others; and not so fondangled ticklish about our own importance. May God grant it for me, your scribe.

Davis to Attend Wolf Hunt

S. B. (Bert) Davis of the Allison community was in town Monday and stated that he planned to attend the annual Oklahoma-Texas Wolf Hunters association meeting at Quanah this week end. Davis had a pair of his dogs severely injured when they tangled in a wire fence while hunting recently. He expressed deep regret at the misfortune and declared it will prevent his entering a team in the big hunt promoted by the association.

METHODIST CHURCH

J. EDMUND KIRBY, Pastor

Do you remembered what happened on the decks of the Titanic when that ship went down? I will mention only a few of the heroic things that did happen.

Mrs. Nathan Strauss refused to be separated from her husband. She said they'd gone through life together, and they'd go through the gates of death together, side by side, hand in hand. John Jacob Astor forced his wife into a boat and waved her a happy goodbye, and as the boat went over the side called to her that he would meet her in Times Square.

She smiled back at him, but both of them knew that there would be no meeting in Times Square.

Gallant William Stead gave his place in the life boat to a child, and while waiting for the ship to go down strolled the deck with his cane as unconcerned as if he had been out for a Sunday afternoon walk. And the ships band played "Nearer My God to Thee" while the Titanic plunged to her death, carrying 1,517 souls with her.

Glorious wasn't it? There were giants in those days, giants of chivalry, and honor and manliness, heroes bowing to the fine old law of the sea, to the sense of duty that bade them—the strong-protect the weak; to let the women and the children go first.

That was the Titanic.

Twenty-two years later, the Morro Castle burned off the coast of New Jersey. Remember that?

What happened on the decks of the Morro Castle? Hardly the same thing that happened on the decks of the Titanic, was it? You remember reading how the women and children were trampled to death on the stairs and on the decks. We read of strong men going crazy with fear, trampling down women and children and fighting for a place in the life boats. It was horrible. Not much heroism there. A little, but not much. No bowing to the fine old law of the sea. Just every man for himself.

Something has happened to us between the sinking of the Titanic and the burning of the Morro Castle.

We have forgotten the grand old laws of God. We ignore His churches and abuse the Sabbath day which He has given us, with the commandment that "we keep it holy." We seek our own selfish ends, gratifications and pleasures, and leave the work of the Kingdom of God for others to advance. They not only have to do their work but ours too. "How inexhaustible God's resources, wisdom and knowledge are! How unfathomable His decisions are, and how untraceable His ways!"

Who has ever known the Lord's thoughts, or advised Him?

Or who has advanced anything to Him, for which we will have to be repaid?

For from Him everything comes; through Him everything exists; and in Him everything ends!"

Dr. T. S. Barcus will preach Sunday night at 7:30. Please note change in time of service.

Morning sermon by the pastor. We invite you to worship with us.

YE DARLING DIGNITY!

When Principles Are Bolstered by Dignity

How refreshing are these words of W. E. B.: It is rather startling, when we reflect on it, how much of the trouble between men is traceable to their taking themselves too seriously. If Naaman had not had so much dignity, it would not have gotten in the way of his obedience. If the
