Eastland Echoes

By Casey

"Who never felt a wound jests at scars." — (Chinese Proverb).

F. M. Spurlen's youngsters achieved an unusual 4-H record. "We have six," said Mr. Spurlen, "and five of the six were so fortunate as to be gold-star 4-H'ers." Mr. Spurlen himself is a progressive farmer and one of the best known men in soil conservation in this section of the state. He lives on Route 2, Eastland — and his farm was the scene of the Ford tractor contest Bob Perkins staged Saturday.

"A reckless driver," says Don McNeill, "is one who passes you on the road no matter how fast you're going."

Ed Freyschlag, talking about the TV tower damage in the recent windstorm here, said that some of the bent antennas are still working right well. "Herb Tanner's is bent, but still picking up stations okay," he said. "The TV men have really been on the jump, fixing 'em up again."

H. L. Gibson, who — with his wife — went through the havoc of a twister that snatched the roof off his home near this city, says he didn't get "very scared." "Things happened so terribly fast," he recalls, "that I actually didn't have time to."

People may not get rich in Eastland but they like to live here — and that's a value, too. Now, then, we must all get busy and try to build the other angle, also.

An orchid to Jane Ann Haines for being the youngest senior in Eastland High School and for being presented an orchid for this honor at the breakfast given Friday by the Women's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist Church, honoring the graduating class. The orchid was presented by John Goode, program chairman, and was donated by Poe Floral.

Dr. Barrow Is Rotary Speaker About Polio

Dr. W. B. Barrow, City health officer, and who was chairman at the initial anti-polio vaccination here in Eastland recently, spoke, as the program feature of Rotary at its Monday noon meeting at the Connellee. Arthur Murrell was program chairman.

Back in 1784, polio was learned about for the first time. Dr. Barrow said, explaining that it was not until 1840 that it was described in any detail. In more recent times, it was found that polio is caused by virus and, the doctor said, since it can be caused by three viruses, a person can have polio more than once. Regarding the youngsters who have come down with polio since the inoculation was given them, Dr. Barrow said it was possible that they — or part of them — were at the incubative stage of polio at the time they were vaccinated. Concerning the local inoculation program, he said: "Our inoculations will be resumed as soon as the state health department gets a supply of vaccine."

In charge of the next three programs at the club will be, in turn, Bob Kuhnheim, Don Pierson and Jack Mdirhead.

Frank N. Sayre, president of the club, who presided, announced that the Rotary-sponsored Scout troop committee will meet with Arthur Murrell at 7:30 p.m. Friday and that those attending will include Council Executive Joe Galbraith of Brownwood.

Attendance Chairman Earl Bender reported: "We have just had two 100-per cent meetings."

Four out-of-town Rotarians were guests in this week's meeting: W. C. Hogue and L. C. Davis, both of Cisco; O. T. Daugherty, and T. O. Pearson, both of Abilene.

Staff Citizen, Conservation Farmer, Is Thrifty Operator

(Editor's Note: This paper is pleased to present the following feature as a Soil Conservation Week public service.)

Indus Echols of the Staff community, named Upper Leon Soil Conservation District Conservation District Conservation farmer of the year, is a thrifty operator.

This well-known citizen — recently presented an attractive plaque, for his accomplishment, by the Eastland Lions Club — resides on Route 1, Gorman. He is recognized as an outstanding conservation farmer not only by his friends and neighbors in the Staff community but throughout this area. Mr. Echols is a pioneer in the soil and water conservation movement. He early recognized the value of soil building legumes and planted large acreages of stock peas in the early 30's.

He was among the very first in the area to construct terraces and to plant hairy vetch as a cover crop. He is outstanding in his ability to see the needs of the land. His summer legume program and terraces were his efforts to meet the needs of the land some twenty-five years ago. Echols' far-sightedness, open mindedness, extensive reading of farm publications, thoughtful planning has resulted in a conservation program on his place that is a goal for farmers and ranchers to strive to duplicate.

As a result of his taking pride in the appearance of his farm — stead, barns, outbuildings and fences and keeping of good quality livestock along with his conservation program his place is regarded by many as the best farm unit in Eastland County. Echols has been active in district activities and was nominated as a candidate for supervisor in his zone last year. C. M. Carraway of De Leon and Echols with others were instrumental in the formation of the Upper Leon Soil Conservation District.

The first terraces on this farm were constructed in 1931. To date all cropland has been terraced with eight miles now in effect. The large gullies present prior to terrace construction, some too large to cross with tillage implements, have long been healed and no sign

Prospects For Pool Use Here Are Improved

Prospects for use of the Swimmingpool here by June 1 improved considerably with the .58 rain received Monday night. City Manager A. E. Taylor said that it is possible Eastland Lake's watershed received more moisture than that and that a check-up would be made at once.

"We caught twenty inches in the city lake in the rain just before this one," he said. "We have five or six months' water supply there now, but want to play it safe, of course. The pool has been cleaned out and will be ready for use when the water situation so justifies."

Marathon Preaching At Mangum May 29

MARTINI 'N' A HAIRCUT—That's what the President ordered, and that's what this man just delivered to the White House. He's barber Steve Martini, who visits like once a week to trim the busy chief executive's hair. He's one of more than 100 persons whose labors assure smooth functioning of White House routine.

Mangum Baptist Church has set up an unusual service for "fifth Sunday" — May 29. It will be a "marathon preaching," according to the pastor, the Rev. L. A. Sublett. "We'll have an all-day service with spread-lunch," said Pastor Sublett. The "marathon" series of sermons will be in the afternoon, starting about 3:30 and lasting to perhaps 6:30, he said. "We are not ready yet to announce the names of the ministers who will speak, but some of them will be preachers who have occupied pulpits only once or twice, others will be those who have preached for years."

At 2:30 there will be a song service, lasting about an hour, and led by Tommy Nichols. In the course of the remainder of the afternoon, there also will be a song, from time to time. The public has been invited to attend.

Fandangle Gets Into Shape For June Showing

Albany's Fandangle, which gave Eastland a brief sample performance earlier in the season, is shaping up for its regular show, dated for June 23, 24 and 25. The "sampler" was brought here by the Thursday Afternoon Club of Eastland, and many Eastlanders have indicated their intention of seeing the full-length performance.

Robert Nail, writer, director and producer of the show, took the "sampler" — a little roadshow featuring possible Fandangle actors, actresses and acts — to several West Texas towns. His group performed in Eastland, Anson, Stephenville and in Lubbock. Cast of the show, which annually draws thousands of people from all over West Texas, is made up of people who were born in Albany, live there now, or have lived there at one time or another. Usually, the cast numbers about 300, doing everything from acting out serious and comical scenes which took place in the Albany area, to singing folk songs and doing folk dances.

The second day of the Fandangle is highlighted by one of the most unusual parades ever staged. No modern vehicles are allowed in the parade unless they draw floats. The floats all carry out a central theme, which is usually the theme of the entire three-day show. Floats are very carefully done under the direction of the Fandangle Association, and are constructed by hand. Each float is a stage within itself, built by the association and furnished and cast by a sponsoring club, organization or business.

Theme of the 1955 show has not been set, Nail said, but in the past it has featured the cowboy and his life. Idea of the Fandangle was conceived in 1938, by Nail, then an English teacher in Albany High School.

People with lots at Merriman Cemetery, between Staff and Ranger, will work all day Saturday improving the grounds. They will bring their own tools and basket lunches.

Red Cross Home Care Plan Told by Eastland Chapter

The American Red Cross will offer special training in effective methods of teaching home care of the sick. Arrangements have been made with the following Texas colleges for a summer workshop or instructor training course. Dates for these courses are: June 13-18 — Texas Technological College, Lubbock. June 22-28 — University of Texas, Austin. July 11-15 — Lamar State College of Technology, Beaumont. July 18-23 — Texas Arts and Industry College, Kingsville. August 15-19 — East Texas State Teachers College, Commerce. The course is Number 429 in Home Economics and one semester hour of credit is given if the students pass the course.

"If you are a teacher or have had comparable leadership experience, there is a special need for your skill in teaching Red Cross Home Nursing classes," it was pointed out. "Homemaking teachers, home demonstration agents, secondary education teachers and registered nurses are encouraged to enroll."

"By becoming a qualified home nursing instructor you will help your community to better health. At least one person in every home should know the simple skills of caring for the sick. Civil defense demands instruction of this type."

"Anyone interested in this is urged to contact the Eastland Red Cross Chapter office located in the courthouse, phone 453. The Eastland Chapter will be glad to supply application blanks and work out all arrangements necessary to attend these courses."

Registration In Y Program Termed Good

More than 300 youngsters have registered for the summer recreational program of the YMCA in Eastland.

This progress was made at a registration round-up at the Majestic Theater. The Y authorities thanked Interstate and Manager Aubrey Van Hoy for use of the theater and for a complimentary show.

"We were very pleased with the turnout," said Mrs. Arthur L. Murrell, Y chairman. "We hope that the youngsters fully understand that there still is time left in which to register."

The majority of the boys and girls who signed up are in grammar school and junior high, although a number of high school students also registered. Director Jimmy Hughes and his volunteer staff were present. The program will open May 30, offering a variety of sports and skills, and continue through July 8. The Y executive board met in a dinner session at the Murrell home and surveyed progress thus far. Col. Dan C. Pitt Jr., area executive secretary, was present, on his last visit here until fall. Colonel Pitt is summer director at Plainview and immediately after that program goes to an international YMCA conference in Switzerland.

City-Owner Plan Is Invoked Here

Another street-hot-topping program is due to start in Eastland soon. "We expect to begin this work by June 1," said City Manager A. E. Taylor today. He explained the plan: "It is one in which the city and the property owners participate. The property owner buys the material; the city furnishes the labor, without charge."

"We've already done 20 blocks in such a program," he explained. "That was last year. This is the plan: The property owner puts up about 35c per lineal foot for the 20-foot width on his side, which, surely, is quite reasonable."

Mr. Taylor stated that "the money is in for three blocks already." He expects a number of others to come in on the program. "It's a way to get out of the dust for very economical cost," he explained.

Another Rain Is Received In This Territory

Eastland — community a n d county — received another welcome rain Monday afternoon and night, the showers totaling .58 here, .60 at Oden, .71 at Ranger and most other points reported receiving moisture of about the same proportions. A small twister hit the ground north of Ranger but no important damage was reported.

Lowie Tells of Opportunity To Serve Overseas

The 3rd Armored Division, now stationed at Fort Knox, Kentucky, has been named as the second U.S. Army division to replace overseas divisions under the Army's new and revolutionary "Operation Gyroscope," according to Sgt. Edward Love of the Breckenridge U.S. Army Recruiting Station, in Eastland on recruiting duties.

Previously, the 10th Infantry Division, stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas, had been the only state-side division named to participate in the plan which has been dubbed "rotation with stability" because of its stabilized tours of 31 months in an overseas command followed by at least 33 months in the U.S. Like the 10th Infantry Division, the 3rd Armored will replace a unit now stationed in Europe.

Individuals enlisting for the 3rd Armored Division under "Operation Gyroscope" will be sent direct to Fort Knox for immediate assignment to the unit. These individuals will then take basic training, in the case of non-prior service men, with the 3rd Armored and become regular members of its organization. Prior service men will join their regular units as soon as practicable.

Prior service personnel enlisting in grade of E-5 or above and E-4 with seven or more years of service will be eligible to receive travel allowances and authority to move dependents and household goods from the recruiting station at which the man enlisted to Fort Knox. Enlistments for the 3rd Armored Division will be accomplished in three increments with the first scheduled to begin on May 23 and subsequent recruiting from then until September 2. Quotas for the unit will be announced at a later date.

CISCO LIONS BEAT ROCKETS BY 7-6 SCORE

The Don Pierson Rockets dropped their first game of the season to the Cisco Lions Saturday night at Fireman's Field by a small margin of seven to six.

Both teams are entered in the Tri-Cities Baseball League. However, the game Saturday night was only an exhibition game. Jack Hilliard was on the mound for the Rockets and gave up only four hits. This was Hilliard's first game to pitch but the young lad made a fine showing. Pitching for the Cisco Lions were Darr, Hetherford and Tabor.

This was the first game to be played this year at Fireman's Field. The game was well attended and fans witnessed one of the best games played this year. Tuesday night at Fireman's Field the Rockets will take on the Cisco Panthers in another seven-inning baseball game.

Game time will be 8 o'clock. The Greenbacks will journey to Moran to take on the Moran All-Stars Tuesday night.

Staff Baptist Church To Have Preaching Sunday

There will be preaching service at 11 a.m. and at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the Staff Baptist Church. The new pastor, the Rev. Boyd Faber of Moran, will preach at both services and the members are all urged to attend.

W. B. Rice, director of service of Plymouth Motor Corp., and administrator of the nationwide program, praised Mr. DeBusk for his initiative in conducting the MTSC courses here. "The conference leader has a vital role in keeping service personnel informed and up-to-date in modern service methods and procedures," Rice said. "We are fortunate in having men of such high caliber in this important work." The MTSC program is designed to provide continuing training for mechanics in the newest methods of diagnosing mechanical troubles and servicing cars with a minimum of expense for labor and materials. Each month, enrolled dealerships receive an instructional kit dealing with a specific service problem, with much attention given to service instructions for new mechanical devices as they are introduced on cars. For example, when Chrysler Corporation engineers develop improvements to any part of the car, MTSC experts who work closely with the engineers are developing methods for proper servicing of the innovation. The program uses the most modern educational methods, and each mechanic must pass written examinations on each course studied. Complete records of each man's progress are kept at MTSC headquarters in Detroit.

Forces of Destruction

Over the week-end we noted a number of world-interest dispatches and two, particularly, which may affect the future—let's say the survival—of mankind. One told of the upcoming four-power talks in the direction of peace. Another was thus headed: "A single droplet of nerve gas can kill a person." This latter item referred to the fact that one droplet of gas in a person's eye can be fatal. It is "G" gas and is now in the chemical warfare arsenals of the various military powers. Actually, it could end more lives more swiftly than the greatest dose of radioactivity from a nuclear bomb. Isn't it a sad commentary on humanity that the great nations must spend so much thought, money and effort on the destructive? It does look as if with the advance of civilization there would develop a feeling among nations—a desire, as it were—to dwell together enduringly in justice and understanding. But it is a melancholy surmise that such a day may be remote indeed.

With Billy Graham Arrival In Britain Different From Appearance Year Ago

By GEORGE BURNHAM
Chattanooga News-Free Press Staff Writer

LONDON—The Bishop of Barking, a giant of a man wearing knee britches, was the first person to greet Evangelist Billy Graham when the tall young American arrived in London last year for a three months campaign, and the Bishop was the first to clasp his hand when Billy came back to London this week to begin a series of seven meetings at mammoth Wembley Stadium.

Circumstances surrounding the two greetings tell an amazing story. In February, 1954, Billy was sitting out in the middle of the Atlantic Ocean, with enough problems for everybody, on board the US United States. Well known in America, where unprecedented crowds gathered every time he appeared, Billy was on the way to London for his first major campaign abroad. He was almost unknown by the people of the world's largest city. He knew that in a city the size of London, almost twice as large as New York City in area, a preacher could get lost and rattle around in frustration without coming close to his objective of sparking a religious awakening in the dead and dying churches.

The fury of Great Britain broke around his ears and cables began shooting from shore to shore. A newspaperman in London, glancing at a Billy Graham publicity calendar, rose up in journalistic indignation when he noticed a line saying that socialism had done more harm to England than communism in England. Socialists form a major political party like the Republicans and Democrats in the United States.

Headlines blared denouncing the brash American. A member of Parliament arose on the floor and suggested that Billy be denied the right to leave the ship when it docked at Southampton. Billy landed, but he was probably the most unwelcome visitor since the Luftwaffe. Scores of ministers from the Church of England joined in the chorus of condemnation.

It was at this point that the Bishop of Barking, fisking his future in the national church, stepped out and clasped Billy's hand saying, "If this campaign is a success we'll give God all the credit. If it is a failure I'll stand up in the boat with you and we'll go down together."

The incredibly successful campaign is history. Billy preached to an estimated 1,500,000, recorded over 40,000 decisions for Jesus Christ and saw new life return to churches in larger and livelier congregations. The Archbishop of Canterbury was on the platform and 120,000 were inside Wembley for the closing service. London was followed by an even more successful tour of Europe.

Ambassadors and ministers of every country visited said Billy had done more to cement good will between the United States and foreign nations than any man in recent years. The combined cost of all meetings last year, over four months, was less than one fighter plane.

Billy returned to London this week from Scotland where he recently concluded a six weeks campaign in Glasgow. The Bishop of Barking, still wearing knee britches after phenomenal growth in clerical stature, walked forward as the train pulled into Euston Station. He gave the evangelist a warm, sincere welcome.

The press was there in numbers usually reserved for royalty. But the hostility was gone. The church is solidly behind his Wembley meetings. "Next to the royal family, Billy is probably the most well known person in Britain today," the London Daily Express commented.

"On Saturday afternoon Sir Anthony Eden's car, marked out by decorous election bills, will nose its way through the shopping crowds of Clapham and Battersea. The Prime Minister of Britain will be traveling to meet the people. Three hours later Billy Graham will speak at Wembley. He will not travel to meet the people. The people of London will travel to meet him.

"A hundred thousand of them have already booked seats for that evening alone, more than may come to Sir Anthony throughout the whole (election) campaign. Sir Anthony, if re-elected, will bear our future in his hands. This election will mould great issues—peace, prosperity, war — yet if attendances at meetings are to be taken in evidence, the people are not greatly bothered. They are more interested in Dr. Graham. Should we condemn this preference? Of course not. Graham's own words about a religious revival will do more for peace than a Big Three meeting."

One year has made a lot of difference. I wonder if the Bishop of Barking has ever thought about all that has happened between the two occasions on which he shook the hand of Billy Graham.

have been covered had wheat not failed to volunteer. Vetch plays an important role in his cover crop program. Alfalfa now occupies 32 acres and he plans to seed a larger acreage from year to year. Echols states that phosphate fertilizer is essential to successful legume production. Cotton, oats, and wheat yields from this farm will average three times greater than those on similar type land not under conservation treatment.

Echols has also done an outstanding job on his range land. His 407 acres of range land is divided into 10 separate pastures, many of them joining cropland for better grazing management. All the range except a small trap pasture near the house is classed as in good condition, which is remarkable in view of the preceding four years of drought. Realizing that left-over grass is not lost but serves as a blotter and soil builder resulting in more grass in following years, he leaves about half of the current growth each year and practices summer deferment to maintain vigor and allow grass to reseed.

Even though the range is in good condition Mr. Echols is not satisfied and stated recently that he was considering selling all his breeding stock, cattle, sheep and goats, and going the steer-and-lamb route so that he can rest all his range each year during the growing season and make real progress with his native grasses.

Five good farm ponds and a number of smaller ponds are well located over the rangeland. Diversion terraces have been constructed to provide sufficient drainage into two of the ponds. Several hundred acres of brush have been eliminated by the use of goats. First the underbrush is grazed out and from there an axe is used to fell large trees so that the goats can reach the buds. He stated that it is very important to graze the brush when it can be hurt most and take the goats off before damage is done to the grass.

Echols says that the Conservation job is never complete and that he plans to make many improvements yet. He is 62 years of age and figures he can still do the "henning and get hired labor to do most of the actual labor. He says he would "rather have young men working" with him on the place because, he says, "they are more open-minded and agreeable to using newer methods and following conservation practices and when they get on their own they will have had a first-hand knowledge of conservation benefits."

Cheaney HD Club Meets Thursday

Mrs. Bill Reid was hostess for the regular meeting of the Cheaney Home Demonstration Club Thursday afternoon, May 12.

Miss Minnie Mae Billingsley, County HD Agent, brought a demonstration of appropriate accessories for the living room. Comfort, convenience, adaptability and economy are some of the basic things to be considered in living room accessories, according to Miss Billingsley. And a room should never be overcrowded with furniture or bric-a-brac.

The thought for the day, taken from the lesson outline was, "What you are is God's gift to you. What you make of yourself is your gift to Him." The devotional was Ecclesiastes 3:1-15, followed by the club motto, pledge and prayer.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mmes. Lois Melton, Della Underwood, Eva Underwood; Miss Billingsley, and the hostess, Mrs. Reid.

EHS Seniors Honored by Mothers At Homemade Ice Cream Supper

Honoring the seniors of Eastland High School, an ice cream supper was held Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard N. Sherman, Breckenridge Hy. Hostesses were mothers of the seniors. In charge of arrangements for the party were Mrs. Sherman and Mrs. W. A. Blackmon, chairman of the seniors' mothers' committee. Garden tables and card tables had been arranged on the Sherman's lawn where "freezer-turned" ice cream and homemade cakes, which had been brought by the mothers, were served. The tables were laid with cloths in pastel hues and one of the many cakes was fashioned as an academic cap, complete with tassel. It was a chocolate-frosted confection created by Mrs. Harvey Basham. Following the refreshments on the lawn, the seniors danced in the home as various ones played the piano and also a record player was used. The evening was closed with the seniors singing "Halls of Eastland High School," the number they will sing at their graduation exercises.

Mrs. Sherman and Mrs. Blackmon were assisted in serving by the former's daughter, Annette Sherman, and houseguest, Nell Urban, EHS juniors. Their sons, Nuell Sherman and James Blackmon, are vice presidents of the senior class. Others assisting in serving and in entertaining were Miss Verna Johnson, senior sponsor; Wendell Siebert, high school principal and superintendent-elect; Mrs. Siebert, and the following parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Basham, Mrs. Paul Taylor, Mrs. Allen Tindall, Mrs. Jack Jernigan, Mrs. Ione Bownds and Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Smith.

The Houles Go To Their Wis. Home for Summer

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Houle left Sunday morning by motor for Sturgeon Bay, Wis., where they will spend the summer at their home overlooking the bay. Much of their time this summer will be spent in modernizing their home, as it was last summer. It is an old two-story house in which Mr. Houle was born and which they purchased several years ago. They have gone to Sturgeon Bay many summers for their vacations and the last few years for the summer months. They sold their other home there a number of years ago and since that time they had been renting a cottage overlooking the bay in the summer until purchasing Mr. Houle's old home there.

It is a resort town and affords a picturesque setting for summer visitors. Mr. Houle's mother and sister live there and they look forward to many visits with them each summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Houle's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ben Houle and daughter, Nancy, of Cincinnati, left with them to go as far as St. Louis, traveling on from there to Cincinnati, left with them to go as far as St. Louis, traveling on from there to Cincinnati by train. They had been visiting the Houles here for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Houle have ordered their Telegram changed from their address here to N. Bay Shore Drive, Sturgeon Bay, Wis., for five months. They expect to return to their home here about the middle of October.

Electric Cooking is COOL

.....an electric oven is insulated on SIX sides to keep heat out of your kitchen

Once you've tried cooking electrically, you'll agree that an electric range makes a delightful difference in kitchen temperatures during hot weather.

The reason is that an electric range cooks with less heat being wasted into your kitchen. Your electric oven is insulated—top, bottom and sides—to keep heat in the oven and out of your kitchen. Electric surface units cut waste heat, too, because they heat by direct metal-to-metal contact with cooking utensils.

Find out now how cool electric cooking can be, and discover its other advantages, too. You'll like its cleanliness, accuracy and economy.

LITTLE LEAGUE CHAT

By H. E. B.

Often times terms are used and reused but the technical meaning is overlooked. Let us observe these definitions:

1. ADJUDGED is a judgment decision by an umpire. (4.01)
2. APPEAL is the act of a defensive team or player claiming a violation of the rules by an offensive player. (4.02)
3. APPROVED is the official recognition with reference to playing equipment. (4.03)
4. A BALK is an illegal act by the pitcher with a runner or runners on base, entitling all runners to advance one base. (4.05)
5. THE BATTERY is the Pitcher and the Catcher. (4.11)
6. A BUNT is a legally batted ball purposely met with the bat and tapped slowly within the infield. A ball which is swung at and which rolls slowly into the infield is not a Bunt. (4.13)

7. A CALLED GAME is one in which the Umpire-in-Chief ends play before the normal end of the game for some legal reason. (4.14)

8. A DEAD BALL is a ball out of play because of a legally created temporary stop of play. (4.19)

9. THE DEFENSE is the team in the field. (4.20)

10. AN ILLEGAL PITCH is a pitch delivered to the batter when the pitcher is not in pitching position providing batter does not hit ball. If batter hits, the pitch is legal. (4.34)

11. A STRIKE is a legal pitch which meets any of these conditions: (4.60)

- A. It is struck at by the batter and is missed.
- B. It enters the strike zone in flight and is not struck at.
- C. It is fouled by the batter when he has less than two strikes.
- D. It is bunted foul regardless of the number of strikes on the batter. The batter is out and the ball is dead, if he bunts foul on the third strike.
- E. It hits the batter's person as he strikes at it. (Dead ball).
- F. It becomes a foul tip.

HERE FROM LUBBOCK

Mr. and Mrs. Mart Erashear of Lubbock, formerly of Eastland, returned home Monday after spending the weekend at Pleasant Place Motel.

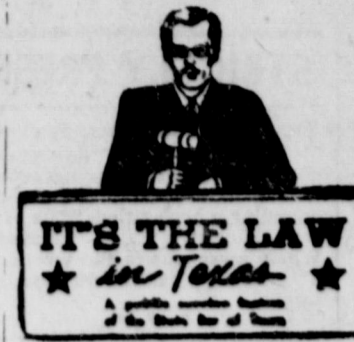

The Society of Sidewalk Superintendents has received a charter in Chicago, Ill. Formed mostly for fun, it has as its secondary purpose the fostering of daily relaxation among Americans.

Sea water sufficiently free of salt to supply quantity needs of industry, farming and residential communities may become available within the next decade. U.S. Army engineers are working on a solution to the ages old problem of desalting the water at reasonable cost.

Highest wind velocity ever recorded—392 miles per hour—was registered recently 20,000 feet over Philadelphia, Pa., by tracking a weather balloon with radar.

Do you have $100,000 to spare? If so, you can buy the world's most expensive piano. Delivered in 1910 to Mrs. Henry Payne Whitney, New York society leader, its rosewood case is inlaid with rare woods, mother-of-pearl and tortoise shell. All hinges and pedals are gold-plated. It took 15 years to complete the instrument.

World's first electric streetcars are believed to have been placed in service in Cleveland, Ohio, July 26, 1884.

ATTORNEYS MUST OFTEN TAKE UNPOPULAR CASES

"The first thing we do, let's kill all the lawyers."

Shakespeare puts these words in the mouth of Dick, the butcher, one of Jack Cade's followers, in the play, "King Henry the Sixth." It has been quoted often as an example of the occasional antipathy of the public towards lawyers. However, an examination of the play reveals a rather interesting turn to this quotation.

Jack Cade was a pretender to the throne of England. In the process of inciting his rebellion, he promised the rabble that they would get several halfpenny loaves for a penny, and all three-hooped pots should have ten-hooped, all things should be in common, the laws of England would come from his mouth, and his mouth would be parliament.

Here was the promise of dictatorship, socialism and Communism, all rolled into one, in the time of Shakespeare, and in order to accomplish these results the first thing to be done was to kill all the lawyers, who would naturally oppose any such system.

Upon the pages of history are the names of lawyers whose contribution to our free society was so great that they are heroes by which all men continue to see their inalienable rights shine forth in the darkness of dictatorship and injustice.

One, whose name stands out on the early pages of history as a champion of all men in their striving for equality, was Cicero, Chrysogonus, the political power of Rome, condemned Roscius, so that his property might be confiscated for the benefit of Chrysogonus.

When no one else would defend Roscius for fear of Chrysogonus, Cicero came forward and, with the knowledge that he stood alone against the most powerful figure in Rome, made himself immortal when he refused to temper his argument, courageously attacked Chrysogonus, and shamed the court into turning from cowardice to follow the law and set Roscius free.

Thus was broken the abuse of the powerful in using the courts to deprive men of their liberty, their rights and possessions. Cicero's act is a tradition of the legal profession today.

Look also to Lord Coke, who defied King James when he said the king is under the law, and thus again set the pattern for the supremacy of law for all, high and low alike.

America has had many great lawyers to whom each of us owe, and will continue to owe, a tremendous debt of gratitude, for the privilege of justice as we have it today.

John Adams, one of the leading patriots of Boston, endangered his life and his career by defending the British soldiers involved in the Boston Massacre. He later applied his deep-seated convictions of human rights and freedoms by assisting in the framing of the Declaration of Independence.

Our history books contain many other stirring examples. In the preservation of the individual's rights of freedom, the lawyer's training and tradition compels him to agree with Voltaire when he said, "I disapprove of what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it."
