GOING FOR MILK

Gorman Man's Stalled Auto Makes Water-Way Trip

A trip for a quart of milk began at 7 a.m. Thursday and ended at 10 p.m. for an Eastland County man.

Collins of Gorman lost his automobile to flood waters. Collins, who lives near Gorman, where he is administrator at Blackwell Sanitarium, went forth for a breakfast quart of milk early Thursday.

En route, along Farm-to-Market 571, his auto drowned out when it hit a dip which was running high from Wednesday night and early Thursday morning rains.

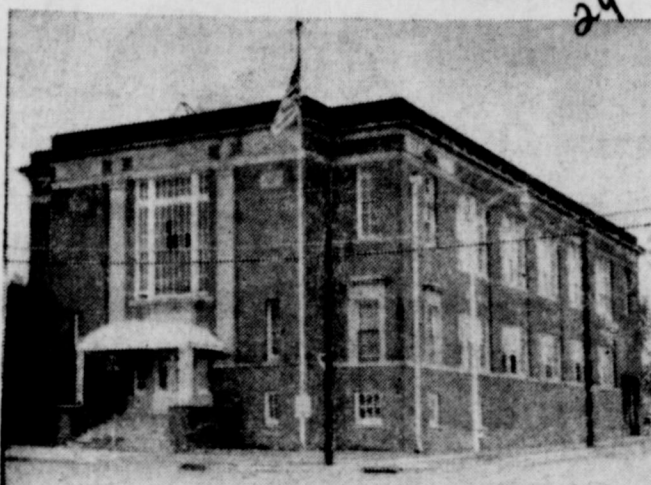

Unable to re-start the auto, Collins climbed out into the hard-falling rain to get help. When he came back the car was gone!

Rising waters in the low had washed the vehicle downstream turning it over several times.

The 1961 LaSalle finally found, submerged, with the rear window out, and assorted accessories and belongings floating in the area.

Late Friday, it hadn't been pulled out, although, with the help of diving, he was able to secure a chain to it, and "stake" it so it wouldn't wash further.

Collins, who reported the auto fully insured, expressed thankfulness that his small child wasn't with him on what was to have been a routine errand.

The Old CITY HALL

'DANGEROUS'

49-Year-Old City Hall Building Is Steel-less, Masonry Inigma

Eastland City Manager Jimmy Young stated in an interview this week that "conditions of the City Hall are very dangerous." Many areas of acute danger may be seen throughout the building.

The Eastland City Hall was built in 1913 at a cost of $250,000.

An estimate to repair the building's foundation was made in 1951 at a cost of $25,000.

Young added that he was sure the cost had doubled since that time.

According to Young, the area from the corridor to the north wall of the building are in the poorest condition.

Marble, which was placed on the lower half of the corridor walls, has become dislodged and fallen from its original position with the shifting of the building's foundation.

As the foundation has shifted to the north, walls have buckled, floors have cracked and sunk and the steps leading to the auditorium have also dropped in the center.

At the time of construction, the city hall was built with a solid concrete foundation and no steel can be found in the foundation.

All floors and ceilings are made of a one foot thickness of solid concrete.

The Civic Auditorium located on the top floor of the building has been condemned for many years.

At one time, the auditorium was used for community meetings and road shows.

The floor of that portion of the building is also badly sunken.

In the interview, Young stated that "sonic booms badly effect the building."

Rent-free occupants of the building include H. L. Weatherly of Abilene, Social Security Representative, who is on the premises every other Monday of the month, and Mr. Buckley of the Drivers' License Division, who occupies the building on the first, third and fifth Monday of each month.

At one time, members of the Red Cross were non-paying renters and held special classes for the public.

The office of Police Chief Ray Laney is in better condition than any other part of the building, according to Young.

This office was newly painted about three years ago but the paint has begun to peel badly.

Young concluded "This building is in very poor condition and a dangerous place in which to work."

Cecil Collings Renamed To Post

Associate Justice Cecil C. Collings of the Eastland County Court of Civil Appeals has been renamed vice chairman of the State Bar Committee on Law Reports and Libraries.

The appointment was announced by Bar president Leon Jaworski of Houston.

Eastland County Savings Bond Sales Announced

Savings Bond Sales in Texas for the first 6 months of 1962 totaled $76,720,875 which represents 102.3% of the 75 million dollar Freedom Bond drive goal for Texas. June bond sale in Texas were $11,489,268.

These figures were reported recently by Mr. Guy Parker, chairman of Eastland County Savings Bond committee. Mr. Parker also reported that bond sales in Eastland county were $265,453 for the first six months of the year. This figure represents 51.0 percent of the 1962 sales goal.

The achievement of the Freedom Bond Drive goal in Texas demonstrates to the Nation that Texans stand ready to do their part in our fight for freedom. These bond dollars will help our nation maintain a strong military posture and at the same time will keep our country economically stable," chairman Parker concluded.

Frog-less Zoo Turns To Eastland

Local horned toads continue to cast their spell of fascination.

If not for the home folks, at least for the out-of-staters. The Eastland Chamber of Commerce shipped four this past week to a man in Columbus, Ohio.

The vacationing Ohionian had inquired about the frogs at the Dallas zoo. The zoo doesn't have any, and recommended he check with Eastland.

And so, our city posted two each for the man's nine and seven year old boys. The Dallas zoo is also being asked by mail if maybe they shouldn't have horned toads on display—the Eastland County variety, of course.

Week's General Rains Fill Area Lakes, Ponds

Eastland, 3.80
Ranger, 4.00
Cisco, 4.4

The average rain-fall for Eastland County for the month of July is less than two inches—1.74.

This hasn't been an average July.

General rains begun Wednesday evening, fell throughout that night, and continued intermittently all day Thursday. Another good shower fell Thursday night.

Over the area, stock tanks were filled or refilled, and lakes were topping their spillways in most cases.

The Leon River was bank-full, and although flooding conditions were not prevalent in this area, they weren't far off.

There was one report of an automobile being washed away in this county, but personal injuries were not reported.

Reports Friday in Eastland were that flooding might be possible from the east, but checks with sheriff's offices and Highway Patrolmen revealed that only the Mineral Wells area had bad road conditions.

Eastland Weather Observer James Smith reported a total of 3.80 inches of rain for the last half of the week.

Between 7 p.m. Wednesday and 7 a.m. Thursday, 2.85 was officially recorded, with another 1.45 falling in the 24-hour span from Thursday morning to Friday morning.

Home-watched gauges recorded more or less than this, depending on their location in the city.

Out at Lake Leon, the water was bubbling down into the morning glory drain spout and Lake Keeper James Johnson reported that the lake had risen about 3 1/2 feet this week. He reported 3.50 at the lake, and the lake still rising.

Lake Cisco depended by a foot this week with the total rainfall marked at 4.40. Thus-

Peanut Bowl Planning Moves Into High Gear

Committee assignments have been made and planning sessions have already ground into gear for the Third Annual Eastland Peanut Bowl.

The event which attracts thousands to this city every year is again being spark-plugged by the Eastland Jaycee club.

Slated for late September, the spectacular will feature highlights of the first two outings, plus some extra fancy trimmings yet to be announced.

Bowl Chairman Jimmy Horn announced the committee assignments Thursday morning during the regular Jaycee meeting.

Dale Trout, who master-minded what has been tabbed the best parade ever, last year, has been tapped to head that segment again this year.

Booking and arranging special attractions for this year's show will be James Smith, Donald Kinnaird Jr. and Glen Scallorn.

Club President Bill Crocker, Grover Hallmark, Mike George and John Schoofield will be in charge of arrangements for special guests.

Ben McKinnis, last year's show chairman, will be in charge of securing riding clubs and sheriff's posses for the Bowl festival.

Contracts have already been signed with Cisco and Ranger Junior Colleges for their grid-iron teams to clash in Maverick Stadium as penicils for the celebration.

As ever "Mr. Peanut" will hold the limelight and will be honored as King-Pin again this year.

David Willoughby, Ben Lancaster and Norman Owens are in charge of bleachers assignments and arrangements.

Seeing that the concession booths are stocked and manned will be Roger Blackmon, McKinnis and Tommy Magness.

Handling advertising for the program will be Glen Gilliam, Bill Frazier, Norman Owens and Mike Collins.

Eastland's new band director, John Bailey and Ray Prior will be in charge of arrangements for bands and the twirling contest.

Handling publicity will be H. V. O'Brien and Bill Fox.

The club voted to illuminate the recently-erected sign on the west side of town, and a report was made that progress is being made in securing a baker for Eastland—a project toward which the sign is geared.

Memorial Service Held Saturday For Crash Victim

A Memorial Service for Lt. Lloyd Sawyers, native Eastland County, and three other Air Force officers was held Saturday afternoon at Dyess AFB.

Lt. Sawyers and the other officers were victims of a jet bomber crash in Montana Monday.

After a weeks search and investigation, hampered by fires in the area, the Air Force announced Saturday that there were no survivors of the crash.

Lt. Sawyers was aircraft commander on the training mission flight.

Stationed at Dyess, he and his family had been frequent visitors at Lake Leon, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Sawyers of Cisco, owned a lake cabin.

A spokesman of the family said that services will probably be held in Cisco Tuesday, although final arrangements are pending.

Other survivors include a wife and two children.

Sims is single, 23-year-old, and will graduate at Texas A&M Aug. 24th.

He will assume his duties in Eastland the latter part of August.

Nine Local Students Enroll For CJC Year

Nine students from Eastland have completed entrance requirements and will attend Cisco Junior College this fall. President G. C. Hogue announced. Six sophomores include Karen Taylor, Bill Moylan, Jerry Chamy and Nancy Grubb. Three freshmen are Judy McMillen, Janice Kay Poe and Candel Dolan Taber.

Miss Taylor, who was secretary-treasurer of the freshman class last year, will be editor of the college newspaper, the "Brandin' Iron". She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Taylor of 1209 S. Seaman.

Moylan is the son of Mrs. Beatrice Moylan, who resides at 1006 W. Commerce. Jordan is the son of Mrs. Ima Jordan, 411 S. Green in Eastland.

Wilson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Wilson of 606 S. Dixie.

Chaney is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Chaney who reside at 1009 S. Daugherty. Miss Grubb is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Grubb, 514 S. Daugherty.

Miss McMillen is the daughter of Mrs. Marzeen McMillen, 305 S. Daugherty. Miss Poe is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Poe, 604 S. Daugherty. Taber's parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Taber of 210 W. Olive in Eastland.

Applications for enrollment are still being received, and college officials anticipate a record enrollment of 400 this fall. Dormitory facilities are already filled to capacity, and steps are being taken to provide approved temporary off-campus housing for additional students.

A new air conditioned men's residence hall is under construction, slated to be completed in early October.

4-H'er Sharon Harbin's Garden Suggestions

Want to know how to grow tomatoes? Ask Sharon Harbin, the 4-H girl shown in the above picture. Sharon is a member of the Carbon 4-H Club and has been very interested in growing tomatoes in her home garden. This is her story:

"I started helping with the family garden when I was just old enough to know what a garden was. Last year my family experimented with some improved porters and this made me decide that I would like to raise a garden of tomatoes all by myself this year.

When my plants were about a month old, I covered the ground underneath the plants with a loose hay from the barn to help hold the moisture and to keep the weeds and grass down, so that I would not have to hoe to close to the plants. I used sticks around some of the plants to keep them standing, and when they outgrew the sticks, I asked my daddy to help me put some posts in the ground so my tomato plants would not fall. The rags you see in the picture were used to keep the plants off the ground so the limbs wouldn't break and to keep the tomatoes clean, so they would be easily picked, easily pruned and so I could get between the plants without stepping on the limbs. Every few days I go out and prune off the suckers to keep the sap in the main limbs and this has helped them grow to over six feet tall.

To help keep down the insects, I dusted the plants with insecticide powder, but while I was going to camp, the horn worms got on the plants and started eating the leaves. By keeping them picked off and the plants dusted, the worms are now under control.

My garden looked like a jant yard during the hail season. Every morning I took all the barrells, gates, tarps, can-canars on a boat off the tomato plants. I used these to keep it the hail from damaging the plants. Late in the afternoon I would put them back on again. This protected my plants.

The first tomato was picked on May 25th. Since then I have sold 83 pounds of tomatoes and furnished my family with fresh tomatoes every day. If this garden lasts as long as our garden last year, we will still be picking tomatoes until frost."

Sharon is not only interested in gardens, but she has entered the 4-H dress revue for the past two years. She helps can and freeze foods during the summer and is very interested in learning to teach younger 4-H members how to sew next year. She plans to act as a junior leader and work with the Unit I clothing girls in her club.

She likes to take part in activities of her county also. She has helped work on the county 4-H club floats for the peanut parades and the livestock show parades and has worked in the county 4-H livestock concession stand.

These are the things that help young people grow to be the leaders of America tomorrow.

Sharon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Harbin of Route one, Eastland.

As It Looks From Here

WASHINGTON, D.C. — THE FOREIGN AID Bill passed by the House of Representatives last week authorizes $4.6 billion. Two weeks before the Senate passed a similar bill.

ON THE MATTER of furnishing aid to Communist dominated countries such as Poland and Yugoslavia, both the House and the Senate marched up the hill and down again.

THE SENATE first adopted an amendment which would cut off assistance to Communist nations, and then followed it with another amendment excepting agricultural products. The House of Representatives first said that no assistance of any sort or kind should be given to the Communist nations, each country being spelled out by name. It then followed this action with a provision permitting the President to grant such aid to any nation if he found it to be in the "vital interest of the United States."

THE NEW VERSIONS of the measure will now be brought together in a Conference between the House and the Senate. As finally passed, doubtless authority will remain to grant assistance to any nation in the world, regardless of the nature of their government. Conceivably, this could even apply to Red China.

THERE IS SEEMINGLY an inherent desire on the part of many Americans to feed hungry people. The desire and willingness on the part of these people are genuine and understandable.

THE HARD cruel fact remains that only a hungry and a distressed people have ever risen up against tyrannical rulers.

IN 1921 MR. HERBERT Hoover headed the American Relief Organization which probably saved the Soviet Union. It is more correct to say that it saved the Russian Revolution started in 1917.

THE AMERICAN Relief Organization received credit for saving millions of Russian lives. Just prior to this assistance, the structure of Soviet Communism was falling apart under the strain of hunger when Mr. Hoover's Organization stepped in.

BETWEEN 1929 and 1939 it was estimated that Joseph Stalin massacred 17 million persons. Countless other millions died in Soviet labor camps. These same millions were those saved by American food.

A LOGICAL conclusion of all this was pointed out in a current column by Joseph Alsop. It is to the effect that, had it not been for American relief, Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and the rest of Eastern Europe would not now be in chains. China might be a free, rather than a slave state. Russia would have built her national power on a less ugly foundation.

THERE APPEARS to be considerable sentiment in and out of Government to furnish food to Red China. The biggest obstacle to it is simply that the Government of Communist China has not made the request.

SHOULD THIS year's crops in Communist China be as bad as the past year, it is entirely possible that Mao Tse-Tung, like Lenin in 1921, may call on the United States for help and even agree to United States supervision, as was done in Russia.

SHOULD COMMUNIST China call upon the United States for such assistance, it will not be out of feeling of humanitarianism for her people, but to prevent the people from revolting. History indicates that this was exactly the situation in Russia in 1921.

MILLIONS OF LIVES were saved in Russia. The generosity of America was proved. But Communism was saved with all its evil results. The number of lives saved in this gigantic effort would weigh lightly in the balance against lives afterwards lost, warped or enslaved because of the Communist system.

IT IS NOT a matter of meeting evil with evil. This is not the Christian way. Neither is it Christian to contribute to the perpetuation of evil. It takes the Communists to disprove the ancient proverb of "Whose bread I eat, his song I must sing."
"OH, GOD! that bread should be so dear,
"And flesh and blood so cheap!" (Thomas Hood, 1846)

PART III

Aid for Actually Needy Recommended by League

(Ed. Note: This is the final installment of a report issued by the Texas Research League concerning welfare problems in this state.)

Since 1946 the State Legislature has submitted to the voters of Texas eight Constitutional amendments affecting welfare programs. (Seven have passed and one was defeated.) Of those that passed, a valid constitutional question was involved in only two cases; in the other five cases the Legislature deferred to vote of the people a decision of whether welfare spending should be increased. Although this procedure may appear sound on the surface, it has three basic defects, according to the League's report:

1. Welfare issues are complex and charged with emotion. In a Constitutional election voters may not be fully acquainted with the real issues involved.

2. Legislative submission of a Constitutional amendment implies — to some voters — approval of the issue at stake. Such Constitutional amendments are rarely defeated unless there is well-organized opposition.

3. Because the limit is established by popular vote, the Legislature usually considers it a mandate for appropriating up to the maximum permitted and the Department in turn spends the full amount. This maximum thus becomes a minimum as well and pressures are generated for beginning the cycle all over again.

Thus as a control device, the Constitutional limitation has lost its meaning, and it has discouraged close legislative supervision over welfare program developments. To solve the problem the League recommends:

• That the Welfare Department request the Legislature to submit a Constitutional amendment to the voters at the next general election which would abolish the Constitutional limitation on State appropriations for public assistance purposes. This would emphasize the responsibility of the Legislature and the Governor for careful review of welfare spending needs, goals and plans each biennium.

Federal policy requires the Welfare Department to check each OAA case annually to validate eligibility. This necessitates that a field worker visit each of the 220,000 recipients annually — or several hundred thousand manhours of work. The League staff found such visits resulted in a limited number of minor changes — usually a dollar increase or decrease in the monthly grant. The Welfare Department has for many years tried to get the Federal government to modify this requirement to permit the adoption of case visitation based on need, with periodic audits of samples of cases. To date they have had no success. The League endorses the Department's request and recommends:

• That the Welfare Department once again request permission from the Federal government to establish a selective system of OAA case validation, thereby eliminating the requirement of an annual visit to every OAA recipient. The Texas Legislature might be asked request through a memorial to the Federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

IN CONCLUSION

The Research League maintains that if its recommendations were put into effect, the Texas Public Assistance Programs "would become oriented to solving the critical problems of individuals that they cannot solve for themselves — either from their own resources or those of responsible relatives. For both humanitarian and economic reasons, the object of public assistance programs should be to help a beneficiary to overcome his problems — not just to live with them through financial sedatives."

The report's foreword concludes: "It is predictable that each of the major proposals in this report will be strongly opposed by more benefits to everybody vested interests. But, if Texas is to take a stand for welfare programs based on actual needs, these recommendations are essential. The alternative is a steadily mounting spiral of welfare spending which encourages dependency and which fails catastrophically in solving the human ills which are its very reason for existence."

This is the first appearance of a column, written by County Home Demonstration Agent Mrs. Nicholson. Her column will appear each Sunday in the Telegram. We know that Eastland County homemakers join us in welcoming this addition.

You know, it will not be too long until hunting season.

We have a new bulletin that will come in handy for the hunter and his cook—titled "Wild Game Care, Cooking."

While modern hunters pursue their sport mostly for the thrill of outdoor recreation, game foods properly dressed and prepared can add pleasant variety to the family menu.

Since the first hunter took weapon in hand to search for game, experience has accumulated in the field dressing and preparation of game for eating. The above mentioned publication describes the time-tested methods of handling game in the field until it is tastefully served on your table.

You can obtain your free copy of this bulletin by writing me at Box 495, Eastland or call me in Eastland at MA 9-1729.

In a flameless, quick recovery electric water heater, two super-fast heating elements are in the water, inside the tank, rather than just one heat source outside the tank bottom. Element at top heats water at the point of draw-off. Element at bottom heats incoming water. Notice, too, that heavy insulation completely surrounds the tank, including the bottom. Heat is sealed in, and none is wasted up a flue, since an electric water heater is flameless and needs no flue or vent. That's why an electric water heater gives you the hot water you need for dishes, laundry and other uses... as fast as you need it. See both round and table top models at your dealer's soon!

Frank Pounds Family Making Cisco 'Home' While In S. A.

By KAREN TAYLOR

Children, Randy, 10, and June, 13, have been in Cisco attending to moving details before returning to Bogota.

Another son, Danny Ezzell, a senior psychology major at a Texas Tech in Lubbock, visited in Cisco recently.

The family are frequent visitors here from South America with Mrs. Pounds' mother, Mrs. Roxie Pool, 604 Avenue G, and her sister, Mrs. Margaret Cruise, also of Cisco.

Fluent Spanish linguists the family finds commuting between the United States and South America to be usually interesting and sometimes confusing. For example, 10-year-old Randy discovered that he could attend an excellent American school in Bogota, the Colegio Nueva Granada (College of New Granada) and take complex Spanish courses; but when he returned to the United States, he was unable to take anything but elementary Spanish courses in the States schools.

Randy and June are particularly fond of the Bogota school which is situated on the side of one of the Andes Mountains above the city of Bogota. The school which accommodates students from nursery age through the 12th grade, is so named after Colombia, which was once called New Granada.

The Pounds home in Colombia is an all white house with white rugs from Lima, Peru, in South America. The average 65 degrees weather and constant rain forces inhabitants to wear winter clothing during the whole year.

Mrs. Pounds stated that although the rent is high in Colombia, items such as food, groceries and clothing are comparatively cheap.

The family attends a small Baptist Church, Iglesia de Bautista, in Colombia. Pastor of the church is the Rev. Paul Bell, who was ordained in Cisco.

Colombia, an extremely progressive country, forbids importation of any items manufactured within its own boundaries and is probably the best educated of the South American countries, according to the Pounds family. It is governed by President Lleras, who will give good control of bagworms as well as other pests.

One of the common combinations of bagworms is Luis Lopez, grand-son of a former president of the country.

Mr. Pounds, who is in the drilling and production division of the Anson Company, works in the Magdalena Valley. He usually camps in the Colombian jungle, a distance of about a 30 minute plane ride from Bogota, for three weeks before returning to Bogota for one week in the course of his work.

The Pounds family stated that South America is as picturesque as it is different. A huge white statue of Christ stands on a mountain above Bogota near a mountain cathedral. The church, which was Bogota's first building, and the mountain are called "Mont Serrate" by natives of Colombia, who claim that anyone who has been to the top of Mont Serrate will always return to Bogota. The Pounds family, upon relating the ancient legend, also add that, of course, they have all been to the top of Mont Serrate.

Bagworms Are Causing Tree, Plant Damage

COLLEGE STATION—Bagworms are now occurring in rather large numbers on trees and other plants in many parts of the state. This insect is a general feeder and can cause serious damage to certain trees, especially evergreens, points out C. F. Garner, extension entomologist.

At this time, the worms are small and can be successfully controlled by proper spraying or dusting of the plants with insecticides. It is important to apply chemicals early enough to control the worms before they become too large and cause serious damage, adds Garner.

He suggests a check of all plants around the home, especially evergreens for the spindle-shaped sacks which may be hanging from the twigs, leaves, and branches.

The following insecticides are recommended for bagworm control. Malathion (50 percent emulsifiable concentrate) 1 to 1 1/2 ounces per 5 gallons water; Toxaphene (60 percent emulsifiable concentrate), 2 1/2 ounces per 5 gallons water; or lead arsenate (2 1/2 to 3 ounces per 5 gallons water).

In addition to these materials there are several brands of combination sprays (two or more insecticides combined together) on the market which will give good control of bagworms as well as other pests.

One of the common combinations of bagworms is Luis Lopez, grand-son of a former president of the country.

ROBERT BELL, a young native of Eastland County, has read with interest our county's efforts to encourage things of benefit for the young people. He grew up at Nimrod and attended Cisco Junior College and has been studying for the past two or three years in other schools.

Living in Fort Worth for some time, he ran across the Junior Achievement program there. This is a nation-wide educational organization in which young people of high school age are given an opportunity to gain valuable and practical pre-business experience by organizing and operating their own small scale businesses.

THIS PROGRAM operates in 42 states to enable young people to increase their knowledge of the American Free Enterprise System.

Under the plan, miniature companies are formed for 15 to 20 teen-agers who are assisted by three businessmen. The men, acting as advisers, are representatives of local business concerns, civic or professional people — exporters in the field of productions, business and sales.

Junior Achievement has no political, religious or other affiliations. It is open to any youth. The aim is to produce employees, employees and citizens who understand the freedom, incentives and opportunities of free enterprise and private ownership.

THE YOUNG people actually operate businesses. To raise funds, the JA firms sell stock at 50 cents a share. They learn to keep records, production schedules and advertising finance.

According to Mr. Bell, the young people in the JA program learn lessons that are valuable to them the rest of their lives.

Mr. Bell left us a lot of material on the JA program, and it is available to anyone interested in seeing it. The towns of Eastland County might want to take advantage of the opportunities of this kind of program.

AN EXPORT origin study for the State of Texas and the 17th Congressional District has to our desk from the U.S. Department of Commerce. And it contains some interesting information.

For example, one out of every six acres of cropland in the U. S. produces for export, and the 17th District's equivalent share in the 1960-61 national agricultural export total was $11,600,000 for field crops, $1,900,000 for livestock and $67,000 for fruits, nuts and vegetables.

As a whole, the equivalent share of agricultural exports from the 17th District is over 2 1/2 times as large as the equivalent share of competing imports.

Another in a long list of honors and tributes has been bestowed on Eastland County Agricultural Agent J. M. Cooper.

The beloved Eastland County Agent was one of three county agents who were presented honorary life-time membership certificates in the Texas Pecan Growers Association. The Austin ceremony marked the first time in the 41-year history of the organization, that a county agent has received such an honor. Only ten other persons prior to this had won such memberships.

John E. Hutchison, director of Texas A&M College Extension Service, presented the memberships during the 41st annual convention of the Pecan Growers in Austin recently.

Mr. Cooper has served Eastland County residents — both urban and rural — since the mid-1940s as county agent.

The other two agents honored were Elmo Cook

Highway Patrol Adds Course In Atom Radiation

AUSTIN — Have you ever been an "Easter egg hunt" where the object of search was not a source of dielectric energy — but atomic energy? A serious variation of this childhood game — updated for the Nuclear Age — was part of the recent specialized training of 132 members of the Texas Highway Department. These radiological monitors, also known as survey operators — were taught to determine which highways in the Texas Highway System are safe for travel after a nuclear blast or release of atomic radiation in an accident, thus protecting the traveling public from entering highway areas containing dangerous radioactivity.

The trainees — drawn from the ranks of all 25 Districts in the Texas Highway Department — were instructed by Chester D. Hudlow of Tyler, Safety Instructor in the Inspection Division. Just before class meetings, it was Hudlow who hid high-powered atomic sources for his students to hunt.

(A source is a radioactive element which emits gamma rays and is used for field training and for calibrating the survey instruments.)

Students on the search didn't carry Easter baskets. But they did move around the area with bright yellow instruments. These instruments, known as survey meters and operated by batteries, spat out static noises when one of the sources was approached. The sources — when not in use — are stored in a lead block and fit neatly into holes that confine their radioactivity. This heavy block itself is stored in a specially built concrete block house recently erected specifically for this purpose in the Maintenance Warehouse yard of the Highway Department's District 10 office in Tyler.

Hudlow, experienced in group leadership training and instruction, taught seven classes, each one lasting three days. Trainees received instruction in basic radiation

TECHNICOLOR BURROS NOW BRIGHTEN LOCAL SCENE

There are some brand new animals in Eastland County now.

L. Hanna, both of Eastland, Big Bend area, bringing back a rare Purebred Spot-bred Jack recently acquired by Terrell.

The jack, Don Claro Angel (Bright Angel), is from a long-isolated, non-commercial band of purebreds on a large ranch in Brewster and Terrell counties.

He is slightly under 11 1/4 hands and a 4-year old.

His spotting is in reddish and bluish colors on a white background.

The origin of this breed from Mexico is somewhat obscure.

One theory is that they are descended from the Kiang, the fleet multi-colored Wild Ass of Tibet and its smaller close relative, the Onager, inhabitants of the deserts of Eastern Persia and Baluchistan.

On this theory, the Mexican spotted breed is sometimes called the Kioma.

As in the case of such primitive progenitors, the Kioma is characterized by a trim conformation with relatively higher withers than the Burro, a fine head with smaller ears and small muzzle.

The hoofs of the new Jack are "triton" — in almost translucent pearl-like color, red and blue.

The breed has all of the hardness of the Burro but is more active and has a remarkable gentle and affectionate disposition.

Don Claro was taken from the jenny band when three days old and foster-mothered by a Quarter Horse mare so he thinks he is a horse.

He is currently in residence at Hanna's Appaloosa Horse Ranch four miles south of Eastland on the Carbon road.

He will soon welcome the acquaintance of Paint mares with the objective of brightening the countryside with little technicolor mules later to be schooled for rodeo (chariot racing and fun with the clowns) and parades.

Hanna and Terrell also brought in a fine spotted jenny and her two spotted old and a little piebald fellow of five weeks.

The local chapter of the Shetland Stallions Anti-Mule Society (SSAMS) is rumored to have scheduled a special meeting as they are said to be quite concerned about Don Claro's move into the community.

Jack Dempsey was called the Minnassa Mauler because he was born in Manassa, Colorado.

Area Pioneer Enjoys Visit At Art Exhibit At Fort Worth

J. H. OWENS OF MORAN

An 89-year-old Shackelford County pioneer, who is also well-known in this county, visited his first art exhibit recently.

Following the letter writing campaign, the collection grew to number some 300 original cartoon drawings, amply filling eight portfolios in only two years time.

The collection encompasses all phases of the cartooning art: editorial cartoons, daily and Sunday comics, caricatures, humorous spot illustrations and animated cartoons.

In recent weeks, some 20 years after launching his cartoon collection, Owen Day again took pen in hand to correspond with a host of present-day cartoon artists. Purpose: to supplement and update the collection which was added to the Fort Worth Art Association's Permanent Collection in 1948. The count of originals nears the 500 mark.

His grandson, Fort Worth Artist Owen Day, had ambitions while still in high school in the early 1940's to become a famous cartoonist.

He reasoned the way to learn the art of humor was to go to the source. With pen in hand he wrote an untold number of letters to leading American cartoonists of those years. Sage advice, encouragement and original cartoons resulted from the letter-writing campaign. Thus began the Owen Day collection.

He sold his first cartoon to the national humor magazine, "Judge," while still in high school. His cartoons have appeared in numerous publications since. In October, 1960, "Copper Cartoons" was created by Day for Bell Helicopter Company.

Texas Maritime Academy Taking Applications

The Texas Maritime Academy, established February 24, 1962, by the board of directors of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College System pursuant to Acts of the State Legislature, is now open for applications from area young men.

To be eligible for admission, the Academy requires that applicants be high school graduates, physically fit U. S. citizens, between the ages of 17 and 22, single, and of good repute. Students in the Maritime Academy are deferred while Selective Service System throughout their time in school. Following graduation, those who obtain employment at sea in the Merchant Marine may be tendered an inactive Naval Reserve Commission, if eligible in all respects.

Freshman students attend classes at Texas A&M College at College Station. The remaining three years are spent on the Academy Camp-us at Galveston. For three summers, cadets cruise on a maritime academy training ship to Europe, the Caribbean or South America.

Admission to the Academy is granted on the basis of the applicant's ability to satisfy such requirements as the individual's secondary school grades, rank in graduating class, grade point ratio, character, and general accomplishment in high school or college.

Two courses of study are offered, Marine Engineering and Marine Transportation. Each course consists of four years of college and professional character.

For additional information interested persons may write to the Director of Admissions and Registrar, The A. and M. College of Texas, College Station, Texas.

Pecans Seen As Important Cash Crop For Rising Star Section

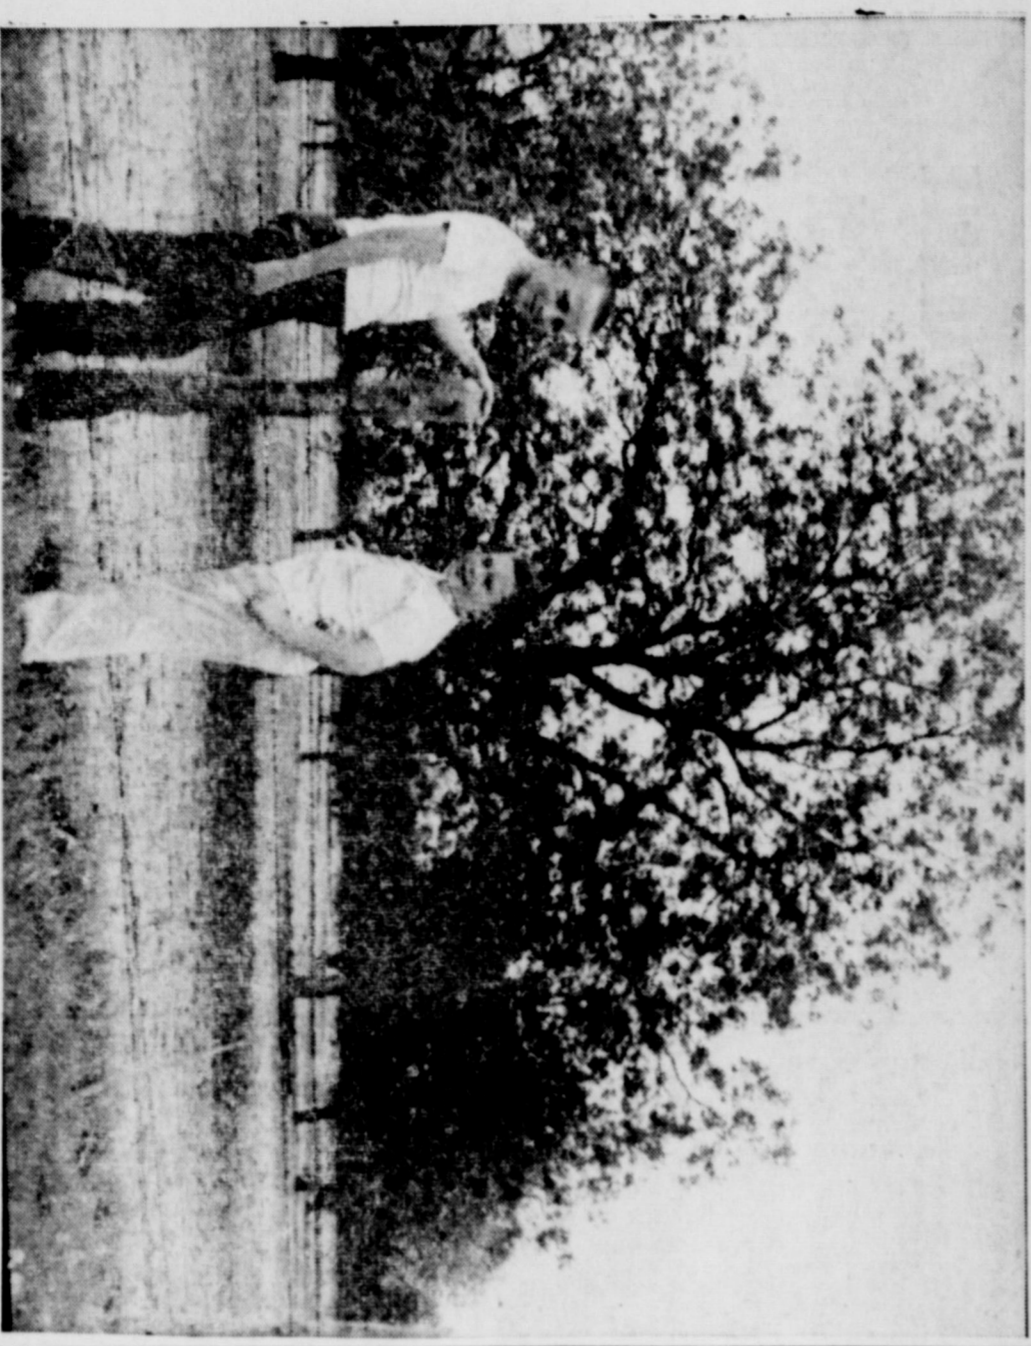

By B. A. BUTLER
 Pecans are becoming, and rapidly — the advent is the water-course of the Leon, of course — one of the important cash crops of the Rising Star area of south Eastland county. The tree is well suited to the climate and soil of this section, drought-stricken farmers and

IRRIGATED ORCHARD

C. E. Smith, prominent Eastland county pecan and peach grower, stands beside the tank from which he booster-irrigated his orchards. The tank is fed from a well shown here pumping into the reservoir.

FROM GENERATION TO GENERATION

Pecan trees shown here in orchards of Boss Alexander at Pioneer are producing profitable crops of pecans when these youngsters, grandsons of Mr. Alexander, will be middle-aged men with families and orchards of their own. The boys are Jim Alexander of Clyde, Orchard of 80 acres a short distance southwest of Rising Star. This orchard, principally by the late Dr. W. L. Allen and was once a show place of pecan culture. During the long drought it declined and many of its trees.

Now, under the ownership of W. V. Fenter, a former Dr. Leon Fenter, who came to Rising Star by way of Wyoming after a career in the oil business, the Allen groves are being restored to their former excellence.

Another new and large-scale pecan grower is the Mansfield and son partnership of W. V. Fenter, who came to Rising Star by way of Wyoming after a career in the oil business, the Allen groves are being restored to their former excellence.

One of the earliest and best adapted of these commercial varieties was developed and propagated by a pioneer pecan grower at Clyde, Texas, and given his name — Burkett. His work and that of other specialists in the state and federal agricultural stations have resulted in many new and improved varieties well adapted to this section. These new varieties are being featured in young orchards numbering many hundreds of trees in Eastland county and adjoining pecan territory.

Louis D. Romberg of the U. S. Department of Agriculture pecan experiment station at Brownwood, has been most successful in developing strains which utilize the climatic and soil characteristics of this region in the production of outstanding and highly marketable varieties. Several of his improved varieties recently released are being used in expansion programs carried out by professional growers around Rising Star. One of the oldest and most famous of the pecan orchards in this territory is the Allen Pioneer.

Among the more established growers who are expanding already well-founded orchards are Doss Alexander of Pioneer and C. E. Smith of Rising Star. Both of these men have been officials and very active in the Eastland County and the Texas Pecan Growers associations.

Other sizable pecan orchards in the vicinity are owned by G. A. Dunn, Jr., who has about 50 acres in trees north of Rising Star; C. T. Barton of Pioneer with some 15 or 20 acres of Burkett; Lee Burkhead with 15 acres north of Rising Star; E. D. Ware with a 30-acre orchard a mile north of Rising Star on U. S. Highway 133 and who is also setting out new varieties, and Mack White with a 40-acre orchard in the same area.

Eastland county growers have consistently carried off a lion's share of honors at the State Pecan Show at College Station and this year bested San Saba growers by three points to lead the list of exhibitors in awards won. Much of the credit for this increased interest in pecan growing in this county and adjoining counties is given the organization of the Eastland County Pecan Show some 12 years ago and the subsequent formation of the Eastland County Pecan Growers Ass'n.

Both the show and the association are active, growing institutions which not only are attracting wider and wider attention as stimulators of pecan culture in their own right, but have encouraged the formation of growers' organizations in other counties. (Continued on Page Five)

County Agent J. M. Cooper was the originator and the moving force behind both the show and the county association.

While the Burkett is the basic variety of most commercial orchard development in past years, with the West-ern Schley, Halbert, Mahan and Success following strongly in train, much of the new planting is utilizing well-received new varieties developed by Mr. Romberg at his Brownwood station. Among these are the Chicklaw, a cross of the Success and Mahan pecans; the Wichita, a Mahan and Halbert cross; the Comanche, developed from Burkett and Success strains; and the Apache, a Burkett-Eastern Schley cross.

The Chicklaw was the state grand champion in 1960 and the Apache earned that distinction in the 1961 show at College Station. C. E. Smith, a former member of the State pecan growers board, believes the Apache promises to be the best of the new strains so far released, with the Chicklaw a close second.

"But they haven't been in production long enough to really prove themselves," he said. What is being proved, however, is that the pecan is a relatively most stable and productive crop which is adding an increasing and sizeable new income to the economy of this section.

WORLD WIDE MARKET ENVISIONED

A future market as wide as the world awaits the fruit of trees such as these in a typical Eastland county pecan orchard. Newer, more profitable varieties, more resistant to drought and disease, are being planted in this county to help supply the potential demand of that market.

Two criminal cases occupied most of the spotlight in 91st District Court upon the third floor, this morning. Two De Leon men, James Bridges, 27, and Lawrence David, 30, were both found guilty by juries of robbing a grocery store in Gorman. Bridges was given a sentence of 20 years and Davis 15 years.

And interesting aspect of the case resulted after the men were sentenced. Originally the two had signed their intentions of pleading guilty when brought to trial. However, after they were returned to the County Jail following a jail break, they both decided to "fight the case." In so doing, both alleged their inability to engage counsel, and requested that the court appoint them attorneys. This was done. A Ranger attorney got the job — for the customary, $25 fee.

Before sentence was pronounced for Bridges, an Eastland attorney, alleged hired for some $900 in fee, entered a motion in the court for a retrial. The motion was denied.

Washington

As a nation, we should seriously ask ourselves where we are headed. Can we afford to lose another 1 million to 2 million farms in just a decade, and can we continue a situation in which only one of two conditions will prevail? The first is that only a young man who inherits a family farm can afford to go into the farming business. The other situation is for farming to become a syndicated or a faceless, impersonal entity. As has been said, "They are just not making any more land."

County Praised In Cancer Drive

Mrs. Cecil Collins, chairman of the 1962 Cancer Crusade for Eastland County, has received commendations from the state Chairman, Dr. G. V. Brindley, Sr., for the outstanding success of the educational and fund-raising campaign here this year.

Eastland County is one of one hundred twenty-six leading counties in the state which have reached or exceeded their minimum share in the 1962 Crusade. With a minimum share of $3,350, Eastland County has already reported a total of $3,191.25.

Dr. Brindley's letter pointed out that Mrs. Collins and all who helped with the Crusade here furnished inspiration to the entire state. Cr is a dedication, "without the leadership of counties like yours."
