Texas Ex-Rangers Enter Second Day Of Meeting

Convention To Close Three Day Session Friday

Members to be Selected and Place of Next Meeting to be Named at Business Session
Tomorrow at 10:00
A. M.

The Texas Ex-Rangers association will close its three day session Friday with the election of officers and the selection of a new place for the next convention. Heretofore the place for the next meeting has been left to a committee appointed by the president for that purpose, but this function this time will be performed by the convention. A number of towns are asking for the next convention.

A. P. Coffee of Colorado City, a named historian for the association at this morning's business session.

Mr. W. M. Green, of Colorado City, president of the association, presented a splendid tribute to the members of this country, especially the pioneer women. "I often think of the men of the saddle and the women of the home," he said.

The convention this morning passed a resolution expressing appreciation to the members of the C. O. C. for their efforts in entertaining the Ex-Rangers. Mr. Connelley came this section in an early day, having founded the city of Eastland 56 years ago.

Today at noon the wives of the Ex-Rangers and the women members to the convention, were on a dinner at the Connellie Hotel by the Civic League of the Eastland Board of City Development.

Last night the Eastland Boosters Band gave a specially arranged program at the City Park for the Ex-Rangers, and Friday night they specially arranged program for them will be given.

Harbin Monument Is Unveiled Here

The unveiling ceremonies of the monument over Jesse Washington Harbin's grave at the Eastland cemetery late this afternoon was attended by a large crowd, including many relatives of the deceased.

The Government furnishes free of cost monuments for unmarked graves of soldiers of all wars in which this country has engaged. Congress at the last session extended this courtesy to all Confederates who fought in the war between the states.

Dr. H. B. Tanner, secretary of the Board of City Development, has been active in spreading this information throughout this vicinity and has forwarded applications to the war department for a number of such monuments, this monument to Jesse W. Harbin is the first one to be received.

Jesse Washington Harbin was a soldier in the Florida Indian Wars, serving under General Jackson. He was also a member of Company A, 1st Alabama Infantry, during the Mexican War. Also a private in the 18th Georgia Infantry on the Confederate side during the War between the States.

Judge J. D. Barker of Cisco offered a prayer and spoke briefly about Harbin's service during the Florida Indian Wars and of his being a member of the Universalist Church.

Judge Carl Springer, whose grand father was a soldier in the Mexican War, told of incidents in connection with Harbin's service during the Mexican War, particularly of his bravery at the capture of Chapultepec Castle.

Judge Clyde Garrett, who is a member of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, and whose father was a Confederate soldier, spoke during the trying days of that struggle.

A squad from the Dulin-Daniel American Legion Post fired three volleys over the grave of this remarkable soldier.

The ceremony was concluded by the sounding by the Bugle Corps of the Boy Scouts.

Weather And Crops

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Promises of rain and cooling breezes in scattered areas were faint notes of optimism which today heartened millions of plague-ridden Americans struggling through one of the most disastrous summers in history.

The farmers whose fields have been laid waste by heat and drought since July 1 also found some cause for rejoicing in suddenly increased grain prices which added millions of dollars to the theoretical value of their depleted crops.

Forecasts for today were there would be no great change in temperature throughout most of the country, although it was predicted showers again would fall in scattered areas. In Chicago, where rains have fallen for several days and lake breezes have driven the temperatures downward, the day started with an electrical storm and drizzling rain.

Rainfall was general yesterday in the Dakotas, Nebraska, Illinois and Kansas, while in most other sections the drought continued, shriveling the crops, causing water shortages and forest fires, suffering and despair.

Heat deaths for the week passed the 120 mark, and to this danger was added the peril of poisoned water. In Jefferson county, Ill., Roy Peterson, 30, died and his wife became seriously ill after drinking polluted water from a cistern.

Downpours in scattered sections, notably parts of the Dakotas and Nebraska, flooded city streets and sewers, but the rains were not general enough to affect the rivers and the lower stages in years.

Timber lands, dried out by the continued drought, framed in Massachusetts, on the Pacific Coast and in Indiana, adding thousands of dollars to the total summer plague damage which has been estimated as high as one billion dollars.

Fair Pilots Invite Hoovers

Carrying a uge bouquet of roses, Phoebe Fairgrave Omie, left, and Blanche Wilcox Noyes, right, are shown here leaving Chicago for Washington, D. C., where they were to present the floral invitation to Chicago's National Air Races to President and Mrs. Hoover. The bouquet is composed of Herbert Hoover roses.

Keeping Tab On The State Candidates

ALVARADO, Tex., Aug. 7.—Charging that Pat M. Neff's regime in the Railroad Commission had led to monopoly in transportation, W. Gregory Hatcher of Dallas, candidate for chairman of the commission, carried his campaign into this section last night with an address to an old settlers' reunion.

Hatcher said that over four-fifths of all bus lines in Texas were controlled by certain large companies, destroying a competitive healthful to business, and causing abnormally high fares. Big oil companies and railroads were backing Neff for this reason, Hatcher declared.

ABILENE, Tex., Aug. 7.—Thomas L. Blanton, Abilene, rode back into congress on the crest of the largest wave of votes in the history of the seventeenth district, certified returns showed today.

Blanton received 41,606 votes, V. Earl Earp of Sweetwater 19,140, the total vote being 60,746.

ABILENE, Tex., Aug. 7.—Personalities, mud-slinging and false issues were swept off the board by James V. Allred, Wichita Falls candidate for attorney general, in a speech here Wednesday night. Allred declared he wished to make the race only on merit and qualifications for office.

Officers Hint At Texas Liquor Ring

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 7.—Hints at discovery of a gigantic liquor ring, with headquarters in Galveston, that supplies all of Texas' larger cities, and reports of a thorough investigation, prohibiting enforcement agencies of this section were current here today when it was learned that L. B. Connell, chief assistant of the dry investigation bureau of Washington was in Houston.

Connell has spent several days in this territory and he understood to still be here. He was seen with D. C. Trexler and F. W. Lohm, Treasury Department special inspectors, also from Washington, who have been here for several weeks.

Aside from the purported liquor ring the inspectors are believed to be investigating the events leading up to the "ride" murder of W. L. Edwards, Houston aviator, and liquor frame-up charges filed against D. R. Cheatham, prohibition agent.

Cheatham was charged with transporting liquor and being instrumental in having it placed in a car that had been transferred to Edwards' name a short time before he was assassinated.

Edwards filed charges in the frame-up, and while the hearing was drawing near, in which he had threatened to expose unsavory conditions in various branches of law enforcement, he was "put on the spot."

Cheatham's trial, called recently, was postponed because of his illness.

Raney Williams, Negro, Goes To Electric Chair

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., Aug. 7.—Raney Williams, negro, will die in the electric chair in the state prison here soon at midnight, 42 days after he was arrested and charged with attacking a negro woman and 36 days after a Beaumont jury convicted him.

In that time not a voice has been raised in his behalf. It is one of the few cases in Texas history, when the governor has not been asked to extend clemency.

Williams is the negro who three times was saved from mobs by Jefferson county officers. Once police chief Wood of Port Arthur saved him and twice sheriff Covington saved him at Beaumont.

Williams was tried for attacking a negro woman, but during his trial two young white girls testified that he had attacked them.

At the time of his arrest by Port Arthur officers he confessed to attacking eight white women on a lonely "lovers lane" near Port Arthur.

Today With The Endurance Fliers

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 7.—Captain Frank M. Hawks, holder of a new east-west endurance airplane record, prepared today for a return flight which he hoped to break the speed mark set last Easter by Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Hawks landed at Mines Field here yesterday at 4:50:43 p. m. P. C. T., setting a New York to Los Angeles mark of 14 hours 50 minutes 43 seconds. This was 3 hours 52 minutes 11 seconds better than the record of Col. Roscoe Turner, who recently made the flight in 18 hours 42 minutes 54 seconds.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 7.—The endurance monoplane "Greater St. Louis," piloted by Forest O'Brine and Dale Jackson, swooped low over Lambert Municipal Flying Field today when it passed its 407th hour at 11:11 a. m. C.S.T.

The flyers reported everything going nicely and said they would remain at a high altitude today to escape the intense heat.

If they are aloft at 7:30 tonight they will have surpassed their old record of 420 hours.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 7.—An attempt to shatter the endurance retelling record of 553 hours set by the Hunter Brothers at Chicago was underway here today.

A Curtiss-Challenger-Robin plane piloted by Roy French and Elmo Dodson, took off from the Municipal Airport at 9:20:15 a. m. today.

Unmasked Man Scoops Up $500 Of Bank's Funds

CHANDLER, Tex., Aug. 7.—A lone unmasked bandit walked into the Citizens' Guaranty Bond Bank here at noon today, held a gun on a single clerk on duty and scooped up $500 in $1 bills with which he escaped in a small automobile.

Poses were organized immediately, and set out after the bandit who fled in the direction of Frankston. He was traveling alone in the car.

With the bank deserted save for the one clerk, the robber appeared at the window and ordered him to "stick 'em up."

He then forced the clerk to pass him the currency and escaped.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 7.—Ruben Chisholm, president of the Eldorado Oil and Gas Company of New Orleans and Frank Mullen, exconvict, shot and killed each other during an attempted holdup here early today.

STINNETT, Tex., Aug. 7.—Dist. Atty. E. W. Thomerson and police chief William McDowell of Amarillo arrived here today and went into conference with A. D. Payne, prominent Amarillo attorney who is held in the Hutchinson county jail charged with the bomb killing of his wife on June 27, last.

Reports from the conference room were to the effect that Payne was making a written confession of the crime, allegedly committed so that he would be free to marry his former stenographer.

A brother of the accused man, Sid Payne, accompanied the officers as far as Borger and plans to come here later to witness Payne's signature to the confession, it was said.

Officers refused to divulge the contents of the statement until it had been fully completed.

AMARILLO, Tex., Aug. 7.—Officials announced today that A. D. Payne, well known attorney had told them he was ready to confess that he murdered his wife with a bomb in order that he might elope with his attractive former stenographer.

Sheriff W. N. Thompson, who made the announcement, said the attorney awaited only the arrival of his brother, Sid Payne, from a vacation in New Mexico, before making a statement admitting the crime.

Sheriff Thompson said Payne intended to commit suicide before allowing himself to be arrested.

Two Masked Men Attack Young Girl

FORT WORTH, Tex., Aug. 7.—With a reward for their capture, Fort Worth police Thursday sought two men who forced an automobile into a ditch, tied up three young girls, and attacked a fourth, a 15 year old girl, Wednesday night.

ence had died down. Mrs. Payne was killed June 26 as she drove the family car on a downtown street here. A nitroglycerine bomb exploded under the front seat, hurling her through the roof of the car to instant death. Her son, D. J., Jr., was seriously injured.

Investigation of the slaying disclosed that Payne carried $30,000 insurance on the life of his wife. It had been taken out, together with $10,000 for his son and $2,500 for his daughter, just a few months before the bombing. None of the insurance money has been paid.

Mrs. Thompson's confession was unearthed by Gene Howe, crusading Amarillo newspaper publisher, working in conjunction with a Kansas City reporter. She charged that the lawyer promised to marry her as soon as he had "taken care" of his wife and children. She allowed him to make love to her, she said, because she wanted to hold her job.

I needed work and had to put up with his attentions," she said. "I know what every old woman in town is saying about me, but it is not true. I had no illicit relations with Payne, and only allowed him to kiss me because I wanted to hold my job."

ITALY WILL SAVE LAND ROME, Aug. 7.—The report of the ministry of agriculture to Mussolini on the progress of Italy's great land reclamation scheme shows that 1,122,000,000 lire will be expended during the financial year 1929-30 on various improvements. Of this amount the state will provide 700,000,000 lire. This large sum will be expended on road-making and road repairs, draining of marshy land, bridge building, irrigation schemes and the laying down of new aqueducts for drinking water.

More than 90,000 workmen are regularly employed in this great scheme, which will be continuing for at least another 12 years, and is one of the greatest public works plans carried out in modern times. It will change the character of Italy when completed, providing a network of roads, and extended link of new farming colonies up and down the country, and an irrigation system that will be one of the most up-to-date in Europe.

The integral land reclamation scheme is in full activity during the winter months, when work is most sought by the laborers. During the summer and autumn, several thousand of the regular 90,000 employed are released for ordinary agricultural work, returning to their regular job in October or November.

The provinces which employ the greatest number of workmen in the integral land reclamation scheme are: Emilia with 26,000; Venetia with 14,000; Calabria with 14,000 and Lombardy with 7,000.

international financier, was refused admission to the pavilion of the Swedish Royal Yacht Club here, is a story widely told in Sweden. During the recent international sailing races at Sandhamn, held in connection with the centenary of the yacht club, Kreuger arrived one day in his speed boat, one of the fleetest in Europe, to watch a certain event. At the gate to the clubhouse he was stopped by the watchman, who had received strict orders not to admit anybody who could not show a membership card or similar credentials.

Kreuger admitted that he did not have his card with him, and the guard regretted that he could not let him pass. True to his modest and unassuming nature, which forbids him to ask for any privileges, Kreuger quietly withdrew and said that he would return later with the desired card.

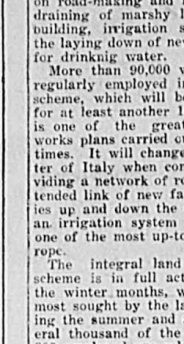

He was recognized at that moment by Sven Salen, the Swedish yachting man and owner of the "May-De," which captured the International Gold Cup at the races of Oyster Bay, in 1927. Salen called him back and escorted him into the clubhouse and the embarrassed watchman promised himself always to remember the features of the match king.

The bodies of a man and woman, both unidentified Mexicans, were found at daylight floating in this side of the International line. They had been washed down from the Mexican side for more than three miles.

During the recent international sailing races at Sandhamn, held in connection with the centenary of the yacht club, Kreuger arrived one day in his speed boat, one of the fleetest in Europe, to watch a certain event. At the gate to the clubhouse he was stopped by the watchman, who had received strict orders not to admit anybody who could not show a membership card or similar credentials.

Kreuger admitted that he did not have his card with him, and the guard regretted that he could not let him pass. True to his modest and unassuming nature, which forbids him to ask for any privileges, Kreuger quietly withdrew and said that he would return later with the desired card.

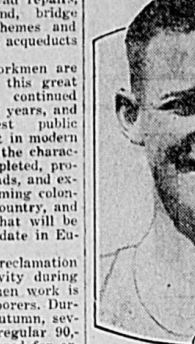

He was recognized at that moment by Sven Salen, the Swedish yachting man and owner of the "May-De," which captured the International Gold Cup at the races of Oyster Bay, in 1927. Salen called him back and escorted him into the clubhouse and the embarrassed watchman promised himself always to remember the features of the match king.

The bodies of a man and woman, both unidentified Mexicans, were found at daylight floating in this side of the International line. They had been washed down from the Mexican side for more than three miles.

The Hollywood Story

COPYRIGHT 1930 by NEA SERVICE Inc. by ERNEST LYNN

BEGIN HERE TODAY
A letter that he received from a friend in New York,
former Hollywood scenario writer, meets Anne Winchester, who has come from Tulsa,
to try to get extra work in Hollywood.

has worked only one day as an extra herself, having been there but a short time, but a few days after their meeting she gets extra work at Grand United.

Her first day there she meets a girl named Mona Morrison, and immediately likes her. Mona is living in an apartment with Eva Harley, and Anne lives alone, and Mona suggests that the three occupy a bungalow that she and Eva have seen.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VIII
Anne Winter had moved and was now living with Mona Morrison and Eva Harley in the little furnished bungalow on the western fringe of Hollywood. It was a modest place of pale-green stucco,
but it was cheerful and well-lighted and "homey"; and Dan Rorimer, contrasting it with his former quarters, could well understand her enthusiasm for the change.

"A place to live in," Anne said,
"rather than mere storage for one's body and one's belongings."
And she had added: "Even if it is too close to the tracks to be fashionable, it's a home at least; which is more than I could say for one room and a kitchen."

Mona won Rorimer's liking instantly. She was as vivid as her flaming hair, which was curly and bobbed, and she didn't look a day over 19, and she was slightly tough in a pleasant, boyish way that he found altogether delightful. She was considerably shorter than Anne, and more rounded, and Dan suspected that Mona might occasionally have to pay careful attention to her diet. He discovered before he had known her more than a few minutes that she was quite a tease and that she seemed to take keen delight in plaguing her friends and receiving their banter in return.

Eva Harley he liked, too, but with reservations. She had been neither cordial nor unfriendly in her greeting, but after a brief smile and a murmured commentary on two had quietly withdrawn from the conversation, and Dan sensed a guarded aura about her that left him a little ill at ease in her presence.

She was a striking looking person, though—tall and slender and lithic of figure, and languorous of motion—and crowned almost specularly with abundant pale-gold hair. Gorgeous looking, Rorimer thought, at the same time remarking that her mouth was just a little too wide and thin of lip to be beautiful; her cheek bones a trifle
high, and marring the oval contour of her face. And he judged that she was older than the other two girls.

As he had said, "Eva's just a little uncommunicative and mysterious, but I like her—she minds her own business, and that's saying a great deal."

"It is," Dan agreed, "for a girl."
"Well, you needn't be uncomplimentary," she said with a grimace, and Dan grinned. "Where is she from?" he asked. "Somewhere down south, with that drawl. You can't fool a Tennessean."

"Eva comes from New Orleans," Anne informed him. "Mona says
she has been in Hollywood almost three years."

"Doing extra work?"
Anne hesitated a little. "Eva hasn't been very busy," she said.
"Mona tells me she sometimes models clothes in one of the Los Angeles department stores. She has a beautiful figure."

Rorimer thought: "Yes, but there's something just a little wrong about her. She's—she's hard to figure." And he had the strange thought that Eva Harley ought to have a foreign name and speak broken English, and this,
somehow, would make her less difficult of explanation.

He thought: "There's something
about her voice; something—disappointing." It ought to be, he felt, low and vibrant, like a low-
strung guitar; and it was unexpectedly high and wrongly keyed,
and in disharmony with her personality.

Dan had gone over to the bungalow one evening to call on Anne. It was shortly after their removal, and he found the girls
busy with some new pale-green
curtains which Anne had that day
bought for the kitchen. And it was that evening that he asked Anne about Eva; but first he had
been put to work hanging curtains.

NEA San Francisco Bureau
If he hadn't fallen off a haystack
when he was 110, Pedro Yecassa,
above, of Oakland, Calif., who recently celebrated his 113th birthday, believes he would be in fine trim today. Pedro, was born in Los Angeles—so he says—in 1817, when Napoleon's retreat from Moscow was the big news of the day. He saw service in the Union army during the Civil war.

Dan had gone over to the bun-
galow one evening to call on Anne. It was shortly after their
removal, and he found the girls
busy with some new pale-green
curtains which Anne had that day
bought for the kitchen. And it was that evening that he asked Anne about Eva; but first he had
been put to work hanging curtains.

It was Mona who opened the door for him, and she said, "Anne,
it's the boy friend from New York." She said, "Come in, and wipe off your feet and take off your hat; the butler is off duty
this evening. . . . My goodness, you're all shaved up this evening,
aren't you?"

Rorimer said, "Pipe down, nusance!" and followed her in.
"Good evening, Miss Harley," he said to Eva, and held out his hand;
and the girl smiled as she took it and said, "Good evening, Mr. Rorimer," and bade him welcome.

"You're just in time to do some interior decorating," Mona Morrison told him. "Take off your coat, but don't take off your hat,
and come out in the kitchen."
What does he wear, Anne—suspender or a belt?"

"How should I know?" Anne asked with a laugh.
"Well, you've known him almost two weeks, haven't you?"

Dan said, "Suspenders, Redhead—but the better shops call them braces."

"Yeah? Well, down on the farm,
we call 'em galluses. Did you know I was born on a farm, Dan?"
"You've never seen a cow in your life."

"Say, I've milked more cows than you've ever seen! That's right; I was raised on a farm down near Urbana, Illinois. And then the little gal went to the big city."
"Chicago? Do you call that a big city?"

Mona tossed her red head in disdain. "Just another fresh New Yorker," she said.
"How's the job coming?" Dan asked.

Mona said, "All washed up; I was through today. Anne's still working, though. Isn't that great?" Dan thought: "And she really means it, too. She gets as big a kick out of Anne's good fortune
as if it were her own."

Mona went on to say that she considered herself lucky. "Nine straight days of work is pretty hot for little Mona." And in a lower voice that only Dan could hear, for he had followed her out to the kitchen, she added: "You keep your eye on Anne. I wouldn't be surprised if she got a break."

Rorimer felt a swift elation; at the same time, though, he was aware that he was struggling with a vague sense of uneasiness, and with a question on his lips he hesi-tated.

But Mona informed him in a thrilled undertone: "Garry Sloan noticed her today; he picked her out of the crowd and talked with her. And Anne's so excited she doesn't know whether it's Thursday or Sunday. Gosh, I don't blame her! Imagine what Sloan could do. . . ."

Anne and Eva came in, then,
and Mona said nothing more about Sloan; but the matter sat on Dan's mind, and it remained there beneath the light banter he and Mona exchanged while he hung the curtains.

Grace this week.

home in Dan Horn community.
Robbie Hazlewood is spending this week with Revis Dungan in Dulham.

A. Reich and family spent Sunday with their son, Oscar Reich near Romany.

He thought: "There's something
about her voice; something—disappointing." It ought to be, he felt, low and vibrant, like a low-
strung guitar; and it was unex-
pectedly high and wrongly keyed,
and in disharmony with her personality.

Dan said, "Looking at Eva,
you'd hardly think she was domestically inclined"; and he expressed some curiosity about her, and for some minutes he and Anne talked in low tones about the two girls
when they could hear moving about the kitchen.

"They're dears—both of them,"
Anne said after a short silence.
"But a strange pair to be such good friends," Dan remarked.

Anne agreed. "Perhaps that's why they get along so well—
they're so utterly different.
Mona's so blithe and gay, and
Eva. . . ."

She paused, and Dan said, "Eva gives one the impression that she hasn't found very much to be happy about. Do you suppose it's because she's disappointed in not doing well in the movies?"

"I think there may be something else, too," said Anne, and Dan felt that she didn't care to discuss the subject further.

"Mona tells me," he said presently, "that big things may be in store for you. Here's hoping, Anne."

At the same time, though, he knew a feeling of injustice that Garry Sloan could do so much for her without half trying, while he,
who wished so greatly for her success, could do nothing.

"Heat Control" in Summer?

Yes . . . for Your Oven!
Keeps You Out of the Kitchen

ARE YOU ONE of those women that other women call
"good managers"? The kind that seem to always have time for everything they want to do. If not, perhaps you have wondered how they manage so well.

Of course, we don't know for sure, but we believe that if you would take a peep into their kitchen, you would see a small inconspicuous dial on the side of their oven. This little dial is called an oven heat control . . . and it means hours of freedom from your kitchen.

A heat controlled oven cooks bread, pastries, meats and even a whole meal perfectly and without the slightest attention.
Prepare your food, put it in the oven, set the heat control, and you are free for the afternoon.

In the hot summer afternoons when the hours seem to have no ending . . . when you would like to take a cool refreshing plunge . . . then, more than ever, will you need a heat controlled oven to give you priceless extra hours of leisure.

The Lone Star Gas Company takes great pride in the part they are playing in helping the modern woman to lead a more care-free and enjoyable life. The whole organization is proud of their enviable record in constantly keeping your local gas company supplied to meet your every demand for gas.

See the many beautiful new gas ranges, equipped with heat controlled ovens, on display at your local gas company, or gas

THIS WOMAN IN 4 WEEKS LOST 19 POUNDS OF FAT

Here's a letter written October 21, 1929, by Mrs. Fred Barringer of Lewistown, Montana. That ought to be read by every overweight woman in America:
"Gentlemen: I first saw your advertisement in a Billings, Montana
paper and decided to try Kruschen Salts.
I started taking them every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce.
I had tried going on a diet but would get so hungry that my diet would not last long, so I decided to give "Kruschen Salts" a fair trial. The day I started to take them I weighed 256 lbs., and at present, which has been just four weeks, I weigh 239 lbs. And I must say, I feel better in every way, besides looking much better.
Kruschen Salts had a decided effect upon the quantity of food I took and stimulated my desire to greater activity.
I have recommended Kruschen Salts to many of my friends, in fact, have a number of them taking Kruschen Salts.
May all large people, both men and women, who want to reduce in an easy way, give Kruschen Salts
a fair trial. I am sure it will convince any one."
A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts four weeks costs but 85c at Beaty Drug Store or any drugstore in America.—Adv.

IN THE REALM of SPORT

There were hot spots in many American states Sunday, Aug. 2. Some of the readings in many Iowa cities and towns ranged all the way from 108 to 113; in Nebraska towns around 111; in Kansas cities and towns 110; in Oklahoma City, Okla., 106, while Corsicana with 105 was the hottest in the gulf states and Phoenix, with the same temperature, the warmest in the Rocky Mountain states. Talk about Texas weather. Get out of the state if you care to be scorched to a dinky brown or black.

WITH THE TEXAS LEAGUE

Waco's invincible club gained a tie for the Texas League lead Wednesday night with an 18-run spurge in the eighth inning that bids fair to be listed in baseballs hall of fame.

Led by the diminutive Gene Rye, left fielder, who drove out three home runs and accounted for eight of the runs in the inning, Waco entered the eighth frame trailing by a score of 6 to 2. When the dust had cleared away the Cubs had driven in 18 runs in that inning and won the game by a score of 20 to 7.

Meanwhile the league leading Wichita Falls Spudgers took a humiliating 13 to 9 defeat at the hands of Fort Worth. Six pitchers saw duty.

The victory gave Fort Worth a tie for first place, making the race a three-cornered dead heat. Dallas dropped a hard fought game to Shreveport, 2 to 3. The Steers pounded out 11 hits but were unable to score in the pinch.

The tail end San Antonio Indians were held to four hits and a single run by Kauffmann, Houston hurler, and the Buffs won, 7 to 1.

National League Major League

With the grand opening of the fifth and next to last inter-sectional series of the baseball season set for tomorrow, only four Major League games were scheduled today. All Major League contenders except the New York Giants, however were billed for action as follows:

American League
Philadelphia at Washington.
Boston at New York.

National League
Brooklyn at Pittsburgh.
Chicago at St. Louis.

With a 3 1-2 game lead over the second place Chicago Cubs, Brooklyn engaged the Pirates in the National League final western journey, having stolen a march on the other eastern clubs by opening the trip yesterday with a 7 to 4 victory over Pittsburgh.

The Chicago Cubs lost a valuable game in the race by dropping a 4 to 3 decision to the St. Louis Cardinals. Pinch-hitter Watkins won the game with a fluke homer with a mate on base in the 7th inning.

The Cubs filled the bases in the ninth but Jim Lindsey fanned Grimm and Hartnett to end the game.

Philadelphia had its lead in the American League reduced to 6 1-2 games when the Senators beat the Athletics, 5-1. "Sad Sam" Jones outpitched George Earnshaw, allowing the A's only six hits.

With Lou Gehrig coming out of his batting slump with a triple and single, the New York Yankees beat the Boston Red Sox, 4-2, and reduced the gap between first place to 9 games.

George Uhle pitched and batted Detroit to a 9 to 1 victory over Cleveland. Uhle made three singles and a double, while holding the Indians to four hits.

The St. Louis Browns and Chicago White Sox divided a doubleheader, Coffman pitching the Browns to a 5-0 victory in the first game and Red Faber winning the nightcap for the White Sox, 5-2.

Three runs in the ninth enabled the Boston Braves to trim the Phillies, 5-4, in the other National League contest.

Yesterday's Hero
Sam Jones, 37-year old pitcher, who allowed the Athletics but six hits as Washington beat Philadelphia, 5-1. He struck out Fox and Miller to end the game.

TEXARKANA, Tex., Aug. 7—His own weapon jamming when he attempted to fire upon officers, Herbert Richardson, negro, was shot to death here Wednesday when he resisted arrest on a liquor charge.

BROOKLYN, Aug. 5—It wasn't that Flatbush residents objected to cats and pets, Ray Mulligan explained to the magistrate, but they felt Mrs. Mary Sadler was a trifle too fond of them.

They didn't mind, Mulligan went on, when she devoted her entire 5-room apartment to her 34 cats, providing for herself only a cot to sleep on and an electric refrigerator in which she kept fish and liver for her pets. But the feline yowlings at night and Mrs. Sadler's peculiar inflection when she called them to dinner or to bed was just a little too much.

Neighbors who complained found the letters "KQ" chalked on their doors, he said.

Mrs. Sadler said it was all a plot on the part of the neighbors and asked an adjournment to obtain relief. The judge granted the adjournment to the next day.

Russia's "Red Square" Will Be Reconstructed, Society Says

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Russia's "Red Square," the scene of glamour and tragedy, is to be reconstructed, according to a report of the National Geographic Society. In back of a high board fence the work of turning the temporary wooden mausoleum into a permanent resting place of stone is already under way. Smooth flagstones will replace the ancient cobles and permanent reviewing stands are to be erected.

Formerly the scene of public executions, of imperial proclamations and marital parades, of bloody revolutions, it now resounds with the tramp of the red army and the footfalls of Soviet workers. High above the Kremlin wall rises a great clock tower, built the year before Columbus discovered America opposite this historical structure are the Trading Rows with their arched sidewalks, around which the people in all walks of life gather. Women in felt boots, clerks in leather jackets, officials, usually well dressed, with their brief cases under their arms, laborers in their dirty sheep-skin coats, slipped girl dragging hand carts behind them offer a glamorous contrast.

Vendors cluster around the gates leading to "Red Square," offering all manner of articles and making sections of the square into virtual out-door department stores.

At night an open forum is established in the square. Unimportant Soviet speakers gather little knots of listeners about them to explain the details of the Soviet plan of government, and oftentimes the square is filled with a mass of people while the government leaders proclaim the other doctrines of the revolution through mammoth loud speakers.

With the work of reconstruction now started, all of this glamour is at a standstill, until when a new and even greater "Red Square" is completed, it can begin anew.

Grateful Lady Pays Tribute To New Konjola

Now Giving This New And Different Medicine To Her Children—Read Her Statement.

MRS. J. D. RHYNE

There is a reason why Konjola is America's best known medicine, and that reason can be summed up in just three words—Konjola makes good, even when all else tried has failed. Consider, as a typical example of Konjola's ingredients at work, the case of Mrs. J. D. Rhyne, 616 East Eleventh street, Amarillo, who says:

"I was in a terrible condition for many years, with constipation, nervousness, indigestion and kidney and liver ills. It seemed no use to try medicines and treatments further, for I kept growing worse right along. I lost weight and had headaches and dizzy spells and bilious attacks. Foods caused indigestion, and many a night I lay awake until two or three o'clock. But words can not express my surprise over what Konjola did for me. All of my ills have vanished and now I am giving Konjola to my children, and my husband is about to start the treatment."

Konjola is a medicine for all the family; old and young. That is why Konjola is a household word in tens of thousands of American homes.

Konjola is sold in Eastland, Texas at Toombs and Richardson drug Store.

Factors In Farming

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Clarence Elmer Huff who used to be a preacher before he became interested in wheat in the vicinity of Salina, Kansas is one of the biggest factors in farming today.

Huff was in the capital the other day—the first anniversary of the meeting which led to creation of the Farmers National Grain Corporation.

Chairman Alexander Legge of the Farm Board introduced Huff, a medium sized, baldish, quiet-spoken fellow, as the "biggest grain merchant in the United States." That was a fair estimate of Huff's position as president of the corporation.

"We are getting along," Huff said modestly. "I figure we ought to handle about 200,000,000 bushels of the 1930 wheat crop and from 40 to 50 per cent of the crop in 1931."

"You know we made our first sale to a foreign customer on June 11. Well, sir, in the first five days of a single week in July we sold 1,000 bushels of wheat abroad."

"We have divided the country into five zones with headquarters and branches in each zone. We have representatives wherever wheat is dealt in. Every day in every wheat market of the world we sell or offer wheat."

"In one day presently," Huff continued, "our organization sold wheat in eight foreign ports. The other day we sold and delivered to the mill door of a co-operative consumers' society in Scotland a cargo of wheat. In that transaction only two groups ever owned the wheat involved—the producer and the consumer."

Huff was more than pleased about that incident. The purpose of the Farmers' National Grain Corporation is to cut the middlemen in marketing of farmers' crops. The corporation was organized with the assistance of Legge and the Farm Board. It is a $10,000,000 corporation and it is not popular with many private grain merchants who see vast inroads upon their business in Huff's aim prediction that he will handle half or nearly half of the 1931 wheat crop.

Although articles of incorporation were taken out less than a year ago, the infant mastodon of the grain business handled one third of the southwestern wheat cleared through Kansas City this year. It is buying old established commissioned houses to obtain trained personnel to carry on its work. It charters its own ships to send grain abroad. It is growing at an amazing rate.

At the head of it all sits Huff, an unassuming gentleman late of Salina, who has moved to Chicago where the headquarters of his organization is located. He is bringing into it farmers' grain co-operatives throughout the United States. He figures the corporation now is handling more grain than any other organization in the world. Asked whether this expansion had not aroused opposition from private commission men, Huff replied:

"The grain trade now has respect for us, and that's what it didn't have a few months ago."

Huff is reluctant to discuss proposals for reduced acreage and such controversial questions. His job is to keep grain moving from co-operative elevators in the grain belt to markets anywhere in the world.

"But how do you stand on acreage?" an insistent questioner asked.

"Most of the time," Huff replied, "I stand in hot water up to my ears."

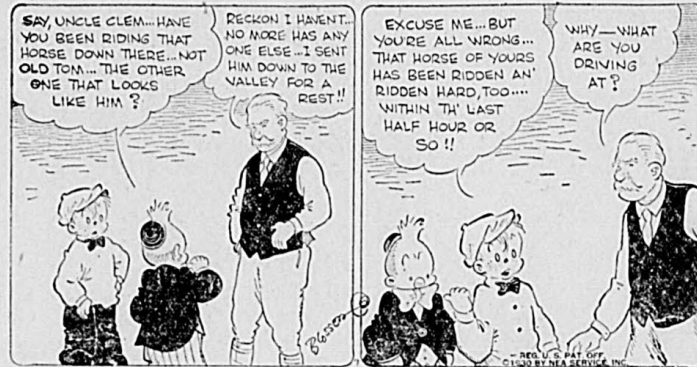

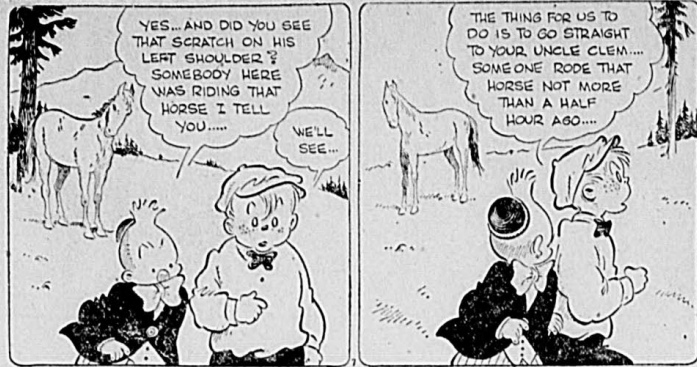

But Huff seems to like it. What really worries him right down in his heart is that name of his, "Clarence Elmer."

"I wish I had been called Bill," laments the biggest grain dealer in the United States.

ABILENE, Tex., Aug. 7.—Dr. J. E. Bushby of Abilene was elected president at the annual business session of West-Texas Chiropractors here. Dr. A. W. Canfill, Sweetwater, was chosen vice-president, and Dr. G. G. Bronson, Ranger, secretary.

Plant Rye To Prevent Your Peanut Land From Blowing

By J. C. PATTERSON
County Agent

A crop of rye following peanuts will prevent the blowing of the sand.

Any crop on blow sand which does not leave sufficient stalk to prevent blowing may profitably be followed by rye. Peanut growers are urged to make some provision to prevent the blowing of their land.

Preventing land from blowing is just as important as stopping it from washing. Rye as a winter cover crop is just as effective in holding the sand as terraces are in holding water. The man who plants peanuts on blow sand certainly does have need for a "circulating title" to his farm.

George Herring of Flatwoods community broadcast rye on his peanut land last fall and not only prevented any drifting of the sand but had an excellent winter pasture. This crop was plowed under this spring to enrich the soil and help hold moisture. The peas planted on this field have suffered very little from dry weather.

"My rye pasture which was obtained by plowing under rye as the peanuts were dug made me a fine winter pasture and prevented the sand from drifting," says Tom Scott of Cheaney. Mr. Scott pastured his goats, dairy cows and work stock on this rye all during the winter and it did not freeze out as other small grains did.

John McGinnis who is a peanut grower southwest of DeLeon started following his peanuts with rye in 1921 sowing it broadcast and covering with a wide sweep. Last year he averaged 46 bushels of peanuts per acre while others in that section made about 12. His grazing always pays more than the cost of rye seed and expense of planting.

Harry Huddleston of Duster has built up his sand by following peanuts with rye so that in 1929 his peanuts averaged 39 bushels of heavy nuts. He finds that only through this method has peanut growing been profitable.

The rye should be sown late in August or early September if there is a season to bring it up. However it is better planted late than not at all. A peck to the acre is sufficient for early planting. It is better put in with a row drill but may be sown broadcast and covered with a row harrow or wide sweep. If peanuts are dug with a planter rye may be planted in the drill at the same time, thus having the land completely covered. Where the rye is up before the peanuts are dug a bull tongue or other small plant may be used in digging to prevent covering the rye.

Rye is recommended because other small grains frequently freeze out. Seed supply should be arranged for early so that dealers may have some indication of the amount of rye that will be required. Those in doubt should communicate with men who have had experience in planting rye to prevent sand blowing.

Water Green and Other Near White Tones For Newport

By FRANCES PAGET
Copyright, 1930, by Style Sources
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—After careful consideration of the evening gowns worn at Newport this season, one discovers a tacit agreement among the fashionable women in favoring less formal styles in the Casino Theatre, than at dances.

At the theatre, flowered chiffon frocks, with capes and boleros and skirts with long even hems, are worn while at formal dances flat crepe is the favored fabric. In the Casino, with white the outstanding choice, "simple" styles highlighted.

As the season progresses, and all the estates are occupied, with big dinner parties each night and dances each week, white increases its prestige. Black also retains its favor, especially in lace.

Following white, come water-green, pale blue and pale pink, at the theatre and at dances. Brown although not numerically important, is represented in a few smart examples at each social event, generally in lace or net.

In many instances is more in evidence than earlier in the season, and lends itself to semi-princess lines. A few smart women now approve panne velvet evening gowns, also fashioned along princess lines. Frocks of lace or net often have matching jackets.

Green is more in evidence than earlier in the season, and lends itself to semi-princess lines. A few smart women now approve panne velvet evening gowns, also fashioned along princess lines. Frocks of lace or net often have matching jackets.

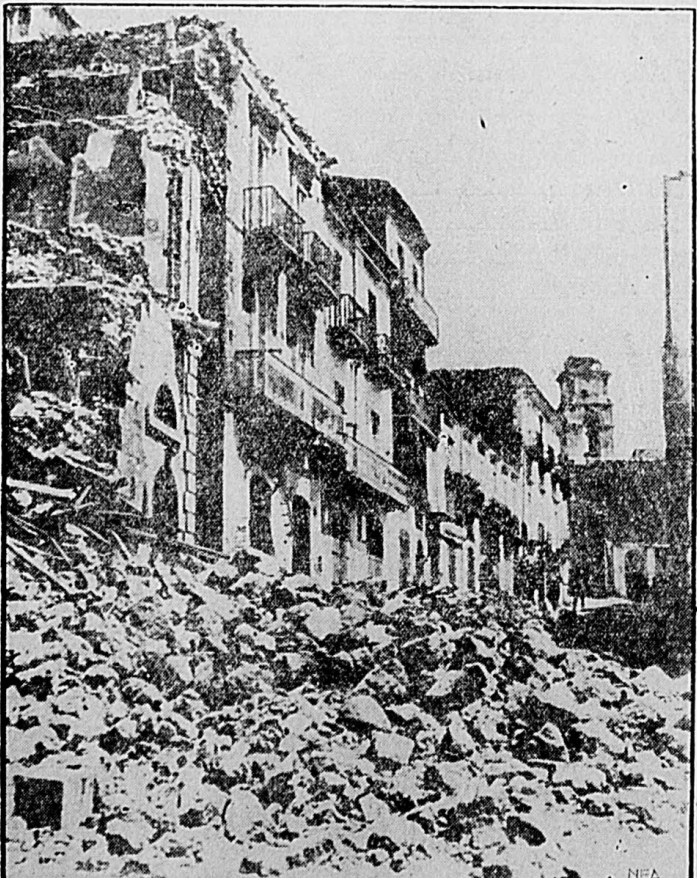

Although the back decolletage is still pronounced and often extreme, a more modified form than hitherto is now preferred in front. The U registers in front, with a choice of U or V at back, with comparatively few square. Draped lines often appear at back, and revers treatments.

Short wraps, of the paleot type, register at all smart gatherings, in sheer velvets or velveteen. Black is favored with white or colored frocks, but colored wraps are also sponsored, either matching the costume or creating a contrast. Thus, one sees an orange velvet wrap with a pale blue chiffon gown and a bright red velvet paleot with
