TESTIMONY STARTS IN SNOOK CASE

Witnesses Tell of Seeing Man and Woman Scuffling—Also of Finding of Girl's Body.

By Morris De Haven Tracy
United Press Staff Correspondent.
COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 2.—Dr. James Howard Snook heard a gruesome story of the death of Theora Hix, his college girl inamorata, recounted in court today. Snook, however, showed not the slightest emotion or even interest. Dr. Joseph Murphy, coroner, described in detail the knife and hammer wounds the autopsy revealed on Miss Hix's body, and dangled her clothing before the jury.
From the point of view of Dr. Snook's defense, the most important development of the morning perhaps proved to be testimony of the coroner and a police photographer that they had found strands of hair between the fingers of Theora's hand when they first saw the body on the rifle range. This hair was described as about six inches long. The coroner thought at first it might be a little lighter than Theora's but then he had compared it with hers and decided it was from her head. Her hair, however, was about 18 inches long.
The hair was lost in the removal of the body.
The defense laid much stress on this point, obviously hoping they might be able to hint that a third person was at the rifle range the night of the murder.
The coroner named the severance of the jugular vein as the cause of death and described it as having been accomplished by the careful opening of the skin and then probing for the vein.
Twelve or 13 hammer wounds on the back of the head, five on the top of the head and a two-inch cut on one shoulder and a three-inch wound in the groin completed the list of injuries which ended Theora's life.

AUGUST 19TH DATE SET BY COMMITTEE

Interest In Boy Scout Work Is Increasing Over District Only Two Towns Do Not Have Troops.

A meeting of the Finance Chairman of all towns in Eastland and Stephens county of the Oil Belt Council was held at Boy Scout headquarters in Eastland Thursday Aug. 1, 8 p. m.
Those present were: Homer Brelsford, chairman of finance committee for Oil Belt Council; Walter Harwell, J. M. Perkins, Dr. L. C. McKnight, A. L. Elliott, M. B. Robertson, W. G. Winters, Alex. Clark.
Since September 1 is the end of the Council's fiscal year. The committee unanimously set August 19 as the date to start the membership campaign to raise funds to defray the expenses of the council for the next fiscal year. All members present were enthusiastic and felt like the small allotment that it will be necessary for each town to raise would be easily obtained. Scouting is growing steadily in the Oil Belt Council. There are only two towns in the two counties that do not have a troop of Scouts. However, we need more troops and more leadership in the larger towns of the Council. More and more men are beginning to realize the significance that the scout program plays in the lives of boys. The council has just ended a very successful camp. All parents who visited the camp this year came back sold on what the Scout program can do for the boy. This was because they saw the program at work.
The Oil Belt Council is just a little over two years old yet there has not been a troop organized in the smaller towns without the request for a troop to be organized coming from that town. This shows that scouting radiates. With most towns with one troop or more organized, we still need to organize more troops in the towns and extend the scouting program to the rural boy through our rural Scout department. To do this, of course, it will take both man power and funds to put over the job.

ARMY BLIMP LANDS ON CAPITOL PLAZA
This remarkable picture shows the landing of an army blimp within a very few feet of the national capitol building at Washington. As Washington officials gasped from astonishment, the army blimp C-41 slid gracefully down to earth on the capitol plaza and allowed Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, who had been transported from Langley Field, Va., to hope out and hurry into the building to an important tariff committee meeting. The blimp descended and then soared aloft without the slightest mishap.

A Nervy Burglar and a Brave Woman

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 2.—Police today strapped their guns on tighter, looked well to the fastenings of their badges, left their jewelry at headquarters and set out to find the city's "crustiest" burglar.
Miss Elizabeth Ledger told a sheepish story to headquarters today. She said she woke up last night and saw a burglar trying to open the window screen.
"I knew right away what he was trying to do so I climbed out of bed and got my revolver and money and placed them under my pillow," Miss Ledger said. "The man had disappeared then, but I man had to give him the surprise of his life when he came back."
"But I fell asleep and when I woke up he had taken the screen from the window, entered my room and stolen my gun and money from under my pillow. But I sure would have taught that burglar a lesson if I hadn't fallen asleep."

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Bail for three women held in connection with the killing of a man in the Gastonia, N. C., textile strike has been furnished, the American Civil Liberties union announced today.
The union said it tried to arrange bonds through a prominent security company but was refused. The organization therefore arranged to get $15,000 cash from the American fund, established some time ago by Charles Garland. The women, Vera Bush, Amy Schechter and Sophie Melbin, will be tried with 13 men at Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 26.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Aug. 2.—Troops at Fort Leavenworth, including crack machine gun squads, were prepared today to cope with any further outbreaks at Leavenworth penitentiary where one prisoner was killed and three others seriously injured in a seven hour riot.
Armed guards patrolled the cell houses. All prisoners were locked up as officials searched for weapons and explosives.
The convicts were supperless last night and breakfastless today. Men working in the kitchens were not allowed out of their cells.
Warden Thomas B. White said an "official" statement would be issued later in the day from Washington.
Trouble had been brewing for some time. Recently a prisoner killed the foreman of the laundry. A quarrel occurred in the shoe shop yesterday.
The prisoners were sullen as they marched into the mess hall at noon. At their plates was Mexican rice. They had complained several times about this dish. Plates began to fly. Windows were broken. The men confined to cells tore up their bedding and sought to wrench the bars.
Guards began to fire into the rioting mob. Mike Martinez, 38, a Mexican sentenced from Texas, was killed.
The prisoners' shouts and the rat-tat-tat of the guns could be heard in Leavenworth, although the penitentiary is a mile outside the city.
Hundreds rushed to the prison. The gates were closed. None was allowed to communicate inside. Anxious wives and children of the guards begged in vain for news. It was hours before they learned no officials nor guards were slain or injured.
Nearly 3,800 men are doing time in the penitentiary which, according to officials, has accommodations for only half that many, there are only 110 guards.

THIRTY-SIX BURNED AS GAS IGNITES

Children Gathered About Overturned Ice Cream Truck, Are Victims.

By UNITED PRESS
TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 2.—Thirty six persons, most of them small children, were burned today when gasoline, leaking from a tank, exploded in an overturned ice cream truck.
Four persons are not expected to live.
The truck, owned by Hilbreth Brothers, was struck by a touring car. The driver of the touring car looked back, saw the truck turn over, and speeded away, according to witnesses.
A crowd gathered, most of whom were children, and scrambled about the machine looking for a free treat. Then, reports say, a man removed the gasoline tank cap. The fuel ran out and leaked into the hot engine. A terrific explosion followed.
Those who doctors say have only a slight chance to live are John Muha, 6, Edna Osach 19, Anna Haj 22, and an unidentified man about 45 years of age.
The driver of the ice cream truck could not at first be found but later was discovered wandering dazed nearby. No trace was found of the man who was supposed to have removed the gasoline tank cap nor of the hit and run driver of the other auto.
The injured were treated at hospitals.

The Graf Zeppelin with fair weather and favorable winds, was pushing across the Atlantic in the vicinity of Azores this afternoon, headed for Lakehurst, N. J. on her journey from Friedrichshafen, Germany.
A report from Ponta Delgada, San Miguel Island, the most easterly of the Azores group, said the Zeppelin was believed to have passed near there at 9:35 a. m. EST. The report, if authentic, indicated that the Zeppelin was averaging better than 50 miles an hour since leaving the coast of Spain at Cadiz at 11:50 p. m. EST Thursday.

Russians Reject China's Proposal For a Conference

By EUGENE LYONS
United Press Staff Correspondent.
MOSCOW, Aug. 2.—Soviet Russia has rejected China's proposal for a conference to settle the current Chinese Eastern railway dispute and has demanded the Mukden government establish the "status quo ante" in Manchuria in connection with the road.
It was announced here today Leo Karakhan, assistant commissar for foreign affairs, in charge of the written proposal from Chang Hsueh-Liang, the young dictator of Manchuria, that the dispute be settled by an immediate conference between the two nations.
Karakhan demanded firstly that Mukden agree to the appointment of a Soviet manager for the Eastern Chinese Railway and secondly that she accept a formula indicating that the seizure of the road by Chinese authorities recently violated the treaties between Russia and China.

Harry J. Leahy Dies In 'Chair'

After Long Fight Pays Penalty for Death of Physician Made No Last Minute Comments.
By UNITED PRESS
HUNTSVILLE, Tex., Aug. 2.—Harry J. Leahy was electrocuted here today for the murder of Dr. J. A. Ramsey, Mathis.
The current was turned on by prison guards at 12:45 a. m., and Leahy was pronounced dead five minutes later.
The condemned man walked to the chair unsupported, seated himself without assistance and turned back the collar of his blue striped prison shirt.
As he was being strapped in, Assistant Night Warden Homer Knight asked Leahy whether he had anything to say. The answer was "No." Then the current was turned on.
Protesting his innocence until the last, Leahy was calm and composed as preparations were made to end his life. In accord with his life as a South Texas rancher he "died with his boots on."
The execution ended one of the most drawn-out legal battles in the state. Ramsey was killed on May 20, 1926, after making what he thought was a professional call.
Some months later Roberto Martinez, who had called the physician to his home to care for a sick sister, was arrested and charged with the murder. It was not until he had made a statement to police that the victim's body was found, buried in a shallow grave.
In his statement Martinez implicated Leahy, who was arrested and tried in Georgetown where he received a sentence of 50 years in prison.
Not satisfied with the verdict, Leahy appealed the case and gained a retrial. At his second trial he was sentenced to death. Since that time the case has been continually in the courts of Texas. Appeal after appeal failed to gain the doomed man a retrial. He was to be executed July 11.
He escaped the death chair by only a few hours on July 11, however when Judge Harry Dolan of Georgetown issued a writ granting a sanity hearing.
But another chance, apparently his last, was gone when the jury pronounced him of sound mind. There remained only application to the court of criminal appeals and Gov. Dan Moody. Desperate last minute efforts to obtain a stay of execution yesterday were unavailing, although Gov. Moody ordered a 30 minute stay of execution when he learned that a writ of habeas corpus was pending before Judge Scott of Waco.
Leahy's wife was at the penitentiary last night before the electrocution and was allowed to talk to the condemned man for a short time. Leahy spent the evening writing letters to friends.

Speaking of the Fruit Fly Laboratory tests made in Florida thus far indicate that while fruit flies from the Mediterranean may be forced to lay eggs in the sour limes grown in certain Florida counties in the citrus district, such eggs fail to develop and die without hatching. Rockefeller Money Won the Prize

John D. Rockefeller Jr. purchased the famous Houdin's famous bust of George Washington made in 1785 at Mt. Vernon and the price paid was $250,000. For more than a century the bust had been in the possession of the Lockers-Lasson family of England. Many attempts have been made by Americans to regain the historic monument. More than a century ago it was taken to England by a Tory member of the family. Now the distinguished son of the founder of the Standard Oil company is the owner of the bust which will be presented to some American museum. Why not to the Mt. Vernon hall of fame?

Dig Up the Dusty Stock

Wall street says millions of dollars worth of long neglected railroad stock are being coaxed from the owners by the rising momentum of new public interest in the reopening ability of the American railroads. It is admitted that the Fallon decision by the supreme court of the United States which held out the hope of higher valuation for railroad property and the dusty corner movement of farmers who are clamoring for relief should dive into dusty corners of their domiciles. In days of influence they may have invested in railroad stocks, and then neglected their securities.

Iron Beds Returned to the State

A decision by Dist. Judge George Callahan cancelled the notes of L. P. Atherton and others and the state's transfer of the iron industry at Rusk, after a 10-year effort of private operators "to develop and operate its iron smelting industry at Rusk." Will this lead to state operation of industry? If so, L. Davidson might be called in to officiate as head master of the works. Think of the record he made as headmaster of the state railway operations.

Connally Calls for Action

Connally did not send his written request that the federal board immediately set up cotton stabilization corporations in preparation for the handling of the 1936 cotton crop, in order to be prepared for any critical situation which might arise when the cotton harvest flooded the market in August.

Connally did not send his written request by a messenger boy. He is his own messenger. He visited federal farm relief headquarters and handed the written appeal to the secretary of the board. Texans are interested. Cotton growers everywhere are interested. George B. Terrell's latest estimate is that the Texas growers will produce a crop of 4,750,000 bales.

They need a marketing system. They need the money to finance the marketing system or to hold the cotton in warehouses when a glut of sellers overwhelms the buyers and prices sag away below the actual cost of production. Now the acid test will be given the Hoover plan for stabilizing the basic products of the country.

GRAF ZEPPELIN WELL ON WAY TO LAKEHURST, N. J.

(Continued from page 1) works denied today a report from Cologne that the Graf Zeppelin was turning back from its voyage to the United States.

Germany's trans-Atlantic dirigible Graf Zeppelin, on its second flight from Friedrichshafen, Germany, to Lakehurst, N. J., was well out over the Atlantic today, pushing steadily westward with normal speed and under excellent weather conditions.

After a day of stormy weather over France and over a part of Spain, the huge dirigible appeared from latest reports to have struck her normal stride and to be making up for the time she lost battling storms over the Rhone valley in France.

Her wireless apparatus began to function normally today after reported difficulty because of static conditions. At 1 a. m. today, EST, the Graf communicated with the radio station at Cadix, Spain, and reported that it was well over the sea, on a line with the coast of Spain, and that the weather conditions were very good.

The Graf at the same time asked to be informed as to the winds in the vicinity of the Azores Islands. She was told that winds were favorable in that vicinity. The inquiry from the ship seemed to settle once and for all the question as to whether Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the flight, would travel by the mid-ocean route or take a northerly direction as soon as the Graf hit out over the sea.

The commander, in a communication to Friedrichshafen last night, stated he would not make up his mind as to the course he would take today until he was several hundred miles out at sea. He said he would be guided in his course entirely by the prevailing weather conditions.

and green bench chair in the court today and heard Clarence R. Murray describe as an alleged eyewitness what the state claimed was the beginning of the death struggle of Theora Hix.

Snook, former Ohio State University professor, is on trial for Theora's murder. "I was driving with my boy past the New York Central rifle range," he said, "on the night of June 12."

"That was the night of the murder. I saw a man and a woman near a blue Ford coupe at the east entrance of the range. He had his arms around her waist like this (he embraced Myron Gessman, state's attorney, to show the jury) and she had her hands on his breast like this (and again he demonstrated on Gessman).

"It was like she was pushing him away. Her hair was down around her shoulders. "When I came along the man let go and went around to the other side of the car and the woman went over and stood beside the car fixing her hair."

"If you saw some scuffling, why didn't you stop?" Attorney John F. Seidel of the defense, asked on cross-examination. "I didn't think it was my business," the witness said. Murray said he had been over the road many times and had seen numerous people there in parked cars.

"Did you ever hear Fisher road called 'Shirital' lane?" "No," said Murray. Paul Krumlauf, the next witness, a lad of 16, told how he and a companion found Theora's body June 14.

"We were preparing to shoot at targets when we saw the body in the grass," the youth said. "She was lying face down, her left hand crooked under the body, the right leg crooked up and the right hand stretched out touching a bloody handkerchief. He said.

Wall Street

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Powerful financial interests joined the public in a wave of buying on the New York stock exchange today, forcing principal stocks into new high territory.

Dozens of issues swept to new records, and the trading took on proportions of the Coolidge and Hoover bull markets of last year. Ticklers were running behind the market.

Railroad shares joined the industrials in the afternoon and resumed the rise that was interrupted a short time ago in that group. Excitement began at the opening gong and gathered momentum as the day wore on.

In early trading crowds in the board rooms had the pleasure of seeing the favorites—steel, American Telephone and Westinghouse—cross into record territory. These crowds were augmented later in the day in time to witness further demonstrations that showed the most powerful financial interests in America were backing their opinions on the market with billions of dollars.

Stock and stock rose to its best levels in months, many for all time and dealings once more took on the proportions of a rising market.

DISPOSAL OF BRINE A PROBLEM

U. S. Government Representatives Make Study of the Subject.

The disposal of the brines produced with crude petroleum and natural gas which have long been a source of trouble to oil and gas operators as well as to farmers and stock-raisers in the vicinity of producing fields, has been studied by the United States Bureau of Mines, Department of Commerce.

duce the water production. Also in wells where the water enters from the lower part of the producing sand there is a definite margin of depth to which the water can be pumped off without reducing the oil production.

As a general rule, the chlorides of sodium, magnesium, and calcium predominate in oil-field brines. Sulphate and bicarbonate combinations are not unusual.

The evaporation pond is by far the most commonly used means of handling salt water, mainly because of the comparatively low initial and operating costs.

The evaporation pond should be free from surface drainage. The evaporative surface should be increased to the maximum possible, and the depth should be held at a minimum consistent with the required storage facilities.

Wind should have free access from all sides. B. S. and oil should not be allowed to accumulate on the surface of the pond.

Although proper cementing methods and other types of repair work will decrease greatly the amount of water produced with the oil, nevertheless, even after the completion of the well repairs, appreciable quantities of brines which require disposal, are frequently found to exist.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT LIONS?

THE DAUGHTER OF AN OLD FRIEND IS COMING TO STAY AT THE GUNNS FOR A FEW WEEKS. THE LAST TIME MOM LAY DOWN ON THIS YOUNGESTER SHE WAS A BABY AND MOM IS UNDER THE IMPRESSION THAT SHE WILL MAKE A LITTLE PLAYMATE FOR AMY

AMY, COME AND GET DRESSED. IT'S TIME TO GO TO THE TRAIN TO MEET PHYLLIS

LOTS I KNOW!! FACT IS, I OFTEN LAID RIGHT DOWN WITH 'EM—EVEN SLEPT RIGHT AMONG 'EM!!

WHY OSCAR PLETZENBAUM!!! HOW CAN YOU FIB LIKE THAT? YOU SLEPT WITH LIONS???

WELL, I DID—THEY WERE DANDELIONS!

YOU ARE KNOWING THAT THAT'S GUY!

HE'LL HAVE YOU ROLLER SKATING DOWN Broadway to help Grover Whalen solve his traffic problems. Or maybe he'll think up some back-to-nature stunt for you. Once he wanted me to go into the Maine woods, and live on berries and bark.

Molly squirmed. "I couldn't do anything very exciting," she confessed, "because my parents are awfully old-fashioned, and they've had just about all they can stand already."

"Oh, we won't ask you to do anything too bad," assured Mr. Durbin. "By the way, I don't think you're a very good business woman, Miss Burnham. You haven't asked anything about royalties."

"But anything you say is all right," she exclaimed. "I'm so happy to have you produce my play, that nothing else counts."

Mr. Durbin smiled. "I'll have to be generous after that," he declared.

Molly had no idea of splits or receipts. "I don't even know the difference between net and gross," she confided. "Anything will be quite all right. But could you give me the vaguest notion of how much actual money I may get out of it?"

Mr. Durbin raised his eyebrows. "Well, there's Ann Nichols," he said. "They say she's made a couple million. And then there are all the plays that flop—the countless, countless failures. There's no telling, Miss Burnham. Maybe you'll make some money. Perhaps a lot. And then again maybe you won't."

"Well, I'm thrilled to death any how," she told him.

Hysterically gay, she telephoned Jack from a booth in the lobby. "Oh, Jack! Jack! Mr. Durbin's going to take my play. Isn't that wonderful!"

But Jack's enthusiasm was tempered. "That's fine," he declared. "How've you been, Molly?"

"Oh, great! I'm dying to see you. I've so much to tell you. Gee, Jack, I'm about thrilled to death. Isn't it just too wonderful to be true?"

"I told you you'd make a career for yourself," he reminded her. "I guess you're getting the breaks for both of us, honey."

"Aren't things going well with you?"

"Not so hot," he told her. "Maybe my old girl will give me a job around the theater."

"Don't joke that way," she protested. "You know, Jack Wells that you're going to design some great library, or something, and Stanford White. Listen, Jack, I'm hungry. Let's have luncheon together, and I'll tell you about Mr. Durbin and Delphine Darrows."

There was a second's silence. Then, hesitatingly, Jack said, "I'm awfully sorry, Molly. I'm going out to Westchester this afternoon."

"You don't want to take me?" she cried.

"I didn't say that."

"No, but you meant it. You know perfectly well you could see me if you wanted to. Why, Jack, it's been weeks and weeks!"

"I know. But we made an agreement before you went away, Molly. There's no good seeing each other, honey."

"All right. I won't ever telephone you again, Jack. I won't bother you any more."

"Now, Molly! Don't be like that," he besought.

"Maybe you'll come to the opening night of my play?" she inquired politely.

"Why, of course I will. I'll send you flowers," he promised.

"I'll send you tickets," she gulped. "D—down I—front."

She wondered why she wanted to cry. Jack was simply being hateful. Of course he could take her to luncheon if he wanted. He hadn't have been afraid she'd make love to him. Just as if they couldn't be friends, even if he are filming it now for the talking movie. The fame of Molly has swept from coast to coast. There are five companies on the road now. And the original cast is opening in London in the fall.

Do you remember reading of the opening night, and how they called on Molly for a speech? Her mother and father were sitting down front with Jack. He had met them at the station, after Molly sent him word that she did not want to see any of them until after the final curtain.

Molly was so nervous that night that Red Flynn was sure she was going to faint. She had bought a green gown, with pearls like frosted dew drops gleaming on its bodice. And she wore a cap of pearls on her red hair. They say she looked like a medieval princess, with her long, full skirt, and her little jeweled slippers, and the strands, on strands of pearls she her arms full of flowers, a pearl cap on sideways, all face all flushed and beautiful. Then Molly opened her eyes and tried to speak.

New immigration regulations which go into effect Aug. 2 require such a letter in order that the tourist may secure a courtesy passport. These rules will apply along the entire Mexican border, and unless the tourist provides himself with this letter he must go through the red tape of securing a consular passport at the port of entry.

Ray Leeman, general manager of the South Texas Chamber of Commerce, has presented to the Mexican authorities in Mexico City, a proposal to allow the three regional chambers of commerce operating in Texas the right to issue courtesy cards to its members, and this matter is now under consideration.

The new Mexican immigration regulations are understood to be part of the program of President Portes Gil of Mexico to clean up conditions in border towns and eliminate the undesirable and criminal element from this country which has been the source of much trouble along the border. The Mexican government declares that reputable tourists from this country are welcomed by Mexico, and that every courtesy will be extended to make their visit to the Southern Republic pleasant but such tourists must present a letter from their home town officials vouching for them before they will be allowed to enter. Local chambers of commerce at border points will be allowed a supply of courtesy cards to be issued under supervision of the Mexican consuls.

TEXAS LEAGUE

San Antonio stayed the game yesterday with Wichita Falls with indications of winning by grabbing five runs in the first two innings but the Spudders staged an eighth inning rally to win the third straight game of the series 9 to 5 and remain leaders of the league.

Shreveport scored four runs in the sixth yesterday after Beaumont had scored three times in the second and won the battle, 4 to 3. Holman hit a homer with two men on to give the Sports three of the four tallies.

Waco made a desperate effort to keep up with Ft. Worth yesterday but it was all in vain for the Panthers were hitting right. The Cubs went down like a rock as the Panthers won, 11 to 1.

Dallas had won two of the previous games of the three-game series with Houston, but yesterday the Buffs thought it was time to change, and blanked the Steers, 3 to 0. The Houstonians bunched four hits in the seventh to get their scores.

ST. FRANCIS XAVIER CHURCH

This is the eleventh Sunday after Pentecost and the gospel is from St. Mark VII. 31-35. In this gospel we are told that Christ took a deaf and dumb man apart from the multitude and putting his fingers into his ears, and spitting he touched his tongue and said: Ephpheta, which is thou opened, and immediately the dumb heard and spoke. As regards the tongue, employ it for the honor of God and for that which is good and salutary for yourself and your neighbor. Love to speak of God and heavenly things and of what is edifying and instructive to your neighbor; teach the ignorant, correct the erring, comfort the afflicted, counsel the doubtful, carefully guard against the sins of the tongue, such as cursing, swearing, blasphemy, lies, perjury, whispering, detraction, calumny, slander, scoffing, railery, and impure words and songs. "The tongue also is a little member, and boasteth great things. Behold how small a fire what a great wood it kindleth; and the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity." James III 5-7. The half of all vices may be charged to the account of the tongue said St. Gregory Nazianzen. "He that keepeth his mouth, keepeth his soul; but he that hath no guard on his speech, shall meet with evils." Proverbs XIII 3.

Says Orgatone Is Only Thing That Relieved Him After Suffering Five Years

"Orgatone did me more good than all the other medicines I took put together," said W. B. Murphy, manager of the Rockwell Brothers Lumber Co., and residing at 305 W. 4th Street, Breckenridge, Texas, a few days ago. "I suffered with indigestion and stomach trouble five years," continued Mr. Murphy, "and although I had a good appetite I couldn't seem to digest a thing I ate. Every thing just seemed to sour on my stomach and I was tired and worn out from one day to the other. My stomach was just all torn up and any worse. I had gas on my stomach kind of acid food made it so I had some times it couldn't hardly get my breath. The gas would trouble me just a short while after eating and I would feel all bloated up. This trouble seems worse at night after supper, than even when I was ready to retire I would feel at times like I was going to smother and couldn't get my breath. I tried many other medicines for this trouble but they gave me no relief, and I thought I was going to have to give up trying to get well again. I read in the papers a lot of statements from people who had troubles very much like mine and they told how they had been relieved by using Orgatone, so I decided to try it. "Well I took the medicine regularly and faithfully and I must say that I am more than pleased with the results. It certainly did me more good than all the other medicines put together. The gas doesn't form on my stomach hardly at all now and my breathing is now as free and easy as it ever was and I'm not bothered with that bloated up feeling any more. Orgatone certainly did me a world of good and I believe it will help others as much as it has helped me. I certainly do recommend Orgatone and I am glad to come out with this public statement about it."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called secret remedy but a new scientific bile treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs manufactured by one of the greatest laboratories and sold in Eastland exclusively by the Toombs & Richard son Drug Co.

CANINES NEEDED TO CURB BEARS

YOSEMITE VALLEY, Calif.—Three shepherd dogs with "a firm but kindly regard for bears and a deep-rooted instinct for the safety of tourists" can find a home by applying to Colonel Thompson, superintendent of Yosemite park. The need arose as the result of tourists being frightened by the park bears. Colonel Thompson actually wants the three dogs, he says. The will be the first dogs to have the freedom of the park. Picnicking tourists have been given several scares recently by the bears and Colonel Thompson wants the dogs to chase the bears away from visiting parties. Bruin insists on being fed by every group of visitors they encounter. On a number of occasions they have damaged automobiles and frightened pleasure-seekers in their quest for food.

PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE WARNS OF 18-DAY DIET

By United Press. WASHINGTON—Harm may result from the indiscriminate use by young girls and others of special diets without consulting a physician, the United States public health service said in commenting on the current 18-day diet fad. "The best way to reduce," the service said, is to eat less of your regular diet without leaving out any of the essential items of body-building food. A simple reduction in the amount a person consumes will have effective results and can do no harm.

"In special dieting systems where certain essential foods are eliminated from the menu for a certain period, harm may result to persons who are not robust or who need a well-balanced and wholesome diet. Special diets should not be adopted without consulting a physician." The origin of the ubiquitous "18-day diet" is in doubt. It has been claimed without any apparent justification that the regime was originated in Hollywood by a specialist called in to remove tonnage from a movie queen. There were other reports, later denied

Women Flyers Await Big Cross-Country Race

More than 25 feminine pilots are expected to hop off from Los Angeles Aug. 18 in a race for women flyers, terminating at Cleveland, O., where the National Air Races will then be in progress. Seven of the best known women pilots now preparing for the race are pictured here: 1. Bobbie Trout; 2. Marvel Crosson; 3. Mrs. Louise Thader; 4. Amelia Earhart; 5. Mrs. Florence Barnes; 6. Lady Mary Heath; 7. Ruth Elder. En route stops will be made at Yuma and Phoenix, Ariz., El Paso, Abilene and Fort Worth, Tex., Wichita, Kas., St. Louis and Columbus.

By NEA Service. LOS ANGELES.—The greatest sporting event for women ever held anywhere will get under way at the Santa Monica airport here on Aug. 18, when 55 women pilots take off in a 2200-mile aerial race to Cleveland.

This transcontinental air derby for women, the first of its kind ever staged, will be an eight-day affair, and will bring the women pilots into Cleveland on the second day of the National Air races there.

Its course will take the women over 19 states and through 18 cities.

Starting at Santa Monica's Clover Field, the race will follow a southern route through New Mexico, Arizona, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. There will be 18 stopping points, and cash prizes totaling $6000 and $10,000 are offered for the winners. In addition, the first woman pilot to reach the Cleveland airport will receive a trophy, the "Symbol of Flight."

Some of the most famous women flyers in the world will be among the contestants. Lady Mary Heath, whose aviation feats amazed all of England will be one of the racers. So will Amelia Earhart, only woman to cross the Atlantic by plane; Ruth Elder, who nearly beat Miss Earhart to it, but was halted by motor trouble in mid-Atlantic and rescued by a cargo steamer; Miss Marvel Crosson, who holds the women's altitude record; Miss

Bobby Trout, who held the altitude record until Miss Crosson broke it—and many others of only slightly less prominence. Sponsored by Exchange Club. This race, incidentally, is being sponsored by the Santa Monica Bay District Exchange Club, under the auspices of the National Exchange Club and the National Aeronautic Association, and the 18 control stops designated for the race are being planned, as far as possible, to fall in cities where there are Exchange clubs, which can thus partake in the race themselves. Every plane in the race will bear the exchange club emblem. An ingenious method of financing the race has been adopted by the Santa Monica club. Parking space for automobiles at Clover Field is being sold at one dollar per car to spectators desirous of seeing the start of the race, and accommodations for more than 2000 cars have been arranged. It is expected that at least 100,000 spectators will see the race begin. This race will be a real test of the skill and airmanship of the women pilots. The crossing of the mountains in the southwest does not offer as many hazards as the more northerly routes, but it is no job for a novice. Under almost any conditions, 2200 miles of cross-country flying can be considered a fairly stiff for any but a professional aviator. They'll Take No Men. When the race was first provehemently that the diet was sponsored by Ethel Barrymore, by the celebrated Mayo clinic, by a prominent Vinnesse physician. There is a suspicion, too, that the diet is the work of an acute press agent for a citrus growers' organization. The frequency with which grapefruit and oranges appear accounts for this theory. At any rate the results of the diet are at variance. Some dieters have lost as much as a pound a day; others have gained weight. The general average, however, seems to be a loss of nine or 10 pounds. Deleterious effects of the diet noticed in some cases include acidosis and an attack of boils.
