Ends Long Effort.

The action of the Texas electorate Tuesday in accepting the proposed constitution amendment for increasing the governor's salary from $4,000 to $10,000 while not yet officially recognized, ended an effort of several years standing to give the chief executive a salary increase.

Unofficial returns from more than 100 counties and cities throughout the state showed today that the two amendments had passed by a majority of almost 2 to 1, the earlier margin of 3 to 1 having been reduced by the vote of the rural districts, especially the Panhandle.

One Car is Submerged in Creek; Nearly 500 Aboard Chicago-Denver Crack Express.

STRATTON, Colo., July 18.—Crashing through a bridge that had been undermined by a storm, a crack west-bound passenger express of the Rock Island railroad went hurtling into a creek below early today bringing instant death to many of its passengers.

First reports from the accident scene, near here, placed the number of dead at fourteen. Others badly injured were expected to die.

Death came suddenly and with a terrible force to most of the sleeping victims. Few had any chance to escape or any forewarning of the disaster until the train, dropping to the creek below, jarred them awake.

They were caught and held tight in the twisted wreckage of their pullman berths.

One car was submerged completely in the waters of Spring creek. It was a sleeper from St. Louis to Colorado Springs, seven sleepers and a porter were aboard. Railroad inspectors here feared all eight were drowned.

Nine cars in all were derailed. Bodies were taken to Limon, Colo., east of Colorado Springs. Eight of them were reported to have been brought there by 9 a. m. today.

County Receives $600 From Fair Of Texas State

Banks In Fifth Place In Exhibits at the End of Three-Year Aid County Clubs.

Eastland county is in receipt of a check for $600 from the state fair officials. The check has just been received by County Agent J. C. Patterson.

This check and nine others are the financial outcome of a development contest begun three years ago by the state fair of Texas, with the view to encouraging consistent high class exhibits from the counties of Texas at the fair each year.

Mr. Patterson says. The contest as originally conceived was to have covered a period of five years, with $10,000 to be paid at the end of that time to the counties ranking highest in exhibits over the five-year period.

County exhibits over the state, however, became so consistently of high merit each year that it was decided to pay off the counties ranking highest at the end of three years, on a three-fifths basis.

Mr. Patterson says. Therefore, $10,000 has been paid to the ten highest ranking counties on this basis, according to their standing in the matter of exhibits at the end of the three-year period.

Eastland county stands fifth. Other ranking counties, with the amounts received by each, are listed below:

Harrison, first $1,500; Cass, second, $1,200; Rusk, third $600; Hunt fourth $500; Collin sixth $300; Brown seventh $300; Van Zandt eighth $300; Ellis ninth $300; and Henderson tenth $300.

Progress in the merit of exhibits from these counties and others reached in three years a standard which was not anticipated in five, according to J. A. Moore, superintendent of the agricultural department of the Texas state fair.

"The money received by Eastland county will be handled with the effort to make it a revolving, growing fund and is to be expended for the county welfare and club activities on the same basis as awarded—that is, 50 per cent to the building up and fostering the county exhibits, 25 per cent for the boys' clubs, and 25 percent for the girls' clubs.

No part of the amount will be spent without authorization of the committee in charge of it. This committee is composed of County Agent J. C. Patterson; Miss Ruth Ramsey, county home demonstration agent; J. E. T. Peters, secretary of the Cisco Chamber of Commerce; W. C. Hickey, secretary of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce; and Mrs. Lee Burkhead, representative of the women's home demonstrations of Eastland county.

Texas Swept By Heat Wave

Temperature Here Goes to 102 Mark Yesterday; 101 Today.

Heat swept down on Texas yesterday and set new high record temperatures for 1929. Cities all over the state reported temperatures well over the 100-mark, the highest being 107, which record was reached at Wichita Falls and Borger. The temperature in Eastland reached the 102-mark yesterday afternoon, the highest mark of the year. Today it mounted to the 101 mark.

At Wichita Falls the high mark was reached after 16 consecutive days of weather over 95 degrees. The thermometer at the bureau of mines tank test at Borger reported 107 degrees at 3 o'clock. On top of the tanks the mark rose to 130 degrees, it was said.

At Greenville the temperature rose to 105 for the first time this year. Amarillo reported the year's high with 106 degrees; Gainesville reported 105 degrees.

Other cities above the 100 mark were Texarkana, San Angelo, Abilene and Waco. None were known to have been proscribed by the excessive heat.

FLORIDA IN THE DESERT— HE TAKES NO HEAD, STOPS FER A MINNIT, LOCO WEED!

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 18.—A blanket of clouds and a southerly breeze soothes the blistering western central portion of Oklahoma today with the result that temperature tumbles 30 degrees from a record high of 104 degrees late yesterday to 74 degrees today.

The forecast: cooler with possible showers. The mercury broke several all-time records and also several thermometers in Oklahoma yesterday.

Anadarko reported the highest treading in the state with 112 degrees. One death occurred at Muskogee when Robert F. Klatt, geologist, collapsed near an oil well.

SWEETWATER, July 18.—Cotton and feed crops in West Texas have suffered greatly from the intense heat of the past three days, crop experts said here today.

The mercury passed the 100 mark for the first time this year last Tuesday. Yesterday the temperature reached 103, and tourists were forced to stop here in middle of the afternoon when the weather was at its worst.

Cotton and feed wilt each day under the strong sun rays, but show new life every morning. The crops will suffer to a great extent if the hot weather continues, experts said.

Citizens of New Orleans Boycott Street Car Company

NEW ORLEANS, July 18.—Wanting hope for any immediate settlement of the New Orleans street car strike today was accompanied by discovery of 13 unexploded sticks of dynamite under the principal gas main leading into the city.

Public Service company officials met the union offer for arbitration with an announcement that full service with strikebreakers would be resumed "within a day or two." The action was considered tantamount to a refusal of the company to accept the union offer.

Discovery of the dynamite created a furor in official and domestic circles of the city. Officials of the car company announced the explosive was found tightly wrapped in a newspaper. Its failure to explode was attributed "only to a defective fuse."

The incident was deplored today by Edwin Poyroux, president of the car men's union here, who asserted it had no connection whatever with the existence of a strike here.

"We have cautioned our men against violence of any kind," he said, "and I do not believe any of them were responsible for this in any way."

Public Service company officials refused further comment except to say that they had placed the matter in the hands of the police.

NEW ORLEANS, July 18.—Citizens of New Orleans have come to the aid of striking union car men by invoking a boycott against the Public Service company until such time as the strike is adjudicated.

Sympathy for the car men's position was revealed today in many quarters as car service was resumed out of all Public Service company barns.

The public was not riding. Jimmyneys and family automobiles still carried the majority of workers to their jobs.

Report Dynamiting Attempt. An attempt to dynamite the pipe line of the Southern Gas and Fuel company, which supplies the entire city with natural gas, was reported by officials of the Public Service company today.

Officials of the company said a line patrolman had discovered 13 sticks of dynamite under the main line and that they had failed to explode only because of a faulty fuse.

Two striking car men were arrested for allegedly attacking a man and four women who were returning from a visit to the strike breaker camp near Poland avenue barn. Two cases of brick throwing were the only other disturbances reported.

GLIMPSES OF ACTION AT DENVER

A. A. U.-records went skittering all over the place when these athletes put on their act during the recent championship tourney at Denver. The high jumper at the top is Bert Nelson of Butler, setting a new A. A. U. high jump record at six feet 4 7/8 inches. The pole vaulter is Harold McAtee of Michigan State clearing the bar at 13 feet 4 3/4 inches, a new junior record. Richard Barber of the Los Angeles A. C. pictured above in the broad jump, just missed a new mark by a fraction of an inch. He leaped 24 feet 2 1/2 inches. Jed Welsh of the Los Angeles A. C. is shown finishing the 129 yard high hurdles in 14.9, a new junior championship record.

Diver Makes 200 Trips To Sunken Ship, But Still It Sticks To the Bottom.

MOBILE, Ala.—His career of more than a quarter of a century as a submarine diver has dealt out many rare experiences for Van Morgan, nearly all of them beyond the range of the landlubber's life and some of them too hazardous to be comfortable.

Yet in all his experience, in which he has explored beneath the surface of the water in many climes, he has never encountered a job to equal his pace-setting record in the raising operations of the sunken Spanish steamship Manuela Pla.

This lumber-laden freighter sank close beside its wharf in Mobile harbor three years ago last January. In the repeated attempts to raise the vessel, Morgan has made more than 200 diving trips in surveys, inspections, examinations, cargo-unloading and other under-water work on the submerged vessel. Since October, 1927, when he was first employed on the job, Morgan has put in approximately 150 diving days, going down twice or more many days.

The steamer has been lifted eight or ten feet recently by hydraulic pressure by the use of jacks and cables after massive girders were extended across the bow and stern from the wharf to clusters of piling driven on the outer edge of the vessel. Progress was halted when it became necessary to refasten the rear cable, which lost its grip when the rudder apparatus to which it was attached broke away.

Previously two wrecking crews had tried unsuccessfully to dislodge the sunken vessel from the watery berth it has occupied for more than three years.

Morgan started out as a diver in 1900 and his occupation has carried him on under-water explorations in salvaging and other work in many parts of the world, but no other sunken ship has ever summoned him into his bulky waterproof outfit on anything like the number of times this one has.

His work as a diver has placed him close to injury or death on several occasions. Once, aboard the Manuela Pla, he was more than an hour extricating himself after he had been pinned hard against the inside walls 20 feet or more under water by a floating stack of lumber in one of the holds. Morgan has relieved the vessel of much of its lumber cargo, although a considerable quantity still remains in the holds.

A railroad alongside whose wharf it sank is seeking the removal of the vessel because of the obstruction it presents there.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's hero: Hal Haid, St. Louis pitcher who held the New York Giants to four hits and enabled the Cardinals to score their second straight victory at New York 6 to 1. The Cardinals made 13 hits off Benton and Scott.

The Chicago Cubs gained half a game on the Pittsburgh Pirates by taking a one-sided victory from the Philadelphia Nationals, 16 to 3, at Philadelphia. Charley Root was the winning pitcher.

The Pirates wasted an afternoon by splitting a twin bill at Boston. After losing the first game, 7 to 4, the league leaders came back to win the second, 13 to 5. Grimes, leading southpaw of the league, was ineffective in the first game but Kremer held the Braves safely in the second.

The Brooklyn Robins turned the tables on the Cincinnati Reds by winning the final series at Brooklyn, 10 to 5. Then the Robins blasted 17 hits off Ash, Ehrhardt and Donohue.

The New York Yanks gave an impressive demonstration of how a world's championship team can be at times in dropping a 10-inning decision at Detroit, 9 to 8. Three errors enabled Detroit to score four runs in the ninth and tie the score.

Walter Miller held the Philadelphia Athletics almost helpless at Cleveland while the Indians won a 5 to 2 victory. He allowed only six hits and the A's tossed in three errors for good measure.

Burke held the White Sox scoreless for seven innings at Chicago and Washington won, 6 to 2. Feible rallies in the eighth and ninth gave the Sox their two runs.

The Boston Red Sox were unable to solve the offerings of Sam Gray, at St. Louis and the Browns won a shutout victory, 4 to 0. The winners made only nine hits off Ruffing and Lisenbee.

Old Dramas Still Provoke Weeping

The sophisticated audiences of today want to laugh instead of cry, as did those of 20 years ago—but they still shed tears at the old sob dramas, declares Robert E. Sherwood, film critic. Taking the recently revived Madame X as an example, he points out in McCall's for August:

"The most popular type of play, 20 and more years ago, was the so-called 'sob-drama' which was aimed directly at the audience's lachrymal glands. In those tender and sentimental days, before the birth of sophistication and skepticism, people went to the theatre for the purpose of enjoying a good cry, and the success of a play was measured by the number of snuffles and catches in the throat that it evoked and the pocket handkerchiefs that it caused to be put into action.

"Whatever the explanation of this phenomenon, the fact remains that Madame X, one of the sobbiest of the sob dramas, has lately been revived in talking picture form, and it is now just exactly as devastating in its effect on the emotions as it was in the dark ages of 20 years ago. Modern audiences may imagine that they are amply protected by the armor-plate of sophistication, but the word 'mother' still manages to strike a sensitive spot.

"It is my belief that the importance of musical numbers in talking pictures has been vastly over-estimated. The progress made in straight dramatic stories, such as The Letter, Alibi, The Voice of the City, The Trial of Mary Dugan, Coquette, and Madame X, should be sufficient to prove that it is not necessary to sing a 'mammy' song in order to stimulate the emotions of an audience often interested in a picture without benefit of music."

THE'S THE NURSE FOR FIFTEEN HUNDRED MONKEYS

Los Angeles Girl Finds Them Much Easier to Care for Than Humans. Says They Don't Complain as Often and They Show Appreciation.

Miss Peggy Maner and one of her Simian patents.

LOS ANGELES—Being nurse to some 1500 monkeys of all ages and breeds is not half the task it sounds, according to Miss Peggy Maner, who sees to the health of her simian charges at the Los Angeles Monkey Farm here.

Miss Maner says she would rather take care of a dozen monkeys through sickness than one human—and she knows whereof she speaks. Her nursing experience has been varied and wide. She has worked in several large hospitals and served with the Red Cross during the World War, when she was wounded while on duty near the front.

"They Don't Complain "The poor monkey is a much maligned creature," she explained. "Everyone looks down upon them as being a lot of chattering, screaming, absolutely unnecessary evils, but people don't know them as I do.

"It is an accepted fact that one never knows a fellow man until he has taken care of a dozen monkeys. People when ill are prone to be querulous, quick tempered, inflicting their ill feeling on those about them and in general hard to get along with. But the monkey is different.

"He has a capacity for patient suffering that it would do us well to imitate when ill. "Not that he lacks a mode of expression. For from ill. Every movement of a monkey's face betrays some emotion, and the sounds they utter sometimes closely approach a language. I'm sure they do talk, if we could only understand them.

"They are so human. And the babies—they are the cutest things in the world. I've seen many a child come into the world to be comforted nearly as good-looking as some of these baby monkeys. They're No Disgrace "Of course, I believe in evolution. No one who has known monkeys as I do could disbelieve in

Yes, They Still Shoot Bears And Panthers Down in Texas!

By NEA Service FORT DAVIS, Texas. — The sovereign State of Texas, which has a huge population, a network of fine automobile roads, a lot of big cities and many other refinements of a complex industrial civilization, is still a state where the term "wild life" means something besides a hectic evening in a night club.

In other words, Texas is a great state for the big game hunters—and in the person of Mac Sproul, veteran Fort Davis rancher, it has one of the most accomplished hunters in the country.

Since the beginning of the century Sproul has killed exactly 100 panthers, or mountain lions, in the mountains near Fort Davis. In addition, he has killed in the same territory 130 bears.

That record wasn't all rolled up in the early days of the century, either. Sproul only recently added the last trophies to his collection. And he says there is plenty of big game left for any sportsman who cares to come and try his luck and skill at the job.

Sproul killed his first bear when he was just 13 years old. And his son Bob, who is now 13, has also killed a bear—killed it over a year ago, in fact, sighting a big 30-30 rifle across a boulder as coolly as a veteran.

Mrs. Sproul, also, is a hunter, and has a bear and a panther to her credit. She shot the panther on a hillside too steep for her horse to ride down. So she hurried down the slope to keep the dogs from tearing the skin of the dead animal. She got there just as one of the dogs did, and just as she was pulling the dog off the three of them—dog, panther and huntress—began to roll down the hill.

"We rolled and tumbled all the way to the bottom," she says. "The dog was wild, the other dogs were chasing us, and the panther, being warm, felt as if it must be alive. It was on me half the time, and I didn't know whether I was to be clawed and chewed or not. And then after we got down I had to fight off the rest of the pack, so as to protect the panther's skin, until Mac got there."

Incidentally, Mac doesn't kill bears and panthers for sport. It's a business matter. Mac is a rancher, and bears and panthers get their living by razing the ranchers' livestock, and therefore a rancher must keep these predatory rovers in check. Mac's most recent panther hunt, when he bagged his 100th panther, is a sample of the killing and Mac Marshall to get $182,000 hotel.

McAdoo Cheers Endurance Flyers

William Gibbs McAdoo, war-time secretary of the treasury, who sponsored the record-breaking endurance flight of Loren Mendell and B. B. Reinhart, is shown here with Mrs. Reinhart waving a cheering salute as the flyers whirred above the Culver City airport. The flyers came down after setting a record of 246 hours 43 minutes and 32 seconds in the air.

Dallas Is Dry City, Says Mayor

DALLAS, Texas, July 16. — Dallas is the driest city of its size in the United States," stoutly declared Mayor J. Waddy Tate, apropos the article appearing in Collier's purporting to show conditions of liquor law enforcement in Dallas.

"Officers spend so much time hunting the bootlegger that major criminals like the murdered and the hijacker often escape," Mayor Tate said. "People seem to have lost all sense of proportion in the matter of crime."

"If drinking is prevalent in Dallas the liquor is brought in by the contractors from other places. The Dallas police force and the city officials are making every effort to enforce all laws" Tate said.

MOTORISTS FACE 4-CENT GASOLINE TAX MONDAY

AUSTIN, July 17. — Texas motorists will face a four-cent-a-gallon tax on gasoline Monday, Governor Moody said today that he will file the bill so it will be effective then.

Delay in action upon it has been for two purposes. One was to study the contention that exemptions fixed in the bill violate the constitution. The other was to permit time to prepare necessary forms for operation of the law and have it start at a half month.

The exceptions are for gasoline not used in propelling vehicles using roads or streets. Rebate affidavits are required. Many local motorists were "filling their tanks" today in expectation of increased prices Monday.

FOUR BUILDINGS BURN AT COVINGTON TOWN

HILLSBORO, July 17. — The entire business section of Covington, in the western part of Hill county, was threatened early today by fire which started at 3 a. m.

The building housing the First State bank was entirely destroyed, together with the J. D. Jones mercantile establishment, the Fuller Drug Store and the Wiseman and Parrish Grocery store. Estimates on the amount of damage were unobtainable, but the loss will run into the thousands of dollars. Fire departments from Cleburne and Hillsboro went to the aid of the Covington volunteer crew, but were severely handicapped by lack of a water pressure system. A back brigade was formed and prevented the entire town from being wiped out.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

MOLLY BURNHAM, pretty and clever, has inherited $10,000, paraded with her sweetheart, and found herself a job—all in a day or two.

The money was a legacy left by an old aunt, and Molly received word of her good fortune the day she was graduated from college. Almost immediately she began to argue. Jack works in an architect's office on meager salary. Molly suggests that they be married on her inheritance, and his pride is outraged.

With RITA MELNOTTE, her best friend, Molly goes in quest of a position. Finally, when she is quite discouraged, the city editor of the ninth newspaper office she has visited offers a try-out as Inquiring Reporter. Joyfully she accepts.

Jack hates to think of Molly working and they quarrel. But, in the end, they make up, and Jack gives Molly a little diamond he has bought for her. A tragedy happens when the tiny ring falls over the side of the boat in which they are rowing. Molly cries, and Jack comforts her. And later she goes with him to his room to help him pack.

NO WGO ON WITH THE STORY

Molly helped Jack fold his things—his pajamas, his other suit, his dinner coat.

CHAPTER VII

Molly helped Jack fold his things. His underclothes and pajamas. His other suit. And his dinner coat. She rolled his socks in neat little balls. And wrapped his shoes in tissue paper, so they wouldn't soil his nice clean suits. Then she pulled a ribbon from her lingerie, and tied it around the letters she had sent him.

And he showed her his book of snapshots, and a family group in a silver frame. His mother had white hair, and was rather regal looking. Molly supposed she'd meet her before very long, although Jack confessed he had not told the family that he had a sweetheart.

"Mother'd only worry," he declared. "She thinks modern girls are something fierce. I want to tell her I can show you off properly."

"But Jack," she was a little bit. "I should think you'd WANT to tell her about me, dear. I've got MY family every blessed thing about YOU. They know your eyes are blue. And that you've a cow-boy. And broad shoulders. And that you played football and hockey. My goodness, they know EVERYTHING!"

"Well, I'd rather knock my head when they get a look at you," he declared. "There's no use getting them steamed up. They'll fall for you, soon as they lay eyes on you. Why, they'll be crazy about you. Molly. Particularly my mother. You'll like her."

Then he showed her some letters from his mother. And one from his father. His sisters wrote him, too. Girlish letters, with plenty of words underlined, and so many exclamation points.

Molly peeked the family's letters neatly in a shoe box. She thought it was sweet of Jack to keep them. Like most women, she adored sentimentality in a man.

"Sentimental men," she reflected, "are always tender."

Finally the packing was done. She felt pleasantly wifely. She lay down on the bed, and contemplated her sweetheart's bags. There were two of them, neatly packed, and ready to close.

Then she reflected that she was a man's bedroom, and it was almost midnight. She sighed.

Jack came, and sat on the bed beside her.

"Tired, sweetheart?"

"No, I'm not tired."

"A little," she admitted. "It's a little, leaning against your shoulder. There's a dear little hollow, my head just fits."

"They were lost for a while in their dreams."

"Well, sweetheart." He shook gently. "Time for little girls to go home."

He laid his head against her hair. And buried his nose in its fragrance.

"Other girls' hair doesn't smell like yours," he said.

She smiled. That little French singer had cost $7.50, but that was really the only way a girl could keep her hair scented. It didn't any good putting drops of perfume on. You had to spray it. "What do you do?" he asked.

"I buy rum or something like that in it."

She laughed, and shook her head.

"I love the way you don't know how much about women," she told him. "It's awfully sweet."

"I thought girls liked a man who knows all about women. Don't you?"

"Maybe some of them do. I don't know. Jack, are you going to miss me?"

"Miss you?" he cried. "I'd like to miss you, honey."

"I'll miss you, too," she promised. "But we'll write each other every day."

"A bet," he agreed. "And write on Sundays. I mean YOU write twice on Sundays, honey, and I'll write once. And if you don't get my letter, I'll send you a wire, will you?"

"They won't," she assured him. "They'll look harmless as any Club, and your poor father has been planning to buy you a little car. However, I do not wish to emphasize our own disappointment. But what about your young man, Molly? Have you, for the sake of securing more liberty, and a wisp or two of indignant personal happiness, broken your promise to him, as well as sacrificed your loyalty to us?"

"My dear child, your poor aunt Minnie would turn in her grave if she could know what her money has led you to. And a position on a newspaper of all things! You write suppressed! I have quoted and self-expressed. Your aunt Minnie certainly derived considerable satisfaction from living all her days without reproach. She was never heard to worry about self-expression, which is a new disorder. She believed that she expressed herself very well."

"She imparted a dignity, a spiritual elegance which younger women do not feel, being obsessed with the fear of being enslaved and suppressed." I have quoted that, Molly, as best I can from the article by the magazine writer, because it so exactly expresses what I would like to say to you . . ."

Molly dropped the letter impatiently.

"If that isn't just like mother!" she thought unreasonably.

Then a figure on the back page caught her attention. "$500." She snatched the paper up hurriedly.

Her mother had written, toward the end of the letter. "Your father and I have talked things over, and have decided not to stand in your way. After all, you have, I suppose, a right to pursue happiness in your own fashion. Aunt Minnie's estate will not be settled for some weeks. But your father is going to send you $500, to defray whatever expenses you may have, until such time as the executor sends you your entire inheritance."

Molly's eyes filled with tears. "Dear old dad!"

"And now," she decided joyously, "I can take a little apartment! I can have a kitchenette all my own, and a nice big bath!"

Are You Ready

When your Children Cry for It

Baby has little ups-its at times. All your care cannot prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do—what most physicians would tell you to do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sooner done than baby is soothed; relief is just a matter of moments. Yet you have eased your child without use of a single doubtful drug; Castoria is vegetable. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot pat away. And it's always ready for the crueler pangs of colic, or constipation, or diarrhea; effective, too, for older children. Twenty-five million bottles were bought last year.

Fletcher's CASTORIA

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

The State of Texas, No. 7085. To the Sheriff or any Constable of Eastland county—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon J. T. BLANK SPACES ON PEACE MAP ARE FILLED IN

By RALPH HEINZEN,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

PARIS.—For 10 years, since the peacemakers sat at Versailles, Europe has been filling in by plebiscite the blank spaces left on the map when the conference was ended. Only one blank spot remains, the Saar valley, black with the soot of mines and blast furnaces, but uncolored on the maps.

The Versailles treaty took over the Saar basin in 1919, gave the coal mines to France forever to repay her for the mines ruined by the Germans in northern France during the war. The treaty charged the League of Nations with governing the state for 15 years with a commission of five members.

After 15 years, the Saar is to vote by plebiscite to determine a semi-autonomous republic, unite with France or go back to Germany. The French troops at first occupied the valley, but in 1927 they were withdrawn and replaced by a league police force.

Saar Enriches France.

The Saar has greatly enriched France. The mines are very productive and very efficiently organized. Germany was credited on her reparations account with 350,000,000 gold marks when she turned the mines over to France, and on that figure the mines are now paying France about 14 per cent annually. In three years, the Saar brought the French government $10,000,000.

The state is not very large, about the size of its neighbor Luxembourg, containing 738 square miles and 775,000 people. Geographically it is of little interest, but has one of the richest coal basins in the world, furnishing 15,000,000 tons annually. Both France and Germany need that coal, but there is also rivalry as to the government of the region.

There is little doubt now that the eventual result of the plebiscite will be overwhelmingly in favor of reattachment with Germany. Germany knows that and even the most optimistic Frenchman will admit it.

Recently, Stresemann bronched the subject of France withdrawing from the Saar before 1935. But France knows the value of the basin, and her withdrawal must bring her either a vast lump sum or the early commercialization of a portion of reparations due her. Even then, the government would find great opposition in parliament for France, without the Saar, would be compelled to import from Germany vast quantities of coal, a product which she now exports.

Germany, likewise, has her eyes

Cisco Woman Says 3 Years' Search At Last Rewarded

Found Nothing to Relieve Her Trouble Until She Took Orgatone

"During all the three years that I suffered nothing ever helped me like Orgatone," said Mrs. W. R. Manning, of 202 West Third St., Cisco, Tex., at her home the other day.

"I not only suffered terribly with stomach trouble but was also a nervous and physical wreck," continued Mrs. Manning. "It just looked like everything I would eat would sour on my stomach and form gas and I would have fearful pains and an awful burning sensation in my stomach. This gas would press so around my heart sometimes that if I would lie down it just seemed like I could hardly breathe. I didn't sleep well, either, and many a time I would lie awake 'till midnight and just feel miserable. I suffered with dizzy spells, too, and during a period of about two years it looked like I would get up feeling nauseated every morning and finally the muscles in my throat became contracted and I was in a miserable condition. I was troubled with nervousness and at times would feel so worn-out and miserable I could not do my housework and had to depend upon my children for help. I tried all kinds of medicines and treatments, but nothing seemed to give me a bit of relief.

"My friends advised me to try Orgatone, so I got a bottle and by the time I had been taking it a week I could notice an improvement in my condition, because I wasn't troubled with gas on my stomach and didn't suffer from shortness of breath. So I kept on taking Orgatone and soon found that I could eat things that I didn't dare touch before I began on the medicine, and my throat didn't bother me like it used to. I can sleep nine hours a night now and feel like life is worth living, because I seem to be in better general health than I have been in years. I am just so pleased over the way Orgatone is helping me that I am glad to say a good word for it."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Eastland exclusively by Toombs & Richardson, who are direct laboratory agents.—Adv.

HIGHWAY STATUTES CHANGED

Trucks Affected in Numerous Ways by Provisions of New State Laws.

FORT WORTH.—Legislation that vitally affects motor trucks and motor bus transportation in all of their ramifications, and the motor vehicle industry in general in Texas was passed by the regular and two special sessions of the 41st legislature.

The horsepower fee on all motor vehicles has been eliminated and instead all motor vehicles license fees are based on weight.

The license fees on passenger automobiles have been reduced fully 50 per cent.

The four-dollar seat tax on buses has been wiped out and the bus license fee is based on weight.

License fees now are payable during the month in which the car is registered. The owner of the car is not required to pay for time that the car has not been used. A person buying a car in June pays license fees for only six months, and in April for only eight months. The law also allows auto owners 30 days grace, in January in which to register the car.

The truck license fee now in force calls for a 10 cents increase per 100 pounds on the small capacity trucks and a 30 to 50 cents decrease per 100 pounds on trucks carrying loads ranging from 14,000 to 26,000 pounds, trucks with a capacity of 26,000 pounds and up rank the same and the license fee is $4 per 100 pounds where the vehicle is equipped with pneumatic tires and $5 per 100 pounds when equipped with solid rubber tires.

Six wheeled motor trucks now are provided for in the new license fee. The six wheel truck is allowed to haul 30,000 pounds, limiting the load to 16,000 pounds per one axle, the axles to be at least 40 inches apart. The registration fee for six wheeled trucks is $1.60 per 100 pounds, pneumatic tires.

The speed law has been changed and a maximum for passenger cars now 45 miles an hour, buses 40 miles an hour, trucks 10,000 pounds capacity and under, 35 miles an hour, 16,000 pounds and under, 25 miles an hour; 16,000 pounds and over 18 miles an hour; speed limit in incorporated and unincorporated towns and villages 25 miles an hour.

Parking vehicles on public highways has been amended by requiring the highway department to designate main traveled or through highways by erecting at the entrance thereto signs notifying drivers of vehicles to come to a full stop before entering or crossing any such highway.

Highway patrolmen may now wear blue as well as grey uniforms and are placed on strictly salary basis.

Gasoline occupation tax made 4 cents a gallon.

Newspapers Find Owner of Clothes Found By Police

RANGER, Texas, July 18.—"Printers' ink brings results"—as Police Chief Jim Ingram has discovered.

Recently, the chief found an assortment of clothes and for several days he tried to find the store that had lost the merchandise but without success.

Then he told the press about the clothing and today the merchandise was identified by Paul Shabay of Perrin, near Jackboro. The merchant had read in the papers about the merchandise.

The clothing was stolen one night from the store. The next day Ingram found the goods hidden in the brush near here.

DELIGHTFUL DINNER HONORS VISITOR

Miss Ruth Mitchell entertained at dinner at the Connellee hotel 6:30 p. m. Tuesday in honor of Miss Ruth Skinner of Odessa, the house guest of Miss Mary Sue Rumph. A beautiful bouquet centered the table, and the charming place cards announced plates for Miss Leslie Lee Ligon, Miss Vera Hearn, Miss Essie Hughes, Mrs. Juan Mason of Cisco; Miss Mary Sue Rumph; the honoree Miss Skinner and hostess Miss Mitchell. The delicious menu of three courses carried the color scheme of the flowers which were presented Miss Skinner at close of dinner.

The party motored to Ranger afterwards and enjoyed a vitaphone picture.

DOROTHY HELEN MATHENA CELEBRATES SEVENTH BIRTHDAY

A charming little birthday party celebrating her seventh year was tendered her daughter little Dorothy Helen Mathena, by Mrs. Mathena assisted by Mrs. Joe Mae King, yesterday afternoon at the Mathena home. The rooms were beautifully decorated in bouquets of pink and white flowers. The dining room was centered with a big basket covered in frilly pink and white and the birthday gifts were laid within. Little Dorothy opened each of the thirty-five remembrances and passed theme for the inspection of her little guests. A big white birthday cake, topped with

BETHANY CLASS HAS DELIGHTFUL MEETING

The Bethany church was entertained by hostesses Mmes. Frank Bond, C. C. Ligon, Louis Pitzer, and J. Leroy Arnold in the parlors of the Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon. A brief business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. J. W. Thomas, Mrs. George E. Cross serving as secretary pro tem in the absence of Mrs. Peters, who is ill.

The visiting committee reported 22 calls made. The Scripture lesson on "Love" was presented by Mrs. C. D. Hubbard, this period closing with the hymn "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," with Mrs. J. Tableman at the piano. During the social hour several contests terminated in a bean contest, in which the favor, a bag of jelly beans, was awarded Mrs. J. T. Ross.

The exchange of the white elephants was cleverly effected. In the center of a table a pretty green tree, covered thickly with white paper elephants, was placed and the "elephants" to be interchanged were laid beneath the tree branches.

Family Menu

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

SWISS CHARD is a summer vegetable too often overlooked by housewives. The leaves and stalks are equally good to eat and they may be cooked together or separately.

In composition chard leaves little to be desired. It's especially rich in iron, which makes it an excellent vegetable to serve when meat is not provided. Its vitamin content is good, comparing favorably with spinach. Chard also has the peculiar virtue of supplementing the protein deficiencies of other vegetable foods and contains some substance which enables the body to make use of the mineral content available.

How to Cook It

The same rules of cooking hold good for swiss chard that are applied to other delicate vegetables—as little water as possible and a short cooking period. Careful seasoning is essential, for chard is a mild flavored vegetable that will be criticized as "flat" if not peppered up with a dash of lemon juice.

The thick center of the leaves is good cut and tied in bundles. These are cooked and served in Hollandaise sauce in a border of the thin part of the leaves cooked and garnished with hard cooked eggs. This is one of the most nourishing and economical main dishes for summer that I know of.

Hollandaise Sauce

Three tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 cup milk, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 egg yolks.

Melt 1 tablespoon butter and stir in flour. Slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point and add yolks of eggs beaten with lemon juice. Stir over hot water until sauce thickens but do not let boil. Season with salt and pepper and add butter bits at a time, stirring each bit in before adding more. After adding eggs cook over hot water and do not let sauce boil.

These are cooked and served in Hollandaise sauce in a border of the thin part of the leaves cooked and garnished with hard cooked eggs. This is one of the most nourishing and economical main dishes for summer that I know of.

A "Girl Without a Country"

"I could not kill even to save my mother," answered Martha Jane Graber, college honor graduate and trained nurse, when asked at Lima, O., her attitude on national defense when she sought naturalization papers. CAPITALIST TO BE BURIED AT MCKINNEY

DALLAS, Texas, July 13.—The body of W. B. Newsome, Dallas capitalist and former director of the Federal Reserve bank of Dallas, who died in Los Angeles Friday will be started back to Texas today for burial at McKinney, his birthplace, next Tuesday.

Newsome had been ill for some time but his condition had not become critical until Wednesday night. He was accompanied to Los Angeles by his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Tom W. Newsome, his son and daughter-in-law.

Born in McKinney, Newsome was associated with his father in the mercantile business for many years before moving to Dallas. He also was president of the Colein County National bank at McKinney for a time.

Besides his wife and her son a daughter, Mrs. Ella Wooten of Austin, survives.

Employing 60 workers and built by local capital, the Nacogdoches canning plant started business a short time since. It will can only tomatoes at first, with 300 acres in that crop pledged for its use, but later beans, beets and other vegetables that can be successfully grown in the section will be added to its output.

Following the shipment of two carloads of Wise county cream to Philadelphia, the Tennessee Dairies plant at Decatur shipped a full carload of powdered milk to the same destination.

It takes the voice about one-quarter of a second to travel from Stockholm to Los Angeles—a distance of 8,400 miles.

The record single carrot shipment was made by a Texas firm which shipped ten carloads to a New Jersey soup company at $10 a ton in the field. The carrots shipped were too large for regular markets and in the past have been either disked under or fed to livestock.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS By Laufer

LAST spring, when Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn's famous fireball pitcher, held out for $25,000 and got it, he set an all time high water mark for pitching salaries.

And the owners of the Robins couldn't say they made a bad investment for Dazzy was generally acknowledged as the National League's greatest pitcher. But that was before Mr. Schaefer came on the scene.

No sooner had the Dazzy ad fixed his name to the record-breaking contract than sharp pains were felt in that great right arm. He was of little use during the raining games and when the season opened could be called on only when he felt like pitching. Which wasn't often. At mid-season, Vance had been in approximately a dozen games of which he managed to win six.

But in baseball a player really gets paid for his previous season's work and it is on this record a player generally bases his claim. In 1928, he worked on just 28 afternoons. He completed 24 games and finished up other fellows' games on five occasions. All told, pitched 230 innings, winning 22 and losing 19.

If you figure 18 balls to the inning Dazzy gets just a few cents but $5 every time he wraps the old soup bone around him. He'll have to get going pretty soon if he figures on having that contract renewed.
