EASTLAND MAN CRITICALLY HURT IN CAR CRASH

Sabanno Man May Die From Knife Wound

Officers Are Looking For Lee Bell, Brother of Buster Who They Say They Will Charge With the Cutting.

Buster Bell, 35, living in the Sabanno community 22 miles southwest of Eastland, is in a critical condition as the result of a long, deep knife wound in his left side, which cut to the hollow and almost dismembered him, according to Sheriff Virge Foster, who went to the Bell home this morning to investigate following telephone information from Sabanno concerning the affair.

Lee Bell, older brother of Buster, is being sought by Sheriff Foster, who stated that he will file charges of assault with intent to murder against him in connection with the wounding of Buster. Sheriff Foster stated that he had been unable to learn much of the details in connection with the cutting. Mrs. Doc Bell, aged mother of the Bell boys, Sheriff Foster said, stated that Lee cut Buster with a pocket knife and ran away.

Buster Bell was carried to a hospital where physicians dressed his wound, it was stated. He is said to have refused to remain in the hospital, however, and was removed to his home at Sabanno. Sheriff Foster has in his possession a shirt Buster is said to have had on when he was wounded. It has a long slash in it and was covered with blood.

INDEPENDENT OIL MEN TO MAKE FIGHT

Lines Are Being Drawn for Contest Against Importation of Oil at Meet.

By T. H. Walker
United Press Staff Correspondent.
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., June 8.—Independent oil operators are going to fight to the last ditch against any curtailment of oil production in the United States unless importation of oil from foreign countries is reduced, it was indicated today by leading independent operators here for a governors conference.

The meeting was called by President Hoover to consider the possibility of eliminating waste in the oil industry through a treaty among the principal oil producing states.

Distribution of a statement here made by W. E. Wood, president of the Independent Oil and Gas Association of Oklahoma, in which he charged that the big organized oil companies have "stacked the cards" for the oil conservation meeting that opens here Monday, touched off the fireworks. The independents predicted that unless there is a disposition on the part of the government and the large operators to make concessions as to curtailment of imported big stocks, the meeting is likely to last only two days.

Managers of the meeting, however, seemed confident today that they would be able to iron out the differences with the independents.

W. H. Gray of Tulsa, Okla., president of the National Independent Oil Producers association, said the independents will insist that any pact drawn up among the states must carry with it an agreement that the federal government will restrict the importation of oil into this country to 10 per cent of the domestic production during the period of the pact.

Many small wells are being abandoned because the price of oil makes them unprofitable to operate, Gray said. Importation of large quantities of oil, particularly from South America, was blamed for the situation.

Continued Flight MEXICO CITY, June 8.—Carlos de Pimillo and Carlos Zegarra, Peruvian fliers enroute from the United States to Peru, resumed their flight from Oaxaca at 7:30 a. m., today, landing at San Jeronimo at 9 a. m., to refuel.

"Miss Ranger" To Try Again

Two Minnesota flyers, Owen Haughland, left, and Gene Shank, are planning a new endurance flight attempt after the disastrous ending of their first effort, at Minneapolis. They may make the attempt at Wichita, Kas., according to their announcement. Below is shown their plane, the Miss Ranger, which went into a nosedive when a line from a refueling plane fouled on its wing.

There will be a camp bank in which each boy will deposit his money upon entering the camp. He will be given a card by which to make his purchases. All money not spent will be refunded to the depositors at the end of the encampment.

A fee of $9.50 will be charged each scout for the ten days of encampment, from July 4 to 14. All applications and fees must be in the scout office by June 29. There will be no refund if a scout leaves camp after entering. The scout oath and law will be the rules of the camp.

A combination application blank and bulletin is being mailed to the various troops of the Oil Belt council. J. M. Perkins is chairman of the camping committee.

Besides scoutmasters who will assist Scout Executive Guy Quirl of Eastland with the encampment, the following leaders have been chosen. Others will be chosen before July 4.

The service is impressive and particularly effective as the evening hour comes softly down and the cooing of the doves is heard in the trees that shade the resting place of their former members.

FIRST WEEK OF VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL CLOSSES

The first week of the Vacation Bible school was rounded up with a flourish on Friday with success in every study and undertaking and a daily increasing list of students and with a happy bunch of youngsters and teachers each feeling the week had sped like magic. Countless clever little fingers fashioned many pretty and useful articles and the familiar old hymns handed down to us from the time of our great grandmothers were taught these little youngsters who perhaps in turn some day may teach other people's little children these very same "ole tunes."

The first week of the school closed with 120 enrolled and an attendance on Friday of 104. There is a new rule this year to the effect that every student is allowed two absences if necessary and these absences will not impair the securing of certificates.

A splendid feature of the Vacation Bible school is the drama department in charge of Mrs. Jas. Horton in the junior department and Mrs. H. B. Clifton in the intermediate department who teach the Bible drama and arrange the characters into a little speaking play which is enacted by the students.

The second week of the school opens Monday and continues through the week, closing next Friday. Possibly there will be a continuance but this will be decided later.

TRUCK TURNS OVER

Tom Pope, Truck Driver For Magnolia Petroleum Co., Pinned Underneath Machine.

Tom Pope, 45, of 312 North Dixie street, Eastland, was seriously injured about 11 o'clock Saturday morning when a Magnolia company truck which he was driving from Ranger to Eastland overturned at the second curve west of Olden. Mr. Pope was pinned under the truck.

The injured man was brought to the Payne-Carter hospital here by Homer Brelsford and J. C. Baxley after they and several other passing motorists had lifted the truck and released Mr. Pope. Although physicians state that all ribs on the right side were torn from the vertebrae column, the right shoulder badly fractured, one lung pierced and the face cut and scratched, they entertain hopes for recovery.

Stories of eye-witnesses show that Mr. Pope was meeting an east-bound bus of the West Texas coaches, when a Chevrolet coupe, endeavoring to pass Mr. Pope's truck, forced it to take to the ditch in order to avoid a smash-up among the three cars.

Here's Luck to the Lindberghs Here is luck to the Lindberghs—Charles and Anne. Here's long life to the couple and all the happiness that they merit. In the long run they will get back just in proportion to that they give out. Happiness is made by individuals or a combination of two individuals. It cannot be bought. Money alone will not bring it about. Lindbergh is a common sense individual. Anne is a common sense individual.

They barred all the flub-dub accessories. They barred a great public wedding. They barred bridesmaids and best men. They barred organ music and great piles of flowers. They barred all the society writers and sob sisters. They barred the correspondents who write matrimonial alliances just as they write fistie encounters in the prize ring, contests on the diamond and wrestling matches of the stranglers of the age.

It was a quiet home affair, a distinguished preacher said the word. Charles and Anne promised to "love, honor and cherish." "Ours" was omitted. And why not? Then the happy lovers of the most romantic affair of the period sweetly sped away to parts unknown to pass their honeymoon free of snoopers, free of curiosity seekers, free of reporters, free of all handicaps including the telephone, the telegraph, the radio and the motor car.

Are they in the air? That's their business. Are they happy? That's their business. They are enjoying life in their own way, which is their business and where-ever they are they are the recipients of the sincere wishes of millions of men and women who admire the newly-mated for their remarkable display of common sense and who hope that whatever happens the romance which began in Mexico will not go on the rocks in coming time.

Yes, here's to the Lindberghs, may they fly high, may they fly low and may the pleasures of sane lives and sane living be their reward.

MANY NEW ENTERPRISES ARE LOCATING IN EASTLAND

The past few months have been the most progressive months in the history of Eastland. There have been more modern metropolitan business establishments to open their doors to the public than could have been expected in so short a time. The city has taken the appearance of one far greater in size and has become one of the most progressive cities in West Texas.

In today's issue of the Telegram are to be found varied advertisements of many business institutions of Eastland, giving the public valuable information regarding their commodities and materials.

In keeping with the spirit of progress which has been so apparent the Texas Electric Service company has this month opened its new sales room and display floor at 109-111 E. Commerce street. The well-lighted show windows and the large electric sign lend great beauty to the city at night as well as affording the public the privilege and pleasure of seeing the attractive display of all modern household and commercial electric appliances.

Among the new business establishments recently to open their doors are the Banner Ice Cream company and Perry Brothers. June 14 the new J. C. Penney company store will be open. At the Connellee theatre talking pictures are being shown today, after installation of the equipment last week.

Among the advertisers appearing in the columns of today's Telegrams are to be found the Men's Shop, Eastland Furniture company, Hail Battery company, J. C. Penney company, Texas Electric company, Harper Music Store, Moldave's Men's Store, Pickering Lumber company, Banner Ice Cream company, Connellee theatre, and many others.

Moldave's is a new store on the north side of the plaza. The company is a complete outfitter for men and boys with shoes and hose. The building was remodeled especially for their needs.

Indian Trail Route Passes Thru Eastland

Plans Laid at Meeting Friday in Iredell Are for Hard Surfacing of No. 67 to Waco.

Designation of the Indian trail as the route over highway No. 67 extending from Waco to Eastland, thence to Breckenridge and Wichita Falls, was the work done Friday in a highway meeting at Iredell of representatives from all towns and cities on the route. From Eastland county the representatives were C. H. Colvin, secretary of the Eastland chamber of commerce; County Judge Clyde L. Garrett, V. V. Cooper, commissioner of precinct one; Gifford Gray, commissioner of precinct two, and Milburn McCarty, Eastland attorney.

The designation of this section of highway No. 67 as the Indian trail followed the original plan of designation which was proposed at a similar meeting in Meridian some time ago. Counties which will profit from a hard-surfaced highway on the Indian trail are Hamilton, Erath, and Bosque, through which highway 67 is not hard-surfaced. A committee from these counties was elected at the Friday meeting to confer with the district highway supervisor with regard to hard-surfacing the road in these counties.

The meeting Friday was attended by directors of the Indian trail group of towns and cities, one director from each city being present. From Eastland the directors are C. H. Colvin, Eastland; Dr. T. G. Jackson of Carbon, and J. W. Cockrell of Gorman. Those who attended the meeting from Eastland stated Saturday that all towns and cities along the route would profit materially from a hard-surfaced Indian trail, by connecting Waco with Eastland, Breckenridge, Wichita Falls and inter-connecting all other communities along the route.

Work to Start Soon on Plant For WFAA

Station to Be Located 17 Miles Northwest of Tarrant County Line.

Contract will be awarded next week for the construction of Station WFAA's new plant, designed to house a 50,000-watt radio transmitter authorized by the Federal Radio Commission. Plans and specifications for the structure have been drawn by the architects, Greene, La Roche & Dahl, and are now in the hands of the Radio Corporation of America for cross-checking. The Radio Corporation is building the transmitting set, which will include latest improvements, and is expected by its makers to be the finest in existence. One hundred per centum delivery is promised.

The new Station WFAA will be located on the Northwest Highway at the Tarrant county line. It will be seventeen miles northwest of Dallas and approximately the same distance from Fort Worth. The structure to house the transmitting apparatus will cost $35,000 and the total cost of the plant after the equipment is installed probably will reach $250,000. WFAA's antenna will be supported by two steel towers 300 feet high, the highest in this part of the country.

The physical structure will be ready about Aug. 1, according to present plans, and shortly after that date the first units of the transmitter can be used.

Daughter Locates Her Father After Hearing Him Sing

EL PASO, June 8.—In the little town of Rutland, N. D.—on the only phonograph within thirty miles—the daughter of Jules Verne Allen, Victor's "singing cowboy" heard her father's voice for the first time since she was three months old.

Allen and his daughter's mother were separated soon after the child was born. Both remarried and the girl was sent to a convent. Allen's voice became so popular that a newspaper writer in Texas wrote a story about him.

Through this story the daughter learned of her father and last fall they planned to see each other. Allen's second wife died shortly after he first heard from his daughter and he was unable to make the trip to North Dakota.

Scouts for the phonograph company "discovered" Allen and his cowboy songs were put into records. One of the first released was sent to the daughter who

Special Awards To Be Given Students

Special "E" awards, which will be given to Eastland high school letter students in athletic and literary events, may be secured by these students by calling at the high school any time Monday, according to Coach Joe Gibson. The "E" letters for the boys are in the form of gold watch fobs, and for the girls are in the form of pins bearing the letter "E."

This is the first year in which these special awards have been given in the school. About 40 of the special award letters will be given.

There are 197 Different Grades of Satin!

We have just learned that from a current magazine. 197 different grades of satin!

And the thought just strikes that if we enter one of Eastland dry goods stores to buy some satin how could we tell what grade we were getting?

As a matter of fact, we could tell whether we were getting Grade 25 or Grade 167.

For that very reason, we prefer to buy our merchandise home. We prefer to buy it from our local merchants who know their merchandise and in whom we have explicit confidence.

We don't know the various grades of satin or silk or muslin. It isn't necessary that we know them. We have dry goods merchants here in Eastland on whom we can depend for that information when we need it.

In dry goods, or other lines, the merchants of Eastland are ready to give you any information you might desire about their merchandise. We know, because we have asked them many times for such information.

Passed at Regular Session Legislature Go Into Effect June 13; New Marriage Law Is One

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent.

Watch your step June 13. On that day "thou shalt" apply to things now free and untrammelled. On that day the legislature of the state will go into effect.

is the new marriage law. Three days notice will be required to obtain a marriage license. The prospective bride and groom will be required to furnish the county clerk a certificate of his freedom from certain diseases.

lish a state cancer and pellagra hospital and establish dairying, citrus, and additional general agricultural experiment stations. An appropriation of $25,000 becomes available to join other states in locating a suitable reservoir site on the Pecos river. Junior college districts may be created by vote of people in the territory included in the district. Kingsville normal school will become a first class college. State taxes at Port Arthur will be diverted and will go to help pay for a sea wall. The state highway commission will be empowered to limit the use of roads so as not to damage them. All first class roads will have to be 100 feet wide. Smaller roads down to a 40 foot width are classified.

Such are some of the miscellaneous changes. The University of Texas and teacher's college will be able to make contracts for dormitory buildings to be paid out of room rents. The investment of the permanent school fund will be authorized in University of Texas bonds.

A law effective June 13 will make it possible to compel witnesses to give depositions for use in proceedings in other states. Cities and counties will be authorized to act jointly in establishing parks.

A state wide tick eradication law will go into effect. Increase Directors. Banks will be allowed to increase the number of directors now allowed.

Changes on court procedure will also become effective. One law will make the courts of criminal appeals final in cases of slander and divorce and in election cases that do not involve a state office. The counties included in the tenth, eleventh, and second civil appeal districts are changed. Appeal court clerks are to be required to keep annual records of all decisions. It was the intention under this law to permit the destruction of the papers filed in cases after 10 years, but Governor Dan Moody will ask the second special session to change this. Attorneys have protested the keeping of the decision records will not be sufficient in all cases—particularly those affecting titles.

Posting of notices at the court house is made sufficient notice in certain cases. The commissioners to aid the court of criminal appeals are given six year terms. Many salary raises affecting court officers, changes in court terms, and methods of drawing juries are changed for various localities. Sale of real estate for taxes will be permissible only after foreclosure of liens and another law will permit filing of bonds in lieu of liens.

Contractors on public work will be required to give bond to insure payment of workmen. Increased wolf bounties are allowed in numerous counties. Numerous local road, school, and stock laws become effective.

HIGH PROFITS FROM HIGH PRODUCTION

One 40-Pound Producer Makes More Than 7 Poor Ones.

(Cisco Daily News)

May records of cows that are being tested in the local parcel post cow testing association have just been completed by E. H. Varnell, who is conducting this work for 27 dairymen and farmers of this section. The records of the 10 highest cows for the month are furnished by Mr. Varnell.

It will be noted that all of these cows have produced 40 pounds of butterfat or more during the month, and are therefore entitled to appear in the 40 pound list. Owners of the cows and their records are as follows:

Buck Myrick Dairy—
Boss, 40.9 pounds.
Cloud, 40.7 pounds.
A. Z. Myrick—
Crystine, highest cow for the month, 48.3 pounds.
Tomto, 42.2 pounds.
C. H. Lawrence—
Spot, 43.4 pounds.
Minnie, 40 pounds.
Elephant, 42.2 pounds.
E. B. Blackburn—
Beauty, 42.8 pounds.
Brownie, 42.2 pounds.
Queen, 40.9 pounds.

Average 42.3 Pounds

The average production of butterfat for these 10 cows is 42.3 pounds. Figuring the production on a basis of 10 months per year, and butterfat at 50 cents per pound, these cows will average a gross return of $211.50 per cow. Average production for all other cows on test for the month of May is 26.4 pounds which, figured on the same basis, is $130 for the year.

Disregarding the greater value of calves from the ten good cows it is seen that their average production in a year is worth nearly twice as much as the production of the average cow on test. There is but little difference in the cost of handling and feeding one of the average cows as compared with the cost of upkeep for the 40 pound producers.

Allowing $10 per month for handling and upkeep of the average cow and $12 per month for the higher producers, it is seen that one of the good cows makes nearly as much profit in a year as 7 of the average cows. As a matter of fact, when the additional labor of caring for the larger number of cows is considered, it is possible that one of these cows in the May 40-pound list is worth more than seven average cows.

In this connection some of the evidence worked out by the United States department of agriculture in its study of records of over 100,000 cows in cow test associations over the United States is interesting. These records show that a cow must produce at least 150 pounds of butterfat to show any profit at all, even under the most favorable circumstances. It is even shown, also, that the profit in butterfat production from a cow producing 500 pounds of butterfat per year may be even more than 20 times greater than that from a cow producing only 150 pounds of butterfat in a year. Frequently herds of from 10 to 20 high producing cows are found to make more profit than a much larger number of average cows.

The following is a list of dairymen and local farmers with cows on test: O. P. Weiser, U. G. Kinard, J. H. Dye, E. B. Blackburn, J. M. Blackburn, Buck Myrick & Sons, Charlie Wende, W. B. Starr, E. S. Townsend, J. B. Camp, Ples Ray, E. N. Strickland, Ed Townsend, C. H. Lawrence, A. Z. Myrick, B. T. Leveridge, W. C. Yeager, J. E. Tomlinson, A. Birt, W. L. Allen, L. C. Reed, Edward Lee, H. R. Roark and W. B. Alsop.

First shown in August, 1926, at the Warner Theatre in New York City, talking pictures created a furor in the theatrical and scientific world. For years science had been trying to synchronize the speech and actions of characters upon a screen and it was not until the scientists of the Bell Telephone company and the Western Electric company discovered the secret about three years ago that the invention was accomplished.

At its debut in New York City, talking pictures was exhibited to one of the most distinguished audiences ever to be grouped inside a theatre. People were astonished and scientific minds were amazed when Will Hays, the head of the motion picture industry, appeared on the screen and actually spoke. At the end of his brief speech there were salvos of cheers. Talking pictures were a reality. New York had seen and believed.

Now in its second year of existence, talking pictures have been accepted by all the leading cities of the country. Philadelphia, Chicago, Boston, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Detroit, Atlanta, Portland, Cleveland and Buffalo have signified their approval of this marvelous device in a manner that is unquestionable. Thousands upon thousands have been flocking through the doors of theatres in these cities to glimpse the wonder of the world. And the interest is unflagging.

Like the silent motion picture itself, talking pictures have been spreading over the country with the rapidity of wildfire, talking pictures have within three years been installed in 2500 theatres throughout the United States. Conservative estimates have placed future installations at a mark that is almost unbelievable. To some, however, this is no wonder, for talking pictures proved to be a universal delight. No section of the United States preponderates in the number of theatres using the talking pictures. North, south, east and west are equally desirous of listening to and seeing characters talk upon the screen, that was hitherto as silent as the proverbial Sphinx.

COUNTY CLERKS PONDER MARRIAGE LICENSE LAW

Many Complexities Solved to Assure Uniform Administration

By BESS STEPHENSON In Star-Telegram

FORT WORTH, Tex., June 8.—County clerks of Texas, who fathered the new marriage law for the state, spent more than an hour and a half yesterday afternoon in getting acquainted with their own child. They found before they'd finished that for a child of their own begetting, the law has many adult complexities and as many wrinkles as a great-grandmother.

To be sure of a consistent administration throughout the state, however, the clerks faced intricacies, waded patiently into every phase of the law's character and succeeded in clarifying most of the problems.

The most questions arising out of the law are many. For example, what is the exact hour and date of its going into effect? Just what constitutes three days? Is the county clerk to take the words of the law literally as it refers to "reputable, licensed physician" and so go into the merits of every health certificate presented at his office? If a man and woman bought a license several weeks or months before the law goes into effect, but have not used it at the time, are they to be permitted to wed without three-day notice of intention?

Questions Are Many

Must one of the contracting parties be present at the time of announcing intention to marry and again three days later to acquire the license, or can a third person perform these functions? Shall doctors' certificates showing that the man is free from venereal diseases, be accepted if it is more than 30 days old? Shall notice of intention to marry be considered as matter of public record and so released to the newspapers? Will there not be a great deal of elopement into other states to avoid the tightening rein of the Texas marriage law?

Car Rebuilt By Bida's Attracts Much Attention

The first question arises out of misrecalculation throughout the state as to the date of "90 days from adjournment" of the legislative session at which the marriage law was passed. It has been placed at dates varying from June 12 to 16, it was said. The clerks think June 13 is the 91st day from the adjournment, however, so will open their offices at 8:30 a. m. next Thursday with the new law in effect.

Days Pass By Name

The answer to the second question is that the names of three days and not three 24-hour periods constitute the intervening minimum for securing marriage licenses. For example, persons filing intention to marry on June 13 regardless of the hour, will be considered eligible to receive licenses, all other factors permitting, in the early morning of June 16. On the other hand, if they waited past midnight, June 13, and filed intention papers at, say 12:02 a. m., June 14, they will not receive the license until June 17. In other words, file your intention at any time on Thursday and, if the clerk will work on Sunday, he'll issue you a license.

The clerks did not favor the part of the law which makes it compulsory for the man to show a doctor's certificate to acquire a license unless the woman be forced to do the same, but now that it is a law its working out is presenting a problem. Doctors have complained to the clerk that there will be unscrupulous physicians, or careless ones, who will not give the applicant a thorough laboratory examination but simply will talk to him. Since the law does not provide for demanding a questionnaire from the doctor, the clerk can only request a brief certificate.

Restriction on Certificate

The decision of the clerks was that these certificate blanks must be made to include signature of the applicant, made in the presence of the doctor, so that it will be impossible to send a proxy for the examination. The blanks also will ask the doctor to state his license is filed and the fact that he is licensed will satisfy the clerk that he is reputable.

A marriage license obtained before June 13 will be good for marriage without filing intention to marry.

At least one of the contracting parties must be present both at the time of filing intention to marry and at the time of issuing the license. A responsible third party may proxy for the second by making affidavit.

The law provides that license will be issued no sooner than three days after filing notice of intention to marry and no later than 30 days. Since this is true the clerks agreed to accept no doctor's certificate more than 30 days old.

Notice of intention to marry will be considered a matter of public record and so released to the newspapers. Clerks will be violating public trust if they keep the notices from publication just as they would be now if they kept license issuance secret.

Costs Will Vary

Although uniform costs for securing the health certificates have been fixed at $5 and laboratory costs by the Tarrant county medical society this is not true throughout the state. The costs will vary with physicians in other counties, it was said. The prospective couple will pay $1 for two affidavits when the notice is filed and will pay another $1 when the license is issued, making a total of $2, which is 50c more than the present cost.

Clerks have no qualms about losing business to other states when the new law goes into effect. Those who have prophesied widespread journeying into Mexico, Louisiana, New Mexico and Oklahoma to avoid new restrictions have not reckoned with more formidable restrictions in those states it was said. Louisiana requires medical examination similar to that in Texas and so could not be sought as refuge for quick marriage; Oklahoma charges $3 for license alone; initial marriage costs in Mexico are $140, and in New Mexico couples must untangle "25 miles of red tape" before marrying. These factors are expected to keep marriages of Texans within Texas.

Several months ago there was a bad smash-up when a young Eastland man, on his way to Breckenridge, turned turtle in the Master Six Buick Sport Coupe he was driving. The top was ruined, glasses broken, body ripped, chassis twisted and wheels demolished, in fact, a total wreck. Today it looks as if did the day it left the factory.

Frank Bida, who owns and operates the Bida's Superior Auto paint, top and body works, bought the car in its wrecked condition. The main thought with him being to rebuild the automobile and use it as a sample of what his plant could do. It has taken quite a while to do this as it has all been done in spare time.

When just a boy Mr. Bida was schooled in the art of shoe making, at which trade he continued until a young man and which, was good training making him painstaking and a lover of neat work. After leaving the shoe business he entered upon his present work and has received training in several of the largest plants in the United States.

Coming to Eastland only a few years ago, Mr. Bida, established the firm he now operates. Starting with only a few of the machines necessary, it has grown to one of the largest and best equipped plants of its kind in Texas. There is nothing in automobile rebuilding he cannot do in his own shop from turning the wood for body braces to applying the last stroke to the finish.

ONE OF THE newest sweats belts from France is of brown leather with ingenious adjustable buckle of modern design.

Wedding Bells Are Breaking Up That Old Gan of Mine!

There are a great many people here who remember the accident and who saw the car in its wrecked condition. If they are interested in what Eastland has in the way of an automobile factory they should see the car since it has been re-made.

Breckenridge Woman Isn't Like The Same Person

Feels Better Since Taking Orgatone Than in Years, She Declares.

"When I began taking Orgatone I was feeling in pretty bad shape in fact my husband and I formerly had a chicken ranch but I was in too bad health to stay on same," said Mrs. B. F. Head, who resides at 128 E. Walker St., Breckenridge, Texas, and who's husband runs "Shorty's" Cafe, that city, in an interview with the Orgatone representative a few days ago.

"For several years," she continued, "I had been going down hill and had gotten so weak I couldn't attend to my regular duties about the ranch. I was so nervous and miserable I couldn't sleep and suffered with rheumatism like a pumpkin. But when I finished half of my first bottle I tism in my arms and shoulders which caused me to be in miserable shape most of the time. I also suffered with bad dizzy headaches which completely upset my nerves. I tried everything and kept getting worse until I lost hope of ever getting well."

"When Orgatone was recommended to me I said, no, there's no use trying anything else, nothing can help me. Finally a friend of mine persuaded me into trying Orgatone and when I started on it I was in a very very much run-down condition. My skin was yellowed to feel better and from then on my improvement was rapid. I have taken three bottles now and have gained both in weight and strength. My nerves are quiet, rheumatism don't bother me like it did and I sleep better and my food does me good, as my increase in weight and strength show. I feel stronger and better than I have in years, my complexion has cleared up and my appetite is extra fine. I feel that I owe my present good health to Orgatone and I recommended it to everyone who is suffering, no matter what their trouble is."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile treatment and is sold in Eastland exclusively by Toombs and Richardson, phone 263, who are direct laboratory agents. (Adv.)

and gayety reigned supreme at the carnival staged by young people of the Epworth senior division in the low-assembly room of the Methodist church within recent days.
More than 100 people were entertained and their expressions of gratitude over the delightful amusements and attractions were cordial. Theresa Vernon, at piano, kept the crowd well entertained with her selections and four padded hot handle holders tiums were placed in the center of

5 o'clock tea. The delicious salad

CHAPTER XVII
To the girl, it was like watching a man trustingly open a package containing a bomb, to see his impatient fingers ripping open the envelope.

Nan wanted desperately to run from the room, so that Morgan should be spared the added humiliation of having a witness to his shock and grief. But he, so pitifully unprepared, had told her to stay while he read his letter from his wife. And now, before she had time to collect her wits and make an excuse to go into her own office, Morgan was drawing the crackling sheets of expensive newspaper from the big square envelope addressed in Iris' handwriting.

Out of sheer decency and pity she did close her eyes, so that when he looked at her—as at least he must—she would think that she was still concentrating on the Lois Dowd mystery, would be grateful that she had not seen his face before he had time to control it.

Nan never knew how long she sat there, with her eyes screwed tightly shut and her mind reeling drunkenly from thought to thought. However long it was there was no sound at all from the man who sat less than two feet from her, until his voice, unrecognizable in its restrained hoarseness, called to her: "Nan—"

"Yes, Mr. Morgan." She tried to make her voice sound normal—cheerfully expectant. In case he was looking at her, she blinged her eyes rapidly and smiled. But the bit of acting was unnecessary. The man's long, thin body was hunched forward against his desk, his face shielded from her sight by a cupped hand. His words came jerkily, with the sound of labored breathing between phrases. "I'm sorry—but I don't think—I'll work any more tonight. Tomorrow—" But he could not drag his voice past that word, which can be the most terrible in the English language.

Nan could feel in her own heavily throbbing heart the man's horrified recoil from all that the word meant—days stretching endlessly ahead—the need to annihilate those two feet of space between them—that small yet infinite distance that had always separated Nan Carroll, private secretary, from John Curtis Morgan, employer and married man—became such an unbearable ache that the girl was impelled to her feet, was bending over him, her arms outstretched in a passion of tenderness and pity to clasp his beloved head to her breast, when Morgan straightened in his chair. Nan's arms dropped to her sides. She stepped backward just in time to prevent his head striking her. Thank God, she hadn't betrayed herself; he hadn't seen. He would think she was simply leaving the room at his implied bidding.

"I apologize—for accusing you—of curiosity, Nan—"

Amazed, then more profoundly moved than she had ever been in her life, Nan halted on her way to the door, waited, scarcely daring to breathe. He was not buckling up weakly under the blow. Not he! Not he! Oh, she might have known he would be like this.

His voice was jerking on: "But I—want you—to know. I'm afraid I can't—talk about it—yet. Will you—read this letter, Nan?"

From the expensive pale-gray sheets rose the faint but unmistakable odor of Iris' favorite perfume, a fragron of which had been one of John Curtis Morgan's Christmas gifts to his wife. Now its seductive odor was helping Iris to ensnare the senses of another man.

Hot anger cleared Nan's vision. Her eyes leaped down the page: "Dear Jack: I am not coming back. You must have suspected for a long time that I did not love you. My chance for freedom has come at last and I have taken it. You told me the $20,000 was mine to do with as I pleased, and I am using it to start life over. You must not worry about me, for I am safe and happy. If I told you my plans you would try to find me, and THAT YOU POSITIVELY MUST NOT DO. Of course I wanted to take Curtis with me, but I know how deeply you love him, and I did not think it would be fair to take your son from you. I know that you will take the best care of him and that you will not teach him to hate me. No man could have been a better husband than you, Jack. It is not your fault that I do not love you. But it isn't mine either, is it? Do one last generous thing for me, Jack: DO NOT TRY TO FIND ME. It would be worse than useless. Iris."

Funeral Rites For R. A. St. John Held at Cisco

In a casket massed with a great profusion of beautiful funeral blossoms the body of R. A. St. John, one of Cisco's most respected and earliest citizens, was lowered into a grave in Oakwood cemetery while members of the Masonic order intoned the solemn lines of the last rites of that great fraternity. Interment followed the religious services conducted at the home of the deceased at 509 West Seventh street, by Rev. G. W. Parks, of Roscoe, formerly pastor of the First Baptist church here, and Rev. Acker C. Miller, pastor of the Cisco church.

Citizens not only of Cisco but from the entire county and adjoining counties were present to pay respect to the deceased and to the family forming a concourse that filled all available space within the home, upon the veranda and overflowed upon the lawn. The casket was placed in the front room and in the dining room the members of the family were grouped.

The Baptist quartet, composed of B. W. Patterson, W. F. Walker, S. E. Pittson and Lory Boyd, opened the services with "There's a Beautiful Land." This was followed by prayer and the reading of the entire 90th Psalm by Rev. Mr. Miller. The quartet sang "Golden Bells."

Rev. G. W. Parks spoke in eulogy of the life and character of Mr. St. John as he had known him in the course of a long friendship. He dealt in reminiscences of this friendship and closed with a comforting reflection upon the assurance of the Christian faith as revealed in the resurrection of Christ.

After this the quartet sang again. Then as the piano played "Nearer My God to Thee" the attendants and friends filed by the casket and waited upon the lawn leaving the family and the dead to the privacy of the room for a few moments.

Knight Templar served as an escort of honor. At the entrance

The office also issues popular reports of the discoveries and recommendations of its scientists, specialists and field workers as well as other helpful advice that will lead to its adoption by farmers.

years under the Wilson administration, a position he filled with honor and credit to the administration.

His life as a citizen and as a Christian gentleman was exemplary. He was always progressive, always conscientious in his beliefs and in his efforts for the upbuilding of his city and the institutions with which he associated himself.

Six children of the immediate family survive. They are three sons, Will St. John, Cisco; Roscoe St. John and Ralph St. John, of Abilene, and three daughters, Mrs. Fred Cook, of Lubbock; Mrs. Velma Hayden, Cisco, and Mrs. Jack Cabaness, Cisco.

Pall bearers for the funeral were: William Reagan, L. A. Warren, Carl Lowry, F. D. Wright, Dr. E. L. Graham, Fleet Shepard, A. L. Mayhew, Dr. D. Ball, W. J. Armstrong, A. B. O'Flaherty, A. J. ## TWO-STORY RESIDENCE DESTROYED

Upper Story Mass of Flames Before Fire Was Discovered.

RANGER, Texas, June 8.—Fire which had enveloped the second story of a large residence in flames before the alarm was sounded destroyed a beautiful two-story home on Desdemona boulevard outside the city limits Friday morning.

The residence was the Jack Phillips home. The contents of the upper floor were destroyed. Furniture was saved from the first floor.

The family was down stairs and did not know the place was on fire until neighbors told them. Considerable difficulty was experienced in fighting the flames as the water had to be pumped by the department pumper from an earthen tank some distance from the scene of the fire. Underbrush had to be cleared away and a fence taken down in order to reach the supply of water.

TWO MONTHS REQUIRED TO COMPLETE JOB

Contract Held by R. F. Ball Company, of Fort Worth.

CISCO, Texas, June 8.—Excavation for the building which the Southwestern Bell Telephone company will construct in Cisco to house its relay station on the long distance underground cable now constructing from Fort Worth to this city was begun this morning by the R. F. Ball company, of Fort Worth, who has the general contract on the building. About two months will be required to complete the building. F. M. Huffstetler is superintendent of construction on the project.

A CLUSTER of red, yellow and blue flowers on the brim of this chateaux green hat makes a charming combination of colors. The brim, long at the back and turned back on itself in front, has an inverted pleat under the flowers.

The entire area to be occupied by the building will be excavated to an average depth of 14 feet. The dimensions of the structure will be 104 feet and one inch in length and 67 feet and 11 and one-half inches in width. It will consist of a basement and one story.

The great amount of excavation necessary for the building is being done with a large gasoline drag-line shovel. This piece of machinery is operated by Jack Page and scoops out a truck load of earth in short order. About two weeks will be required for this excavation.

About 20 men will be employed on the job.

The building will be of fireproof construction. It will house the business offices of the Cisco district in the front, which will face on E avenue. The big underground cable now being laid from Fort Worth to Cisco will terminate in this building and through the equipment to be installed there will be handled much of the long distance telephone communication between east and west Texas. The cable is expected to reach this city in September at which time the building will be ready for it. The conduits through which the line will pass into Cisco is rapidly nearing completion at this time.

Where Economy of Distribution and Large Group Buying Make Possible Important Savings to Millions of Families

WHEN our New Store throws open its doors, it will present an entirely new idea in Distribution Service.

First of all, it will be a Local Service Institution, attuned to local needs, in harmony with local projects, manned by local people.

It will be a better local store because of its National Resources, making possible Economy in Buying and Operating.

Most important of all, this Store will have an individually selected stock of goods—not standardized—not just like that of any other J. C. Penney Company Store—but bought by our Manager for this Store and for this Community.

The folks who buy at this New Store will buy here—not because it is part of a National Organization, not because we have other Stores extending "from Ocean to Ocean"—but because of WHAT THIS STORE CAN DO FOR THEM. And that is as it should be. We expect to build this business strictly on the merits of THE STORE and its Service to you.

But because of our National Relation to the World's Markets, and because of our ability to effect very large savings in everything we buy because of these things—we expect to make our Local Store Service more convincingly apparent than would otherwise be possible.

in the production of a motion picture. The technical experts were elated at the completion of the test and announced that it had exceeded, in satisfaction, the greatest hope.

With synchronized films the dominant tone in motion pictures, a distinction is drawn between the so-called "sound" pictures and the talking motion picture. Warner Bros. pioneers in the field of Vitaphone talking pictures with sound effects and spoken dialogue point to the fact that over two years ago they produced "Don Juan," the first "sound" picture synchronized with accompanying music and sound.

"Don Juan" marked the introduction to the world with sound effects and music for a feature length production. Since that time Warner Bros. have brought to the world the talking motion picture by means of Vitaphone. This is the perfect synchronization of the speaking voice and the artist's picture on the screen is a far cry from the first time sound and music synchronized picture of two years ago. And the talking picture brings not only the voices of the actors to the screen but it carries also musical accompaniment and sound effects.

The culmination of that two years has marked a period of steady development. From sound synchronized pictures such as "Don Juan" came innovation presentations like Al Jolson's "The Singing Fool" with scenes in which Jolson sang and "Lights of New York," the first all-talking picture ever made. Now there is included in the all-talking pictures "The Terror," "The Home Towners," "Interference," "Abie's Irish Rose," "The Barker," "On Trial," and many others.

EARLY TIMES AND PIONEER EASTLAND COUNTY SETTLERS

By Isham Lamb

Jewel was one of the few post-offices in Eastland county in 1878. It was southeast five miles of where Carbon is located. There was a store on the Eastland and Sipe Springs road owned by Mart Hill, now deceased. He carried a general stock of goods such as were used by the pioneers of that day. These goods were hauled from Fort Worth. The following named people were among the early settlers in that part of the county:

A. O. McCroon who moved to that part of the county in 1879 from Bell county. W. V. Garrett, father of our present county judge; Mr. Egan, Len. Sam, John and Dutch Finley, of whom Sam was at one time sheriff of Eastland county and Sam and John are now dead; the Snow family; the Lowes; the Hookers; the Justices; the Stephens family; the Lloyds; Dick and Willis Hoff; Ed Foster; H. Z. Lake, J. M. Smith, Mart Tilson, now dead; H. T. Hamilton; D. T. Jordan, Ham Latham, Mr. Malone, J. D. Brummell, now deceased; Matthew Brummel, and a number of others whose names I cannot at the present recall.

They organized Baptist and Methodist churches there in an early day and built up a school that compared favorably with any school in the county. They built a mill and a gin on Nash creek. Nash creek was a live stream and always had plenty of water to supply stock-water for the whole country.

The school and churches attracted settlers to that part of the county. They developed farms, built homes and prospered. Some of its citizens became leaders in county affairs. The community furnished a county commissioner for many years.

The coming of the Texas Central railroad, now the M. K. T., changed the center of gravity, so to speak, left Jewel off to one side and formed two other centers, Gorman and Carbon.

Hill's store moved to Eastland and its founder was a prominent merchant there for many years. Many of those who made their first homes at Jewel are still living and have seen the wilderness develop into one of the leading counties of the state.

Fifty years ago the county cast about 200 votes. It now casts about 10,000 and if all who are entitled to vote would turn out this figure would reach 15,000 or more.

The county then had less than 50 miles of public roads. It now has something near 500 miles surveyed and designated. There was not a single bridge in the county at the time nor a single mile of gravelled road. The sand beds were not even clayed. Travel was light and we did not need good roads as we do now. If we had to drive over the kind of roads now that we did then I doubt if we could pass each other in wagons, much less a car in many places.

If we had seen a car approaching us in that day with no team hitched to it many of us would have taken to our heels and stayed in the woods until it got out of sight.

A dude made his way into this country on one occasion and, as old Mr. Parkenson expressed it, the community was so flabbergasted with his decorated ties and other things foreign to this part of the land that a committee had to be appointed to determine what kind of an animal he really was.

On another occasion a Turk stayed this way and the sheriff arrested him for wearing a disguise. But the justice of the peace could find no law that compelled a Turk to dress like we did, so he was released and told to go back to Turkey. But none of us could give him a direction. So the Turk brushed the bottom of his sandals, bowed very low with both hands extended and turned around with his back to us, straightened up and departed. If anyone ever learned what he meant by this manner of salute I never heard of it but it took the office about three days to get in a good humor about the way he did.

We met with many things out here that we did not understand but we tried to be liberal, to pass them by and be happy in spite of our ignorance. But people came and retiled among us that helped us to understand quite a lot of what we did not hitherto know.

When it came to trading in cattle or "swapping horses" we felt that we could hold our own with the best of them, no difference where they came from.

From now on I intend to write of things of more recent date and to introduce you to some of those who have had a part in the later developments of this county. Many have asked me why I do not mention certain parties in my articles. My answer is that I have not yet gotten to them.

ROTARIANS HERE REPORT ON CONVENTION

(Cisco Daily News)

In the absence of a formal program the Cisco Rotary club at its noon meeting today engaged in an informal but deeply interesting review of the international convention of the great service club at Dallas recently. He himself discussed various parts of the work done at the gathering of Rotarians from the more than 50 nations of the world.

Visitors present today were: Ross Boester, wholesale grocerman of Henryetta, Oklahoma; S. R. Beeman, of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, of Cisco; D. M. ## Be a 'Snob' Says Bill, The Peanut Pusher

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., June 7.—Be a snob if you would get up in the world, is the advice of a man who has ascended—through the pull of balloon gas or airplane motor—but through push, and he has rolled a peanut ahead of him with his nose all the way.

Bill Williams, master professional ascender, from Rio Hondo, Texas, adds that although a lot of educators in the country, some of whom never have been higher above sea level than the observatory in the Woolworth building, where they rode by lift, are denouncing a Boston professor for advising his graduating class to hold their noses high in order to secure a sure cinch on success "the prof" is right.

"Where would I be today, frinstance, had I not lifted my nose higher than the Texas prairie country where I worked as a plasterer?" asked Bill tonight as he autographed another peanut for a tourist.

"There are too many plasterers in the country now," he went on. ## Talkies Likely To Cut Usefulness Foreign Stars

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 8.—Predictions are numerous that talking pictures will mean the end of foreign actors in Hollywood. Many of the foreign players themselves, however, take exactly the opposite view. They are the players who, proficient in several languages, believe they will be particularly valuable when United States producers begin building a foreign market by offering the same picture in several different languages.

The Danish character actress, Bodil Rossing, who incidentally is Monte Blue's mother-in-law, already has brought forward a playlet designed to be filmed in two reels in Danish, German, French, and English, with a cast of Hollywood players she says are ready to speak their lines in each of the four versions one after another.

It used to be flappers from the four corners of the earth who rushed to Hollywood. Now it is radio operators from the seven seas. Anyway, half the technical men in the sound-recording stages springing up on all the movie lots seem to be former radio operators some of them only recently off sea-going passenger liners. If a major catastrophe ever hits Hollywood there will be no lack of men capable of sending out SOS calls.

A New Calling

Ehning the shoes of screen celebrities has turned out to be a doubly profitable career for half a dozen bootblacks hereabout. Producers recently have been turning their attention not only to Africa but to phases of negro life in America, which has more than doubled the demand for negro bit-players, and wherever possible directors have been giving their studio bootblacks a break instead of bringing in someone from outside the fence.

One of the busiest bootblacks in the industry is Oscar Smith, who runs the shoe-shine stand on the Paramount lot. Playing bits in the movies is nothing new to him; he has supplemented his income with screen appearances for years. But his latest role is exciting even for Oscar. It is his first appearance in talking pictures. As the elevator man in "The Canary Murder Case," he will be heard saying "What floah, please to the plate."

Several negro actors and singers who have been successful on the stage also will be heard in the movies this winter, among them a Daniel Haynes, of "Show Boat" fame, and Charles Gilpin who won wide acclaim in "Emperor Jones."

ROME, June 8.—Count Casare Maria de Vecchi, former governor of Italian Somaliland and a member of the Italian senate, was named the first Italian ambassador to Vatican city today.
