COMMISSIONER ROBISON IS ASKED TO RESIGN

Explosion Kills Two and Wrecks Abilene Home

Peas Had a Close Call
The original bill the house makers placed peans on the list. A roar went up from Texans and representatives of other states where the pean is his verdict as to the delicacy:
The paper shell pecan industry is a very important industry in this section of the country and this bill carries an ample pecan and will greatly injure this new industry."
It is a great pecan producer. Indeed it is the home of pecan. There are thousands of Texans who are interested in pecan. Why should they be asked to compete with foreigners?
Should growers of long cotton be forced to compete with Egyptian cotton growers? Egypt the workers are miserable wage. Their hands of living are very low. Should the producers of petroleum be forced to compete with the South American producing countries and Mexico of Texas. Why should crude remain on the free market?
Familiar Faces in the Picture
The same old picture of the regular session and of the special session of the 41st Miller is presiding in the house. Speaker Barro is dining the gavel in the lower. For the third house, the membership will announce "present." are many additions from sulphur districts of Texas. utilities never sleep at the. Their wisest lawyers and are in the lookout chair. ANOTHER IS CRITICALLY ILL; MAY DIE

Gene Lawler Home Wrecked by Explosion Believed Caused by Lighting Match In Gas Filled Room.

ABILENE, Tex., June 5.—Two persons are dead and another is in a critical condition today as the result of an explosion which wrecked the home of Gene Lawler last night.
The dead are Lawler and his year old baby, Doris. Mrs. Lawler was severely injured and is not expected to live.
The explosion was reported to have been caused by the lighting of a match in a room filled with gas. Buildings blocks away were shaken by the blast.

FLASHES

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 5.—The 71st general assembly of the Presbyterian church of North America adjourned last night after voting to continue with the Southern Presbyterian church.

EAST BRAINTREE, Mass., June 5.—Two men were reported missing, another was believed near death, two more were in a hospital and nearly a score were suffering from minor burns and injuries after a triple explosion and fire at the Cities Service Refining company's plant early today.

NAPLES, Italy, June 5.—Twenty students were trapped by a flow of lava today while they were endeavoring to witness the latest eruption of Mt. Vesuvius at close hand. Several were injured by the bursting of the lava as they tried to flee.
An official communique said the eruption had increased in violence, with the flames attaining a height of 1,500 feet at 4 a. m. The eruption was considered probably the most spectacular since 19 A. D., when Pompeii and Herculaneum were destroyed.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The debate plan so strongly opposed by Pres. Hoover and administration leaders in the House, was stricken from the farm relief bill today by the House and Senate conferees who reached a final agreement on the measure.

REBEL YELL HEARD AGAIN IN CHARLOTTE

Soldiers of "The Lost Cause" Holding What May Be Their Last Convention.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 5.—Mingling with the blare of 22 bands, the "rebel yell" resounded through the streets of Charlotte today as 4,500 veterans of "The Lost Cause" met again in their annual United Confederate reunion.
The spirit of this year's gathering is typified by that of a Dallas veteran, who, warned that the trip meant "certain death," told his physician "I'd as soon go to heaven from Charlotte as from Dallas." He is here, very much alive.
More than 2,000 of "the boys in grey" have slept in a tent colony erected to relieve the hotel congestion caused by the influx of more than 50,000 visitors, including sons of veterans. Daughters of the Confederacy and the Confederate Southern Memorial association.
Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi asserted the reunion last night, asserting that "slavery was not the cause of the war between the states."
"A larger question was involved," he said, "namely, the unquestioned right of a state to exercise those powers not expressly delegated in the Federal Constitution into the Federal government. The South today needs a re-baptism of that principle."

Cleveland Society Woman Slain By Her Maid with Butcher Knife

Mrs. Dorothy Snyder, Cleveland society woman and wife of a wealthy attorney, who was slain in the kitchen of her fashionable home by Anna Szeman, a maid, is shown above. In the inset is Miss Szeman, who, police say, confessed that she plunged a butcher knife into Mrs. Snyder's breast, following an argument over household affairs. Mrs. Snyder was the wife of Alonzo M. Snyder, Cleveland attorney. Their palatial Euclid avenue home, one of the show places of Cleveland, is shown below.

Crime to be Gauged Under New System

ATLANTA, Ga., June 5.—The amount of crime in America will be accurately gauged in the future, under a system of criminal statistics adopted today by the International association of Chiefs of Police.
Under this system, to be operated by the federal department of justice, police forces throughout the country will make monthly and annual reports concerning crime and criminals.
Commissioner William P. Rutledge, Detroit, in placing the report of the committee on uniform crime records before the annual convention, said at present "all agencies of criminal justice are handicapped by ignorance of the actual amount of crime and we are in the absurd position of endeavoring to diagnose and cure a social disease with little knowledge of its causes, its nature and its prevalence."
NACOGDOCHES, Tex., June 5.—Lighting a match to a gas filled boiler resulted today in injuries which may prove fatal to Harvey Wedgworth, fireman at the Nacogdoches Ice Cream Co. In trying to light the gas, Wedgworth was thrown to the ground by the explosion and struck by hurtling bricks.

MACDONALD WILL FORM A CABINET

WINDSOR, Eng., June 5.—J. Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the victorious labor party in last Thursday's general election, was asked by the king today to form a government.
He accepted.
Great Britain will have a Labor government for the second time in history. The first was in 1924, when MacDonald headed a government which was short-lived, going down to defeat when Lloyd George, leader of the Liberals, withdrew his support. As in 1924 Lloyd George again has the balance of power in the House of Commons and probably will be able to defeat the government at any time he desires to align with the conservatives.
Stanley Baldwin, the Tory premier, called on the king yesterday and resigned. The Labor leader was received today, the king being able to sit in a chair while he talked with him. Shortly after MacDonald left, it was officially announced that he had accepted the government.

Man Arrested In Dallas Is Wanted In Other States

DALLAS, Tex., June 5.—A man arrested here Tuesday was identified by Dallas police today as Daniel J. Dennehy, wanted in Los Angeles in connection with the killing there several months ago of Max Silverstein.
A telegram from Los Angeles stated that Buron Fitts, district attorney, was requesting extradition of Dennehy from Texas to California.
Officers from Galveston, Tex., also have asked for Dennehy for questioning in connection with a payroll holdup and the wounding of a policeman.

Miners Entombed By Earth's Quake

BUENOS AIRES, June 5.—An undetermined number of workers were entombed in two mines during the recent earthquake in the province of Mendoza, according to dispatches to the newspaper La Razon today.
Relief from Mendoza and San Rafael was rushed to the mines immediately upon receipt of the news. The mines were owned by the firm of Ricardo & Huber.
The reports stated also that two new shocks were felt in the stricken area today, but no casualties were reported.

ROSENBERG, Tex., June 5.

The body of Joe Stafney, 30, killed late Tuesday when he came in contact with a live wire while working on a pole in Richmond, was held in Rosenberg today awaiting funeral arrangements.

Last Rights For George W. Dakan This Afternoon

Funeral services for Judge G. W. Dakan, pioneer Eastland county attorney, who died at his summer home near San Angelo, Monday, were conducted from the First Baptist church in Eastland this afternoon. Burial was in the local cemetery under the auspices of the Eastland Masonic Lodge.
Judge Dakan was one of the oldest and one of the best known citizens of the county, having resided here for more than fifty years. For many years he was engaged in the practice of law, being associated with Judge D. K. Scott, now of Cisco. Later he served Eastland county as county attorney and county judge and was active in local and state democratic politics.
With the coming of the oil boom in this section Judge Dakan retired from the practice of law to look after his interests here and in West Texas.
George W. Dakan was born in Harrison county, Texas, Dec. 31, 1851. During the early days he moved to Erath county settling on Green's creek near Alexander, where he assisted in driving the Indians from the then Texas frontier. He could recall many interesting incidents connected with the pioneer days. Although he was only 18 years of age then he had several Indian scalps to his credit. Under the direction of the famous Indian fighter, Col. Buck Barry of Bosque county, Mr. Dakan learned the tricks of the red men. Later he married Col. Barry's niece, Miss Celia Bryan said to have been a niece of William Jennings Bryan, who was the mother of Judge Dakan's surviving children.
Judge Dakan was active in all civic movements. He was one of the oldest Masons in the country, being a life member of the Stamford, Texas, lodge, which he organized and became its first worshipful master, serving in that capacity 14 years. He was also a lifetime member of the Baptist church.
Judge Dakan is survived by his widow, who is his second wife, and the following children: C. B. Dakan, Eastland; H. C. Dakan, San Antonio; Mrs. Bedford Galloway, Mesquite and Barry Dakan, Dallas. Mrs. Mary Jane Brown of Mineral Wells, is a surviving sister.
Honorary pallbearers were Dr. T. E. Payne, Eastland; Judge Geo. L. Davenport, Eastland; Dr. Frank G. Groner, Dallas; Judge R. L. Ely, Abilene; Judge William J. Cunningham, Abilene; Dr. J. L. Johnson, Eastland; Judge Tom J. Cunningham, Eastland; Judge G. G. Hazel, Eastland.

Testimony In Election Bet Case Beginning
V. Ray Adams on Trial at Corsicana for Murder of Orville L. Matthews.

AUSTIN, June 5.—At the opening of the afternoon session of the House of Representatives, Rep. Grady Woodruff withdrew his resolution asking the resignation of State Land Commissioner J. T. Robinson and offered an impeachment resolution in its place.
The impeachment resolution asks that the house act as a committee of the whole, and that the speaker within 24 hours appoint a committee of five members with instructions to draft and present to the house articles of impeachment.
In case the articles of impeachment are adopted the resolution proposes that the same committee of five act as a board of managers to prosecute the articles before senate as a court of impeachment.

AUSTIN, June 5.—A resolution calling upon State Land Commissioner J. T. Robinson to resign was offered in the House of Representatives just before noon by Rep. Grady Woodruff of Wise county.
Immediate protest against the resolution was made by Rep. O. F. Chastain of Eastland. Chastain was in the midst of an attack on the resolution when the House recessed for lunch.
Almost co-incidental with the offering of the resignation resolution in the House, the state supreme court supported the action of Land Commissioner Robinson in two suits based on matters investigated by the legislative committee of the regular session.
Woodruff's request for the land commissioner's resignation was based on the report of this legislative committee.
It asked for Robinson's resignation within 48 hours of the adoption of the resolution, if it is adopted.
The investigation upon which Woodruff based his resolution followed a demand by Gov. Moody upon Land Commissioner Robinson that he withdraw from sale large bodies of university land upon which bids were called just before the regular session of the legislature.
Robinson refused. He said he had demands for the land and under the statutes was required to sell it. Attorney General Claude Pollard then asked an injunction to prevent sales under the bids. The injunction was granted temporarily. Later on a hearing the court dissolved the injunction and (Continued on Page 2)

BOAT RACE PLANNED

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 5.—Plans were made here today for a boat race up the Mississippi river from New Orleans to St. Louis in another effort to "beat the time of the Robert E. Lee."
George M. Cox of New Orleans and Dr. Louis Leroy of Memphis will be the contestants in the race to start July 18, if river conditions permit.
The stakes include five cents in cash and a "billion dollars in honor" to the winner. Arrangements were completed at a conference between Cox and Dr. Leroy.

THE INDIAN TRAIL' IS NAME NEW WACO-EASTLAND HIGHWAY

"The Indian Trail" was adopted as the name of Highway 67 Tuesday, when delegations from eight towns met at Meridian, formed "The Indian Trail Association," and planned a mammoth celebration for the first week of July. The object of the celebration will be to advertise that the Indian Trail is not only the shortest line from South Texas to West Texas, but is also one of the state's most beautiful routes, and passes through a country richer than any other in the legend of pioneer days.
It has been seventy-five years this summer since Major George B. Erath led the white men into this section, and organized the counties of Bosque and Erath, with nothing but liveoak groves as shelter for the first government. The celebration next month will therefore commemorate the "diamond jubilee" of the white man taking over the trail from the Indian. Festivities will center about a pageant of Indian maidens, with girls selected from each town to take part. They will be carried along the "trail" as captives of the party of raiding "Huacos," the raiders to be represented by a Waco caravan which will stop in each town.
Emil Robin, of Paris, France, and San Diego, California, who supervised the San Antonio Battle of Flowers and the Cotton Palace coronation for several years, has been engaged by the Indian Trail Association to assist each town in planning its part of the pageant.
An aerial circus will also be arranged, if possible, to accompany the caravan from Waco, and a committee headed by J. F. Barnes has been named to make arrangements. Mr. Barnes' being an enthusiastic flyer and interested also in development of the Indian Trail towns.
R. L. Scott, DeLeon publisher, heads the publicity committee which has charge of the July celebration, and is arranging to take up the details within the next few days with committees in each town.

CLUB BOYS AND GIRLS TO MEET HERE FRIDAY-SATURDAY

More than 200 boys and girls members of the eleven boys and girls clubs of the county, together with many of their parents, are expected to attend the seventh annual boys and girls encampment at Eastland Friday and Saturday. Meeting will be held at the Grand city park and every effort is being put in readiness for them.
County Agent J. C. Patterson, Miss Ruth Ramey, county demonstration agent, have charge of the arrangements for the encampment. They will assist during the two days the encampment by vocational culture teachers, Edward's man; Loyd of Rising Star; of Eastland; Varnell of the Whitehouse of Ranger; Viola McKinzie, home can league agent at Breckenridge; Gertrude Brent, agent at (Continued on Page 2)

Construction of the overpass which will eliminate a dangerous railroad crossing west of Cisco at what is known as "Harrell's Crossing" is involved in a maze of "red tape" which will delay the start of this important work for five or six months. The plans for the project must be approved by the state highway department and a number of federal agencies and this process will require considerable time, according to District Highway Engineer Van London, at Abilene.

Mr. Van London indicated today that he expects to be in Cisco Thursday or Friday in connection with highway projects here.

WANT ADS BRING RESULTS

THIS HAS HAPPENED
CARROLL discovers after years' work with ATTORNEY CURTIS MORGAN in love with him, and high sense of honor, decides to resign. Her resignation, however, is belied by Morgan's good services of a faithful attorney during his defense of CRAWFORD, a supposed thief who is indicted for embezzlement. Nan distrusts CRAWFORD, but IRIS MORGAN, beautiful and charming, overhears by means of a listening device a conversation between CRAWFORD and his switchboard operator in which he "fixes" the testimony to divert suspicion from him. When she confronts CRAWFORD with what she has heard, and tells him her silence is that she gives up on him, he angrily agrees. Nan defends CRAWFORD ably, and on the last day of the trial, Nan goes to the courtroom to see CRAWFORD, accompanied by little CURTIS MORGAN, who leaves on Nan's hands the morning, Nan is furious. The little boy drops asleep beside him a note, evidently stolen from his mother's pocket, in which CRAWFORD professes his love for Iris, admits his guilt and lays plans for their flight.

"I'm not down and out yet, and I never will be. If you don't want the money give it to Iris."

SO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XIV
Christmas, Nan?" John Morgan greeted his secretary on Tuesday morning. "I'm wearing the tie I bought for you. Best-looking one I've ever seen."

Carroll could have burst with relief. The two of them had seen him for a period of almost intolerable length. Her mildest night she pictured him alone on the day, deserted by his "best friend"; her heart had been that he might be dead in his living room, his sightless eyes turned toward the portrait of the woman who had betrayed him. She had not possessed the courage to do so.

Always she said that she trembled with hope, hoping that her husband would not too shamelessly betray her. The cravat of dark-blue and gray striped silk did look amazingly well. "Yes, Iris, it's a nice Christmas," she lied, trying to frame a letter which would adequately express my love for the roses and the check.

"You're a goose!" Morgan inquired brusquely. "I'm so in love with you for your help on the Cox case and the Crawford case, to say nothing of all the other cases, that all the thanks between us should come from me. Consider the hundred dollars bonus and not a tenth of it yours entitled to."

passed on into his private study and Nan sat staring at her for the tears, which she tried to control in his presence, she hotly down her cheeks, and to get away from this man whom she loved so dearly and so hopelessly, had been desperate pain on Christmas, when his roses had been sent to her and the sight of the writing on the card and which had accompanied it had made her ill with too much.

buzzed on her desk soundlessly dabbed furiously at the corners of her cheeks, snatched a puff from the top drawer and covered the traces of her self-pity; then took out her pencil and went into the study.

minutes later, when he came with a day-after-morning freshness and a long, irrelevant conversation, she food charged into the study without knocking. "Jack! How's the great lawyer in the United States? By golly, you're certain on for work! Why don't you get off for a few days? Happy New Year!" she frowned slightly. For some time CRAWFORD's blithe seemed to annoy him. "Special, Bert? We're busy this morning." CRAWFORD laughed boisterously and his friend on the back of a very special, old timer, thought I'd get rid of a scrap while I was in the neighborhood. And he drew his wallet from his pocket, abstracted a bill and ostentatiously laid it on the lawyer. "You wouldn't mind a bill, old man, so I let you be my guide."

enough, God knows!"
"Fortunes of war, Jack!" CRAWFORD shrugged. "I'm not down and out yet, and I never will be. If you don't want the money, give it to Iris. A woman likes to have a little fortune of her own tucked away in the bank."

Morgan's face lighted up with the tenderness which his wife's name always evoked. "That's not a bad idea, Bert, if you insist on paying. I'll open an account in her name today. She'll certainly be surprised and pleased. Mighty decent of you."

But Nan, sitting quietly, with pencil poised over her notebook, did not for a moment believe that it was "decent" of CRAWFORD. He was either being diabolically clever or insolently caustic. If he was really going to run away with Iris Morgan, Bert CRAWFORD would not lose the $20,000 so grandly presented to the man he had used and deceived; he and Iris would have every penny of it, in addition to the quarter of a million that CRAWFORD had stolen from the Mid-West Packing company.

And if he was not going to keep his promise to Iris, was planning to abandon her as he had doubtless abandoned many other women, then this $20,000—a small sum to a man who had a quarter of a million salted away—was a cad's way of cancelling his love debt. And John Curtis Morgan—blind, trusting darling that he was—thought Bert CRAWFORD was "mighty decent!"

"I didn't like to throw a damp-squid over the Christmas gayeries yesterday but the fact is, Jack, that I'm going to shake the dust of this man's town from my heels."

"What!" Morgan exclaimed. "Isn't this a hasty decision, Bert?"
CRAWFORD shook his handsome blond head emphatically. "No, old man, I've been mulling it over since the blow fell. The Mid-West Packing Company is bound to bust. It'll be in the hands of a receiver by the first of the year. And in spite of the fact that I was acquitted, my name won't be any too fragrant in these quarters."

"I'll move on to fresher, greener lands. In fact, I've already sent in my resignation and signed over my stock, whatever it may be worth, to help reimburse the poor devils who will suffer most from Bland's rascality—the small stockholders. I'll make a fresh start somewhere else. So it's good-bye, Jack. . . . No, keep that check! Give it to Iris, like I told you. Lord man, I'm not a pauper."

have had the audacity to come here and say good-bye to her husband if he doesn't take her? And if Iris Morgan say and do when she learns that her lover has left her $20,000 as heart balm?"

At 2 o'clock, after Nan had returned from an almost untasted luncheon, Morgan shrugged into his overcoat and announced cheerfully—a little too cheerfully, so that Nan knew he was still hurt: "I'm going to snatch a bite to eat, Nan, and then step over to the bank to meet Mrs. Morgan. If she calls up, tell her I'll be there at a quarter to three."

Nan had to watch him go, unprepared for the shock that might be awaiting him. If, after three, the hour the bank closed, he came back to the office troubled and bewildered, with the news that something must have detained Iris, since she had not met him, then she—Nan—would know that it was all over, that Iris had taken the train with Bert CRAWFORD. What would he do, oh what would he do when he learned the truth?

Her fingers were so cold with nervousness that she could not type. An hour to be lived through! Wasn't there some way of annihilating time? Desperate, she invaded the private office where Evans, the clerk, and Blake, the young lawyer on salary, pursued their uninteresting duties.

"Well, what kind of Christmas did you boys have?" she demanded with fictitious cheerfulness.
Listening to their lengthy replies mercifully consumed almost half an hour; three telephone calls providentially disposed of nearly 30 more minutes. She was just hanging up the telephone receiver when Morgan's shadow loomed against the glass panel of the door.

She braced herself to meet whatever his beloved face might reveal, but as the door opened she heard Iris' musical, artificial laughter.
"Of course I'll spend it! What is money for, silly old Jack! . . . Hello, there, Nan! You've heard of my sudden wealth, I suppose? Wasn't Bert a lamb to make Jack give it to me? And now this stupid old husband of mine wants me to let it lie in the bank, accumulating interest. I've been dying for a trip to New York and now I can take it. . . . No, you can't come along, Jack, and if you aren't awfully nice to me I won't come back."

"Oh, don't look at her like that, as if you could kiss her feet!" Nan wanted to scream at Morgan. "Don't you realize that she's warned you?"

BATTLEFIELDS STILL TAKING MANY VICTIMS

By RALPH HEINZEN
United Press Staff Correspondent.
PARIS, June 4.—The French battlefields, particularly the scarred "red zone" are still taking a heavy toll of lives ten years after the Armistice ended fighting. Statistics gathered by the Ministry of Liberated Regions for the United Press show that 2,545 persons have been injured or killed by shells left on the battlefields.

The cleaning up of the battlefields took a heavy toll among farmers, many of whom are blown to bits with their animals when a plow point strikes a buried shell or an unexploded mine or grenade. The government estimates that 320 such deaths resulted, and injury to 600 more.

There were 525 deaths and 1,100 injuries in the task of cleaning up the battlefields before they were turned over to their rightful owners for farming again. This included the victims of the delicate operation of taking the shells apart to recover the steel they contain. Many children were among the victims, also tourists, who disregarded the signs posted all over the battlefields warning trespassers against pulling wires or picking up grenades or shells.

The cleaning up process was especially dangerous, for there was no chart showing the location of many mines and once the troops were withdrawn from the front-line no one was left to point out the points where death lay buried under the surface.

The Germans, in withdrawing, fixed up many hasty mines under bridges, in the middle of roads, in houses and places where the Allied troops could be expected to seek shelter. Often a mine would be connected by unseen wire with an attractive helmet. The man who picked up the helmet as a souvenir would be blown to pieces. Doors were wired so that a turn of the knob would set off dynamite.

It took several years for thousands of men to walk over the battlefields picking up unexploded shells and weapons. Seven million acres of land were ruined by the war, torn up by shells, littered with barbed wire and concrete construction and filled with unexploded engines.

Three hundred and thirty-three million cubic metres of trenches had to be filled, and 14,000 miles of barbed wire had to be unstrung and rolled up. The reconstruction effort has been remarkable and six and a half million acres have been reseeded.

Permanent Damage
There are certain regions where nothing can be done. The ground was so badly cut up by shells and trenches that the soil is worthless, even for tree culture. So these areas will be formed into "red zone parks" and kept as a permanent memorial to teach future genera-

ELDORADO, Kas., June 4.—The preliminary hearing of Owen Oberst, 18-year old Butler county farm youth, charged with the murder of his parents, and five younger brothers and sisters, the night of April 20, 1928, opened here today.

AN ORDINANCE

An ordinance making it unlawful for any person to deposit or allow to be deposited in any vessel connected with the city sewer system, any garbage, hair, ashes, fruit or vegetables, peelings, refuse, rags, cotton, cinders, benzine, gasoline, crankcase oil, etc., and for certain persons to remove the cover from any manhole, grease trap or lamphole, or to molest or otherwise tamper with or damage any sewer main or pipe, etc.; defining those officers who shall have access to said sewer lines and connections and their duties, and authorities in connection therewith, and the duty of the public to observe instructions given by such officers, and providing a penalty for violation and declaring an emergency.

WHEREAS, a practice has arisen of permitting crankcase oil and other refuse to flow into the city sewer system, and

WHEREAS, said practice has caused substantial damage to said sewer system and disposal plant, and

WHEREAS, the city has recently repaired at great expense said disposal plant, installing new equipment therein, and it has become imperative as a police regulation to protect the health of the citizens as well as said property damage, to enact laws governing said practices according to the terms and provisions of the following ordinance.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF EASTLAND, TEXAS: SECTION I It shall be unlawful for any person to throw or deposit, or cause or permit to be thrown or deposited, in any vessel or receptacle connected with the public sewer, any garbage, hair, ashes, fruit or vegetables, peelings or refuse, rags, cotton, cinders, benzine, gasoline, crankcase oil or any oils of any description, or any other matter or thing whatever, except feces, urine and the necessary closet paper and liquid house soap, and ordinary kitchen grease.

SECTION II

It shall also be unlawful for any person except those herein authorized to fix to be improperly connected, to remove the cover from any manhole, grease trap, lamphole, or otherwise to wantonly damage any sewer main or pipe, or drain or fixture connected therewith.

SECTION III

The superintendent of water works and sewers, sanitary officer, and the city engineer shall at all times have access to all closets, urinals, sinks and other connections with the water works and sewers for the purpose of inspecting same, and if any such connections or fixtures, or parts of same, shall, at any time, be found to be improperly connected, out of repair or in a condition to unnecessarily waste water, or in an unsanitary condition, it shall be the duty of said officer to notify the owner, occupant, lessee, or agent in charge of such premises, or either of them, of such condition. It shall thereupon become the duty of said owner or lessee to remedy such condition by having the same repaired and made sanitary in accordance with the sanitary plumbing code of the city, within three days from receipt of such notice, and pending such repairs said closet, urinal or other fixture so out of repair shall be by the superintendent or chief of police, closed until such repairs have been made.

SECTION IV

Any one found guilty of a violation of any of the provisions of this ordinance shall on conviction therefore be fined in any sum not less than Five ($5.00) Dollars nor more than Two Hundred ($200.00) Dollars and each day said ordinance is violated shall constitute a separate offense.

SECTION V

This ordinance shall be cumulative with all previous ordinances, except insofar as such previous ordinances or sections thereof shall be in direct conflict with this ordinance, and as to such portions, sections or ordinances which shall be in direct conflict, the same are hereby repealed insofar as such conflict exists.

SECTION VI

Should any section or part of a section of this ordinance be declared to be invalid by any court of competent jurisdiction, such decision or judgment shall not affect the remaining sections or parts of sections, but the remaining portions, parts or sections, shall continue to be in full force and effect.

SECTION VII

The conditions set forth in the preamble to this ordinance create an emergency to the extent that the rule requiring ordinances to be read at three separate and several meetings of the city commission should be suspended; said rule is hereby suspended, and this ordinance is placed on its third and final reading and finally passed, and the same shall be in full force and exist from its passage and publication as required by the city charter, and it is so ordained.

Passed by unanimous vote on May 20, 1929. I. W. C. Marlow, Clerk of the City of Eastland, Texas, hereby certifies that the above and foregoing is a true and correct copy of an ordinance passed by the Commissioners of the City of Eastland on the 20th day of May, 1929.

W. C. MARLOW, City Clerk.

BIBLE WILL HAVE PART IN THREE SCHOOLS

COLLEGE STATION, June 4.—Coach Dana X. Bible, veteran Texas Aggie gridiron mentor who will assume duties as head coach of the Nebraska Cornhuskers next fall, will participate in three coaching schools during the coming summer, he has announced.

Bible will begin his summer's work at the coaching school of the University of Nebraska June 12-26, assisted by his entire coaching staff. He will devote particular attention to football coaching, he said.

At the coaching school of the Oklahoma Baptist university, Shawnee, Okla., July 29-August 10, Coach Bible will instruct in football coaching during the first week. The second week of the course there will be devoted to basketball under the direction of Lambert, Perdue university mentor.

August 5-17 the second annual D. X. Bible-Francis A. Schmidt coaching school will be held at Corpus Christi with courses in all college sports. Coach Bible will again pay particular attention to football while Coach Schmidt, former Arkansas Razorback mentor who will become head coach of the T. C. U. Horned Frogs next fall, will take the lead in basketball.

Boston kept Cincinnati in the cellar by handing the Reds a 4 to 1 beating at Cincinnati. Levertette held the Reds to seven hits.

CHARGE MAIL ORDER WIFE IS 20TH CENTURY BORGIA

By NEA Service. SONORA, Calif.—A modern Borgia, using matrimonial agencies to get victims for their insurance—as Steve Rablen says. 1,500 BOYS TO PILGRIMAGE TO ENGLAND

Nearly 1,500 American boys will pilgrimage to England this summer to take part in the greatest that the world has ever known. The group will be official representatives of the Boy Scouts of America at the World Jamboree to be held at Birkenhead, across the Mersey river from Liverpool, England, from July 31 to August 13, this year. Fifty thousand Boy Scouts representing 42 different nations will pitch their tents and for two weeks will work and play together. The World Jamboree is being held to celebrate the 21st birthday of the founding of the Boy Scout movement and also to pay tribute to Sir Robert Baden-Powell, Chief Scout of the World. More than 400 acres of ground will be under canvas when the World Jamboree opens on July 31.

In patrol units of eight, under adult leaders, the American Scouts will embark from several different seaports and landing in Liverpool, Harwich, Grimsby, Hull, Goolie and Newcastle, will pilgrimage to the Jamboree Camp. Many of the American Scouts will embark on special trains from the various English seaports and be carried to Birkenhead and Upton. From there they will be transported by motor to Arrow Park where the world-gathering is to be held. Reports— from the International Scout Bureau, at London, state that in all more than 15,000 Boy Scouts are expected from countries outside of the British Empire. The dominions and colonial possessions of Great Britain will send additional 2,000 Scouts to the Jamboree and the remainder of the group will be made up of English Scouts. Many nobles from continental Europe will be present. In previous Jamborees and at four-year-intervals, the Kings of England, Sweden and Denmark have attended. This year the Prince of Wales, who is Chief Scout of Wales will camp with the Scouts. The Duke of Connaught representing the British Crown will review the opening parade.

—for pleasure," said the former president's grandson. "They think to lose their senses and revel in drunkenness. The automobile, too is ruining this country and blasting the lives of our young people. The cars enable young people to drive far from their homes and their parents' surveillance. The outcome— of these promiscuous drinking and petting parties is frequently disastrous." Although from a conservative Republican family, Arthur said he supported former Governor Alfred E. Smith in the presidential election and was jailed in Boston once for speaking on the Boston common in favor of the Sinn Fein movement in Ireland.

Young Arthur said he hoped to write a novel after completing his experiences aboard the freighter. He said a sailor's life had hardships as well as the romance of going to places and doing adventurous things. Arthur's home is near Santa Barbara, California. His wife Charlotte Arthur, has had poems published frequently in national publications.

Stays Outside Rablen, a war veteran, suffering from a head ailment, that had made him almost deaf, and also somewhat morose, declined to accompany his wife into the dance

Mrs. Eva Rablen, "mail order wife," above, is held as the slayer of her husband, Carroll B. Rablen, below, who died after drinking coffee.

Coffee, sandwiches and cake were served the dancers. And Mrs. Rablen took coffee and a sandwich to her spouse in his parked car. Half an hour later, Rablen was writhing in agony. He died in a few minutes.

Near the car, later, a poison bottle was found. A druggist at another village identified Mrs. Rablen as the purchaser of the poison. Mrs. Rablen was charged with murder.

Claims Alibi She made complete denial of the charge denied buying poison. She and her twin sister declared they could prove another woman bought the poison, that Mrs. Rablen was at her home, miles away when the poison was purchased.

And gradually, there has been unraveling the story of a courtship between Mrs. Rablen, 33, and Rablen, a year older, brought about through a matrimonial advertisement in Texas. Eighteen months ago they were married against the wishes of Rablen's father. There was insurance, recently made over to the wife.

YOUTH SEES MANY PERILS IN JAZZ AGE

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—Clad in working clothing and with an overnight growth of beard on his face, Chester A. Arthur, Jr., grandson of the president of the United States and sailor on a freighter, arrived here recently in quest of adventure.

A poet himself, Arthur went across the river to see the home of Prohibition was vigorously denounced by the 28-year-old sailor who blamed it for many of the evils of the present "jazz age."

WOODS HOLE, Mass., June 4.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today was apparently continuing his game of hide-and-seek in an effort to enjoy seclusion during his honeymoon with the former Miss Anne Morrow.

The Mouette, believed to be the colonel's honeymoon motor yacht, weighed anchor and slipped out of the harbor here shortly after 10:30 a. m.

The double cabin cruiser, presumably the one which Lindbergh purchased shortly before his marriage in Englewood, N. J., a week ago yesterday, was seen lying at anchor about a half mile down the harbor by coast guards today. It evidently had slipped into the harbor during the night.

As soon as coast guards, with the aid of glasses, had distinguished the name "Mouette" on the trim craft's bow, newspapermen arranged to attempt to board the yacht.

Suddenly the figure of a tall man, wearing a white sailor suit, appeared on the Mouette's deck. He put up a flag, weighed anchor and the cruiser immediately began nosing its way out of the harbor. The entire operation did not require five minutes.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS By Laufer

"RABBIT" MARANVILLE, whose fame will live as one of the greatest shortstops of the National League, is one of the most interesting players to watch perform.

His diving stops and unceasing throws from off-balance positions have always afforded thrills for fans who look for the spectacular. But in handling infield flies, the Rabbit has a style all his own and it never fails to bring a ripple of amusement from the stands.

When a high one is lofted his way, the Rabbit judges it at a glance, runs to where it will land and forms the copyrighted "basket" with his gloved hand held at arm's length below the waist. When the ball comes down it plops in the glove, retires the batsman and brings the house down.

But not always.

According to Maranville, he hadn't made an error on a pop fly since 1912 until Sunday, May 26, 1929. On this day Ed McKee of the New York Giants lifted a ball high over the infield. Maranville signaled his teammates, assumed a bored expression and parked himself under the descending ball.

You have an idea of how mad a wet hen is if you could have seen how mad the Rabbit was when the ball bounded high out of the "basket" for the first time in 17 years.

By the Way ---

It is not often that politics and sports get mixed together. That is unless you consider politics a sport itself. About the only occasion that we recall was several years ago at a football game when one eminent Texan attracted considerable attention by shouting "Hurrah for Dan Moody and A. & M."

At least that was the most recent instance of politics and sports being in the same picture until a few days ago when Governor Moody sent a ranger to Dallas to prevent a prize fight from being held.

Prize fights have been held in the chief cities of the state for months and months. The sport pages of the Star-Telegram, Dallas News, and other big dailies have been filled with accounts of these scraps. Will Rogers says that all he knows is what he reads in the newspapers. Apparently the young governor doesn't know that much—he doesn't seem to have time to read the newspapers.

Because of course if he had read the newspapers, he would have read about those scraps in Fort Worth, Galveston and so on, and he would have stopped them too. He says himself that he will stop any fights that his attention is called to. So if you happen to read in a paper that a prize fight is going to be held somewhere in Texas and you don't want it to come off, drop Dan a postal card. He'll appreciate it.

Some folks have gotten real critical of the governor for rushing a ranger into Dallas to halt a fight between two able-bodied fellows who had no objection to punching each other in the presence of a bunch of folks who were willing to part with currency or silver to witness the aforesaid and the same, those not desiring to see the savage spectacle of bloody butchery of course exercising their right to remain away.

Dan says if the legislature passes a law legalizing professional boxing that he will veto the bill. He says it's a poor sport anyway. Maybe we think that about golf but we're not agitating any law to prohibit it.

Ranger Truck Gardener Is Doing His Part

Helps Suffering People By Telling His Experience With Orgatone.

"It didn't take many doses of Orgatone Iron to satisfy me that I had found the right medicine for my case at last," declared W. N. Huddleston, a well-known truck gardener residing at 1220 Young St., Ranger, Texas, the other day.

"For thirty years," continued Mr. Huddleston, "my stomach was in such a terrible condition that everything I would eat bloated me up with gas till I was miserable most all the time. My appetite went back on me and I just had to force down a little I did eat and when I did eat I was constantly belching up hot water. My nerves were in such wretched shape that I couldn't half sleep and I would get up in the morning feeling so fagged out that I couldn't do anything like I wanted. I was weak and run-down and feel so tired and worn out all the time that I was hardly fit for a thing."

"I got me a bottle of Orgatone Iron and began to pick up right off. My appetite has improved so much that I can eat and enjoy everything set before me and I never have any trouble with gas or sour stomach now, my nerves are getting in fine shape and I sleep like a child. I have gained some in weight and stronger and have more energy than before, and I can do any work in my gardens with more satisfaction than in a long time, and I am doing my part to help suffering people by telling what Orgatone did for me."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile treatment and is sold in Eastland exclusively by Toombs-Richardson Drug Store who are direct laboratory agents. —Adv.

VESUVIUS STILL ACTIVE

NAPLES, June 5.—The lava flow from Mt. Vesuvius, creeping down Hell Valley like a huge, crackling serpent, was scarcely 1,000 feet from the main square of Terzigno today and was threatening reservoirs supply large towns on the mountain's sides.

Terzigno's reservoirs and several outlying houses already had been destroyed by the mass of smoking cinders, 32 feet high and more than 200 feet wide, as it pushed slowly down the mountain toward level ground.

A CARD OF THANKS
We take this means of expressing our heartfelt gratitude to our many friends for their deeds of kindness and words of sympathy in our recent sorrow. The death of our husband and father has been deep grief to us, but your loving words and deeds have brought rays of sunshine through the clouds. We are indeed grateful to each one who ministered unto us in this hour. May the Heavenly Father bless and comfort each of you in our prayer.—Mrs. J. S. Garrison and children.

A Smack at Der Paulie

DER PAULIE BERLENBACH, who quit the boxing racket and went back to his first love, wrestling, was hauled in recently before the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission. The commissioners had a very low regard for the art that was demonstrated in a match between Berlenbach and Pat McKay.

Berlenbach was notified that he had been suspended and was asked if he had anything to say in his own defense.

He is a simple and innocent sort of a lad and he protested that he had not stalled or carried his man and that he was doing the best rassing he knew how.

And the chairman of the commission popped back at poor Paulie: "Well, you'll stay suspended now. If that's the best you can do you ought to be kept out of the ring."

And One for Der Gus
A FEW minutes later the commission slapped the plaster on Der Gus Sonnenberg, der heavyweight rassing champion, with the official decree that it would behoove him to acquire matches elsewhere than in the commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The commissioners accused Der Gus of rassing undesirable foes and of refusing to give a real rasser a chance to dump him.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

"BATHHOUSE JOHN COUGHLIN, Chicago alderman, owns Rogulsh Eye and Karl Eitel. . . . And he owns also a light regard for a well known constitutional amendment. . . . He had 24 colts a couple of years ago and he had to name them. . . . And some of them he named "Good Beer," "Four Per Cent," "Light Wine," "Real Stuff," etc. . . . And when he filed the names for registration the Jockey Club marked off the whole list. . . . The Jockey Club is very particular about names. . . . Max Rosenfeld was sent by the Brooklyns to Atlanta. . . . And he was then transferred to Toledo. . . . He hit a home run a couple of days before he left Atlanta. . . . And a collection was taken up for him. . . . And it amounted to twenty bucks. . . . They say that Al Nichols, the Amherst pitcher, is better than "Bots" Neckola, the Holy Cross pitcher. . . . And that the major league scouts are pestering Nichols. . . . And he won't play pro baseball.

Hard to Figure Out

THE rapid descent of Berlenbach from the light heavyweight boxing champion of the world to the condition of what the racketeers call a stumble-bum, is one of the mysteries of the decade.

Berlenbach was a great champion. Old Bill Muldoon said he was the most admirable champion he ever had seen. He never quibbled about an opponent or the price. He fought them all and he was a good fighter. But suddenly he went completely back. The boxing fellows said he had become punch-drunk. He was always a fellow willing to take one to give one and he took plenty.

Here's Another Story

RECENTLY we heard another theory. And perhaps a logical one. It was given by a neighbor who went to school with him and followed him in all his fights. When he was just a kid he

There are 197 Different Grades of Satin!

We have just learned that fact from a current magazine. 197 different grades of satin!

And the thought just strikes us that if we enter one of Eastland's dry goods stores to buy some satin, how could we tell what grade we were getting?

As a matter of fact, we couldn't tell whether we were getting Grade 25 or Grade 167.

For that very reason, we prefer to buy our merchandise at home. We prefer to buy it from our local merchants who know the merchandise and in whom we have explicit confidence.

We don't know the various grades of satin or silk or muslin. It isn't necessary that we know them. We have dry goods merchants here in Eastland on whom we can depend for that information when we need it.

In dry goods, or other lines, the merchants of Eastland are ready to give you any information you might desire about their merchandise. We know, because we have asked them many times for such information.

CARNIVAL; CARNIVAL; SENIOR EPWORTH LEAGUE ENTERTAINS

Tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, the senior Epworth League will put on an honest-to-goodness first-class carnival, in the lower assembly room of the Methodist church, and invite all their friends, Eastland and vicinity, to visit them and enjoy the many booths, which will include that of the fortune teller, a two-headed lady, a kissing booth, rolled hose, a fish pond, and swimming match, arranged in the basement.

The center of the assembly room, will be reserved as a tea garden, bedecked with Japanese lanterns, clematis and other vines, with dainty little tables and candy, cake, pop corn, iced punch and hot or cold tea served.

Perhaps one may even get sandwiches. The entertainment promises to be very intriguing, and will be the first of its kind since the closing of school.

The purpose of the carnival is to defray expenses of the delegates to the Epworth League assembly which will meet June 24, in Ft. Worth, and be in session during the conference there.

It is hoped to put on the carnival without much expense to the League, so that every cent made may be used for the purpose announced.

This live organization is composed of Pettit Castleberry, president; Miss Ruby Tindall, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. June Kimball, leader; Misses Evelyn Hearn, Maedelle Seal, Nell Mackall, Fannie Lorraine Taylor, Opal Harrell, Wilma Frost Fay Crossley, Carl Vesta Smith, Adrean Steele, Lucile Brogdon, and Jane Rotramel, Wellman Raines, Jack Kimball and Tillman Stubblefield.

and Mrs. Rufus H. Bush of Tyler, formerly of Eastland when Mr. Bush was county demonstration agent, and all around leader of county boys' work, with their nine-year old son, Edwin, stopped at the Connellee hotel Sunday and Monday and yesterday were the guests of friends.

Mr. Bush has met with splendid success in his new connection with the educational bureau of the Chilean Nitrate of Soda in the past four years, and has rapidly advanced, being now the district agent for the company, and residing in Tyler, where the state headquarters are maintained.

Many of the clubwomen, who were former close friends of Mrs. Bush, have been calling on her, and Tuesday they were the noon luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lovett, and the dinner guests last evening of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Springer, leaving this morning for their home.

MRS. STANLEY BIRD ENTERTAINS QUESTION CLUB

Mrs. Stanley Bird was at home to the Question club at Power Plant site, entertaining the club with a one o'clock luncheon.

Three tables beautifully appointed were centered with blue vases filled with sweetpeas, and the buffet luncheon was served from a handsome tea table that was centered with a large bowl of roses.

At one side stood the hospitable tea wagon, with its cargo of tea, ice, mint, sugar and olives and lemon. The delicious menu of sliced tomatoes, buttered beefs, fried chicken, potato au gratin, pickles, hot biscuit, followed the fruit cocktail, and concluded with the Bavarian frozen cream, and chocolate cookies.

Favor for high score, an etched green crystal Fostoria bowl, was awarded Mrs. Joe H. Jones.

The hostess, who is leaving soon for the summer, and perhaps definitely to make the family home elsewhere, was presented a lovely handkerchief shower by the Question club members, as a remembrance and fare-thee-well. Club members present were: Mrs. Curtis F. Corzellis, Perry Sayles, W. E. Chaney, A. H. Furse, Alex Clarke, P. G. Russell and hostess, with guests, Mrs. Scott W. Key, Frank M. Corzellis, Fred Wilcox and Miss Irene Hill.

The next meeting of the club will be held in two weeks with Mrs. W. E. Chaney at 10 a. m., Tuesday.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL STILL GROWING

The continued enrollment of students in the Vacation Bible school presses appreciation in which this class of school is held by both parents and children.

A number of very intriguing, colorful and useful accomplishments are being taught.

Mrs. J. LeRoy Arnold has several lines of instruction but one especially is that of the intermediate work in making handsome and substantial waste paper baskets and enameling vases.

The primary department is stressing the manufacture of sewing baskets and the boys are fashioning very snappy match boxes.

The junior and intermediate classes are very busy constructing mail boxes.

We will have something to tell about the sewing and embroidery another time.

One of the most interesting features of the school is the teaching of hymnology, which, for the sake of the uninitiated means memorizing the good old standard hymns that were sung many years ago.

Somewhat on the order it is supposed of knowing Thanatopsis, De Lorelei, The Raven and the Star Spangled Banner.

There were 13 new members enrolled, bringing the total up to 103 with eleven teachers, making 114 in all yesterday.

Some 30 members attended the meeting of the Order of Eastern Star Tuesday night, the first appearance of the new officers taking their places with the Worthy Matron, Mrs. George E. MRS. V. T. SEABERRY HOSTESS TO LUNCHEON CLUB

Mrs. Virgil T. Seaberry was hostess to the little luncheon club at her pretty residence on Burkett Boulevard, at one p. m., yesterday, when the three small table seating four each, held place cards for Misses Alvy Bendy, B. B. Horton, Grady Pipkin, H. O. Tatum, M. L. Keasler, Carl Springer, J. J. Haly, and hostess, with Mrs. W. Beall Smith and her sister from Waco, Mrs. Alexander, as guests.

Each table was centered with clear crystal vases filled with nasturtiums, and sweet peas in pastel shades.

The menu of fruit salad had a luncheon plate composed of fried chicken, fresh peas, potatoes in cream, pickled peaches and last course of rainbow whip, with white cake, gold cake and iced tea.

The social period following was very delightful. Mrs. B. B. B. Bickerstaff will be hostess in two weeks at one p. m.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus H. Bush left this morning for their home in Tyler, following a pleasant three day visit in Eastland.

Mrs. Allen Dabney is in Ft. Worth and upon her return motor trip will be accompanied by her daughter, Miss Geraldine, a student of T. C. U.

RAIN AT BORGER

BORGER, TEX., June 5.—Borger and Hutchinson county had an all night rain that registered more than an inch today. The moisture was needed for wheat plants.

WOODRUFF AND HIS GRAVE IN FRANCE

"I'm still alive, despite what the War Department says," declares George W. Woodruff as he toils at the meat block at his butcher shop in Buffalo. At the right is the official "death notice" his wife received and a picture of the grave that bears his name in France.

THEODORE F. MAC MANUS Co-Author with Norman Beasley, of "Men, Money and Motors," and author of "The Sword Arm of Business" and other books and essays.

Fortunes Were on Trees for Bravest and Boldest.

Full of intimate narrative, hitherto unrelated, concerning practically all of the important figures having to do with the past and present manufacturing of motor cars, "Men, Money, and Motors," cannot fail to be of exceptional reading interest and historical worth. Fisher Brothers, Chrysler, Ford, Durant, the Dodge Brothers, Sloan, Willys, Nash, White, Couzens, Franklin, Jewett, Metzger, Everitt, Brush, Hupp, Olds, Jordan, Winton, Seiden, Graham, Chapin, Corbin, Chalmers, Haynes, Kettering, Collins, Brisco, Hawkins, Klingensmith, Chandler, Dunaway, and so on—the list seems endless.

Message of Condolence

One paragraph, addressed to his supposed widow, reads thus: "You will be comforted to know that his body has been recovered, that it lies buried in a spot which is under our care and control, and that there will be no danger of its loss or neglect."

"The American Graves Registration Service sent out a good many thousands of form letters like that. But this one, probably alone among its kind, was greeted with laughter when it arrived.

"Decoration Day?" said Woodruff, repeating a question. "Oh I don't know—probably I'll take the wife and kids on a picnic somewhere."

He looked again at the photograph of his grave. "You know," he said, "there's one thing I'd like to know. I'm not in that grave of mine over there—but who in thunder is? Bet it's some poor guy whose folks don't know yet what's become of him. And they probably never will."

been heard of them and so little is known that the chap-

CAMEL CIGARETT

WHY CAMELS ARE THE BETTER CIGARETTE

Camels contain such tobaccos and blending as have never been offered any other cigarette.

They are made of the choicest Turkish and American tobaccos grown.

Camels are always smooth and mild. Camel quality is jealously maintained by the world's largest organization of expert tobacco men... it never varies. Smoke Camels as liberally as you choose. They will never tire your taste.

Nor do they ever leave an unpleasant after-taste.
