SUPERIOR WELL PROVES SENSATION

ALBANY, April 22.—Superior Oil Producing Co. No. 3 on Reynolds Cattle company lease was drilled into the producing sand last week and developed the best well in the field in southeast Haskell county, adjacent to Shackelford and Throckmorton counties. From a depth of 1,740 feet top of sand the well, after drilled in 10 feet total depth, 1,750 feet, is making estimated 3,000,000 feet of wet gas and 1210 barrels of oil daily—at the rate of five barrels hourly. This well is located 400 feet north of the No. 1 on the Fenner survey, and is rated better than either of the other wells, which came in with an initial production of around 70 barrels daily. No. 2 well, being drilled just a location west of the No. 3. These wells are on geology worked out several years ago by H. H. Adams, and the No. 1 was drilled originally by Moody Oil company several years ago, and was shut down just 70 feet above the producing horizon for a year, and was drilled into the sand, a 70 barrel well, just at the time Moody Oil company's holdings in the area were purchased by the Superior Oil Producing Co. J. O. Hyde of Albany was contractor on the last well drilled.

M. D. ABBOTT me in every case, and say that Sargol is all that I told them it was. I had headaches and severe pains across my back and shoulders. I lost weight and was run-down so I was hardly able to work. My kidneys were in bad condition. I was able to eat only a little food as I had suffered with indigestion for two years. I spent sums of hard earned money for medicines and treatments that did me no good, until I began taking Sargol. This new medicine suited my case just like it had been made for it.

“Sargol is as far ahead of other medicines as day is ahead of night. My wife has just begun the Sargol treatment, and I am sure it will benefit her as surely as it did me.” The above statement was made by M. D. Abbott, well known contractor of 600 East Hattie St., Ft. Worth.

LET LUNCH WITH THE TWO PLOTTERS WORK SO SMOOTHLY THAT POP IS ALL READY TO FALL FOR THEIR DOUBLE-CROSS.

SAID, THAT'S FINE OF YOU, BRAGG.

YEAH, I'LL SAY IT IS. I GOT SOME MONEY.

Stephen had no objection to make when Lefty suggested going out to Long Island.

Lefty waxed enthusiastic over the car before they had crossed the Queensboro bridge. He seemed especially pleased with its "pick up"—the way Stephen left other cars standing when the traffic signals flashed him the right of way; the ease with which it handled in and out of the slower moving vehicles where there was room for Stephen to maneuver into a better position without too flagrantly violating the traffic rules, and the smoothness of the gear shift.

They made quick work of the Queens boulevard and Stephen headed for a straightaway he knew well on an open side road. There were no crossings for several miles, nothing to obstruct the view but Stephen covered the distance with moderate speed, explained to Lefty that he was giving the road a "once over."

There were no ruts or holes, so he turned back, remarking to his companion that the car had been broken in at the factory. Still, it would be giving it pretty harsh treatment to throw it wide open, he said. But Lefty told him to go ahead.

"And if she makes it," he added importantly, "we'll drop in at a place I know out here and close the deal."

Look Forward To Pecan Convention

Special to Eastland Telegram.
 CISCO, April 23.—The program for the Brazos Valley Pecan Growers Association convention which will take place in Cisco on April 30, has been completed.

Perhaps the most valuable feature of the program, certainly one that adds greatly to value of the convention, is a novel addition in the form of a continuous school of instruction in budding and grafting which will be conducted aside from the regular convention by J. F. Rosborough, of A. & M. college. Practical pecan growers who are interested in the improvement of their orchards, especially native trees, will find this school of incalculable value. It alone offers sufficient benefit to make their attendance upon the convention more than worth their while, even though they fail to participate in other activities which will take place.

The program as a whole is one of the most comprehensive and best that the association has ever prepared for a convention. The session begins at 9:30 a. m. with registration at the Cisco Chamber of Commerce. This registration costs $1 per person, that price including the luncheon which will be served under the Mother Burckett tree west of Cisco near Putnam. Those who wish to attend the luncheon without registering for the convention may do so for the price of 50 cents.

Incidentally this luncheon will have as honor guest J. H. Burckett, the "Burbank of West Texas" who discovered and developed the famous Burckett variety of pecans and whose labors have resulted in much horticultural advancement in West Texas. Mr. Burckett will be presented a trophy in recognition of his contributions to horticulture.

Rev. Acker C. Millet, pastor of the First Baptist church of Cisco, will pronounce the invocation at 10 a. m. The welcome address will be delivered by F. E. Harrell of Cisco, and the response by A. W. Whitfield, of Breckenridge, vice-president of the association.

The president's address, by D. C. Glenn of Grandbury, will take place at 10:20 and this will be followed by the appointment of the necessary committees.

At 10:40 a. m. there will be an address by Ross R. Wolfe, of Stephenville, on "Clearing and Spacing Native Pecan Timber." At 11 o'clock Frank Willman of the state department of agriculture at Austin, will speak on "Topping and Budding Large Trees." He will be followed at 11:30 a. m. by A. S. Gray, of the North Texas Agriculture College at Arlington, who will talk on "Treatment of Wounds on Pecans."

After this address there will be announcements by E. H. Varnell, Cisco vocational agriculturist, and then the delegates and visitors will be transported to old Burckett tree west of Cisco where lunch will be served and honor paid J. H. Burckett.

At 1:15 with the resumption of the session H. M. Brundrett, of John Tarleton college, Stephenville, will discuss "Varieties." He will be followed at 1:30 by reports on planting and improvement of pecans by various county agents.

The business session, including the election of officers and the selection of the next meeting place will take place at 1:45.

At 2:30 p. m. J. F. Rosborough, of the A. & M. college extension service, will conduct a demonstration in top-working, budding and grafting at the Charles Wendle farm. At the same time Ross R. Wolfe, of Stephenville, will conduct a demonstration in deadening trees with poison.

At least 100 people are expected to attend the luncheon under the Mother Burckett tree while the number at the convention should be at least approximate this figure. Plenty of registration tickets have been provided. Of the price of $1 for these 50 cents is for membership in the association and the remaining 50 cents for the luncheon.

Texas has what some men will regard as 28,000 acres of waste land devoted to the production of pinach.—The Toledo Blade.

Stephen's face was now a nice, healthy red. "That was a kid idea," he mumbled.

into trouble. I've learned that you are borrowing money from the other salesman. . . .

"I've repaid them, except . . ."

But Mr. Mettle would not allow Stephen to break in before he had finished what he had to say.

"And I've been told," he went on, "that you spend a great deal of time at a certain club in Westchester. That alone must be quite a drain on your resources." He looked at Stephen as though he expected the young man to confess to some black magic to explain his association with Pamela's friends.

Stephen's anger began to rise. "At any rate I'm not overdrawn here," he said shortly. "And in my opinion . . ."

"In your opinion," Mr. Mettle interjected, "that's just the trouble, Armitage. Your opinion; I don't trust it. It isn't sound."

Stephen's blood was hot now. "In that case," he began belligerently, but again his employer stopped him.

"No need to lose your temper," Mr. Mettle said hastily. "Your sales record, I will admit, is better than the average. But it seems to me it might be even better than it is if your judgment didn't lead you into wasting so much time on prospects that don't appear to be very hot."

"I believe in building up my clientele on a sound basis," Stephen answered readily. "I'm not a high pressure salesman."

"Yes, and you believed in the honor system among buyers," Mr. Mettle snapped at him. "I know all about that bright idea of yours that cost your company out in Indiana a pretty penny."

Stephen's face was now a nice, healthy red. "That was a kid idea," he mumbled.

"A kid idea! A crazy idea. Letting the customer take the car out without a demonstrator along. Let him sell himself. Then he'd stay sold. Not bad so far, but when every demonstrator car you had in the place went out on the same day in the hands of a bunch of thieves and never came back . . ."

"Well, I warned the company they'd have to know who the buyers were." Stephen defended himself. "But the thing worked so well they got careless."

"And now maybe you're getting a little bit careless," Mr. Mettle snorted. "Your ideas might be fine in a place where you had only one car to sell, but big distributors like those people in Indiana and myself can't afford to be wings on everyone who becomes interested in our cars."

"All right," Stephen said quietly, "but we lose a sale."

Mr. Mettle managed to calm himself down a little. "Pretty sure of that?" he asked doubtfully.

"So sure of it that I'm ready to give a few hours to stepping the bus to clinch it," Stephen said, his salesmanship overriding his resentment. "This man's a sell, sure enough, Mr. Mettle. And I'm not seeing any wings on him to tell me so. He's a tough customer, but he wants a fast car, and he handles the same money we get from other people."

Mr. Mettle hesitated. "You know what will happen if we send the car out on the road and he doesn't buy," he said thoughtfully. "We'll have to make a demonstration allowance on it when we put it back on the floor."

Stephen had an answer for that. "I'll gamble on my judgment this time," he said eagerly. "Let me take it out. If the sale flops I'll sign over to you my commission on the next car I sell."

Mr. Mettle agreed, not averse to accepting Stephen's judgment when there was a possible gain with no risk to his company.

"I'll have him down for Wednesday," Stephen said, "but I've got his telephone number. Hadn't I better give him a ring? We can't hold the car for him."

"Go ahead, but remember, I warned you," Mr. Mettle replied, "that anything went wrong."

Stephen was soon in communication with Lefty Flint. They made an appointment for 1 o'clock that afternoon.

The day was fair; there hadn't been any rain for some time, so

Doctor Found Women and Children Sick More Often than Men

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

In the course of Dr. Caldwell's 47 years' practice, he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and placed it on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a public success as it previously had in Dr. Caldwell's private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us that it helped when everything else failed. While women, children and elderly people are especially benefited by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, its mild, gentle action is promptly effective on the most robust constitution and in the most obstinate cases. Containing neither opiates nor narcotics, it is safe for the tiniest baby. Children like it and take it willingly. Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

J. B. Caldwell M.D. AT AGE 63

 only three Indians reached second

Singles by Heilmann and Alex-

 the run by which the Detroit Tigers beat the St. Louis Browns, 1 to 0. Gehring had singled and advanced to second on a balk by Johnny Ogdin. Both teams made five hits.

Rogers Hornsby continued his terrific hitting as the Chicago Cubs scored their second straight shutout over the St. Louis Cardinals, 3 to 0. Hornsby hit a home run and a single. Malone had the better of Alexander in a pitcher's duel, holding the Cards to five

Six runs in the seventh inning four straight walks and scored three of the losers' runs.

All other games were postponed because of bad weather.

GOLF GOAT LETTERS

COPYRIGHT 1929 BY NEA SERVICE INC.

BY VERNE WICKHAM
 You will find the wise-cracking goat-getter on almost every course.
 He will yell back "Fore!" or "Four-ninety-eight!" when you courteously warn him of a shot by yelling "Fore."

Golf to him is a brand new game which furnishes bright cracks. He has an idea that the grand old game with its romance and its stories is going to profit because he and his wit have finally taken it up. He never misses a chance to call back a crack to anyone warning him.

"Fore"—A warning cry to any person in the way of the stroke of the ball. That's the rule book definition of the word.

Learn when to use it. Nothing so quickly marks a player a dub as the misuse of the warning. Yell it when your partner is at the top of his swing; yell it before you shoot to a green 300 yards away, and see how quick they hop on you. Many unpopular golfers in clubs can trace the fact back to the days when they went around the course like human foghorns, yelling "Fore" at everybody and everything.

If a member of your foursome strolls into your line of play, call
 "Fore."

If a golfer on the green doesn't notice you are back of him, call

 "Fore."
 If a golfer, by mistake, starts to play your ball, call "Fore."
 If you're driving through the foursome ahead by permission and you slice into them, yell "Fore."
 In fact, remember that "Fore!" is a warning call to any person in the way of the stroke or the ball.

compiled one of the most brilliant rec-erer made during the winter golf season, by winning five tournaments in Florida,

 the moneyed La Gorce meet.
 the youngster played 70 rounds taking a total of 5058 strokes in these and averaging 72.9-25 strokes a round.

And that is a record to shout about!
 As a member of the Ryder Cup team for the first time, Smith is expected to continue his remarkable steady play in England. And while it is a bit of optimism to expect a Smith victory in the British open, that would be entirely consistent with his play of recent months.
 Smith is being termed the most sensational golfer America has produced since Bob Jones came to the front. And it is the belief of many close critics of the game that he is a fine spot to take over Bob Jones' place among American golfers if he continues the game that he has shown in the past few months. At any rate, he is up there now and shows no signs of slipping.

Each Year Has Widespread Benefits—Mrs. W. K. Jackson Is Chairman of Eastland Committee.

Eastland again is asked to take part in the "Better Homes" campaign, a movement that this ambitious city has shown hearty sympathy with, in the past and fully realizes the strength and help it gives in building for the present and the coming years. The Civic League introduced the movement locally. Six years ago, when Mrs. W. K. Jackson at that time the presiding officer, accepted the post of chairman of Better Homes in America, a post tendered by Dr. Ford of Washington, D. C., the executive director of the board of directors, of which Herbert Hoover, president of the United States, is president. The advisory council includes all the worthwhile organizations established for education, Civic, Health and Home improvement, church, child-life, and musical betterment. Mr. Hoover tells us that the local Better Homes committees, which numbered more than 5,000 in 1928, "have made the Better Homes in America movement one of the strong upbuilding forces in our national life. A characteristic product of the American people, developed in response to a nationwide need, and taken up throughout the country and adapted to local situations with amazing rapidity."
 The "Better Homes in America" was initiated by Mrs. William Brown Meloney in 1922, and began as a private enterprise. The following year, the movement became such a force for good, in helping to create higher standards of living and housing, that the campaign was reorganized on a permanent basis, with Secretary Hoover as president, and Dr. Jas. Ford as executive director. It was incorporated for the purpose of education and public service, with headquarters established in Washington, D. C. Arrangements were made to have the work financed from public gifts. The bureau issues publications and conducts research.
 Demonstrations are conducted by local committees, in cities, towns and rural communities all over the United States in cooperation with other civic bodies of all sorts. These committees are chosen by the chairman, who, in turn, is appointed each year by the Washington office. The home campaigns consist of publicity lectures, discussion meetings, contests, exhibits, May Day cooperation with schools, assistance in public school projects of a civic nature, and wherever possible, the demonstration of a house, planned and furnished for a family of modest means, at a cost within reach of moderate circumstances.
 Such demonstrations were offered in Eastland by the Building & Loan association, who built and exhibited a "Home Beautiful" in Hillcrest last summer, and by Kinnaird and Been, who exhibited a lovely home. Both of these dwellings were thrown open to the public, for inspection and were completely furnished by local firms who, in this way, demonstrated their wares. Descriptions of these demonstrations were written by Mrs. Jackson, chairman of Better Homes in Eastland, a post to which she has been appointed each year.
 Cooperation with the local Civic organization is the plan that the chairman and her committee has followed. Eastland has many organizations all working for the upbuilding of the city, and her permanency in beautiful surroundings, good schools, adequate housing and attractive architecture, handsome churches, well kept lawns, and planting of trees, shrubs and flowers.
 Handsomely illustrated brochures are sent the chairmen of Better Homes, and pamphlets on building. Any of these will be loaned by the chairman on request. The local committee assists the established organizations in projects that are in keeping with the aims of Better Homes work.
 The Rotary club enjoyed an address at the Monday luncheon given along Better Homes ideas, by Earl Bender, chairman, and the Lions club had an address along similar lines given at their noon luncheon today by the president, Donald Kinnaird. The president of the Civic League, Mrs. Earl Johnson and Better Babies Bureau chairman, Ms. Tom Harrell, are chairmen for display of building plans, homes, etc. in local "show windows."
 The various Better Homes committee members working in affiliation on their church house, or lawn betterment. The Methodist church lawn, which has been beautified by its church members, of whom Mrs. E. C. Satterwhite, Mrs. H. O. Patterwhite and Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins are Better Homes committee members.
 Public addresses have been given in the schools on P. T. A. days, along Better Homes lines, and gifts of $5.00 in gold made by the chairman in both South Ward and West Ward schools in the Music Memory contest.
 Last May, the committee gave a sterling silver cup as one of the premiums in the Latin tournament.
 The Christian church will assemble for a picnic supper Wednesday evening, in the church house, and will later clean their church lawn and plant flowers in recognition of Better Homes week. The Thursday Afternoon club will have a brief message from their president, Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, on Better Homes, introduced into program as previously prepared.
 In all ways the Better Homes committee endeavors to cooperate with the organizations of Eastland that seek public good, and also strives to bring the public good to the eye of the public.
 Better music, better class of magazines, better films, better food, these are but a few of the many directions in which the Better Homes committee seeks to accomplish the work within its limited scope, and refrains from establishing a rivalry in civic improvement.
 The committee is deeply appreciative of the space and help given by the Eastland Telegram in presenting this annual campaign to Eastland. Very sincerely,
 Mrs. W. K. Jackson, Chairman,
 Mrs. W. T. Outward, Treasurer.
 National committee: Herbert Hoover, Dr. J. Lyman Wilbur, Miss Grace Abbott, Edwin H. Brown, John Gries, Christian A. Herte, Mrs. William Brown Meloney, Mrs. Harold Irving Pratt, Mrs. James J. Storrow.

Eastland Woman Receives High State Honors

Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins is Elected State Chairman of Junior and Juvenile Work, T. F. M. C.
 The recent State Convention of the Texas Federation of Music Clubs, which closed a four days' session in Corsicana on Saturday, brought Eastland again into the limelight of club publicity in the office of state chairman of Junior and Juvenile work, given Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins. This places Mrs. Perkins as a member of the executive board and the office goes into immediate effect. Mrs. Perkins was chairman of the nominating committee composed of the presidents of the seven districts, of which she was president of this, the sixth district.
 Mrs. J. O. Montrieff of Fort Worth was elected president of the Texas Federation of Music Clubs, over Mrs. I. D. Cole of Amarillo, defeated by just one vote. Mrs. Montrieff was nominated from the floor by Mrs. Leonard Withington of Fort Worth. Mrs. N. P. Turner of Marshall was elected first vice-president. The other officers recommended by the committee were elected without opposition and included: Mrs. M. G. Cheney of Coleman, second vice-president; Mrs. Knowles Melton of Longview, third vice-president; Mrs. Eugene Bullock of Dallas, recording secretary; Mrs. E. G. Godard of Houston, treasurer; Mrs. N. M. Wilcox of Austin, auditor, and Mrs. Julian Wells of Houston, parliamentarian. Mrs. James Price of Dallas, retiring president of the state federation, will become president of the past president's assembly, according to a revision of constitution.

Federation of Music Clubs, arrived Thursday morning. Her presence was evidenced thereafter on every program. In Mrs. Kelley's closing night address, she stressed the value of publicity in letting the public know the needs and plans of the Music Clubs. This is Mrs. Kelley's second visit to Texas. She lived in Dallas when a small child. Mr. Kelley is noted as a composer, and is the author of several works, also volumes of the course of study advised by the National Music Federation.
 Mrs. Montrieff, the new state president, was the guest of Mrs. Charles G. Norton and Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, some time ago, when she assisted in organizing the sixth district music clubs.
 Texas claims the honor of having more Junior music clubs than any other state in the Union.
 Saturday evening Mrs. Perkins was the guest, with Mrs. Kelley, of the Dallas Federation of Music Clubs at Adolphus Hotel. Later, Mrs. Perkins was the honoree of the Dallas Little Theatre who presented the prize winning play—and held a reception, behind the scenes, following the performance. The music club's special edition for music week of last year, was heartily admired by the convention. Mrs. W. K. Jackson was chairman-editor of the issue for which she has received requests from the federation to forward copies.
 Eastland is proud of the record for ability, constructive efforts and talent of Mrs. Perkins, who has served as president of the newly created sixth district of Texas Federation of Music Clubs, with signal success. Her special talent lies in her successful contact with organizations composed of Juniors. The McDowell Junior Club of Eastland is but one of her several efforts in this line of music activity.

RANGER, Texas, April 23.—The United States Marine Band, the official musical organization of the president of the United States and whose concert tours are authorized by act of congress and approved by the president, desires to give a concert here, according to a telegram received by Mayor John W. Thurman.
 W. L. Radcliffe asked Mayor Thurman for the name of a Ranger organization which would be interested in sponsoring the concert.
 He referred the official to Wayne C. Hickey, secretary of the chamber of commerce.
 The band will be available for a few Texas cities in October. It had been 15 years since the band toured Texas.

 WASHINGTON, April 22.—Chairman Snoot of the Senate Finance committee and Chairman Hawley, of the House ways means, have introduced similar bills to authorize the treasury issue a new form of security. These bills would be short term securities, with maturities not more than a year and probably of thirty, sixty and ninety days, rather than with interest coupons, and would be offered on competitive basis. They would supplement and make more flexible the government's short financing operations, Hawley said.

ABILENE FATHER ENDORSES ORGATONE
"My Son Was in a Very Run-Down Condition—Orgatone Proves a Good System Builder."
Mr. J. A. Stowe, of 2417 S. First St., Abilene, Texas, makes the following remarkable statement regarding his son's health, and what Orgatone did for him:
"My son has been in a very poor run down condition for several years. He has been bothered with stomach trouble and had to be very careful with what he ate or it would disagree with him. He was nervous and restless and didn't seem to have any energy at all or didn't take an interest in anything. He was gradually growing weaker and took all kinds of medicines and treatments but nothing seemed to have helped him any. We realized that he needed a good tonic and strength builder but couldn't seem to find the right medicine for him. I read so many local statements in the newspapers about the benefits people had derived from Orgatone and decided that he should try it. It seemed to be the right medicine for him, he is in much better health now than he has been for several years, his general health is improved greatly. He can eat most anything he wants now and seems to be stronger and have more energy than he did. Orgatone has proven to be a mighty good system builder and tonic in my son's case and it has helped him more than anything else and we both are glad to recommend it."
Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile treatment and sold in Eastland exclusively by Toombs & Richardson Drug Company who are direct laboratory agents.
