

PAIR BEING BROUGHT HERE ON MURDER CHARGE Ranger Host To District W. T. C. Of C. Today

Bob Stets of Politics by Col. Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald

More Work for the Lawmakers

Texas lawmakers will be back under the big dome on April 22. First they will tackle education, civil service and prison concentration. Then the governor will send in a message calling for the regulation of public utilities. He will urge the creation of a states utility commission separate from the railroad commission to regulate the utilities included in the bill which failed at the regular session.

Another important subject for legislation will be submitted with the recommendations of the governor. This is the report of the Texas tax survey commission. Chairman Colquitt and his associates in their report recommend a state income. This will provoke debate as well as call for the appearance "in the haunts of men" of very able and far seeing gentlemen who constitute what is known as the third house.

Public utilities will be well represented. Indeed, all the corporations will be well represented and this includes those who speak for the oil and gas companies of Texas and the southwest. Public utility regulation by a state commission is what is known as a platform demand. Governor Moody is for it heart and soul.

New Insane Person Every Night
A newspaper correspondent has it that it is known that Claude D. Deer, new budget member of the state board of control, told the members of the house appropriations committee "there is an average of a new insane person in Texas every night and that at least two buildings each year must be added to the hospital organization of the state if these unfortunates are to be kept out of the jails."

If submitted to a popular referendum the verdict of the people of Texas would be that insane persons must be kept out of the jails of the state. It is for the house appropriations committee to make an appropriation of $150,000 to meet emergencies. There is to be constructive work done and the lawmakers of the 41st should be men to do it.

First blot out the antiquated prison system. Give the people a modern system. Then take care of education, the highways and all the remaining major items to be found in the legislative program of the administration.

Hoover Listens to Labor
Matthew Woll is first vice president of the American Federation of Labor and said to be the ablest spokesman of labor in America. He called upon President Hoover. He paid his respects. He asked that organized labor be given a place on the federal tariff commission.

He diplomatically stated the reasons why organized labor should be given the place. According to the Washington correspondents the president lent Woll a willing ear and was very sympathetic. In the presidential election year the chiefs of the American Federation of Labor observed a neutral policy. They declared Hoover their friend. Labor leaders are getting to be scientific politicians.

Stamps Quartet Will Sing Tonight

The Stamps All-Star Quartet will give a concert this evening at the Eastland High school auditorium under the auspices of the Eastland band.

This male quartet is one of the best in the United States, being a recording artists. They sang last Sunday at the Eastland County Singing Convention at the local Church of God and Monday were guests of the Eastland Rotary club and everywhere they have received great applause.

BOURLAND IS AMONG THOSE ON PROGRAM

A Tax of More Than Three Cents Per Gallon on Gasoline Will Hurt the Industry Speakers Declare.

A tax of more than three cents a gallon will hurt the oil industry by curtailing the use of gasoline, declared President A. M. Bourland of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce who addressed the Oil Belt district convention of the regional organization in the Arcadia theater in Ranger, this morning.

"Too much should not be expected from Congress toward farm relief," he said.

He declared that the farmer holds his destiny in his own hands—he must "look out for himself."

Bourland spoke as a farmer himself as he stated that, for the past two weeks, he has been plowing.

Applause greeted his hope that the day will speedily dawn when the women of the South will not be in the cotton fields and the boys and girls on the farms will not be denied eight or nine months' schooling.

Oil and Gas Problem
Discussing oil and gas problems, H. J. Adair, manager of the oil and gas bureau of the W. T. C. of C., declared that the potential oil production of West Texas is sufficient to meet the needs of the world. Pro ration is needed to maintain a price level that will be profitable and fair and pro ration likewise is of value in prolonging the life of a field. The problem must be handled by the states as the national authorities have ruled the federal government is without power.

Adair, in telling of the activities of his bureau, dealt with the Small land bill.

"The oil men of the Panhandle were being harassed by land grabbers of Austin," the speaker said. He added that last year, 948 applications were filed by land grabbers and a number of such applications affecting counties around Eastland county are now pending. In some instances, men have held the land for 40 years and then, after oil was found, their title has been attacked. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce favors giving the possessor prior right to buy the land in case of a vacancy strip and in case the ownership of land is questioned to try the case in the county where the land is located.

Congress Gets To Work Today On Farm Measure

By PAUL R. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, April 18.—The special session of Congress, organizing and playing for three days, got down to work today with the House taking up the administration farm bill and the Senate opening the way for legislation.

Chairman Haugen, of the House agriculture committee was the first speaker on the House program with a speech explaining features of the $500,000,000 cooperative marketing measure reported by his committee after it had been read personally by Pres. Hoover.

The days until Saturday are allotted to general debate, which is expected to be rather tame in view of the stringent House rules preventing consideration of the so-called debenture plan and other relief measures which have been suggested. On Monday, the leaders intend to invoke a five-minute rule which will bring a final vote upon the administration measure without delay. The present expectation is the bill may pass by a vote of 3 to 1.

A Senate session was arranged Chairman McNary of the Senate agriculture committee could make his bill "No. 1" in the Senate, the same position which is held by the Haugen committee bill in the House.

Federal Forces In Pursuit Of Mexican Rebels

Country's Entire Organized Forces Advancing In Hope Of Ending Current Insurrection.

Nearly all of Mexico's organized federal forces were advancing toward Sonora today in the hope of engaging the rebels in the final battle of the current insurrection, it was reported.

Minister of War Calles occupied San Blas, Sinaloa, after the federal evacuation and took personal command of the federal army in its pursuit of the rebels in their northward retreat. Federal aviators reported that the rebel retreat was slow, with the result that their rear guard was only 70 miles ahead of the federal troops.

Calles ordered Gen. Almazan, who was in charge of the successful federal operations before Jimenez and Reforma, to make a forced march from Chihuahua to Sonora and attack the rebels. Calles increased Almazan's command from 5,000 troops to 10,000, indicating that he expected Almazan to engage the insurgents in what looked to federal officials as the last stand of the revolution.

Government officials said there was general discontent in the rebel army, particularly among the junior officers.

Revolutionary forces at Nogales pressed preparations today for an expected encounter with federal forces near the Sinaloa-Sonora State boundary.

The rebel garrison at Nogales was strengthened by the arrival of 500 well equipped cavalrymen from Agua Prieta, Sonora. It was reported the cavalrymen might be sent south. The troopers were part of the army of Gen. J. G. Escobar, which retreated from Chihuahua.

Rifle pits from mountain to mountain about Nogales were completed in preparation for defense of the rebel stronghold if the federal drive insurrectionists back from the State border.

Gen. Faust Topete, governor of Sonora, commanded rebels near the Sonora-Sinaloa line, but he may be joined by Gen. Escobar, supreme military commander, who was aboard a troop train at Nogales.

Couriers from the interior of Mexico were said by insurgents to have brought reports of victories by irregular rebels in Jalisco.

Dallas Hotel Man Is Found Shot Dead

DALLAS, Tex., April 18.—Fred Chambers, 48, proprietor of the Forest avenue inn, was found shot to death in the rear room of his establishment this morning. He had been shot twice through the head and a pistol was lying on the bed near him.

Mrs. Billie Arris, about 21, told police she was in the room at the time and that Chambers had killed himself.

She said she was sitting on the bed by Chambers and he attempted to make love to her. She repulsed him, she said, and he told her he was going to shoot himself. She got up to powder her face and a moment later she heard a shot fired. She turned to see Chambers lying across the bed with a bullet hole in his head.

Police found a note without any address or signature lying under the bed. It read: "Please pay all my debts."

The young woman was taken to police headquarters for questioning. Doctors called to the inn said Chambers had died instantly.

Chambers is survived by his wife. She had not been located shortly after the shooting.

O. C. WELLS IS FORMALLY SENTENCED

Is to Go to the "Chair" May 31— Asks That His Body Be Buried At Houston.

COLEMAN, Tex., April 18.—District Judge E. J. Miller, carrying out the mandate of the court of criminal appeals, today summoned O. C. Wells to the court room and formally sentenced him to die in the electric chair at Huntsville penitentiary, Friday, May 31.

Asked if he knew any reason why sentence should not be pronounced, Wells began pleading his case, asserting that he had not been properly represented at his trial and that he was convicted under an old law that had been repealed by the Legislature of 1927.

Failing to stay the sentence, he asked that his body be sent to Houston for burial following the electrocution.

J. N. Wells, brother of the condemned man, was the only relative in the courtroom when sentence was pronounced. The prisoner probably will be returned to prison tonight.

The crime for which he was convicted was committed here the night of Feb. 27, 1927, when J. A. Mitchell was shot and killed at his filling station and grocery store.

Reported Sinclair May Lose His Job

NEW YORK, April 18.—Reports persisted in financial circles today that Harry F. Sinclair, under sentence of three months in jail for contempt of the Senate, would be ousted from his position as chairman of the board of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation.

The rumor was without verification from any source close to Sinclair. Martin W. Littleton, the oil man's attorney, said Sinclair's position in the corporation had not been changed, but refused to discuss future plans of his client.

Should Sinclair be removed from his post, control of Sinclair Consolidated probably would pass to a group including Blair & Co., Fisher Brothers, the automobile manufacturers, and Arthur W. Cullen, a Chicago financier.

Sinclair's petition for a rehearing of the case in which the Supreme court upheld his three-month jail sentence and $500 fine for Senate contempt was before the court today. It may be acted upon Monday or next week later.

Less than one per cent of such petitions, filed after the Supreme court has considered the case and handed down a formal written opinion, are granted. The filing of the petition can not stay or delay the mandate of the Supreme court, which is due to be sent to District of Columbia courts May 3.

AUSTIN, Tex., April 18.—Mrs. E. R. Blake, whose son, Robert, is to be executed after midnight unless Governor Moody intervenes was at the governor's office this morning when it opened, waiting for a chance to appeal to him.

CONFESSIONS IN HANDS OF CO. OFFICERS

Wreck of T. & P. Train In 1923 In Which Seven Lives Were Lost Involved In Statement.

Almost six years ago, two trains crashed together on the Texas & Pacific railroad near Dothan, and seven lives were lost.

Today, two men stand confessed to having thrown the switch and set the light so it would show green, according to County Attorney Joe Jones.

A charge of murder has been filed against the pair—Henry Schussler and Fred Jordan, who are serving prison terms.

"We were a bit sore at the company account of having been put off a freight train," relates the statement made by one man, according to the authorities, "and decided we would fix the switch so that the next train going west would have to stop."

Schussler broke the switch lock and Jordan turned the switch so that the next train would head into the passing track, the statement declares.

"We turned the switch so it would show green. When we turned the lamp, it would not stay straight so we took some wire and tied the lamp to the stand."

"The men waited for a while but no train came along so they walked to Cisco, seven miles east, where they separated. Schussler's statement declares the first he knew of a wreck was when he read about it in the newspapers."

The accident was one of the greatest disasters in the history of Eastland county. The number of persons crushed or burned to death was set at seven.

When the grand jury meets Monday, the matter will be laid before them.

The specific charge against the two men, said the county attorney, is the murder of Charles Baker, train porter. The complaints were filed here Justice of the Peace McDonald of Cisco.

Sheriff Virge Foster and Deputy Sheriff Steele Hill left Eastland Wednesday for Huntsville to bring Schussler and Jordan to Eastland and are expected to arrive here late this evening or tonight with them.

YES, WE'RE MOVING—BUT WHERE?

Some cynical gentleman once complained that there are liars, confounded liars and statistics.
 Doubtless he had just seen some pet theory of his, in which he had perfect faith, completely smashed by a column of cold figures.

The trouble, however, is not that statistics are often wrong; it is that it is frequently so easy to read a variety of meanings into them.

For instance: The department of commerce recently issued some figures dealing with the way the American citizen spends his money. And it would be possible to draw two widely separated conclusions from them.

Luxuries, for example, are tremendously more in demand now than they were in the dim days before the war. American consumption of such things as candy, cigars, perfume and automobiles has doubled, tripled and, in some cases, quadrupled since 1914.

The department does not try to tell us exactly the amount of money that we spend annually to play but it cites a recent estimate by Dr. Charles A. Beard, who believes we pay no less than $21-000,000,000 a year for all forms of diversion.

Going on those figures, one would be justified in concluding that we are going the fast and pleasant pace that leads to destruction. How many sermons could be preached with those statistics as a text? And how doleful they all would be!

But there are more figures to come.

The department also shows that while we are spending a tremendous sum in luxuries, we are also buying far more newspapers and magazines than we bought in 1914.
 Furthermore, we are much better educated. Enrollments in colleges and universities have tripled during the 15-year period, while attendance figures for secondary schools have grown proportionately.

And how proud a speech a man could make from that part of the report! How flattering it is to our national pride!

The plain fact seems to be that we don't, right now, see just where we are going. Something big is happening to us, that's certain.
 Old standards and ways of living are going by the board. But it's a little too early for us to see just what's ahead of us. The statistics don't help us much.

WHAT ERIE DID.

The city of New London, Conn., has been trying to induce the navy department to tow Admiral Farragut's famous old flagship, the Hartford, from its present berth at the Charleston (S. C.) navy yard to New London, where it could be maintained as an object of patriotic interest for all citizens.
 The navy department, however,
 reports that the Hartford is too unseaworthy to stand the trip, and says that it has no funds with which to repair it. The job undoubtedly would be expensive; it is costing $600,000 to recon-dition the Constitution, and the Hartford, while not so old, is larger.

New London would deserve the thanks of the nation if it raised the money itself. Erie, Pa., did that for two of Perry's famous fighting ships, and the vessels are now on view at Erie, a delight to thousands of tourists annually.
 New London might find it an ex-

THE REAL VICTIMS.

When a crime is committed it is almost invariably an innocent party that suffers the most.

Nathan F. Leopold Sr., the last of three fathers whose hearts were broken by the notorious Leopold-Loeb murder case, died in Chicago the other day. His son, Nathan Leopold Jr., is serving a life term in the Illinois state prison. Undoubtedly the father's grief over the crime cut many years from his life.

The fathers of the other two principals have already died. Jacob Franks, father of the little boy whom the two wealthy young murderers killed, died a year ago, and A. H. Loeb, father of Leopold's partner in crime, Richard Loeb, died last fall.

The two murderers still live. Fortunately, they are safe in prison—and there does not seem any remote possibility that they will ever get out alive.

 the land is not at Austin. "Ranger has passed through many tribulations," declared Homer D. Wade, manager of the W. T. C. C., "and has risen above them all. The city has risen, fallen and risen again. Signs of progress and prosperity are on every hand."

He read a telegram from Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman, expressing regret that he could not make the address he was scheduled to deliver, as he had been called to Austin on legislative matters.

Priority of Water Rights
 Wade urged that a statute be enacted recognizing priority of water rights in the following order: 1—domestic and municipal; 2—irrigation; 3—hydro—electric power. He referred to the Colorado river case where a power company was granted a state permit for more water than there is in the river and when Brownwood wanted to impound some of the water for domestic needs, it was confronted by a prior grant.

M. H. Hagaman, former mayor of Ranger, who was introduced by Mayor John Thurman of Ranger, reviewed the development of diversification in this county.

J. E. Thompson, of Breckenridge, vice-president of the W. T. C. C., presided. The address of welcome was delivered by W. D. Conway, president of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce. Eloquent response was made by Col. Dick McCarty of Albany who told of the greatness of West Texas.

 "Last year, West Texas produced $250,000,000 worth of cotton; $200,000,000 worth of petroleum and sold $165,000,000 worth of livestock," he said. "Yet an East Texan has suggested that West Texas ought to be spanked. They'll be spanking some kid. Why, darn 'em, if it wasn't for West Texas, they'd freeze because they wouldn't have gasoline for their cars and they wouldn't have meat to eat."

The seven day national cold control demonstration of Frigidaire corporation, which closed Tuesday, was one of the most successful public events staged by the organization in this city, according to R. S. Johnston, of Texas Electric Service company, local dealer.

"A great number of men, as well as hundreds of women, visited our show rooms to see cold control," Mr. Johnston said.

Although the demonstration primarily was planned for women, the dealer explained, many wives brought their husbands to view the new temperature regulator. Both men and women were surprised at the simplicity of the invention, which is an exclusive Frigidaire feature, and were greatly enthused over the many new frozen desserts and salads that it makes possible, he said.

The demonstration opened April 9 and the display room was kept open every night until 10 o'clock to accommodate the visitors. Domestic science experts prepared and served a number of the many new desserts. Numerous favors were distributed.

"Cold control," the dealer said, "is the latest achievement in the electrical refrigeration field. It enables the housewife to regulate the temperatures in the freezing compartment of her Frigidaire without materially affecting the temperature in the food storage section. With it, the time heretofore required for the freezing of desserts, salads and ice cubes is materially shortened and the required degree of cold can be obtained within a comparatively short time."

Operation of the device, which is now standard equipment on all Frigidaire models, merely consists of the turning of a small lever around a marked dial, according to the dealer.

OKLAHOMAN HELD FOR MURDER

DUNCAN, Okla., April 18.—Bob Hall, 60, a farmer living near here, is facing charges of first degree murder after the killing of Wade Jones, 40, oil field worker at County Line, east of here.

The killing followed a family quarrel. Hall is the father of Bill Hall who recently married Jones' daughter. The couple became estranged Monday and the fight followed an attempt to divide their property.

Parents Fined In Effort Curb Wild Tendencies of Youth

CHICAGO, April 18.—Forty-one more "indifferent parents" will be arraigned in court next week in the drive of Chicago school authorities to curb the "wild" tendencies cropping up in Chicago school children.

More than two score parents already have been fined for not compelling their children to attend school in connection with the campaign to stop gin and moonshine parties by boys and girls of high school age and younger.

The situation was brought to a head this week by the tragic death of George Lux, who was killed in an automobile accident while en route home with a group of boys and girls in their teens from a roadhouse gin party.

The inquest into Lux's death brought out estimates that at least 10,000 other boys and girls of about the same age probably were "partying" the same night in the same way throughout Chicago.

WOULD CHAPERON YOUNGER SET

MARION, Ill., April 18.—Old-fashioned chaperons will quench flaming youth of Illinois if mothers and teachers have their way.

Puzzled and alarmed at reports of widespread breaches of etiquette on the part of the younger generation, the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, meeting here, has launched a campaign for good manners, pointing for revival of the now extinct chaperon.

Indians Wish To Keep Nice and Clean

CHICAGO, April 18.—The weakness of two Sioux Indian chiefs for new silk underwear and three baths a day has proved quite a problem for officers of the Isakak Walton League.

When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night you find your very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product, a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that baby becomes fretful, or restless, Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

FIRST PICTURES OF DAMAGE WROUGHT BY SMITHVILLE TORNADO

These three pictures give an idea of the damage wrought by the tornado in Smithville early Sunday morning. At the left is a picture taken from the roof of one of the damaged houses, showing the general wreckage of one of the blocks swept by the winds. The small object at the extreme left is the chicken coop in the W. E. Gillen yard, which was not upset although the Gillen home was splintered. In the center picture is a piano thrown out of the Leo Austin home. The piano landed upright, the front and top gone, about 100 feet from the site of the house. The home of Mrs. Eva Ynee and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brooks is shown at the right. The roof was cut off smoothly, and one house set as a stage. Five other houses were cracked up in similar manner, while seven others were blown off their blocks and damaged seriously.

RICH GIRL POOR GIRL by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

THIS HAS HAPPENED MILDRED LAWRENCE meets STEPHEN ARMITAGE when he secures her fox fur from a thief who had snatched it in a crowd. Their friendship grows until PAMELA JUDSON, daughter of Mildred's employer, tries to lure him away from her. Then HUCK DNNOR becomes infatuated with Pamela and she amuses herself by trying with both men. Pamela's brother, HAROLD, is in love with Mildred but suspects that she cares more for Stephen. He begs her to go with him and she consents, hoping to keep him from Huck's gambling crowd. Mildred's mother has a serious accident. Stephen hears of it and comes to call, feeling great over his long absence. He takes an engagement with Mildred but business prevents him from keeping the date. Pamela tells Stephen that Mildred is trying to marry her brother for his money. Stephen defends her and Pamela is furious. She cables her father and his Mildred discharged. Harold sends another message to his father, asking him to reinstate the girl but to no avail. He offers to help, but Mildred asks why he fears Huck. He refuses to tell her but says he appreciates her sympathy. Pamela succeeds in poisoning Stephen's mind against Mildred and the latter faces dreary days searching for work. But Huck is persistent that Pamela think of a plan to dispose of him.

GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XX Pamela had promised to have dinner with Huck. And then she made a date with Stephen for the same night. "Wait for me in the lobby near the main elevators," she had told him. "Seven-thirty, sharp." While to Stephen she had also said that she would meet him in the lobby near the main elevators seven-thirty on the minute. At seven twenty-seven she gathered the coutour velvet wrap her held for her about her shoulders, took up her small, silver vanity bag, and turned for a last inspection of herself in the full-length set of adjustable mirrors which occupied one entire side of the dressing-room before starting her meeting with the two young men, each of whom believed himself to be the favorite of the hour. She had wondered about that white shade of her wrap when she thought it, thinking that pure white a color would have been more dazzling, but now she was used with it, and the particular alluring swirl the coiffure had picked into her smooth hair. She put up a hand to touch it lightly and the jangle of her many bracelets filled her ears with delightful music. "Hello, as she sometimes called Stephen, would have a hard time finding her perfume was thought of than usual; something her father had sent her from Paris on an admonition to use it sparingly as it was priceless. At first Pamela had thought of nothing more than a string of imitation pearls which she tossed only aside with a mental note to tell her misguided parent not to buy what an outraged daughter meant of him in her next letter. She scribbled note, to be more precise even before her anger had subsided she had made an interesting discovery. A whiff of odor indicated that it seemed it could have come from any earthly source. She waited up to her as she lay on the cushions of her chair and thought of scathing letters to write to her father. Pamela sniffed. Then she sat up. The elusive odor had grown stronger. She hadn't anything like this in her wardrobe. Pamela glanced around investigatively and her eye fell upon the pile of beads that she had flung on a moment before. They lay near at hand, showing up plainly against the black velvet carpet that Pamela had demanded when last her rooms were redecorated. She paid scant attention to them as she leaned over for a better view of the floor, thinking someone might have dropped a perfumed handkerchief there. Then she noticed that she was, as the childhood saying goes, getting warmer. But there was nothing in sight except the beads. She gave them a closer look and saw that one was crushed. She reached down and picked them up. At once she guessed their secret. They were tiny, drop by drop, perfume containers that looked like pearls. "How perfectly entrancing," she raved and began to search for the card that had accompanied them. She found it beside the gray velvet case that had held the beads. "The rarest perfume in the world," her father had written. "Priceless; don't waste it." Pamela promptly broke another bead and inhaled the odor. "Dad's buying me off in advance," she concluded sagely. "Maybe he's bringing home a new flock of chambermaids—and not a blemish in a boatload. The new marriage can't be so hot. Well, old dear, I love your taste in perfume." She thought of that perfume now, a faint touch of each of her delicate earlobes, and smiled with satisfaction. Then her eyes stilled down for an inspection of her cheerily covered ankles and rose slipped feet. She half turned for a better glimpse of the crystal heels. The maid, watching her closely, saw a look of wrath flame over her features just an instant before Pamela whirled upon her in a blast of fury. "Do you see?" Pamela cried. "You clumsy idiot! You have put my stockings on crooked!" The frightened maid shrank back from her in dismay. "Straighten them," Pamela ordered, and as the girl bent over to do her bidding Pamela longed to box her ears. But even Pamela had found the servant problem a difficult one. Several of the agencies had frankly told her that they received so many complaints against her they feared she was getting a reputation among the elder and better trained servants of being a hard taskmistress. Nothing but fear of losing the girl restrained Pamela from physically punishing her for her small offense. But at least she could indulge in tongue lashing. "Another thing," she said accusingly. "You neglected to press my pajamas yesterday. And see that they go to the cleaner's after a second wearing." At this point the maid dared to speak in her own defense. "But I cannot press pin pleats in chiffon, Miss," she said in a half-scared, half-defiant tone. Pamela had just about gone too far with her. "You can, or you can leave," Pamela said uncompromisingly. "You were told in the beginning that all my things were to be pressed after each wearing. And don't permit the chambermaid to turn back my bed; she doesn't know how to arrange the pillows." "Very well, miss," the maid murmured quietly, but her fingers trembled as she adjusted Pamela's garters. "Shall I wait up for you?" "Certainly. You don't expect me to call in someone else, do you?" Pamela was critically viewing the seams of her stockings to see that they ran straight up her well-formed legs; the slenderly tapering legs that are the American girl's own. "And don't start any runs in my new stockings," Pamela warned moving toward the door to her sitting room. "I mean those runs that spoil them for me but don't get down too far—you understand." She went out and left the maid shaking with suppressed anger but Pamela forgot her before she reached the elevator. She glanced at her tiny wristwatch and saw that she was a few minutes late for her double appointment. All the better. She should have made them wait longer; it would have been more effective. But she didn't want to irritate Stephen. He wasn't so deeply in love with her that he would not grumble when she was late. She stepped imperiously through the bronze doors and saw in a glance that both Stephen and Huck were there, standing off and glaring at each other in open dislike. Both men moved toward her as she paused and drew her wrath tighter about her. Pamela smiled up at Stephen without seeming to see Huck. But the latter had no mind to be ignored. He stood before her and bowed gravely, then he offered his arm. Stephen also offered his, and Pamela took it. Then Huck spoke in a low, restrained voice.

Farm Relief Is Near Proponents Of Measure Say

By JOSEPH S. WASNEY, United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON, April 18.—Farmers will feel the benefits of the proposed House agriculture relief bill as soon as the federal farm board assumes jurisdiction over commodities, Rep. Dickinson, Rep., Iowa, predicted today. Dickinson, considered one of the staunchest friends of the farmers in Congress, analyzed for the United Press how the pending legislation would benefit agriculture. He characterized the bill as a permanent farm program rather than an emergency measure. "This farm relief bill was framed to place the solution of the farm problem in the hands of a board with far-reaching and extensive powers," Dickinson said. "It provides machinery through which producer's cooperatives and stabilization machinery can be organized to formulate pools of the various commodities. "The initiative is up to the board but it functions through producer's cooperative associations so the entire operations must be kept in harmony with their interests. This is the part of the bill that protects the real farm element of this board. "Friends of the legislation believe operations of this board can fit in with the present marketing machinery insofar as that ma-

Take that dirty ring out of your bathtub!

AFTER a bath, hard water leaves a dirty ring. The soap combines with the hardness and makes scum. The scum collects dirt. The dirty ring sticks to the sides of the bathtub. It has to be scrubbed off.

But soften the water with Melo and there isn't any dirty ring on your bathtub. Melo makes water delightfully soft and a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. It saves from  $\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$  the amount ordinarily used. It makes soap more effective. Use Melo wherever you want soft water. Get it at your grocer's.

Sunday school and church were well attended last Sunday.

Rev. Howell of Carbon filled his regular appointment at the Methodist church.

Mrs. M. O. Hazard and daughter, Jewell, were shopping in Eastland last Tuesday afternoon.

A few people have been rabbit hunting in this community recently. There are lots of rabbits here and we think it would be very helpful to occasionally have a rabbit drive to rid the country of these pests. They do lots of damage to crops and gardens. It is fine sport to watch greyhounds run a rabbit.

It is time for the rattle snake to make his appearance, and they are very numerous in this locality. We wish the country could get rid of these dangerous reptiles.

We appreciate the work that the county trappers are doing. They have already caught several wolves in this part of the county. The wolves were doing quite a lot of damage in this community.

The program was in charge of J. E. Matthews, Joe Dennis and Dr. L. C. G. Buchanan.

The program time was turned over to members of the school board.

Dr. Buchanan, president, John M. Gholson, and Dr. Walter L. Jackson, of the school board, spoke to the Rotarians in regard to the status of the college.

It was explained that now it was legal for 20 per cent of school funds to be applied to junior college expenses.

The new "district" status was explained, showing that if Ranger loses the college now it will be impossible for another to be obtained, inasmuch as the law now requires a town to have a $12,000 tax valuation before a college is allowed.

A general discussion followed the talks by the trio of board members and the motion to give the board utmost co-operation carried unanimously.

The nominating committee, reported ready to make announcements but the report was postponed until the next meeting.

A committee, composed of Edw.

R. Maher, Ben Looney and Marvin K. Collie, at the request of Howard R. Gholson, general chairman of the 41st district Rotary conference, will audit the conference books.

RESOLUTION

The committee, appointed at a recent meeting of the Eastland County Bar Association in Eastland to draft resolution on the death of the late A. E. Firmin, member of the association, presents the following:

RESOLUTION ON THE DEATH OF JUDGE A. E. FIRMIN:
To The Eastland Bar Association:

In the death of Judge A. E. Firmin the State has suffered a loss of a useful citizen and the legal profession of one of its distinguished members.

As a citizen his life was devoted to the best and highest interests of Texas, his adopted state of which he has been an honored resident since 1882. During these years he never failed to take his stand on public questions both as to men and measures and he was never lacking in the courage of his convictions but always tolerant and respectful of the opinions of others. He was courteous, professional and ethical. He shrunk from no duty, public or private. He did the right as God gave him wisdom to see it.

He was a lawyer by inclination, training and practice.

He was born in the City of New York, July 2, 1856, came to Texas in 1882. At Mexia, Groesbeck and Dallas, he practiced law 24 years and in Eastland county the last 10 years of his life. He was admitted to the bar in the State of New York at the age of 18. He was loved and respected by all who knew him. He was active in the practice of law until the day before his death. He died April 14, 1929.

He won the confidence and affection of all who came in contact with him and his brothers of the bar meet to pay tribute to the respect of his memory and to let it be known that one of our members whom we all honor and respect has not gone from our midst without leaving a vacant chair that will be difficult indeed to fill.

As a patriotic citizen, learned lawyer, just and upright gentleman of the old school, Judge Firmin has left a permanent impression upon our State, upon the bar where he was known and his memory will be enshrined in the hearts of thousands who knew and loved him.

Respectfully submitted,
"OSCAR CHASTAIN,
"L. R. PEARSON,
"R. N. GRISHAM,
"Committee for Eastland Bar Association."

Averill-Rookie, Takes Brilliant Showing to Start

By FRANK GETTY, Editor.
 NEW YORK, April 18.—The new Cleveland rookie, Earl Averill, took a brilliant showing to start his career in the big leagues. He hit a home run in the first inning of the Cleveland Indians' 4-1 victory over the Cleveland club 4-1. Averill, 23, is a native of Washington, D. C., and was drafted by the Cleveland Indians last year. He is a right-handed batter and a right-handed pitcher. He is 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs 175 pounds. He is a very fast runner and a very good fielder. He is expected to be a star in the big leagues.

Besides fracturing the dromedary's back, these straws show clearly which way the zephyrs circulate, now that spring is here. No. 1 is a prominent young man about town who is about to marry the daughter of the ambassador to Mexico; No. 2 is a well known resident of Washington, D. Klein, Ltd., or some other firm.

WITH THE TEXAS LEAGUE PLAYERS

By United Press.
 Yesterday's hero — Rogers Hornsby, who weathered a storm of criticism for his failure to star at bat in the opening game of the season and provided the big punch in the victory of the Chicago Cubs over the Pittsburgh Pirates with a home run with the bases filled in the eighth inning. Hack Wilson made four hits as the Cubs, supporting good pitching by Malone, won 13 to 2.
 The presence of President Hoover and a distinguished gathering of notables could not save the Washington Senators from a 13 to 4 defeat at the hands of the Philadelphia Athletics. Fox starred at bat.
 The Cincinnati Reds have started right in after a new double play record, making good use of three double killings to beat the Cardinals 8 to 3. Last year, the Reds made 194 double plays to set a record. Pete Donohue, veteran pitcher, held the National league champions safe while his mates pounded out their first victory.
 George Uhle, rehabilitated hurler, pitched his new club, the Tigers, to a 15 to 3 victory over his former teammates, the Indians. Earl Averill, high priced rookie, made his second homer in two days.
 Alvin Crowder, leading American league pitcher of 1928, kept Chicago's hits scattered and the St. Louis Browns made it two straight over the White Sox, 5 to 3.
 Rain once more prevented opening games at New York, Philadelphia and Boston, with better weather promised for today.
 If the New York Giants succeed in getting started at Philadelphia this afternoon they will be without a regular second baseman, and may have to use Pat Crawford, a rookie first baseman, at the keystone sack. Andy Reese, regular second sacker, wrenched his back yesterday. Andy Cohen is laid up with a bad leg, and Mel Ott is needed in the outfield.

One Man's Opinion

The return of Robert Hill to Eastland county to stand trial on the murder charges against him is a suggestion that meets with the approval of many who originally felt sympathy and pity for the young hardit, but who now are convinced that his promises to reform were meaningless.
 Although it is less than a year since he began to serve a life sentence in the penitentiary, Hill twice has broken out. He has shown no intention of being a "model prisoner" but, on the contrary, has escaped every time there was a chance. So far from turning his thoughts and conduct toward the right, Hill was the man who waved the six shooter when the four escaped convicts considered an automobile and, if press dispatches are correct, he boasted on that trip to Houston that shooting men gave him "a thrill."
 Hill is an enemy to the law-abiding citizens of Texas. Take him back to prison and tomorrow morning when you pick up your paper you are likely to read that Hill has escaped again. The next time, a guard may be shot to death as he stands in the path to liberty or an officer may be killed as he seeks to recapture the escaped convict.
 Four men robbed the Cisco bank, shooting two brave officers to death and using the bodies of little girls and unarmed citizens as shields to protect themselves from the fire of the forces of the law. Of these four robbers, one was killed in the battle. Two are under the doom of death. Only Robert Hill has thus far escaped punishment. It seems likely that a jury will be given an opportunity to hear the evidence, to pass upon his guilt and to determine whether or not he shall join his companions in condemned row.

MARKETS

NEW YORK—An easier tone in the money market with the rate steady at 8 per cent for call funds and a slight decline in time money, brought a sharp rally on the stock exchange Wednesday. Prices were bid up one to three points in several hundred issues, while a few special issues rose still more.
 Commercial solvents rose more than 13 points while U. S. Industrial Alcohol soared more than seven to a new high and General Electric, whose bookings for the first two months set a record, rose more than seven points and held most of the gain.
 In the last few minutes of trading, call funds eased further, dropping to 7 1/2 per cent. This stimulated further buying and helped the entire list to close higher.
 American Can ran up to another new high, while copper shares improved, some of them rising two to four points. Montgomery Ward was an outstanding feature in the mercantile section, rising more than 10 points.
 United States Steel, which had been depressed to 182 3/4, in early trading, rallied nearly three points ## from the low to above 185. Heavy trading in the rights of U. S. Steel featured the curb.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By H. W. Wrye

COMFORT FOR GOD'S PEOPLE
Lesson Text, Isa. 40:1-11
Lesson Text, Isa. 40:1-11

Another comfort, so I will comfort you."—Isa. 66:13.

Introduction

The book of Isaiah is in two chief divisions. 1. Chapters 1 to 39, is predictive of Jehovah's chastening of Judah through Babylonian captivity. 2. Chapters 40 to 66, looks beyond the captivity with glowing comforts and assurance of perpetual happiness. The great theme of the second section is Jesus Christ in His sufferings and the glory that shall follow His kingdom, the church.

Zedekiah, looking into the future, saw the time when Israel's tribulation would end. During the time of trouble, Israel, because of her great opportunities, would be punished doubly for her sins. Inconceivable sufferings would be visited upon her when her warfare was accomplished her iniquity would be pardoned and she would be restored to fellowship with God. God deals with His children today upon the same principle. When they sin and depart from Him, He chastises them in order to bring them back to Him. "As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten; he zealous therefore, and repent," is the Lord's admonition to the apostate church at Laodicea.

Proclaiming Messiah's Advent

In verses 3-5 the prophet is carried forward to the days when John the Baptist would appear on the stage of action announcing the near approach of Jesus Christ upon earth. "Prepare . . . make straight in the desert a highway for our God" The immediate fulfillment of this statement would be the road over which the Lord would lead Israel back from Babylon to Jerusalem. The spiritual fulfillment would be when men prepare their hearts through godly sorrow, repenting of their sins being baptized for the remission of them, that the Lord would enter that life and prepare it for that heavenly estate beyond the grave.

Proclaiming the Unchangeable Character of God's Word

The prophet sees another messenger of God (verses 6-8) as he proclaims the unchangeable nature of the Word of God. This messenger affirmed that "All flesh is grass and all the goodness thereof is as the flower of the field. The grass withereth, the flower fadeth, because the breath of Jehovah bloweth upon it; surely the people is grass." This speaker proclaims the transitory nature of man comparing him to the flowers and grass of the field. James declared the same thing concerning man when he said that man's life is but a vapor (Jas. 4:14). Man is in one respect like grass and flowers. His life is very uncertain and changeable, but the infallible "Word of our God shall stand forever." Jesus said "Till heaven and earth pass away, one jot or one tittle shall pass away from the law, till all be accomplished." (Matt. 5:18).

Proclaiming Good Tidings to Zion

The third oracle is addressed to Zion, Jerusalem. Zion is a synonym for the word Jerusalem clearly the text indicates that it refers to one of local hills upon which Jerusalem was built. In this passage (verses 9-11) it is clear that the city of Jerusalem is considered. David said, "Jehovah loveth the gates of Zion more than all the dwellings of Jacob. Glorious things are spoken of thee, O City of God" (Psa. 87:2-3). The importance of the message leads the prophet to urge the herald to speak his message with strength and power in order that the entire population may understand the glorious promise that Zion's God is soon to appear. When the Lord comes in fulfillment of this prediction He does not come in humility to suffer but to reward His saints and recompense His enemies.

The Lesson

There is always comfort for God's people in the midst of the disciplines of life. The comforts which God give is not like worldly sympathy; it is soul-satisfying, and abiding. There is no true comfort outside of God's family. Christian comfort extends to the hard experiences of the present life, even to that passing down into the valley of death. They that would live godly in this life may expect to suffer embarrassing situations, but the assurance of the Lord's coming is comforting to a disciple of Christ. "And to you who are troubled, rest with us; when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with His mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them who knew not God, and that obey not the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ."—1 Thess. 1:8-9. Our Lord said, "Let not your heart be troubled; ye believe in God, so believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so I would have told you. I go to

COMING EVENTS:

The Presbyterian Circles are looking forward to the coming of Mrs. M. F. Gill of Abilene, Presbyterial president, who will be the guest of Mrs. F. W. Courts, on Saturday afternoon, from 3 to 5 o'clock, and in whose honor Mrs. Courts will keep open house, for all the Presbyterian women of Eastland.

The affair is very informal. It is hoped that the visit of this prominent woman to Eastland will not be neglected, and that there will be a representative greeting from the church women extended her.

SUSAN STEELE CLASS WILL HAVE BAKE SALE:

The members of the Susan Steele Bible class are busily engaged along different lines, raising their portion of funds for usual church expenditures, and depending largely upon their personal efforts in the way of bake sales and bazaars, to accumulate the desired amount.

As composed, to a large extent, of the older women of the Methodist church, though the younger ones do their bit in class and secular work as well.

The class is named in honor of Mrs. Susan Steele, one of the few living pioneers of Eastland.

NATIONAL MUSIC WEEK:

The National Music Week committee, with headquarters in New York City, has issued the advance questionnaire on 1929 National Music Week with the request that the city planning the celebration will notify this bureau, and give to the committee for music week observance, to whose chairman, printed matter, helpful for programs for the week, will be issued.

The brochure states that one purpose of National Music Week is that each year the observance shall be a medium for bringing forward some definite idea as the keynote of the celebration.

Last year, this was the presentation of American Music. This will be the Sixth annual observance, opening May 5 and closing on May 11.

It is recommended that those planning music week programs should make an informal canvass of groups and individuals, to determine those already paying some attention to music.

It is through those who do not that the National Music Week works to bring it to their attention.

A special slogan is "Reaching Church Young People Through Music," and this very beautiful plan, already largely obtains in the Eastland churches.

It is suggested that lists of suitable hymns may be found in pamphlets, lyrics composed by Americans, which may be obtained by request to the Music Week committee.

The radio has been a great factor in the rapid growth of love for good music in the home, as no good radio service ever fails to present the most exquisite musical programs every day and sometimes several times a day.

The music week committee for Eastland are busily working, arranging with the help of their music club membership and other friends, a fitting observance for music week, May 5 to 11. East-

Club Women Urge Courts to Exclude Minors From Trials

TYLER, Tex., April 18.—Exploring the fact that children of all ages are now permitted to be present at murder, divorce, criminal assault and other trials where intimate and vulgar details are introduced into the evidence, the third district convention, Texas Federation of Women's clubs memorialized district and county judges of the State to prohibit children under 16 from attending sessions of court unless they are necessary to the trial.

The club women agreed that to allow children to listen in on some court sessions had a degrading influence. Sessions of the convention closed Wednesday with election of officers as follows:

Mrs. Sam Cox, Mexia, president; Mrs. O. Bethel, Greenville, first vice president; Miss Elizabeth Phillips, Tyler, second vice president; Miss Ollie Coon, Greenville, recording secretary; and Miss Elsie Desenberg, Mexia, corresponding secretary.

Value Cannot Be Expressed in Words

Never Expected Well Day Again But Has Gained 45 Pounds on Two Bottles of Orgatone, Declared Clyde, Texas, Man.

"I tried for four long years to find a medicine or treatment that would overcome my troubles, but all my efforts failed completely until I commenced taking Orgatone," said Mr. John Ray, who is a resident of Clyde, Tex., while in Abilene, Tex., for another bottle of Orgatone.

"My general health just seemed to get down all at once," he continued, "and during those years it has been a hard struggle for me to keep on my feet. It was just a general all round break down, but my stomach seemed to give me more trouble than anything else. What food I ate would lie in my stomach undigested and gas formed and I would bloat up and suffer something awful. I lost so much in weight I got to where I looked like a skeleton for I only weighed about seventy pounds. For about a month I got so weak and thin that I wasn't able to leave the house. I tried several different kinds of medicines but gradually got worse all the time."

"This was my condition when I began taking Orgatone and if you could just see me now you would say it is a wonder, for I have gained from 90 pounds to 125 pounds on less than two bottles of Orgatone. I can eat all I want and nothing bothered me at all. I am so much stronger and better that I look and feel like a different man. I think Orgatone is the best medicine on earth and it has done more for me than all the other medicines I have taken. I am in better health than I ever expected to be and a medicine that would do so much good for a man ought to be talked about and as long as I live I will boost Orgatone."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile treatment and is sold in Eastland exclusively by Toombs & Richardson Drug Co., who are direct laboratory agents.

Preaching Good Tidings to Zion

The third oracle is addressed to Zion, Jerusalem. Zion is a synonym for the word Jerusalem clearly the text indicates that it refers to one of local hills upon which Jerusalem was built. In this passage (verses 9-11) it is clear that the city of Jerusalem is considered. David said, "Jehovah loveth the gates of Zion more than all the dwellings of Jacob. Glorious things are spoken of thee, O City of God" (Psa. 87:2-3). The importance of the message leads the prophet to urge the herald to speak his message with strength and power in order that the entire population may un-

Pity the Man "On a Diet"

Just To Look at a Good Appetizing New England Boiled Dinner Raises a Riot in His Poor Dilapidated Stomach.

When certain kinds of food upset your stomach and cause indigestion, sourness, gas and general misery why punish yourself by going "on a diet."

Why not start to rebuild your broken down stomach—Why not make your weak stomach so strong and vigorous that it will be able to digest and assimilate even the heartiest foods?

You've probably tried a lot of 'relievers' that help for an hour or so and then leave your stomach in as bad a condition as ever.

Why not try the sensible plan of taking a remedy that not only brings almost instant relief, but has the power to tone up your disabled stomach and put it in such a clean and splendid condition that it will soon be able to digest anything you eat, without a particle of distress?

Such a medicine is Dare's Mentha Pepsin, a pleasant, palatable elixir that Murray's Drug Store and up to date druggists anywhere in America are perfectly willing to sell on a basis of money back if it doesn't give the fullest measure of satisfaction.
