BRADY, Tex., March 22.—Five young men and women are held in jail here today, charged with robbery with firearms, as a result of the daring $5,000 daylight robbery of the Farmers and Merchants State bank here Thursday noon.

A fourth girl is held for questioning but no charges have been filed against her. Officers said she was from Beaumont.

The robbery was carried out with the daring of professional holdup today were confined to West Texas town as news of the robbery spread. The population poured into the streets and joined officers in their search for the robbers.

Harold Johnson, teller, and Miss Flora Currie, stenographer, were the only persons in the bank when a young man with a handkerchief over his face, flourished a pistol, and ordered Johnson to hand over the money.

Johnson was too excited to resist and pushed out all the money in the cage. Johnson said. After scooping up the money the masked robber ran from the bank, jumped into a car with a girl at the controls, and fled.

Worn-rimmed glasses which make you look so scholarly and intellectual, and I am determined that I will get me a pair before I make my next speech.

Now we Rotarians take ourselves pretty seriously although our fellow Sinclair Lewis and what's that green back fellow's name—Mencken—poke lots of fun at us.

Incidentally, one of the speakers last night said he didn't feel the case in the pulpit (referring to the fact that the sessions are being held in church). But I feel at home in a pulpit. In fact, I used to fill a pulpit. Yes, indeed, I was janitor and filled the pulpit with songbooks regularly.

One of the speakers referred to progress as evolution—but we Baptists wasn't use that word. However, progress covers the subject.

All of these declarations were delivered with an air of composure and solemnity that kept the audience in a continual roar of laughter.

The main business of a Rotary club is to make Rotarians of its members," Taylor declared. "Give me jobs to practice at."

Down at my town, we had a parade. In the Rotary division of the parade there were 42 members—and eight Rotarians, the latter being added as though an after-thought and with a look of blank innocence.

The speaker declared that there was one Rotary club whose slogan was "eat ravenously, drink copiously and smoke furiously" and that the club wound up by surrendering its charter.

However, there is no use going hog-wild about reforming the community. That term 'hog wild' was coined by a distinguished citizen of Texas who has since been extinguished.

Bring out the ability that is latent in the young members of the club. I remember reading a poem by a man named Gray who went roaming around in a grave-

300-foot slope of the mine on a stretcher his eyes were open but he seemed in a daze. He was taken to a nearby hospital where the extent of his injuries were not announced.

After bringing Allhouse out of the pit the rescue team which found him hurried back into the workings hopeful of reaching three other miners who are believed to be alive in the section of the mine where Allhouse was found.

PARNASSUS, Pa., March 22.—A check at 3 p. m. today showed that 41 miners were known to have lost their lives in the explosion yesterday at the Kinloch mine of the Valley Camp Coal company, officials announced.

Sixteen miners remain to be accounted for. Twenty-six bodies have been removed from the mine; one miner died in a hospital and the bodies of 14 others, accurately checked, rescue workers said, remained to be lifted from the mine on stretchers this afternoon.

The bodies of the 14 men were found grouped together in a chamber of the mine some distance from the foot of the shaft, where the explosion occurred.

An unconfirmed report from rescuers at 2 p. m. said that 14 more bodies had been found grouped together in a chamber of the mine.

Rival Factions Continue Fight At Missouri U.

COLUMBIA, Mo., March 22.—An academic rebellion, which split the University of Missouri wide open and embroiled the State legislature, settled into trench warfare as rival factions consolidated their lines after broadsides of oratory and resolutions.

A questionnaire on matters of sex distributed to 1,000 students here—cause of the revolt—stands discredited by the executive committee of the board of curators. Three members of the faculty were ousted because of it, and a fourth resigned.

Raising the slogan, "Freedom of Speech, Thought and Pursuit of Truth," however, 3,000 members of the student body last night unanimously adopted a resolution urging the curators to reinstate the ousted faculty members in whom they expressed "confidence and trust."

There the matter, which has rocked this university for a week, probably will rest until April 6 when the curators meet in plenary session at Kansas City to act on the recommendation that the ousted be made permanent.

Spended members of the faculty are: Dr. Max F. Mayer, international famous professor of psychology a native of Germany and matriculated at the University of Berlin. He has been at Missouri U. for nearly a quarter of a century.

Dr. H. O. De Graff, conductor of "The Family," and advanced class in sociology from which the offending questionnaire emanated. He holds a doctor's philosophy degree from University of Chicago and a master of arts degree from University of Iowa.

Orval H. Mowrer, student assistant in psychology who took a leading part in the sex questionnaire incident, which Drs. Meyer and De Graff admit furthering.

MAZATLAN, IMPORTANT CITY OF MEXICO, BATTLE SCENE

Federals Rush Additional Troops From Torreon to Aid Forces At Mazatlan Being Attacked By Rebels.

By G. F. Fine United Press Staff Correspondent MEXICO CITY, March 22.—Six thousand troops, under the command of General Lazaro Cardenas, will be rushed from the Torreon sector to the State of Sinaloa to reinforce the federal detachment which is preparing for an attack by the rebels on Mazatlan, it was announced officially today.

It was not stated when Cardenas and his command would leave Torreon or what route they would take. According to latest reports from General Jaime Carrillo, in command of the federal forces at Mazatlan, the rebels had not yet begun their attack. Carrillo said his troops were well prepared and entrenched in advantageous positions before the town.

Carrillo has about 2,500 government troops at his disposal and he reported that the rebels number about 2,000 and 3,000. Military experts here believe that the position of the federals and the situation of the city will be of great advantage to the government forces.

It was believed, however, that the rebel troops before Mazatlan were merely an advance guard for those yet to come. It was reported that another force of rebels was on the march toward the town. Rebel troops surrounded the city after having bombarded it yesterday. The fighting and bombing caused only minor casualties and damage, according to United Press dispatches from Mazatlan. All communication was cut off except for radio.

A detailed official account of the execution of General Jesus M. Aguirre was received by President Fox last night. It confirmed the report that the court-martialed general had died bravely before the firing squad.

"At this solemn moment, when I am going to die," he was quoted as saying, "I wish to be an example for the army. I die tranquilly. My conscience is filled with the knowledge that I did what I believed to be my duty. But I counsel all not to follow course."

"Now, boys, shoot here (covering his heart) and don't hit my face. Revolutionary headquarters at Nogales announced today that Mazatlan, Sinaloa, important west coast seaport, is about to fall before the attack of General Ramon Iturbide.

The announcement was based on the reported interception of radio reports from American ships on the harbor to authorities in Washington, D. C., to the effect that the youthful Federal General Jaime Carrillo, was "prepared to surrender."

MAZATLAN, Sinaloa, Mex., March 22.—After a day of desultory bombardment, rebel troops circling Mazatlan today rested on their arms and residents, who had feared heavy casualties, were relieved. Little damage was done by the bombardment and none killed or wounded were reported.

Predictions were that most of the rebel troops would be moved to Chihuahua to reinforce Gen. J. G. Escobar. The revolutionary forces here Mazatlan bottled up, all communication except radio being cut off. Gen. Jaime Carrillo, federal commander, has made no decisive moves to defend the city other than to construct trenches. He has ordered no sallies and seemed contented to keep his troops in trenches behind machine guns. Rebels likewise appeared to be satisfied to keep the federals bottled up, thus preventing them joining the army of former President Calles, now maneuvering in Chihuahua.

TWENTY-TWO KNOWN DEAD IN MINE BLAST

Those Still Missing Believed To Be Alive In Mine—Rescuers Working Desperately to Release Them.

By United Press PARNASSUS, Pa., March 22.—Officials of the Kinloch mine of the Valley Camp Coal Company announced early today that, in addition to 22 known dead in the explosion at the mine yesterday, four men were believed still alive in the mine and 16 more were unaccounted for.

Twenty-one of the dead have been taken from the mine. The other died in a hospital from burns. The statement of Ira Thomas, deputy state mine inspector, that the four men may still be alive revived tired workers and buoyed the hopes of relatives in the crowd who were watching the rescue work.

According to Thomas, the men were seen by a group of miners who escaped. The latter called to the others, who were in what later was discovered to be an area free of poisonous gas, to follow but they refused. Unless the four men wandered about in the mine and stumbled into black-damp atmosphere, they will be found alive in an air-pocket, Thomas believes.

Fresh air currents were being pumped to the butte from the main mine entry. The men probably have erected brattices to protect themselves from consumption of the fresh air, Thomas said.

Although grief filled parts of the small mining community for those killed in the blast, many homes were scenes of rejoicing today for the escape of more than 230 other miners in the workings when the blast ripped through the interior.

Company officials announced today that the explosion, which socked the countryside for miles, probably was caused when a conveyor chain in the tippie at the mine mouth broke and dropped tons of coal and steel to the bottom of the slope. A spars, which occurred in the crash, a tonne button of the slope, probably ignited coal dust in the mine.

Lawrence Allhouse, one of the missing miners in the Kinloch mine of the Valley Camp Coal company which was wrecked by an explosion yesterday, was rescued alive today.

Allhouse was found injured in the workings almost a mile from the pit entrance where the explosion occurred.

Allhouse had lain injured in the mine more than 26 hours. As Allhouse was carried up the Stomach Disorders First Revealed by Coated Tongue

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90% of all sickness starts with stomach and bowel trouble.

A coated tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders which lead to so many kinds of serious illness. It tells why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

Coating on the tongue is a sign that you need Tanlac—the medicine which has helped thousands who were physical wrecks from stomach and bowel troubles—who had "tried everything" in vain and about given up hope.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs; it is made of barks, herbs and roots. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

Hard water can't do much with greasy hands. Of course, you use lots of soap. You try to get a thick lather. But the water is too hard; it combines with the soap and forms a scum. How can you expect to clean greasy hands in the water?

There is a way. Use Melo. Sprinkle a little in the basin. Water softens with Melo makes a wonderful clean wash with or without soap. Soft water and soap

Nice Fellows

WALTER JOHNSON and Billy Southworth are regarded by major league ball players as two of the sweetest fellows in the game and because of their nice going dispositions a lot of extra money has been put on them as a major league manager.

Johnson is having his first trial as manager of the Washington Senators and Southworth is making his debut as the manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Because of the affection that Johnson has for Johnson his team is much easier than the one which Southworth has fallen.

Johnson fails to win a pennant will be no dire penalty put on him. His Washington club doesn't need as a pennant winner and if Walter doesn't finish the season higher than it finished last year they will love him just the same in Washington.

A Tough Spot

ST. LOUIS is in a much more critical position. He is losing the management of a team that is given only a fair chance by the experts to win this year.

The team doesn't finish in first place and will go his head in the fall. The top of managerial heads in baseball as an annual fall function.

McRechnie led the club into the world series last fall and his demotion was a demotion to Rochester where Southworth won an International League pennant last year. And if Southworth doesn't lead the Cubs, the Giants or the Pirates this year he will be sent out to one of the many minor league clubs that the St. Louis men

No Worries

JOHNSON does not admit that he is in a tough spot and neither is Southworth. They are smiling about it. Johnson had a tough time last year with Newark and three or four bad actors on the club took advantage of his position, but he says he has learned his lesson.

Southworth says he had no serious trouble with the Rochester club. The ball players of the International League say his men worked on his easy disposition until he got hard with them.

Spoken Like a Man

THAT is not correct," Southworth said. "I didn't get hard with that ball club last year. I just asked them to play ball with me and I went out and played ball with them."

"I want to play the outfield every day with the Cardinals, if one of those other fellows don't beat me out of the job. I think a playing manager is the best. He can lead his men when he is on the field and he doesn't have to drive them. I have had experience under coach driving managers and I don't believe that it works."

"The average ball player in the major leagues is an intelligent, grown-up man and the younger fellows are smart fellows with good educations. You can't drive them, but you can show them."

Club Will Hustle

I KNOW all the ball players on the St. Louis club and they know me. And there isn't a bad actor on the club," he added, using almost the identical words that Johnson used in talking about the men on his Washington club.

"Everyone told me," Southworth went on, "that I was falling into the hardest job in baseball when I accepted the promotion to St. Louis. Maybe it is a hard job. Any manager's job is not a cinch, but I took it. I am young and I have ambition."

"Baseball is my business and the only place for a ball player to be in the major leagues. The minor leagues, for a man who has been up in the big time, is just a place where you work for a salary. To the rookies, with ambition, it is different, of course."

"I don't know what success I will have with the club. Perhaps I should put it that I don't know what success we are going to have because I intend to make a 'live' proposition out of the club. I think we have a very good ball club. I don't know about the others. But I didn't see them last year. But I know that any club with as many good men as we have can win if they hustle, and I know we are going to hustle."

The first copy of the book came off the presses a few hours after the Marshal's death. George Goyau, of the Academy of France, carried the first copy to Madame Foch.

The gospel for this day speaks of the triumphal entry of Christ into Jerusalem. The high council had decreed his death and made preparations to apprehend him. But our divine Saviour, his hour not having yet come, "went into the country near the desert unto a city that is called Ephrem, and there he abode with his disciples."

The pasch being at hand, that is, the time when he would accomplish the work of our redemption by his death on the cross, he left the solitude and sent his disciples to Jerusalem. On his way thither he distributed copious and spiritual blessings, healing two blind men at Jericho, converting Zachaeus, and instructing the people that followed him. He came to Bethphage, a village near Mount Olivet, a half

"Have 'Em See Me," Declares L. J. Thomason

"I have been thankful a thousand times that I took Sargon when I did. It is simply wonderful the way it has benefited me," said L. J. Thomason, of 1102 1/2 Houston Street, Fort Worth.

L. J. THOMASON.

He is well known in the oil business and the real estate field. "I was all out of fix from head to foot before I got hold of Sargon. My stomach gave me all sorts of trouble, and after every meal I would feel miserable. I would tire out easily and felt exhausted and nervous. Then I had an attack of 'flu' that left me so weak I knew I needed a tonic to rebuild my strength. I took a lot of medicines but kept getting worse. Then my good friend Charlie Haynes, who had taken Sargon, got me started on it, and right from the start I knew I had a real 'honest-to-goodness' medicine. It worked wonderfully and seemed like it was made especially for my case. I thanked Haynes a dozen times for what he did for me by getting me to use Sargon. It worked fine for him too.

"I feel better than I have in years, and feel it is a duty to tell others how different Sargon is to other medicines. In fact, I sometimes stop friends on the street and tell them all about it. I feel like a man made all over again; am stronger, and can eat like a farm hand and relish every bite. I am never troubled with indigestion now. I don't tire like I used to and can keep on the 'go'.

"Yes, indeed, just have them see me if anybody wants to know what I think of Sargon." Sargon may be obtained in Eastland from Texas Drug Store; in Rising Star from Star Drug Co.; in Desdemona from City Drug Store; in Carbon from Nixie Drug Co.; and in West from Old Corner Drug Store. (Adv.)

BASKETS! BASKETS! ORDER YOUR EASTER BASKET NOW:

A "flesh of color—blue for the sky-gold for the sunset, silver painting of buds and blooms, for the morn of Easter Day, delicate tints in lovely flowered Easter baskets, grew under the nimble fingers of the dozen or more members of the Warners University Club, called by their president, Mrs. L. D. Spaw, and Mrs. J. T. Wilson, to make and launch the sale of these timely and dainty gifts. On Saturday of this week and again, Saturday of next week, a sale of these charming, beautiful baskets, will be conducted by Misses Evans, Creager, Spaw, and J. T. Wilson, wives of the faculty members. Such pretty baskets made of silky crepe paper with roses and blue bonnets and other kinds of flowers that simply shout "It's Easter! Get me Get me." and prices so reasonable from 25 cents up.

Please put your order in early. So that there will be time for careful craftsmanship. The university club has set their sale for 100 baskets. Surely, you'll want to boost the University and you'll want the lovely baskets. Go Saturday, to Saunders, opposite the Connellee Hotel. The baskets will be there, on sale. They will be filled with eggs, the next Saturday.

ORATORIO EASTER SUNDAY:

NOTES AND PERSONALS:

Mrs. Avery Alcorn, who was the popular Etelle Thomas, and of the West Ward school faculty, is visiting between the homes of Mrs. Joe Stephen, Mrs. Sam Day, and Miss Ruth Kelly.
Mrs. W. K. Jackson was confined to her home all week suffering neuritis in her shoulder. She was the recipient of a lovely bouquet of sweet peas from the Edwards from their new green house stand.
Mrs. S. A. Wood of Kentucky is spending a few days with Mrs. J. D. McKee.

SPLENDID TALENT IN ORATORIO CONTRALTO LEADER VIOLINIST OF FAME:

"The Dawn of Easter," oratorio, by Ira B. Wilson, offers so many phases in composition that it may be said, that there is a leader of Sopranos and a leader of contraltos. Imperative in this production Mrs. Pipkins rich and beautifully cultivated voice is used generously in her church service, when she is the means of drawing people to worship. And never is she at her greatest best, save when her gorgeous smooth tones, are heard in sacred music as rich, as musical, as a pipe organ. Years of work and study have been given to her voice culture and violin study. Perhaps in no other way does she express so well, her attitude toward her church, save when in her response to such difficult work as that of "The Dawn of Easter" involves. Mrs. B. B. B. Bickerstaff has the soprano. Her voice is smooth strong rhythmic and she uses it with fine effect.
A magnificent grouping of tone values is expected in the duets between these two gorgeous and perfectly trained voices.

Stillmans Again in Spotlight

Again the family affairs of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Stillman are in the spotlight, the latter having been turned on them this time by the slander suit brought against Stillman by Fred Beauvais, Indian guide whom Stillman charged 10 years ago was the father of Mrs. Stillman's child. Red-headed Flo Leeds, ex-show girl, whose love for Stillman cooled after the divorce battle, is named as a co-defendant. Above is Miss Leeds with her child; at the right, Beauvais, and below him Mr. and Mrs. Stillman.

Hoover Wants Prohibition Act Well Enforced

Does Not Believe, However, Prohibition Laws Alone Should Be Enforced, But All Laws.

By Raymond Clapper United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON, March 22 — While federal enforcement agencies are making preparations for their most supreme effort to enforce prohibition effectively, President Hoover is seeking to balance his law enforcement commission so it will deal with all laws and not single out the dry act.
President Hoover regards the enforcement of all laws as vital and is opposed to singling out the prohibition law as a special favorite of enforcement agencies. Nevertheless, the chief difficulty in the law enforcement situation arises from the prohibition laws and attention will be concentrated on that regard of any desire President Hoover may have to prevent over-press agency of his purpose to make the Volstead act effective if humanly possible. There will be no sporadic "drive" but a sustained effort lasting indefinitely.
Prohibition has become a more acute subject of discussion here than anything else, due to the general feeling Mr. Hoover is going to put the law to its supreme test.
Evidences of a tightening up are seen everywhere, from the restrictions thrown around the importation of diplomatic liquor and the preparations of the prohibition bureau for education activities and expansion of personnel down to the new drastic padlock order of the local police department.
Some federal officials who hitherto have held the Volstead act lightly, have suddenly climbed aboard the water wagon and are conspicuously turning down their glasses at parties where cocktails are served. Hostesses who formerly understood liquor was necessary to a successful party are growing uncertain whether to serve drinks when federal officers are among the guests.
The $50,000 educational campaign now being planned by the prohibition bureau will be national in scope and has three chief objects, assistant treasury secretary Seymour Lowman said.
These objects are:
"To obtain further co-operation from State officials.
"Emphasize the importance of law enforcement.
"Educate the public on what is being done."
Treasury officials believe, Lowman said, the wet side of the prohibition controversy has been fully presented by the newspapers and they desire to obtain similar publicity for the dry viewpoint.

Dean of Texas Poets' First Voume Out on 77th Birthday

Just 58 years ago on Monday, March 25, a certain Swedish vessel landed on Galveston bar, carrying on board a young second mate who later became known as "The Dean of Texas Poets." John P. Sjolander's twentieth anniversary also fell on the very day his ship came to anchor in Texan waters.
When the ship cleared for her return trip to Europe, the second mate was missing. It was not that he loved the sea less, perhaps, but the soil more. Perhaps he was lured by the beauty of the Texas coast country. At any rate he fled inland to the spot that has been his home for more than a half century.
Who's Who in America lists Sjolander simply as a farmer and writer who resides at Cedar Bayou, Texas. Few Texans are aware of his romance-tinged life story for the extraordinary poet is distinguished for his modesty. It is only in his seventy-eighth year and upon the insistence of his friends that he has allowed his poems to be collected into book form, the Southwest Press of Dallas having recently issued his "Salt of the Earth and Sea."
No one was more surprised than Sjolander when a few years ago his name was presented for nomination to the Swedish Academy, an honor conferred only upon men who have made definite contributions to the artistic stores of their time. That he failed of election was not due to lack of merit or of strong support, but may have been due to his long exile from his native land or the conditions that occasioned his leaving Sweden in early youth.
At one time the Sjolanders of Sweden were in high favor with the ruling authorities, but political changes caused a reversal in the family fortunes. And the poet's father was imprisoned for taking part in a secession movement from the established Swedish Church, a movement which, after many years of persecution, gave to the Swedish people religious liberty. This later caused the poet to be debarred from the public schools, but his mother was able to teach him three languages besides his own. About this time the boy found employment with the Swedish branch of an English lumber company, working eighteen or twenty hours a day during the busy season.
The turning point in Sjolander's career came when one of the English directors became interested in the youth and carried him to his own home in England as a companion to his own son. The boys were sent together to Trinity College, spending the summers aboard ships until their sailing apprenticeship was ended. In June, 1870, the two were granted certificates; in September the English boy was killed at Aux Chappelle.
Within less than a year from that time young Sjolander was in Texas, at Cedar Bayou, where he has for more than fifty years wrestled a livelihood from the soil and neighboring waters, reared a Texas family, and produced many poems which have become a permanent part of Southwestern literature.

Patronage Inquiry May Be Extended

By United Press. WASHINGTON, March 22 — Chairman Brookhart of the Senate patronage investigating committee is considering a request to extend its inquiry to virtually every southern state, he said Thursday.
Complaints against the methods of Republican organizations in Louisiana and Virginia have been received recently, he said, and there is a demand for further investigation in Tennessee.
"I have not had a chance to look into these complaints," he said, "but if a preliminary investigation disclosed a need for work in the States where they come, the committee undoubtedly will go into them."
Brookhart is planning no further hearings until the special session starts next month.

RICH GIRL

How important are riches to a girl's happiness? Pamela Judson, left above, had everything that money could buy. Her father, owner of the fashionable Judson Hotel in New York, lavished the luxuries of life upon her. They had made her selfish, strong-willed and petty.

Mildred Lawrence, right, was a public stenographer in Pamela's father's hotel. She had a mother and sister to support on her small salary. Her only contact with luxury—more cruel than no contact at all—came from the pimps she got of the fashionable throngs at the Judson Hotel.

What happened when Pamela and Mildred became rivals in love... when racketeers attempted to ruin Pamela's brother... when the lives of these two totally different girls became interwoven by circumstances as exciting as they are realistic is told in Ruth Dewey Groves' thrilling new serial, "Rich Girl—Poor Girl." It begins in this paper, March 26th.
