By United Press.
LOS ANGELES, March 12.—While fifty of his eighth grade classmates recited their lessons in the First Avenue grammar school today, Waldo Wahman, 14, was charged by police as the ring leader in a plot to murder the principal, slay another teacher and blow up the building.
Information concerning the bombing and murder plot came last night when Waldo's parents reported to the police the lad had disappeared with a revolver after threatening to kill R. Bruce Walters, principal of the school, and Harold A. Hansen, instructor.
Dislike of the two instructors is said to have been the motive.
The boys involved by Waldo's confession were Edwin Tierney, 12; Nick Stepening, 13; Lewis Sanborn, 13 and Bill Stecker, 12.

Airport Ought To Be Built, Lions Declare

Committee Appointed to Work Out Ways to Complete Landing Field, Which Was Started Some Time Ago.

Finish the work started some weeks ago on the Eastland airport, is the insistent demand made by the Eastland Lions club.
Some weeks ago, work on the airport was started, but much of it is not completed and the Lions take the position that the work should be completed at once. Various suggestions as to how to get the people to take an interest in the work were discussed at today's meeting of the club and resulted in the appointment of a committee from the club to work out a plan.
Vice-president Horace Condey presided at today's meeting in the stead of President Donald Kinnaird who was absent.
The program committee, which will provide entertainment for next week's meeting, is composed of Lions Downtain, Thiele, and Parker.

WILL ASK BIDS FOR STANDPIPE

City Manager H. O. Tatum announced this morning that bids for building a new and larger standpipe for the city and moving a lower around the old one, would be asked for within the next few days and that it was expected that the contract for the work would be let about the first of April.
The new storage standpipe, which will be erected in the southeast corner of the tourist park, the highest point in the city, will be of 680,000 gallon capacity.
The old standpipe, now located at the City Hall, will also be moved to the site of the new standpipe.
Asked if the suggestion made recently by Gardner S. Rogers, expert city planner, as to building a tower around the new standpipe, Mr. Tatum said that the city would not undertake that at this time. Jimmie Janboe, city engineer, stated that it would cost approximately $30,000 to build, of native stone, a tower around the standpipe.

Clarke said at his trial that he had attended Princeton University.

BOND ISSUE FAILS TO GET 100 VOTES

Moody Is Charged With Inconsistency For Opposing Plan When It Was Urged By Sen. Joe Burkett.

By United Press.
AUSTIN, Tex., March 2.—Little prospect of another attempt to pass the $175,000,000 State road bond issue proposal is held out since its third failure Monday to get the requisite 100 votes in the House of Representatives.
Yesterday's vote was put off until all possible absentees had been gotten to Austin. The vote then was 97 to 28. This was one less vote than the bond issue received last Friday.
Rep. A. P. C. Petsch of Fredericksburg claims that pairs with absentees kept the bonds from getting four votes.
Under a ruling from the attorney general, the proposal can be brought up today, tomorrow and Thursday, but the bond advocates this morning were not ready to say if they will make any more attempts.
Rep. Leonard Tilletson of Sealy, who has been an opponent of the bond plan of road financing at this session, announced that the pay - as - you - go plan had been prepared and will be offered at the special session of the legislature in April.
The demand for a new vote on bonds yesterday brought on charges that high pressure methods had been employed; that members had been intimidated and schemes resorted to, to put over the bond proposal.
Governor Moody was charged with inconsistency in denouncing such a plan when proposed by former Senator Joe Burkett and advocating it before this legislature.

Famed Entertainer Here On Wednesday

Zeller's production—which is declared to mark a distinct departure from all other forms of dramatic entertainment—will be presented in the high school auditorium Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.
The entertainment is described as a complete theatrical production in tabloid form—with $4,000 worth of costumes and equipment, including a gorgeous stage setting, spotlights and floodlights. Sixteen characters of distinction appear in full costume in rapid succession. Such comedy classics as Huck Finn, the skipper of the Tonoverly Trolley and Abe Martin, heroes like Grant Lee and Lincoln and such figures of romance and drama as Socrates, Faust, Mephisto, Moses and Peter appear.
A complete change of costume and makeup is made in an average of 30 seconds, sometimes as quickly as six seconds.
The enthusiastic manner in which Zeller has been received is attested by the press of the nation. One instance, which may be considered as typical, was in Memphis, Tenn., at the Goodwyn Institute, long famous for its programs by novelists, musicians, explorers, scientists and eminent men in general. Zeller was held over to repeat the same program for a second night to a capacity audience—the second time in the history of Goodwyn Institute that this has occurred.
"Silences, tense with feeling, or roars of laughter and applause were accorded J. W. Zeller," says a review. "J. W. Zeller, dramatic artist, did what he pleased with the audience," says another. Admission here is 15 and 25 cents. Principal R. L. Spear announces.

SWEETWATER FUGITIVE IS CAUGHT IN CHURCH STEEPLE

Frightened Woman, Who Discovers Him, Notifies Women's Society and Preacher, World War Veteran, Makes Capture of Jail Breaker.

SWEETWATER, Texas, March 12.—Sweetwater like all other Western cities has been accustomed to Paris styles for years, but today this city claims to be the only one in the entire Southwest to have a counterpart of the famous hunchback of Notre Dame.
The First Christian church here takes the place of the age-old cathedral, and Carl Foster, who gives Dallas as his home, is the man who has been making the church steeple his abode for four days and nights.
His capture by the Rev. Irye L. Townsend, pastor and World War veteran, with the aid of police, once more brought peace to the minds of frightened women of the city, for Foster, confessed burglar and escaped prisoner, has been making nightly forages over the city since his escape from the county jail, has robbed homes and has twice successfully dodged a fusillade of shots from policemen who saw him and gave chase in fruitless endeavors to recapture him.
Foster, who was in jail here on a burglary charge, made his escape last Thursday night with the aid of a trusty who obtained a hack saw with which they sawed their way out. He immediately went to the home of Judge W. W. Beall where he took $43, a watch, some clothing and ate a supper from the ice box. Some 30 minutes later he was nearly caught by an unsuspecting policeman who found him loitering about a car and inquired what he was doing. Foster ran, evaded shots and escaped capture. He was seen by another officer the next night and again made his escape amid a volley of pistol shots.

Monday afternoon Mrs. F. M. Northern, janitress of the church, thought she heard a noise upstairs. She investigated and in a small room leading to the bell tower found a lighted stove, cigarette stubs and a partly empty bottle of wine. She was so frightened she locked herself in another room in the church until the Missionary society met when she informed the women of her discovery.
The women informed the pastor, the Rev. Irye L. Townsend. Armed with a pistol, Townsend with C. I. Reid, a member of the church board, went up to the cupola and there found Foster. Officers were called and Foster scrambled down from his hiding place. He was searched and a $20 bill and a wrist watch, part of the loot from the Beall home, recovered.
At the county jail he was asked why he had not left town and he said he was afraid all roads were blocked and that he could not get away.

WILL TRY TO BREAK RECORD

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 12.—Lee Bible, now a nameless auto racer, this afternoon will settle his lithe body in the low-hung seat of J. M. White's "Triplex" speed car and attempt to achieve the lacking fame by beating the high mark set yesterday by Maj. H. O. D. Segrave of 231.362 miles per hour.
The beach on which these powerful engines of speed travel is reported in excellent condition. It is hardly possible that it could be in better condition than yesterday when Segrave's "Golden Arrow" roared over the mile course and back, it being without a ripple.
The "Triplex" though holding the stage today, cannot lessen the brilliance of yesterday's performance by the bald, angular Segrave with the bald, angular Segrave and Bible seem confident that with any sort of luck, their speedometer will hit a 250 - mile an hour pace, general opinion is to the contrary. W. E. Knight, who is well known in Eastland, has been appointed to a very important position in Bexar county. He has many friends here and is the brother of C. D. Knight of Eastland. Some 20 years ago, he was a deputy sheriff here. A writup in a San Antonio newspaper states:
"W. E. Knight, former deputy sheriff, will be sworn in as Bexar county automobile license inspector Friday to succeed J. W. Collins. Knight was a deputy sheriff under James Stevens and previously to that was connected with the city detective department."
"The glaring headlight law will be strictly enforced by him, Knight said, and all persons found with illegal lights will be arrested."
"Collins Thursday filed his final report for January with the Bexar county commissioners' court showing $7,467 collected during the month of which 15 cents is paid over to the county."

It's all because of extensive anthracite mine workings, honeycombing the ground under the city. Shenandoah, at least many sections of it, is slowly but surely settling.

SAILOR IS "IN IRONS" ON VOYAGE

ABOARD S. S. ENDICOTT, March 12.—A floating court of inquiry moved slowly up the Houston ship channel today, bound for Houston.
In irons aboard ship is John B. Fikes, able seaman, charged with murder on the high seas.
On the deck is Raymond Wiseheart, assistant United States attorney of Houston, questioning Fikes and all members of the ship's crew about the fatal stabbing of Chief Steward George A. Leonard of California at Havre on February 1.
Wiseheart made this drab freighter a floating tribunal in order that he may speed grand jury action, if any, in this unique murder case. The ship is due at Port Houston about mid-afternoon.
At that time, Fikes is to be arrested by officers at Houston and to be greeted, it is reported aboard ship, by his mother, who has come from their home in Tampa, Fla. They have employed an attorney, W. E. Price of Galveston, and he too is scheduled to meet the vessel.
Known details of the slaying were meager as Wiseheart began questioning Fikes and others aboard. According to the story told the prosecutor, Fikes and Leonard had a fight when they were on shore leave in Havre. Leonard returned to the ship and Fikes followed. Other members of the crew heard a scream from the chief steward's cabin. They found Leonard dead.
Fikes, said to have been fleeing the ship, was arrested by a French gendarme. Fikes was given a hearing before the United States consul in Havre, who ordered him sent to Houston. Captain G. W. Hatch of the Endicott ordered him placed in irons for the voyage across the Atlantic.

NEW YORK, March 12.—When the Mexican revolution broke out, six determined boys passed up the idea of going out West to kill Indians and decided to join the Mexican rebel forces instead.
So yesterday, the boys, ranging in age from nine to 17, removed a large bagful of pennies they had saved—the capital to equip their expedition—and purchased four toy pistols, four pairs of goggles, three flashlights and three dirks.
Then they set out from their homes in State Island for Mexico. But they neglected to bring along a compass, and they soon found themselves slightly off course—due north in the Bronx. One of the six deserted and headed back home.
Early today, Policeman John T. O'Kane of Bronx Park, observed a queer behaving flash-light. He investigated and found five shivering boys huddled on a blanket. Later the boys, warmed by hot coffee, sat in the Bronx Park police station and told the story of their plans and adventures.

Two patrolmen, investigating an island in the river, were fired on from ambush last night by smugglers who escaped.

THE ARMY OF THE FUTURE
This world war saw more soldiers brought into combat than any other war in history. Troop movements diversified anything ever seen before. Armies of three, four and five million men were the order of the day.

Most military men, naturally enough, have concluded that any future war between great powers will bring into being armies just as large as those of 1918.
General Von Seeckt, until recently the commander-in-chief of Germany's post-war army, does not agree with this viewpoint.
This man, considered one of the ablest military leaders in Europe believes that the army of the future will be a small one. The day of the "million" masses of troops, he says, is over. He has recently written a book setting forth his views.

According to General Von Seeckt, the war of the future will be fought by small, highly trained professional armies. Furthermore, each army will use large bodies of cavalry, which will play an important part as they did in the old days before trench warfare.
Warfare is predicted in France between 1914 and 1918, he continues, sacrificed mobility to the mania for large armies. The giantic masses of troops fell into a deadlock, that was not broken for more than four years. Military men, he believes, have learned their lesson. In the future they will want smaller, more highly trained armies, equipped with cavalry, swift tanks, motor transport and mobile artillery, what they use in size they will gain in efficiency.

All of this runs directly counter to what most of us have been believing. Yet perhaps we could all realize "more easily" if military men everywhere should adopt General Von Seeckt's views.
Large standing armies would be gone away with. The cost of military preparations would be vastly reduced. And war, if it came, would be less frightful than before. It would still be a major calamity, never doubt that, while ombating planes can lay waste to defenseless cities. But it would not be on the murderous scale of the last one. It would not kill so many young men.

STOCKS

NEW YORK.—Rapid easement in credit conditions failed to stimulate buying on the stock exchange today and prices were decidedly regular.
Call money fell to 7 per cent for the first time in a week, but bill-holders evidently were worried over possibilities of emergency later in the week and were not bidding for locks. They did, however, support initial shares on occasions. As result, price change were extremely small.

Notwithstanding the general unanimous feeling of confidence in the stock market, a number of speculators have engaged in short selling. This is particularly evident in the case of the heavy selling of the new stock sold above for the first time in a week, and of the first three points from previous close.

OIL NEWS

TULSA, Okla., March 12.—
Oklahoma led the nation last week to the greatest decrease in crude oil production registered since efforts to curtail the national oil production began, the Oil & Gas Journal's survey showed today.
The States decreased 32,000 barrels in daily output to a total of 679,825 barrels, largely due to the Sunday shut down program in the Greater Seminole field.
National production dropped to 2,663,000 barrels a daily average on a general decline of 40,000 barrels and a sharp oil decrease of 1,000 barrels. California's production dropped 6,000 barrels to 794,000 barrels.

SEMINOLE, Okla., March 12.—
A decrease of 95,869 barrels of crude oil in the Greater Seminole and St. Louis areas was registered on the gauges yesterday after a 24-hour hiatus down by major companies Sunday in the two areas. The two areas produced 24,500 barrels but 274,500 barrels on Sunday. The seven pools of the Greater Seminole area lost 69,851 barrels, while the St.
Louis production was off 36,018 barrels.

PROMISING SQUAD IS MAKING EASTLAND HOPEFUL

Spirit Being Shown Delighting Maverick Lettermen of Last Year Are Picking Up at Ten Try For Field, 30 For Line.

BOYCE HOUSE.

Boys are working out in football training under Gibson.

Boys are showing lots of spirit and there are some prospects for both backfield places in the line.

As soon as ten are trying positions in the backfield they are making a bid for the back position. It means that the Mavericks reserve strength at last, and that the team has been before in all its history. There have been several notable 1925 and 1927 if the Mavericks could get full strength on the field, they were a formidable force, but injuries sooner or later leave gaps that could be filled.

When the E. H. S. sailed through Ranger, Ridge and Comanche by scores, an appendicitis lost Robert Cox, splinter, for the late games season and his brother, Cox, was so crippled that he not play against the team. When Abilene was met in 1927 when Eastland the district by defeating the squad consisted of men and when Bones, hardest-fighting center, and Havden Osbourne and punting half, were lost due to injuries, a dearth of "replacements" was said without exaggeration. High has been bright for 1929 as far as ever known. This is not to be construed that the Mavericks are win the Oil Belt title—traveller things have happened it does mean that the hard-working players of "em."

They de-Brownwood, came within of tying the powerful Bulldogs in a fourth quarter that will always be remembered by Eastland and fans, and held the State Abilene team to a com-ly low score.

WINS PRAISE

Private Secretary in "The News Parade" is winning the praise of movie fans everywhere for this lovely newcomer to the screen.

At home in New York City, hundreds admire her charming personality and she has fairly "set the style" on Broadway by the way she dresses her hair. "The simple method I use in caring for my hair," says Miss Shea, "has been of great help to me in my motion picture work, where one's hair must always look its best. It's just the thing for busy girls, too, because it is so easy. Most of the girls I know in stage and picture work are taking it up as soon as they hear about it. All you do is put a little Danderine on your brush every time you use it. It makes your hair so easy to dress and holds it in place wonderfully. It's ideal for girls who are letting their hair grow. It keeps my hair and scalp so clean and comfortable. I don't shampoo but so often, now. It gives my hair such a silky, soft, lustrous appearance that all my friends comment on it."

Danderine removes the oily film from each strand of hair, restores its natural color, gives it more lustre than brillianine. It cleanses and invigorates the scalp; helps overcome dandruff. It is delightfully fragrant. Isn't sticky or oily, doesn't show. Waves, "set" with it, last longer. All drug stores have it, in generous 35c bottles.

Jas. J. Braddock Knocks Out Mr. Jim Slattery

Is Irish Lad's Third Sensational Victory In Six Months—Has Eye On The Heavyweight Crown.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY, United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, March 12.—The magic in the prefix "James J." has passed on to a hard-hitting black-haired Irish boy from Jersey City, and James J. Braddock today was headed for bigger and better things along the fistic trail.

Knocking out Jim Slattery, Buffalo's bad boy who once was tagged the lad born to wear the heavyweight crown, in the ninth round of their scheduled 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden last night, Braddock stamped himself as worthy to follow in the footsteps of his three famous predecessors—James J. Corbett, James J. Jeffries and James J. Tunney.

Practically unknown six months ago, Braddock has scored three sensational victories since last October and is now ranked as one of the two leading contenders for the light-heavyweight championship.

But it is not the 175-pound crown which concerns Braddock. His heart and mind are set on the heavyweight title and it will not be many months before the fast-growing Jersey City boy will forsake the 175-pound division to campaign in the unlimited division.

The Lomskis, Walkers, Griffiths can have the light-heavyweight title and do with it as they please, as far as Braddock is concerned. Braddock took the lead in the sixth round and in the ninth round Slattery came out to trade punches with him. Braddock soon had Slattery pinned against the ropes, raining a barrage of punches to his head. Slattery covered up. He never took his gloves from his face again until he sank to the floor from a series of rights and lefts to the head, too weak and groggy to defend himself.

Lou Doesn't Always Hit 'Em

Apparently Lou Gehrig didn't knock the cover off the ball he had just swung at when a cameraman snapped this photograph at St. Petersburg, Fla. That should be good news for American League pitchers. The big first-sacker of the Yankees does miss one now and then, but they say he is hitting 'em as hard as ever this season. Note Lou's swing. Also how rookie catcher Jorgens is going after what must be a foul ball.

Dempsey May Make His Decision Today

By FRANK GETTY, United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, March 12.—Madison Square Garden makes its bid for Jack Dempsey today.

W. F. Carey, at present vice-president of the Garden and slated to succeed Rickard as its head, will ride downtown with Dempsey shortly before noon and will lay before Jack a proposition to which the man from Manassa would be well advised to listen.

When the Madison Square Garden Corporation talks money, it is referring to United States currency, whereas some of the other offers made to Dempsey involve something decidedly more nebulous. Jack can have his choice of a number of things, but if he decides to stick with the Garden crowd, he is making one of the wise decisions of his career. And since he has made so many bad ones, the former title-holder might as well start in attempting to balance the account.

"I want to say here and now that Jack Dempsey is one of the squarest and ablest men in this line of work that I ever have met," W. F. Carey told the United Press today before setting out on the trip downtown with the ex-champion.

"Jack worked night and day for the success of the fight at Miami Beach last month, and if we can get him, we want him with us."

Humbert J. Fugazy, the Italian-American promoter who aspired to rival Tex Rickard during the latter's last years, also had an appointment today with Dempsey.

HAT MODELS FROM UR

LONDON, March 7.—Ancient Chaldean headdresses are likely to serve as a model for Miss 1929's hats if the enterprising scheme of one West End shop proves popular.

An exclusive Conduit street milliner recently displayed the headdress of Queen Shubad who ruled in Ur of the Chaldees before the days of Abraham. The headdress is a copy of one of the finds of the combined British museum and University of Pennsylvania expedition to Ur.

The display has raised the question of the desirability of regularly displaying the treasures of the museum so that those who never find time to see them in show-cases will have an opportunity to become acquainted in their daily round of business. It is suggested

New economy for 35c a quart

Mobiloil dealers now offer you an improved Mobiloil, made especially for new economy under today's high-speed driving conditions

Today's driving conditions demand still better lubricating oils, superior to anything produced before. The New Gargoyle Mobiloil meets this need.

Any Mobiloil dealer can supply you with the new economy Mobiloil at 35c a quart. Your saving in oil and gasoline consumption alone will more than make up for the extra 5c a quart.

MAKE THIS TEST

Drive to the nearest Mobiloil dealer . . . have him drain all the old oil from your crankcase and . . . fill it up with the correct grade of the New Mobiloil. You know from experience how your engine ran the last time fresh oil was put in the crankcase . . . Now—notice the difference!

Look for these results--

- Increased Oil Mileage: Often 100 extra miles per quart from the New Mobiloil.
- Increased Gasoline Mileage: Many tests show gasoline consumption reduced as much as 16%.
- Faster Pick-Up—More Power: Quicker get-away, more "pep" on the road, less labor on the hills.
- Smoother Operation: A quieter motor, a velvety smoothness of acceleration, less vibration when speeding.

35c a quart

The dealer who sells a quart of the New Mobiloil for less than 35c (except Mobiloil "E" the chatterproof oil for Model T Fords at 30c) is not making his fair reasonable profit. Lower prices often accompany substitution.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXV

Perhaps it was because she was so tired and suddenly sleepy that the prayer for help which Ruth Lester addressed, with child-like faith, to her Heavenly Father, ended in an extremely unorthodox manner, designed to confound a less understanding God than the One in which she believed.

For her last words, before sleep settled upon her like a smothering, cider-down comfort, were: "Please come back to me, daddy. I'm not clever enough to save Jack without your help. It's just the kind of case you always loved. You could make all the pieces of the puzzle fit. Come back and laugh at me for being so stupid—so stupid—"

And with miraculous suddenness part of that drowsy, naive prayer was answered. Subconsciously, Ruth Lester knew that she was dreaming, her actual body aching with fatigue, on her couch-bed in her tiny bachelor-girl apartment, that her adored father, Colby Lester, always referred to as "the famous criminal lawyer," was dead. But her prayer was being answered; and what did it matter that it was only a dream? But she mustn't wake up too soon.

The dream was a kindly one, not fantastic or absurd. She was back again in her father's library, curled kittenwise in his arms, watching with fascinated blue eyes as his long, slim fingers arranged and rearranged his of a jigsaw puzzle spread out on the desk before him.

"What is that big, square-shaped piece, daddy?" she heard her own voice inquiring, as those expert fingers made a quick rearrangement of the pieces of the jigsaw puzzle.

"That, infant?" She distinctly heard his beloved, familiar chuckle. "Why, that's the orchid-tinted letter, of course."

Perhaps, Ruth mourned later, if she had not cried out so sharply at that she would not have awakened, would have seen the complete solving of that jigsaw puzzle under the expert manipulation of Colby Lester's fingers. But she did wake up, with her own exclamation of self-disgust and her father's last words ringing in her ears.

With the sharp clarity of mind and memory which comes in the small-hours of the night, Ruth recalled every detail of a scene which she had forgotten through-out the dreadful first day of the police investigation into the murder of Henry P. Borden.

She saw again the large, square, orchid-tinted envelope, with its distinctive, angular handwriting in violet ink, saw herself seated at her desk in the outer office of Borden's suite, sorting Saturday-morning's mail, laying aside unopened the exotic missive marked "Personal"; saw, later, the gesture of repulsion and anger with which Henry Borden flicked the unwelcome letter across his desk, then heard again the muttered oath with which he picked it up and thrust it, unopened, into the breast pocket of his vest.

In her excitement, Ruth sat straight up in bed, her hands clasped to her wildly beating heart. Where was that letter now? She had seen Detective Sergeant McMann go through the murdered man's pockets, could clearly recall now every item he had taken from them. And no orchid-tinted letter had been among them!

Had Borden, some time between his receipt of the letter and his death, taken it out of his vest pocket, read it, torn it across and tossed it into his wastebasket? Certainly he had not done so before she herself left the office at 20 minutes after one, for her last act of service to the man who had been murdered had been to help him clear his desk of accumulated memoranda and advertising matter issued by other promoters on stock as dubious as his own. She had tossed the worthless papers into the empty wastebasket which stood beside his desk.

Perhaps he had read the letter and thrown it away after she had left, but if so, it was the first of the orchid-tinted letters, of which he had received several during the four months she worked for him, to find its way into his office wastebasket and thence, possibly, into the possession of a curious reader. But if it had not gone into Minnie Cassidy, where was it with the rest of the papers, by the basket and been taken out?

WHO IS THAT?

robbing of the body, she could not have known of the existence of the letter, could have had no motive for taking it if she had known for the letter had not been written by Elizabeth Borden. Ruth knew the discarded wife's handwriting very well, had seen her small, delicate, precise signature each month as an endorsement of Borden's check for separation allowance.

Suddenly the obvious course of action occurred to the excited girl. There was no use in puzzling and worrying over the letter now, but tomorrow morning . . . She lay back on her pillows, welcomed the waves of sleep which immediately began to dull her brain, for maybe Colby Lester, her father, would come to her again.

Colby Lester did not come again that night, but the next morning his daughter woke, feeling strangely happy and comfortable, quite equal to performing the two errands she had set herself—without benefit of police sanction—and then, as she had impudently expressed it to Jack Hayward the night before, to taking charge of the investigation into the murder of Henry P. Borden!

While she was dressing, a sudden thought occurred to Ruth and she ran to the front window of her tiny apartment. As she had expected, she saw a man strolling leisurely up and down the sidewalk across the street from her apartment house, his head turning now and then to glance casually toward the cheaply pretentious entrance.

Ruth blew a finger-tip kiss to the unconscious watcher, laughed exultingly, then whirled back to her dressing table. "I'm going to lead you an awful chase, dear, obnoxious old 'shadow'!" she promised him.

And she kept her promise. Twice as the detective's taxi drew almost abreast of hers, the girl thought she was going to be stopped and questioned, but undoubtedly the man had his orders not to jerk on the leash.

The first was not a long trip, Ruth's taxi drew up before an old but dignified apartment house in one of those side streets which offer their residents an impeccable address—the kind of address which makes department store saleswomen look at the owner with interest and respect.

"Please wait, I shan't be long," Ruth directed her driver.

"Mrs. Borden is not seeing anyone, miss," the uniformed doorman told her, when she asked to be announced over the house telephone.

"Please get Mrs. Borden on the phone, and tell her that Miss Ruth Lester wants to see her on a matter of vital importance," Ruth directed crisply.

Three minutes later Borden's widow and his secretary confronted each other in the large foyer of Mrs. Borden's apartment. Deep shadows from a sleepless, grieving night lay like black moth wings beneath the widow's eyes, and accentuated the ghastly pallor of her face.

Before Mrs. Borden could frame her dignified protest at the intrusion, Ruth put the question she had come to ask: "Mrs. Borden, won't you please tell me what you know about Martha Manning?"

"Oh, please, dear Mrs. Borden!" Ruth pleaded. "I know you want to protect your husband's past from the newspapers, but—he is dead, and it is your duty to tell anything you know which might help—"

"I have nothing to say to you, Miss Lester," Mrs. Borden interrupted coldly.

"I'm sorry to have troubled you, Mrs. Borden," Ruth said gently, "and I want you to know that I have my—my deepest sympathy, and without waiting for a reply, she reached for the knob of the door by which she had entered.

Her question had been answered, far more completely than the murdered man's widow could suspect. Ruth knew now why Mrs. Borden had refused on Monday to identify "the woman with the contralto voice."

The mother of Harry Borden's illegitimate children would die before she would admit, and thus publish to the world, her knowledge of the existence of an illegitimate half-brother of those children. How dreadful a burden that knowledge must have been all these years . . .

It was a saddened, subdued girl who gave the next address to the taxi driver.

"That gyp cab's following us, with a dick inside," the driver told her, out of the corner of his mouth, as she climbed into her taxi.

"I know," Ruth smiled at him reassuringly. "The 'dick' is only doing his duty. There won't be any trouble."

The driver shook his head, hesitated about starting his motor. "I don't want to get mixed up in nothing, Miss—"

"Very well!" Ruth agreed cheerfully, preparing to disembark. "If you don't want to drive me, I'll get the 'dick' to take me in his cab. I'll save taxi fare."

"Guess it's all right," her driver concluded, grinning at her impudence.

This time the trip was a long one, so long that Ruth cast more than an anxious glance at the meter, but at last she reached her destination—the suburban grocery store over which Minnie Cassidy lived in two cheerless rooms. Ruth had made the trip once before—on Christmas Day—to visit the old scrubwoman, temporarily bedridden with rheumatism.

phant hand. "I saw the very letter you mean, child, but not on the wastebasket. A-reading of it the poor man was, his face as black as a thundercloud and his fist pounding up and down on the drawer, as if he wished it was the poor lady's face he was pounding, not a drawer without feeling—"

"Drawer?" Ruth repeated blankly. McMann had gone through every drawer in Borden's desk . . .

FORT WORTH, Tex.—"Only through education and religious development can Chicago hope to wipe out its criminal element," Dr. William C. Covert, Philadelphia, told the Churchmen's Luncheon Club here. "There is a tide of sentiment against lawlessness that is going to sweep aside all opposition and clean up the city of Chicago within a short time," Dr. Covert predicted.

Doctor at 83 Found People Preferred His Prescription

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. If grown people want to use them no one can deny them the privilege, but they should never be given to children.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs? All drug stores have the generous bottles.

Many is the family today that makes it a rule always to have a bottle of this perfect preparation in the house. Keep it handy and observe these three simple rules of health: keep the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open.

Why not try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin today?

Mexican federal soldiers are shown here atop Juarez buildings, ready for their unsuccessful attempt to repel the invading revolutionists, who advanced on the city from the south at daybreak and finally captured it after a bloody battle in the streets. Machine guns spat streams of leaden death, rifles cracked and artillery guns boomed as the fighting raged, first on the outskirts of the town and later in the city itself as the advancing rebels finally forced the surrender of the defeated federals.

THE SPRING WOOD IS VERY POROUS THE NUMEROUS PORES BEING NECESSARY TO HANDLE THE LARGE SUPPLY OF WATER USED IN DEVELOPING THE BUDS, LEAVES AND FLOWERS. THE SUMMER WOOD, HOWEVER, IS CONSTRUCTED OF SMALL THICK-WALLED CELLS, HAS FEWER WATER DUCTS, AND SHOWS UP IN SHARP CONTRAST TO THE LIGHTER COLORED SPRING WOOD. W. M. S. BAPTIST CHURCH HAS STUDY DAY

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Baptist church held the usual Bible study hour yesterday as per their schedule, which regulate the many organizations in the church. Several of these have been called into being by Mrs. W. T. Turner, who among other very successful church activities, organized the Fidelis Matrons class; and the ambitious little Sunbeam Band, also reorganized the W. M. S. into 4 circles. But it is rather difficult sometimes to get the correct date to fit the corresponding organization.

The session was conducted by the President of W. M. S. Mrs. Clyde Garrett, who led the devotional, based on "Tything" Mrs. W. T. Turner then entered into the Bible study, the 14th chapter of Genesis. The lesson was given in perfect form, and was very engaging. The session was dismissed with prayer by the pastor.

Those present: Misses: G. W. Dakan, W. T. Turner, C. Garrett, Pentecost, O. Norton, John Norton, A. J. Campbell, Crouch, Lindsey, J. B. Overton, Nora Andrews, W. A. Owens, C. H. Colvin, Fred Davis and Rev. Turner.

BIBLE CLASS CHURCH OF CHRIST

The five series of lectures, built on the theme of World Wide Missions, is now in full tide led by the class teacher or lecturer, the pastor, Rev. H. W. Wrye. The subject for yesterday's session, was based on Acts 17 verses 15 to 30, "The Heathen in Athens, during the time of Christ." And they are still Heathens." Rev. Wrye stated. The lesson was covered thoroughly, Rev. Wrye, bringing out the conclusion that world wide missions were surely coming; that it is a selfishness extreme and against Christian duty, to fail to lend out a helping hand to carry the torch of Truth. New members greeted were Misses: W. T. Seis and J. B. Downtain. Other members present were Misses: H. E. Lawrence, Tom Harrell, J. R. Crossley Carlisle, A. M. Herring, Mary Bright, Harris, Guy Sharrell, Anna Craig, Harry Wood, J. Shelby Smith, and Rev. Wrye.

FOR COLDS—ALKALINIZE YOUR SYSTEM

Doctors everywhere are prescribing this new treatment for colds; and it is delighting thousands by the quick relief it brings when used consistently. Begin when you feel a cold coming. Take a tablespoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water, morning, noon and night, the first day. Do the same thing the second day. Then take only at night. Colds reduce the alkalinity of your system. That's what makes you feel achy, feverish, weak, half-sick from them. Phillips Milk of Magnesia is alkali in harmless, palatable form. It relieves the symptoms of colds by restoring the alkalinity of your system. For fifty years, this pleasant alkali has been famous as an anti-acid. Doctors prescribe Phillips Milk of Magnesia; hospitals use it; millions know how it relieves sour-stomach, gas, indigestion and other symptoms of over-acidity. All drug stores recommend it. 25c and 50c bottles, with full directions for its many uses. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Chas. H. Had Not Known A Well Day In Fifteen Years

"For fifteen years I didn't know what a well day was. Suffering continually with my stomach, my appetite fell off, my nerves were completely unstrung, and everything I ate caused such distress and misery that a substantial meal was unknown to me. My liver was out of order, and weak kidneys caused my sleep to be badly broken. I grew weak, debilitated and generally run down. I suffered continually with constipation, that brought on dizziness and sick headaches, and lost energy strength and weight.

"I spent lots of money on medicines and took treatment after treatment. I had one operation, and was finally told that another would be necessary before I could ever hope to be well. Then I read statements about the good Sargon was doing and I decided to try it. I would not take five hundred dollars for the good it did me.

"Now, my fifteen years suffering is ended. My nerves are steady and I have a splendid appetite. I eat everything I want and enjoy it. Nothing disagrees with me any more. I have restful, refreshing sleep. I am full of energy, my strength has returned, and I never have an ache or pain. The dizziness and headaches are gone. I have gained weight, and feel like a different woman in every way."

The above statement was made by Mrs. Minnie Freeland, of 1213 West Fifth St., Fort Worth. She is well known and highly respected in the community in which she resides. Sargon may be obtained in Eastland from Texas Drug Store; in Rising Star from Star Drug Co.; in Desdemona from City Drug Store; in Carbon from Dixie Drug Co.; and in West from Old Corner Drug Store. NEA

NEA

Here are Lindy and Anne Morrow in their plane, preparing to make their first flight following the accident. Lindy is at the left; Miss Morrow has not yet pulled her goggles down over her face. The day after they narrowly escaped death in a crash at Valbuena Field, Mexico City, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and Miss Anno Morrow went back for another flight. This picture shows them walking together to their plane.

No one who has seen one of their shows will need to be reminded of the talent and versatility of the entire cast but even in view of that fact there are several individuals who deserve special credit. The Mahavier Sisters who give song and dance acts full of pep and personality are the favorites. Then there is Toby Nevius, master of ceremonies, what we mean-good, Miss Nannette Schaeffer talented dancer is another. They are all good.
