By the Way...

The folly of picking up hitch hikers was demonstrated in the experience of a Dallas man the other day in Arizona. The hikers put him out and drove off with his life.

Four suits filed in District court yesterday — all for divorces.

Eight days adrift on the high seas in disabled motorboat, then rescued by a ship. This is not a movie plot but the actual experience of two Americans.

One railroad wants to build 97 miles; another wants to buy a 10-mile line. These items in the same day's news regarding Texas show that rail expansion is still in progress in the broad confines of Texas to a greater extent than in any other State.

Who makes money in oil is rather vividly portrayed in the statement issued by Robt. W. Stewart head of the Standard of Indiana who is engaged in a battle with John D. Rockefeller Jr. for control of the corporation. In 1913 when Stewart's administration began, the Indiana company was worth $1,700,000. In the 10 years since then, it has paid more than $200,000,000 in cash dividends and the company is now worth $200,000,000. In other words, the investor in 10 years has got his principal back plus 17 per cent and has his investment and it is worth five times as much as it was in 1913.

Quite a variety of temperatures were offered by Texas last night. Two above zero at Amarillo and at Brownsville it was 54. Houston shivered at 34 and San Antonio's palms swayed in an atmosphere that was 30 degrees. Eastland was around 16; Abilene 14 and Dallas 19.

HERE'S ANOTHER INSANE MAN; YES HE KILLED MAN

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 25 — A new appeal to save J. H. (Pete) McKenzie, slayer of Detective Sam Street of San Antonio from the death chair has come to Governor Dan Moody. It claims that McKenzie still suffering from head injury received in a boyhood fall. The appeal is from W. L. Knight, an El Paso City ranchman.

Knight and McKenzie were 'boyhood playmates. McKenzie's skull was fractured in a fall from a freight car, Knight says. Since then he has been queer. "He even tried to kill me once with a knife," says the man who is now pleading that McKenzie's life be spared. Knight believes that McKenzie is in a similar fit of irresponsibility when he killed Arthur Moorey in El Paso and Detective Street in San Antonio.

So far Governor Moody has staid deaf ear to the appeal of the Rev. Ralph Crum, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church at San Antonio and their appeals have been referred to the State pardon board. The Governor admits that those asking to save McKenzie have a "hard road" to travel to get him out of the court order for the execution on March 23. In several recent cases, Governor Moody has granted respites where mental condition of condemned men was in doubt to permit the experts of the State Asylums to observe and report upon them. An order may stay McKenzie's death.

OSCAR UNDERWOOD IS DEAD

MAN GOES AMUCK; TWO ARE SLAIN

Kills Little Son, Shoots Daughter, Gouges Wife's Eyes Out, Shoots Self and Begs Wife's Forgiveness as He Dies.

AKRON, O., Jan. 25 — Believed temporarily insane, George Thomas 30, shot and killed his four-year-old son, Robert, shot his two-year-old daughter as she lay in her bed, gouged his wife's eyes so badly she may be blind for life, and then killed himself here last night. The tragedy was the climax to a bitter quarrel — a dispute which has raged intermittently since the Thomases were married in Lorain O., Nov. 16, 1922, according to police.

The baby Rose, is not expected to live. Little Robert died in his mother's arms. Thomas shot himself twice, then drank poison. He died six hours later, begging his wife for forgiveness.

Thomas' wife, Helen, 22, physicians said, probably will be blind for life. She told a story of bitter strife, of constant marital turmoil caused by distrust.

Thomas was employed by the D. F. Goodrich Rubber Company and Mrs. Thomas worked for the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company.

"He wanted me to quit working," Mrs. Thomas said. "Countless times since we were married he has threatened to gouge out my eyes or disfigure me for life. Last night he seemed more jealous than ever."

"I was playing the phonograph when I saw him come at me."

The record of the stricken young wife was playing was "You Can't Find Love Where There Ain't Any Love."

"He struck me several times, then grabbed me around the waist with one hand and with the other started to gouge my eyes," Mrs. Thomas continued.

"He threw me on the floor and kicked me several times and I lay still."

Little Robert, aroused by the noise, peered affrightedly from behind a bedroom door.

Mrs. Thomas said her husband whipped out a gun and pursued the boy, who ran back to his bed and crawled under the blankets.

Thomas pulled the boy out of bed and shot him. Mrs. Thomas grabbed the baby up. He lay quiet in her arms.

Thomas ran to the living room, where Rose was sleeping in her crib.

Mrs. Thomas, on the verge of collapse, crawled out the front door and onto an icy lawn where a neighbor found her and called police.

"Thrill Killer" Had No Thrill Out of Trial

Calm, unmoved as he sat in the courtroom, George Harsh, wealthy young student (below, left) apparently got no "thrill" out of his trial in Atlanta, Ga., for the "thrill slaying" of Willard Smith, a drug clerk. Above is a scene at the trial, with Harsh (1) sitting under the anxious eyes of a brother, W. A. Harsh (2), and their mother, Mrs. George Harsh, Sr. (3). Mrs. Mary Belle Smith (below, right), pretty widow of the murdered drug clerk, testified against Harsh, who "killed for the fun of it" during a hold-up.

"Victim" in Death Plot Is Arrested as Bank Bandit

DETROIT, Jan. 25 — Ralph A. Wood, alleged intended victim of a death plot instigated by his estranged wife, Mrs. Grace Wood, and Cecil Holt, principal State witness in the case against Mrs. Wood were arrested early today charged with complicity in the holdup of the Sturgis National bank, last Dec. 17.

The robbery was committed by five men who escaped with $15,000 in cash and $80,000 in negotiable securities.

Wood and Holt were arrested on warrants issued at the request of J. T. Sloane, assistant prosecuting attorney of St. Joseph County. Sloane was acting for Prosecuting Attorney Lawrence H. Niendorf who is ill.

Witnesses of the robbery, Joseph W. Parrish, manager of a five and ten-cent store in Sturgis, and Helen Craine, bookkeeper of the bank, identified Wood and Holt as being two members of the band which held up the bank.

WANTS RIP TO BE KEPT HERE

"Texas souvenir artist" thinks that Old Rip should remain in Eastland.

Miss Queen Marris of Killeen, having read in the papers after the frog's death that the celebrated creature might be sent to Smithsonian Institute or to Texas Christian university, wrote to Will M. Wood, custodian of Rip:

"I see by the papers that there is some talk of sending Old Rip away from home to be buried. As a commoner from the ranks, I take this means of vigorously protesting such action.

"The horned frog is a native and so far as is known, adapted only to the Southwest. I am told that, with a few exceptions, every frog carried north from the Houston convention died. I'm sure if Rip could express himself, he would want to be buried in his old home town where contact with friends and objects has endeared the place to him.

"From an advertising standpoint Eastland is doing herself an injustice in sending the frog away and from a sentimental view — well, it just isn't right."

Plans are being made to entomb the frog in marble and glass in the lobby of the Eastland county court house where he can be seen by thousands through the centuries.

Anti-Monkey Bill Revived by the House

Minority Report Is Approved by Texas Lawmakers — Preacher Who Wrote Bill Makes an Impassioned Plea.

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 25 — Texas' Anti-evolution bill, first killed in committee by a vote of 8 to 3, was revived today when the House of Representatives voted 65 to 39 for a minority report and ordered the bill printed in the House journal.

The vote followed an impassioned plea by Rev. Jas. W. Harper, pastor, author of the bill.

By its terms, it prohibits teaching evolution as a fact in State supported school. Teachers violating the rules would be subject to fine. Any text book commission adopting a book teaching evolution as a fact would also be subject to fine.

An attempt to take the tangles out of law and speed up justice will be made at a joint meeting of four House and Senate committees of the Texas legislature called for Tuesday night.

At that time, the committee on Civil Jurisprudence and constitutional amendments will meet together. They will consider all proposed court reform measures, the proposed self-governing bar bill and the constitutional amendment to enlarge the Supreme court to 9 members.

FLASHES

By United Press.
ORANGE, Tex., Jan. 25 — Four small children were recovering from injuries here today three having been burned in an explosion and fire and the fourth bitten by a dog. Dan Mazzalo, grocer, in whose store the explosion occurred, also was burned. Mazzalo was attempting to solder a gasoline tank when the blast took place. His two children, Dorothy, 2, and Anthony, 4, were injured painfully, while John King, Jr., 3, negro, was hurt. The four year old daughter of J. B. Rickman, gas company manager, was bitten by a dog, believed mad.

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 25 — Notary public seals will in future carry the imprint of the notary's name, under terms of a bill being drafted by the attorney general's department at the request of Representative Frank Baldwin of Waco. The bill is designed to prevent the use of the seal by any but the notary. Demand for the bill is an outgrowth of the election bet killing of a Dallas bank employee who, as stakeholder, had paid $200, on an alleged fraudulent order to which a notary seal was attached.

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 25 — Both the Senate and House of the State Legislature adjourned this afternoon until Monday.

GREAT PARTY CHIEF

Strong Contender for the Democratic Presidential, Author of Tarriff Law, Nomination Law, Party Leader in House and Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 — Former Senator Oscar Underwood of Alabama, died at his home near Mount Vernon, Va., today. He suffered a paralytic stroke in December and appeared to be recovering until a few days ago, when he suffered a relapse.

News of Underwood's death spread to the floor of the Senate as it met at noon. After some minor business was transacted, Senator Heflin, Dem., Alabama, obtained the floor and, with the cooperation of Senator Curtis, Republican floor leader, moved that the Senate adjourn immediately as a mark of respect. The motion was passed.

Heflin paid a brief tribute to the former leader of the Democratic Senators.

Underwood was 67 years old. He was born in Louisville, Ky., educated at Rugby school there and at the University of Virginia. He was elected a Democratic member of the House of representatives to the 54th to 63rd Congresses, inclusive, and elected a member of the U. S. Senate in March 4, 1915 and served until 1927.

He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Bertha Woodward Underwood and two sons, Oscar, Jr., and John Luis.

Dr. H. C. Latain, four nurses and members of the immediate family were with the Senator when death came.

Two brothers, Colonel Sidney Underwood of Atlanta, Ga., and Fred B. Underwood, of Knoxville, Tenn., also survive.

He was a Mason and a Shriner. Although funeral arrangements have not been completed, Underwood Jr., said the body probably would be taken to Birmingham tomorrow night.

Underwood will be known to history as author of the Underwood tariff law which enacted early in the Wilson administration. He became chairman of the House ways and means committee when the Democratic party gained control of Congress in 1912.

He served in Congress from 1895 and rose to a ranking position on the House ways and means committee during the Taft administration, automatically becoming chairman when the Democrats became the majority party.

In 1915, as a reward for his outstanding work in framing the Democratic tariff bill, Underwood was elected to the Senate.

He served as Democratic leader in the Senate, and was selected by the late President Harding to serve as the Democratic member of the American delegation at the Washington arms conference.

Underwood achieved his real popular fame in the 1924 Democratic National Convention in Madison Square Garden when the famous rollcall answer twenty-four votes for Underwood became a national catchline.

A curtain of falling water, illuminated by colored lights, has been installed in front of the stage in an outdoor theatre in Philadelphia.

State Utilities Body is Debated

Moody Urges Appointive Commission "To Stand Between the People and Powerful Companies" — City Attorneys Want Local Control.

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 25 — Arguments for and against a State utility commission were presented last night before the Senate committee on State affairs in a hearing that ended near midnight after spirited plea for the commission by Governor Dan Moody.

City attorneys of various North Texas municipalities opposed the State control. They advocated instead a State fact finding board, whose findings should be available to all communities for use in fixing rates locally.

Sherman, Denison, McKinney, Greenville, Bonham and Tyler were cited as cities that have declared against the State utility control.

At the beginning of the hearing municipally owned plants were ordered excluded from the proposed commission control. Water plants, private municipal, were also excluded.

A committee substitute, which Governor Moody supported in his argument, was offered for the original bill tendered by Senator Ed Westbrook.

City Attorney R. E. Rorer of Fort Worth declared there is need for power to control companies operating outside cities and operating inside cities through separate distributing companies.

City Attorney James J. Collins of Dallas asked that service-act operation such as is in force at Dallas through contracts with utilities be exempted from any State utility bill.

City Attorney Hamp Abney of Sherman and City Attorney Roy Smith of Tyler led the attack by municipalities upon the proposed State Utilities commission.

Governor Moody, going back 20 years to the days when he was a boy employee of an Electric light company in Taylor, Tex., contrasted utility conditions then with those of today. Then he said, the company was a little one with two small dynamos that new would be obsolete. Today he pictured the great companies operating from one end of the State to the other and serving hundreds of cities.

Municipal officers, untrained in such work, he said, are unable to cope in rate matters with such powerful organizations.

Municipalities, he said, as without power to say if long distance telephone and telegraph rates are fair.

Pyramiding of corporations control, he declared, added to the difficulties.

He advocated an appointive commission to stand between the people and the powerful companies.

He declared unalterable opposition to an elected commission and added that he did not think a commissioner should be eligible to hold other office for two years after his commission term. Further hearing was ordered at 2 p. m. today.

WANTS RIP TO BE KEPT HERE

Blanton became very angry and charged that that was the way Democrats were treated.

Representative Crampton, Republican, Michigan, said Texas was now a Republican State and Blanton's answer to this could not be heard for the laughter.

When Elliott left the House chamber Blanton followed him to the lobby where the argument continued. Blanton shoved an old Congressional Record into Elliott's hands and claimed it contained the promise. Elliott threw the record back, striking Blanton in the mouth. The Texan threw his arms into fighting position but, before the two engaged in a general melee, other representatives jumped between them.

Elliott returned to his office. Blanton returned to the floor and said the argument was over and he and Elliott were good friends.

Mr. Cook served with the Canadian army overseas during the World War. He attained the rank of Lieutenant and won service medals for bravery. He was wounded seventeen times before being retired for hospital treatment. He has traveled about the world much and speaks several languages.

Mr. Cook takes no high pressure collections for his work but accepts such gifts as are handed him at the close of the service.

Arrangements will be made if possible, for him to speak to the men in the Eastland county jail while here.

BUSINESS AND THE TARIFF.
America will eventually get a lower tariff—not in spite of modern business, but because of it.

This rather startling assertion comes from Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant, who declares, in an article in the current issue of The Annals, that business will sooner or later adopt a policy in favor of lower tariffs simply because "business always does in the end what is to its own interest."

Since such a prediction is so completely opposed to our ordinary assumption—high tariff and big business are inseparably linked in our political creeds—Mr. Fil-ene's argument ought to be worth examining.

"Mass production," he explains,
"raises anew the question of world trade because the vastly increased volume of goods produces surpluses which cannot be marketed except in foreign lands. The surplus —that is, any general surplus—is relatively new to American industry. It is destined to change our views about tariffs."

After pointing out that he himself has never been a "free trader," Mr. Filene continues:

"Mass production, to which the world is now coming, needs no tariff protection. On the contrary, it will benefit from low tariffs, or free trade. Under a very low tariff, which would reduce living costs and the costs of raw materials, automobiles, for instance,
could be produced much more cheaply.

"This reduced selling price
would not only tap a new market of millions at home, but would permit our manufacturers to export in greater quantities. At the lower selling price they could undercut European manufacturers
even in their own markets."
Such is Mr. Filene's argument.
Doubtless there will be many to disagree with it; but it raises some interesting points for us to consider, nevertheless.

PARROT STOPS THIEF

PORTLAND, Ore., "Hello! Hello!
Ha, ha, ha! Lookie!"
And with such a hub-hub from the favorite parrot in a Portland big store two clerks stopped work to look. They saw a man going toward the store safe evidently searching for valuables.

While the parrot screeched appears the clerks went into action and overpowered the prowler. The police were called and the man was taken to jail.

The clerks explained to officers that the stranger came into the store several times to admire the parrot and finally paid a small amount down on the bird, agreeing to return with the remainder.

According to the story of the clerks, he returned to visit the safe rather than his "installment" parrot, which turned burglar alarm.

Incidentally the "For Sale" sign has been taken off the parrot's cage.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Jan. 25—

premonition of tragedy before he

HEROES ARE MADE—NOT BORN.

PRESIDENT OF STANDARD OIL
WRITES CLASS

W. C. Teagle Sends Message To Members of 'Our Hero's Organization'

W. C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, in a message to Our Heroes Sunday school class of the First Methodist church, stated
"there is no sure formula for success," and built his brief sermon around that declaration.

His letter, read by M. F. Peters, instructor, follows:

"The company of which I am president employs a great many thousand people in diversified lines. Like marbles in a boy's pocket these men are shaken about in the organization as new fields open up and old positions are vacated or new ones created. Not a month goes by without a number of these men, in the process of shifting, moving up to higher positions and better pay. Eventually, many of them reach positions of great responsibility.

"Several times each year I am asked what it is that makes for success in life. There is no sure formula. Sometimes circumstances seem to control; sometimes the same factors which succeed with one man seem ineffective with another. But I have noticed one thing about most of the men that have come up in this organization.

"They have all possessed, along with other good qualities, the ability to finish up the task in hand. To put it another way, they have been thorough. Many of these men, if not a large majority of them, are not brilliant. Some of the mere so humdrum as to be considered dull. But in every case, they have been trustworthy, and by virtue of sticking at a job until it is completed to their satisfaction, they were given bigger things to do. A great failing of large numbers of American youth is the lack of concentration. They try to get by in the easiest way possible. They prepare for that part of the lessons in which they expect to be examined and trust to luck to be overlooked in the remainder. When they get into business they leave a job before they are absolutely sure that it has been done as well as they could do it.

"If I were a teacher I would constantly strive to drive home that lesson to my pupils, the matter of being thorough. I would rather have a boy turn in a paper with two examples out of 10 solved and proved than to receive answers for the 10 questions slowly and hurriedly arrived at.
If you have not already done so,
I hope you can get a copy of the late Elbert Hubbard's 'Message to Garcia' and read it. Every executive is on the lookout for a man who can be started on a task with the certainty that sooner or later he will bring it back boxed up, copper riveted and air-tight."

BLIND JUSTICE—AND DEAF

Tommy Bambrick, a lad of 20, went to his death in New York state several years ago because the governor refused to be disturbed. Bambrick was innocent of the murder of which he had been convicted. And, although, he is not the only victim of circumstantial evidence who has gone to the gallows, his was one of the few murder. The warden followed the clew and got the man.

On an appeal for a new trial,
the judge refused to hear Bambrick.

The night before the execution, the warden told the story before a group of bankers in New York. They were impressed and tried to get a message to the governor to save the boy's life. It was too late to charter a train to go personally to Albany. They phoned, but the governor would not be disturbed. Bambrick was executed —an innocent victim of the law.

Justice demands that crimes must be solved correctly. Legal mistakes shake public confidence in law. Beginning Wednesday, Jan. 30, this paper will publish the newest mystery story of Anne Austin—"The Black Pigeon." In it, you will find abundant opportunity to test your detective powers. Several innocent persons come under suspicion of murder. One is guilty. Can you point to the one?

cases in which it was known before his death that he was not

Spencer Is Taking Four Bot-

to Florida

JOHN C. SPENCER

The following enthusiastic statement was made by John C. Spencer of 498 Sixty-third avenue, West Allis, Milwaukee, who for thirty years was actively engaged in the commercial and civic life of that city, but who recently retired from active business to devote more time to his real estate holdings in West Allis, Wis., and Florida. Mr. Spencer has lived in Milwaukee forty-five years, is well known and highly esteemed.

He said:
"I am leaving for Florida in a few days and will take four bottles of Sargon with me. I don't intend to be without this wonderful medicine.

"For the past year I have been in wretched health, suffering from rheumatism and other troubles on account of an inactive liver, principally. I lost weight rapidly and my strength was ebbing away. I was constantly troubled by indigestion and constipation.

"I felt a marked improvement
after my first few doses of Sargon.
Three bottles put me in wonderful condition. My appetite is splendid now, my digestion is sound. I have gained ten pounds and my strength has returned in proportion. I'm going to continue the treatment, of course for I wouldn't be without Sargon.

Sargon may be obtained in Eastland from Texas Drug Store; in Kisling Star from Star Drug Co.; in Desdemona from City Drug Store and in Carbon from Dixie
Drug Co. (Adv.)

BACKWARD: Several informal social affairs occupied the attention of the set this week, in addition to activities along club and social lines, and one of the prettiest of these small affairs was the Monday afternoon, honoring Mrs. A. E. Lindquist of New York City, honor guest of Mrs. Moore Ferguson, a charming hostess in her attractive home.

The other night over at Marion Davies' beach home in Hollywood, someone noticed that Bebe Daniels of the movies was wearing a sparkler on her finger. Asked about it Bebe said Ben Lyon, also of movie note, gave it to her, and what do you suppose for? Why, to be married! They say it's to be soon. Here are Bebe and Ben.

LANCASTER ENTERTAINS: Vernon Lancaster of 1010 Main street, entertained with a "bride shower" party for Mrs. M. Fry, Wednesday afternoon assisted by co-hostesses Utz, J. A. Mead, and Lynn B. Hays.

Rooms were fragrant with red and white shades. A close of a pleasant afternoon with radio concert, supper and undertone, a dainty lunch of fruit composed with cream topping, hot chocolate and angel food squares iced and served.

Gifts were presented by little three year old Polly Utz, dressed in a maid's attire, who ushered to the room where the party was on crew.

Present were Mmes. J. D. Harry Taylor, Raymond Willey Herbin, Earl Dick, Jack With, Vernon T. Tilly, Charles Albert Conley, Artie Liles, Beaty, C. H. Colvin, John Wild, J. A. Whether doughnut sale, will be a week from tomorrow on the square, and a luncheon from 12 to 1 p. m., will be served in the hall, of hot coffee, hot cocoa and fresh doughnuts.

Small touches about the luncheon bore the sterling mark of Mrs. Seaberry, who is an artist of unusual ability and professional fame.

Long, brilliantly appointed table bore bowls of yellow and red and scarlet hued roses, and the gray and brilliant blue season. Guests covers marked by St. Valentine paper.

Four courses of the luncheon followed with a delicious cocktail and a delightful

MRS. McMANUS ENTERTAINS: Mrs. Thomas McManus gave a pretty little six table bridge at her attractive home, Wednesday afternoon, when the very informality of the affair and the closeness of acquaintance, made a most unusually delightful event.

HIT THE DECK

Abilene, Texas. — The specially picked chorus of singers and dancers up to Broadway standards will arrive with Vincent Youmans' international musical comedy success, "Hit the Deck" when that popular musical show comes to the Fair Park Auditorium, Abilene Thursday night, January 31.

Its two famous Youmans' tunes "Hallelujah" and "Sometimes I'm Happy" have swept the country like wildfire.

No sooner had "Hit the Deck" been revealed in New York, where it remained for over a year to record - breaking business, than these two song hits became the sensational rage and they still retain their popularity as hundreds of thousands are sent joyously on their way fox-trotting to their intoxicating melodies. These songs will be heard in their original setting for the first time when "Hit the Deck" visits this city.

A cast of unusual merit has been engaged by Mr. Youmans to present "Hit the Deck". It is headed by that musical comedy favorite Grace Smith and includes Edward Garr, Sunny Dale, Katherine Ringham, Ernie Mack, Betty Benton, Rita Carita, John Robb, George Scully, The Minnequin Four, Lois Landis, Dan De Leo, Butler Mandeville and others. A large chorus of vivacious dancing beauties, a double octette of male voices and an augmented orchestra carried by the company to interpret the Youmans' score are also featured.

At the close of an interesting game, a salad plate of chicken, with cranberry and sandwiches that tiny devices on the latter, centering the cut - outs of diamonds, hearts, clubs and spades; and second course of "Food for the Gods" and coffee, was served.

High score favor, an embroidered linen towel was awarded Mrs. B. O. Tatum.

The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. J. S. Grisham. Those present, Mmes. W. C. Baker, F. W. Courts, Guy McDonald, E. T. Murray, H. O. Tatum, and guests, Mmes. Harry Semple, Charles E. Overly, Joe Driskell, B. D. Hampton, E. Roy Townsend, Bob Murray, and John Seth.

YOUNG NIECE DIES: Eastland friends of the family, are offering their sympathy to Superintendent of schools, Mr. Bittle, who yesterday was informed of the death of his niece, a young girl of 18 years, in the hospital of Texas University, Miss Mary Todd, who was the president of the freshman class of the University. Miss Todd was ill but a few days and died of double pneumonia at noon, on Thursday.

Much Power, Little Gasoline a Feature

"It takes little in the way of engineering knowledge to realize that the trend in automobile power plants is constantly toward greater speeds and higher compressions," said Courtney Johnson, General Sales Manager of the Hudson Motor Car Company at the Show last night. "Our own contribution to this branch of progress is the high-compression, high-efficiency F-head motor in which acceleration power and fuel economy are more noteworthy than ever."

Heretofore the trouble with high-compression motors has been the fact that they were subjected to spark knocks, pre-ignition, roughness and other undesirable features. For these defects the solution has been found in the Hudson F-head design which gives us a combination valve-in-head and valve-in-side engine in that the intake valve is located in the head and the exhaust valve in the side.

"In our motor, which this year has been still further refined, the intake valve is located just above the exhaust valve. As the intake opens, the incoming fuel is drawn right over the hot exhaust valve. This has the effect that all liquid or unvaporized fuel particles are subjected to the heat of the exhaust valve and chamber. Next, the exhaust valve is so swept by the incoming fuel mixture that it never reaches the overheated condition that is common with many other engines."

By moderating the temperature of the exhaust valve, our engineers not only prevent pre-ignition and knocking, but they cause the motor to utilize the entire gas charge, with the result that our motor delivers 91 horse-power with a remarkably low consumption of fuel.

Demand for Vicks Supplies Good Index to Spread of Flu

An interesting sidelight on the present influenza epidemic has been the accuracy with which the demand for Vicks VapoRub reflects the flu situation in various parts of the country. Vicks is the external treatment which proved so helpful in 1918.

Last November, rush orders from the Pacific Coast for more and more Vicks' told of the beginning of a new epidemic. As the flu moved east, sudden increases in the demand for Vicks marked its spread from state to state.

Now that influenza has become fairly general, it is once more necessary, in spite of vastly increased capacity, to run the Vicks laboratories all night long, as the public now demands over 375,000 jars every 24 hours.

SECRET BRIDE, INVALID, LETS SPOUSE REWED

Mississippi School Teacher Displays Unusual Devotion.

(From Ranger Times) SENATORIA, Miss.—One of the most unusual cases of romance and sacrifice that ever came to light in this section was revealed here when Inez Sneed, an invalid and former school teacher, filed a claim for a wife's share in the estate of Charles T. Bowden, who shot and killed himself recently. Attached to Miss Sneed's claim was a marriage certificate showing that she had wed Bowden more than a year ago.

According to the former teacher, she and Bowden were married while she was teaching and they agreed to keep the union a secret until the school term was ended. Shortly afterwards she was thrown from a horse and was severely injured. Bowden, she said, obtained the medical aid for her but to no avail and all the doctors told her she would remain an invalid the rest of her life.

Meantime Bowden had met and loved another girl. He told his wife of this infatuation and she acquiesced in his plans to marry again.

"I agreed," Miss Sneed said, "I told him the doctors told me I would never recover. I told him that our dead romance could be buried forever as far as I was concerned and that he was at liberty to find happiness wherever he could."

Three days before Bowden's second marriage was to take place he fired a bullet through his head while seated on a creek bank which runs through his estate. His latest love knew nothing of the former marriage.

Bowden had brooded for weeks over his predicament and finally decided to end his own life.

Miss Sneed's parents were ignorant of their daughter's marriage until she filed the claim for a share in Bowden's estate.

Stomach Disorders First Revealed by Coated Tongue

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90% of all sickness starts with stomach and bowel trouble.

A coated tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders which lead to so many kinds of serious illness. It tells why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

Coating on the tongue is a sign that you need Tanlac—the medicine which has helped thousands who were physical wrecks from stomach and bowel troubles—who had "tried everything" in vain and about given up hope.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs; it is made of herbs, roots and fruits. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

WASHINGTON.—The last few years have seen a great infiltration into the Argentine not only of branch offices of North American firms, but also of production plants.

High tariffs have speeded industrialization in the Argentine since the war and have made many large fortunes with the building up of infant industries and the country's increasing self-sufficiency.

They also have brought North American plants within Argentine borders by making it so much more economical for the larger American manufacturers to make, or at least to finish, their products inside the dddy wall.

Trade experts expect a steady increase factories and assembly plants. They see a large market for radio sets in Argentina, and a healthy development of aviation. There will be more and more of demand for complicated manufactures such as typewriters and adding machines.

American public utilities also have been branching out and only recently the International Telephone and Telegraph Company, an American concern, took over the Argentine telephone system. One can now telephone from Buenos Aires to Chile, Rio de Janeiro or Uruguay, and the day is foreseen when International will operate a telephone network all over South America, with the hope of covering territory up to the United States-Mexican border.

The Armour Packing Company has several big plants in the Argentine. Swift has two or three and Wilson one. These sell to the local market, exporting some hides and a little canned meat to the United States.

Some American automobile companies have complete Argentine assembly plants and other do partial assembling.

within the tariff wall, sells about 35 per cent of the toothpaste used in the country. Eastman Kodak has a manufacturing plant and the Victor Talking Machine Company is building a big new one. The United States Paper and Printing Supply Company also manufactures here.

Argentina does not mind this penetration of American factories so long as they continue to em-

Baseball Season Near

By George Kirwsey
 Press Staff Correspondent
 NEW YORK, Jan. 25 — The season for holdouts has arrived and included in the first group of baseball stars to express dissatisfaction over the terms of their 1929 contracts are Mickey Vernon, Jesse Haines, Buddy Cochran and the Waner brothers. Cochran seems the most serious holdout. The peppy Philadelphia Athletics' catcher, who was awarded the American league's most valuable player prize last season, was so surprised when he learned the salary offered him, he exclaimed: "Why there's been a mistake! It can't be my contract." It may be true that a clerical error, as Cochran intimated, was made in affixing the terms to his contract. Both Lloyd and Paul Waner have signed their unexpired contracts with the Pittsburgh Pirates. Sam Byrnes, treasurer of the club, however, denies they are holdouts. Jesse Haines, who was one of the greatest holdouts of two seasons ago, talked terms recently with coach Ricketts, vice-president of the St. Louis Cardinals, and failed to sign a contract. Although only 12 out of 32 players of the Washington Senators had signed their contracts, Edmy Myer, third baseman acquired from the Boston Red Sox in a trade for five players, is believed to be the only holdout. The New York Yankees have offered their regulars signed, including Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Herb Pennock. Under the Yankees' policy, Secretary Bob Barr does not reveal names of the signed players.

DAN HOWLEY
 "BUILT A PENNANT CONTENDER IN TWO YEARS"

Sports Matter

By WILLIAM J. DUNN
 Press Staff Correspondent
 Bill Klem will be on hand again in spring to launch his 23rd season as an umpire in the National league. Klem "resigned" last fall for a time. He gave only the most general reasons for his decision but dared he never would return to the game. Inasmuch as he neglected to give the "resignation" to President John Heydler or other officials of the older circuit, his decision failed to excite great consternation in baseball circles. Those who knew him merely smiled and wished the world to "wait until spring."

There was a very little — very little fear that Klem might have been sincere in his unofficial announcement when his signed contract was not among those forwarded by his brother arbiters to the National league offices this year. Only a few days late, however, Klem received the contract, indicating that Klem had given up or forgotten and wrote back on the diamond calling him as he saw them, when the season opened.

That Hartnett Decision
 There still is a little doubt as to the actual cause of Klem's "resignation." Some thought he was displeased at his failure to draw world series assignment for the fall and decisive fall baseball season of 1928. Others feel that he was chafing under the storm of criticism that raged his famous decision in the Hartnett-Reese play at the Polo Grounds late in the season. Garry Hartnett, backstop for the Chicago Cubs, according to his story, caught Andy Reese, an infielder, off of home plate one of the bitterly contended New York-Chicago games. Klem ruled in this opinion and ordered the official verdict. Reese, his teammates, and every New York fan in the stands stoutly declared on the contrary that Hartnett came out to meet him and held him off of the plate until the ball arrived. The game was protested and the protest overruled.

This failed to curb the storm of criticism, however, and the decision became one of the most widely discussed of the season.
Calls 'Em Right
 Klem has always declared that he never read the sports pages — also that he never called a play — any play — wrong. If his insistence on the subject were true, however, there is a general conviction that someone must have told him of the criticism for a play was one he never cared discuss. And shortly afterward announced his retirement. Klem has ever been a confident man. He made his decisions decisively and stuck by them. His temper has been spotted with protest, arguments and near-battles. He won them all and it is rather suspected that Klem would be such disagreements as means to prove his infallibility in his own, if not the plays' satisfaction.

He'll be back on the job this spring, calling them — and calling them right! Any player who doubts his ability in this line has only to enter a vigorous kick to cover that Klem still is ruler of the section of the diamond in which confidence is essential in a umpire and Klem never was lacking in confidence. His contract was a sincere welcome from National league officials.

It's getting so Dan Howley hasn't much of anything to howl about. Things have been breaking quite nice for the doleful manager of the St. Louis Browns, in fact so nice that his boys are being mentioned as red hot pennant prospects for next season.

All of this from a hopeless second division club two years ago when "Howling Dan" succeeded George Sisler at the helm. Howley is the Gil Dobbie of baseball. The future is very menacing when Dan is talking. There are always so many obstacles for his boys to overcome; he'll tell you it's a good bet Dame Fortune will make bums out of all of them in the end.

But it seems Howley and the Browns keep plugging right along and that's bringing results.

THREE DEAD AS AIRPORT IS DEDICATED AT SAN ANGELO

Don Frazee, Star Athlete of T. C. U., Shytle, Ft. Worth Theatre Manager, and Henley, Pilot, Killed in Making Landing.

By United Press.
 SAN ANGELO, Tex., Jan. 25 — San Angelo's new municipal airport, for which elaborate plans had been arranged for its inauguration today, was christened with death late Thursday by a plane crash that took three lives. The dead were:

Al Henley, pilot, of Sulphur, Ok. Dole flight entrant.
 W. E. (Chick) Shytle, Fort Worth theatre manager.
 Don Frazee, Fort Worth, Texas League baseball player and former Texas Christian University star athlete.

Henley was piloting the Ryan cabin monoplane to a landing on the new airport field when, at 100 feet, adverse air currents plunged the plane to earth while traveling at terrific speed. Henley and Shytle were killed instantly and Frazee died after an ambulance reached the accident scene.

Observers said the big ship circled the field once and everything seemed well aboard her. Henley came down with the wind to "drag" the field, when a gust of wind seemed to wrench the plane from his control and it plunged earthward, landing squarely on the propeller. The plane, an almost replica of Colonel Lindbergh's ship, was completely wrecked.

Henley's plane was acting as pathfinder for eight others coming here from Fort Worth to participate in the opening of the airport. Word was received from Fort Worth after the accident that the other planes would not make the trip.

Henley, was 33 years old and had been a pilot since 1917. He left the army in 1925 to become manager of an airport at Waco. Later he was manager of the Oklahoma City airport.

When the Dole flight started from Oakland, Cal., to Hawaii,

Sharkey Will Tackle K. O. Lad Tonight

Christner, Who Has Mighty Wallop, Rocked Knute Hansen to Sleep—He Might Upset Plans for Stribling-Sharkey Bout.

By Frank Getty
 United Press Sports Editor
 NEW YORK, Jan. 25 — The most ambitious fistic enterprise of the new year has its cussess at stake tonight, although its principals are involved in brawls in widely separated cities.

A heavyweight elimination bout between Young Stribling of Georgia and Jack Sharkey of Boston, which is Tex Rickard's legacy to the realm of fishcuffs, depends upon the outcome of two bouts which take place this evening, one in New York, the other in New Orleans.

Stribling is meeting someone named Smith down in Louisiana, while Sharkey tackles a comparative unknown, one W. O. Christner a former rubber puddler of Akron, Ohio.

As far as the outcome of the Stribling-Smith affair in New Orleans is concerned, those interested in promoting the more important battle — from a financial point of view — are not losing any sleep. The Georgia boy may be counted upon to put his opponent of the evening to sleep within a few rounds.

Here in New York, however, the situation is not as simple. This ponderous Christner person has come to town with the reputation of having rocked to sleep one of the cleverest of the big fellows, Knute Hansen of Copenhagen.

Christner, it is admitted, has a knockout wallop in his right hand. If he were to land said wallop, it would be a sad shock to the hopes of those who plan to make money out of the Sharkey - Stribling match at Miami Beach on February 27.

Seemingly, there is little concern among the moguls of Madison Square Garden concerning the outcome of the fight between Sharkey and Christner. A contractor who is to erect the arena at Miami Beach left this morning without

St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church

January 27th Mass will be at 8 a. m. by Rev. P. Ruano. This is Septuagesima Sunday and the gospel is from the Gospel of St. Matthew XXI-16.

The primitive Christians were so zealous that in many places they commenced the Lenten fast before Ash Wednesday. They were accustomed in some countries to interrupt the fast for one, two, or more days in the week, but they always arranged in such a way as to have forty days by the time Easter came round. Accordingly, the fast began in some places on the seventieth day before Easter. From this custom of commencing their fast at different times the three Sundays preceding our Ash Wednesday are distinguished as Septuagesima, the seventieth; Sexagesima, the sixtieth; and Quinquagesima, the fiftieth day before Easter.

The Church considers these three Sundays, with their week-days, as a preparation for the holy season of Lent; for this reason she uses the violet color at mass, and nearly the same rites as on the Sundays during Lent. The gospel of today contains the parable of the laborers in the vineyard and exhorts us to work every day if we wish to obtain the penny of everlasting salvation.

Rev. M. Collins.

culturist, is "milk from healthy cows, that is free from dirt and contains only a small number of bacteria, none of which is harmless."

Using the chart method, similar to that of last week, Whitehouse discussed the sources of bacteria in milk and the value of taking every precaution in handling the product.

Bacteria Sources

According to Whitehouse there are six leading sources of bacteria. He enumerated them as follows: Tubercular cattle; milk handled by unhealthy persons; stable manure nearby; impure water supply, flies carrying bacteria dirty and dusty floors.

Inasmuch as milk gets a large percentage of its bacteria from dirt, the importance of clean cows was stressed at the meeting.

Data of an experiment along this plan, presented by Whitehouse, showed that fresh milk taken from a cow whose udder and teats had not been washed averaged a bacteria count of 55,208 per cubic centimeter.

Fresh milk taken from a cow whose udder had been properly cleaned, tested 4,947 bacteria per cubic centimeter. Sterilized milk were used in both instances. A cubic centimeter of milk is approximately 16 drops.

Sterilization Important
Sterilization and washing of milk pails, methods and importance, were discussed during the course of the meeting.

It was brought out that dairy utensils not properly sterilized and washed contain a large number of bacteria.

Experimental data showed that milk taken from a cow and placed in the sterilized pail had an average bacteria count of 6,306 per cubic centimeter.

Milk taken from the same cow and placed in an unsterilized container, had a bacteria count of 73,808 per cubic centimeter.

Undesirable bacteria makes milk putrify and undergo changes that make it dangerous, Whitehouse said.

Ordinance Read

The importance of cooling was stressed. Bacteria, according to Whitehouse, work best when the temperature is between 80 and 100 degrees. They work slow at 70 degrees, stop working at 50 and at freezing few—and they are harmless—exist.

Wade Swift, Ranger sanitation officer, read the milk ordinance recently adopted by the city which goes into effect May 1, explaining each detail of the measure.

Among those attending the session were R. M. Duncan, J. E. Bryan, Dan Dudley, Jr., C. W. Waggoner, J. L. Reed, Dr. R. H. Hodges, Dr. Ross Hodges, H. V. Hodges, S. O. Montgomery, J. D. HORSE IS CAUGHT IN A WOLF TRAP

A four year old mare belonging to Jack Tindall of Eastland was caught in a wolf trap which had been set in a pasture in which the mare with other horses, was kept, according to Sheriff Virge Foster.

The mare's fore feet were caught in the trap and she had been fastened in that manner four days when accidentally found. In her efforts to extricate her feet from the heavy trap the mare had almost severed one of her hoofs. It was necessary to rope the mare, throw her and tire her down before the trap could be removed.
