

BRIEFINGS

We see some of our college friends returned from college. We take a walk, hearing no ill will towards anyone, and not possessing what what these shysters call malice aforethought, and before we get out of the house someone hits us on the back — just for greeting's sake.

We do not boast of being a proprietor nor do we intend to give propanduties in that line, but we claim it isn't right to slip up behind an unsuspecting soul and jar him so that his feet ache and he has sialagogic reactions.

Boys come home from school for two things. One is to see papa and mama. The other is to see papa. The first is a matter of form and is accompanied by numerous bits of conversation, wise-cracks, boasts and excuses.

The other is more business like. Papa's son has to have his debts liquidated, and if son's papa doesn't do it, then said son is a game waker from a financial attitude.

Girls come home from the Christmas holidays for two reasons. One is to see papa and mama, and the other is to see mama. Baby needs shoes, gloves, spring clothes at mid winter, or what have you.

Now it's perfectly alright. We claim that going to school is the hardest work to be found. You work nine months and come out broke. Not only do you come out broke, but when you sail home you find your family bent.

But that's what we were sent to school for. If a boy learns to talk his old man out of $10, with his water knowing him as he does, there is no telling what he might be able to do to a stranger.

We have known boys who couldn't make a living working, who spent a few terms at college and came out able to make a living without working.

The College boy's motto is: sit tight terra levis—"May the earth rest lightly upon you."

But all that to one side. The thing is, our back is almost cracked from receiving slaps from home-comers.

Now we are always more than glad to greet our former comrades in arms, if it can be taken that way, but we prefer more gentle greeting.

We would much rather they would shoot us with a bent pin and let their vocal chords give vent to our name in order to warn us.

As we stated above, we are not sticklers for etiquette. But if back-breaking slaps are the vogue, we prefer to remain out of style.

Of course a buff in the back is a cordial greeting. If not a true one, it's one well feigned.

Pritchard Leaves For Highway Parley

Remainder of Term To Be Used In Handling Road Matters

County Judge Ed. S. Pritchard left Tuesday afternoon for Austin to be present at a meeting of the State Highway commission there today at which time the matter of letting contracts for Eastland county road work, along with contracts for other road work, are to be awarded.

One of the questions that is to be discussed by the Commission at the Austin meeting is that of increasing the right-of-way of the Bankhead to 100 feet for its entire distance.

The work of widening the Bankhead from 60 to 100 feet has already been started in Eastland county. That is, securing the right-of-way for this purpose has been undertaken by the County with the understanding that if it was secured the road would be widened to 100 feet.

Before departing for Austin Judge Pritchard, declared the balance of his time in office would be taken up in handling road matters and that he would have no time for the criminal and civil dockets of the County court, which matters were made a part of his duties by the validating of the County court-at-law.

KING GEORGE'S CONDITION PRECARIOUS

Collie Of Opinion High Court Ruling Cannot be Altered

Other Lawyers Hold Similar Views Regarding Possibility of Legislature Doing Anything Regarding Tangle.

The more and the deeper the matters pertaining to the situation created by the voiding of the Eastland county court-at-law are probed the greater the entanglement of the affairs handled by the court, becomes.

The committees appointed Monday at a meeting of the Eastland county bar association for the purpose of drafting bills to be presented to the Legislature asking that a new county court-at-law be created and that laws be passed, if such could be done, to validate the work heretofore done by the old court, are already at work.

Ratliff, who is also serving a life sentence for robbery with firearms in connection with the Cisco holdup, is confined in "death row" at the state penitentiary, while Helms is being held in the Dallas county jail at Dallas awaiting the decision of the appeal court in his case.

Before 3:00 o'clock this afternoon Elmer, in company with his father, of Stillwater, Oklahoma, were enroute back home.

The youth, who was indicted for burglary in connection with the robbery of the Slay filling station at Olden a few weeks ago, told a straightforward story from the witness stand of having run away from school and starting in a Ford roadster with Melo Judge, another youth from Deadwood, to visit his great grandfather, Capt. O'Rear; how they ran out of money and gasoline and attempted to break into the Olden station to get gasoline for the remainder of the trip to his grandfather's home.

LIONS TO MARK NEW LANDING FIELD

A sign marking the landing field at the Eastland airport will be painted on top of the big warehouse of the Continental Supply Company near the field if plans of the Eastland Lions club are carried out, it was announced at the meeting of the club today. The matter has already been taken up with the Continental officials for their approval.

The tree planting campaign sponsored by the Lions is progressing nicely and more than 600 trees have already been planted. In addition to this the nursery company has sold $300 worth of shrubbery in the city.

The Methodist and Baptist church lawns, the Eastland county courthouse lawn and the lawns of possibly other public buildings in the city, it is stated, will be landscaped and planted in trees and shrubbery immediately as the direct result of the Lions club's tree planting campaign.

It was announced at today's meeting there would not be a meeting of the club next Tuesday, that day being Christmas. The meeting for Tuesday week is also postponed until the following Wednesday due to the fact that the regular meeting day falls on January 1.

HOOVER ON WAY TO RIO DE JANEIRO

Will Sail To Key West After Final Visit Is Concluded.

By United Press.
MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 18.—President elect-Herbert Hoover concluded his visit to Uruguay today and will have several days rest aboard the USS Utah which will take him to Rio de Janeiro.

During the last week, the president-elect has visited three major capitols and has been in conference with prominent officials. He has gathered a great mass of data which will be able to go over on the way home.

The Utah, which will carry the Hoover party to the US, was unable to come close into the harbor on account of its heavy draught. The Uruguayan, light cruiser, was ordered into the harbor to transfer the party to the Utah.

The Uruguayan, with the Hoover party on board, left the dock at 8:45 a. m.

It was announced that the Utah definitely would sail direct to Key West, Florida after the Rio de Janeiro visit was finished, without making calls at Santo Domingo and Havana.

Purchase of New Auto Plates Slow

Officials of the county tax collector's office today urged Eastland County residents to purchase 1929 automobile license plates before January 1, in order to avoid the usual rush.

At the present time only 134 plates have been issued by the department. The first 1929 plate was sold to James LaBowe, Ranger.

During 1928 there has been 10,986 automobiles registered, according to the records of the department.

Last January there were 8,500 automobiles registered, and the employees of the department desire to eliminate this great rush as much as possible.

In order to avoid a repetition of last January's rush, the department is urging the purchase of the plates before the first of the new year.

The 1928 license plates expire December 31, and according to law the new licenses should be in place by January 1.

A time limit extension is usually given, however.

STIMSON MEETS ENCOURAGEMENT IN PHILIPPINES

Governor General, Year After Appointment, Has Native Co-operation.

By RANDALL GOULD
United Press Staff Correspondent
MANILA.—One year ago today
it was announced from Washington that Henry L. Stimson, who recently had acted on behalf of President Coolidge in Nicaragua, was to be the next Governor-General of the Philippines.

Today Colonel Stimson has occupied this position approximately nine and one-half months. During this time he has shaped the outlines of a policy which observers believe will be a pattern for future American administrators.
On the day that the new governor general arrived, March 1st of this year, he made plain the current Philippine problems and their solution as he saw them. These problems were, in his opinion, not primarily political but economic.
Governor-General Stimson first speech in his new capacity today appears even more significant than it did when delivered, for the passage of months has demonstrated that Stimson's success here will be evaluated according to the achievement of aims laid down in that initial declaration.
Sponsors Co-Operation.

In the first paragraph of his speech, the governor-general used
the word "co-operation" twice.
And cooperation has been the first of Stimson's aims in dealing with Filipino leaders who had fought
the late General Leonard Wood and who were only partly soothed by the tactful interim administration of Acting Governor-General
E. A. Gilmore, whom they liked but whose status was temporary.
Stimson made himself clear on the much-debated "Philippines independence question" in the second paragraph of his arrival speech, declaring that "it is not within the province of the Governor-General to determine the fa-ture relations of the inhabitants of these islands to the United States." This attitude he has avoided to, and thus he has avoided futile bickerings.
And in this same paragraph he voiced intention to do what he could to make the present union between the Philippines and the United States "a happy and fruitful one." That complex, in tabloid form, the sketch of his policy.
Stimson has tried to keep the peace and to further economic development. Stimson strongly favors private ownership and operation. He has continued, as far as possible, Wood's task of "getting the government out of business,"
one of these moves involving a transference of certain Bureau of Posts telegraphic work into the hands of a privately-owned radio corporation. Most of the Stim-

Irish opponents ever crossed the 100 mark.
His Famous Horsemen
The greatest achievement of Rockne's 12 year career as a coach was his famous "Four Horsemen" of 1924. These great backs, Layden, Crowley, Miller and Stuhlreher, aided by the "Seven mules," a sturdy line, rode roughshod over the nation, defeating all opponents including Army, Princeton, Stanford, Georgia Tech, Carnegie and Wisconsin.
His most powerful scoring team was that of 1921 which piled up a total of 375 points in 10 games.
The first team he ever coached in 1918 — was his best defensively.
The team lost but one game and that to Nebraska on the only touch down scored against it in eight games. Army gained a safety, bringing the total opponents' points to 9 for the year.
Rockne insists on drawing each year a schedule that would extend even his Horsemen of 24. His teams play from coast to coast, and almost always before capacity crowds.

SPORTS MATTER

By William J. Dunn
United Press Staff Correspondent
Notre Dame has brought to a close its most disastrous football season in the 12 years that Knute Rockne has been head coach. For the first time in history a Rockne coached team lost more than two games, and was outscored by its opponents.
Wisconsin, Georgia Tech, Carnegie Tech and Southern California all took their toll from the South Bend nomads while the Irish were forced to content themselves with victories over Loyola, Navy, Penn State, Army and Drake.
Four defeats against only five victories constitutes a poor season at almost any school. At Notre Dame it constitutes a genuine catastrophe, for the Irish in 12 years have been winning from seven to 10 games with never more than two defeats.
Until the season just past Rockne's worst record was written in 1925 when a "calamitous" season produced only seven victories and one tie in 10 games. Rockne surfected the worst defeat of his career during this year, a 27 to 0 humiliation at the hands of Army.
But the 1928 season will long be remembered by the alumni of the South Bend school for victories are easier to forget than defeats.
That Home Defeat
And the humbling by Carnegie Tech will be remembered when the other defeats are long since atoned, for the Scotchmen invaded the sacred shadow of the Golden Dome to defeat the Irish on Carter Field, Sept. 7.
It was the first time a Notre Dame team had been defeated at home since 1905 when a fighting Washash College team corned the trick, and years of tradition had convinced the followers of the Rockne troupe that the Fighting Irish were invincible when within sight of the gilded dome atop the main building.
In spite of the four defeats of the 1928 season, the Record that Rockne has built up during his 12-year regime at South Bend is outstanding in football.
Rockne-coached teams have won 12 games for Notre Dame in the last 12 years, with only 13 defeats.
Six tie games were played. Only eight teams have beaten Notre Dame in that time — Nebraska, Michigan State, Iowa, Army, Carnegie Tech, Georgia Tech, Wisconsin, and Southern California.
Nebraska turned the trick four times and in turn was beaten four times. The teams played to a scoreless tie in 1918. Army defeated Rockne twice and was bested eight times and tied once. Carnegie Tech is the only other school to win more than a single victory and the Skibos dropped four games before they won two.
Rockne's teams amassed a total of 2,577 points over the 12-year span to 564 for opponents. The season just closed saw Notre Dame outscored, 167 to 99—the first time

AIR LEADERS TELL OF DAY'S SIGNIFICANCE

MARKS ANNIVERSARY OF MAN'S DREAM OF UNTOLD CENTURIES.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—
On the 25th anniversary of man's first flight in an airplane, the United Press has gathered comment from many men highest in the ranks of aviation. These comments were secured through the aid of the National Aeronautic association, the pioneer and recognized aviation organization of the nation.
Orville Wright, the first man to
fly:
"Twenty-five years ago the man who but expressed his belief in the possibility of human flight by general pity and derision. Today his successor who shows its future possibilities by triumphing over the ocean barriers which separate continent from continent becomes an international hero.
"In 25 years, flight has been extended from one minute to more than 65 hours; from one half mile to more than 4,000 miles; and from a few feet above the ground to more than seven and one-half miles above it.
"Such has been the progress of the art and the change of the attitude of the public towards it in its first twenty-five years. The great strides made in aviation in the last two years would indicate that we have not yet even approached the limit of the possibilities."
British Air Director.
Major General Sir Sefton
Brackner, director of civil aviation, British Air ministry:
"Since those courageous pioners, the Wright brothers, first
left the ground in controlled flight 25 years ago, the progress of the human race in the conquest of the air has been steady and unchecked in spite of the dislocation caused by the Great War, and regardless of the loss of many bold airmen who have died for the cause.
"This twenty-fifth anniversary will probably be the milestone at which the general public in this country and the United States of America may be said to have definitely accepted air transport as a reasonable and ordinary means of rapid communication.
"We in Great Britain are watch-

STIMSON MEETS ENCOURAGEMENT IN PHILIPPINES (continued)
Governor General, Year After Appointment, Has Native Co-operation.
By RANDALL GOULD
United Press Staff Correspondent
MANILA.—One year ago today
it was announced from Washington that Henry L. Stimson, who recently had acted on behalf of President Coolidge in Nicaragua,
was to be the next Governor-General of the Philippines.

Today Colonel Stimson has occupied this position approximately nine and one-half months. During this time he has shaped the
outlines of a policy which observers believe will be a pattern for future American administrators.
On the day that the new governor general arrived, March 1st of
this year, he made plain the current Philippine problems and their solution as he saw them. These problems were, in his opinion, not
primarily political but economic.
Governor-General Stimson first
speech in his new capacity today
appears even more significant
than it did when delivered, for the passage of months has demonstrated that Stimson's success here
will be evaluated according to the achievement of aims laid down in
that initial declaration.
Sponsors Co-Operation.

In the first paragraph of his speech, the governor-general used
the word "co-operation" twice.
And cooperation has been the first
of Stimson's aims in dealing with Filipino leaders who had fought
the late General Leonard Wood
and who were only partly soothed
by the tactful interim administration of Acting Governor-General
E. A. Gilmore, whom they liked
but whose status was temporary.
Stimson made himself clear on
the much-debated "Philippines independence question" in the second paragraph of his arrival speech, declaring that "it is not
within the province of the Governor-General to determine the fa-
ture relations of the inhabitants of these islands to the United States." This attitude he has avoided to, and thus he has avoided futile bickerings.
And in this same paragraph he
voiced intention to do what he could to make the present union
between the Philippines and the United States "a happy and fruitful one." That complex, in tabloid form, the sketch of his policy.
Stimson has tried to keep the peace and to further economic development. Stimson strongly favors private ownership and operation. He has continued, as far as possible, Wood's task of "getting
the government out of business,"
one of these moves involving a transference of certain Bureau of Posts telegraphic work into the hands of a privately-owned radio

MARKS ANNIVERSARY OF MAN'S DREAM OF UNTOLD CENTURIES. (continued)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—
On the 25th anniversary of man's first flight in an airplane, the United Press has gathered comment from many men highest in the ranks of aviation. These comments were secured through the
aid of the National Aeronautic
association, the pioneer and recognized aviation organization of the nation.
Orville Wright, the first man to
fly:
"Twenty-five years ago the man who but expressed his belief in
the possibility of human flight by general pity and derision. Today
his successor who shows its future
possibilities by triumphing over
the ocean barriers which separate
continent from continent becomes
an international hero.
"In 25 years, flight has been extended from one minute to more than 65 hours; from one half mile to more than 4,000 miles; and
from a few feet above the ground
miles above it.
"Such has been the progress of the art and the change of the attitude of the public towards it in its first twenty-five years. The great strides made in aviation in
the last two years would indicate
that we have not yet even approached the limit of the possibilities."
British Air Director.
Major General Sir Sefton
Brackner, director of civil aviation, British Air ministry:
"Since those courageous pioners, the Wright brothers, first
25 years ago, the progress of the human race in the conquest of the
air has been steady and unchecked in spite of the dislocation caused by the Great War, and regardless of the loss of many bold air-
men who have died for the cause.
"This twenty-fifth anniversary
will probably be the milestone at
which the general public in this country and the United States of America may be said to have definitely accepted air transport as a reasonable and ordinary means of
rapid communication.
"We in Great Britain are watching the present wave of aeronautical progress in commerce which

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

MOM'N POP

1928 By NEA Service Inc. ROTH DEWEY GROVES 'WHEN A GIRL LOVES' LOVE FOR TWO

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Fate introduces Jerry Ray to wealthy Alester Carstairs when he crashes his airplane into the camp...

Unable to buy a new gown for a party Alester has invited her to Jerry yields to the temptation to take one from the store...

Jerry is discharged from the store when she confesses that the dress is ruined. She seeks another job...

Alester takes Jerry for a drive and goes to the deserted camp where he offers a ring and a proposal...

CHAPTER XXIV The theater was dimly lighted and silently vast...

"Lights," Mr. Weinertz bawled, and there was a flurry of feet in answer...

"Don't forget what I told you, kiddy," he whispered. "Close your eyes while you dance and pretend you're a prima donna stopping the show."

Jerry forced a smile. Alester accompanied her to the stage and stood by while a piano was moved onto it at Mr. Weinertz' order...

A young man came out and seated himself at the piano. He did not look at Jerry and she thought he must have left some interesting occupation to play for her tryout...

More lights were turned on and she feared that the trembling in her knees could be seen from the front seats, where Alester had joined Mr. Weinertz.

Suddenly a jazz tune jangled out from the piano and Jerry heard a voice calling to her to dance. She closed her eyes and attempted to obey...

"All right, all right," Mr. Weinertz shouted to the piano player. Then to Alester: "Go up and get your little friend, Al."

The music crashed to a stop. Jerry's heart turned to ice. She had failed, but they'd given her such a little time...

"She can't sing—she's a piece of tinsel, I tell you," Mr. Weinertz was saying angrily to Mr. Arradonde.

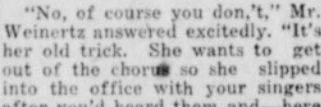

Mr. Weinertz was standing. He put out a hand and took one of hers.

"My, my," he said; "what a cold hand it is. But that is fine, fine. All the true artists have stage fright. The others—pooh—no imagination. I would not want a girl even in my chorus who was like that."

Jerry felt a surge of relief come over her that brought tears to her eyes. She sank back in the seat with a big sigh...

The latter turned to look at the girl. His brows came together in a black line.

ORVILLE WRIGHT IS HONORED

First Airplane Flight in History in North Carolina in 1903.

By ALFRED P. RECK
United Press Staff Correspondence
WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Twenty-five years ago today a strange machine of wood and canvas roared down a narrow wooden runway built on the sands of Kill Devil hill, Kitty Hawk, North Carolina.

Only a handful of spectators held their breath as the machine left the runway and sailed a few feet above the sand for 12 dramatic seconds.

It was only 12 ticks of a watch but it was the first time that man had conquered the air.

Orville Wright was at the controls of the machine during its first flight. He lay flat on the canvas and wooden frame work while the dream of men for centuries was realized. His brother Wilbur, now dead, stood by tense and eager but with the smile of achievement on his lips.

The machine dropped into the soft sand. It was wheeled back to the wooden runway and Wilbur Wright took the controls. Again the machine soared aloft. Two other flights were made that day—the last one covering 852 feet and lasting 59 seconds—enough to confirm the faith of the two brothers in years of experimentation, research and labor.

Experimented With Gliders.
In this manner occurred the event which was to revolutionize an era by providing a new and more rapid means of transportation.

The Wrights had been experimenting with gliders for three years previous to the first flight. By their experiments they learned how to maintain lateral control while gliding.

Further research led to the design of an engine and a propeller. With these they equipped their airplane on that eventful day in December and conquered the air.

The product was all American from the wooden bones of its framework to the canvas flesh of its wings. Its construction was the result of American ingenuity and its achievement the result of American vision.

At the time not even the Wrights were fully aware of the significance of their success. No one realized the tremendous possibilities which were uncovered by the first 12 seconds in the air.

Gained Scant Attention.
Little attention was given to the flights. The Wrights quietly continued their experiments making more than 100 successful flights the next year—1904.

In 1905 progress continued, resulting in a flight covering 11 miles on Sept. 26 and increasing to 24 1-2 miles on October 5, the latter lasting 30 minutes and three seconds.

America remained blind to the achievements of the two brothers while Europe accorded them magnificent recognition. The enthusiasm abroad finally resulted in public acknowledgment in the

Huge Aerial Caravan Honors Orville Wright

The world's largest air caravan—90 persons flying in eleven airplanes—took off from Cleveland, O., the other day on the first lap of a tour to honor Orville Wright, inventor of the airplane, and to take part in the ceremony marking the 25th anniversary of aviation at Kitty Hawk, N. C., on Dec. 17. The caravan flew from Cleveland to Chicago to attend the International Aeronautic Show and was to fly from Chicago to Dayton, O., to honor Wright. The passengers were to proceed to Washington and thence to Kitty Hawk by rail. Above pictures show the big fleet taking off at Cleveland and some of the world-famous figures who gather there. From left to right are Brig. Gen. Lord Thompson, former air secretary of Great Britain; Samuel Mather, Cleveland millionaire and philanthropist; Ambassador to France Myron T. Herrick, and Pierre E. Flandin, vice chairman of the French Chamber of Deputies and president of the Aero Club of France.

United States and in 1908 the Wrights were requested to demonstrate their flying machine to the American government.

On Sept. 9 of that year Orville Wright flew for nearly an hour before President Taft, members of Congress and the diplomatic corps while Wilbur Wright was in France, seeking backing and recognition for aviation.

The following year additional tests were made for the army resulting in a flight from Fort Myer to Alexandria, Virginia lasting more than one hour.

From then on the advancement of aviation was assured and rapid.

The Wrights set up an extensive laboratory at Dayton, Ohio, and continued their aeronautic research.

There is an awe-inspiring contrast between the first frail plane which took to the air at Kitty Hawk and the present day machines of speed and luxury. It is a far cry from that first flight of 12 seconds to the trans-continental and trans-oceanic records of today.

Yet to the vision and the genius of the Wright brothers, their unswerving perseverance in the face of obstacles and unbelief, combined with the faith of pioneers who followed the brothers, is due the realization of modern aviation and the untold possibilities of the future.

Nearly Half of Women Workers in Texas Are Married

AUSTIN, Dec. 17.—Women and girls now constitute 43 per cent of the industrial workers of the state, the tenth biennial report of the state labor department shows. The report was submitted to Governor Moody today by State Labor Commissioner Charles McKemy.

"The most significant fact brought out by the statistics gathered and included in the report," Commissioner McKemy says, "is the large and increasing number of female employes in industry. The first report of the department, published in 1910 shows that female employes constituted only 20 per cent of the entire number of workers.

"The classified weekly wage schedules show that 95 per cent of the male employes earn more than $15 a week, while only 47 per cent of the female employes earn more than that sum. Sixty-three per cent of the male employes are married and 43 per cent of the female employes are married," according to the report.

Attention is directed in the report to the large and increasing number of married women in employment and mentions two tendencies that have been observed that probably account for this condition.

"First, the increasing cost of living and the increasing complexity of modern home life that impels many married women to seek employment in order to help maintain their families.

"Second, the growing tendency of young women in industry to continue their work after marriage.

"It is significant that those industries employing the greatest number of married women pay the lowest wages and work the longest hours," commented the commissioner.

Comparing wage statistics, the report shows that there was a slight increase in the average wages of all workers for the year 1928 over 1927, there being no wage increases in five classifications of industries and decreases in four classifications.

The report concluded with a summary of recommendations for new legislation. Some of the more important recommendations are for changes in the 9-54 hour law and health, comfort and safety laws for female employes, raising the minimum age at which children may be employed in gainful occupations from 15 to 16 years and placing authority for issuing working permits to children under 16 years of age in the hands of school authorities. Other provisions recommended are for the establishment of a small claims court to expedite the collection of small wage claims; a minimum wage law for women and children and a state boiler inspection. Authority for the promulgation of definite scientific, mechanical and sanitary codes is also urged in the report.

NOTES AN PERSONALS:

Texas Must Guard Against Flu

Local People Urged To Prevent Epidemic Spreading as it did in 1918, when Half a Million Lives were Lost in this Country Alone.

Don't Take Chances With Colds
While there is no cause for alarm at this time, health authorities urge extra precaution—especially now when grippy colds pneumonia and influenza are so prevalent.

Colds Lead to "Flu"
Warning is given particularly against neglecting colds, which lower one's physical resistance and thus make the body easy prey for influenza, grip and pneumonia. Even a little cold, authorities say, is dangerous unless checked at once.

The only safe plan is to check every cold at the start by a vigorous application of Vicks VapoRub, rubbed on throat and chest at bedtime.

Acts 2 Ways at Once
For hours after Vicks is applied its ingredients, time-tested remedies, such as camphor, menthol, eucalyptus, thyme, and turpentine, are released as vapors by the body-heat, and inhaled direct to the infected air passages, loosening the phlegm and easing the difficult breathing. At the same time, Vicks acts through the skin like a poultice, "drawing out" tightness and pain.

Avoids "Dosing" Children
Mothers especially appreciate Vicks for children, as it can be used freely and often, without disturbing the digestion—you "just rub it on." Over 21 million jars are used yearly.

The Elks announce the Gilders Imperial Orchestra, of eight pieces who handle thirty instruments, for their dance Friday of this week, to which all the young people home from college are cordially invited others who receive the invitations are expected to present them at the door.

How To Escape FLU

- 1 Avoid so far as possible the places where flu germs are most apt to be; crowded cars; public meeting places; warm stuffy rooms.
- 2 Be careful of close contact with others and beware of all coughers and sneezers; breathe through the nose.
- 3 Get lots of rest. Eat plenty of citrus fruits. Keep the bowels open. Take every precaution to keep in good physical condition, so your system will have high resistance against germs.
- 4 Above all, avoid catching cold. Any cold may be the forerunner of flu. Take Bayer Aspirin at the first sign of a cold and you can ward it off. Gargle with Bayer Aspirin at first sign of sore throat as this will remove the infection.
- 5 If you have any reason to suspect even a touch of flu, call a doctor.
