Eastland To Fix Actual Real Property Value

STANDARD UNIT VALUATION TO BE MADE HERE

City Commission School Board Actively in Adoption of Better System.

The real estate assessors and valorem taxes in this county are contemplated by the Eastland City Commission of the Eastland Independent School district, which recently have employed E. H. Tally, engineer and an associate of the American Society of Civil Engineers, to make a standard unit system of valuation in Eastland. The standard unit system is to be employed in the end of the year. It is expected that it will be in effect by the beginning of the year.

The installation of the standard unit system will give to Eastland lot and block maps, units of land value, calculation tables for all land and lot valuations, building valuations, record forms and cards for every building, with value calculations, etc., and also showing the value of land.

The assessors and clerks are in the application and of the system in all its details. It is expected that it will be in effect by the beginning of the year.

The system has just completed in San Diego, California, Phoenix, Ariz. Standard units were installed during three years in Dallas, San Angelo, Sweetwater, Stamford, Corsicokridge and in various other states.

The system gives the actual value of real estate. In making the application, the assessors take 50 or 60 per cent of the actual value to figure the rate, or may fix a lower rate on the total value of property, which, in fact, is the law directs shall be.

and County's Fair Awards Aggregate $265

Detective Ingram got in his own car, started for the police station. Suddenly the negroes' car swerved and turned over, jumping to their feet, one of the negroes began beating Ingram over the head with a tire jack. Tally shot the negro.

SPORTS WRITER PRAISES PLAY OF MAVERICKS

Abilene Newspaper Recognizes Great Fighting Qualities of Eastland High Gridsters.

Once again, the Eastland Mavericks gain splendid recognition of their great fighting qualities. Says the Abilene Reporter's account of the Eagle-Maverick game:

"With Smith running wild for Abilene it would have been very proper and fitting in the minds of those staunch old Democrats that the leader of the vanquished team should have gone under the name of Hoover. It was another Smith, however, Connie being the given name, so the result of the game had nothing whatsoever to do with the presidential election.

"Connie is the famed pass heater of the Mavericks, and his fame is no greater than his deeds proved to be Saturday. His receivers got the butter off their fingers between halves, and with Foster and Cheatham, ends, receiving them in flawless style, the visitors tabulated seven first downs in the last two periods, and a grand total of eight for the game.

The sad part of the story to Eastland was that the passes never were caught by the district were relieved by only two substitutes. Connie Smith that passer to whom so much attention has already been devoted, finished the game with a taped nose after he had almost been forced to the sidelines."

"Elever is almost the correct word, for the lighter athletes from the eastern end of the district were relieved by only two substitutes. Connie Smith that passer to whom so much attention has already been devoted, finished the game with a taped nose after he had almost been forced to the sidelines."

Two Youths Held For Alleged Theft Of An Airplane

DALLAS, Oct. 22.—The barnstorming tour of two Oklahoma youths who had set out in an airplane to see the country came to a halt Sunday at Love field.

Flying a Traveler Air plane which they had taken from a man in Puhaska, Okla., the boys landed at Love field for fuel and were preparing to take off again.

Lieutenant Harry Waddington, of the 360th observation squadron, who had been notified to be on the lookout for the missing plane, the boys under arrest and notified the owner.

Verdict Is Discussed

Discussion of the verdict by spectators in the courtroom was carried on in hushed tones. It was recalled that Saturday night, when the case went to the jury, 25 spectators at random had been asked their opinion had expressed a belief, after hearing the evidence, that the youth should receive a suspended sentence. Only two thought he should be sentenced to life imprisonment.

The investigation was ordered after Charles Morris, chief medical examiner, had visited the scene of the tragedy. He refused to comment on the scope of the tragedy but said he would call all available witnesses.

17-YEAR OLD YOUTH GIVEN DEATH PENALTY

Tom Davis Hears Jury Pronounce Him Guilty of Murder For Death of Lucian Shook.

Thomas Francis Davis, 17, was convicted by a jury in the eighty-eighth district court here Sunday afternoon and given the death penalty for the murder of Lucian Shook. The jury made its report at 3 o'clock.

The verdict against young Davis was a surprise. Court attaches, defense counsel and spectators in the courtroom had confidently expected that at most a brief prison term would be imposed upon the youth, inasmuch as statements signed by Thompson and introduced at his trial and the testimony of the only eye witness, Woodrow Wilson Davis, 12, younger brother of Thomas Davis, branded Thompson as the actual slayer of the Shook brothers.

In his own defense Thomas Davis had testified that he was an unwilling witness of the killings and was deterred by fear from notifying authorities of what he knew. Until his closing argument to the jury, County Attorney J. Frank Sparks had left the impression that he would not ask for the death penalty against the youth.

The verdict was reached by the jury at 2:30 o'clock. Just as Deputy Sheriff Cy Bradford went to the sub-basement of the old high school building, where the trial was held, to investigate a knocking on the jury room door, Judge Elzo Been walked into the courtroom. The judge met the deputy coming up the stairs.

"The jury has reached a verdict," Bradford said. Judge Been instructed him to notify the sheriff, court attaches and attorneys and at 3 o'clock convened court to receive the verdict.

Only Two In Courtroom

Some 25 spectators were in the courtroom, including the father and young sister of the defendant. When the jurors filed in there was a murmur of expectation.

"Have you reached a verdict, gentlemen?" the court asked.

"We have," the foreman replied, and handed the written verdict to Sheriff John Hart. Hart passed the paper to the judge. He read it without a flicker of emotion and called state and defense attorneys to the bench. There was a brief consultation.

"The jury has omitted the word 'find' from the verdict," Judge Been remarked. He ordered that the body retire and correct its verdict.

Thomas Davis, the defendant, was weeping, his head down, a handkerchief held over his eyes. For five minutes those in the courtroom were tense, utterly ignorant of the contents of the verdict. Then the jury returned and Judge Been himself read the corrected verdict.

Jury Polled on Verdict

As he read, solemnly, the words "find the defendant guilty and assess his punishment at death" there was a stir in the room. A profligate shook the bent body of young Davis.

E. N. Grisham, Attorney for the youth, arose and moved that the jury be polled. One by one the jurors were asked as to their verdict, and one by one gravely asserted that it was their decree that Davis pay with his life for the crime.

The defendant did not look up. In a few minutes he was led out of the courtroom, leaning heavily on Sheriff Hart and Deputy Bradford, who held his arms. He was placed in an automobile waiting outside and whisked to the county jail, some three blocks away.

Grisham announced that he would file a motion for new trial and if that were denied would appeal the case. A motion for a new trial has been filed on behalf of Clyde Thompson, but Judge Been said Sunday he had not set a date for its hearing.

Two Men Attack Third, Trying To Burn Him To Death

By United Press. SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 22.—The efforts of two men to send Ernest Sykes, 30, to his death by converting him into a "human torch" apparently had failed today as Sykes, although badly burned, was expected to recover.

Sykes, lying on a cot in a hospital here last night, told a story of driving his car slowly over a rough, country road when surprised by two men who leaped from roadside bushes, one of them with a bucket of gasoline in his hand which he splashed over Sykes.

His assailants then forced him to drive down the road to a lonely spot, he said, where they threw him out of the car and set fire to his oil soaked clothing. His screams were heard by farmers nearby who found him rolling in the dirt trying to put out the flames.

Colorado County Farmer Stabs His Family Physician

By United Press. COLUMBUS, Texas, Oct. 22.—Homer Reeves, 65, prominent Colorado county farmer, is in jail here awaiting a preliminary hearing, charged with the fatal stabbing of Dr. R. V. Havens, 72, his family physician.

A quarrel is said to have arisen over an account for medical services for the Reeves family. However, officers learned the two men had been in friendly conversation until about ten minutes before the stabbing, which took place on the streets of Oakland, where they live.

Dr. Havens died in a hospital Sunday, several hours after the stabbing. Reeves was placed under arrest by Constable Walter Scott and brought to the Columbus jail.

Preliminary hearing for Reeves is expected to be held Wednesday.

BOY SCOUTS' MAINTENANCE NOW SOUGHT

Throughout Eastland County Drive Being Made This Week In Support of Better Boys.

EASTLAND, Oct. 22.—Plans for the Boy Scout drive to be held in Eastland this week were discussed by the Boy Scouts' membership campaign committee meeting Monday morning at breakfast in the Connelley Hotel. There were present: Grady Pipkin, chairman; Scott W. Key, Dr. J. H. Caton, G. C. Kimbrell, Walter Hart, Gilbert W. Reineman, Alex. Clark, president of the Oil Belt Boy Scout Council; Horace M. Conley, John Mouser, Bobby Bates and Scout Executive C. N. Quill.

It was decided that $1500 be set as the goal, this being the amount fixed for the drives to be held this week also in Casso and Ranger. A get-together meeting will be held later in the week to check up with the teams.

The Boy Scout membership committees has been organized to perpetuate the splendid service being rendered by volunteers who are being trained to promote the scouting program in the Oil Belt Council. It intends to extend the benefits of Scouting to other boys who are not now Scouts because of lack of finances to reach them.

"Remember when you were a boy. These boys travel in gangs, just like you did. They play very much as you did. Give the boys a better chance than we had when we were boys."

Help make the Oil Belt Council the biggest piece of scouting in the United States.

The cost of a boy gone wrong: Spends two-year term at reform school $750 (some repeat); spends five year term in penitentiary, $500; total, $1,250.

3.77 boys per county were committed to the reform school during 1926.

High-powered automobiles and go-d roads have eliminated the idea that the boy problem is confined to a town's limits.

THIRTY MILLION FOOT GAS WELL NEAR THURBER

Pay Sand Found At 3185-Foot Depth In No. One Smith In Erath County.

Flowing thirty million cubic feet of wet gas daily, a well brought in Saturday about seven miles southeast of Thurber, in Erath county, is said to be the probable forerunner of an extensive drilling campaign in that area.

The well was brought in by the Eastland Oil Company and associates, and is known as the No. 1 Smith. Pay sand was struck at a depth of 3,185 feet.

The Associated Oil Company, drilling on a nearby lease, is said to be near the pay.

Once before, some time ago, a gasser is said to have been drilled in this area which promised well, but it was drilled deeper and ran into water.

New York Farmer Kills Banker Who Hunts On His Land

By United Press. ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Asserting that he meant only to wound, not kill, his victim, Edwin Gacon, Jr., 43, farmer, today pleaded not guilty to a charge of first degree murder for the slaying of Charles S. Cappellano, 67, wealthy Italian banker of this city.

Cappellano, hunting yesterday on Gacon's unposted land near here was shot dead with his own gun after an argument.

When the banker displayed a hunting license the irate farmer seized the shotgun and fired at close range, according to the confession in possession of authorities. "I only wanted to tear off part of his shoulder and teach him a lesson," Gacon explained. Cappellano died instantly.

GIRL SEES HER MOTHER KILLED BY HER FATHER

Temple Painter Shoots His Wife and Then Himself When She Refuses To Obey Him.

By United Press. TEMPLE, Oct. 22.—An 18-year-old girl is in a state of near collapse after viewing her mother shot to death by her father before he sent a load of buckshot through his head.

J. B. Ethridge, 45 year old painter and paper-hanger, did not want his wife and daughter, Sue, to go to town Saturday afternoon, the girl related. They went, leaving the father cursing and muttering. When they returned, he was gone. A litter later he returned with a shotgun. Officers learned he had followed them to town, rented the gun and purchased shells.

There was a quarrel and the mother ordered Ethridge from the house, saying she would get a divorce, the girl declared.

"I'll kill you first," Miss Ethridge said her father shouted, and slapping her mother. "They struggled and mother grappled for the gun. I hit father with a stick and he fired and mother fell. I ran from the house, screaming."

Bit by bit officers gleaned the sobbing girl's story, after they arrived and found the body of Ethridge beside that of his wife. Half of his head had been blown away. Neighbors, attracted by the screams, had called the police.

BORAH OPPOSES TAMMANY RULE IN POLITICS

Says His Antagonism To Smith Is Based On Latter's Relationship To the Wet Tiger.

By United Press. DALLAS, Oct. 22.—Prohibition and Tammany Hall were classed as the leading issues of the presidential campaign by Senator William Borah of Idaho, Republican, upon his arrival here today for an address tonight in behalf of Herbert Hoover at fair park auditorium.

The Idaho senator, a militant dry, called upon dry democrats and republicans to join in "downing the attempt of Tammany hall to rule America."

Answering questions fired at him by newspaper men in his room at the Adolphus hotel, Borah made it plain that he was not pleased with enforcement of prohibition under Republican rule. He indicated, however, that he considered Tammany hall a menace overshadowing all other issues.

"I am opposing Governor Smith because of his attitude towards prohibition and his relationship to Tammany," Borah said. "I am not discussing the religious issue because it has nothing to do with this campaign. I would oppose Smith if he was a Presbyterian deacon."

FIRECRACKERS. Occasionally the United States government issues a bulletin which, even though filled with statistics, touches the imagination. Such bulletins are about as rare as mocking birds in the Arctic circle.

A decrease of 2.4 per cent in the value of the fireworks manufactured in the United States in 1927 as compared to 1925 is disclosed.

There are only 36 establishments making these products so dear to the heart of boyhood. At least this is all that reported. There is one such plant in Texas.

THANKSGIVING—THEN AND NOW. Only the small town and rural America know the joys of the old-fashioned Thanksgiving nowadays.

This, at least, is how W. W. Pritchard Eaton sees it. He says: "It is a trifle difficult to wax sentimental over apartment B, 8th floor, as the old homestead, especially when you didn't move in until last May. Besides, the kitchen is big enough to cook an 18-pound turkey, let alone four mince pies, two pumpkin pies and a pudding."

"Cousin Jane's apartment on 18th street is no bigger. Hang it all—let's get the Jones and go down to a hotel. They are putting on a special dinner at the Biltmore. We can go to a show afterwards. And that is the new Thanksgiving in urban America.

But isn't this one too fine to let die? Shall we not on Thanksgiving day, though our dwelling be a tiny apartment, make it a home where those nearest and dearest shall rally—even if they are a bit crowded—pushing the world into the background and giving us, especially the young folk, that sense of family affection and solidarity and mutual interest on which our nation rose to strength."

The boy's mother was not in the courtroom when the verdict was read. Davis, of medium height and weight, was clad neatly in the dark blue suit he has worn since his trial began Thursday. His appearance showed no change from that of a few days ago. He has had since his arrest a pale, peaked look. His father, Tom Davis, said the boy is very strong physically, but he does not seem to be. He has black hair, a straight nose, a slightly receding chin.

He has spent a good deal during his three days in court. His attorney, the defense included in a signed statement introduced in evidence by the State was obtained from Davis by duress; that he had taken no part in the making of the statement and that he was mentally subnormal. In his charge to the jury, Judge Been instructed that if Davis were found to have taken no actual part in the slaying and not to have acquiesced in the murders, he should be found not guilty. The court also charged on insanity.

The verdict against Davis was the fifth since January assessing the death penalty under an Eastland county indictment. This is believed to be a record in the history of Texas counties.

"MARVELOUS" DESCRIBES TULSA'S OIL EXPOSITION

TULSA, Okla.—To study the most modern methods employed in exploration for oil and gas, in producing them when found and transporting them to the markets, and their various applications ranging from direct laying to perfume and fruit extract manufacture, delegates interested in the petroleum industry are coming to Tulsa this week from more than thirty foreign nations and all the states in the union for the International Petroleum Exposition and Congress, October 20 to 29.

National associations connected with the industry, national, state and city geology, paleontological, agricultural, industrial, civic and commercial organizations are holding their major conventions during the World's Fair of the Oil Industry, as the Tulsa event has come to be known.

Federal government officials, state governors, senators and representatives, commissioners, will meet with ambassadors, ministers, charges d'affaires, consuls and other officials of the foreign nations. American, Canadian and Mexican oil men will exchange ideas with representatives of oil companies of Russia, Rumania, England, Czechoslovakia, Holland, Argentine, Ecuador, Venezuela, Peru, Germany and other nations.

More than half a thousand of the foremost manufacturers for the industry are represented in the displays of nearly 500 exhibitors who occupy two lineal miles of booths and 200,000 square feet of display space in open air lots.

Of the 250,000 expected to attend there will be many who will learn for the first time the great part the industry has assumed, directly and indirectly, in their lives. Petroleum has eliminated cinders and dust which were once so closely associated with railway travel; eliminated the old unwieldy stoves and lamps; provided comfortable and independent travel in automobiles and airplanes; provided hundreds of medicines, dyes, tonorial needs, flavoring extracts, perfumery essentials, lubricants, waxes and thousands of other things so necessary and so little thought upon.

While the men and women who have had years of experience in the oil industry may send their time to advantage hearing experts discuss scholarly papers on all phases of the industry from mud laden fluids to elimination of noxious mercaptans, and examining the many exhibits to study the utilization of principles in physics, chemistry and other of the sciences; the amateurs and persons of no information in the industry will find the exposition thoroughly enjoyable.

Weight Pencil Mark. Of the twelve steel derricks on the grounds, six will be in operation throughout the oil show. Drilling, however, will not proceed beyond 600 foot depth because below that there is a proven gas sand. Powerful steam, gasoline, diesel and electric engines and motors, ranging in weight of from a few pounds to several tons are in the open lot displays.

secrets of the earth. Many other very interesting instruments, such as the chainometer balances which weigh as easily as chip of rock, make up the exhibits in the Scientific and Technical building.

Other educational features are: a miniature lease showing pumping wells in action, storage tanks, boilers and water tanks; United States Bureau of Mines exhibits showing safety car, safety bull wheel and other safety features, miniature bubble towers and equipment used in the manufacture of natural gasoline, and an operating model of a crude oil refining plant.

Special features of the exposition are the organization of a permanent association of pioneers of the industry, and the fourth annual first aid meet of the Safety section of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association with the national safety council co-operating.

All of the veterans of the oil industry who have been in the oil business for fifty years or more will be honored. The Grand Old Man of the oil industry of the world will be selected on a basis of length of service in the industry's gold medal. The official host to the old timers is Joseph H. "Uncle Joe" Evans, president of the Devonian Oil company, who entered the industry sixty-three years ago.

First Picture of Tunney and Bride After the Wedding

Despite Gene Tunney's reluctance to have photographs taken of his wedding to Marry Josephine Lauder, wealthy heiress, in Rome the other day, NEA Service and the Times succeeded in getting this remarkable pose. Taken in the garden of the Hotel Russie at Rome immediately after the ceremony had been performed, it shows the wedding party. From right to left are Mrs. Edwin Dering, sister of bride; Mrs. Tunney, Gene Tunney and Dr. Carnes Weeks, best man. Minnett Saunders, Paris manager for NEA Service, made a special trip to Rome to get his picture and rushed it to Cherbourg, France, just in time to catch the Berengaria, bound for New York. At New York NEA Service representatives engaged a special tug, boarded the Berengaria at quarantine and rushed the picture to the telephoto office for immediate dispatch to all parts of the United States.

What is being done to make the oil fields and plants of the industry safe for workmen as the business office will be shown by means of demonstrations, moving pictures, posters and other interesting mediums.

Entertainment Features. The social amenities and wholesome diversions are not missing in the program of the oil show. Although it is the policy of the exposition to keep out all entertainments and selling concessions from the grounds because of the possibility of their becoming a nuisance, there will be an Indian village made up of the best dancers and singers of the Ponca, Sac and Fox, Otoe, Creek, Pottawatomie, Quapaw, Cherokee, Choctaw, Kaw, Kiowa and Osage tribes.

A golf tournament will be conducted by the exposition at the Tulsa Country club. The matches will be played in flights of sixteen players each and all matches will be for eighteen holes except the championship match in which agreement may be made for thirty-six holes. At least fifty beautiful silver loving cups and medals will be awarded to the winners.

On October 27, gridiron fans may see the eleven of Tulsa and Phillips Universities clash at McNulty park. There is an intense spirit of rivalry between the teams and last year Phillips dealt Tulsa-University its only defeat. Boxing and wrestling matches are also scheduled for the exposition period.

The Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, Civitans, Optimists, American Business, Traffic and Cosmopolitan clubs, the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Tulsa Chamber of Commerce, will mobilize during the exposition to serve visiting members. Foreign delegates will be the speakers at the meeting for the furtherance of international understanding.

Numerous banquets will be held. On the opening date of the exposition visiting newspapermen will attend a press banquet at which Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the boards of the Bethlehem Steel corporation and the Chicago Pneumatic Tool company, will be the principal speaker. Schwab will officially open the exposition at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

All of the exposition proceeds, from the introduction of Schwab by Harry H. Rogers, president of the Exchange National bank of Tulsa, to the closing ceremony will be broadcast. KVOO will send out the message of Governor Henry S. Johnston to the veterans of the industry, the banquet address by Schwab, and the talks of other national leaders at the numerous exposition affairs.

Loud speakers distributed about the grounds of the exposition will bring the messages of candidates in the presidential race, market quotations, sport results and other items to the visitors.

Scholarship Cows Feature At John Tarleton College

STEPHENVILLE.—At least two worthy students in John Tarleton Agricultural College are now afforded a chance to earn their college expenses by caring for two Jersey cows which have been given to the college by friends of the institution. These cows are to be known as scholarship cows.

The details of the latest contributions of this nature were recently completed when Messrs George and Roy Board of the Southwestern Engraving Company of Fort Worth Texas, a very fine Jersey heifer and donated her to the college to be known as a scholarship cow.

Lil's Sultana Marie is the name of the two-year-old heifer. She is new on a test, and although a very young cow, she has made an average of about 50 pounds of butter fat per month since April. She made a test of 74 pounds of butter fat in the month of May, which is the best test of any cow of her age in the world. Not only did she surpass the world's record in the month of May, but she has consistently broken it during each month since April of this year. Lil's Sultana Marie is a $500 heifer, while she could not have been purchased at that price except that her owner is closing out his dairy.

Each year the Dean of the college, the director of the school of agriculture, and the head of the department of dairy husbandry will award the scholarship to the most deserving student in the dairy husbandry class. This is a valuable award in that it will make it possible each year for another student to earn the major part of his college expenses. However, the student is required to keep an accurate record of the expense and the income of this project. About a year ago the Stephenville Lions Club conceived of an idea to buy a jersey cow and award her each year to some worthy athlete who needs financial aid. This cow is kept on the athletic field where there is plenty of grass to support one cow. This year a member of the Plovboy football team is caring for the cow, and his earnings are about $25 or $30 per month. It is understood that when either of these cows die, the best living heifer calf is to succeed her as the scholarship cow. In this way these scholarships will be perpetuated.

ROMANS REBUILDING SOME ANCIENT ROADS

By United Press. ROME.—Seven of the ancient Roman roads leading out of Rome are to be reconstructed immediately and rebuilt for an average distance of 40 miles from the capital as part of the Duce's great plan for repairing and improving the entire road system of Italy.

These roads, which bear the names of emperors and consuls and imperial times are the Via Aurelia, running north through Civitavecchia; the Via Cassia, which leads to Viterbo; the Via Flaminia, which runs north also to Civitavecchia; the Via Salaria going eastwards towards Rieti; the Via Tiburtina, the old road to Tivoli often mentioned by Horace and Propertius; the Via Cassilina to Palestrina and the south; and the Via Appia, the most famous of all the Roman roads to the South of Italy.

Work has already been begun on these important arteries, which owing to their long neglect have most of them fallen into bad disrepair, and are ill regarded by motorists.

"The moving finger writes;
and, having writ,
Moves on; nor all your piety
nor wit
Shall lure it back to cancel half a line,
Nor all your tears wash out a word of it."
Sybil had sent a wireless to Tad, and they were at the pier to welcome her. Mrs. Thorne and Tad and Craig-Valerie was sorry—she had an engagement.
"Why, you're thinner," cried Craig, as he took her hand. He did not offer to kiss her.
"A little." She was very casual about it. "It's stylish to be thin.
Emaciation is all the rage. Lordy, it's good to see you all again! How have you been? Mother? Bless your heart, and—you old married man—how are you? And Craigie —you're looking like a million!
Aren't you people at the Cape?"
"We closed the place yesterday," explained her mother. "Val wasn't enjoying herself at all. She thought she'd be happier in town."
"In town! This weather!"
"Well, Fall's almost here, you know, Sybil. Here it is September already."
They had dinner together at the Touraine. Valerie was late, as usual.
She was very dazzling as she came flying in. American beauty was the vogue just then and Val's ensemble was unquestionably stunning. The color heightened her glowing cheeks, and the bit of mole about her high collar was most becoming.
"Hello, everybody. Sorry I'm late. Win Wingate was at Barb's table—and he's a perfect howl. I simply couldn't get away. Why, Sib, what's the matter? You look like a wreck. Guess Havana's fast life got you, darling? Too many cocktails make crows' feet."
Sybil could have choked her.
"I'm all right," she said evenly.
"Thanks for your solicitude."
Craig pressed her arm lovingly.
"I thought Sybil looked wonderfully well," he lied loyally.

Bustin' Babe—Larrupin' Lou

Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, those home-run hitting twins of the New York Yankees, are now barnstorming about the country, showing the baseball fans how they socked those terrific clouts that ruined the St. Louis Cards. Babe's team is called the "Bustin' Babes" and Lou's the "Larrupin' Lous."

... I've already got my finger in the pie."
Nonchalantly he fingered the offending card of Isabella Pettie.
"I wonder," he speculated idly
"how do you get that way, Eustis?"
He flipped the soiled pasteboard contemptuously.
"Isabella Pettie," he read.
"Amistad and Cognac. Una triguena. Abajo. . . Grounds for divorce if I'm not mistaken, my friend. I think, if you don't mind, I'll keep the co-respondents' name and address. They might come in handy."
He took out his billfold and deposited the little card carefully between the pages of a notebook.
Richard laughed.
"Moore, you're an awful fat-head," he sneered. "You don't really think, do you, that you've got any grounds for divorce there?
Why, you poor clump, some hell boy dropped that most likely. I never saw it before."
"Sybil's got sense enough not to go to court with any such flimsy evidence. Do you suppose there's a judge who would believe—Do you suppose—after taking one look at Sybil—any jury's going to believe I deserted her—to go chasing a little half-breed?"
"Well—I don't know." Jack was blandly indifferent. "Anyhow, I guess drunkenness is grounds for divorce in Massachusetts. And with Mabel and me to testify again you, Sybil would have much trouble getting rid of you."
"But—good God, Moore—don't you know I'm crazy about Sybil?"
"Yeah?" Moore had an annoying drawl. "Well, she ain't crazy about you."
"Didn't she leave any message for me, Jack?"
"Only that she never wanted to see your face again."
"I don't believe it!"
"Well, have it your own way.
But if you want to keep out of trouble, here's a tip. Sybil's got a brother—a big six-footer, I understand, and something of a boxer.
I reckon he could clean you up with his little finger, any time you tried to make trouble for Sybil.
And, if, by any chance, he got incapacitated, I'm no gilded lily myself."
"If I were you, Eustis, I'd steer clear of Boston for a while. It would be about as convenient for you to desert Sybil as anything I can think of at the moment. Nice respectable divorce, don't you know. No more dirt than necessary. Think it over, old man."
"You—you—" Richard was speechless with anger and chagrin.

... "No offense intended," Moore assured him. "Just a friendly tip."
"Get out of my room!"
"Certainly. Your room, as a matter of fact, is about the last place I'd choose to park. By the way, is that Sybil's trunk over there? I'll send the porter up for it. Goodbye, Eustis. You might tell Isabella, if you see her again, that I think Mrs. Eustis owes her a vote of thanks."
Outside the room, Moore squared his shoulders and drew a deep breath. Downstairs he scribbled a radiogram: "Don't worry. All's well."
And Mabel, when she received it, smiled. "The darling fool," she murmured. "He doesn't know what he's talking about."
For weeks Sybil waited fearfully for word from her husband.
Every time the telephone rang she feared a message. She watched for the postman as she had watched once, years ago, when everyday brought a letter from John Lawrence. Nervously she sorted the mail, looking always for the foreign stamp that would mean Richard was still in Havana.
Jack Moore had written that he understood Eustis had moved from the Seville to a smaller hotel in the suburbs, where John Arnold had become friendly with an American widow and had financed the opening of an American Tea and Gifts Shoppe, of which they were co-partners.
Richard was probably in on it too, wrote Moore. Living expenses were high in Havana, and he had reason to believe that Eustis had already found himself in debt.
Away from the glamour of his presence, Sybil put Richard calmly down as an adventurer and a philanderer.
"I don't care that for him!" she would say, and snap her fingers derisively in the lonely darkness of her bedroom.
But then, when sleep would not come, she would put her hands wildly to her head to still the maddening beat in her temples. And, by and by, she would lie quietly on her back, with her arms stretched along her fevered body.
"O Love! O Fire! Once he drew
With one long kiss my whole soul through:
My lips, as sunlight drinketh dew."
"I hate him! I hate him!" she sobbed, and her heart was full of loathing.
Weeks passed, and there had been no word. Once, as she glanced apprehensively through the day's mail, she remembered that she would not know Richard's handwriting if she should see it.

... "I never even had a love letter from him!" she reflected bitterly.
The ear rings he had given her she had left on her dressing table at the Seville. They had been his only gift. The little sapphire circlet she had worn as a wedding ring had mysteriously disappeared, and Sybil regarded its loss as a good omen.
"I've nothing," she told herself, "to remind me of him—not a keepsake nor a gift. . . Nothing to haunt me but wretched memories."
She thought less often of John Lawrence, and more frequently of Craig Newhall.

CAVALRY BAND IS FEATURE

Legion Convention and Airport Opening to Be Big Occasion.

(From Ranger Times)
The Mineral Wells post of the American Legion will make a strong bid for the next convention of the 17th district, according to a letter received by Wayne C. Hickey, secretary of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce.
The Mineral Wells organization will come to Ranger Saturday and Sunday, November 10 and 11, for the two day convention of the held here.

Hickey has been notified that the cavalry band of Mineral Wells, as well as all the members of the post, will be present for the two day party. Hickey predicted that between 450 and 500 legionnaires would be present for the dedication of the municipal airport and the convention.
Towns included in the seventh district, each of which will have delegations here, comprise Abilene, Albany, Anson, Baird, Dalinger, Brady, Breckenridge, Brownwood, Cisco, Coleman, Comanche, Cross Plains, Eastland, Eden, Hamlin, Lampasas, Llano, Loneta, Miles, Melvin, Moran, Mineral Wells, Ranger, Rising Star, Santa Anna, San Saba, Stamford and Sweetwater.
Tentative plans for the entertainment of the crowd, include dances, smokers and the dedication services of the new municipal airport. It is planned to have a parade Saturday afternoon, including bands from Ranger, Mineral Wells and Cisco and possibly Eastland and Breckenridge.
Saturday night a dance for the ex-service men, airplane pilots, and invited guests, will be held at the Carl Barnes post hall.

Dedication Rites.
At the same time a "stags" smoker will be held at the country club for those not caring to participate in the dance. The registration booth will be located in the lobby of the Ghoslin hotel.
Sunday morning beginning at 9:30 o'clock, the dedication services of the airport will be held. A platform will be erected in front of the steel hangar. A master of ceremonies has not been appointed but Hickey announced that Mayor John W. Thurman would accept the airport on behalf of the city. Mayor Thurman will be followed by the main speaker of the morning, who has not been selected.

Clark Urges Better Scout Cooperation

Alex Clark, Eastland, president of the executive committee of the Eastland County Boy Scouts, today issued a statement in which he outlined the work for the coming months.
Clark's statement, in which he advocates closer cooperation between towns, follows:
"There are many things, of course, that I would like to see accomplished in the further advancement of scouting in the Oil Belt council. Included in these are many things that should be accomplished, and there are a few other things that must be accomplished if Scouting is to maintain its proper place in the affairs of the people throughout the Oil Belt Council. Because of their importance I shall deal with the latter first."
"To begin with, the Scout program must be adequately financed. With this in view there has been organized in the different towns committees to carry on the campaign for memberships within the next few days, and the friends of the Scout program and to all boys, everywhere, are urged to give the campaign their wholehearted support and enthusiastic cooperation, in order that this program, through adequate financing may be extended to every part of the council and made available to all boys of Scout age in this area."
"I would like to emphasize in this connection that the Boy Scout program is not what is known in civic affairs as an organization, but is instead, a program which is available to you for your boys and your neighbor's boys, to the end that they may become, through contact with this program, better future American citizens. In order to obtain the best results from scouting, it is essential that as nearly as possible, all boys of Scout age should come under its influence, thus eliminating the influence of boys who seek their amusements in unwholesome and uncontrolled diversions, and who range about through our respective communities bent upon mischief both to the community and to themselves."
"The Boy Scout program of the Oil Belt council, aims to take all boys everywhere and through the high principles of scouting wheel them into a solid front against malicious and uncontrolled practices and diversions, to the end that the future citizenship of this country may be constituted of men of strong character and patriotic, law-abiding principles. It is a great, democratizing influence. The uniform alone tends to insure that. Boys learn the proper contact with their fellows through clean association and supervised sports."
"I would like to see co-operation between the various towns of the council in carrying on the work of scouting. By means of the organ-

Blimp May Attend

Hickey announced that a blimp from Dallas in all probability would be here. The small blimp is attached to a one thousand foot cable and is controlled from the ground. It carries several passengers.
It is not known just how many planes will be here for the occasion, but Hickey is assured that a large number will take care of the entertainment of the expected crowd.
Planes will be here to take up passengers for a small charge, with a percentage being paid into the airport fund.

The Alexander-Eaglebrook company has written the chamber of commerce that, if possible, seven planes and pilots will be here. The itinerary does not include Ranger but it thought that it can be arranged.
The Fort Worth Aerocade will stop here at some date, but it is trying to be arranged to have it here during the opening of the field. It includes 20 planes.
Robert J. Smith, aviation secretary of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce and Wm. E. Easterwood of Dallas, have notified officials that they will attend.
Tom Hardin, operating manager of the Texas Air Transport, Inc., Fort Worth, also will attend.
Paul Henderson, Washington, D. C., vice president of the same company, will not be able to attend, however.

EASTLAND LOSES 19-0 TO EAGLES

Connie Smith's Passes and Altman Smith's Runs Are Features.

ABILENE, Oct. 20.—Outweighed 12 pounds or more to the man and facing a team constantly refreshed by inexhaustible reserves, the Eastland Mavericks enhanced their reputation for courageous fighting against hopeless odds and held the state champions—to a 19-0 count Saturday afternoon.

Once again Connie Smith, Mavericks' midget quarterback, stood out with long, accurate passes, hard tackling, pretty punt returns and good kicking. It was another Smith—Altman, 175-pound fullback—who put the punch in the attack of the victors, scoring all three of their touchdowns. Taking advantage of a strong wind at his back, Allen of Abilene punted the ball and after Eastland had kicked in a return Altman Smith made 18 yards on two plays to the Mavericks' 10-yard line. Four plays gained only eight yards and Connie Smith kicked out to his own 28-yard line where the Eagles at once resumed their drive. Short gains by A. Smith, Kincaid and Baldwin and then an 11-yard end run by Allen put the ball three yards from a score. But Allen lost four yards when he tried to circle Cheatham's end and on the next play Cheatham slung Murphy for a loss on a bad snapback from center. Allen put the ball on the four-yard line but Eastland obtained the ball on downs.

Then when Connie Smith punted 25 yards in the face of the wind and Murphy had returned nine yards to Eastland's 20-yard line, the Eagles began their third attack—a drive that the Mavericks could not turn back. Allen, Smith and Kincaid marched to the two-yard line and Smith hit the middle of the line for a touchdown. Shackleford missed the kick. The score was made at almost the end of the first quarter.

In the second quarter Eastland had a slender chance to score. It was on a long pass by Connie Smith to Cheatham who was covered by two men, one of whom slapped down the ball. The pigskin took an erratic spin and had Cheatham happened to have been facing that way he could have caught it with an open field. Fresh men were being flung in by Abilene. A pretty run by Allen of Abilene for 13 yards and a 17-yard swing around end by A. Smith gave the second score toward the close of the second quarter. Smith kicked goal.

Salkeld, Abilene's famed pass receiver of last season, missed a neat one right in his hands early in the third quarter. After Allen of Abilene punted, C. Smith stepped through almost the entire team on a 12-yard return. After Connie had punted, A. Smith with a screen of interference, swung around left end for 73 yards and a touchdown. He wrenched loose from tacklers and then outran the field. Shackleford missed goal.

Mavericks flashed an attack almost immediately after. With the ball on their own 20-yard line, Allen of Eastland hit right guard for five yards; Smith hurled a pass for 18 yards to Brawner and then Smith sifted through left tackle for 14 yards. At this juncture Salkeld was banished from the game and Abilene drew a penalty to its own 24-yard line. A Smith ended the threat by intercepting a pass. Connie Smith was badly hurt on the play but remained in the game. After Allen of Abilene had dashed around end for 26 yards, the Mavericks began throwing 'em for losses and the Eagles drew a 15-yard penalty.

MOM'N POP

Happy to Be Together Again

If you don't know it, and you really should, the gentleman at the left is Walter Johnson and the one at the right is Owner Griffith of the Washington Senators. And they both look so pleased here because this photograph was taken a few moments after Johnson had signed a three-year contract to manage the Washington Senators, his first love in baseball and the team for which he pitched his way to immortal fame.

Foster, Maverick end, made a good catch of Connie Smith's pass for nine yards as the third quarter ended. After a punt exchange the Eastland quarter tossed one to Cheatham for 10 yards to Abilene's 31-yard line. Three long passes to Cheatham were knocked down, the Eastland end being guarded by two men.

Another punt exchange and then more passes by Eastland, the first, Smith to Foster for 11 yards.

And then came one of the most brilliant plays of the game—a rifle pass right through the middle of the line, Connie Smith to McCullough for 17 yards. On the next play, McCullough gathered in a pass for six yards to the Eagles' 29-yard line. But the attack halted and Abilene launched an offensive that carried the ball to Eastland's five-yard line where the Mavericks got the ball on downs as the game ended.

The Mavericks played the game with only one substitution—Brawner for Norton. Abilene used some seven or eight. Abilene made 19 first downs to eight for Eastland. The Mavericks tried 26 passes of which seven were completed for 69 yards and two were intercepted.

Starting lineup: Abilene—Bentley and Salkeld, ends; Black and Shackleford, tackles; Baker and T. Barber, guards; Lusby, center; Kincaid, quarter; Baldwin, R. Allen, halfbacks; A. Smith, full. Eastland—Cheatham and Foster, ends; Mayo and Daniel, tackles; Moser and Taggart, guards; King, center; C. Smith, quarter; Norton, McCullough, halfbacks; H. Allen, full.

Sports Matter

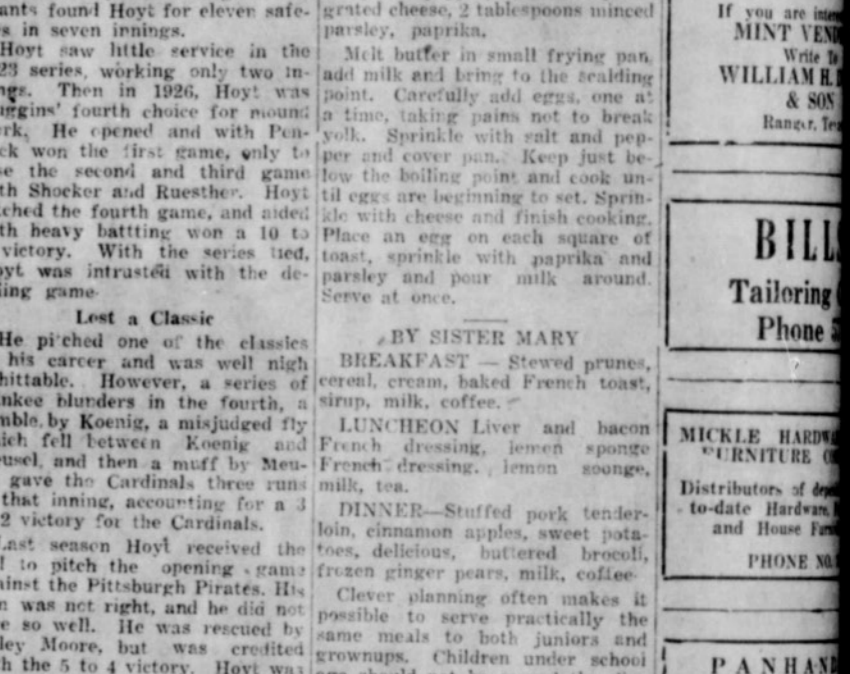

Two candidates for all-American football honors will be presented by the Army eleven this year in the persons of "Red" Cagle, halfback, and Bud Sprague, captain and tackle. A representative schedule is faced by the West Pointers. A 14 to 13 victory over the S. M. U.

at the post, and there was no need to worry about that section of the line. Sprague is rugged and strong with the added benefit of lots of experience. Furthermore he is equally adept at smashing a hole in the opposing line for his own backs or breaking up the enemy offensive. The choice for the other position has been among Dibb, Elias and Perry.

Family Menu

BY SISTER MARY BREAKFAST—Grapes, cereal, cream, eggs with cheese, reheated spinach, toast, milk, coffee. LUNCHEON—Bacon on casserole, baked potatoes, creamed cauliflower, apple sauce, molasses cookies, milk, tea. DINNER—Corn loaf with tomato sauce, scalloped sweet potatoes, stuffed celery, honey dew melon balls, milk, coffee. Since an unusually hearty luncheon is served a light dinner without meat is planned. If the corn is grated quite fine, children may be allowed to eat the loaf and they may of course have the sauce, sweet potatoes and celery. Children under six, however, should have their sweet potato baked, their celery stuffed and the tomato sauce served with toast sticks in place of the corn loaf. A dish of apple sauce left from luncheon could be substituted for the melon balls. Eggs With Cheese One tablespoon butter, 1-2 cup milk, 4 eggs, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2

The Eastland County Federation met in Rising Star, Saturday afternoon, to discuss the subject, "Eastland County," in which Mrs. Phillip E. Pettit substituted for Mrs. W. E. Tyler as leader of the program on the history of Eastland county.

MRS. JONES CONVALESCING, RETURNING HOME TODAY
Mrs. H. L. Jones, wife of the popular county clerk, will be brought home today from Fort Worth, where she has been a patient in Harris Sanitarium for the past three weeks.

SOUTH WARD SCHOOL CARNIVAL IS SUCCESS
The annual carnival of the South Ward School, Saturday night, was a big success, though the faculty states the money made was about half that of former years, ascribing this to the many and varied attractions all over town that night, including the big football game in Abilene that day, which drew away many who would otherwise have attended, and the speaking at the city hall also detracted from the attendance.

Two Cheers for Miller
Miller Huggins, it is the belief of a spectator at the late massacre, should get a lot of credit for the victory of the Yankees in straight heats.

Will Be In Ranger Soon
On the upper floors the Carlsbad Caverns claimed special attention. It was in charge of Mr. Wilmoth. A program was given at intervals under direction of Mrs. Speer. In another tent was staged a boxing match chaperoned by Miss Green. A lovely candy booth was in charge of Mrs. Hays.

Miss Cole, and Mrs. Edward E. Layton with their peanut and popcorn booth, disposed of their wares so early that had they other supplies they could have doubled the volume of their business.

Just a few more days and the big Sells Floto Circus will arrive in Ranger. Wednesday, October 31, is the day and there will be two performances, afternoon at 2, evening at 8.

Canada's first farmer is believed to have been Louis Herbert who came to Quebec from France in 1617, with his wife and three children.

But his ability is respected and appreciated by the managers of the other American league clubs, especially his skill in handling pitchers.

Not Needed at Michigan.
There was something singularly amusing in the recent announcement that Pop Yost had abandoned his Michigan football team and had gone to help his brother-in-law fix up the Vanderbilt team.

Another Year in Jail.
When he engineered the deal with St. Louis by which the Phillies got Tommy Thevenow for Heinie Sand and $50,000, Burt Shotton, manager of the Phillies gave evidence that he feels secure of his job for another year.

Press Agent's Art.
Melenda, a teammate of Benny Friedman at Michigan and now a professional player with the New York Giants, said he opened all the holes through which Benny walked and that he knocked down all the men that came through when Benny was tossing a pass.

But he said it on the day before the Giants were to play Benny's Detroit team and a big grudge fight was predicted when they met.

There wasn't.

Harry Heilmann calls Durocher the Yank rookie, "The All-American Out." The Philadelphia writer on the jury named Fox as the most valuable American League player.

Hooks and Slides

Used to Punch Nickels
There was a time when the New York Yankees had the reputation of being high mathematicians in the distribution of their world series loot.

Players Rebelled.
Master Hoyt's first game was the only one pitched that was not a nerve wrecker for the Yankee players. In fact they were so insistent in a demand for a relief pitcher in Pipiras' and Zachary's game that an insurrection was imminent on the field.

There is a record that Mike Gazella, a utility infielder, doing his first year as a bench warmer, rebelled when he was cut in for a paltry five hundred bucks and that he got a regular player's full share when the Babe went to the front for him.

But No Longer.
But if there ever was such a thing as penury among the New York players it seems no longer to exist. Or perhaps all the miseries have departed. Because in the cutting up of their money this year the Yankee players did a number of noble things.

Is Washington So Good?
Baseball men chuckled at the sound of a nasty crack at the Washington club in the answer of Paul Block, owner of the Newark International League club, when he was asked if he would permit Walter Johnson to go to Washington.

Block explained that he never had stood in the way of an employe who had a chance to better himself in business and then he delivered the crack when he referred to the Washington deal and said: "If it can be considered a promotion for him to go to Washington, then I would not want to stand in his way."

Roper's Ready

Yep, it's old Bill Roper, back on the job at Princeton University to whip his gridiron squads into shape. Here he's shown looking 'em over at scrimmages as he makes final selections.

Did You Ever Stop To Think?

That in order to do big things, citizens must be organized to accomplish them. That citizens who have faith in the home city must back that faith with work and dollars.

That the people of modern cities have proven themselves aggressive and wide-awake. By cooperating in making it a bigger and better city.

By instilling home pride in the minds of all the people.

sonal quarrels, it is reported that there has been a remarkable diminution in the number of "affairs of honor" during the past year. Particular interest is being paid to the question of foil contests. In Italy, buttons are frequently drawn off at the last moment—and should an accident occur the absence of the button can always be attributed to a swerved faint. In France, however, the button must be certified by the judges of a contest at the close as well as the beginning of a match.

Sword contests are attracting less attention than formerly, and the new rules, to be submitted to the International Fencing association, will merely call for closer inspection of blades and adequate thickness of body protection.

Fencing Rules Standardized

PARIS, Oct. 20.—Standardization of fencing rules for the entire world is now being planned by the principal French and Italian fencing societies. The sport is rapidly regaining its old prestige in Europe, and despite the fears that it would encourage a return to duelling for the settling of personal quarrels, it is reported that there has been a remarkable diminution in the number of "affairs of honor" during the past year.

The salesmanager says "You've seen 'Sales,' 'Sales' and more 'Sales.'"

Until you probably are tired of them. But here is one that is going to be a different story. This is not one of those perpetual, spasmodic, everlasting events with just a name hung on it. But a genuine, "sure-nuff" quitting business sale. Every dollar's worth of goods in the store is going to be marked down, and what I mean—marked down—when I leave here next month you'll know me as I'm known from coast to coast as the price smasher.

When the Boston Store decided to quit they signed a contract with me to close out the stock—to the bare walls. I'm no wizard, and I know, there is only one way to get people to buy an immense stock like this and do it quick, and that is to cut the prices and cut them deep. Look this ad over, then read the next three pages, and you'll see I've done it. Then come in. The price tags will back up every statement in this ad. I promise you the greatest bargain festival West Texas has ever seen and my word is my bond. So be here Wednesday, Oct. 24, at 9 a. m., and get your share of these wonderful savings.

A WORD FROM MR. I. WOLF AND MR. I. MOLDAVE

After a partnership of 5 years, we have found that our opinions differ—and it's better for all concerned that we dissolve partnership. In order to do so we MUST liquidate our stock and pay up all accounts. We have turned our entire stock over to a merchandise expert for that purpose—with one instruction and that is—Sell it and we'll take the loss. But it must be done as we have always conducted our business—with out misrepresentation, and fill every promise you make—promise the biggest bargains in Eastland county—and then fill that promise.

We want to thank our friends all over Eastland county for the splendid business you have given us—and urge you to share in the greatest values we've ever offered.

Signed: I. WOLF, I. MOLDAVE
