Have you visited the new Furniture Store There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product; a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday allments. Any hour of the day or night that Baby becomes fretful, or restless. Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it. "I don't think Rod wants you to know anything about him," Bertie Lou answered Lila. She hardly knew why she said what she did, because she still believed that Rod had been in love with Lila. She needn't hate or despise him. She needn't hate or despise him any longer as she had told herself she to upth to because of the shot in the dark, had brought a slight doubt to her own mind—a doubt that was a ray of hope!

Why had Rod followed her to the Palmer place? Would he have gone there if Lila was the only girl who meant anything to him? Surely he must have cared something for her still to follow her like that. But it was not a proof of love. Any man would have done they same if he'd had cause to believe that his wife was untrue to him.

Rod might not want to be coming back to her—no more than she wanted him to. No that wasn't the way to put it. She did want him, but she couldn't forgive him. She lid want him, but she couldn't forgive him.

It was not difficult for her to guess that Rod had rushed blindly out to the South Shore when his suspicions were aroused. And in that frame of mind he had heard Marco call her his future wife. No wonder he had seen his lawyer about a divorce!

Bertie Lou was thinking fast. One thought seemed to start a train of them. She remembered that Rod had not sued; had allowed her to take the initiative. That did not look as if all tender feelings for her had left him.

"And there is another factor, to an important psychological to the limit to win."

"And there is another factor, too—an important psychological one. Last season the gridiron was a dirt fied with "semipermanent" bleachers. chabled the Athletics to take the lead for the first time in more than two years.

Bucky Harris laughed when it was reported that he would be released by Clark Griffith this fall. The able young manager probably has many more years of good baseball in his system.

Captured Two Plags.

Harris built two pennant winners for Griffith, winning one world's championship after a stormy series with the New York Giants. The Senators started the present season with high hopes, which were based largely upon the pitching prospects. The club went to pieces, however, due largely to injuries, and fell so far. behind that it never could catch up with the leaders. The rise of the St. Louis Browns helped to emphasize the Senators discomfiture. At one time, washington teams stayed for so many sad seasons.

The absence of "Goose" Goslin in the first part of the season proved costly to the Senators. Harris himself was out for a time, which destroyed the inner defense of the team. A green proved costly to the Senators. Harris himself was out for a time, which destroyed the inner defense of the team. A green shortstop and a green first base-tian couldn't get together without Bucky's help.

Goslin came back to lead the league in hitting, although his arm never did mend. He tried throwing with the other arm, without much success, and even now the center fielder has to relay long drives from deep left.

Pitchers Improved.

About a month ago, Bucky's pitchers started doing their stuff. Hadley, Braxton, Marberry and Jones began to pitch winning baseball. Had they done so at the start of the season, the Senators might now be in a three-cornered fight for the pennant. Hadley proved particularly effective against the faltering Yankees early in September.

The failure of the Senators has been a great disappointment to Washington fans, who are just as fickle as the fans of other cities and demand a winner. Attendance figures at Griffith Stadium fell off, and complaints were loudly voiced against the club's poor showing.

Stadium fell off, and complaints were loudly voiced against the club's poor showing.

This state of affairs led to the report that Griffith had decided to let Harris go and turn over the club to another manager for the season of 1929. While the Washington owner is not known as "Big Hearted Clark," he enjoys no unusual reputation for ingratitude, and at the time it seemed unlikely that he would cut Bucky adrift after all the latter has done to put the Senators back on the baseball camp after so many seasons of gloom.

Whoofus Whiffletree's Woozy Wonderings

Already, the sport chatter from Abilene is harking on the possibility that Aultman Smith, last season's fullback, will be in that position again instead of being shifted to end to take Andrus' place. This is in line with the forecast made some weeks ago that Smith would be playing in the backfield before the season was far advanced. The reason is that he is needed back there. His weight, strength and experience are highly valuable behind the forward wall.

Consider: With Sellers and Walter through and with Smith at lend, the only '27 regular remaining in the backfield would be Hale Kincaid, former Eastland lad. And Kincaid was almost never used last year in carrying the ball. He toted the oval twice, we believe, against Cleburne, for example. A team that entertains high hopes for a state championship has hopes for a state championship ha vital need for more than one last year's regular in the backfield.

We imagine however that Coach Mayhew of the Eagles is going to be reluctant to remove the tall and powerful Smith from the wing po-

Last season, we wondered why Kincaid was not used to carry the ball. He is fast, shifty and is a husky little fellow. He probably will be the Eagles' chief groundgainer this year. Reports are that he is the best passer on the team though Baldwin is passing acceptably. The punting probably will be done by Aultman Smith or Hanna, prospective fullback. It is quite doubtful if the consistently long punts of Sellers and Andrus can be duplicated this season.

Defensive stars began to loom, however, giving the fans some consolation for the ragged way in which the Simmons offense moved off in its first action. Not only the old stars, but many of the new men, showed more than usual football ability in stopping the advances of the opposition.

Further consolation was due the fans in the fact that the Simmons coaches have not so far outlined

Sanders, whose 45 and 55-yard punts led to the winning of the game with Howard Payne last year, has a close competitor in Sellers, half on the Abilene High team last year. Bridges has a host of good punters.

Sellers, half on the Abilene High team last year. Bridges has a host of good punters.

New men have showed promise in this week's scrimmages. Houghton of Caddo and Marshall of Floydada have been working well in Bridges' pet lineback position, George Golightly at center looks as if he would uphold his Marlin High school reputation, and Griggs of Decatur Baptist college, who has been shifted from tackle to end, shows promise of developing into a polished player.

Rogers, who has played with Allen academy and John Tarleton, Red Bennet of Slaton, and Sims of Frederick, Okla., have all shown stuff in the line.

When Babe Slew Mack's Hopes

This picture was taken shortly after one of Connie Mack's best pitch ers, Lefty Grove, made the mistake of trying to slip a fast one over on Babe Ruth. The result: a home run with a man on base, and that won the ball game for the Yankees, 5 to 3. It was the third straight defeat the Macks received in the important series with the

A heavy line and a medium-weight backfield looms as the final lineup for Simmons this year. So far, none of the lightweights with the exception of Clark and Gibbons, backs, have made any great impression. Indications point toward a powerful eleven to meet T. C. U.
