WHO CAN TELL INCIDENTS OF BOY SCOUTS?

Chief Executive Asks Eastland County Executive,
Guy Quirl, To Send
In Stories.

A letter has been received by Scout Executive Guy Quirl from James C. West, chief Boy Scout executive in the United States, asking for true stories showing the earnestness with which the boys of Eastland county have taken the scout law, and especially any effect it has had in motivating a boy's attitude, conduct or action.
This applies to the entire scout law, as it does to the individual law.

Mr. Quirl wants the aid of all scout masters and all assistant scout masters in replying to this letter. He says it is probable that they have observed many such incidents from time to time, but have made no mental note of them and so they have slipped away. He wants reports made that will enable him to send Mr. West the Boy Scout stories he wants. It will also show the country that Eastland has dependable boy scouts.

Eastland scout leaders have been asked to visit Leaders during the period of July 20 to August 12,
when the Chisholm Trail Council will be in summer session at Camp Tonkawa. The council embraces seven counties, with headquarters at Abilene. A few more than 200 boys are expected at the camp.

SMITH ACCUSED OF WANTING TO BLOW THE FOAM

Dry Pronouncement Says Al
Longs Again To Put His Foot On a Brass Rail.

By United Press.
ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 20.— Governor Smith "repeatedly put his foot on the brass rail and blew
the foam off the glass" in pre-prohibition days and he "has openly expressed his desire to repeal the prohibition laws so that it can be done again," the formal statement of the dry anti-Smith Democrats said today in reviewing the Democratic nominee's wet record.

"He fought in pre-prohibition days every effort to extend the application of the principle of local option, which principle he so vocif-erously advocates," the statement said. It also reviewed his signature of the New York prohibition enforcement repeal and accused Smith of disobeying his oath as governor to support the Federal Constitution by advocating "nullification" of 18th amendment.

LONG TUNNEL BIG FEAT OF ENGINEERING

Great Northern Will Be Using Eight-Mile Cut
Through Cascade
Range Before
New Year.

Two-thirds of a mile of solid rock still separate the advance headings of America's longest tunnel, which is being bored through the Cascade range by the Great Northern railway. For a distance of more than a mile the tunnel must still be brought to full size, and nearly three miles of concrete lining two feet in thickness must be placed before the tunnel is complete.

Superhuman as it seems, the project is to be completed by late fall and, barring unforeseen contingencies, Great Northern trains will be operating through the new 8-mile tunnel by the first of the year. The methods employed in the construction of the tunnel have resulted in new records for speed tunneling, bettering by several years' time tunnels that are two and three miles shorter.

Two and one-half years ago the construction forces moved into the

America's Longest Railway Tunnel To Be Completed Soon

County Judge Ed S. Pritchard Urges Eastland County's Support of Dan Moody for Reelection As Governor

County Judge, Ed S. Pritchard, urges the voters of Eastland county to give Governor Dan Moody careful consideration in the coming primary election.
Judge Pritchard states that a peculiar situation exists in Eastland county, and he feels that the voters of Eastland county should be put in possession of the facts
as to what the present administration is doing in the county's behalf. Judge Pritchard states that some articles have been published in some of the daily newspapers of Eastland county, charging the Highway Department as being prejudiced against Eastland county, and that those statements are unwarranted; that the Highway Department is not prejudiced against Eastland county but is doing more for Eastland county than any other administration has ever done heretofore. His statement is as follows:
"I am for Dan Moody for Governor for the following reasons:
"First, and most important, because his splendid administration has been honest, and the State has been put on a sound financial basis.
"Secondly, because as a result of this efficiency taxes have been reduced lower than they have been in fourteen years.
"In Eastland county, in particular, there are some well known forces who are working for his defeat. One of their claims is that the State Highway Commissioners are prejudiced against the county. It is for this reason that I make this statement.
"The State Highway Department, after having had the Eastland county road situation explained to them, have as a result of their sense of fairness and justice, agreed with the Commissioners."

WAXING SARCASTIC. We rather imagine that the editorial writer of the Kansas City Star is satiric but the arguments he advances have a rather familiar ring:

"After considerable experience in the deliberation we have had to start a crusade for the law against speeding motor cars. We do this on high philosophical grounds and for three chief reasons:

"1. The law can't be enforced. "2. The law is an infringement of personal liberty. "3. You can't make people good by law.

"It must be admitted, under the first heading, that the anti-speeding law is observed by the bulk of the population. The speeding is usually done on stretches of unfrequented roads and especially where no traffic officers are about. But we insist that the law is occasionally violated on the city streets and that thousands of persons are killed every year by the speeders.

"It would be an impossible task to provide enough traffic officers to patrol all the streets and highways. Obviously the law can't be enforced. So we call for its repeal.

"As to the second point, infringement of personal liberty, we believe the government has no business prying into our personal affairs. The Constitution never contemplated anything of the sort. If we want to speed that is our own affair, so long as we do not injure anybody else. If we do injure someone, then there are laws that properly deal with the offense. We are liable to arrest and fine or imprisonment.

"But it is un-American and contrary to the genius of our institutions to tell people by legislative enactment that they shall not do this and so. For is not speeding in itself an innocent diversion? We have no business to infringe personal liberty to drive a car 60 miles an hour.

"The same sort of considerations apply to the third point, to making people good by law. The problem is one to be dealt with by education, not by the police power. We should train people in self-control so they would not wish to speed when speeding would be dangerous to others. If they have not in their hearts enough consideration for others to regulate their conduct, we cannot expect to regulate their conduct, we cannot expect to change their selfishness by statute. It is contrary to all the teachings of Nature to attempt to legislate people into righteousness.

"These arguments, we believe are conclusive, and will seem so to anybody who is not a moron or a yokel from Mr. Mencken's Bible belt. Only a lout would dispute them.

"So having obtained the repeal of the anti-speeding legislation we shall turn to the prohibition question. Now isn't it obvious that the alcohol act should be done away with on the ground:

"1. The law can't be enforced. "2. The law is an infringement of personal liberty. "3. You can't make people good by law."

ORANGE JUICE AND BLOOD TRANSFUSION

The editor of Health Culture, while acknowledging with much appreciation the many splendid acts of self-denial on behalf of others which have been performed by blood transfusion, says that as far as his experience goes, one cup of sweet orange juice by mouth answers any emergency in which blood transfusions would be used. His observations in hospitals do not prove to him that transfusion is either necessary or desirable.

KINNAIRD'S HOME FROM LIONS CONVENTION

Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Kinnaird returned from their long motor hike to the Lions convention at Des Moines, Iowa, on Wednesday night, and brought with them a stack of good things to tell, beginning with their stopping in Carrollton, Missouri, the old home town of the Kinnairds, where little Mrs. Kinnaird was introduced to the score of family friends, and then on the Chickasha, Oklahoma, for a day with the parents of Donald, people we all know and like well. Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Kinnaird, formerly with the Prairie Oil & Gas company in Eastland, then to Bartlesville, for a day with brother Kinnaird, and a glimpse of the charming sisters, and on to Des Moines. The trip from Eastland occupied four days. The convention was given three and one half days, and the netire time away was one day less than two weeks. The new Hudson drove like a dream, with no car troubles, save two punctures. The trip registered 2,400 miles.

Texas sent a nice delegation of one hundred and fifty Lions, all going on a special coach, of which Judge N. N. Rosequest was a special guest. The city of Des Moines was beautifully bedecked for the convention, and many magnificent entertainments offered the women visitors, which included a gorgeous musical tea and program at the Des Moines University; a formal feast, and a very elaborate breakfast.

Men and women Lion visitors were entertained with a dance every night. There were three were three thousand delegates, which included their ladies, in attendance, and something doing every minute. Mrs. Kinnaird said it stormed every day, and that the nights were frightfully hot, and that Texas was the coolest and most delightful place she had been in.

CHOIRS FAITHFUL THROUGH THE SUMMER

To the credit of the church it is said, that though it is awfully hot to attend choir practice, to stand and sing over and over, bars, and measures, and usually without the alleviation of fans, is something the choirs of Eastland are doing there all this hot weather. The attendance has held up remarkably well, especially during the last torrid days.

The Baptist church is rather on the vacation list at present, as regards their choir practice, but the pianist, Mrs. Thomas J. Pitts, stated their active work would soon be resumed.

The Christian church choir is rather vacating, too, as the pastor has been attending the Christian church camp.

The Church of Christ rehearsals swing along, under direction of their leader, and some wonderful harmonies are evolved by this choir which sings without the aid of musical instruments.

The Methodist church choir, long noted for its brilliant programs, directed by Miss Wilda Drago, had at their church choir practice last night, Mmes. Charles C. Robey, A. Taylor, Joe Stephens, E. A. Hill, June Kimble, Fred L. Drago, T. J. Hsley, H. O. Satterwhite, W. A. Stalter, Jap F. Little, Miss Nell Mackall, and B. M. Collier, June Kimble, T. L. Overley, and R. F. Jones, and Mrs. G. G. Norton, pianist.

Some beautiful music was rehearsed for Sunday which included an anthem arrangement of the familiar hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers," with theme woven in various phrases, one, a violin solo, played by Miss Brainerd will also present a violin solo at the morning service.

The Presbyterian Church splendid practice hour Wednesday night under temporary director, Mrs. L. R. Hogan, who substituted as pianist for Mrs. Kinnaird, unavoidably absent who will be at her post tomorrow for church services.

Some splendid voices made double quartet of singers effective in their work. Program Sunday morning was assisted by Misses Eca Linder, Margaret Hart, violinists, and Frances Hogan, saxophone, special number when the singing as an anthem.

"Have Thine Own Way," assisted by the trio of saxophones. The music for the present by Mrs. H. trained and talented musician. Those attending practices, were Mmes. J. L.ingham, J. J. Tabeiman, Hayes, John Markey, W. A. J. LeRoy Arnold, L. E. Hogan, G. Courts, James Horton, and L. R. Hogan.

OLNEY RAISES CHICKS
OLNEY, July 19.—Approximately 40,000 baby chicks were hatched from the Olney hatchery during the season just closed, and distributed in this immediate territory according to Clyde Benson, manager of the plant. A marked increase in poultry activities has resulted since the opening of the hatchery here a year ago.

Practically every farmer in this territory is now raising from a few to several hundred chickens where two years ago the number was comparatively few. A number of large poultry farms have been installed during the past twelve months in the Olney territory.

Whoofus Whiffletree's Woozy Wonderings

Cy Watson learned that Whoofus is on the job in Ranger so he sauntered in today. Cy, years ago, was a pitcher for about 10 seasons in the Texas league. A sports writer of those days said all that Cy had was a glove and a smile—but he stuck for 10 years. What he really had however was control and a knowledge of batters—and that's a pretty good combination. Cy is still a young man—but old from the standpoint of athletics. He still has the glove and always will have the smile. So he gets out and throws the old horsehide across the corners of the plate every once in a while now as a member of the Pleasant Grove team.

We never will forget two pinch-hitting achievements at Eastland in which Watson was the hero. Imagine a pitcher as a pinch-hitter—and going to bat when he had no practice at all that season!

Eastland was about to lose a hard-fought game to Rising Star. Tynd run was on third base and a weak hitter was coming up. The manager decided to take a chance and use Cy. Maybe the pitcher would get nervous, thinking that the new batter was a slugger. Any-way Cy got hold of one. The center fielder misjudged it, started in, had to turn around and it went over his head into an alfalfa patch, or some other crop out there. By the time the fielder had found the ball, Cy was rounding third—and could hardly jog. He barely made it in home with the winning run.

The other occasion was a few years back when the Fort Worth Cats invaded Eastland. The home team hadn't made a hit in seven innings. So Cy went into bat. Joe Pate—an old-time comrade of the Texas league—was in the box. Cy must have given him the grand halting sign of distress for the Order of Billy Goats or something, because Joe lobbed one across waist-high and Watson made Eastland's first hit of the game and later scored.

Matsuda made an attempt to regain his championship the other night at San Angelo but the veteran wrestler again lost to Jack Reynolds. The Jap took the first fall in 26 1-2 minutes with a flying mare and seemed about to win the next fall with the same tactics but Reynolds suddenly put into effect a leg split and took the fall in 15 1-2 minutes. Then, after Matsuda had a full nelson, Reynolds flattened Matsuda for the deciding fall while the Jap was still holding on to the nelson.

Rules Decided On For Big Tourney Here Next Sunday

(From Ranger Times) Rules for the inter-city golf tournament between the members of the Ranger Country club and the Eastland Golf and Country club, were drafted and accepted at a meeting of the Ranger committee held this morning at 9 o'clock at the Paramount hotel. The tournament will be held on the Ranger course Sunday afternoon beginning at 1:30 o'clock. Pairings and flight assignments will not be made until Sunday afternoon, when all entrants in the tournament are urged to be on time at the clubhouse.

Those from Ranger who are contemplating entering the tournament are urged to play as much as possible every day this week in order to cope with the strong regation from Eastland.

Ground rules accepted this morning and which will be in force in the tournament Sunday are as follows:

- 1. All balls in fairway may be teed. All balls in rough must be played as they lie. In case of impossible lie, such as behind trees or rocks, ball may be dropped over shoulder and shot as it lays without loss of stroke. 2. Balls lying close to fences or trees for swing may be moved out far enough to permit full swing. 3. Three minutes is permitted to look for lost balls and if not found in that time, another ball must be dropped and shot for loss or one stroke. 4. Man farthest from hole shoots and in case of stymie, ball may be moved to permit clear shot for hole. 5. On all holes the fairway is from tee to green with exception of numbers 5, 7 and 9. Fairway on number five starts just over ditch, on number 7 just over rocks and on number 9 just over the rocks. 6. All balls shot out of bounds from tee must be shot over with loss of one stroke. All balls shot out of bounds after tee off must be shot over for loss of stroke. 7. Balls lying too close to rim to permit putt may be moved enough to enable putting. 8. All fences are boundaries. All matches will be played in twosomes. 9. The low score for 18 holes in each flight will be winner of prize and runner up in each flight will be awarded second prize.

FISH WORM DANGEROUS

ST JOSEPH, Mich.—Ordinarily fish worms go through life without causing much damage but here they led to the arrest of one man and the severe beating of another. Oscar Breiling awaits trial for assaulting Albert Pilas after an argument on Pilas' lawn where Breiling was digging for worms.

Texas produces about seven percent of the total raw material of the United States and manufactures 1.6 percent, valued at a billion dollars per annum.

Stanford Soph on Olympic Squad

HARLOW ROTHERT

Harlow Rothert, who earned letters in football, basketball and track this year as a sophomore at Stanford, is one of the weight men to be employed by the United States in the Olympic games at Amsterdam this summer. He first came into prominence nationally when he placed in the I. C. 4-A meet in the shot event at Harvard this year and again at the national intercollegiate when he won first place in the event. He heaved the 16-pound shot 49 feet 8 1-4 inches in the final Olympic trials to gain a place on the squad.

Sports Matter

By GEORGE KIRKSEY (United Press Sports Writer) Garland Braxton, the lean, lanky left hander of the Washington Senators, was the first pitcher to beat New York Yankees twice this season.

From the way Braxton man-handled murderers' row in those games he seems quite capable of beating the world champions any time he throws his glove on the diamond. Braxton conquered the Yankees on May 30, 5 to 0, and on July 2, 4 to 3. In the first game the Yankees made but three hits off him and only 28 men faced him. In the second game Braxton outpitched George Pipgras, Yankee's ace, holding New York to seven hits.

Two other pitchers have turned back the Yankees twice this season, Sad Sam Jones of the Senators and Alvin Crowder of the St. Louis Browns.

Oddly enough, Braxton and Jones are Yankee castoffs. The Yankees obtained Braxton from the Springfield, Mass., club in the Eastern League and lost 1 in 1926 traded him to Washington for Dutch Reuther who has since passed on out of the big leagues.

Ruth Liked Braxton The Yankees spent two years trying to develop Braxton, but he never lived up to the things Miller Huggins expected of him. Babe Ruth was one of the few players on the New York club who had any confidence in Braxton when he was with the Yankees.

"Some day that kid is going to be a great pitcher," Ruth used to say after watching Braxton warm up.

The rest of the Yankees had no faith in Braxton and called him a "five inning pitcher." Of a retiring disposition Braxton quietly went about his own way, working on his control, developing his slow ball and learning the hitters of the league.

Even after the Senators acquired Braxton they did not hink much of him and intended to use him chiefly as a relief hurler. Braxton began to find himself last season and won 10 games and lost 9, but it was not until this year that he developed into a star.

Braxton is 25 years old, 6 feet 1 inch in height and weighs 170 pounds. He is built along the lines of Herb Pennock, perhaps the outstanding southpaw in the major leagues, and in action looks like a second edition of Pennock.

Never Hurried Never in a hurry, Braxton takes his own sweet time and pitches individually to every batter.

Braxton hails from Saxaphaw, N. C., and is a direct descendant of Carter Braxton, a Newington, Virginia, planter, and one of the original signers of the declaration of independence.

During his tenure with the Yankees, Braxton never mixed and mingled with the players and earned the reputation of a "loner." Braxton always kept to himself and his rise to stardom is entirely a personal triumph.

Miller Huggins seldom misjudges a young pitcher, but he certainly missed fire on Braxton who has lived to make the Yankees regret the day they called him "nothing but a 5-inning pitcher."

Hooks and Slides

Challenger Must Be Good Gene Tunney, training at Speculator for the defense of his heavyweight championship title against Tom Heeny, expresses the belief that the approaching contest will be the last of the million dollar shows that Tex Rickard has made almost commonplace events.

"I always have maintained," Tunney says, "that the challenger makes the fight. The champion, no matter who he happens to be, cannot draw the attendance unless he has an opponent who at least gives the promise of a contest. Heeny is the only challenger who has an appeal and it will be a long time before another contended is developed."

They Need a Rest Last winter Tunney was quarreling with Rickard about the summer program on which the promoter had made room for only one heavyweight championship fight. He said if Rickard didn't get two contests for him he would work in a second contest with some other promoter.

But now he thinks that the heavyweight championship fights have lost their vogue and that one in every four or five years would be enough.

"I did think last winter that two fights could be arranged," he said, "but look what happened to the eligible contenders during the indoor season. I believe that the public has had enough of million dollar boxing. Perhaps the recent prosperity of the sport was due in part to the fact that some of the former champions gave the public a rest for two or three years."

Whaddye Say, Tex—Tunney blames Rickard for the million dollar talk that has reacted against the business.

"Rickard is a nice fellow and a capable man," the champion says, "but I think sometimes he has gone 'million dollar' daffy. He talks only in terms of millions and he rates his friends by the millions that they have. I think he could do something for the business if he would reduce prices and purses. The boxers would kick, of course, but they can't ask for more than their share of the receipts."

Kidding The Editors Tunney is on ardent defender of the business in which he is engaged, but he becomes aroused when the world's series, a classic football game or any other athletic show is helped up as being of greater interest to the public than a heavyweight championship fight.

"The heavyweight championship fight is the only event that will keep men waiting on the street until two or three o'clock in the morning for an extra," he said. "I know from publishers and circulation managers also that a heavyweight championship fight is the best seller."

"Just recently I read an expert story by two press association writers in which the opinion was expressed that the Olympic games would be by far the outstanding event of the season. That is bosh. Anyone could read between the lines that they were selling themselves to their editors for a trip to the Olympic games. I don't know of anyone who cares a darn about the Olympic games and I have good reasons to know that such personal propaganda had no influence on their editors. The editors know that the Olympic games will not sell two dozen papers."

Lubbock Planning Great Exposition

LUBBOCK, Texas, July 19.—Officials of the Panhandle South Plains Fair are busy getting ready for the annual exposition which will be held in Lubbock, Oct. 1-6. The exposition which has become known as the "Show Window of the Plains" will be the biggest this year of any exposition ever held on the Plains.

The fair was increased to a five-day exposition last year and this year has been let out to a six-day show. Agricultural and livestock exhibits last year rivaled the best regional fairs in the southwest and assurance has been given that practically all the exhibitors will be back this fall with many others. Fire works, free attractions, and other entertaining features will compare with the best offered by a Texas fair.

The association is making improvements that will benefit the annual exposition. Additions to the attractions and increase in exhibits will draw a better crowd.

Last year's attendance ran over 100,000 and this year with an extra day and better features, the crowds are expected to be substantially increased.

Water was up to the ears of the man who crossed Niagara Falls in a rubber ball the other day when he was rescued. And, above the ears, what?

Gas is quick, clean, cool, cheap--it makes home canning a joy instead of a burden.

You can depend on gas the year 'round--for canning and cooking in summer, for heating and cooking in winter, for hot water all of the time. Gas is the ideal fuel--the friend of the busy housewife--but never a more welcome friend than at canning time!

RADIO NEWEST ENEMY FACING RUM RUNNERS

Coast Guards Equip Fleets With Sets; Retaliation Promised.

BUFFALO, July 17.—Radio now is being used by the Buffalo coast guard fleet in the latest of offensive against rum-runners on border waters.

Powerful radio transmitting and receiving sets have been installed on 15 of the 75-foot coast guard boats that call Buffalo the home port, and have been sent out through Lake Erie and Ontario to track down the contraband smugglers. The ships will be in constant communication with strategic coast guard points along the American border.

The ships equipped with radio will patrol the lanes most frequented by the smugglers who dare the elements and the coast guard bullets to keep Americans supplied with wet goods. The patrol boats will radio to home stations on sighting rum runners and smaller and speedier cutters at these stations will then be dispatched in an effort to corner the wet goods.

But, according to rumors here, the bootleggers refused to be stopped. The rumors have it that they intend to match the radio with radio.

May Refuse Permits.

An inaccessible point on the Canadian shore has been tentatively selected as a site for an interference station, it is rumored. However, the technical details still remain to be ironed out. Then, too, there is the question of the Dominion radio permit, and it is more than likely that the government officials will frown upon any such project of the interference type of station.

Provided a permit is obtained to operate an interference station, the station may be able to drown out all messages sent by the rum chasers to shore points. The coast guard sets will carry only 100 miles even when reception is at its best.

However, the building of such a station by a syndicate of rum runners is extremely unlikely and it begins to look as if they will have to chance their shipments across to the American side the same as heretofore.

Increase Difficulties.

If they do, their chances of landing contraband are a great deal less than formerly, with the new system put into effect by the coast guard. Instead of escaping one patrol boat, the rum runners will be forced to run a blockade of a number of boats, due to the fact that a radio message can be flashed to other boats to come to the scene and help in the locating of a rum runner.

American who thirst for cool Canadian ale, labeled nine per cent, will find that the new system will affect them in the nature of increased retail prices.

Liquor runners, of course, will be at a disadvantage in that they will not be able to listen in on the broadcasting of rum running news which is done over low wave length sets. The coast guard employs a code that is not known to the rum running gentry.

Standard Airways System of Signals Now Being Sought

WICHITA, Kans.—Progress toward development of a system of signals has resulted from the Wichita conference for airways marking. Cash prizes offered by the Wichita Chamber of Commerce resulted in submission of more than 1000 marking ideas. The conference developed the sentiment that the arrow should be the basis of the marking system and all submissions not containing the arrow idea were eliminated by judges.

Winners were: Aerial Guide, Inc., New York, first; J. M. Knight, Severy, Kan., second; A. C. Blonger, Bureau of Highways, Idaho, and H. Don Snodgrass, Jenkins, Okla., tied for third, and fourth. Judges were prominent airmen and representatives of the Federal Government.

These awards were merely by way of determining prize winners. It was agreed by the conference that ultimate decision as to symbols should rest with the United States Department of Commerce in co-operation with the National Airways Marking Association, a permanent organization formed by the Wichita conference.

Mr. MacCracken said the following basic ideas will be considered: All circle marks other than airport circles must be accompanied by an arrow.

Route indication must be by number.

Names of towns must be accompanied by an initial signifying state.

The points of the compass where used must be indicated by letters.

Mileage where indicated and if indicated, must be set out in Roman numerals nearest a multiple of five.

Chrome yellow must be the color of marker to insure visibility.

A plan will be considered for giving information regarding airports but such a plan was not definitely decided by the Wichita conference. The conference, which clarified the marking situation to a large degree, drew interested visitors from all parts of the nation.

COUNTY JUDGE URGES SUPPORT OF MOODY FOR RE-ELECTION

County Court of Eastland county to put all state highways in Eastland county in first class condition, which engineers now estimate will cost approximately $1,000,000.00. This includes the widening of the right-of-ways on the Bankhead Highway to 100 feet, and all other state highways to 80 feet, and the resurfacing of all the asphalt roads. This aid has been granted, the estimates completed and work already started, without any expense to Eastland county save and except the securing of the necessary additional rights of way, most of which have been donated by the land-owners, thereby in a measure making Eastland county whole on the tremendous losses sustained by it under road contracts let under the preceding administration, with which the voters of Eastland County are all thoroughly familiar.

"It is further my opinion that Governor Moody will be nominated by a very large majority throughout the State. It therefore seems to me to be especially important that Eastland County, in view of the above facts, be among those contributing to this majority, if for no other reason than a sense of gratitude for the fair treatment Eastland county has had at the hands of the present administration.

"I can very well see that the Eastland county commissioners' court would be considerably embarrassed in carrying out the proposed road improvement program and securing the state aid from the State Highway Commission if, as a result of the coming primary, the vote of Eastland county should be adverse to the present administration.

"It is for this reason that I urge my friends and the friends of the present County Commissioners to lend their active support to Governor Moody, and to do nothing that would throw any stumbling blocks in the path of our loyal and efficient County Commissioners in their unselfish efforts, which so far have been successful, in thus redeeming the greater portion of the losses our county has sustained.

"This is the latest design in linoleums," said the youthful salesman. "On this particular one the edge runs on the outside of the border, and the center is exactly in the middle."

"I like that," exclaimed the particular customer. "In fact, I think I'll take it."

Cascade mountains to begin the big tunnel job. In order to attack the route of the main tunnel at many different places, a second tunnel was started from the west portal paralleling the route of the main tunnel at a distance of 600 feet. As the smaller tunnel advanced, cross-drifts were run to the route of the main tunnel where additional crews would begin work in both directions.

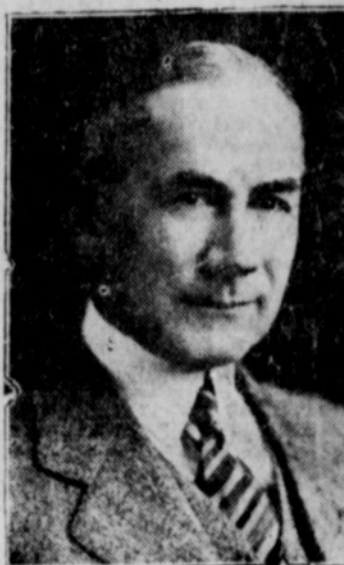

At the same time advantage was taken of a deep valley two miles from the east portal where a shaft was sunk 622 feet and crews began working westward from the base of this shaft. Another temporary tunnel was driven westward from this point to connect with the one from the west portal. The temporary tunnels were "holed through" May 1.

These ingenious devices have enabled the construction forces to keep more than 1500 men continuously employed in the interior of the mountain. The two-thirds of a mile remaining to be bored through is being attacked in eight different places. Concreting operations have followed closely on the heels of the crews that are gnawing out the gigantic bore.

The new tunnel passes under the zone of heaviest snowfall on the Great Northern railway, and will eliminate the costly structures that protect the present route from avalanches for more than six miles. The tunnel also will reduce the railway's climb over the Cascades by 500 feet, shorten the line nearly 8 miles and eliminate curves that are equivalent to six complete circles.

Trains operating over the division which includes the new tunnel are to be drawn by electric engines.

TURKS TO HAVE FAMILY NAMES

The latest development in Turkey is a determination to adopt family names, and a commission has been assigned to the task of studying the question as to how the Westerners got their names and to make suggestions as to how the Easterners may have some. Oaths have been abjured in Turkey, i. e., religious oaths. In their place on makes an avowment in his word of honor as a gentleman, and that is not a bad idea for Westerners to adopt. Perjury is bad enough and common enough; but perjury in the name of the Lord ought to be impossible. Turkish finances are greatly improved. The country steadfastly refuse to borrow money but pays its taxes.
