One Negro Is Lynched. Others Burned in Cabin.

EMELLE, Ala., July 5.—Race rioting, resulting from a dispute over a debt, claimed the lives of two white men and four negroes here today.

Two other white men and one negro were known to have been wounded during the affray which began late Friday and was climaxed today by a lynching.

Charles Mars and Grover Boyd, white.

Newt Robinson and three members of his family, negroes.

The trouble started when Clarence Boyd, Emmelle merchant, was attacked by four members of the Robinson family after he had demanded payment for an automobile battery sold several months ago.

Newt Robinson, who owed the bill, had promised to go home and return with the money. Instead, he returned with his father and two brothers, all heavily armed.

Grover Boyd, uncle of Clarence, witnessed the attack upon Clarence. He opened fire on the negroes from his automobile, wounding one of them, believed to be the father.

He was slain, however, when the negroes returned his fire. The negroes then escaped in their automobile. A posse formed to seek the blacks and intense excitement prevailed. Sheriff Will T. Scales brought bloodhounds from Meridian.

The posse followed a trail of blood to the cabin of John Robinson, uncle of the negro who started the riot. It was halted by a fusillade of buckshot from guns of negroes barricaded in the cabin.

Mars, overseer of the plantation on which the negroes worked, fell mortally wounded by the volleys. Jim Ayres, farmer, also was wounded by shots from the cabin.

Robinson, negro owner of the cabin, was shot through the head by posemen as he came to help with a rifle in his hands. The posemen then charged the cabin and set fire to it.

The two other negroes in the cabin made no effort to escape, apparently preferring death in the flames to the hands of the posse.

Explosions in the cabin bore out statements of members of the posse the cabin was used as an arsenal. Hundreds of shells exploded and after the fire several rifles and three shotguns were found to be unusable.

Early today the body of Newt Robinson, negro who started the quarrel, was found hanging to a tree near his cabin. His body was riddled with bullets.

The posse which surrounded John Robinson's home was estimated at 200 men, heavily armed. Newt Robinson apparently was strung up to a tree and fired upon early today, but no one professed to have witnessed his lynching.

Gov. Bibb Graves announced at Montgomery he believed the trouble had quieted and that local authorities had the situation well in hand. He said, however, he would send state officers here to investigate.

Gov. Graves declined to send state troops to the scene after talking with officers of Livingston county.

Prairie Cuts Oil Purchases In Big Fields

TULSA, Okla., July 5.—The new policy of the prairie oil and gas companies of raising the price demanded the attention of producers and markets today who believe it to be an index of the refiners attitude in curtailing crude runs.

The company said that it would have to take less oil because of the increased cost of refining crude oil after cutting their crude oil runs to stills.

The policy affects every producer in Oklahoma, Kansas and North, Central and East Texas where the prairie operates as a major purchaser in Oklahoma City for instance. Prarie will buy 15,000 barrels a day where it formerly purchased 20,000 barrels. Vosech pool in Kansas will be cut in half to 3,000 barrels daily. Greater Seminole outlet will be cut about 20 per cent. Nacocha Texas field will be cut to 1,000 barrels daily.

The policy was quickly followed by Skelly and Derby oil companies.

Continuing his attack on the state relocation plan and the highway bond issue proposals, Lieutenant Gov. Barry Miller brought his campaign for governor to Eastland county today when he addressed a large audience at the Eastland county courthouse Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

Mr. Miller spoke at Gorman Friday night and after his address here Saturday left for Mangus to speak there Saturday night.

Wades Into Speech Through with his preliminary remarks, Miller waded into his set speech, discussing taxation, prison system, bond issues, education and gave a brief sketch of his life, tracing his 16 years of political life in connection with the State Government.

Miller told his audience positively that the state revenues could not be reduced, explaining that the schools, eleemosynary institutions and other departments must be operated as usual. Instead of reducing the state revenues, Miller suggested that taxation should be redistributed so as to fall more heavily on those more able to pay.

Speaking of the proposed highway bond issue, Miller declared: "I am eternally opposed to putting a $350,000,000 mortgage on Texas when we can build all the roads we need and pay cash for them.

Miller declared that when the highway bond proposal cropped out at Austin he asked C. O. Johnson, member of the Highway Commission, how much money the

Mr. S. (Ross) Sterling of Houston, candidate for governor, will speak in the interest of his candidacy here on the Eastland county courthouse lawn Monday night at 8:00 o'clock.

Earle Johnson, who has charge of Mr. Sterling's campaign in Eastland county, stated Saturday afternoon that Judge V. T. Seabery of Eastland would probably introduce Mr. Sterling.

Special interest is felt here in Mr. Sterling's forth coming address because of his advocacy of the proposed $350,000,000 statewide highway bond issue.

Eastland county citizens, who some years ago voted a $4,500,000 road bond issue, want to hear the candidate explain the proposed bond issue.

Keeping Tab On The State Candidates

BERTRAM, Tex., July 5.—Senator Clint C. Small pleaded for a declaration of independence from selfish rule by professional politicians in speaking for his gubernatorial candidacy here Friday. He was honor guest at a holiday celebration.

MEXIA, Tex., July 5.—More generous provision for Confederate veterans and their widows if he is elected governor was promised by Thomas B. Love in a campaign address here Friday. He spoke earlier in the day at Mother Neff Park near McGregor and at Corsicana.

STEPHENVILLE, Tex., July 5.—Lient. Gov. Barry Miller cited his record as a public official as the strongest point in favor of his campaign for governor in an address here yesterday. Strict and fearless enforcement of laws was promised in the event of his election.

KAUFMAN, Tex., July 5.—Homecoming day for James Young in his campaign tour was a double holiday for Kaufman, which turned out en masse to hear the native son speak as the feature of extensive celebration. Young claimed the support of all democratic candidates in the face of factional candidates.

EAST BERNARD, Tex., July 5.—H. O. Johnson, candidate for railroad controller here today, declared he was best qualified of the four candidates in the race by virtue of his railroad experience in an address here yesterday. He promised if elected to give a business administration and take politics out of the railroad commission.

DENTON, Tex., July 5.—Taxation was cited as the real problem of today by Earl B. Mayfield in a holiday political address here. He branded the state ad valorem tax as the most unjust and inequitable tax levied today because it falls on people the least able to pay.

LLANO, Tex., July 5.—Political addresses featured the Fourth of July celebration staged here under the direction of the local American legion Post. V. Earl Earl of Sweetwater, congressional candidate; Bob Long of Wichita Falls for J. V. Allred's attorney general candidacy; Rep. A. C. Petch of Fredericksburg for attorney general R. L. Bobbitt and other speakers promoted their own or their friends' interests.

JURY DISMISSED IN BANK ROBBERY CASE

By United Press GULFVIEW, Tex., July 5.—W. S. (Shilo) Scribner will have a third chance to prove he is innocent of robbing the First National Bank of Texas City of $5,000 in 1927. The jury in his second trial was discharged today after failure to agree on a verdict in 33 hours of deliberation.

The jury stood 8 to 4 for acquittal. He was given 99 years in his first trial, but this was reversed.

Woman Injured FAIRFIELD, Tex., July 5.—Miss Beatrice Lott, county health nurse of Freestone county, was critically injured in an accident near Lott, Texas while en route to Crosbyton, according to information received here today. Details were lacking.

EASTLAND GOES FORWARD

That Eastland is slowly but surely forging its way forward as the leader of Eastland county towns may not be apparent to the casual observer, but if one will take the time and trouble to ascertain facts and figures, it is easily proven. Figures furnished through the courtesy of the Business Bureau at Austin reveal some interesting facts concerning the building that has been done in Eastland and its neighboring towns during the past three and one-half years.

Not only is Eastland leading in this respect, but it is gradually outstripping other towns of this section in many other respects. Its bonded indebtedness is low in comparison with that of some of its neighbors; the list of new business enterprises that has located in the city within recent months is far greater than the number that has located in other towns of the County in the same period. All of which goes to prove that Eastland is coming to be recognized as "the town" of this section.

It will be noted that Cisco has been left out of the reckoning. This was not done because Eastland does not compare favorably with the city of Cisco, but because no report of the building activities of the city have ever been made to the bureau. It is estimated that Cisco is in approximately the same class with Banger, or possibly a little below.

The figures show that Eastland had a little more than twice the amount of building during 1928, 1929 and the first five months of 1930—or one year longer than the figures of Eastland's building. The total for Banger for the three and one-half years is $425,000 while Eastland's, over (Continued on Page 2)

Car, Stolen In Eastland, Found

The Eastland county sheriff's department was notified Saturday by Sheriff Hays of Longview that he had in his possession the Ford coupe stolen from Mrs. Wayne Jones here.

Sheriff Hays also advised the officers here that he was holding a man believed to have stolen the car and driven it to Longview. The man, the sheriff said, gave the name of Cromer Bruce and his home as Breckenridge.

According to the Longview officer a car number, other than the one on the Eastland car, was found in the car when it was taken by the officers. This, the officers said, indicated that it was the purpose of these stealing the car, to switch numbers to cover up the identity of the car.

Mrs. Jones' car, it was stated, was stolen from where it was parked on the streets here.

Crash Is Fatal To Young Pilot

RANGER, July 5.—While his mother, Mrs. Gladys Stafford was hastening here by airplane from Oklahoma City, Erwin Green, 19, of San Antonio, died Friday afternoon of injuries received Friday morning when a Curtiss-Robin which he was piloting with two companions, crashed near the Ranger airport from an altitude of 100 feet. Joe Shankle, 20, and Sherman Mathews, 16, of Ranger, also hurt in the fall, will recover.

Sam Connor Is Eliminated In Early Rounds, Barnett and Meredith Teamed for Semi-finals.

There were several upsets in the first day's play in the tenth annual Fourth of July Golf Tournament of the Eastland Golf and Country Club among them the defeat of Sam Connor by James Phillips and the defeat of Frank Weaver by Ted Ferguson.

The club dinner which followed the qualifying round was a decided success and under the able management of W. L. Gupton over $700 was raised during the evening's entertainment.

The results of the first day's play was as follows: First flight, morning round: S. J. Barnett, won from Floyd Malone, 2-up; James Smith lost to Chas. Reuser, 5-3; J. S. Brimberry won from R. C. Head, 1-up; J. P. Goyett lost to George Meredith, 6-5; P. H. Weaver lost to Ted Ferguson 5-4; H. H. Vaughn won from O. M. Padgett, 6-4; Sam Connor won from George Cartwright, 6-5; James Phillips won from O. A. Anderson 2-1.

First flight, afternoon round: J. S. Barnett won from Charles Reuser, 8-7; George Meredith won from J. S. Brimberry, 5-3; Ted Ferguson won from H. H. Vaughn 1-up; James Phillips won from Sam Connor 1-up.

Local Building Institution Is Showing Growth

The directors of the Eastland Building and Loan Association held their regular monthly and semi-annual meeting in the directors room of the Texas State Bank on Wednesday, July 2nd, at which time the secretary made a report on every phase of the Association's business during the six month's period closing on June 30th.

It was revealed from his report and from the financial statement of the half-year's business that the association was in splendid condition. Instead of a sharp decline in the volume of loans as well as a falling off in investment funds, as was predicted by the directors on January 1st, the association has increased its loans almost $12,000.00 and every class of investment has increased during the period far beyond the expectations of those who have the affairs of the association in charge.

Another feature of the secretary's report, which was very gratifying to the Board, was the showing of a number of new accounts. Accounts from almost every state in the union are now carried on the books of the association. New accounts are being added every week, and a good number of these are out-of-the-state items, thus bringing new money into Eastland which would not get here any other way.

The directors declared the usual dividend of 10 per cent (credited) on all installment and advance payment certificates and 8 per cent (cash) on the prepaid certificates. Checks are in the mails for the holders of the prepaid certificates and all other classes of certificates are receiving a 10 per cent dividend credit for the half year. This was the 9th consecutive semi-annual dividend declared by the Association.

"We are well pleased with our progress", T. L. Overbey, president of the association, stated Saturday morning. "We want to operate the Association for the benefit of our town, and we believe our investors are well satisfied with our management, so far, as we have always paid the usual dividends out of our earnings, and we are increasing our resources each six months".

The financial statement is being published.

More Than 200 Lose Lives On Independence Day

The death toll from Fourth of July accidents reached 200 today as a United Press checkup brought reports of additional casualties from over the nation.

Traffic was the greatest disaster to the thousands who celebrated anniversary of the nation's birth. Almost 100 persons were killed in various sections of the nation. But the annual toll of life from fireworks greatly was diminished this year although more than a thousand persons—and the figure may approach 2,000—were treated for burns.

Airplanes accounted for 7 deaths and there were many drownings reported as holidayists ventured to the lakes and streams for the outing.

Although deaths from fireworks were diminished, the number of fires reported was the most in many cities. Denver reported 43 fire alarms, the greatest number in the city's history.

Mrs. J. O. Wheat has returned from several weeks visit with relatives at Kansas City and her father, Charles M. Missouri. She was accompanied on the return trip by her daughter, Mrs. Floyd Covington and children of Plainville. They stopped over at Wichita Falls for a few days visit, and will join relatives for the rest of the summer in the mountains of Colorado.

Officer Is Shot By Desperadoes

WICHITA, Kansas, July 5.—Dow Parker, 21 year old motorcycle officer of Hutchinson, was near death in a hospital today, after being shot twice in a running gun fight with three young men or two men and a woman dressed as a man, early this morning.

Intensive search for the trio is under way, with rewards offered for their capture.

Parker was "cruians" in his automobile about 1:30 o'clock this morning when he noticed a car driving erratically ahead of him. He drove alongside and halted it.

"What's going on here? What're you doing with the gun?" he demanded of one of the occupants, who held a gun in his hand.

"Hell's a poppin' and it's none of your damned business," the youth replied. As he spoke he fired and the bullet smashed Parker's left wrist.

The patrolman drew his own pistol and emptied it into the other car. He believes he hit one of the trio, as he heard a scream as the car sped away. Parker jumped into his own car and pursued the fleeing desperadoes ten or twelve blocks before another bullet smashed into his right shoulder near the lung and he slumped in his seat unable to drive any more.

News From The State Capital

AUSTIN, Tex., July 5.—Rural carriers are not required to carry the state highway commission license fee collected by the highway department on commercial vehicles, under a ruling issued today by the attorney general's department. If the rural carrier carries mail in a messenger vehicle which is used for other purposes also, the vehicle must be registered as a messenger vehicle.

The campaign expense report of R. L. Henry, candidate for U. S. senator, was received in the secretary of state's office today, and dated July 4, three days before the statutory time for such reports. Henry reports expenditures of $304.50. He reports contributions of $320 to his campaign.

Continuing his attack on the state relocation plan and the highway bond issue proposals, Lieutenant Gov. Barry Miller brought his campaign for governor to Eastland county today when he addressed a large audience at the Eastland county courthouse Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

Mr. Miller spoke at Gorman Friday night and after his address here Saturday left for Mangus to speak there Saturday night.

a period of two and one half years, has had $1,122,000 in building.

Eastland did a little more than five times as much building during 1928 as did Ranger; more than four times as much in 1929 and more than three and one third times as much building in the first five months of 1930 than was done in the City of Ranger.

By using the same figures it is seen that Eastland did almost as much building during 1928 as Ranger did in all of 1927, 1928, 1929 and five months of 1930. During 1929 Eastland lacked but about $100,000 of doing as much building as Ranger did in the three and one half year period.

During 1928, 1929 and the first five months of 1930 the total building done in Eastland amounted to a fraction under five times the amount done in Ranger.

Any of the above figures do not include paving done in the two cities but it is estimated that if this were taken into consideration the figure would be increased in Eastland's favor.

The figures on building permits let in the two cities as supplied by the Austin bureau are as follows:

commission could efficiently and economically spend in one year for new highways. He said he received the answer of $18,000,000. He said Johnson added that $12,000,000 would easily cover the cost of maintenance of old roads, making a total of $30,000,000.

Will Receive $50,000.00
Miller asserted that during the first year of the 4-cent gasoline tax the Highway Commission will receive, from all sources, including the appropriations from the Federal Government, $50,000,000, or $20,000,000 more than could be economically spent.

Opposition to counties having authority to do with the building or financing of state highways was voiced by the speaker. He pointed out that Texas counties are bonded in the aggregate of $78,000,000 for highways and that the State could reimburse them at the rate of $10,000,000 per year out of the gasoline tax in less than 10 years.

Common sense can solve the penitentiary system," Miller declared, voicing stubborn opposition to the sale of the prison farms, which, he said, are the richest lands on earth. He said it is a good story about the lands not being rich, and that a Federal Government expert made a survey and reported finding rich agricultural lands on the holdings.

The speaker declared that with the thousands of convicts and thousands of rich acres of land the prison system should pay its own way and the state eleemosynary institutions, also.

Favors Parole Law
Favoring the parole law, Miller declared the law had been enacted, but never placed in effect, while 1,300 men are eligible for parole under the law.

Referring to the reports that rich oil deposits may be on the penitentiary lands, Miller declared when he is elected he will find out positively from oil geologists. If oil is found, he explained, he will see that enough money is obtained from the lands to build all the penitentiaries needed for the next 100 years.

County officers were summoned to the scene immediately after the alteration in Emelle and immediately swore in dozen of deputies to aid in the search for the slayers.

Automobiles were stationed on highways about the district to search negroes for arms. All negroes found armed were being arrested to face trial later for carrying concealed weapons.

Few Remains Of Camp San Saba, Pioneer Texas Settlement, Are To Be Seen Now By Visitors

Nestling on the banks of the San Saba river, about 12 miles south of Brady and one-half mile west from State Highway No. 9 lies the village of Camp San Saba. Although the resorting of the high-water some two years ago caused the removal of the post office and mercantile establishments, it seemed to cause the inhabitants of the village to awaken into new life; several narrow residences have been built and several of the old remodeled.

Very little now remains to show that this is the pioneer settlement in McCulloch county. One old two-story building, in the second floor of which the Masonic Lodge meets and the lower floor of which is used for storage, and the ruins of another building is practically all that is left of old Camp San Saba.

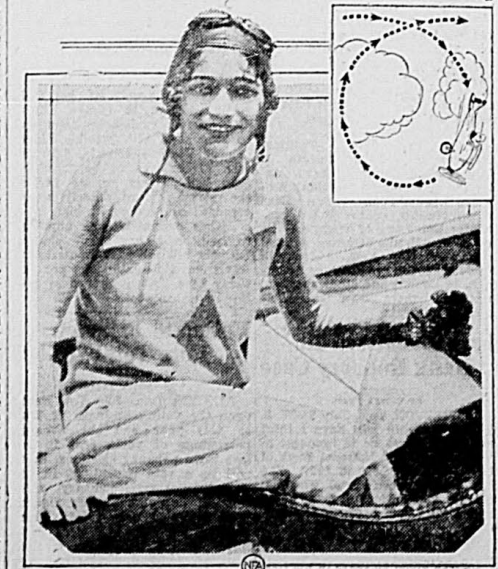

This region is one of the most picturesque in the country and abundant in springs and artesian water can be obtained without much effort.

As near as can be ascertained settlement first began about 1850. The oldest inhabitant of McCulloch county from the standpoint of actual residence is A. F. Turner, who lives some two or three miles south of Camp San Saba. He was born in San Antonio July 27, 1852 and came overland in an ox wagon from that place to what is now Camp San Saba with his father and mother and other members of the family, arriving Feb. 12, 1861. His father immediately commenced the erection of a stone dwelling on the bank of Katelyeey Creek about one mile south of the present Camp San Saba.

This house is still standing and is in an excellent state of preservation; it was constructed of stones gathered nearby, of cypress

No wonder Dorothy Hester of Portland, Ore., is smiling. She has just become the world's most daring woman stunt flyer by completing three outside loops in an airplane, one of the most dangerous of all aviation stunts and which few men have ever accomplished. Moody Pardons Sixty-Five Today

AUSTIN, Tex., July 5.—Sixty-five clemency proclamations by Governor Dan Moody were filed today in the secretary of state's office. It is the second big group of clemencies, is said to result from the parole board reports now being received.

The clemencies were four general paroles; seven furloughs; the extension of 46 existing furloughs and issuance of eight restorations of citizenship.

Prize Bull Makes Endurance Swim

BROOKLYN, N. Y., July 5.—A prize Guernsey bull made an endurance swim down the harbor today, completing about 17 miles in a little more than 5 hours.

The bull—a $10,000 animal owned by Lewis Satterwhate of Newton, Pa.—became discouraged by close confinement aboard the municipal ferry boat Nassau. He chased a truck driver and a mate about the boat for while and then dove off into a strong current.

Everyone gave the animal up as a lost cause.

Then some hours later Ernest Hinman, a fisherman saw something swimming about in the harbor that looked like no fish he ever had seen. He investigated. There was the bull pulling for current towards England, the place for which it was bound when he jumped through the box aboard the Nassau.

Hinman lassoed the animal—a good western lasso except that it was made almost at open sea—and towed it to shore.

Hoover Approves River-Harbor Bill Just Passed

WASHINGTON, July 5.—President Hoover's action in signing the largest omnibus rivers and harbors bill in American history virtually assures the beginning of work on improvement projects costing more than $120,000,000 in the near future.

Long an advocate of improving American waterways, the President signed the bill Friday morning with particular satisfaction.

Following are some of the more important provisions of the bill: It authorizes the government to make over and operate the Erie and Oswego canals in New York state, but as barge canals only. The measure declares it is the government's policy to utilize the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence route to the Atlantic for ships.

It authorizes the appropriation of $15,000,000 for dredging a six-foot channel in the Missouri from Kansas City to Sioux City and of $7,500,000 for a nine-foot channel from the mouth of the Illinois to Minneapolis and St. Paul.

It restricts diversion of Great Lakes water to 1,500 cubic feet per second after 1938 in accordance with a recent Supreme court decision.

DALLAS, Texas, July 5.—First steps toward securing a navigable water route from Port Worth to the Gulf over the Trinity river, were made when President Hoover signed the $120,000,000 rivers and harbors bill Friday.

An allotment of only $20,000 for the vast project, of great importance to east Texas, was made, but it signaled an undertaking that will open more than 500 miles of stream for transportation purposes throughout the year and will link up with the great inland waterway system, proposed by Mr. Hoover.

The $20,000 will be used to pay for a survey of the Trinity river by engineers of the United States Army.

The project calls for a channel nine feet deep at all times. It will tie up at Galveston with the intra-coastal canal and thus with the Mississippi river and the inland system.

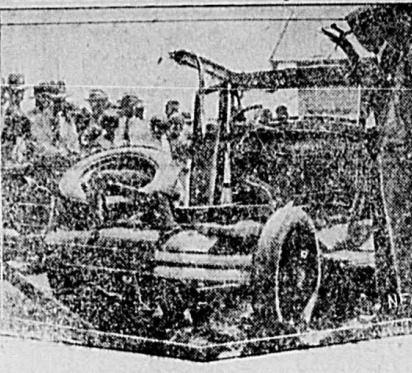

Texas sponsors of the project are making prolific plans for carrying on their work, as soon as the survey and the engineers' recommendations are completed. Texans, banded together in the Trinity river navigation association will begin the task of enlisting congressional support to their undertaking.

John W. Carpenter, Dallas, is president of the organization and Roy Miller, Corpus Christi, is executive vice-president. Water commissioner John Fouts will except the position of general manager, soon, it was learned.

The next step in the program will be a state-wide celebration in Dallas July 14 when work on digging Dallas' turning basin will be started.

Definite prospect of a new channel for inflow and outflow of farm products and manufactured goods have aroused considerable interest in the project

Auto Bomb Kills Lawyer's Wife

The wreckage of the auto in which Mrs. A. D. Payne, wife of a widely known Amarillo, Tex., criminal lawyer, was killed and their son, A. D. Jr., injured when a bomb placed beneath the seat exploded, is pictured here. Payne had handled several sensational criminal cases recently.

throughout the state. The water conservation program of Dallas and Fort Worth in building impounding reservoirs which will insure keeping plenty of water in the river even in the driest seasons in another advantage of the proposed plan.

MASON'S OBSERVATIONS

Each man will talk about the things which occupy his heart and mind; he will harp upon the same old strings until he drives you dull and blind. And this is why so many men indulge at times in hermitic dreams; they would find a cavern in a glen, remote from talk on tiresome themes. My neighbor Mudrow raises greens, he hoes and spades the fertile soil, and as he toils he wots and wends his triumph should be known abroad. And so he hands the endless tush about his beans, beyond compare, and of his famous Hubard squash that cleans up at the county fair. No turnips that were ever grown, no spuds, beets or Brussels sprouts get me excited, and I mean to hear tales of all such crops. But Mudrow would wound or hurt, he has no purpose to offend, so while he talks of weed and wort, a patient ear I have to lend. A patient ear I may lend to all the neighbors on the street, who talk about their divers fads, and talk and talk and then his eyes, which climbed Pike's Peak, he says, in high; and he is such a genial cuss I do not dare denounce the lie. Tag Johnson talks about his pup, which is of English bloodhound strain, and has been trained to follow up the criminal who flees in van. And all these things give me an ache since I must hear them every day; oh, for a cavern by a lake, from all shop talkers leagues every day; oh, for a cavern by a noble rare of things to which my soul inclines, my hearkers wish they had a cavern concealed by trees and clinging vines—Walt Mason.

Of Chicago Pilots Hope To Get $200,000 From Flight

STANLEY WHITAKER, Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, July 5.—Statistics of the world's record breaking flight of the Hunter brothers' airplane City of Chicago are as follows:

Name of plane, The City of Chicago.

Time of start, 4:40 p. m., CDT June 11, 1930.

Time of landing, 6:21:30 p. m., July 4.

Time in air, 553 hours, 41 minutes, 30 seconds.

Time of refueling plane, The Big Ben.

Refueling plane pilots, Walter and Albert Hunter, brothers of the endurance fliers.

Place of takeoff and landing, Sky Harbor Airport, north of Chicago.

Type of plane, Stinson-Detroiter, cabin monoplane, 1928 model, bought second hand by Hunters and flown 50,000 miles in transport flight service before endurance record.

Motor, Wright J-5, 300 horsepower, 700 hours in air before installed in endurance plane.

Number of refueling contacts, 223.

Gallons of gasoline consumed, 7,520.

Gallons of oil consumed 499.

Approximate number of miles traveled, 49,800.

Average cruising speed during flight, 70 miles per hour.

Approximate rewards already accrued, $25,000, to be split among the brothers and two backers of flight.

Possible rewards expected all sources, approximately $200,000, including concessions at field, testimonials, prizes, etc.

Cause of landing, clogged oil line, making landing necessary to prevent emergency.

"It's landing—look out," was the shout that rang across the field. With John at the controls, the plane dropped to the runway and settled easily, stopping at the west end of the field. The crowd crushed it, way through the police lines and bore down upon the oil smeared plane.

John, was the first to emerge from the ship. He was smeared with oil from head to foot, was hollow eyed and a bit unsteady.

Inside the hangar, the boys were given an opportunity to wash away some of the three weeks' accumulation of grease and dirt, then they gave short radio talks and when it became possible to get them through the crowd they were taken to a downtown hotel to get some much needed rest.

Never Again Say Pilot

"That's one thing I'll never try again," said Kenneth, wearily, as he looked into the grimy cabin.

The boys said the ship, they believed, still was good for many more hours, but the minor troubles had become so numerous that they could not stand the grind any longer.

Philadelphia Hitters Lead Both Leagues

By UNITED PRESS

NEW YORK, July 5.—Philadelphia today held a monopoly on major league hitting honors, with Mickey Cochrane of the first place Athletics topping the American League sluggers and Lefty O'Doul of the last place Phillies setting the race in the National League.

United Press averages, including games of Thursday, July 3, showed O'Doul, 1919 batting champion, at the top for the first time this season O'Doul has boosted his average to .401 and now holds a .002 point advantage over his team mate Chuck Klein, who has set the pace during the greater part of the season. Bill Terry, Giants with .389; Paul Waner, Pirates, with .389 and Herman, Robb, with .380, hold the remaining places among the "big five."

Cochrane displaced his teammate Al Simmons as the American League leader with an average of .399, with Simmons, .397; Gehrig, Yankees, .389, Rice, Senators, .384, and Dickey, Yankees, .384, as the other members of the leading five.

Babe Ruth continued far in the lead for American League run scoring honors with 92 tallies and topped both circuits in home runs with 31. Hodapp, Cleveland led in base hits with 105; Lou Gehrig, Yankees, led in runs batted in with 86, and Sam Rice, Washington, led the base stealers with 12 thefts.

Kiki Cuyler of the Cubs headed National League scores with 72 runs and also topped in base stealing with 18 steals, and in triples with 12. Bill Terry, Giants has banged out the most safe hits, 107; Hack Wilson, Cubs, led in home runs with 23 and Chuck Klein drove in the most runs, 77.

Herb Penrock of the Yankees showed the way for American League pitchers with 7 victories and 1 defeat, Lefty Grove, Philadelphia, Lyons, White Sox, and Ferrell, Indians, led in games won with 11 each, but had three, seven and eight defeats respectively.

Bob Osborn of the Cubs had the best percentage among National League pitchers with .33 triumphs and one defeat. Walker, Giants, Seibold, Braves and Root, Chicago, led in victories with 10 each, but Walker was charged with 3 defeats while Seibold and Root had 6 each.

H. L. DARWIN OF LAMAR COUNTY FOR Lieutenant Governor of Texas

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY, JULY 26th., 1930

four years as State Senator from Delta, Hopkins, Franklin, Titus and Red River Counties and four years as State Senator from Lamar and Fannin Counties.

1. Agriculture is the basis of all our wealth and civilization and all means should be employed to make it as profitable as other industries.

2. Educational Opportunity should be equal to every child.

3. The present Revenues for maintenance and construction of our State Highways are sufficient. A State Bond issue is not necessary.

4. I favor laws to protect Public Health.

5. We levy all the Texas now necessary for general and special purposes. We Should Cut Expenditures.

6. I favor developing our Natural Resources for the greatest public benefit.

7. Labor is entitled to every consideration and you cannot maintain a high standard civilization on low wages.

8. I favor Prohibition.

9. I favor developing our Texas Ports and also all our means of transportation.

10. I am opposed to the creating of More Offices.

11. Our penitentiary should be made modern and the convicts should be kept continuously and profitably occupied.

H. L. DARWIN.
Paris, Texas.

The fliers themselves were not the only ones of the family who were glad the record smashing flight had ended. Mrs. Ida Hunter, their mother, had been wishing for several days they would come down and so had Irene, their school teacher sister, who supervised the cooking of all their meals up until the last day.

There was one thing, however, that made Kenneth, who is just 21, wish he still was up in the air. That was the crowd, the newspapermen, the cameramen. A modest youth, who for 23 days had been even more removed from the world of people than in the days when he dug coal in the pits of Southern Illinois, Kenneth felt a bit lost among the milling, shouting, crowd that was acclaiming him a hero of heroes.

Why They Came Down

Wiping his face with a piece of waste as he chatted to the United Press correspondent, John explained why they had come down.

"The motor was beginning to freeze," he said. "The oil screen became clogged and we could not clean it. For the last three days it has been pretty tough going."

A year ago the Hunters made a similar, but unsuccessful attempt in the same plane, which then was known as the "We Will." That flight and the debts incurred then was one of the things that went up to bother the boys during the last week. The backers of the first attempt sent a sheriff to the field several days ago with papers intended to tie up their profits to pay the old bills.

The former record, which the Hunters broke, was set at St. Louis last July by Jackson and O'Brien. It was 420 hours, or 123 hours 41 minutes and 39 seconds less than the new mark.

The Baseball Tido

WHEN Shakespeare wrote that line about there being "a tide in the affairs of men which taken at its flood leads on to fortune," he expounded a great lead for a baseball yarn. There is a moment in a baseball game when victory banks upon a single act, and the result may be a winning or losing streak of many games.

The Cleveland Indians furnish a grand example. They fought their way to the top of the league, beating the Simmonless Athletics three straight. Then the New York Yankees came to town. The Yankee reputation for power evidently had made a deep impression upon the young Indian pitchers, for in every fight spot, with the big guns facing them, they issued walks to the batsmen. You cannot go on issuing bases on balls, you know, and win ball games. The result was disaster.

Batters Get Wise

THE Yankee batsmen sensed the concession that was being made to their power. It gave them a psychological edge on the enemy. And in three days they rolled up something like 10 runs against the team that had just beaten the A's three straight.

The effect of the Yankee rout did not end there. The Indians, after dropping their series to the Yankees, went to Washington and dropped another series. They slid from the top right down the ladder, past Washington and the Yanks.

Billy Evans, the former umpire, who is now general-managing the Indians, was out on the coast looking at ivory specimens when the rout took place. Upon his return I ran across him, and asked how a team that looked so good one day could be so subject the next.

"They're young fellows," said Bill, "and the steady influence of our injured veterans like Fonseca and Luke Sewell was missing. That Yankee attack just shot their morale all to pieces.

"Some little thing may happen in one of the games, and it may turn the tide and they may win a whole lot of ball games in a row."

DI DO YOU KNOW THAT—

Glenna Collett is superstitious . . . she carries a dime that John D. Rockefeller gave her, a package of dried leaf clovers and once she had her caddy tote around a horseshoe . . . she can play the piano and ukulele . . . her mother travels with her a great deal . . . she has "gone in for" real estate, interior decorating, assistant to a golf course architect and clubhouse designer . . . she has square and strong hands . . . she wears one ring and little other jewelry . . . she seldom uses rouge . . . and very little powder . . . she likes to ride, play tennis and shoot arrows . . . people who rave and gush she abhors . . . missed shots bring color to her cheeks . . . she was national champion when 19 years old . . . she did not care for dolls, but was a swell marble shooter and could spin a top very nicely.

I've seen it happen time and again.

The Simmons Touch

"IT happened just this year. Remember the recent series between Washington and the Macks? In the very first game Washington had the A's beat right up until the last inning. Two out and Al Simmons steps up and clouts a home run. The Macks take the whole series—after being a doormat for the Senators in previous games.

"Something of the same kind happened in that well known 10-run inning in the last world series, and, oddly enough, it was Simmons who stepped up there and spilled the onions. That walk-up over the left field stands in Philly lifted the Macks right out of it.

"It's hard sometimes to get a team started winning, and once they get going, it's hard to stop 'em."

That's what Shakespeare might have written if he ever had scored a ball game.

SHREVEPORT, La., July 5.—Lost for 15 years, a highly prized gold ring of intrinsic value was back in the possession of Cullen Keith of Bellevue today. It was found in a vermin hole, which had apparently sprouted through the band and developed to raise it to a position where it would be noticed.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—President Hoover spent Independence Day with Mrs. Hoover and a group of friends at the president's Rapidan, Va., mountain retreat.

The presidential party left here early yesterday morning and arrived at camp after an eventful trip.

The party expects to return here tomorrow afternoon.

Before You Build or Re-roof— Ask these Questions

Your Questions

1. What shingles do you recommend for a durable good looking roof?
2. Do they carry the Fire Underwriters' Label?
3. Can you guarantee my plaster and furniture won't be damaged by a sudden shower while these shingles are being put on?

Our Answers

1. Bird's Neponset Twins. They give three layers of protection on your roof.
2. Yes—they are fire resisting and carry lower insurance rates than wooden shingles in practically every state in the Union.
3. Absolutely—because we put Neponset Twins right over the old shingles. There is no dirt or clutter in your yard and the double roof will reduce your fuel bills.

Neponset Twins are ideal for New Work as well as for Re-roofing

DANCING JUDITH
By Coralie Stanton and Heath Hosken
Copyright 1930 by Chelsea House

His heart stood still for a moment. The boy dropped on his knees beside her and took her in his strong arms.

"Judy, little Judy, tell me all about it!"

His voice was as tender as a woman's.

"Nothing to tell," she blubbered. "I hate everybody!"

"Oh, no, Judy, you don't hate me! Sweetest, dearest girl, let me tell you what it is! You're killing yourself with all this work, and with trying to pretend you're gay, and having a good time, and all that. Judy, do stop crying, or you will break my heart! I know what it is—you love me and I love you. I love you, God knows, more than I can ever say. We're trying to live an impossible life, and that's why you say it's a horrible world. It isn't a horrible world; it ought to be a perfectly beautiful world. Oh, Judy, do give up this foolish, idiotic, utterly impossible life!"

The crisis passed. Judy's sobs grew less and less violent. Pushing Alan away from her, she got up and went to the tall, walnut-framed mirror that hung between the two windows. Taking out her powder puff, she began to wipe away the tear marks that had made havoc of her face.

She laughed hysterically.

"I'm all stripes! What a sight! I'm a fool—that's what I am!"

"No, Judy—you are the real Judy when you cry and show that you are unhappy," said Alan passionately. His eyes dwelt hungrily on her doll, girlish little face. "You are only a sham when you pretend you are having a good time."

"I don't pretend!" she exclaimed. "I work hard, let me tell you. That's why I broke down just now. I'm dog tired."

"You're a fool," you at least owe me the truth!"

"It is the truth."

"No, it isn't. The truth is that I love you and you love me."

"Yes, you do. You ought to let me tell Clarissa that I only care for her as a friend, and that you and I love each other and want to get married. You know as well as I do that she'd much rather know—and then it would be a beautiful world!"

nothing. Judy was superb, and he supposed he had played up to her.

As a matter of fact, Clarissa had sensed something unusual.

When Steyne had gone she looked anxiously at her friend.

"Judy, did Alan offend you? I do hope not. You look — I don't know — unhappy. I'm afraid you know that he thinks it unwise for you to go about so much with Mr. Gideon, and perhaps he was talking about that. You see, dear, men do know the world better than—"

"Oh, Chummy, I'm sick to death of hearing that!" Judy interrupted ravenly. "I don't care if they do. I can mind my own business, and I say let them mind theirs. I hate Mr. Gideon and the whole lot of them!"

With that she flung herself out of the room.

Chummy was decidedly wifely and preoccupied that evening. Steyne was in an agony lest she should suspect what had really passed between himself and Judy. He would have told her, if Judy had allowed him. That would have been fair and honorable, and he was sure it would have been for her happiness, as well as theirs; but the thought that she might find out was hateful. It galled him beyond bearing. It would make him seem low and mean, like being discovered in an intrigue, and by this splendid girl with her noble nature and her faithful heart.

But he need not have feared, for Chummy had not made the discovery he dreaded. She merely saw that Judy was unhappy about something or other. She jumped at a conclusion, not altogether erroneous, which she imparted to Alan.

"I believe Judy has quarreled with Mr. Gideon. This evening she said she hated him."

This, at least, was good news.

As the meal proceeded, they both tried to cheer up. Afterward, at the Cafe Turc, Bastien Dumont joined them and made things easier.

There happened to come in that night a man who had been in the South Seas for some years. He had left America just before Steyne, and they had been great friends. He had given up painting, and had become one of the foremost novelists of the day.

As was usual in that unconventional crowd, there was a great deal of moving about from table to table, and Chummy and Bastien found themselves alone at theirs for a few moments. Steyne had been drawn into a heated argument at the big table opposite, where the eager faces of the disputants were all but blotted out by clouds of smoke.

Chummy suddenly asked the young artist a question.

"Bastien, I wonder why I should remember you best of them all during these years! You have always seemed a real person to me."

OTIS SKINNER, actor, gave his first show in the basement of a church in which his father was pastor. The show was called "The Honey-moon" and Skinner says it drew a storm of protests.

Dumont did not think the subject a safe one, so he brushed the question aside but in doing so he made an unfortunate admission.

"My dear girl, you can't account for these things. When you come to think of it, why didn't you know Alan when he first came back?"

The moment he had spoken, Dumont realized his mistake. Clarissa stared at him with large, uncomprehending eyes.

"Didn't know Alan, Bastien! Of course I knew him!"

He tried to cover his tracks.

"Yes, of course, I didn't mean—"

But he was not dealing with an average intelligence. The girl saw clearly that he was trying to get out of what he had said.

"You said when he FIRST came back, Bastien?" She spoke kindly and gently, and as if it were a very ordinary matter. "Please tell me what you mean."

"Nothing, my dear girl—nothing."

Dumont was not versed in diplomacy.

"Bastien," Clarissa went on, "you must have meant something. You were talking about my condition. You said I didn't know Alan when he first came back."

"Oh, ask Alan himself," pleaded poor Dumont.

Chummy shook her fair head.

"No, Bastien—he would hate it.

though you had behaved in a strange way that you don't remember! Please tell me the truth."

He was caught, and caught wiggle out. He told her about their first meeting, when she had recognized Alan when he brought up to her room, sketched the whole episode in light colors; but her swift tongue brought out the admission that she had several dined and gone to the play Alan before the day on which he had first understood that he came back.

She took it very naturally, smiling, and looking across the table where Alan sat in a cloud of smoke. His delightful voice, a little raised in argument, was evidently getting the better of his adversary, who, growing excited and almost coherent.

"How very curious!" she said. "Of course you and Alan wouldn't like to speak—or Judy, either. Thank you for mentioning it; but I had to know brain can play pranks, can I fancy me being with Alan and knowing him?"

Chummy's manner quite cooled the young artist. He had to take it as a matter of course.

valuation, pay the upkeep and give the owner $1.00 per day for his labor. So therefore we must look to some other industry for the bulk of our taxes.

Since 1918 I have been employed in different ways. I have been in business for myself part of the time and have had business dealings with people from all over the county. At the present I am assessing and collecting taxes for the Olden independent school district. I have held this position for the past three years.

I have on my tax roll farmers, merchants, wage earners, oil companies, telegraph and light companies, in fact, almost all classes of taxpayers that are found in the county are on my rolls. The dealings that I have had with these different taxpayers together with the close study that I have made of the tax problem, especially fits me to fill the office to which I aspire.

I am sorry that I am being unjustly accused of making the race on an oil ticket. This is an untrue statement. It is being said too, that I would lower the oil companies taxes and make the farmer pay them. Now please stop and think one moment, would any sane man asking for office make any such statement? No! In the first place anyone knows that the farmer would not get very far paying the oil companies taxes for he can hardly pay his own and, secondly, if I were to tell the oil companies that they say there is a man lying, and trying to deceive me to get my vote. But I will say this much: The oil companies are due the same consideration as any other taxpayer. They are due no special favours or considerations, neither is anyone else. But under every condition it behooves us to treat them right and keep them here to help pay off our indebtedness. If they were to move from our midst what would become of the land owner and taxpayer of this county? Who is it that has made it possible for us to have one of the best produce markets in the state of Texas? Who is it that has made it possible for the banker, merchant, and countless other business industries to stay in business in Eastland county? I say that it is the oil industry. We must study and think what is best for the county, try to be just and fair to all, and work together for the county in which we live.

I have only one principle to run on and that is to treat every one the same, regardless of how much or how little they are worth. I feel like that everybody is due the same consideration when it comes to business. And if I am elected to the office of county tax assessor, this will be my aim and I will work for the best interest of Eastland county.

It is the duty of the tax assessor to assess the taxes, do his work and keep the records straight. The conditions are then turned over to the commissioners court. The commissioners court then acts as a board of equalization and makes what adjustments that are necessary in the matter of raising or lowering your rendition.

Now, friends, I am no politician. I have only tried to write as I feel about the matter, and what is my honest conviction.

As I stated before I live at Olden and will appreciate it very much if you will investigate my record and give me a fair consideration. And on July the 26th, if you see fit to give me enough votes to elect me to this office, I shall ever strive to conduct myself in a moral and a business way that you will have no regrets for having supported me. If you do not vote for me we will still be good friends, for every man and woman owes it to themselves to vote for the person that they think is best fitted for the place.

Yours for better times,
E. J. ALLEN,
Candidate for County Tax Assessor.

Announcement Is Made By Cooper

To the People of Eastland County: In announcing my candidacy for the office of Tax Collector, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary, I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation for the hearty and local support given me by the people from all parts of the county in the past.

When you elected me your County Treasurer, I promised you good, honest and efficient service and during the time that I have served you I have kept that promise foremost in my mind; and my greatest desire and intention has been to make you the best County Treasurer possible. My work has been very pleasant and I shall always feel duly grateful for the honor and privilege of serving you in that capacity and reared on a farm near Gorman, having spent the greater part of my life in Eastland county. I have lived at Gorman, Salanno, Scranton, Cisco and Eastland, and have had personal dealings with many people in practically all parts of the county. It is therefore, my earnest desire that those of you who do not know me investigate my record in the communities in which I have lived and among those with whom I have had personal dealings.

For the past several years I have used my spare time in study, and soon after I assumed the duties of County Treasurer in the early part of nineteen hundred twenty seven, I attended a course of law lectures. I have also devoted considerable time to the study of our statutes in order to become familiar with the duties of county officials and render you better service. Therefore with the knowledge acquired through study and the experience and information gained in performing my official duties I feel that I am qualified to make you a good Tax Collector.

I believe in clean politics and am making this race on my merits and ability to fill the office, and serve the people. If you elect me your Tax Collector, I pledge you my word and honor that I will render you good, honest, and courteous service.

It is my desire and intention to see personally, every voter in the county, before the July primary if possible; but should I fail to see any of you, I trust that you will consider this as a personal solicitation of your good will, support, and influence.

Thanking you for your loyal support in the past and trusting that my record has been such, that when you go to the polls on July 26th, you will honor me with your votes for a promotion to the office of Tax Collector.

Sincerely yours,
T. L. COOPER

There never has been a time when the tire-buyers could buy as much as right now. Rubber's cheap—and consequently tire prices are the lowest they've ever been.

People with an eye to values are seizing this chance and making the most of it.

They're buying Goodyear Tires—because right now they can buy them for as little as they used to pay for inferior or unknown tires.

Why are they singling out Goodyear Tires with especial insistence as against all others? Because Goodyear Tires are definitely superior in tread and carcass, the two main parts of a tire.

The Goodyear All-Weather Tread is superior in traction.

The Goodyear Supertwist is superior in vitality and long life.

You are not asked to accept these statements without inquiry.

Any Goodyear Dealer will be glad to demonstrate the facts. The facts certainly are. Goodyear Tires give greater value. As far back as 1916, it became a fact that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Every year since that time it has been increasingly true that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

More Goodyear Tires than any other kind annually leave motor car factories on new cars—more Goodyear Tires go into service through the great Goodyear dealer organization—more Goodyear Tires are used by transcontinental, urban and interurban buses.

There can be only one conclusion: Goodyear Tires must be better—and at present prices they are a matchless bargain.

Now is the time to get yours.

San Francisco Girls Live On $16 Per Week

By GEORGE D. CRISSEY United Press Staff Correspondent SAN FRANCISCO, July 4.—Save your pity for those needing it and if you must be excited about the "poor working girl" then cast a glance of envy in her direction.

The girl who supports herself in San Francisco can live "decently and respectably" on $12 to $14 per week and some actually put money in the bank on $16 per week.

Rooms may be had for $15 to $25 per month and nourishing meals may be bought for $1 to $1.25 per day, clothes cost $10 per month while $2 should go for cosmetics and $3 more for recreation.

It is pointed out by Mrs. Nikirk that opportunities for high salaried positions for women are fewer in San Francisco than in eastern cities but that general run of jobs here pay better than in the east while living expenses are much less.

The habit of "fibbing" by the girls was referred to by Mrs. Nikirk who said that surveys attempting to show average salaries are almost worthless because "women invariably over-estimate their salaries in answer to questionnaires."
