DALLAS BANK BANDITS ESCAPE WITH $8,000 LOOT

Robbers Spend Night In Bank Waiting Chance

Two Escape In Car Belonging to One of the Officers of the Bank. Reward For Killing Bandits is Offered

DALLAS, Tex., May 31.—Two dully dressed men held up the Grand Avenue State Bank here today, forced an employe to open the vault, and escaped with approximately $8,000 in cash. Apparently the bandits had planned the robbery carefully for no signs of how they got into the bank could be found. No window or door was found where entrance could have been made during the night. The automobile taken by the bandits in their escape belonged to Eldon Miller, assistant cashier. He had parked his car at the curb short time before opening the bank for business at 8 o'clock. After binding the hands and feet of three employes the bandits fled into the street, confiscating a parked automobile and escaping. Roy O'Brien, bookkeeper, W. E. Miller, cashier and vice president of Weldon Miller, assistant cashier, were the only ones in the bank at the time. Miller was forced at the point of a pistol to open the vault which is behind the cashier's counter and a safe inside the vault. The bandits scooped up all the money in sight and after securely locking the three employes fled out front door. According to Captain T. A. Tilly who witnessed the escape from a nearby fire station, the bandits picked up a third man a short distance from the bank and a trio continued their flight. The bandits were described by the officials as young men, about 25 years of age. They were not armed. A general alarm was given and police in all parts of the city took the search for the men.

ebraske Convict Captured In Texas

INCOLN, Neb., May 31.—Stanley Miller, who on March 5, broke his alibi parole, was returned here from Kermit, Tex., by probation officer, Harmon, after being captured in the Texas town in session of a stolen automobile. Shortly after he was paroled last month, he stole a car in Lincoln. The machine was driven to Kentucky, where a second was taken, he is said. Miller was first sentenced to the penitentiary for a burglary several years ago. He escaped and after being recaptured was sent to the penitentiary.

Body Of Murdered Man Discovered

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31.—The body of a murder victim believed to be Harold Herbert Schroeder, Mobile, Ala., was found burned beyond recognition in a car parked on a roadside near Indianapolis today. A large sedan sped from the side of the burning car at 2 a. m., police are told, and they believe the man was the victim of a band of hit-men. Methods used by professional gunmen in hiding identity of their victims had been employed, police said. The skull had been crushed.

Six Face Death For Talking Of Insurrection

ATLANTA, May 31.—Six communists are in Fulton county jail here facing possible death sentences in event of their conviction under probably the most sweeping "anti-insurrection" statute in America. Two of the six are women, Mary Dalton and Anne Burlack.

"As fast as these communists come here and publicly preach their doctrine of violent opposition to the laws of this state, we shall indict them, and I shall demand the death penalty in every case," Assistant Solicitor General John H. Hudson told the United Press today. The other defendants are Hoe Carr, M. H. Powers, communist organizers, and Henry Story, Atlanta negro, and Gilmer Grady, New York negro, indicted in connection with sporadic meetings and observations here during the past several weeks featured by what Hudson said he considered "open appeal for insurrection." The situation here is unique, as the law under which the communists were indicted permits the death penalty at discretion of the jury even though an actual overt action has not been committed. Merely "intention" to commit violence is all the State need prove.

Horned Frogs Will Play Hodges Team Sunday Afternoon

The Eastland Horned Frogs will play the Hodges team of Breckenridge at the new Horned Frog diamond Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. The Horned Frogs have been practicing daily since their game with Ranger last Sunday and have added strength to the line-up in the field this week than they have had in previous games. Several hundred people saw the game with Ranger last Sunday and an even larger crowd is expected for the game this week. The Hodges team of Breckenridge is one of the fastest teams in this part of the country and the locals have been practicing hard in an effort to put up a good game with the team from the Stephens county seat.

Tyler Citizens Put Moody's Name On State Ticket

A group of Tyler friends of Governor Moody stated Saturday morning that they had drawn up a petition to have his name placed on the list of gubernatorial candidates and had forwarded the application for a place on the ticket, together with a certified check for $100 to the State Executive Committee.

AUSTIN, Tex., May 31.—Governor Dan Moody remained silent this afternoon on whether or not he will be a candidate for re-election. That his announcement will not go to the Sunday papers, as formerly contemplated, became apparent unless he changes his mind. Whether he will file notice of his candidacy Monday was still a matter of differing opinion in Austin. The governor declined to say anything that would indicate which is the better opinion.

"Atascosa county people will file for you, if you do not file yourself," R. R. (Railroad) Smith, picturesque former member of the state legislature, told the governor. Numerous political friends conferred with him. The governor apparently enjoyed the interest being displayed in what he may do. He was smiling broadly when newspaper men besieged him as he emerged from his office which had been carefully closed all morning, contrary to usual custom. "I don't know anything about politics," he said. "I am not going to let you ask me any leading questions."

He recently took over the task of directing Gotham's 20,000 blue-coats, succeeding Grover A. Whalen, who retired to return to his old job as general manager of a big department store.

Much Interest Being Taken In Community Fairs

That more interest is being shown in community fairs is evidenced by the fact that dates have been set for 10 of the rural fairs this year, with four other communities having expressed a desire to have dates set in the near future, while last year but eight were held. Several communities had exhibits that were under the supervision of the home demonstration agent and these exhibits were taken to the county fair. These exhibits were not considered as community fairs, however, and there will be several of these in addition to the 14 fairs. The towns and communities that have selected fair dates are as follows: Okra, October 30. Bluff Branch, September 5. North Star, September 6. Grapevine, September 9. Colony, September 12. Cheaney, September 13. Scranton, September 16. Pleasant Hill, September 17. Flatwood, September 18. Carbon, September 18. The county fair will follow the Carbon fair and will be held on September 25, 26, 27.

Red River Flood Reaches Its Crest

ALEXANDRIA, La., May 31.—Hundreds of volunteers worked feverishly along the Red River in northern Louisiana today as flood waters, which already have inundated 250,000 acres of land, mounted toward their crest. Sand bags and every other available means of obstruction were used in a last-minute attempt to prevent a break which would release a torrent of water over land near here. Many sections, particularly in the Caddo, Grant and Bossier parishes, presented a bleak appearance as waters receded temporarily. Five villages were flooded, farm communities were destroyed and the bodies of livestock were strewn over the desolate landscape. It was estimated that at least six persons were dead and officials feared the bodies of many more would be discovered when the waters completely subsided. Coupled with state-wide relief measures, the Red Cross issued a general appeal for funds to care for more than 10,000 persons many of whose home were submerged by the muddy water.

Railey Is Made Manager For The Eastland Band

R. S. Railey has been elected to the office of business manager of the Eastland Booster Band and has taken over the duties of this office. In a talk to the boys after he had been elected he said that he could not do everything by himself, but would need the cooperation of the members of the band. He said that to accomplish his purpose of building a larger and better band he would expect the full cooperation of the band members as well as the citizenship of the city of Eastland. Director A. J. Campbell said that he was well pleased with the election as Railey has had several years experience playing in army and municipal bands and that he was thoroughly capable of filling this position.

Concreting Of Two Alleys Is Now Completed

The two new concrete alleys, one to the rear of the buildings on the west side of the square and the other to the rear of the buildings on the south side, have just been opened up to traffic and are now in use. The paving on these alleys was started a few weeks ago and the concrete work has been completed for about two weeks, but they have remained closed in order to let the concrete set. They now present a splendid appearance and are considered a great improvement over the muddy alleys of a few weeks ago. Those whose property and stores adjoin the new pavement are very much pleased with the improvement to the property at a cost that was comparatively low. The city is now trying to induce all the property owners on the north side of the square to sign up for paving the other alley which runs parallel with the street to the north of the square. Nearly all are willing to sign but it was said this morning by city officials that one or two were holding up the work because they wouldn't sign for the improvement.

Robbers Get $4,000

Graf Zeppelin Is At Lakehurst

By LYLE C. WILSON United Press Staff Correspondent LAKEHURST, N. J., May 31.—The giant German dirigible Graf Zeppelin, conquerer of five continents, arrived today on its fourth visit to the United States. Swinging gracefully down to the field of the naval air station here, the dirigible ended its flight from Pernambuco, Brazil, at 7:20 a. m. E. D. T.

LAKEHURST, N. J., May 31.—The Graf Zeppelin will replenish her liquor stores in the United States, representatives of the company said today. It was explained that the Graf would obtain a government permit to take aboard a quantity of alcoholic liquids.

Special Venire Is Drawn In The Thos. Davis Case

A special venire of 150 men has been drawn by the district clerk to appear in the 88th district court on June 23 from which a jury will be selected to try the Thomas Davis murder case. Judge Ben set the case for trial for June 23 several days ago and ordered the special venire to be drawn. The 150 names have been selected and notices are being mailed to those selected.

Thomas Davis is to be tried on a charge of murder in connection with the killing of Lucien Shook on September 7, 1928. Davis was tried and given a death penalty. The court of criminal appeals reversed the case when it was appealed. Habeas corpus hearing was had in the 88th district court with Judge M. S. Long of Abilene on the bench. Davis was remanded to jail without bond. On an appeal to the criminal appeals court the decision of Judge Long was reversed and Davis was granted bond in the sum of $10,000. It is not known here by either the sheriff's department or the defense attorneys whether Davis made the stipulated bond and was released or whether he was still in the Stephens county jail, where he was transferred by an order of the court.

Given Life In Death Of Three

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 31.—Arch D. Glover, convicted a month ago of first degree murder in connection with a drug store explosion in which three firemen lost their lives, today was sentenced formally to life imprisonment by Judge C. A. Burney. Before sentencing Glover, Judge Burney overruled the defendant's motion for a new trial. Glover is scheduled to be tried again June 9, on another of the three first degree murder charges against him. James B. Page, prosecutor, is attempting to obtain a death sentence for Glover. The trials of the other two men held with Glover in connection with the explosion, June Carey and D. L. Piggott, also are set for June 9.

Prisoner Escapes

LLANO, Tex., May 31.—Pete Ellington, under two year sentence in the penitentiary on a burglary charge conviction two weeks ago, and Aubrey Harned, charged with possession of intoxicating liquor, escaped from the Llano jail here today and had not been found at noon. The men affected their escape by prying a cell door open with a spoon handle and piece of pipe.

Jail Wrecked In Attempt To Reach Victim

Husband of Woman Assaulted by Negro Stabs Him as He is Being Carried From Jail

CHICKASHA, Okla., May 31.—"They beat me to it, I'm right. The law should protect me," George W. Skinner told crowds that gathered at the jail here today to hear his story of a negro's attack on his wife. Skinner, middle-aged farmer with long straggly hair and unshaven face drew large crowds as he told of the attack which occurred at his dugout home along the Washita River banks while he was in the field plowing. He learned of the attack when his wife ran to him in the field and told him a negro was choking their 19 months old child. "I returned to the house, got a gun and chased him but didn't catch him," Skinner said. "I came here last night and then left. I came back this morning to kill that man, but they beat me to it. I was not in the mob that shot the negro. There were two mobs." "The law don't have any right to keep me in jail. It was for me to kill him so I stabbed him," Skinner said.

Skinner was arrested after slugging the negro twice. His 19 year old wife identified Henry Argo, the mob victim, as her attacker. The negro died in University Hospital at Oklahoma City shortly before 1 p. m. today, an hour after the ambulance had taken him to Oklahoma City under cover of a ruse to prevent further mob violence.

Instead of being taken into the Oklahoma City hospital on a stretcher, the negro was taken to the operating room in a coffin. He had been placed in the coffin here to make the mob that had sought his life for 12 hours believe him dead. The ruse prevented the angry mob from seizing the body and burning it, Sheriff Sankey said.

CHICKASHA, Okla., May 31.—Incensed by the alleged attack on a white woman, a mob stormed the Grady county jail early today and shot a negro suspected of the crime. The negro, Henry Argo, was shot in the head by a member of the mob who gained access to the jail window during the confusion of an assault on the jail by a crowd of about 500 men while national guardsmen and county officers held the force at bay with guns and tear gas, the assailant escaped.

Escaped Convict Caught WEATHERFORD, Tex., May 31.—Two escaped convicts were held in jail here today after they were arrested by local officers. They are Cecil Jensen, convicted of the slaying of Jimmie McNeal, Fort Worth taxi driver, and given a life term; and Floyd Pettis, sent to the penitentiary from Tarrant county for 12 years.

Interest In State Politics Is Centered In The Governors Race

Positive and Negative Developments of Practically Equal Importance as Time For Filing Draws to Close

By Raymond Brooks AUSTIN, May 31.—Positive and negative developments in the hang-fire governor's race were of practically equal import as May closed upon its uncertainties and as only two days remained for candidates to finally act for places on the ballots. Gov. Moody's lack of final and definite commitment as to the race failed to dissuade his own friends and many others from believing him a certain entrant. His delay caused some tremors of uncertainty, but did not upset the conviction that he will lead an election in the campaign. This was the negative side of the scene. Filing of Former Lieut. Gov. Lynch Davidson's name by his friends was the one positive step. This filing is legal, and unless printing of his name is countermanded, Mr. Davidson will go on the ballot as apparently the 11th candidate actually to file, the 15th to announce or be announced, of those remaining in the race. During the week Hugh E. Exum, Amarillo cattleman, was selected by a caucus as the republican candidate for governor in the party's compulsory primary election. Republican regulars attended the caucus, though the name of R. B. Creager, national committeeman from Texas, was conspicuously absent from its news reports. Monday will bring to a close the filing for all state offices, for all places in the senate except Dallas, Tarrant and Harris counties, and for all seats in the house representing districts of more than one county. Dates for the one-county legislative places, and for local candidates to file extend to June 14. Whether Lynch Davidson will take part in the campaign was indefinite. He declined to comment at the mid-week on reports that 75 of his Greenville friends had filed application to put him on the ticket and had shown the further evidence of interest of paying in the $100 filing fee. Mr. Davidson, responding to an inquiry from this writer, said he "did not" (Continued on Page 2) see how he could run for the office this year." He added "there seems to be a need for someone to run."

Gov. Moody, in his former statement that he "figured on being" in the race, which was accepted as an announcement, added that he would begin no active campaign work before he had concluded a lot of commencement and other non-political speeches. So that his delay is understandable.

This correspondent, during the past nine days, has made a limited survey of the pre-campaign situation, visiting Houston, Angleton, New Braunfels, San Antonio, Waco, Mexia, Dallas and Fort Worth, securing across-section of opinion as to the personal preferences, indiscriminately collected can be.

The principal general summaries that can be made from these responses are:

Mrs. Ferguson likely will poll as much as two-thirds of the probable vote Mr. Ferguson would have received.

The entry of Thomas B. Love and Lynch Davidson into the race would further split up the progressive dry element, while the actual Ferguson candidacy and budding campaign, will tend to consolidate the reactionary forces behind Mr. Ferguson and his candidate.

R. S. Sterling, Houston newspaper publisher and chairman of the state highway commission by appointment of Governor Moody, is a candidate for governor, his decision to this effect having been announced after this article was written.

Many have come to believe now that with the extensive split-up of the Moody-Love-Davidson-Young etc. vote, that Mrs. Ferguson has an increasingly assured place in the run-off.

In many instances this prediction is coupled with the further comment: "That's fine, because any of the prominent candidates will defeat the Ferguson in the run-off."

Here are some of the pairs of candidates mentioned as those in the run-off, from which the next nominee for governor must be chosen:

Love-Ferguson.
Moody-Ferguson.
Moody-Mayfield.
Ferguson-Mayfield (one or two).
Moody-Miller.
Mayfield-Small.
Small-Ferguson.
Small-Miller.

With reference to Mr. Davidson, these principally were expressed before his friends had filed his name, and all before he had committed himself to the race.

The old Grady county brick jail was set afire after the mob armed with poles and battering rams destroyed it.

While national guardsmen and county officers held up the mob of 500 men at bay with machine guns and tear gas, a member of the mob climbed to the second floor of the jail where the negro was under guard and shot him as he cringed in his cell.

The mob did not obtain the negro's body from the jail although the jail was completely wrecked.

Soldiers Repulse Mob
Repulsed by national guard officers, the mob retreated after a determined rush at 3:30 a. m. and began a bombardment of the jail with rocks and bricks.

Officers said they obtained the names of several members of the mob. With the aid of troops from Fort Sill, officers began searching for the ringleaders.

Several national guardsmen were slightly injured as well as those there were no casualties, police reported.

The trouble started when deputies under sheriff Matt Sankley arrested the negro shortly before dark last night and brought him to the jail for questioning in an attack on Mrs. G. W. Skinner, wife of a tenant farmer. The attempted attack took place in the farmer's duck pond home after the assailant had choked the woman's 19-month old child.

History Of Original Chisholm Trail Traced, Mapped By Texas Author

AUSTIN, Texas, May 31.—The head of a Longhorn steer, taken from an early "Kansas & Pacific" railway map, will be used as a marker for the Chisholm Trail—the route over which Texas cattle by thousands were driven to Kansas before rail lines reached the state.

Prof. J. Frank Dobie of the University of Texas, author of a number of volumes on cowboy songs and cowboy lore, heads a committee that will mark the trail.

They will use a map prepared by the Fourth U. S. Cavalry in 1871 in tracing the trail, supplemented with the accounts of the few remaining trail drivers.

That there will be many disputes about the true Chisholm trail, Dobie takes for granted. He says that cattle converged from many places upon the trail the recognized trail, he says, will be the longest route over which the greatest number of cattle were driven for a long period.

At the opening of the war between the state, federal troops were ordered from Fort Gibson, Fort Cobb and Fort Arbuckle, Indian Territory, to Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, Black Beaver, a Delaware Indian, guided the troops, leaving a well defined trail. This passed the cabin of Jesse Chisholm at what is now Wichita, Kansas. Chisholm, a trader, made several trips down the trail the troops had made and thus gave it the name.

Texas cowmen, going north in 1867, struck the trail about the Washita river and followed it. When they reached Wichita they kept on north to Abilene instead of veering east to Leavenworth. The original trail did not come south of Red river. It soon extended through Texas. One well-defined branch ended at Houston and a larger one went on to Brownsville and the Mexican city of Matamoros, opposite. Cattle from Mexico crossed there and took up the Chisholm trail.

From Brownsville the trail passed through San Antonio, Austin, Georgetown, Waco. Fort Worth hand on to Red river to the original trail blazed by Jesse Chisholm.

In the middle seventies it veered west and crossed the Red river at Doan's crossing in Wilbarger county. By the end of the seventies the main drive of cattle was from San Antonio through Fredericksburg, Mason, Brady and Abilene, Texas to Doan's crossing.

the value of expensive settings. He was the first to realize the realism in a play is enhanced one hundred per cent by the introduction of furnishings that are exactly what they should be, not cheap imitations. So effective are the results he obtains that Columbia is filming "Ladies of Leisure," the all-talking screen adaptation of a famous Belasco stage success, which is scheduled to play at the Connellee Theatre on Sunday and Monday has followed his lead closely.

For example: the Oriental rugs, richly carved tables and chairs and the sumptuous velvet drapes, which add to the magnificence of the artist's studio atop a New York skyscraper, where much of the action takes place, are absolutely genuine. The oil paintings that ornament the walls are well executed reproductions of masterpieces valuable enough to be prized by any connoisseur of art.

Columbia has been equally true to the traditions of the master producer in the matter of casting, too. Every role in "Ladies of Leisure" is enacted by an artist. The list of players, which reads like a "Who's Who on the Stage and Screen," includes Barbara Stanwyck, Lowell Sherman, Ralph Graves, Marie Prevost, Nance O'Neil, George Fawcett, Johnnie Walker and Juliette Compton. Frank Capra, who won universal acclaim for his direction of Columbia's air epic, "Flight," directed.

There is no doubt about the fact that "Ladies of Leisure" has been brought to the screen on the most pretentious scale imaginable.

THE WEEK AT EASTLAND'S TWO ALL TALKING THEATERS

Ladies Of Leisure World Premiere Cares Classic

By FRED JOHNSON

...a San Francisco world pre- yesterday, the Columbia ... of David Belasco's ... "Ladies of the Evening" ... drama of moving quality, ... comedy touches and a whole- ... charm. It is entertainment ... everybody—a high spot in cinema achievement, both in acting and directorial departments. Story of Simplicity, Power Built around the familiar theme of gilded youth's love for one of a lower social scale, "Ladies of Leisure" triumphs through sheer simplicity and power of its story, told in sincere portrayals by a cast of more than ordinary ability. It deals with the romance of Jerry Strong, an artist of affluent family heritage, who allows his friends to use his penthouse for wild parties, but receives the privilege of walking out on their rev- eries. In search of fresh air and fresher inspiration, he picks up Kay Arnold, a "party girl," assaying a lone walk home from houseboat whoop- ee. Her engagement as his model develops a romance in which social barriers begin to tumble, but are quickly rebuilt for them by his parents. Jerry breaks with his family, after his father's futile ef- fort to blast the romance and the lovers plan an Arizona honey- moon. Yields For Love The mother, in a final attempt, succeeds in the old appeal to sac- rifice for love's sake, and Kay suc- cumbs to her pleadings. In this scene Miss Stanwyck, who plays the girl, reveals emotional power of a high order. The encounter, however, loses some of its sublimity when Kay exhibits a sudden desire for mem- ory-dulling liquors, and telephones a playboy that she will become the "party girl" on a trip to Havana. The tensest action of the picture occurs with the long climb of Kay's girl chum up the stairs to Jerry's penthouse to warn him of her flight, his radiating of the steamer and the pacing of Kay as she leaps into the ocean from its deck. Happy Ending This would have made a smash- ing finish, but not for the films. Ralph Graves gives an convinc- ing and well restrained portrait of the youth yielding slowly to love, but, valiant when once in its grip. Gorgeus comedy is contributed by Lowell Sherman as the man- about-town and Marie Prevost as Kay's companion. Superb perfor- mances are those of George Pavcett as the father and Nance O'Neil as the mother. Lush settings, outstanding pho- tography and brilliant directorial ef- fects by Frank Capra are featur- ed in the production.

GRETA GARBO PERFECT TYPE FOR SPORTS ATTIRE There are very few people who can wear sports clothes as they should be worn. It takes more than being able to own a real an- gora or camel's hair suit to prop- erly carry off this type of costume for a certain undefined requirement is needed to be able to appear as casual and carefree as necessary. This "certain something" is gradually acquired from childhood days when young muscled are put through strenuous games of sport, and on through years of indulg- ing in out of door games. Long before her picture days Greta Garbo, the Metro-Goldwyn- Mayer star, whose first talking picture, "Anna Christie," will be shown at the Lyric Theatre on the Thursday, began laying a founda- tion of knowing just how to wear these most difficult of costumes. Daytime hours spent in skating and skiing, in swimming and tennis and in walking or riding gave her body the swinging easy man- ner which it now reveals. Master- ling these sports have given her the grace needed to lounge on the spectators' bench or to lean against a railing while watching some fas- cinating game. The results have been noticed on the screen in her many portrayals of typical American girls, even since her first American picture, "The Torrent," in which she climb- ed so nimbly to the top of the gar- den wall. Miss Garbo is supported by an excellent cast in "Anna Christie" including Charles Bickford, George Marion, Marie Dressler, James T. Mack and Lee Phelps. Clarence Brown handled the direction of the action and dialogue while the adaptation of the well-known O'Neil play was done by Frances Marion.

Fashion Dictates Capes For Smart Modish Apparel

So Says Barbara Stanwyck, Star of "Ladies of Leisure" at Connellee

"If you want to be in style this season, wear capes on everything, from sport clothes to evening dress," says Barbara Stanwyck, charming star of "Ladies of Leisure," the Columbia all-talking drama of night life now showing at the Connellee Theatre. "From early morning to late at night, the lady of fashion swings her shoulders beneath a cape. The small cape is a natural part of the new flaring contour. It can be used on almost every street costume. The spring coat may have a cape collar which covers the arms to the elbows. The cape may take the place of sleeves, or it may be in addition to the long fitted sleeves. "The lady of fashion cannot resist the dress with a double use. There is the dress with the detach- able cape. It may be a dress which becomes a suit with the cape. It may be printed silk or chiffon which serves as an afternoon gown without the cape. The dress with the attached capelet is extremely swaggy and smart. "The cape motif has even made its appearance in night clothes and negligees. Dainty nightgowns have tiny capes covering the shoulders. Negligees are enhanced with capes of all lengths.

HOW DOES FU MANCHU COME TO LIFE AGAIN!

How can Dr. Fu Manchu appear again in the movies when he was killed off by poison in the very first picture in which he appeared? The answer to this interesting question is found in "The Return of Dr. Fu Manchu," thrill-drama which comes to the all-talking screen at the Lyric Theatre today and Monday. It is true that Dr. Fu Manchu appeared to have killed himself in his first picture, "The Mysterious Dr. Fu Manchu"—but did he really take poison? If he did take poison was it capable of bringing death? Why didn't officials of Scotland Yard perform an autopsy to make sure that he was dead? These are the questions, these and many others, which are answered in an absorbingly entertain- ing fashion in the sequel picture. The play is based upon one of the popular stories by Sax Rohmer, the writer of sensational mystery fic- tion, who originated Fu Manchu and made him one of the most in- sidious villains of fiction and the screen.

Monta Bell Brings "All the World" to Screen Studio Stage Reversing the old theory that "all the world is a stage" Director Monta Bell, of Paramount Pic- tures, declares that the stage is potentially all the world.

In films "Young Man of Man- hattan" Katharine Brush's Satur- day Evening Post serial and best- selling novel, Bell was faced with the necessity of carrying his prin- cipal players through the mazes of New York City, at all seasons of the year, to Philadelphia in a driz- zling rain, to Florida in brilliant sunshine, to St. Louis, to Princeton, N. J. and to other points in the North American continent under varying conditions. Exorbitant costs and lengthy delay due to weather conditions had to be considered if Claudette Col- bert, Charles Ruggles, Norman Foster, Ginger Rogers and others of the cast were to be transported to the actual backgrounds of the story. So Bell commandeered the huge stage at the Paramount Long Island studio and brought "all the world" to it. Within the four walls of the stu- dio authentic reproductions were made of the Dempsey-Tunney world championship in Philadelphia the press box at the World Series

The Husband Hunter

© 1930 BY NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Natalie Converse, jealous of her husband's friendship with Bernadine Lamont, leaves Alan. Wounded pride prevents either from seeking a reconciliation, and Alan turns to his secretary, Phillipa West, for consolation, who plays her part so cleverly that they soon become engaged.

Repentant, Natalie writes Alan informing him of her return. Their meeting leaves him hopeful but baffled as to her intentions. Because of his entanglement with Phillipa, Alan dares not propose a reconciliation with Natalie, but he realizes that she holds first place in his heart. He goes to Phillipa and asks her to release him. She refuses and makes an effective appeal to his pity.

Natalie's sister, Florence, with the help of her fiancé, Andrew, fakes an illness in order to bring Alan back to his home. But Phillipa still stands between him and Natalie.

Florence pleads homesickness, hoping they will patch up their difficulties if left to themselves. Natalie makes a visit to Alan's office and there meets Bernadine, who is seeking Alan's advice in desperation over heavy market losses. Natalie's old jealousy flares up again and she quarrels bitterly with Alan.

Playing her game, Phillipa invites Alan to her apartment for dinner. Afterward he goes to a hotel. The next day Natalie comes to the office to plead for forgiveness but Alan is out. Phillipa is

Aiding Bull From Texas to Gotham

There's really no bull in his statement that he intends to ride a bull from San Benito, Tex., to New York City, says Ralph Sanders, photographer here as he started on his slow journey which he estimates will require several months. He has a $500 wager posted with Ben Stack of Harlingen, Tex., who plans to shove off June 15 in a wagon drawn by a goat and a dog and beat Ralph to New York.

of going among people, to a theater or a club, was repugnant to him. His room at the hotel was impossible; he wanted to move about, to do something.

He was glad that it was a dark, moonless night, and that his house stood well away from the nearest street light. He did not wish to be observed by friend or neighbor in his foolishness—he called it foolishness. And anyone else seeing him there so suspiciously, going nowhere and doing nothing, might have notified the police, he told himself.

He was glad, too, that Natalie had not lighted the door lamps, although the black void where they usually shone so goldenly, gave him a feeling of facing an abyss.

For relief from the feeling—he could not long keep his eyes away from the house—he stared at the windows of Natalie's room. She was at home—someone was at home, in her room—or she had left the lights burning. The rest of the house was in darkness.

When he saw the light there, he was reassured. He knew he had been afraid that Natalie might have gone back to her parents. And he knew she had been too stubborn to give in to his fear and try to stop her until the idea had driven him desperate.

He walked until he was tired, but he did not leave until he saw the lights go out.

Natalie had pressed the button near the head of her bed, because the light, soft as it was, had grown intolerable. Her temples throbbed like trip hammers and a myriad of pinpoints of dazzling brightness jangled and danced before her burning eyes.

They remained there when the light was out. Natalie knew she was ill. But self-pity found no break in her armor of humble pride. She would ask Alan to forgive her. If he would come to her. She knew she could not go to him; not soon. She would send for him—perhaps she shouldn't wait until morning—but then she didn't know where to find him—unless he had gone back to the hotel where he lived while she was away.

She reached out a hand for the extension telephone on a stand by the bed. She was lifting it toward her, when suddenly she put it back. She mustn't send for Alan now. He would think she had used her illness as an appeal to his pity.

But in the morning—in the morning—perhaps he would telephone. She closed her eyes, vainly trying to shut out the torturous pinpoints that pricked at her brain with devilish persistency. Her thoughts grew confused, and she spent the remainder of the night in a mental state that bordered on delirium.

Ethel came the next morning to wake her, and wanted to call a doctor. But Natalie had recovered sufficiently to prevent it, and got up, though the maid had to assist her with her bath. The girl worried over her mistress' apparent weakness, but Natalie thought that a doctor could not help her.

She dressed, and waited, a prayer in her heart that Alan would relent and come to her.

Ethel brought her a light breakfast and Natalie sipped the fruit juice to please her. The rest she left untouched.

Alan, about the same time, was breakfasting just as sparingly, though not leisurely, for he was concerned about his neglected business. He arrived at the office between nine and ten, and immediately called Phillipa into his room.

They first attended to some matters that were more pressing than Bernadine's, and then Phillipa brought it up. There had been no mention of anything other than business made between them.

Alan read the letter and frowned over it. "Funny," she heard him mutter.

"It isn't really a very good stock, is it?" she asked lightly.

"I wouldn't let her touch it without a hot tip," Alan replied, more as though he spoke to himself than addressed to Phillipa.

Phillipa's heart bounded. Apparently the suspect, nothing wrong with the letter, she was glad to have it—so to see the order go through—for she always had been a bit resentful of Alan's buying so many presents for little Bobby Lamont. This would cost Bernadine all of that, and more too.

But when Alan looked up at her and asked her to get Bernadine on the telephone, her elation vanished.

She tried to intervene. "Do you really think you ought to disturb her so early in the day?" she asked.

"You know she has to go to the club even if she is ill."

"I think I'd better talk with her," Alan answered decisively.

Phillipa did not dare say more. Alan was showing good judgment in consulting Bernadine. It would be strange for his secretary to urge him to do otherwise. And what did it matter—except that Bernadine might not lose a goodly sum of money.

Her main object was to fix the crime of tampering with the letter upon Natalie. Alan's telephoning Bernadine now would reveal that it had been tampered with sooner than she had hoped, but Phillipa was satisfied.

Alan had to wait for Bernadine to answer his call. She was asleep and the faithful Nellie would not awaken her suddenly. Her voice was very sleepy when she spoke to him, and perhaps she was too drowsy to think, else she might have noticed that Alan did not mention the name of the stock she had asked him to buy for her.

He merely said "this stock," in a very doubtful tone. "I don't think it's worth the gamble," he added gratuitously.

"It's all right," Bernadine assured him. "You know, I told you, didn't I, who gave me the tip?"

"That's all that kept me from thinking your letter was a joke," Alan replied. "But did you get it straight from him?"

"Yes, and not too late in the evening, either," Bernadine answered.

"Well, I hope not," Alan replied. And, "How are you feeling?" he added as an afterthought.

"How's Bobby?"

His unflagging interest in her boy pleased Bernadine. She answered happily that Bobby was in perfect health. Alan could not avoid being subconsciously influenced by the free-from-care tones of her voice.

He credited too much her certainty of winning on the market, without realizing that his mention of her young son was more responsible for her cheerful goody and gay "see you soon."

Phillipa had listened to the conversation, with her heart palpitating in her throat, waiting for Alan to make the momentous discovery regarding the letter. When he hung up the receiver, she could scarcely credit the fact that it had not yet been made.

He gave her the letter, with his O. K. on it to take out to Mr. Wellson, who would put it through the routine of the office.

Phillipa said to herself: "And that's that!"

Several times during the time that intervened between Mr. Wellson's receiving the letter and Bernadine's late afternoon visit to the office, Alan looked at the stock-ticker with growing apprehension.

Had Bernadine intended to buy on a falling market, or had something gone wrong? He had other details of his business to worry him, but his mind was chiefly on Bernadine's affairs. He knew she could not afford to lose any more money.

When she came in, he was overwhelmingly relieved to see her. Phillipa showed her into his private office without delay, knowing that he was alone. She, not Bernadine, wore an inscrutable smile.

The one on Bernadine's countenance was frankly a happy one. But it changed to an expression of complete dismay a few moments after she entered Alan's presence. He had told her that particular stock at that

J. M. Harper

SIX YEARS AGO THE FIRST BALLOON tires came out. They were easier-riding than hard, high pressure tires—but they delivered insufficient mileage. To insure mileage, the makers then added more material, more bulk, thus lessening the cushioning.

Now that's a lot to claim for a tire, and I know it. If it seems like a dream, just read this—

"Money-Back" Guaranty

"If after 30 days' use you are not fully convinced that these new-type Federal Tires give you more luxurious, air-cushioned riding comfort, better acceleration, easier steering, firmer braking, and the assurance of maximum mileage, return them and your money will be refunded."

In the new-type Federal, Federal engineers have changed all this. They have eliminated excess weight—increased the air cushion by 12%—a real achievement. They have made sidewalls longer and more flexible yet much stronger. Added a new full contact Rim-Wide Tread which gives faster pick-up, less gas consumption, easier steering, faster stopping—all because there is no needless tire weight dragging on the engine. And the new Federal De Luxe, for example, gives thousands of miles more of this kind of service.

Land Man Is Candidate For Commissioner

As stated in a news item in regard to my being a candidate for the office of County Commissioner of Eastland County, No. 1, that I would make an announcement within a week, so here it is. The usual statement for such an announcement would be that I entered after being urged, evaded, by scores of friends and interested, but such a statement would not be true. No one made me run. I am my own man for a place on the ticket. The only reason for making this campaign is I want to. However, I announced my intention and have come in a splendid way to offer their support and understand the work of the Commissioner's Court, there are many duties: first, to authorize payment of all money for any second, to assist in the assessments of all taxes; third, to maintain already built that are not under supervision and other roads as needed. Personal affairs I am sure I want economy practiced as far as it is consistent with good business. I believe I am qualified to handle the County Commissioner's Court for the reason that in the past twenty years I have held positions that have held positions that require more or less degree, responsibility for the care of the public money or the private business firms in a commercial way. Occasions will arise to spend money will be and other occasions where I want it will be waste. The Commissioner should be someone able to determine which is best. The fellow who is on the list of the money say "No" to all claims not make a good commission of the twenty-two years of school, in an attempt to financial ends meet, and in the newspaper business, printing end editorial helped make tax rolls in as offices; made an index of deed records; took office information for the leasing of a county for lease; kept books for drug and grocery stores; as a chief clerk of a draft dept draft records for the war; kept for companies engaged in production of oil and gas—all experience together with the fact I was reared on an Eastland farm and now live on a small one) gives me a knowledge of records, and an insight into the relative value of oil, industries and business such as will be of considerable benefit to the people of this county and to the county as well, in making just and equitable decisions.

Moreover, for the past five years have handled most of the work for a road construction and paving firm. From this I have learned not only

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Writer
(Copyright, 1930, NEA Service, Inc.)

WASHINGTON—Thirteen thousand mothers and widows of American war victims buried in France were entitled to make the pilgrimage to the graves of their loved ones at the government's expense.

About 4000 said they couldn't go. They will have four years in which to change their minds and withdraw their refusals. But most of them will never cross the ocean. Poor health is the most common reason which keeps the gold star mothers and widows at home. Other reasons equally pathetic, and some rather humorous, have been given.

Among thousands of letters received, not one objected to the project voted by Congress. They all wanted to go. Only hard luck and combinations of circumstances held back the 4000.

Some Don't Even Know

"I can't leave my stock and chickens and milk cow," wrote a soldier's widow in Laredo, O. "Can't get no one to take care of them. I want to go but can't, that's all. I truly thank you from my whole heart."

Some gold star mothers, unable to read English, may never know that they had the opportunity. But a Spanish woman in Peralta, N. M., finally got the postmaster to translate hers. And the postmaster wrote to the cemetery division of the quartermasters' corps, which supervises the pilgrimage:

"Mrs. _____ is 70 years old, a weak, sickly woman; has a father 100 years old, who has been in bed two years and cannot live nor die; has a daughter 40 years old, single and sick with epilepsy, and unable to work. For this reason Mrs. _____ cannot accept the invitation."

Hundreds of women wrote pitiful letters asking for money to aid them in their blackest poverty. There is no provision for compensating anyone who cannot go to Europe, although many mothers and widows point out that their inability to go saves the government much expense.

"I sent you a letter declining the trip to Europe because I have no way to buy my things to go in," wrote a Columbus, O. woman. "I am not refusing because I don't want to go but because all I have is my $20 compensation, and I have to pay board with that."

Such a letter is given by the cemetery division to the American War Mothers, with the idea that eligible women should not be held back merely by poverty.

But nothing could be done about several demands for kosher food on the trip; it was pointed out that the soldier boys all ate the same food during the war. And the woman who demanded a Christian Science practitioner on board ship must stay home if she insists on it; the government, at least, can't provide one.

One woman wrote that she objected to Sunday travel. At last reports she hadn't made up her mind whether to go or not.

Another eligible said she would prefer to stay home if she was going to be kept awake by other women snoring in her cabin every night. Still another wanted assurance that she wouldn't be cabined with anyone who smoked or played cards. In such cases they are advised that they will have congenial surroundings.

World's Largest Tire To Be On Display Here

The largest tire in the world is on its way to Eastland, and will be on exhibition in our city on Tuesday, June 3, according to A. H. Furse, manager of States Service Corporation station, located at South Seaman and Valley streets.

That intense interest will be aroused is a foregone conclusion, as this gigantic tire, an outstanding curiosity, has been an awe-inspiring spectacle wherever it has been shown.

"This massive tire, which has traveled thousands of miles, visiting various sections of the United States and Canada, has been an object of wonderment. It measures twelve feet in height and four feet in width, and the total weight of the tire and yoke is 3,900 pounds, just a fraction under two tons," said Mr. Furse.

"This tire was built by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company of Akron, Ohio, in line with that company's policy of pioneering and research, through which have come many of the most important developments in the tire industry. The longer folks look at it the more interested they become."

"A well-known airplane manufacturer, while focusing his attention on the unique exhibit, remarked that the day was not far distant when planes of huge type would demand tires the size of the one to be exhibited in our city."

"This great tire was not built in a day, or a week, or a month. Three months' time was required to construct the rubber giant, which is, except for size, an exact replica of the regular Goodyear All-Weather tread Supertwist cord tire, the measurements being in exact ratio to measurements and manufacture of the regular size tire.

"Air? Yes, plenty of it is necessary for this mammoth casing. Forty-five minutes time is required for inflation to a pressure of three pounds."

"The tire is attached to a specially constructed bus by two shafts extending from the chassis."

Fences, 3 Miles Long, Must Have Unlocked Gates

AUSTIN, Tex., May 31—Ruling by the attorney general that a land-owner cannot deny ingress to persons going to a navigable stream from a public road, has been limited by another ruling restricting the privileges of the right-of-way across fenced farms or pastures.

The new ruling also discovered a new error in the codification of state laws, which now makes it unlawful for any land-owner to have a fence more than three miles long without an unlocked gate.

Both rulings were given to County Attorney Lawrence L. Bruhl of Llano county and grew out of complaints of land owners of alleged trespass by those going to large streams to fish.

While a person cannot be prosecuted for criminal offense by trespassing and has civil action against those trespassing, the new ruling said:

It added that "a land-owner has the right to lock his gates and permit ingress only to those persons whom he desires to admit to his premises, except where the right of locking gates is limited by law."

The references to locking gates originally dealt only with public lands, but was brought forward in the 1925 codification without limit and applies to lands generally, the ruling said. This law was quoted as follows:

"It shall be unlawful for any person whomsoever, by joining fences or otherwise to build or maintain more than three miles lineal measure of fence running in the same general direction, without a gate-way in the same, which gate-way must be at least 10 feet wide, and shall not be locked."

The burning of firewood by those on land of another, though privileged to go to a public stream would be actionable, the opinion said.

Crossing Land Not Trespass
Mr. Bruhl asked the second opinion to answer questions arising under circumstances when persons were enabled, under the first, to cross private lands on their way to navigable streams.

He asked: "Since entering and traveling across the enclosed lands of another is not an offense under Art. 1377, may such mere trespassers be excluded entirely—for instance by such acts as locking gates?"

The new ruling, written by Asst. Atty. Gen. R. D. Cox Jr., answered that except where the three-mile fence law applies, a land-owner may lock his gates and deny admission to those he may wish; that entry upon enclosed lands by persons on their way to public streams is not punishable as an offense, but that the land-owner may bring civil actions—that is, damage suits—against them. It also held degradations, damage to property or burning of firewood subject to prosecution.

BOGOTA, Colombia, May 31—Colombian troops were in pursuit today of a group of bandits who had occupied the Coscoez Emerald mine but fled at the approach of the soldiers.

The bandits offered no resistance to the troops, it was said, and retired into the hills.

Huge Airships of the Future May Land on Immense Tires Like These Free Booklet Gives Full Particulars

It's 12 feet tall, 4 feet wide—a "regular" Goodyear All-Weather Tread Supertwist Cord tire, except for size. The inner tube alone weighs 125 pounds. Yet this giant of tiredom can be inflated in 45 minutes—it requires only 3 pounds of pressure.

It isn't merely a "stunt." Some day huge airships may land on tires of this size. Goodyear will be ready.

Bernadine listened to him with her eyes growing wider. Alant caught the meaning of her uncomprehending expression. Then it came out. Alan declared, when Bernadine told him the name of the stock she wanted him to buy for her, that she must have been mistaken. He read the letter, he said, several times. He couldn't have made such an error.

He said it with increasing consternation, his hand on the bell that summoned Phillipa to his room. Bernadine's insistence that she had not made a mistake, reiterated over and over, was intolerably convincing.

"Miss West, please get me Mrs. Lamont's latest letter," he snapped at Phillipa, when she came in. "The one I took to Mr. Wellson this morning," she asked innocently.

Alan glared at her. "Yes, of course," he answered impatiently. Phillipa knew she was exasperating him and it delighted her. She felt she owed him many uneasy moments. She went out with a deliberation that made Alan want to shout after her to hurry.

Instead, he turned to Bernadine. "We'll see in just a moment," he said, "but I'm sure I'm right."

"It's terrible," Bernadine cried; "but Alan, I know you're not!"

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Rep. Fred Johnson of Nebraska today possessed a pair of chromium-plated, leather-cased horseshoes symbolic of his victory in the great congressional horseshoe-pitching contest yesterday.

CHICAGO, May 31.—Employees of western railroads will ask for a five-day week in all future contracts, officers of the Railway Employees Union have notified the railroads. The Chicago convention of railway employees voted favorably to present the request in all agreements negotiated in the future.

Many Contests In State Senate Races This Year

At Least Seven of the Fifteen Seats Becoming Vacant Will Be Contested Survey Shows

AUSTIN, Tex., May 31.—State senate races for at least seven of the 15 seats becoming vacant this year will be contested, a survey just before closing of the ballot lists has disclosed.

Twelve of the present 15 senators whose terms expire are indicated as candidates for re-election seven of them so far opposed. Prospects are for opposition in at least one of these districts.

Senators Thomas B. Love, Dallas; W. D. McFarlane, Graham and A. J. Wirtz, Seguin, are retiring this year.

Besides the 15 expiring terms, for hold-over senators are candidates to other offices. Vacancies will occur this fall in the district of each of these four senators who may be elected, and will be filled at special election. These four are: John W. Hornsby, Austin, candidate for congress.

Nat Patton, Crockett, candidate for railroad commissioner.

Cliff Small, Wellington, candidate for governor.

Edgar E. Witt, Waco, candidate for lieutenant governor.

Here are the seven contested races:

Ben G. O'Neal, prominent Wichita Falls lawyer, president of the Isaac Walton league, advocate of tax equality and judicial reform, is in the field against three other candidates for the place now held by Sen. McFarlane. His opponents are Roy Daniels, Wichita Falls, G. W. Backus of Vernon and Rube Letfin of Henrietta. Filings in this district will close Monday.

Other persons have been mentioned as possible last-minute entrants.

Pep Grady Woodruff of Wise county, Sen. Eugene Miller, of Weatherford, and True Strong, Nacona, former house member from Dallas, are candidates for the seat now held by Miller.

One republican candidate is in the field for the state senate. He is Reno Eickenroht of Seguin. Tom Gambrell, Lockhart lawyer, W. K. Perkins, Gonzales lawyer and present house member, will contest for the democratic nomination as senator to succeed Sen. A. J. Wirtz.

Senators retiring and will meet Eickenroht, republican candidate, in the general election.

Former Sen. W. E. Doyle of Teague, has entered the field to oppose Sen. Julien P. Greer of Athens, candidate for re-election.

Sen. Julien Hyer, Fort Worth, who is completing his first term, will announce for re-election. He will be opposed, Fort Worth dispatches said, by P. S. Banner, former Travis county man not residing in Fort Worth.

Sen. Ed Westbrook of Sherman has an opponent, Rep. J. J. Loy of Sherman; W. S. Moore, Gainesville, and Cecil Moore of Gainesville has for opponents Rep. S. E. Barnett of Greenville and Will A. Harris of Point, Tex.

Possible opposition of Sen. W. R. Cousins, Beaumont, was rumored in the district, but had not materialized late in the week.

Following senators are unopposed for re-election, unless last minute entries come in:

T. J. Holbrook, Galveston; Gus Russek, Schulenburg; Walter P. Woodall, Houston; Walter C. Woodward, Coleman; Miss Margie Neal, Carthage, and Archie Parr, Duval county.

Rep. George Purl so far was unopposed for senator in the Dallas district.

Filings will be open in Dallas, Tarrant and Harris county districts until June 14, since these districts comprise one county only. In all the others, filings close Monday.

Sen. Parr, czar of the Southwest section, may stand as the last remaining big boss of political affairs, through his unopposed re-election, with the crumbling of the Baker regime of Hidalgo county; the considerable undermining of the reign of R. B. Creager, head of the republican organization; and the virtual break-up of the political machine in San Antonio.

Sen. Parr, unless an undisclosed "dark horse" should get into the race by Monday night and beat him, will return as the dean of the upper house, the only man to have served continuously since before the Ferguson impeachment of 1917.

In the Wichita Falls district race both Loftin and Daniels have been former members of the house.

Mr. O'Neal has been active in sponsoring legislation both in Texas and Oklahoma, in the interest of game propagation and protection for the southwest, as head of the Isaac Walton league. He has announced himself definitely in line with the progressive policies of equalizing taxation and of reforming judicial procedure.

Platform declarations of neither Loftin, Daniels nor Backus have so far been received here.

Rep. Grady Woodruff of Wise county, who is contesting with Sen. Miller and True Strong for the senatorship of his district, was author of the inquiry into the state land office, following Gov. Moody's demand for a change in the laws empowering the land office to see university and school land oil leases. His inquiry resulted in the impeachment hearing and the final failure to prefer charges against Land Commr. J. T. Robison. Mr. Woodruff, former University of Texas man, was a lead among the "B Hall" men who represented the "democratic" or non-fraternity group on the campus. He was a resident of the historic B Hall.

Sen. Doyle, veteran lawyer of Teague, served one previous term in the upper house. The district for which he has announced includes Anderson, Freestone, Navarro, Kaufman and Henderson counties.

Sen. Greer, Athens school teacher, has devoted much of his interest to legislative matters affecting education. Mr. Greer served four years in the house, and is completing his second term in the senate, the first of two years, the present one of four years.

Sen. Moore at Greenville, is asking re-election to his third term in the senate, having entered the body in 1924 first for a two-year term, then for a four-year term. He previously served four years in the house. His district embraces Hunt, Collin, Rains and Rockwall counties.

Sen. Moore is an editor, 42 years of age, native of Missouri who has been 18 years in Texas.

Lamont Returns

NEA New York Bureau Thomas W. Lamont, partner in the banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., New York, is shown here as he returned the other day from a business trip to London. He is one of the nation's foremost financiers.

Mr. Gambrell of Lockhart is a well-known lawyer, graduate of the University of Texas law school. He has been located in Lockhart since he began his practice. The district for which he seeks office is composed of Hays, Blanco, Caldwell, Guadalupe, Comal and Gonzales counties. He is preparing to make tax reform a major issue of his campaign.

Mr. Eickenroht, Seguin editor, is the only republican member of the present legislature. He announces his candidacy as an opponent of "combines that serve to throttle and squelch prosperity of the individual citizen;" and in favor of readjustment and reform, of present "confiscatory" taxes. He proposes, he has announced, to vigorously assail lobby activities about the legislature. Mr. Eickenroht is the only candidate in his district whose platform has been received here.

Mr. Hopkins of Gonzales who has been a member of the house committee on revenue and taxation since 1921, is now in the legislature, tax measures that were proposed before it. He was one of the sponsors of the plan to call in leading representatives of business and industry, during the 30-day special session, to counsel with the committee on tax policies, and before the plan was killed by the voted disapproval of the house, he had nominated as his member of the committee a prominent Houston man.

Sen. Westbrook has served the past four years in the upper body of the legislature. Prior to that, with an interval of six years, he had served eight years in the same body; and still earlier had been a member of the house on two occasions.

Miss Neal of Carthage, for re-election, is now in the legislature. Miss Neal was one of the committee on education, one of the past legislative leaders in the educational measures that were sponsored during the past years.

The senate journal of the session, 1929, shows that following members of the mentioned in this summary among the 21 voting in the submission of the question of a statewide high issue.

Cousins, Greer, Holbrook, Westbrook, Woodall, Wood, Sen. Russek was recorded.

Sen. Parr, Miller, Hyer, Sen. Russek was recorded.

Miss Neal who was at last session ill was absent, occasionally.

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Colonel Roberto Pierra, Mexican flier, postponed tomorrow his take-off to New York where he will make a non-stop flight to Co City.

BOSTON, May 31—Martin Landry, 31, was yesterday when struck on the head by a discus thrown by Jones of Lima, O., a Lehigh University athlete, in a IC-4A games.

The Very Latest In Aviation!

NEA New York Bureau Here's Henry "Buddy" Bushmeyer, noted daredevil parachute jumper of Roosevelt Field, N. Y., with his newest invention, which he calls "The Angel Machine." The outfit consists of a miniature airplane propeller and tiny gasoline engine that a parachutist can strap to his chest and turn on while in mid-air, the propeller pulling him forward at 20 miles an hour while the jumper's hands are extended into the stream behind him to form the rudder. The date for the first attempt has not yet been set nor have the pallbearers been named, but all other arrangements are complete.
