Prison Survey Committee Is At Austin Today

Just Returned From Month's Inspection Tour of Other State Prisons Committee. Ready to Compile Data.

AUSTIN, Sept. 6.—Members of the joint prison survey committee, just home from a month's inspection tour of state prisons, gathered at the capitol here today to arrange for compilation of a report which will recommend to Governor Dan Moody and the legislature an entirely new prison system. They will meet in executive session.

Problems of centralization and relocation which have been before the state for ten years will be thrashed out in the report, which will contain recommendations for a new prison system combining the best features of the 23 state institutions visited by the committee on its 5,000 mile tour.

But one thing seemed certain as the committee prepared to meet today—that a brand new prison, centrally located, would be recommended. Such a prison, it is estimated by members of the committee, would ultimately cost $5,000,000. An institution that would care for the present number of inmates could be built for $2,000,000, however, with additions being made as desired until the system is complete.

The report of the committee, due before Dec. 1, is expected to be complete in every detail, giving recommendations for the type and size of the buildings to be erected, the location of the prison and the work to be done by the inmates.

Best Flatwood Community Fair Ever Held Is Revealed In Quality of Exhibits Yesterday

The droth of the past several weeks did not mean a poor class of exhibits at the Flatwood community fair yesterday, when the best quality of exhibits ever displayed at a Flatwood fair was revealed, according to the judges of the various classes of exhibits.

Most of the agricultural products exhibited were grown with very little rain, if any, and County Agent J. C. Patterson and Miss Ruth Ramey, county home demonstration agent, regard the achievement of the Flatwood fair as deserving much praise.

Every year has meant a better fair for Flatwood, Mr. Patterson says, and this season the community fair exceeds all others held at that place in previous years.

One hundred and thirty-five first places were awarded in the 135 different classes of exhibits. A child's clinic, held in connection with the fair, was under the direction of Drs. L. C. Brown and R. C. Ferguson of Eastland.

Bill Ramey won first place in a Yo-Yo contest, second place going to Willie Mae Garrett, and third place to J. W. Smith.

Executed Last Night at 12:10

Fought to Last Moment, and Is Said to Have Made No Statement.

HUNTSVILLE, Sept. 6.—Henry Helms paid with his life in state's prison shortly after midnight last night when he was electrocuted for participation in the "Santa Claus" robbery of the Cisco National bank, Dec. 23, 1927.

The current was turned on at 12:10 a. m. and Helms was pronounced dead six minutes later. They said Helms fought to the last.

That was before witnesses were told to hold their tongues. Newspapers were barred from the execution chamber. The only information of his struggles was obtained through witnesses who volunteered it before they were told to remain silent. Helms fought to escape from the bank, where four robbers got $12,000 on Dec. 23, 1927; he fought to escape capture and two officers were killed; he fought through the courts. And he fought his way down the longest walk in Texas—from a row of little cells to a little room in which sits a big chair. He fought until he was trapped in the chair and the first surge of electricity sent his body taut against the straps.

He had fought against death which was inevitable. He had fought against death which was inevitable. He had fought against death which was inevitable.

He heard the death warrant read at 8:55 p. m., without opening his mouth. He was bathed, shaved and attired in the new black suit.

When Assistant Warden Homer Knight, accompanied by guards, appeared at Helms' cell shortly after midnight, the condemned man was lying on his bunk, a fan blowing on his face.

Guards entered the cell to escort him to the chair. As they moved him to the corridor that leads to the death chamber, Helms pushed his heels into the floor and held back.

Down the thirty feet to the death room Helms bucked. Four guards were required to drag him to the "little green door."

Through the door went the knot of struggling men. Helms continued to struggle until he was strapped in the shining chair.

The execution was rushed. Night Warden H. J. Howard pulled the switch. The usual three charges went through Helms' body. He was strapped in the chair at 12:10 a. m. At 12:16, he was dead officially.

Witnesses said that Helms kept his lips locked tightly even during the death struggle. While it could not be learned definitely, Helms was given an opportunity to talk immediately before the switch was pulled, one official declaring that "the man had nothing to say."

COMMENTS ON GAS TAX. The gasoline tax is the giant of industry and it will swell up and burst wide open within three years after it gets unpopular.

The prophet is W. S. Booten, chief tax collection officer of Tennessee, who should know his gas taxes. He suggested that the North American Gasoline Tax conference, at its annual meeting, discuss "Is the gasoline tax starting to commit suicide?"

The situation would indicate that the three-year period of grace already has begun. Newspaper editors have been hurling ink at the gas tax whenever it has reached an unreasonable amount.

Motorists and their organizations have said more than one mouthful against it. There is a general belief that a good thing has been done.

Mr. Booten said some counties and cities are imposing gas taxes of their own, but he didn't tell the whole story. Three states have a six-cent tax. An eight-cent rate has been proposed in two more. Other commonwealths are considering large increases.

It will cost about $450,000,000 to feed the giant this year. Here are a few comments: Gasoline users everywhere are beginning to "sit up and take notice" of just how they are being imposed upon and just how they are likely to be imposed upon still more unless they get busy with their protest and move to make it potent.

Not only is the gas consumer being taxed unconscionably by the states, but the counties are taking a hand in the thing and the municipalities are beginning to nibble. What the end is to be, the Lord alone knows—and, unfortunately, He won't tell.—Atlanta (Ga.) Georgian.

Except for the half-dozen states which, in their original acts endorsing the gasoline tax, allotted a part of the income to other uses than road improvement, few gasoline tax diversion proposals have become law, but every year bills are being more urgently pressed, providing for allotments to the general tax fund, to schools and to park systems. This is a perversion of taxation logic.—Engineering News Record.

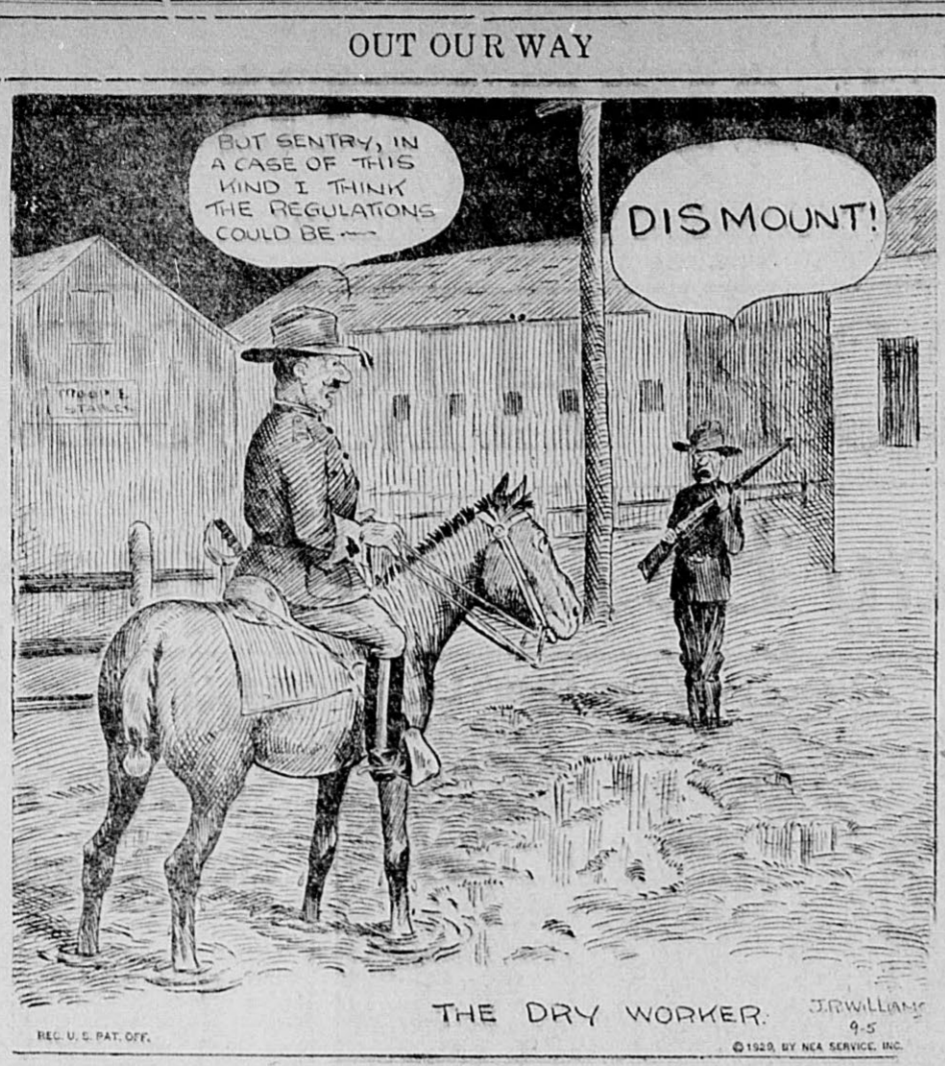

No one questions the justice of making motorists pay a fair share towards the upkeep and expansion of the highways but the speed with which taxes have increased makes it imperative that they look into the policies under which the money is expended and also keep up insistence for economy in administration.—Pittsburgh (Pa.) Post-Gazette.

The automobile using public has never objected to paying its fair share of highway costs. The steady increase in gas tax rates suggests, however, that some effort should be made to define what that fair share is.—Auto Trade Journal.

Watch the gasoline taxes; there lies the making of one of the greatest raids and scandals to which the state has been subject in generations.—Raleigh (N. C.) Times.

Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, is one of the largest military posts maintained by the United States. It has 12,000 officers and men in its area and, at the average annual cost of $1,100 for each soldier's upkeep, the total receipts from that source are more than $13,000,000 a year, exclusive of civilian employes and additional capital investments. The federal military plant at San Antonio, including flying fields and target ranges, is of an estimated value of $26,341,326.

GRAND JURY RECESSES Nineteen felony bills were returned by the 8th district court jury when that body recessed yesterday, subject to call.

THE DRY WORKER. J. WILLIAMS 9-5 © 1929, BY NCA SERVICE, INC.

in the "Santa Claus" robbery of the First National bank of Cisco December 23, 1928. The current was applied at 12:10 a. m. and Helms was pronounced dead six minutes later.

The iron nerve of Helms, remained with him Thursday night, as the big clock atop the penitentiary tolled away the hours.

Henry himself was not destined to hear the big time piece strike one. His head and one leg shaved for the electrodes that passed the fatal current through his body, the Cisco bank robber sat in his cell awaiting the death march a few minutes after midnight. From time to time he dromed the song that failed to convince an Eastland jury of his insanity.

Occasionally, as during his trial, Henry cried out softly, "Hey Captain."

The singing and the crying, however, were no longer put forth as evidences of a disordered mind. Henry knew—he had been told by Warden Tarrell and he listened carefully—that his last legal chance was gone. He had been told and he listened to the talking, that Governor Moody would not intercede in his behalf. He knew that the privilege of ordering their own meals, that the prison authorities extend to all the condemned on their last day on earth, was now his. Thursday he ordered sausage for lunch and for supper more sausage, some cabbage and cantaloupe.

Helms' food preference were made known to Capt. R. C. Miller, with whom he talked. It was the first time that he had conversed with anyone, insofar as prison authorities know, since he was sentenced on July 6, by Judge George L. Davenport. In the penitentiary, awaiting execution, and here, where he was brought for his sanity trial last week, Helms paid no attention to those who spoke to him, and uttered nothing but the words of his song and the call of "hey, captain."

Even when his mother flung her arms about him and begged him to recognize her he continued his dumb show of insensibility to what was going on.

Helms' head and leg were shaved at 6:30, an hour after his chosen supper. Then he was returned to his cell to wait for midnight. Ratliff Muses Four cells away Marshall Ratliff also under death sentence for his part in the Cisco bank robbery, which cost the lives of Bit Bedford and George Carmichael, Cisco police officers, and L. E. Davis, one of the bandits, sat thinking of his own chances of beating the electric chair. Ratliff's appeal has failed to overturn the verdict and punishment assessed against him, but the Court of Criminal Appeals has yet to act on his motion for rehearing. Ratliff is assured of life for some time. It will be next month when the court reconvenes before his motion can be acted upon. Then it will be weeks before his sentence can take effect, if rehearing is denied him. He may possibly elect to try what Henry Helms failed to obtain—a verdict of insanity. Should he do this the hearing would be at Abilene.

Long strings of both independent and standard prices came out on the tape at prices showing gains of fractions to more than three points. Royal Dutch, Pan American and Atlantic Refining were best gainers. Standard of New Jersey whirled up more than four points, while standard of New York gained more than two in heavy turnover. Substantial gains also were made by Mexican Seaboard, Trans-Continental, Sinclair and Texas corporation.

In the utility division new highs were attained by American Water works, American Power and Light Standard Gas and wide gains were made by American and foreign power, Public Service of New Jersey, Consolidated Gas and Electric Power and Light.

Will Build Home

One of the projects of this committee is to build a home for the faithful workers who have come upon bad days. Here they will be surrounded by friends among whom they may recount the brighter days' wonders before they pass on to the greater locations beyond. The men of the great corporations which make the Exposition what it is will not permit their industry's pioneers to lie in the potters field.

Scores of old timers have attended the programs of past expositions. During the past two years, the presence of these veterans has been featured. That the veterans might think of the oil show, bronze medals were awarded. An organization of old timers of the oil industry was proposed and Joseph Evans, president of the Devonian Oil company, was elected president. Evans' election was a happy choice, because in his 62 years experience in the industry he learned to understand and sympathize with the much less successful men of the oil fraternity. It would be difficult to find an old timer who does not know "Uncle Joe" Evans.

This year it is planned to incorporate the old timers association. The replica of the Drake well on the exposition grounds is being fitted up to provide a comfortable club room for the veterans. The bronze mementoes will be awarded and a successor to James Amm, Grand Old Man of the Oil Industry of the World, will be elected.

Many additions to the exposition museum have been made. The tools used to bring in the first gas well in Louisiana in 1821 have been lent to the exposition by that state. There are more than 20 pieces in this display alone.

The Drake tools, insured for $10,000, will be shown. These are loaned by Louis Emery of Bradford, Pa. The Bradford fire department has loaned the oil show the Moses bit and the Fox torpedo. There will also be a large exhibition of old time photographs taken of the earliest wells, and the barges loaded and ready for the dam to be broken.

Grandview

GRANDVIEW, Sept. 6.—Every one is very busy gathering corn and picking cotton.

Avery Yarbrough is taking up his peanuts this week. From all reports, peanuts will be very sorry this year.

Several from here attended the ball game at Staff Sunday, Alameda and Staff played ball. There are several men and boys from here plays on the Alameda team. The scores were 5-6 in favor of Staff.

The 4-H club boys, who took corn as their project are gathering it now. Some said the corn was very good for this section. The girls are always doing something to keep up with the boys.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Brightwell and daughters, Ruth and Zena spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. O. Bethany.

Clarence Williams has returned to Wehner.

Miss Johanna Brightwell spent Saturday night with Misses M. L. and E. J. Huff.

Several from here attended Baptist preaching Sunday night.

The ones who are going to Gorman school another year are: Ruth and Zena Brightwell, Beulah Goodwin, E. B. Choate, and Alvis Denton.

Washington Letter

Resolution went through late in the session.

At the time the Walsh resolution was introduced, Senator Watson of Indiana was chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee, a conservative who seldom if ever has given the more powerful interests any trouble. Now the chairman is Senator Jim Couzens of Michigan, who is notoriously independent of outside influences. Among the other members are such independents as Howell of Nebraska, Brookhart of Iowa, Dill of Washington and Wheeler of Montana.

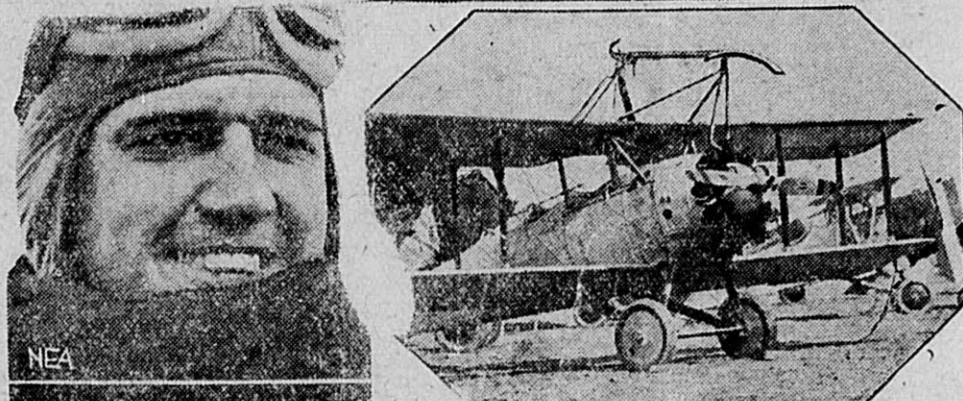

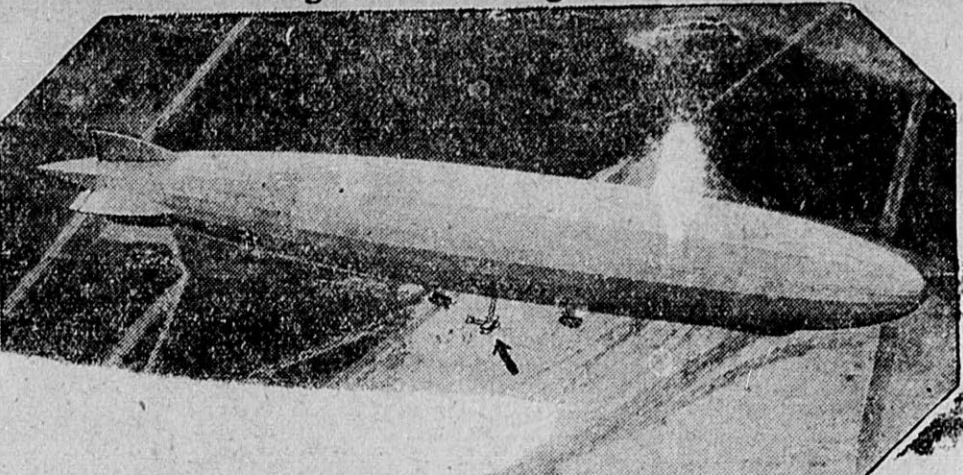

Just how deeply this committee will probe cannot yet be predicted, but if supporters of the Couzens resolution outside the Senate have their way it will go very deep indeed.

First there is the power angle. Despite the vigorous investigating tactics of the Federal Trade Commission, there are still plenty of senators who would like to go after the "power trust." In one of their own investigations, recent doings at the Federal Power Commission, where there seems to be a row between those who want to be extraordinarily nice to the power companies and those who don't, would be one point of attack. And there are other things some senators would like to investigate which come outside the Trade Commission's inquiry.

Outsiders Are Interested

Second, there's the "radio trust." Independent radio concerns, organized in the Radio Protective Association, are all primed to go after the combination of the Radio Corporation, General Electric, American Telephone & Telegraph, Westinghouse, and United Fruit companies on the allegation that they have formed monopolies through illegal use of patents.

Transfer Passenger From Dirigible o Plane in Mid-Air

Here's how an airplane was hooked on to a giant dirigible and a passenger transferred to the plane in mid-air in the first test of the kind ever made, witnessed by 100,000 awed spectators at the National Air Races at Cleveland. Lieutenant A. W. Gordon, navy flyer, below, hooked his standard navy fighting plane (shown below) to a device lowered from the Los Angeles and Lieutenant Calvin Bolster climbed down to the plane. Above is the Los Angeles over the airport, with an arrow indicating a sketch showing how the hook-up between plane and dirigible was made. The thrilling mid-air stunt was performed to demonstrate the ability of dirigibles as airplane carriers, as the two new dirigibles now being built for the navy will each carry several planes to take off and return in mid-air.

WHY WE TALK ABOUT THE WEATHER

By Mehran K. Thompson, Ph. D., Author of "The Springs of Human Action"

"Nice day," you say to a stranger, and he agrees with you. What else is there for him to do? Any one can see that it is a nice day. You have picked out a self-evident fact which needs no further proof. As a bit of information it is ridiculously absurd. Of course your object was not to inform the other person, but simply to make conversation and to show a friendly attitude.

We talk about the weather because it is the safest topic of conversation. If you approach a stranger with the jubilant declaration: "Isn't it fortunate that we have a republican president?" you may make a hit; you may get hit. You will fare no better by opening up on a religious topic or any other where there is the slightest chance of a difference of opinion. The weather leaves no room for prejudice or personal opinion.

The weather is a safe bet because you are not responsible for it. The person whom you greet with "Nice day," may not want it nice on this particular occasion. Perhaps he predicted bad weather and placed a bet on his calculations. But he can't be offended at you because he knows you are in no way responsible.

The weather is a handy topic among friends as well as among strangers. If the meeting is brief, the weather is about as good as any for a greeting which he can straightway forget and not have to brood over your meaning and hidden motives.

The weather also serves as a legitimate topic of conversation in its own right. To greet another person with "Fine day," and have his reply, "Yes, very fine," adds something to your enjoyment, especially if it is the first good day in many bad ones. We enjoy sharing a good thing with another when it costs us nothing and we have more of it by giving part away. Similarly, it releases some of the emotional depression to share a bad day. Whether the day is fair or foul, there is an emotional release in talking about it.

The weather is a very useful topic in the emotional and social give-and-take of daily life. It is a shock absorber. We have the pleasure of conversation without the risk of being contradicted.

We talk about the weather because we can talk without saying anything.

There are now four trappers employed by the county, the fourth man having been placed at work Wednesday. The Federal government is paying $200 a month toward the salaries of the trappers.

Citizens of the Southwestern part of the state will seek to get the state to buy 20,000 acres in the Davis Mountains for use as a State Park. If the State can secure park sites on a reasonable basis—not a few of the designated State parks have been given—a State park system would be an ever increasing source of pleasure to the future citizens of Texas. With few exceptions, however, the State has shown little interest in the maintenance and improvement of those parks already received.

Innocent Cheat

THIS HAS HAPPENED HELEN PAGE feels unhappy when the girls at the Spahn Boarding school tease her about being Miss Simplicity just to please her handsome guardian, LEONARD BRENT, who supplies her with ample funds and smart frocks which are brought from Paris for her by a woman friend whom Helen has never met.

The fact that he has never permitted her to meet any of his friends worries her, too. But she will not question his reason even though her roommate, SHALLIMAR MORRIS, taunts her about shrinking back without speaking one afternoon at the Ritz when they see him there with a striking looking woman. Shallimar accuses Helen of being in love with Brent, calls her a fool to give up smoking, dancing and parties for him, and ends by saying that "There's something wrong with the picture."

Next time Brent takes her out to dinner, Helen begs him to tell her about her parentage and early life, but he refuses until after she graduates. She begs, and then objects to going home early when he tells her he has an engagement. He is stern and tells her "There is one thing you must never do."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY Helen swayed a little, standing herself against the impact of dancing couples. She was too dismayed to speak. What had she done, what had her impetuous words meant to her guardian to cause him to end their dance abruptly and speak so sternly to her?

While she searched her mind for an answer Brent led her back to their table. She sat limply in her chair, waiting for him to explain his admonition.

He started to speak but the waiter arrived with the melon and Brent held his tongue. But the instant they were alone the words came quick and precise.

"Interference," he said, "is one thing that I will not tolerate. "Interference?" Helen whispered the word with difficulty.

"You must never question me," Brent went on relentlessly. "But Leno, I didn't."

"Please, Helen. You must listen to me. You have been groomed at Miss Spahn's for a role that requires implicit faith in my decisions. It will be necessary at all times for you to accept my word and my judgment without question. Your own wishes will be secondary to mine."

He paused and regarded her intently. Helen sat quite still. "If you think that will be impossible—that you cannot submerge your own opinions and desires—we will not go on. You may choose your own path. But you must decide now."

It was brutal. No one, not even the girl before him, knew so well as he what her answer would be. For years he had taken an evil satisfaction in his domination of her: evil because he knew it was based on her tremendous capacity for loving, her inability to curb or limit her affection.

It seemed to her that he questioned her loyalty even to give her the choice he named. Why, she belonged to him. Her life was his. She lived for no one or nothing else.

"I'm sorry," she said simply. "Then please remember what I have told you. And now eat your melon like a good girl."

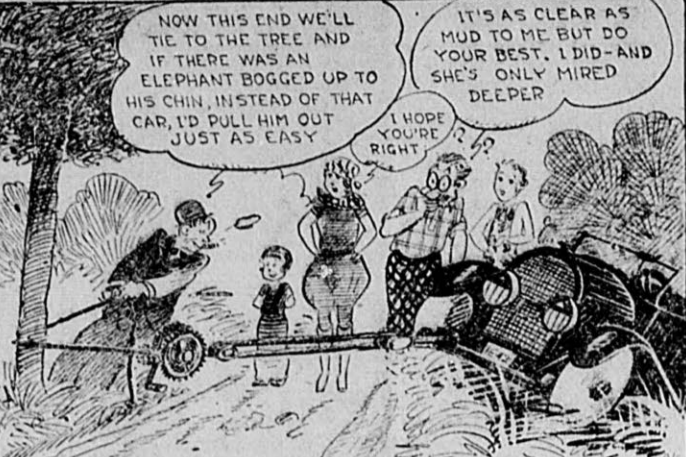

But Helen could not eat it. The very strength of her that sent her devotion out to him in wholehearted measure refused the humiliation of being treated like a child. It wounded her but she forgave it, though the melon remained untouched.

Brent was too selfish to notice. He ate his own melon with relish. Before they were served again he suggested another dance. Helen declined and he did not urge. He could read her mind as though it were a book. Best to turn the whole incident off lightly, make her forget it.

So he set himself to entertain her, and when they arrived back at the school Helen was again in a rapturous state of mind. It would soon be the end of June and she would go away with Leno—somewhere—to be with him every day. It would be sweet to have nothing to do but live for him, nothing else to think of but ways to delight him, to keep him with her always. And perhaps, some day, he would discover that she was a woman and not a child any longer.

MINERAL WATER

A city built upon the foundation of its own natural resources is bound to be a success. It is quite true that all communities cannot become industrial centers, regardless of the popular belief that they should. Taking every thing into consideration the City of Eastland is making fair progress in building upon the natural foundation of oil, gas and electrical energy. There is one other natural resource, perhaps a minor one at present, but one that might be expanded and prove a wonderful source of prosperity to this community.

A mineral water exists in the sands beneath this city that has proven under certain circumstances to be a valuable aid in restoring health to the afflicted. Taken internally it eliminates waste material and a course of baths with this water under proper medical supervision has been found to be a valuable remedial agent.

Many cities have been built upon mineral water of no greater value than we have. Such cities as Hot Springs, Ark., Mount Clemens, Michigan and West Baden, Indiana to say nothing about our lively neighbor Mineral Wells.

The use of this valuable asset in the way of a bath house has been going on in our city in a modest way for several years. It would be of lasting credit to the chamber of commerce if it could attract capital sufficient to develop this resource in a large way.

SINCLAIR MAY GET OUT WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—It was learned authoritatively today that three court officials, including the sentencing judge, Frederick L. Siddons of the District of Columbia Supreme court, have reported favorably on the application of Harry F. Sinclair and West Baden, Indiana to say nothing about our lively neighbor Mineral Wells.

Jones Shows Tolley How to Play Links; Shoots Pebble Beach in 67

Playing in an international foursome the other day, in which he was paired with Jimmy Johnston of St. Paul against the two British players, Cyril Tolley and Eustace Storey, Bobby Jones shot a 67, five under par, establishing a record over the Pebble Beach links, scene of the national amateur championship tournament. Tolley, whose play on links has been so good this year he was regarded as a formidable threat at Pebble Beach, took a 79. The picture shows Jones, left, and Tolley at Pebble Beach.

BASES WERE FULL. Stein pitched an excellent game.

Shreveport downed Houston, 6 to 5, when Holman knocked a two-bagger that scored a run which broke a 5 to 5 tie. Holman had previously hit another home run, a single and a double.

Good pitching backed up by plenty of good support from the field enabled Jimmy Walkup to get the best of the game with San Antonio, played at Fort Worth. Fort Worth got off to a flying start by scoring five runs in the first inning, giving the Cats a lead that has never endangered. The final score was 7 to 2.

Football Luncheon At Breck on 13th

The annual Lions club luncheon to oil belt coaches, captains and sports writers will be held at the Breckenridge Y. M. C. A. on Friday the 13th, according to a letter from Jake Sandefer, who promises a good program. These annual affairs always prove interesting.

WHAT A BLAST!

What a blast! You say you want a great wonderful expert made before the season opened. The selections this great expert made before the season opened. The selections this great expert made before the season opened.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

JOHN MCGRAW says that the Cubs are all dissipating. . . . And Joe McCarthy knows it. . . . They dissipate on ice cream. . . . And are contenders for the ice cream eating champions of all times. . . . Tom Gibbons when he was in serious training for his most important fights used to inhale a quart of ice cream every night just before he went to bed. . . . The Babe used to train on hot dogs and pop. . . . And Gehrig keeps himself in shape by eating yards of eels. . . . Joe McCarthy thinks that the soreness in the arm of Gabby Hartnett is imaginary.

The Expert Is Pained

It causes us serious pain to our dignity when we recall that we named the Yankees, the Browns and the Tigers as the one-two-three clubs. And that we called the Athletics fourth and the Indians fifth. The Athletics are just about in now with the pennant and the Indians are almost a cinch to be in the first division. The Tigers flopped when Uhlir flopped. And the St. Louis Browns slumped when their young Mr. Crowder slumped.

Thanks to Them Guys

WHEN we look over the selections again we see that the great wonderful expert is not being betrayed by Washington, Chicago and Boston in the American League. That's something to be thankful for.

being spent in corruption, he cites the offer of $25,000 made to Police Chief Morgan Collins of Chicago to permit one gang to transport its beer unmolested for 20 days, and another offer of $250,000 made to E. C. Yellowly, Chicago prohibition administrator, for the protection of a single alcohol plant. He points out that Hymie Weiss, Chicago gang leader, when slain on his way to court, was found to have a complete list of witnesses for both defense and prosecution of his case in his possession, and that 70 gang leaders slain the past five years have been carrying sums totalling $500,000 in their pockets—ready to buy freedom or blindfold the law to their operations in any emergency. "And such money has been active all through the country in local politics," he concludes, "Everything that has happened in Chicago may happen in every large city in America within five years, as matters are now developing."

RANGER, Tex., September 6.—H. L. Atkins, Jr., of the Progressive Farmer was here today to score Dr. Bob Hodges' farm in the "Master Farmer" contest. Ben Whitehouse, vocational agriculturist, said that Dr. Hodges has a good chance to be awarded the honor of master farmer. The contest is State-wide. LIKE MAN MADE OVER NEW NOW

"I feel like a new man—made all over again and I'm glad to tell the whole world what Sargon has done for me."

"For the first time in 15 years I am free from pains and feeling fine. I've gained twelve pounds, too and that is something worth talking about, because I certainly was in a terrible rundown condition. "I had pains in my side for three years and they were so bad I could hardly stand them. My blood pressure was low and people my age know what that means, because it brings on all sorts of complications like headaches, shortness of breath and low vitality. That's not worrying me any more for my blood has been built up and even though I am 52 years old, I feel fine and full of energy all the time. "I'm through now with losing lots of time and spending lots of money on useless medicines. I know Sargon does the work and I'm not going to be without a bottle handy from now on." H. M. He already has a good assortment of four-footed performers lined up for the affair and with the sizeable cash prizes that will be offered to the winners of the various events, he anticipates a large list of talented leather and hemp artists taking part in the different contests on the program. Complete details of the affair will be announced within the next week, Cox said. Cecil Childers and Phil Griffin will assist in arranging the events and securing stock and contestants for the meet. Instructions have been given Cox and his assistants by the executive board of the exposition to put forth every effort and to spare neither time nor expense in preparing for the rodeo program at the fair. Arrangements for the military program to be staged at the fair on the afternoon of Sept. 26 under direction of Capt. Earl Hoppe, and to be participated in by the three National Guard units in Abilene and militia units from nearby towns, are going forward satisfactorily. Featuring that event will be the actual firing of several thousand shells by the artillery companies; infantry drills and formations and a sham battle in which a number of thrilling stunts will be provided.

Crippled Youth Miraculously Saved From Sinking Steamer

More than 70 persons are believed to have lost their lives when the coastal steamer, San Juan, and the oil tanker S. C. T. Todd (shown below) collided in a dense fog about 50 miles south of San Francisco. The picture above shows the first of the rescued, numbering about 40, to reach San Francisco. Hollis Priefer, a crippled boy, whose mother handed him over the rail of the San Juan to a rescue boat from the tanker, just as the coastal steamer was sinking, is shown being carried to an ambulance on his arrival at San Francisco.

CHILDREN'S CORNER

SOON THE TREES WILL GO TO SLEEP

By Mrs. W. K. Jackson
Soon, little children, you will be busy with school and vaking up after your long summer vacation to the need of getting up early ever morning, tucking your books under your arm after you have had your warm and nice breakfast, and trotting off to school, where you must be very wide-awake and keep up with your studies and learn ever so many things. But did you know that just when you are most wide-awake, for nine most months, that five months of that time, the trees will go to sleep? Yes, they take their rest and lose their lives and hug up close, getting ready for old king Winter and the sharp and cold winds of fall.

Little people, you go to bed every night, all tucked in, warm and comfy, after you have said your prayers; and somebody comes in and turns down the light so that you may close your eyes and dream into a deep sleep ready for school the next morning after your night's rest. But the trees have only the sky and stars that cover them at night, and the soft dew that falls and moistens their branches and limbs, which soon will shed all their pretty leaves excepting a few yellow ones here and there that flutter in the wind. And the trees are asleep but they don't wake up while the weather is cold, but they keep awake in their roots, and deep down in the dark ground, for the sap has sunk into those long tree fingers that grasp the earth and draw from the rich dirt the matters absorbed by the roots which is turned into fluid, that men call "sap." Children, this is

"Worth Thousands of Dollars to Feel Like I Do" He Says

After Fifteen Years' Suffering Breckenridge Hotel Man Finds Relief at Last With Orgatone.

"It's worth thousands of dollars to feel like I do now, since Orgatone has taken away the trouble that kept me in misery for the last 15 years," said J. P. Boales, well-known manager of the Colonial Hotel, Breckenridge, Tex., a few days ago.

"Whenever a man suffers as long as I did, he gets to the place where he feels like there is nothing going to do him any good," he continued, "and that's just the way I had begun to feel. Long ago I got to feeling so bad from nervousness and indigestion that I really didn't feel like carrying on my work, for spells of stomach trouble and nervousness just made a torture for me to try to eat, and the trouble I had wouldn't let me get a real night's rest at all. Many a night I've tossed and tumbled until morning, so shaky and nervous I would just doze off, then wake up again. My appetite was practically nothing and I was afraid to eat anything because of the after effects it would have, and I got so blue and discouraged I felt like I was just about at my row's end.

"I'd been well enough satisfied just to have my sufferings relieved, but that's not all Orgatone has done for me—I have gained several pounds in weight—since I started taking it. I can eat as hearty a meal as if I had never had stomach trouble at all, and my strength has come back to me so I can do as much work in a day as I ever could in my life. I just feel like a new man all over, and will be glad to tell anybody who wants to know, if they will call me, just what this wonderful medicine—Orgatone—did for me."

Genuine Orgatone is manufactured by one of the world's greatest laboratories and is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in standard, exclusively by the Texas Corner drug stores.—Adv.

World's Newest Songs, Stories At Connellee

"Appreciation Month Program Now Being Shown Here.

The world's newest songs, the world's newest stories and the world's greatest artists, in the greatest development of a generation, will contribute their part to the observance of "appreciation month," which was launched this week in Eastland by Manager William of the Dent theatres. During this four week's courtesy to the thousands of patrons in Eastland and vicinity, the local theatres will present what is described as the finest array of talking pictures ever shown in this city.

"Appreciation month" is a courtesy of appreciation to the patrons of the Dent theatres of Eastland for their patronage during the past 12 months.

"That the array of new pictures of the season is the finest that the studios of the world afford, is perhaps best known now only to those who have seen these productions. But as "appreciation month" wears on, those who see each and every one of these new releases, will realize that there is something new under the sun.

While many new stars have risen during the past 12 months many more have merely transferred their talents from the fast disappearing stage to the new talking and singing screen. Hundreds of the leading stars of Broadway now lend their names and talents to the talking screen. During the month, more than a score of them will be seen and heard just as they have been seen and heard on Broadway for years.

Nearly all the leading favorites of the silent screen have been retained for the new era and likewise they will be seen and heard in their new sphere.

The remarkable development which has been achieved during the past 12 months in voice recording and amplification is evident in the new pictures for 1929-30. The new natural color also will be evident in the new releases to be shown throughout this month and most noticeable will be the beauty and naturalness of this phase of picture progress.

While mighty progress has been made during the past few months, all of which is evident in the new pictures booked in the Connellee for "appreciation month," more refinements and progress may be expected during the coming year. But in the finished product to be shown during the current month the screen truly comes into its own as the greatest scientific development of the decade.

The dates for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention have been set for Oct. 24-26 at El Paso, postponement from the usual time being due to the expected visit of President Hoover to Texas at that time. An even larger attendance than usual is expected, and the organization's annual conventions have drawn tremendous crowds for these many years.

ST. FRANCIS XAVIER CHURCH

September 8th, 1929

Mass will be at 8 a. m. the sixteenth day after Pentecost. The gospel read after Mass Sunday is taken from Gospel of St. Luke XIV, I-II. Christ asks the Pharisees:—Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath Day. God himself instituted the Sabbath and repeatedly and expressly commanded the Israelites to observe it. "Remember that thou keep holy the Sabbath day. Six days shall thou labor, and shalt do all thy works. But on the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God; thou shalt do no work on it, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, nor thy man-servant, nor thy maid-servant, nor thy beast." Ex.XX.8. The Scribes and Pharisees went still further and exceeded the limits of the divine law by maintaining that not servile works only, but even works of charity, such as the healing of the sick, were unlawful on the Sabbath day. Christ showed them the folly of their opinion in the gospel of this day, when He proved to them that neither they nor others considered it unlawful or sinful to succor an animal that met with a mishap. Let us observe the Sabbath in a Christian spirit by going first to church, then perform any essential work and enjoy lawful recreation.

Rev. W. T. Turner, the pastor, has returned to the city and will preach at both the morning and evening service.

H. M. Sell, pastor. The airplane race the Sunday school is gathering interest, the planes now on their way to Anderson, Ind., where they will spend Sunday and then return home, reaching here on the 26th of Sept. (Rally Day.) The planes are hung on a wire around the auditorium and the cities are marked so that they reach one each Sunday. By the end of the race the planes will have gone all the way around the auditorium. Our attendance is expected to increase as the race progresses. The planes leave promptly at 9:45 each Sunday morning, be sure and meet the plane on time.

Rev. E. W. Barnett will speak at 11 Sunday morning. Mr. Barnett will be professor of Bible at the Warner Memorial University which is to open this fall in Eastland. Mr. Barnett is a graduate of the Anderson Seminary, in Anderson, Ind. He has been in Eastland before and is well appreciated by all those who know him.

C. G. Y. P. at 7:00. Mrs. H. M. Sell, president.

The evening service will be held in the chapel, rather than in the church yard. Services will begin at 8:00. Congregational singing, prayer and special songs. The pastor, Rev. Howard M. Sell will fill the pulpit. The message will be evangelistic.

Come and worship with us and we will do thee good.

First Christian Church.
All regular services will be held next Sunday at the usual hours. There was an increased attendance last Sunday in Sunday school and at the morning worship hour. We hope to have even a larger attendance next Sunday. It takes a little effort to attend services at the house of God, but what is there in life worth while which does not require effort. It always requires effort to climb. Most any one can just double up at every little pre- text and fall down, but he who would gain the heights must put forth a little effort.

Begin now to make preparations to attend all services next Sunday. The regular union Sunday night service will be held at the same place, only take notice that we will meet at 8 o'clock. Had a splendid attendance last Sunday night—may it be even better this Sunday night. Brother Ross is to bring the message.

The subject for the 11 o'clock hour will be "The Charm of the Unexpected." Want you to come if at all possible.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

George W. Shearer, pastor. Sunday school, 9:45. Morning services at 11; sermon by the pastor. Evening services—at 8, in union with the Presbyterian and Christian churches, on the lawn of the First Christian church. Dr. C. S. Fields of Dallas will address the congregation on subject "Woodrow Wilson."

Story of Conversion Deeply Interesting

RANGER, Tex., September 6.—Converted and called to preach when a sophomore in Elsinore, Calif. High school, Miss Ora Simmons, 19-year-old evangelist of Denver, Colo., who will begin a revival Sunday morning at the First Methodist church, already has carried the Gospel message into eight States.

Miss Simmons considers her entrance into the ministry "One of God's modern miracles." Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Simmons, who accompany her on the evangelistic tours, describe the girl evangelist as "timid and backward before her conversion."

She was in her second year in high school when she felt "called of God to preach." Miss Simmons related. She had never had any Bible training or even any instruction in public speaking.

"I had never spoken in public before, but I was not nervous in the least when I preached my first sermon," she said. "I have preached my first sermon," she said. "I have been preaching now more than three years."

To criticism of some churchmen today that "women have no right to the pulpit," Miss Simmons replied: "If I did not think women have as much right to preach as men I certainly would not be preaching. Jesus sent a woman out to preach the gospel from Jacob's well. He depended on Mary to preach the first sermon on His resurrection and said that all sons and daughters of man should bear witness of Him."

Rather frail physically, Miss Simmons almost is hidden when
