NO LINE SHOULD BE DRAWN When the United States entered the World War, this mighty nation called her sons to the battle field and no questions were asked as to political affiliation.

Now that nation, eleven years after the cannon have been still, it is about to take a great census. One hundred thousand men and women are needed to do this work and it is announced that preference will be given wherever possible to veterans and to their wives and widows.

But Congressman Louis Ludlow, Democrat, of Indiana, announces that he has made the discovery that politicians have planned to exclude veterans who are Democrats from recognition.

No administration, in distributing the rewards of military service, can afford to favor one group of veterans and ignore another group of veterans," he declares. "That is not a legitimate field for partisanship. Public opinion would be outraged by it. It caused a Democratic boy just as much pain to be torn from his family, thrown into the trenches and riddled with machine gun bullets as it caused a Republican boy. Equal in battle, they should be equal in private life."

He refers to one veteran who was riddled by machine gun fire at Belleau woods. The soldier was shot seven times and carried a bullet so close to his heart that the X-ray specialist said "When ever his heart beats, the bullet wiggles." When Ludlow discussed with another Congressman the matter of getting him appointed census enumerator, the reply was: "It's no use to try. He's a Democrat."

It is to be hoped that Congressman Ludlow will be successful in his attempt to obtain impartial and non-partisan treatment for the men who marched forth in the vigor of young manhood for their country and came back with broken bodies. If the government for which they fought has any rewards, they should be distributed with just hands. Until shown otherwise, we prefer to think that the national administration will follow this course.

FOREIGN NEWS

PARIS, Aug. 27.—Uncensored dispatches to the United Press from Beirut, Syria, today indicated that the rioting in Palestine between the Jews and Arabs was spreading rapidly to the small towns and villages and was becoming aggravated by the alliance of Moslems and Christians.

It was reported that Bedouin riders swooped down upon the town of Affoule and burned 20 houses. The correspondent said British planes were bombarding all assemblages in Palestine cities and towns.

The Quai D'Orsay announced today that a total of 500 Jews and Arabs were dead as a result of the Palestine riots since last Friday.

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—The Jerusalem correspondent of the Berlin Zeitung Am Mittag reported today that Arabs at Matza had burned seven Jews to death, mutilated women and tortured men. The Christians at Matza, it was reported, have marked their houses with a blue cross.

Fingers of Boy Blown Off By Dynamite Cap

SHERMAN, Tex., Aug. 28.—Grady Enoch, 14, had always been scientifically bent so when he found a dynamite cap in the road near his home he decided to experiment. Holding the cap in his left hand Grady touched a match to it and the result was a terrific explosion.

After the first shock of the explosion, Grady found that the thumb and two first fingers of his hand had been blown off. The experiment, he confessed today, was a costly one and will not be repeated again. Grady is the son of L. C. Enoch and lives two and a half miles south of Sherman.

Selecting Jury To Try Strikers

By ARTHUR F. DEGREVE United Press Staff Correspondent. CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 28.—Sixteen textile strikers moved one step nearer to the electric chair, prison or freedom today as selection of the jury to try them in connection with the alleged murder of Chief of Police Aderholt of Gastonia, was begun.

The regular panel of 14 jurors is expected to be exhausted rapidly and attorneys then will begin the arduous task of questioning a special panel of 200 ordered drawn by the court. Defense counsel, who have 168 challenges, expressed the opinion the entire 200 names would be exhausted and another panel drawn before the 12 men who are to try the strikers have finally been approved.

An interesting peculiarity of Southern court procedure is that after counsel for both sides have accepted the jury, each defendant will be given an opportunity to express personally his likes or dislikes of the men selected. Should one of the prisoners express a dislike for a juror selected, the juror is excused and by the same token if a juror expresses a dislike for any defendant the juror is excused.

The entire economic struggle of recent years in the south will be injected into the trial because definite today. By a ruling of Judge M. V. Barnhill the state will be restricted to presentation of evidence bearing on the actual murder of Police Chief Aderholt in Gastonia, for which crime the prisoners are charged, and on the charge that the strikers had conspired to keep the police away from their headquarters by force. The defense however, will be permitted to show the state of mind of the workers that led them to organize and precipitate the strike at the Loray mills in Gastonia, one of the events leading up to the Aderholt shooting, according to chief defense attorney.

Defense attorneys spent most of yesterday questioning state witnesses—a court procedure permitted by the laws of the state. Under these laws the prosecution is obliged to submit to the defense a complete list of its witnesses, who, however, are not compelled to answer leading questions on advice of counsel. Newspapers are not permitted to be present when the witnesses are questioned.

Texans in Net Play in Doubles Championships

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass., Aug. 28.—John Van Ryn of Orange, N. J., and Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., top-seeded Americans in the national doubles tennis championships being played on the Longwood cricket club courts here, meet their first serious challenge today when they oppose the Texans, Berkeley Bell and Lewis M. White, in a quarter final match.

Two foreign and six native entries comprise the field which will strive today to enter the semifinal brackets.

William T. Tilden, 2d, of Philadelphia and Francis T. Hunter of New Rochelle, N. Y., third seeded among the Americans, will oppose the American-South African combination of Gregory Mangin, Georgetown University player and Norman Farguharson.

The top seeded foreigners, H. W. Austin and J. S. O'Hiff of England meet Wilbur F. Coen, Jr., and Harris Cogleshall, who provided the tournament's first upset yesterday when they eliminated Fritz Mercier and J. Gilbert Hall, fourth-seeded American team.

In the other quarter-final today, George Lott, Jr., of Chicago and John Doeg of Santa Monica, Calif., second-seeded Americans, will be pitted against Frank X. Shields of New York and Donald Strachan of Philadelphia.

Divorce Mill Lawyers Elated

MERIDA, Yucatan, Aug. 28.—Lawyers who operate here in the world's speediest divorce mill are highly elated over a recent decision of New York Supreme Court Justice Faber holding valid a decree granted an American man and woman in proceedings at which neither party was present.

Especially elated is Roman Zapala Spat, native lawyer who handled that particular case and claims authorship of the divorce law of the adjoining state of Campeche under which divorce is possible within 24 hours without either party being present, and under which the decree was granted. Spat moved at once to capitalize this novel victory by issuing an advertisement a folder containing clippings from three New York newspapers telling of that decision. The husband contested the divorce on the ground that neither he nor his wife was present, both being in New York, that the divorce was a "mail-order divorce."

Justice Faber ruled that while there was possibility of fraud, both were represented in the Mexican court and therefore the divorce was valid. Spat and others regard the decision as a signal victory for a law that has been used by many Americans. They believe it may increase their American business, now a good one.

The divorce mill moved its actual operations from Merida about three years ago to Campeche in the state of the same name when Yucatan tightened her law so that a divorce required six months residence and the law drafted by Spat went into effect in Campeche.

However, the lawyers still have their headquarters here and those seeking separations spend their few days in this pleasant city of 400,000 population, going to Campeche only for the formal registration, which requires only a day usually.

Nearly every boat stopping here drops one, two or three American passengers seeking a divorce. The price ranges from $600 to $1,500, and the operation requires from 24 hours to 20 days.

Brothers United After 32 Years

DANVILLE, Aug. 28.—Two brothers who became separated more than thirty years ago were reunited here recently. William S. Marlow left Danville in 1897 to seek his fortune. A report that he had been killed in an accident was accepted as true by his other brother. Instead of being killed, however, William had gone to Saskatchewan, Canada, where he took up a government homestead of 320 acres. He farmed out the tract and later was manager of the telephone company at Herbert.

William, not much of a hand to write letters, finally became homesick and took a train to Danville where he received a joyous welcome from his brother who had thought him dead.

Chamber of Commerce Chips

By the Secretary
DR. H. B. TANNER

Hot Weather

Some one came in the office the other day and said: "It is awfully hot and dry; no rain for three months; cannot the chamber of commerce do something about this?"

Sure, we said, don't you know this is only a state of mind? This is old Mother Nature's baking time. What a glorious blessing sunshine is, we do not appreciate it as much as we should. For at this time of year all kinds of disease producing germs when exposed to bright sunlight, curl up and die. This is really the healthiest time of the year.

Then again, when the sunshine is doing this for us humans, it is drying up the grass and vegetation and killing the insects and plants and while all this is going on the soil is getting a rest. Then very soon the clouds roll up over the northwest and the rains come and the yield of the next year will be trebled.

Yes, we like this climate: hot and dry and all, for it breeds a lot of real go-getters among us humans.

The electric fan cooled his brow, his mind was rested and he left the office saying he did not believe he was so hot after all.

Stop

Every city in the United States has a paved highway, particularly a nationally known one, and through its chamber of commerce or other means every town is endeavoring to get the tourist to stop in their city.

You can see this as you motor through any city by the presence of signs reading something like this: "Ladies Rest Room," "The Best Auto Camp," "Swimming Pool," "Gasoline," "We Fix Flats," "Hot Watermelon," "Ice Cream," "Cold Drinks," etc., without number.

Now these are all commonplace of the average tourist passes an all up until the baby cries a drink or he has to do necessities like his gas or oil.

This is all preliminary to say that Eastland has a call that is unique, nothing like it in the United States from one end to the other, and further than a piece of news that has been disseminated to the reading public the whole country and it only merits mentioning to bring it to the attention of the curiosity of a lot of ten of the average tourists.

That is the story of "Old Rip," a famous horned toad. As it is, about any special notice every one will see tourists looking at a basket in the lobb of our court house.

As an end in view by all this publicity indulged in by the cities of our country is to get the tourist to stop. If they do, they are to buy something.

That is our situation exactly. We can get ten tourists to stop at our court house, that otherwise would go so, and go in the court house to see the celebrated "Old Rip," a goodly portion of them will buy something they want to and in this way rebound to the benefit of our merchants.

We need a sign on our highways at the edge of the city reading something like this: "Stop, See Rip, the Famous Horned Toad in the Lobby of the Court House." Then a big picture of the toad is placed on the sign. That will bring a large number on the square to the chamber of commerce to see to do this if possible.

Chamber Desk Sergeant Testifies

Now Now Why So Many Are Raising Gragatone," Says Officer.

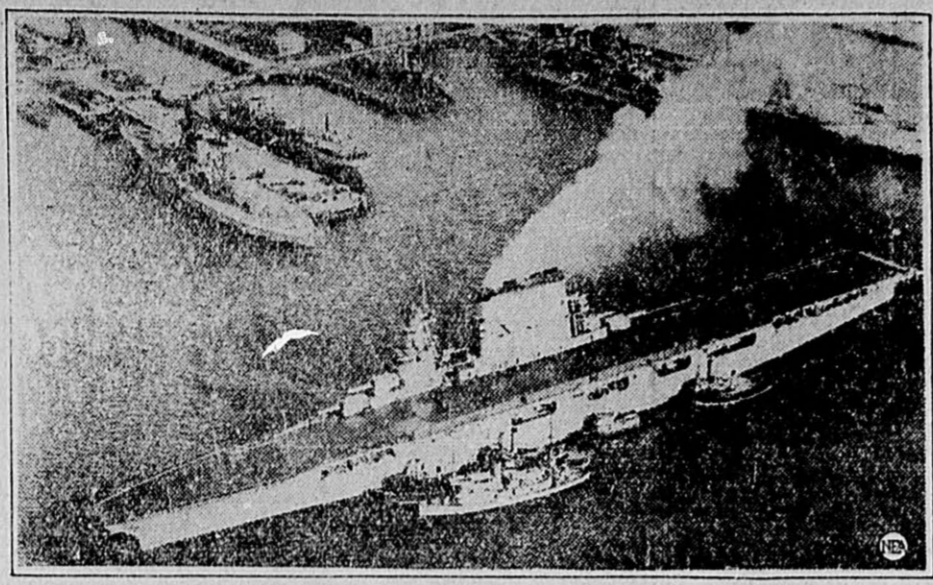

I don't believe there's a medicine in the world that will make me feel as well and strong all over as Gragatone does. At least, if it is one, I have never found it. I said R. B. Patterson, the court desk sergeant, the police sergeant, in Ranger, Texas, and residing at 1212 Young street, a few days ago.

I have been in general bad health for some time," continued Officer Patterson. "I was all run down and didn't have enough energy to walk or take as much exercise as I should, and I suffered with constipation. I couldn't digest my food and most everything I tried to eat just made me feel sickish. Really, I had no appetite. In fact, it has been a good many years since I ever felt like this. I began to go down hill every day, and just had to force myself to go about my work.

I had read so much about Gragatone, and knew of so many people who had been benefited by it, when something else seemed to do them good, that I decided to try it myself. Now, after taking a bottle, I am well and happy. Gragatone was in my life—and my life is so fine that I eat all that is in sight and nothing hurts me in the slightest. My health has improved wonderfully and I just feel like a new man all over. I am full of energy and get the old-time pleasure out of my work and I've found out it is so many people enjoy Gragatone, and I am glad to name it to that list."

Gragatone is manufactured by one of the world's largest concerns and is not a so-called "patent remedy" but a new bile treatment and is sold exclusively by the Eastland and Corner Drug Stores, 345 E. 588—Adv.

It's the World's Largest Sea-Going Airport

Here's a striking aerial picture of the world's largest sea-going airport, the U. S. navy's Saratoga, an airplane carrier. It shows the immense landing space available for its fleet of planes when engaged in sea maneuvers.

the highest bidder. Let the sheriff make out and file his tax deed in the county clerk's office, there to remain for two years; and then have the county clerk notify each owner of the land of the tax sale, so that within the two years for redemption he may come in and redeem. A prorata amount of the costs of publication and of the sheriff's sale, and the giving of the notice by the clerk, may be charged to the land owner when he applies for redemption. Thus, it is readily seen that in case any land is sold for taxes for $100.00 due, it may be redeemed within two years, by paying the $100.00 plus interest and about $5.00 for costs. This plan is simple and easy of execution. It is fair—fair to the taxpayer in that it saves him an enormous expense, and fair to the county and state because they get their taxes just the same, and that is all that fairness and justice require.

A row of posts, doubtless mooring-places for small boats in the edge of the water, have been taken possession of my strange sea-tow, a bird perched on each post and the creatures as solemn as the supreme court. Another bird of more active nature swoops down, skims through a wave, then swerves upward to zoom down again like a stunt aviator.

Along the main pier that extends for half a mile out over the water go two restless lines of humanity, hundreds of people strolling out and hundreds of others walking back toward the shore. At the end of the pier, the Japonica is ready to leave on a "voyage" of several hours. Lining the pier are small vessels making frequent trips over the bay with laughing excursionists. Near them is a smart, trim yacht that has just arrived on a cruise from New York.

On little platforms beside the pier or from nearby boats many are fishing—and successfully, too. A boy with a string of fish is posing while a tourist takes his picture.

Points, is well known to West Texans as he opened the Herring in Amarillo and the Bluebonnet in Sweetwater. Prior to that, he was manager of the Brown Palace in Denver, "finest in the West," where many Texans were guests. In the hotel arcade is Station KGFI and a tunnel connects the arcade with the business district below the hill on which the Plaza stands. The aerial extends from the roof to the lofty Nixon building across the street. The Plaza roof garden is known as "the Deck" and is designed like a ship, with portholes, life preservers and life boats. Jack White, long a noted figure in the hotel business, is at the head of the company operating San Antonio's Plaza and Corpus Christi's Plaza.

MYRIADS ENJOYING THE GULF

Corpus Christi Beach Visited By Thousands—City Developing.

By Staff Correspondent
CORPUS CHRISTI, Aug. 28.—"Where Texas Meets the Sea," Corpus Christi is a spot of marvelous beauty and never-ending charm. Thousands of tourists, most of them Texans but many from more distant points, are in Corpus Christi now enjoying the wonderfully cool breeze that makes mid-afternoon of an August day as cool as a typical autumn day in other parts of the country.

The Gulf of Mexico is of course the most fascinating feature of Corpus Christi. The unending miles of water—now light green, then under the shifting of light and clouds transformed to blue—form an ever-changing panorama, smooth as a West Texas prairie, then rippled like a lake and then rolling in graceful waves that break on the strand.

Out on the bay are a dozen little fishing boats with sails unfurled—looking, for all the world, like a painting of a Mediterranean scene. Beyond the break-water, a little steamer goes plunging along. On the horizon is the smoke of an ocean-going vessel, bearing Texas cotton to the markets of the earth.

Near the shore hundreds of swimmers are enjoying the invigorating waters and a power boat sets off from the long pier for a dash over the open bay. The draw-bridge has been raised to allow a proudly-puffing tug to draw a big steamship into the turning-basin bringing the number of ships there to ten—from Holland, England, Germany, France and the United States.

As a matter of current practice, we pay the County Attorney to prosecute delinquent tax payers. For this service we pay the assistant county attorney $150.00 to $250.00 a month on salary, which amount comes out of the public treasury. Under the law, that is regarded an insufficient amount, and so in each tax case we add to the prosecuting attorney's income $5.00 in tax suits, when they go to judgment, plus $1.00 for each tract more than one. In that way the public treasury is taxed with the fees and also the individual tax payer is made to pay the additional fees. Reports come in to the effect that county attorneys in portions of Texas are making as high as $8,000 to $12,000 a year in tax suits.

But there is more to it than that. The county commissioners' courts make contracts with private attorneys to collect back taxes, and for this pay from 15 percent to 30 percent of the collections. There are counties in Texas where private attorneys have made from $8,000 to $20,000 in one year out of such commissions.

Hence, I maintain that delinquent tax collections in Texas come too high, and too much money is wasted.

I recommend that the law be amended to simplify the matter and cut out all but a very small portion of this expense. Let the law require the tax collector, along about April of each year to make up his delinquent roll; have a copy thereof turned over to the sheriff; have the delinquent list published for a month or two months; and then let the sheriff, by virtue of such roll and the publication, sell each item of delinquent property to Commerce has headquarters in Corpus Christi and West Texans who visit the S. T. C. of C. offices will feel at home as they will find Ray Leeman and E. H. Whitehead there. Leeman, formerly Mineral Wells C. of C. secretary and later assistant manager of the West Texas C. of C., is manager of the South Texas organization and the assistant manager is Whitehead, until recently with the West Texas organization.

New Yorker Killed In Auto Accident

GRAND PRAIRIE, Aug. 28.—Jack Phillips, 25, New York City, was fatally injured when the car on which he was riding overturned on the highway two miles east of here Tuesday afternoon. He was brought to Grand Prairie for treatment but died an hour after the accident.

Phillips with two companions, was en route from Los Angeles to New York when a tire blew out and caused the car to swerve into a ditch. His companions escaped with minor bruises. Phillips' body is being held pending instructions from his parents in New York.

El Paso to Get New Hilton Hotel

DAVILAS, Aug. 28.—Plans for the erection of a one million dollar Hilton hotel in El Paso were announced here by J. B. Herndon, secretary and treasurer of the Hilton Hotels company.

The new structure will be built on the site of the old Shelton Hotel, recently destroyed by fire and will be 17 stories high and contain 300 rooms.

Construction work is expected to get under way in 90 days, Herndon said.

"Bomb" Proves to Be Something of Different Nature

RANGER, Tex., August 28.—The quiet that prevails in the postoffice at all times but especially in early morning when the institution is opened for the day's business was broken by an odd noise.

The queer sound was traced to a bucket sent by parcel post. Something like the ticking of a machine is sounded.

"Do you reckon it's a bomb?" queried a clerk.

The postmaster carefully removed the tin lid. The noise ceased. Within the bucket were beans, just beans. But the beans were hopping around. They were Mexican jumping beans and they had been striking the tin lid, with a noise resembling a clerk.

No Weeds Grow On These Lots

TAYLOR, Tex., Aug. 28.—A "city farmer" in the strictest sense of the word is Peter Jenkins, a Taylor negro, who this year is harvesting cotton from five vacant lots in various parts of the city.

The idea came to the darkey a year ago when he went to the owners of two city lots and convinced them that their property's appearance would be greatly improved if the high weeds which had grown upon it were replaced by "King Cotton." They readily agreed to let him have the use of the lots without payment of rent.

A small, but nevertheless profitable crop resulted.

This year the small-scale city farmer expanded his business and now five lots have had their aesthetic appearance improved by Jenkins' painstaking removal of the weeds.

And one round bale of cotton has already been marketed by the enterprising darkey—and another one is soon to be ready for sale.

Put 'er there friends—yes it's me up in the corner—YOUR ROUTE BOY; and it makes me glad to know that you are now on my route and I think I'm gonna win that trip to the Caverns yet.

Just want to 'spress my 'preciation to all you who subscribed for my paper, the Eastland Telegram, during this contest. It was 'bout as good as I expected. But as there are yet several days before the contest closes (and I make the trip—maybe) I would like for all those who I have missed to call the office or stop me as I pass your house. I'd like to have you on my route, too.

Navy's Crack Flyers to Strut Stuff at Cleveland

There they go, folks—hold everything! Their planes tied together with ropes just to show how they can be maneuvered in unison. "The Nine High Hats," crack navy flyers and fighting aces of the U. S. S. Saratoga, will loop the loop, fly upside down and perform other thrilling stunts at the National Air Races in Cleveland. Their final thrill is "the three-ring squirrel cage," in which three sets of planes loop the loop independently, each plane chasing the tail of its predecessor less than 100 feet ahead. The nine planes are shown above with Lieutenant L. E. Gehres, flight leader, in the inset.

To Drop Five Miles in Parachute

Chief Machinist's Mate William F. Scott, right, the navy's champion parachute jumper who has more than 300 leaps to his credit, soon will try to break the world record with a leap of more than 25,000 feet. Scott will be taken aloft in a special supercharged plane by Lieutenant Apollo Soucek, above. In addition to parachute, Scott will have an oxygen tank, a barograph, an altimeter and an air-speed indicator to watch while coming down to terra firma.

Up in the Air in Texas

Much interest has been aroused in the program being arranged for the dedication of Hensley field, at Dallas, to be held this fall. Elaborate plans are being made for the ceremony, which will be conducted by the Dallas Junior Chamber of Commerce.

'29 SCHEDULE HARDEST EVER TO FACE LIONS

According to John L. Briggs, chairman of the program committee, the air will be darkened above the field by more than 150 ships aloft at one time.

The city of Sweetwater has decided to take over full control and management of the new municipal airport there. It is the plan of the city, according to City Mgr. Sam H. Bothwell, to confer with other airport officials in drawing up regulations governing the conduct of the port, to put a full time man at the field, to let other companies install refueling equipment under regulation and to purchase gasoline for sale to pilots.

Mrs. Caroline Hathaway, 81, of Dalhart, had not seen an airplane until last week when Art Goebel landed at the Dalhart field. A few days later she took a ride in one and enjoyed it immensely, declaring that she experienced no fear—and hardly a thrill. Mrs. Hathaway is the mother of W. W. Hathaway, a Dalhart business man.

Although Councilman Oscal Allen is chairman of El Paso's aviation committee, he has never been up in a plane.

Wilbur C. Hawk, president of the Tri-State Fair association, has announced that concessions at the municipal airport dedication derby at Amarillo Sept. 7 and 8 will be leased by the fair association. They include hot dog, peanut, watermelon, pop corn and soft drinks concessions.

From this array of letter men, the Lion mentors will be able to develop a formidable backfield and a line that will be better than fair. Gilliam, Hafris, Tylor and Woodward will form the nucleus for a backfield that should be second to none in the oil belt, despite the fact that the district is comprised of some of the leading teams in Texas, as evidenced by the fact that the district boasts the 1928 champions in Abilene High School.

But when one glances over the Lions' 1929 schedule, there is just cause for apprehension in that the proteges of Woodward and Cooke must face nine teams in district competition in addition to a tough game with Comanche High School. These ten games, all hard ones, will give the Lions and their followers plenty to worry about during the season.

The tough grid program opens Sept. 21, with Ranger, the game to be played either in Brownwood or Ranger. The following week, the Lions have an open date, which will likely be filled by some strong class B eleven.

Then comes two honest to goodness tough games with Abilene and Cisco, the Lions going to Abilene, October 5, and meeting Cisco in Brownwood October 12. The Lobo-Lion game will be the season's opener on home ground for the Lions and should be one of the biggest days of the season. Little surcease is promised the Lions the week following the game with Cisco, in that Woodward and Cooke will take their boys to Breckenridge for another district clash.

A slight let up is expected after the Breckenridge game, as the Lions meet Mineral Wells and Eastland in successive weeks, with the Lions going to Mineral Wells and the Mavericks coming to Brownwood. These games are carded for October 26 and November 2, respectively.

Then comes the annual tussle with Comanche to be played either November 3 or 9. The Lions then close the season with three conference or district games, these being with Sweetwater, Big Spring and San Angelo, the final being with San Angelo Thanksgiving in San Angelo.

Here's the complete program, read it and weep:
September 21—Ranger, (place not decided).
Sept. 28—Open.
Oct. 5—Abilene, there.
Oct. 12—Cisco, here.
Oct. 19—Breckenridge, there.
Oct. 26—Mineral Wells, there.
Nov. 2—Eastland, here.
Nov. 8 or 9, here.
Nov. 16—Sweetwater, there.
Nov. 23—Big Spring, here.
Nov. 28—San Angelo, there.

Early Settlement of Eligibility Is Urged by Scribe

A time limit on eligibility matters is urged by Prexy Anderson in Sunday's Abilene Reporter-News. Says the sports writer:

"It seems to us that now would be a great time to make all the ineligibility protests within the district instead of waiting until November. There is no time like the present, not even the past or the future, for attending to that business."

"The district authorities are billed for a get-together sometime before Sept. 21 to settle questions of eligibility and to make other arrangements preliminary to the beginning of the race. The committees will likely be more thorough than usual but there has been so new legislation to prevent the annual dispute over players. "Mayhew has promised to provide us with the lowdown on each and every candidate for a position on his squad, which we expect to publish immediately. If the same system is followed all over the Oil Belt, any discrepancies in the records as given should be discovered by some interested and inquiring member of the public before any damage has been done."

It is to be hoped that the session of the district committee referred to above will be held prior to the first conference game of the season and that all eligibility matters can be thrashed out before the championship race is ushered in.

Girl Flyers Seek Endurance Mark

NEA Los Angeles Bureau. And now the women are going after an endurance refueling record. ## Thurber Tourney to Be Big Event

THURBER, Aug. 28.—The Thurber club has completed all arrangements for its invitation golf tournament to be held here Aug. 31 to Sept. 2.

Replies have been received from the majority of golf clubs of Central-West and West Texas who were invited and the majority of them are sending players to the tournament. Arrangements have been made to take care of one of the largest crowds ever assembled in this section of the State for such an event.

Several of the near-by clubs have already sent over their players to play qualifying rounds and, by so doing, made it possible for those clubs further away to be able to play their qualifying rounds on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 29, 30 and 31. Match play-

Arguments Don't Count

KID GLEASON was the manager of the White Sox which caused all the commotion in 1919 and Eddie Collins was the star second baseman of the club. In spite of what happened in the world series against the Cincinnati Reds that year it was a great ball club.

Gleason and Collins are now coaches and assistants to Connie Mack and Mack's Philadelphia Athletics are being hailed as one of the great teams of all times. You can't get any place in a controversy about what team was the greatest team of all times.

Uncle Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn Robins, was the catcher of the old Baltimore Orioles, a team held by many veteran experts as the greatest combination ever assembled. But last year Uncle Robby shocked John McGraw, one of his old teammates, with the statement that the New York Yanks were the greatest of all.

Robby Is All Wet

"I KNOW now that Robby is getting old," McGraw said. Veteran players and experts have their own way of rating a ball club.

Gleason and Collins will not compare the A's of 1929 with the other clubs on which they served. And it doesn't have to be recalled that Collins was an important member of the $100,000 infield of the old A's that was broken up in 1914.

Connie Mack also will not express a direct opinion on which was the better club, the old bunch of 15 years ago or the squad that seems certain to get into the world series this year.

Times Have Changed

"CONDITIONS have changed so much in the last 15 years that there is no accurate way for comparison," the veteran leader says. "I wouldn't say that Grove, Walberg and Earnshaw are better than Plank, Coombs and Bender. Perhaps those pitchers of 15 years ago would have had trouble with the white ball they are using now. Perhaps the pitchers on our club today would have been more effective with the ball that was used years ago. We don't know and there is no way

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

THE summer is over. The college publicity fellows have sent their first batches of copy about football. The weakbacks of the A's is at third base. They say. The Phillies got Chuck Klein, that home run hitter, for $7500. And the football follows in the National League say he couldn't hit a dozen. If he wasn't hitting on a band box park. Just to show he was a desirable Johnny Hinko is appearing regularly with a new girl in Cleveland. His other one tossed him over. And returned the jewels. And John says he will buy new jewels. And hook the others. With Grimes and Grantham out in the toughest part of the race the Pittsburghs have given up hope (almost) for the pennant. But Mr. McGraw thinks the Cubs will crack.

of finding out. "We can say that there were two good ball clubs, but wouldn't attempt to compare them. The style and strategy baseball has changed. Years of sacrifice and the squeeze for one run was the vogue. A run hit was one of the most important factors. But today it hitting, long hitting for the purpose of getting a rock of runs counts."

They Are Politicians. EDDIE COLLINS refuses to cuss the A's as they compare to the old club on which he starred and the White Sox 1919. That is, he will not commit himself definitely. Neit will the Kid.

But they both agree that L. Williams was one of the great left-handers of all times. Eddie Cicotte was a great right hander, even if he did man with the ball. And that Weaver was one of the best basemen of all times. And Joe Jackson was the most nobby batter that ever hit.

ENTHUSIASTIC ABOUT CAMPING EXPERIENCE

Mrs. Joseph B. Leonard, returned home from Madera Springs, in the Davis mountains, where she shared a cabin with Mrs. Joy Little and Miss Virginia Neil Little and had a most enjoyable time "roughing it" and living close to nature. To the surprise of their party they discovered that Judge and Mrs. Rosenquest and family of five girls were settled in the adjoining cabin for their summer stay. The meeting was a purely chance one and brought a great deal of pleasure. Many impromptu bridge tables were diversions for the long evenings, and picnics at spicening time were plentiful. Horseback rides were daily exercises.

Mrs. Little and daughter will remain until the middle of September and the Rosenquests until it is time to return for their daughter's school.

MRS. GRADY PIPKIN HOSTESS AT LUNCHEON

The luncheon club was entertained by Mrs. Grady Pipkin at her home on Pershing street, delicately adorned with charming bouquets of marigolds arranged in black crystal bowls, this color scheme of black and gold following in all arrangements for this artistic affair.

The long table was laid in hand-drawn linen over canopy silk and the service of crystal was banded with gold. Places were indicated by cards drawn in black and gold and everything harmonized with the menu of Midsummer Dream on shredded lettuce with the black of ripe olives on trays, served with cheese cracker balls, unifying the color motif of black and gold.

The luncheon plate of fried chicken bore also a fluffy mound of potatoes, with well filled with chicken gravy, asparagus tips with green pepper designs interlinking and hot rolls and iced tea. The last course of lemon iced and iced cakes developed a yellow and gold design.

Business plans for the club's work for the coming months were discussed. The husbands of the members will be entertained with an evening party at some future meeting. The club will have as hostess in two weeks Mrs. Tatam, at 1 p. m., entertaining with luncheon.

Those present were Mrs. Virgil T. Seaberry, Mrs. James Horton, Mrs. T. J. Haley, Mrs. M. L. Kensler, Mrs. C. H. Tatam, Mrs. B. M. Collier and Mrs. Carl Springer.

Mrs. Ecker is an author of some distinction and had immediate success with her first Little Theatre play staged in Portland about two years ago. She has been writing since then principally short stories, and has recently been engaged in novelizing her play "Magnolias." Mrs. Ecker maintains a studio in Portland and specializes in coaching. This talented visitor was the guest of several intimate affairs tendered by friends of her father's family.

Menjou Reveals Charming Voice In Newest Film

Adolphe Menjou—suave, sophisticated, faultlessly dressed—adds a new note of perfection to his screen personality in his first all-talking motion picture appearance. Menjou has a rich, resonant voice and he sings one of Victor Schertzinger's new songs hits, "Delphine," in "Fashions in Love," which will open a two day run at the Connellee theater today.

Menjou's host of fans have waited patiently since the advent of talking pictures for this opportunity to hear the Menjou voice. And they will not be disappointed. Menjou is said to have one of the most charming of all the voices discovered since motion pictures became audible.

In "Fashions in Love," Menjou has the role of a famous concert pianist whose music charms audiences and whose personality charms ladies' hearts. He is superb in this role which embodies all the light humorous twists the play itself is from the famous stage drama by Hermann Balz. Victor Schertzinger, the well known Paramount director, who is also a composer of note, made this picture. His list of motion picture successes includes "Forgotten Faces," "Redskin" and "The Wheel of Life."

Cotton Progress Varies in State

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 28.—Cotton progress was good in the extreme west and parts of north-west Texas during the past week, but elsewhere in the state the crop is deteriorating, the weekly weather and crop review of the U. S. department of agriculture said today.

Unusually high temperatures and drought were given as the reason for the poor condition of the crop in all except the west and northwest portions.

Cotton also continued to deteriorate in Oklahoma where drought was intensified by extremely high temperatures but in Arkansas the crop was reported mostly good to excellent except in a few sections.

Preparedness Is Talked at Meet

ST. PAUL, Aug. 28.—Two messengers from Washington today outlined before the thirtieth annual convention of Veterans of Foreign Wars the administration's stand on preparedness and relief for the nation's disabled heroes.

America must be completely prepared "against war, not for war," the message from Assistant Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley declared.

Every disabled veteran suffering from a service disability will be adequately cared for by the government, which already has spent more than $3,000,000,000 for direct relief work, said Frank T. Hines, United States veterans bureau director, the second messenger who personally appeared before the convention.

"The compensation roll of the nation must in every sense be an honor roll," Hines said, "bearing the names of every veteran deserving of help but including none not entitled to compensation under the law."

Jones Practices For Tournament

Five times yesterday Jones missed short putts so that instead of the 68 he had been expected to shoot by a gallery of 2,000 persons following him around, he turned in a 73, the same as on Monday when he first went around the 18-hole public beach course.

Pittsburgh Pirates Manager Resigns

Bush's resignation takes effect immediately. Ems will direct the team in the double-header with the Chicago Cubs this afternoon.

Italian Planes to Fly in Cup Races

ROME, Aug. 28.—Italo Balbo, undersecretary of air, announced today that Italy would participate in the Schneider cup races in England ten days hence "as a sportsmanlike duty."

Italy had asked for a postponement after the recent death of Captain Giuseppe Motta in a trial flight for the cup races, but England replied it was unable to defer the races. Balbo said Italy would fly two machines, one of which is a new design and with engines never before tested in flight.

Among the competitors so far this week in coastal territory is the Gulf Production Company's No. 29, E. R. Taylor et al, at Pierre Junction flowing 2,400 barrels at 4,750 feet; the Humble No. 5-Camp on the Dewalt structure at Sugarland flowing 450 barrels on a 3-1 inch choker at 3,600 feet.

HOOKS & SLIDES

Connie Won't Predict
AT the end of their recent invasion of the west, Connie Mack, veteran manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, refused to talk about the world series. He is of the old school that holds to the superstition that it is bad luck to speak of pennants before the period of mathematical certainty has arrived.

But the "old man's" ball players are rather outspoken and apparently they are not influenced by superstition.
But Simmons Will
"THE ball club is going pretty good, isn't it?" we remarked to Al Simmons recently when the A's were in Cleveland. It shouldn't have to be explained that Simmons is one of the big stars of the club and one of the best outfielders in baseball.

"Going good?" he replied. "We're going swell. We're in now. It will be a breeze through the league. Here we are in the middle of August with a lead of 14 games. That's enough for a breeze, ain't it? And when we hit the Cubs it'll be another breeze. Right through the series we'll go. Four straight games. And then off on the hunting trip."

Hornsby Talks for Cubs
JOE MCCARTHY will not admit that his Cubs are a cinch. They have a lead that makes them look sure to win the pennant but he refuses to be rash enough to state that he is going to be in the series.

"There is a player on the ball club, however, who has no superstitions and who has a gift of great frankness on any question," he managed to get out. "How can we help but win the pennant?" Mr. Rogers Hornsby asks. Hornsby is not only a great ball player and a great hitter but he managed two ball clubs, the St. Louis Cardinals and the Boston Braves.

"I don't believe in those superstitions that you shouldn't say you think you're going to win the pennant," Hornsby says. "When I was handling the Cards I said we were going to win the pennant and we won it."
"Here we are now in the last quarter of the race with a lead of eight games. All we have to do for the remainder of the season is to win fifty per cent of our games. If we can't win one-half of the games remaining on the schedule we wouldn't be in first place."

Tanker Being Towed to Port

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The tanker Paulsboro, which was in distress last night with a fire in its hold, now is being towed to port by the steamer Birkenhead and the fire has been extinguished, the radio marine corporation was advised by its West Palm Beach station.

The Birkenhead started towing the Paulsboro to port at 11:30 a. m., after the fire—which developed when the tanker was off the Florida coast—had been extinguished shortly after daybreak. The steamer Beacon Hill, which had been standing by, has been released, the advice to the radio marine corporation said.

J. W. T. DUVEL
Chief, Grain Futures Administration

THE compiling of daily reports of transactions in grain futures from all markets, the checking of false and misleading information which affects or tends to affect the prices of grain, and the making of general observations of the entire grain marketing machinery with a view to preventing abnormal fluctuation of prices and to create market conditions which will reflect supply and demand, is handled by the Grain Futures Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This office has charge of the carrying out of the grain futures act of Sept. 21, 1922, which places the supervision of all trading in grain futures in the hands of the federal government.
