Here's Why "Tiny" Failed as Pilot!

Alas for the aviation ambitions of Bernard West of Los Angeles—he's just too big to be a pilot! After "Tiny" (of course, he would be called that because he weighs 415 pounds!) had finished his ground instructions, he applied for a chance to be a pilot. Block and tackle were used, as shown above, to get him to the pilot's cockpit—but "Tiny" couldn't fit his poundage into the plane. And so he was turned down.

As Turner was about to let them into his car one of the girls drew a gun and demanded his money. Following the robbery the pair dashed across a field and disappeared.

The girls were dressed in overalls and appeared to be about 15 years of age.

Graf Zeppelin's Speed Cut Down By Head Winds

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 27.—Incomplete communication with the Graf Zeppelin was established at 1 o'clock this afternoon by Raymond Collins, broadcasting operator for radio station KFAA, on his amateur set at his home.

The sound of the Graf's message came faint and indistinct. "Bucking headwinds" was all Collins was able to understand.

WILCOX, Ariz., Aug. 27.—Batting strong headwinds, the Graf Zeppelin passed Wilcox at 12:19 p. m., MST. Wilcox is 90 miles from the New Mexico border.

VAIL, Ariz., Aug. 27.—The Graf Zeppelin bucked severe headwinds in this section of Arizona today, which materially lowered its speed. At Benson, 5 miles east of here, the winds died down but were reported active in the vicinity of Bowie, 60 miles from Benson.

The Zeppelin was forging over the desert country at about 55 miles an hour.

BOWIE, Ariz., Aug. 27.—The Graf Zeppelin, bucking headwinds, appeared in difficulty as it passed here at 12:46 p. m., MST. It was flying only about 250 feet from the ground, apparently having been forced low by the unfavorable air currents.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—The German Graf Zeppelin missed disaster by just a few feet here today as it started a conquest of the North American continent, the final lap of its race around the world against time.

Helms Will Ask No Venue Change In Sanity Trial

Counsel for Henry Helms announced today that no change of venue would be sought for the Helms sanity hearing, set for tomorrow here.

R. L. Rust, Helms' attorney makes the following statement: "There is that same degree of mandatory law providing for the trial of Henry Helms Aug. 28, as there was the original trial. There is no just cause for condemning the one and praising the other; but it is preferable that we abide all the law.

"Regardless of the result of this trial Henry Helms can never have his freedom so far as the courts are concerned. However, the law looks down with tender mercy upon the unfortunate, and its wholesome provisions provide that no human life be taken under the sanction of the law while the doomed is incapacitated through mental derangements, to invoke Divine guidance into his eternity.

"Statements have been made through the public press, concerning this case, by innuendo, that a motion to change the venue will be urged by attorneys for Helms. This is without foundation and a crossing of the bridge before we come to it. As attorney for Helms I make this public statement, that it is not my intention to file any motion for a change of venue; but on the contrary, I have full confidence in the jurors of my home county, and truly believe there never lived a fairer community of men, or more capable of correct and just decision, than Eastland county jurors."

Helms is now in the county jail here, having been brought here late yesterday by Sheriff Virge Foster. He refuses to talk, and according to Sheriff Foster, did not utter a word during the long trip from Huntsville to Eastland.

Developments In Johnston Well Being Watched

Other Wells in Eastland Territory Also Being Followed by Fraternity.

A good showing has been encountered by the Hickok Producing and Developing company, in the Marble Falls sand (commonly known as the black line) in its Nye Johnston No. 1 located near the Lee Diversified farm south-east of Cisco. The well is about one mile east of the Lee farm.

The show was first picked up at 3,425 feet. At midnight last night the drill had reached a depth of 3,435 feet. About 20,000 feet of gas and considerable oil was found for what operators declare is one of the best showings that has been encountered in the Marble Falls in this area.

The test is being watched with considerable interest since a successful completion will force the drilling of at least three offset wells.

In the area about the Gray well of the Texas company, eight miles north of Cisco the Eastland Oil company has filed application today to drill their W. T. Hittsin No. 1 to the Texas pay at 3,500 feet. The Gray No. 1 of the Texas company et al is still making about 400 barrels daily, according to unofficial reports.

J. A. Bearman, et al, expected to start drilling operations in their Kincaid No. 1, just north of the city limits of Cisco this week. This well has been delayed in getting fire connections but these arrangements are about completed.

JEFFERSON, Tex., Aug. 27.—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the post office and W. P. McGuffin store at Lodi, Tex., shortly after midnight this morning. The store and post office were in the same building. When the fire was discovered the inside of the building was a mass of flames.

CAVE-IN IN WELL HOLDS MAN IN GRIP

Many Efforts to Remove Him Proved Futile Because of Other Cave-Ins.

ALLEGAN, Mich., Aug. 27.—Released from the vise-like grip of rocks at the bottom of a 30-foot well which had been a living tomb for 51 hours while he experienced the agony of a dozen futile attempts at rescue, George Peet rested in a hospital today suffering only slight bruises and nervous exhaustion.

Late yesterday half a hundred men, pulling on ropes risked the possibility of tearing Peet's pinned leg apart and dragged him from the cave-in well after an amputation operation was found impossible. Peet's ankle was gripped by rocks and any attempt to free it would have precipitated another cave-in.

Mrs. Peet pleaded with rescue workers to remove her husband before another night had fallen even at the cost of his foot. Peet suggested an amputation, but surgeons found it impossible to reach the limb.

The only means left offering a hope of saving the imprisoned man's life drew gasps of horror from the 2,000 persons gathered about the well when they realized the plan which was to be attempted.

A harness was fastened to Peet's shoulders and pulley tackle was arranged above the well's mouth. A 50-foot rubber tube was connected to a mask and gas anesthetic administered. L. D. Reynolds, hero of the rescue, hung suspended downward from ropes tied about his ankles for fifteen minute periods for about three hours administering the gas and fastening bolts about Peet's legs and body.

On the first attempt to pull Peet clear, the strain of fifty men pulling on the ropes snapped a pulley and caused an hour's delay. During the time Peet regained consciousness, necessitating another dose of gas. When finally removed from the well he was semi-conscious.

Peet was imprisoned Saturday afternoon when a cave-in occurred while he was clearing the well. Rescue workers dug a parallel shaft but had to give up attempting to remove the rocks pinning his ankle after efforts had precipitated three cave-ins.

Former Eastland Merchant Here

Eastland today and the Eastland of 28 years ago are quite different, according to Sam Collins, pioneer day merchant in Eastland who was here this week for the first time in 28 years.

Notwithstanding his long absence Mr. Collins, who, at one time operated a store on the site now occupied by the Club cafe, recognized many of the landmarks in the city and surrounding vicinity. He also saw many old time friends and very much enjoyed his visit.

Mr. Collins now resides near Beaumont and was passing through Eastland in company with his son, Frank, who lives near Big Spring. The business Mr. Collins was conducted with in Eastland was connected under the firm name of Collins and Jones, the latter being the father of R. F. Jones, more commonly known to Eastland people as "Texico."

Wool
 NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Stocks for the most part developed infinite reactionary tendencies today simultaneously with the boosting of the call money rate to the highest level in nearly a month.

Large offerings of the principal trading stocks were thrown on the market shortly after the opening and a steady stream of liquidation proceeded notwithstanding broad buying operations in rails and some of the utilities.

The decline in the leaders, however, was not great and declining prices readily met a strong demand, which resulted in moderate rallies in pivotal shares from their noon lows.

Pennsylvania was an outstanding feature of strength, rising several points to a new record high at 14 1/2, closely followed by New York Central, which ran up half a dozen points. Buying of the rails was stimulated in the later afternoon by the action of the New Haven directors in placing the road's common stock on a $5 annual cash dividend basis, against $4 previously paid.

Many of the lower prices issues like Missouri-Kansas-Texas, the St. Paul issues and Western Maryland were turned over in large blocks at new highs in the current movement.

Lack of support in the industrial and communication group was caused by the disappointing action of steel common and International Telephone and Telegraph, both of which touched new lows on the curb movement before meeting support. American Telephone also broke sharply.

Utilities met considerable support following broad buying operations in standard gas and American and foreign power, both of which moved up sharply.

Call loans were firm at 9 per cent after advancing at noon to 8 per cent from the renewal rate of 7 per cent.

Radio common and other recent spectacular performers were noticeably quiet.

er, Dr. Hugo Eckener, took it out of the most serious situation encountered on its tour.

The crowd of 125,000 at the airport, sensing the predicament, cheered mightily as the giant bag, with its tail draggin slightly, successfully cleared the wires.

Dirigible experts at the field expressed the opinion that a strata of cold air was responsible for the situation that accompanied the takeoff.

As explained by these experts, Dr. Eckener evidently intended to permit the gas in his craft to lift it to a sufficient height to clear the wires.

But something, probably a cold many spectators this season as in the past because coaches will take more chances than ever before.

"Advancing the ball from the three to the two-yard line for the point after touchdown may be of some help to teams with good plungers. It may result in more extra points being made and fewer ties. No one knows just how much it will aid the offensive team," Coach Bible declared.

Many of the coaches attending the Warner-Rockne school will leave the latter part of this week to make arrangements for the opening of their grid seasons.

WHEN A CHILD IS FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, in babies and children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract.

When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning.

Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

I learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y. It will be sent FREE.

In buying be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

No Improvement in Condition of Man

PALO ALTO, Calif., Aug. 27.—No improvement was noted today in the condition of Dr. David Starr Jordan, 78, chancellor emeritus of Stanford university, by Dr. Russell Lee, attending physician.

Why Suffer Stomach Trouble All Your Life?

Thousands of men and women who were physical wrecks from stomach troubles, who couldn't sleep, who couldn't eat without after-misery, and whose kidneys, bowels and liver were out of order, now enjoy old-time energy and relish their food since taking Tanlac.

Mr. Joseph A. Culver, of 812 S. Main St., Muskogee, Okla., says: "I was a nervous wreck and forced myself to work and eat. I felt like quitting work before the day was up. On taking Tanlac, my appetite picked up so I could eat anything, sleep well and gained 10 lbs."

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs of any kind, just a special combination of selected herbs, roots and barks, recognized to be of high medicinal value. Quick benefit and relief from stomach distress is almost sure to follow the use of Tanlac. Get a bottle today from your drugist and let it start right in correcting those troubles which make you so miserable. Money back if it doesn't help.

symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

I learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y. It will be sent FREE.

In buying be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

Watching the Scoreboard
Yesterday's hero: Norman McMillan whose grounder in the eighth inning at Chicago bounded into the stands for a home run with the bases full, scoring four men and enabling the Cubs to beat Cincinnati, 9 to 5. The Cubs never led the Reds until the eighth when they scored seven runs.

The Philadelphia Quakers spoiled the last eastern appearance of the St. Louis Cardinals with a two run rally in the last of the ninth that gave them a 7 to 6 decision.

No other games were played in either league.

TEXAS LEADS IN ROAD BUILDING IN THE U. S.

Improves 2,356 Miles in Past Year—Kansas and Arkansas Next.

During 1929, the 48 states improved a total of 29,252 miles of their highway systems, according to figures received from the States and compiled by the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. This is an increase of 2,530 miles over the 1927 figure of 26,722 miles.

The 1928 total includes 8,675 miles of graded and drained roads and 20,577 miles of new surfacing. Of the roads surfaced, 13,843 miles were previously unsurfaced and 3,587 miles were previously improved with a type of surface lower than the only newly applied. The remaining 3,147 miles were previously improved with the same type of surface, and the work done during the year is therefore classed as reconstruction.

The total of 20,577 miles of surfacing placed is classified by types as follows: 1,200 miles of sand-clay and topsoil; 9,623 miles of gravel; 1,006 miles of water-bound macadam; 1,979 miles of bituminous macadam; 225 miles of sheet asphalt; 373 miles of bituminous concrete; 6,055 miles of Portland cement concrete; and 116 miles of brick and other block pavements.

Texas heads the States in the year's improvement with 2,356 miles. Kansas with 1,785 miles and Illinois, 1,344, ranking fourth and fifth respectively. Minnesota, with 1,243 miles, is sixth; North Dakota, with 1,230, is seventh; New Mexico, with 1,052, is eighth; Kentucky, with 1,021, is ninth and Ohio, with 928 miles is tenth.

Spends Nearly Billion

The State systems at the end of 1928 had 306,442 miles of highways, according to figures given to the bureau. Of this total, 193,438 miles were surfaced roads, 31,755 miles graded and drained, and 81,549 miles were unimproved and partly graded highways. This is an increase of 13,090 miles over the 1927 total figure. The surfaced mileage is made up of the following types if pavement; 13,499 miles of sand-clay and topsoil; 93,124 miles of gravel; 15,142 miles of water-bound macadam; 15,200 miles of bituminous macadam; 1,498 miles of sheet asphalt; 5,392 miles of bituminous concrete; 42,957 miles of Portland cement concrete; and 3,326 miles of brick and other block pavements.

During 1928, the States spent $764,648,134 for State highway and bridge work under the supervision of the State highway departments, made up as follows: For construction and right-of-way $536,294,303; for maintenance $158,878,573; for equipment and machinery $20,505,483; for interest on outstanding bonds and notes $37,637,034, and for miscellaneous expense $11,332,741. The States also paid out $27,016,499 in retirement of the principal of outstanding bonds and notes and transferred $35,885,350 to county and town funds for local roads, making a total disbursement of $827,549,983. At the end of 1928 there was an unexpended balance of available funds amounting to $205,221,656 for all States.

For 1928, there was available to the 48 States for State highway and bridge work under supervision of State highway departments a total of $1,035,486,474, made up of an unexpended balance of the previous year's funds of $186,150,876 and a total income of $849,326,598. Of the total income, motor vehicle fees of $259,134,820 and gasoline tax receipts of $234,163,826 allotted to State highways represent over 58 per cent. Sales of State bonds and notes issued for State highways of $121,483,599 form more than 14 per cent of the total income, while Federal-aid fund allotments of $80,798,365 represent more than 9.12 per cent. Highway taxes levied in several States amounted to $11,955,782 and appropriations by several States amounted to $11,955,782, and appropriations by several States amounted to $42,468,386. Miscellaneous incomes were reported as $12,611,916 and funds transferred from local authorities as $86,709,904.

Ranger Man Suffered 15 Long Years

Well Known Texas Housewife Says Husband Is Like A New Man Since Taking Orgatone

Still another well known Ranger or, Texas, citizen comes forward and endorses Orgatone, the medicine that everybody is talking about and which is doing so much good among all classes. This time it is Mrs. O. Y. Yarbrough, wife of a well known employee for the Chestnut and Smith Corporation, and who resides at 431 N. Austin St.

For fifteen years my husband suffered from severe pains across his back and a general run down condition. He had no appetite at all and the little he forced himself to eat just filled his stomach with so much gas and misery that he could hardly stand it. He was nervous, had smothering spells and could hardly sleep at all. He would roll and tumble all night and feel languid and tired out all day. He has grown worse the last few years and has had the best treatment and all kinds of medicine without getting any results.

"The high endorsement for Orgatone given by our Ranger people appealed to me, and so I got him to try it. Well, it has done him more good than everything else he has taken in his fifteen years of suffering put together. Orgatone has certainly proven its value in my husband's case. He eats heartily sleeps good, and feels well now, for the first time in all these years. All his tired feelings are gone, as well as those back aches, and he's like a different man altogether compared to what he was before he took Orgatone. Money couldn't buy the benefits my husband has received from the two bottles of Orgatone he has taken, and it's one medicine I never expect to be without at my house. I'm glad to endorse it and tell anybody about the wonderful work it has done for my husband."

Genuine Orgatone is manufactured by one of the world's largest laboratories and is not a so-called secret or patent remedy but a new scientific bile treatment and is sold in Eastland exclusively by the Texas and Corner Drug Store, phone 345 and 588. (adv.)

Molla Breaks Age's Fetters And Beats Young Britisher

Chamber of Commerce Chips

By the Secretary DR. H. B. TANNER

One of the objects mentioned in the ordinance creating the Board of Development of the City of Eastland, Texas, is stated as "Upbuilding of its Citizenship."

No better place can be found than to start with the boys of our city from twelve to sixteen. The scholastic census taken last spring reveals that there are in the county at large some two thousand boys of this age of which three hundred are found in our city.

At the present time the Oil Belt Council which comprises cities and rural districts in both Eastland and Stephens counties, are putting on a campaign to secure funds to carry on this most vital and useful work. They need a total of $7000.

The chamber of commerce of Eastland is very much interested in the success of this movement and stand back of the efforts being made with all of its influence and such financial aid as is possible under the circumstances.

We hope that when these solicitors call upon you they will be met with words of encouragement and such financial contributions as your circumstance will allow.

Information.

Those of you who have traveled in the North and East no doubt will have noticed in the lobbies of the prominent hotels and tourist headquarters a slogan like this "Ask Mr. Foster." We wish to repeat what we have mentioned before, that it is the desire of the chamber of commerce to furnish information to our citizens on any subject they may wish to inquire about, so "Ask Dr. Tanner."

Of course, we do not know everything but may be of help in planning a vacation trip or giving road information or statistical figures pertaining to Eastland and its vicinity.

Larger Districts To Get Pupils of 2 County Schools

Something new in the Eastland county school system will be instituted during the coming session, when the entire pupil body of two rural schools will be transported by bus to nearby, larger school districts.

The schools are Tudor, whose pupils will attend at Strawn, and Bullock school No. 2, whose pupils will be transported to Ranger each day during the session. There are two schools in the Bullock district. The plan will not be an experiment, but a progressive step toward school unification and centralization.

Contracts for the transportation are to be let by both schools, since neither owns a bus in its district.

RODEOS AGAINST THE LAW

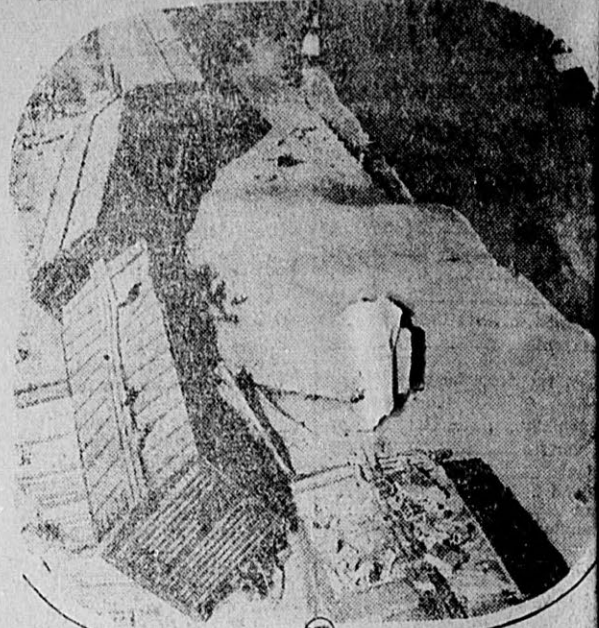

What Will Gov. Moody, Foe of Boxing, Do About it?

By United Press. DALLAS, Aug. 26.—Rigid enforcement of the state law against prize fighting has raised a question of what is to be done with bulldozing and roping contests that usually form a part of the fall fairs in Texas.

The same article that prohibits prize fighting prohibits a contest between a man and a bull or any other animal. This knocks out bull-dozing, one of the great events of rodeos.

Roping of any animal is forbidden in another article of the same chapter of the Criminal Statutes. It provides a fine of from $100 to $500 for any person who participates in such a contest either in competition with others or alone, as a trial of skill "for money or prize of any character or for any championship, for anything of value, or upon the result of which any money or anything of value is bet or wagered."

What an Explosion of Wheat Did

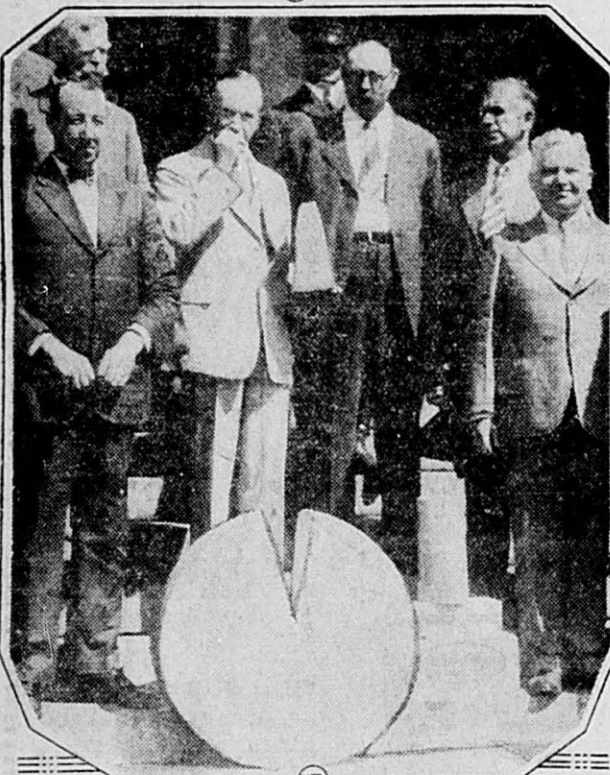

The picture shows what happened when an elevator containing a million bushels of wheat exploded at Des Moines, Ia. A half-million bushels pulled out of the elevator when a dust explosion blew the side walls of eight of the 18 bins. Two freight cars were literally lifted up and hurled aside.

Denies She'll Wed Young Hoover

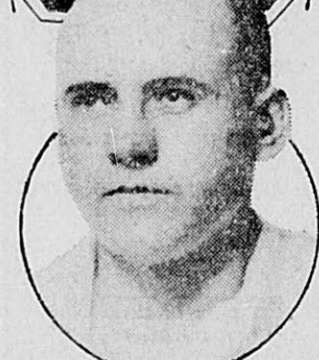

Rumors that she is engaged to Allan Hoover, son of the preside are denied by Miss Alice Davis, above, but she admits that they "are very good friends." She and her father, Dwight F. Davis, newly-appointed governor of the Philippines, recently arrived Manila, where this picture was taken. Below, she is shown with her father at a reception in his honor. Notice the absence of her dress coat, because of the heat.

Cheese Brings State Fame

The United States produces about 500,000,000 pounds of cheese annually and of this amount the state of Wisconsin manufactures three-fourths. Wisconsin's cheese industry started back in 1845 when a little band of 108 Swiss immigrants settled down in Green county. Since then the industry has grown to the extent that there are now 150 cheese factories and a number of creameries in the 24 square miles of Green county. Ex-President Coolidge is shown here eating a slice of the famed Swiss cheese presented him by a delegation when he vacationed on the Brule river a year ago.

In Poison Plot

C. F. Hyde, 25, below, trusted secretary to Samuel C. Collins, 45, above, wealthy Kona City, Okla., oil man, was jailed at Newkirk, Okla., charged with administering poison to Collins in an attempt to kill him. Authorities claim Collins was marked for death by Hyde in an effort to gain possession of $18,000 worth of securities.

Eighteen-hour air passenger service from coast to coast isn't far off. Capt. Plant Grows Machines

The teasel plant, thistle-like crop of California, New York and Arizona, has the distinction of being grown solely for the manufacture of machines. The burrs of this plant are attached to a machine used to produce a fine nap in woolen cloth. Near San Jose, they are commercially cultivated, picked and dried. From there they are shipped to woolen mills and attached to the machines. The cloth to be napped is passed under the burrs and burrs catch the surface of the fine cloth, pulling out fine nap. Eula Howell is shown here with an armful of the burrs and one of them is shown in inset.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
MOLLY BURNHAM, successful young playwright, turns her hand to a novel. Ashes of Desire, she calls it, and it is very different from anything she has done before. It is, in fact, largely autobiographical, being the confession of her own desire for a career, to the exclusion of all things else. Now that Molly has had her career, she knows that nothing can recompense for love. In order to further her own ambitions, she has sacrificed a romance with JACK WELLS, whom she adores. She wrote Ashes of Desire for the very few who will understand it, in reality, her confession of failure—the heart cry of a lonely woman. Surprisingly, the book becomes a best-seller, and nobody is more astonished than Molly. She has her flat done over in Empire style, hires a butler, and becomes, herself, a sort of vogue. Then one day RED FLYNN, a police court reporter and an old friend, comes to call. Molly, gowned in yellow chiffon is wearing water lilies, and pouring jasmine tea for society dowagers. She changes her tea gown for a sport suit, and goes with Red to find some hot dogs. Red tells her that her old sweetheart, JACK WELLS, Molly has been home from Europe. Molly has always been crazy about Jack, and it upsets her considerably when BOB NEWTON, who wants to marry her, comes that evening for his answer.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLII

Bob had a way of out-staying everybody. Red had stayed for dinner, and Bob came in afterward. Molly frantically signalled Red to remain. The evening dragged on. The radio blared forth. And desultory conversation waxed and waned. The men smoked innumerable cigarettes, and Molly poured coffee. Finally Red rose, stifling a yawn. "Awfully sorry," he apologized, "but I have to get down to the office." Molly looked at him agonizingly. And when he left, she went with him to the door. "Villain!" she hissed. "I can't help it," he whispered. "Honestly, I've stayed too long now. Tell him where he gets off, old thing." "I don't dare," she moaned. "What if he should take Rita?" "Not a chance." Red patted her shoulder consolingly. "Rita's being brought up like a blooming heiress. You don't think Pan'd paperize his child, do you?" "You don't know Bob," she told him. "He's horribly selfish." "Run along, Sweetness. He'll know you're talking about him, if you keep him waiting any longer." Red stooped, and kissed her lightly. "He's no Bluebeard, honey. I don't know why you're afraid of a sap like him."

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

"I'm not," she declared. And, holding her head high, marched back to Bob.

"Well, Bob," Her heart was beating with frightening speed. She would tell him, and have it over with. No need of acting like a big baby. Anybody'd think she was afraid! She stood there, twisting her hands, like a little girl about to make a confession. "I've been thinking things over, like you asked me to, and I..."

Bob's mouth twisted in a crooked smile.

"You're turning me down, is that it, Molly?"

"I can't get married," she said. And then, feebly, she began to make excuses.

"I can't endure the thought of giving myself up permanently," she told him, "and becoming part of somebody else's life. I want to study, and travel, and know things."

He seemed to understand. "So that's it? Well, I suppose alliances are fettering. A girl with a child, for instance, is everlastingly tied down. A child is a bigger nuisance than a husband, don't you think so?"

"Oh, no!" she cried. "You don't understand. Bob, I didn't mean that."

"You said," he interrupted, "that you couldn't endure the thought of becoming part of somebody else's life. I'm afraid, Molly, that I imposed on your generosity when I sent Rita to you. I've made you so much a part of her life, that you must feel, sometimes, as if responsibilities not of your own choosing had been thrust upon you."

Molly turned toward him furiously. "You know better than that!" she cried. "You know that I love Rita as if she were my own child. You're only saying that to hurt me, Bob Newton!"

"But if you want to study, and travel, and know things," he taunted, "a child must surely cramp your freedom."

"All right," she said, and faced him coolly. "I was trying to save your feelings. It isn't true that I can't endure the thought of becoming part of somebody else's life. As a matter of fact, I cannot imagine a relation more sweet and satisfying."

"It's simply that I couldn't endure the thought of becoming part of your life. I know you too well. I've seen your abominable selfishness. The way you wore Rita down!"

"Molly!"

"I don't care! You did. I'll say what I choose. The truth will be good for you. I wouldn't marry you, Bob, if you were the last man on earth, and I happened to be one of those women who'd take 'most anybody! I haven't any illusions about marriage. But, if I ever get married, I'll try hard to make a success of it. Nobody could make it go with a man like you. Rita died, trying to. Do you think I want to begin where she left off? Do you think I want your reformation on my shoulders? I've enough to do."

Bob filled his pipe, and tried to speak carelessly. "You don't think much of me, do you?"

"No," she said dully. "I don't. I'm sick of telling lies, and pretending."

"Well, that being so..." He drew deliberately on his pipe, and when he took it from his mouth, he spoke slowly. Weighing his words.

"That being so, you can understand how I feel about leaving Rita to you any longer. I can scarcely take a chance, Molly, on your prejudicing my daughter against me."

"You know I wouldn't do that, Bob."

"I'm not so sure. There are things you would probably think it your duty to tell Rita, as she grew older. Things that might endear an unsympathetic understanding of her father's frailties. You're a rather stern person, you know."

"Oh, Bob, I'm not. You talk as though I had some dreadful concept of duty. As if I'd tell Rita all sorts of hateful, sordid things. You know I wouldn't. And I wouldn't for all the world alienate her from you. I'd want her to love you, even if she didn't love me."

Bob smoked silently. For several minutes the room was ominously quiet. Then he spoke again. "That isn't true, Molly. You've no scruples, when it comes to getting what you want. I told you that before, and made you angry. You're quite as ruthless as I am. You'd take Rita from me, if you could. Only you can't. And, because you are powerless, it has behooved you to be polite and pleasant to me. To pretend, even, a certain fondness for my company."

"I never pretended a fondness for your company!" she interrupted angrily.

"My error," he acknowledged serenely. "As I was saying, your utility has made you tractable. But I tremble, my dear, to think of what might happen if you should hold the whip hand. If, for instance, your influence over Rita should become so powerful, that you could use it against me."

"But I think such a thing?"

"Oh, yes you would," he insisted. "At least, Molly, I think you would. And that, you must admit, is a chance I can scarcely afford to take. All things considered, I feel that it would be foolish to leave my daughter under your influence."

"I don't want to be unkind, I'm not trying to punish you because you despise me. That is your privilege, and proof of your good sense. But I cannot let a woman who despises me bring up my child. I'm not going to take her from you in order to hurt you, Molly. But I am going to take her."

He rose, and knocked the ashes from his pipe.

"I think," he said, "that I'd better take her pretty quickly too."

Weakly, Molly collapsed in the nearest chair. She was trembling violently. She must compromise. Make some bargain. Contrive, somehow, to keep Rita. It was unthinkable that Bob should crucify her this way. She would die, if he took Rita away. "I'd kill myself," she thought. "I couldn't live without her."

"Don't do that!" she cried. "Why, Bob, you couldn't do that!"

"Oh, yes, I could," he assured her grimly.

But, Bob, there's nothing in the world I wouldn't do for Rita! You wouldn't take her away—deprive her of all I can do for her."

He returned her agonized stare steadily.

"Do you know that a sea-anemone is, Molly? Rita and I have watched them at the aquarium. They look like delicate flowers. They're pink, or yellow, or lilac-colored. And they float on the surface of the water as gently as blossoms. Dainty, quivering things. You'd never know to look at them that they are cruel and relentless. They reach, suddenly, and grab what they want. The send out showers of stinging, tiny darts. And, when they're paralyzed their prey, they take the things that feed them, and eject everything else."

"You're like a sea-anemone, Molly. You paralyze with your charms. You take the things that feed your vanity, and discard the rest. You threw Jack Wells over. You're playing now with Flynn. You use Rita even, to shake your thirst for adoration. You'd consume me, like the others, if you could. But you can't, Molly. Because I know what it's all about, you see. And the rest don't. They've never watched a sea-anemone."

"Oh, Bob!" Molly tried to laugh. "You can call me all the names you please. I'll be an emone, or a shark, or any old thing. Only it's just too silly to talk about me throwing Jack over, and playing with Red. You simply don't understand."

"Don't you suppose I know that Red kissed you out there in the hall?"

"What if he did? You don't think that's being a sea-anemone, do you?"

"It's not right," he insisted stiffly. "That's no sort of carryings-on, with an innocent child in the house."

Molly laughed whole-heartedly. "My dear Bob, you're simply funny! Of all the prigs a reformer take is the priggist. That you should talk about 'carryings-on'!"

"Well, now you know the way I feel about it. I tell you, Molly, I shan't have Red Flynn kissing you not while Rita's around."

"But Rita doesn't think there's anything wrong about kissing! Neither does Red. Neither do I. My dear Bob, you're being perfectly ridiculous! What's a little kiss between friends?"

But Bob was in no mood for jesting.

"I've said all I'm going to say," he announced. "If you want Rita badly enough, I guess you could see your way to marrying her father. I wouldn't bother you much, Molly. I've learned a deal about marriage and women, since I married Rita. I haven't talked to you about love. But you know how I feel. I'm so crazy about you, that I'm out of my head half the time. When I talk like a fool, it's desire for you that's driving me insane. Well, we won't talk about that. It isn't protestations you're looking for."

"You've had time enough now to think things over. Do you want Rita enough to marry me, Molly? Because if you don't, I'll take her, and clear out of your life. I'll leave you to Red Flynn."

"Leave me to Red?" she cried. "But Bob, you silly thing, Red doesn't want to marry me."

"No?" Bob looked at her sharply. "Well I'm not surprised, Molly. He never did strike me as the marrying kind. Why do you play around with him? If you know he never means to marry you, I should think you'd be looking somewhere else."

She laughed at his simplicity. "And you say you've learned about women! Don't you know, my friend, that women don't pine for marriage these days?"

"The right sort usually get married," he countered. "If Red Flynn plays loose with you, Molly, you just let me know."

"Red's my best friend, Bob. Don't be an old woman," she admonished.

"Well, leave him out of it then. What do you say, will you marry me?"

"You wouldn't take Rita away if I should say 'No', Bob?"

"Yes, I would, Molly. Oh, I know it's a rotten way to talk. But I want you so fearfully. There's nothing I wouldn't do to get you. You see, I love you, dear. In my cruel way, I love you—there's not much I wouldn't do to get the thing I want. You ought to understand that, Molly."

"Oh, I understand," she told him wearily. "You're a good deal of a devil, Bob, but I understand. Go away now. I'll give you an answer day after tomorrow."

"But you've had time to think it over!" he protested.

"No," she shook her head. "Day after tomorrow."

SOME GOOD AND NEW BOOKS JUST PUT ON THE LIBRARY LIST

Do you want a good book? A new book? Then mosey down to the Free Public Library and ask the librarian Miss Haas for one that is on this appended list and you will have the newest book out. These books are selected by Miss Haas from book reviews and they are the popular and recent stuff. That the list coming in are sought is evidenced by the splendid patronage the library has received steadily through the hot weather. The library committee, which has no censor, has Mrs. Jos. M. Perkins as chairman of the library board; Mrs. C. U. Connellee; Mrs. James Horton, president of the Thursday Club which supports the library and Mrs. Earl Couner.

The work of Mrs. Horton is primarily that of treasurer as she handles the funds of the club which differentiate from those reserved as library dues. These plans for the upkeep and safeguarding of the library were made by the late Mrs. A. H. Johnson several years ago who was the founder of the free public library through the support secured from the Thursday Study Club. This committee has splendid cooperation from the librarian Miss Haas.

JANE WHITTINGTON CONNELLEE GIVES LITERARY PROMISE

Miss Jane Whittington Connellee, daughter of Mrs. C. U. Connellee has spent a delightful as well as busy summer at camp Waldemar where she has been active not only physically in sports and out door pleasures, but worked at her appointment of literary editor of the Waldemar War Whoop, a four page paper of some pretensions and of merry tales, jokes, articles and adventures.

Miss Jane has made good. She also edits a column titled "Counselors Confessions" that are clever in the extreme. Among these are several quips of a semi artistic flavor and which cheerfully laugh at some pet folly or weakness and that shows a keen sense of humor and a great deal of imagination. A clever one of these funny jokes states "I was never born I was just like Topsy I grew 'tumpy'".

When I was in a very tender age I wanted to be a paper hanger but after a swan dive from a scaffold into a bucket of paint I supposed this desire was a hopeless one and decided to spend my life in learning how to keep chaps off my lips, and to learn to give a taste worse than aspirin and soda to the Waldemar girls."

In a clever column "Counselors Confessions" she observes "I've moved four times since I've been here. My life's ambition is to live in one place five years without moving. I have climbed the ladder of success several times and fallen. Now I am at Waldemar, I am still climbing. Here's hoping I don't fall again."

Miss Connellee has contributed to each issue of the "Waldemar War Whoop" which is issued each Sunday.

Camp Waldemar, under the direction of Miss Johnson has guests from Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas and California and the camp is now in its fourth year. A large dining room and assembly hall have been recently remodeled. The stables have been enlarged and fine horses have been added every year to the Waldemar collection. A handsome open air theater is in course of construction and seven new campings have been erected making a total of twenty nine bunk houses.

Miss Connellee has a very delightful Indian Legend in the War Whoop of June 16, and signed. This means promotion in the writing game and one to which Miss Connellee is entitled.

The comment was carried in yesterday's Telegram of Miss Connellee having been chosen to play a leading boys part in a gorgeous water Pageant to be staged the 28th, on Wednesday. Miss Connellee will be met in Fort Worth on the 30th by her mother Mrs. C. U. Connellee and will be in Eastland a few days later.

PIONEERS' DAYS AND OLD TIMERS REVIVE INDEPENDENCE

The old town of Independence, Texas, was alive on Sunday, all day, the occasion of the annual reunion of all the old and the older or original pioneers of Texas. Special trains were run at intervals from Houston to Independence. Fully fifteen hundred to two thousand people were in attendance. The old Baptist church that was given to Sam Houston by Mrs. Elizabeth Vickers of Shreveport, a very wealthy woman at the time and in her childhood a resident of Independence housed the crowds and furnished the picnic and barbecue. Known as the old Sam Houston church, the donor is the grandmother of Mrs. Alberta Golden of this city and her daughter Mrs. Bessie Vickers Young, was the mother of Mrs. Golden. Mrs. Golden's aunt 88 years of age was her hostess.

It was a great sight, all those

WHAT KISSES TELL MOTHER

Keeping children well is easy when mother can read the early symptoms of childhood's ills.

If little ones are fretful, pale, languid, won't eat and want to be mothered, when they often get colds and sore throat and seem feverish, depend upon it the bowels are sluggish. You notice unpleasant breath when you kiss them—sure sign of constipation and a sour stomach.

Give a little California Fig Syrup to purify the system and see how quickly it restores strength, appetite and joyous spirits. It acts without pain and gently cleanses the bowels of constipation remedy to equal California Fig Syrup for coaxing the bowels back to healthy regularity. If you have a child who is troublesome in this way try California Fig Syrup. Get a bottle today. All drug stores have it.

'Is the Finest Experience I Have Ever Had'

"The way Sargon brought back my health is the finest thing I ever experienced. My whole system has been toned up and I feel like a new man."

"I had such a bad case of stomach trouble that everything I ate disagreed with me. I had such pains in my back that I was nervous and irritable most of the time. My liver wasn't working right either and I had to take harsh laxatives to get even temporary relief. My whole system was run down. Finally, after hearing so much talk about Sargon I decided to try it."

"I never in my life saw anything to equal the way Sargon ended my troubles. First, my appetite came back strong and now I'm eating anything I want and as much as I want without any trouble. The pains have gone and I sleep as sound as a bird boy. When I get up, I feel rested and full of new strength and energy."

"My liver has been regulated perfectly by the Sargon Soft Mass Pills."

"It's a real pleasure for me to endorse such a wonderful, health giving, strengthening medicine."
