Misguided Courtesy

Press agents told of how two women who had permitted two strange "hitch-hiker" men to ride in their car across a sparsely settled section of Colorado and Kansas were found beaten and abandoned in a Kansas pasture.

Fraught of the human mind, rather than conditions brought by the advent of the automobile, is responsible for the opportunities criminals have in such cases as that described in the Kansas press report. Why two women would permit strangers to enter their automobile on a lonely prairie is a question we pass along to psychologists.

Thousands of persons are picked up daily on highways, and in most instances no harm results. Yet, the risk is too great. Crimes committed by persons who have accepted the courtesy of motorists are frequent, and some of them are of the most atrocious type.

It was not many years ago that the principal of a high school in a southern state was clubbed to death by three young men to whom he had given a ride in a sparsely settled district. The foot-sore travelers repaid the man who had extended the misguided courtesy by taking his life. True, two of the young men paid for their crime with their lives, and the third was given a life sentence, escaping death because he turned state's evidence.

But that did not end the hazardous habit of giving rides to strangers, nor did the punishment of the criminals end attacks made upon motorists.

Thousands of unfortunate persons walk along the highways every day, many of them forced to walk because they haven't the price of train or bus fare. Most of these pedestrians are honest, honorable persons, but there is nothing to distinguish them from the thug, the crook and the dead-beat.

So, the only safe plan is to ignore those who attempt to bum their way along the highways. Misguided courtesy has cost numerous men and women their lives. If motorists will learn the lesson of refusing rides to all persons to whom they would not lend train or bus fare, the highways soon will be cleared of deadbeats and criminals who depend upon sympathy for their transportation.

Boy Robber Caught After Lively Chase

DALLAS, Aug. 17.—One boy was in the county jail today and another was sought by police following the robbery and burning of a cold drink stand at Greenville road and Lovers Lane early today.

Officers saw the boys drive away from the robbery after they had set fire to the stand and save chase. The chase took them up one street and down another and was climaxed when the car bearing the boys collided with the police machine.

For a time it appeared as though both boys would be apprehended but one untangled himself from the automobile wreckage and took to his heels. A search of several hours failed to disclose any trace of him.

Damage to the cold drink stand was estimated at $1,500.

Escaped Convicts Are Recaptured

HUNTSVILLE, Aug. 17.—Three charges of highway robbery were filed today against the two convicts who escaped Thursday from the prison here, and who were captured last night after a chase at Woodville, Tyler county. The convicts, Finis Gorae and Elbery Roberts, both serving terms for murder, had kidnaped a young couple near Huntsville, forced them to accompany them on a wild drive to Beaumont, had stolen another car in Beaumont, abandoned it when it ran out of gas and then held up a Woodville couple, taking their auto before they were captured. Both men were back inside "the walls" at Huntsville today, having been returned here by assistant warden Homer Knight and E. G. Kobanks, prison officer.

COTTON NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Cotton futures held all of the opening gains of over a dollar a bale in the short session on the local exchange today, as nervousness over the crop situation brought in a large covering movement for both local and professional accounts. Liverpool and the trade also were good buyers on the pessimistic crop reports and the weather details, which showed high temperatures and lack of moisture in the drought-stricken areas of the western cotton belt. Selling by Wall Street, New Orleans and the South as readily absorbed, a process which was aided to a great extent by the renewal of outside interest, which had been absent in the last few sessions. China Prepares For Possible Winter Campaign By RANDALL GOULD United Press Staff Correspondent. SHANGHAI, Aug. 17.—China's war department began today to make extensive preparations for a possible winter campaign against the Soviet Union after officially notifying the Kellogg pact signatories that she would stand for no infringement of her territory and that she reserved the right of defending the nation. Inquiries in the Shanghai markets disclosed the fact that the Chinese army officials were making heavy purchases of blankets, uniform khaki and other war supplies, indicating the Nanking minister for foreign affairs, Dr. C. T. Wang, had instructed the Chinese minister at Washington, D. C., C. Wu, to notify the powers which are signatory to the Kellogg anti-war agreement, of which both Russia and China also are signatories, that while the Chinese government hoped to settle the current dispute over the Chinese Eastern railway amicably and by conference, China reserved the right to defend her borders by force should her rights be infringed upon.

Russian Red Army Invades Manchuria By UNITED PRESS MUKDEN, Manchuria, Aug. 17.—Russia's Red army has invaded Manchuria with a large force, occupied two towns west of Manchuria and today continued to advance with the apparent intention of isolating the Manchurian railway junction, it was announced in an official communique here. General Chang Hsueh-Liang war lord of Manchuria and commander of the Chinese forces along the border, ordered his advance guard to resist the invasion. The foreign legations at this capital of Manchuria have not yet been informed of the action of the Soviet army. The communique said the towns were occupied last night. Mukden officials returning from Manchuria said today there had been border clashes between Chinese and Soviet troops throughout the week. Before the reports of the Red army invasion into Manchurian territory several of the Chinese officials still held out the hope that a peaceful agreement between the two giant republics of the far east might be reached.

'Sun God' Is Having Many Difficulties

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 17.—Ill fortune continued to follow the airplane "Sun God," making a coast to coast flight today. After having spent the night over Rock Springs, unable to refuel in the darkness, the "Sun God" ran into air pockets here.

The "Sun God" started for North Platte, Neb., at 11:25 a. m. and will refuel there. Despite the unfavorable condition, the "Sun God" made two short contacts, taking 50 gallons of gasoline first and then 20 gallons of gasoline and a supply of oil on a second try. It appeared likely that the speeding coast to coast flier would not be able to reach Cleveland tonight, as planned.

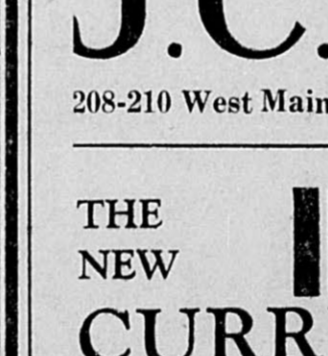

The refueling plane, carrying 120 gallons of gasoline, followed the "Sun God" out of Cheyenne. Lieut. Nick Kamer, in command, dropped a note to the helping machine saying he would try to make contact as soon as air conditions were better. North Platte is 240 miles from Cheyenne.

Fiendish Slayer Of Dorothy Aune Yet Unidentified

Funeral of 12-Year Old Murdered School Girl Largely Attended.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 17.—Four hours before the greatest funeral throng in the history of Minneapolis attended the last services for Dorothy Aune, brutally murdered 12-year old school girl, police moved swiftly today to retain in custody a cobbler suspected of knowledge of her death. The suspect, Albert Mullenbauer, 31, sought his freedom on a writ of habeas corpus which police opposed with the filing of a warrant which charged him with an indecent assault on a 13-year old girl. Police also revealed for the first time that when Mullenbauer was arrested Thursday, three days after Dorothy's mutilated body was found wrapped in burlap in a gutter, threats had been made upon his life by an unknown man. Detective Charles Kelso signed the complaint against Mullenbauer after he had learned, he charged, that the shoemaker had forced his attentions on four other young girls out in the Aune neighborhood. Threats against the life of the suspect were received in a telephone call, police said. The voice of an unknown man excitedly asked: "Have you got that shoemaker in jail?" "Yes," the officer answered, "Why?" "If you had not," the fellow said, "a bunch of us out here planned to get the ———" Mullenbauer will be held, police said, until he can give a clear account of his actions on the night Dorothy was attacked and slain.

Just 265 Pounds

This 265-pound black bear, or Jewish, displayed by Sergeant Noah E. Dillman of Uncle Sam's air service, was caught with rod and line at the foot of Gatun Dam spillway along the Panama Canal. Fishermen, don't crowd getting tickets to Panama!

his previous accounts of his whereabouts, they declared, were unconvincing. Other developments today included: Investigation of the suicide of Paul Youngstid, 55, a night watchman, early today in a hotel popular with laboring men. The re-arrest of a former asylum inmate who was said to have bragged that police "made a mistake" when they let him go free. Instructions by Chief of Police Harry Lindholm that every officer keep a sharp watch on the funeral throng, evidently in the possibility that the slayer may be attracted to the scene of the crime by morbid curiosity.

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 17.—Evidence indicating that Mrs. James Parillo, 21-year old Chicago bride may have been drowned accidentally instead of murdered in Devil's Lake was produced today by Dr. Frank D. Weeks, assistant state pathologist who examined the body here.

Fitzhugh Lee Fights Indian

(By Austin Callan)
In those years immediately preceding the Civil War, Camp Colorado, in Coleman county, was the most fascinating military post on the Texas frontier. Among the men who were stationed there from time to time were E. Kirby Smith, Earl Van Dorn, Fitzhugh Lee, and John B. Hood. All of these became famous in that fratricidal contest of the sixties.

Camp Colorado is situated on the banks of Jim Ned creek in a section that was once the best same country in America. Back in the 'fifties it was the gateway to the land of the Indian, the buffalo and the deer. Society center of a vast territory, the post was frequented by knightly riders of the range in those good days when chivalry was in flower.

Robert E. Lee sometimes visited Camp Colorado and frontier belles had an opportunity to dance the Virginia reel with that greatest captain of any age or any land. In certain of the pioneer homes entertainments were given where culture, grace and beauty shone in all its refinement and splendor.

It was at this post that Gen. Hood, dauntless commander of Texas troops in many hard-fought battles, received his first command. A great "blowout" was given in his honor at the home of John Shren, one of the pioneers on the occasion of Hood's promotion, which was attended by brother officers and society folks of the entire settlement.

Trails That Were Dangerous
But "tripping the light fantastic toe" was by no means the only thing of interest in that section. The country was infested with hostile Indians, and army men were often required to take a dangerous trail through wild, uninhabited regions for the purpose of avenging the murder of a white settler or recover stock stolen by Indians.

These trails led southward into the Brady mountains, northward by Caddo Peak, and westward through Buffalo Gap. There were Indian rendezvous in each of these directions from which Indians could reach the Jim Ned settlement at the end of a one or two days' ride. As a consequence, raids were frequent and it was common occurrence for a citizen to be aroused from his slumbers in the middle of the night by an effort on the part of sneaking red devils to break the lock of his stable door and steal his horses. It was necessary to keep animals closely guarded to protect them from these raids.

One of the most serviceable of all the frontier protectors stationed at Camp Colorado, in that historic past, was Fitzhugh Lee, the great Virginian who was in charge of our affairs at Havana, Cuba, in 1898 when we engaged Spain in war. He was a young military graduate at Camp Colorado, handsome, athletic and of lithe figure.

Those who knew him say he was a true type of that splendid Southern manhood which graced the Old Dominion state back in the early days of our republic.

Lee struck some swift and telling blows at the savage raiders, and was rewarded by them as a foe who had brought depletion to their ranks and made it difficult for them to steal stock or commit murder around Camp Colorado. There was nothing that would have pleased one of the savages any more than a chance to put him out of the way. However, they never risked an open fight on the range.

Lee was relentless in pursuing and punishing them, and his men gave the government soldiers a reputation for bravery and efficient fighting, which, through indifference, they failed to sustain in after years.

Friends often warned Lee of the danger which attended his movements around the little military post after nightfall. But he went wherever he chose without fear or bodyguard.

On one occasion this indifference to the perils with which he was surrounded almost cost him his life. He often sought solitude and would retire to some quiet spot on the banks of Jim Ned creek or in the nearby woods to commune with nature. He was called a "star-gazer" because he loved to trace the course of the planets on a clear night or to read alone from the mysterious pages of an open sky.

Attempted Assassination
A certain springtime evening he was out several hundred yards from his quarters engaged in a study which rendered him practically oblivious to everything around him. Suddenly there was a rustle in the brush behind him indicating that someone or something was approaching and he wheeled around just in time to see a powerful Indian buck advancing upon him with a deadly knife in his hand.

He was called a "star-gazer" because he loved to trace the course of the planets on a clear night or to read alone from the mysterious pages of an open sky.

Attempted Assassination
A certain springtime evening he was out several hundred yards from his quarters engaged in a study which rendered him practically oblivious to everything around him. Suddenly there was a rustle in the brush behind him indicating that someone or something was approaching and he wheeled around just in time to see a powerful Indian buck advancing upon him with a deadly knife in his hand.

The general had side arms, of course, and had been trained in their use. But the savage was so close upon him that it was too late to successfully draw either his pistol or his sword.

Under such circumstances many men would have attempted a hasty retreat. The sudden surprise like that of a savage with murderous intent and blade flashing would have been enough to discourage the most courageous.

Fitzhugh Lee faced the situation calmly and his mind worked in lightning rapidity as he recalled in youth upon the old playground back at home. Quicker than words can tell, he sprang to one side and tripped his assailant, sending him headlong to the ground.

The Indian dropped the knife as he fell but made a desperate effort to recover it. Then the two clinched and a contest was on for life or death with the brute strength of the plains on one side and the skill of a less-powerfully muscled but better trained man on the other. Over and over they rolled, each grappling for a clinch hold on the other—each struggling with might and main to become master of the situation. Lee was at a disadvantage in the tussle because his sword and uniform were practically naked, but Lee knew that if his antagonist got hold of the knife it meant death to him; therefore he exerted all his strength and skill to possess the weapon.

MOORE IS ELECTED TO HONOR

Named By Legionnaires As Ranger's Most Distinguished Citizen.

RANGER, Texas, August 17.—Charles G. Moore was elected last night as Ranger's most distinguished citizen for the current year by American Legionnaires of Carl Barnes post, the local post of the American Legion.

Named as one of the chief distinguishing qualities of Mr. Moore was his untiring effort in behalf of the Ranger airport.

The American Legion certificate of distinction will be formally presented Mr. Moore at the next week's meeting of the Ranger Lions club of which he is president.

"The name of the citizen who wins your award," says R. F. Scott, Jr., commander of the American Legion, department of Texas, "together with the names of all others that have been awarded like certificates in the state, will be inscribed on an American Legion roll of honor citizenship of Texas, which will be hung permanently in state headquarters."

This statement comes in a communication to the local post commander. The communication states further: "The award is to be given to that man who, in the current year, has rendered the highest service as a citizen to his community. This does not mean that the service be expressed in monetary gifts alone, but literally the expression of the highest type of citizenship that your community affords in one man."

State Convention in August
The state convention of the Legion is to be held this month, on Aug. 26 and 27, at Port Arthur. All legionnaires who contemplate attending this convention are requested to communicate with B. H. Murphy, Carl Barnes post commander, regarding credentials.

White Man's Skill Wins
Only a short distance away the lights of the post were gleaming. A shadow of his own quarters disclosed the presence of men who had they only known what was going on, would have rushed out there and settled it quickly. But there was no way to communicate with them, and they might just as well have been in some foreign land.

How long the encounter lasted is not definitely known. Sometimes Lee and sometimes the Indian was on top. But either the better management of Lee, or fate itself, made it possible for him to reach out and take hold of the coveted knife. He held it with a firm grip and despite the fact that the powerful Indian had him by the wrist, he was able, through super-human effort, to slowly sink the keen blade into the breast of the savage.

Gen. Lee was always reluctant to discuss his personal encounter with the Indian, but he has heard later in life that at no time in all his military career did he face death as nearly as when he battled with the lone Indian who attempted to assassinate him on the banks of Jim Ned creek.

TALK ON PROHIBITION
BY UNITED PRESS
CHARLOTTEVILLE, Va., Aug. 15.—James E. Doran, federal prohibition commissioner, and Judge J. J. Britt, chief counsel for the prohibition bureau, took issue today before the Institute of Public Affairs to the attack on prohibition made here last night by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland.

Declaring "there is no doubt about the binding legal force of the eighteenth amendment on the states," Doran said there must be a "clearer conception" of the respective functions of the federal and state governments before prohibition enforcement can be improved.

Family Menu

BY SISTER MARY NEA Service Writer

WHEN it's "too hot to cook," try the following menu. Nourishing and attractive, it represents a minimum of effort by the cook.

Canned soup can be used. Add ing milk with 1 tablespoon flour and 1 tablespoon butter thoroughly blended and bring to the whole to the boiling point is the only cooking necessary. The pie should be baked in the morning and the salad mixed right after lunch.

Here's the menu: Cream of celery soup, crisp crackers, sweetbread and cucumber salad, whole wheat Parker House rolls, apple pie, cheese, coffee.

Sweetbread and Cucumber Salad

One sweetbread, 1 cucumber, 1-2 cup whipping cream, 1 teaspoon granulated gelatin, 1 tablespoon cold water, 2 tablespoons boiling water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-2 teaspoon, 1-8 teaspoon Pepper, 1 drop onion juice.

Parboil and blanch sweetbread. Remove membrane and cut in cubes. Pare and dice cucumber. Combine and let stand in French dressing on ice for one hour. Whip cream until firm. Soften gelatin in cold water, add boiling water and stir until dissolved. Add salt, pepper, onion juice and lemon juice. Add to whipped cream. Drain sweet bread and cucumber from dressing and add to whipped cream mixture. Turn into a mold and let stand on ice until thoroughly chilled and firm. Unmold and serve on a bed of lettuce.

The note, according to Lower Merion police, was found on the ice box in the kitchen and read: "If I can't have you nobody else will." The initials "P. B." were signed to it, police said.

Chamber of Commerce Chips

By the Secretary
DR. H. B. TANNER

The Eastland Daily Telegram has kindly consented to give us a little space to acquaint the citizens with the aims, objects and news of this branch of the city government.

The Chamber of Commerce, or as it is locally defined, the Board of City Development of Eastland, Texas, is an integral part of the city government, supported by taxation.

The ordinance creating this department of the city, provides that: "They shall have general supervision over all matters pertaining to the work of a chamber of commerce or commercial club, such as the legitimate fostering, encouragement and development of the agricultural, stock, industrial, manufacturing and development of the agricultural, stock, industrial and manufacturing, jobbing and distributing of wholesale and retail commercial resources, the securing of desirable immigration, encouraging social and communal intercourse, improving transportation facilities, desirable publicity, more and better highways, city planning, city charity and other matters that have for their purpose the upbuilding and growth of Eastland or benefit of its citizenship."

The directors are fifteen in number, three being elected annually for a period of three years.

The officers are president, vice president and secretary; the latter only receiving pay, all the others are voluntary workers.

To assist in the management there are seventeen committees each with a chairman and a membership of from 6 to 9 workers.

It is the earnest wish of the officers to make this board of some personal use to each individual citizen either directly or indirectly, therefore we ask the co-operation of all of our citizens for suggestions that may be worked out in a useful manner.

Perhaps these two verses carry the idea:

"It ain't the gruns no rarmament, Nor funds that they can pay, But the close co-operation, That makes them win the day."

"It ain't the individual, Nor the army as a whole, But the everlasting team-work Of every bloomin' soul."

With this preliminary statement we will say that this column will be devoted to news items pertaining to the work of the board, the better to acquaint you all with what we are doing as well as what we hope to accomplish in the future.

By the way, did you attend the base ball tournament? If you did not you missed a fine free treat. Five clubs from rural communities in this county entered into the contest with great enthusiasm.

Great credit is due to our merchants and citizens for their contributions which made possible the giving of the prizes. Particular credit is due to Messrs. J. B. Nunn, B. M. Collier, Milton Lawrence and C. J. Rhodes for their team work in making this a success. Let us have another one before the summer is over.

As the radio announcer says, "We invite your comments on the program in order that we may improve the same."

Three Wounded In Dallas Shooting

Hunter told authorities the trouble started over family matters. None of the injured was in a serious condition.

ATWATER KENT AUDITIONS IN PLAN PROCESS

Third Annual Contests of Foundation Are Announced From Dallas

DALLAS, Aug. 15.—Plans for the third annual, district and north Texas Atwater Kent auditions, now recognized as a great opportunity offered every young singer, has been announced here from Station WFAA. The auditions will be conducted by the Dallas News and The Dallas Journal station in the Baker Hotel.

The first local contest in Dallas will be held at the studios at 9 p. m., Saturday, September 14. The North Texas contest will be held at WFAA at 10 p. m., Thursday, October 24. The district contest, in which the state winners will be heard, will be held at 9:15 p. m., Sunday, November 24.

Here are the qualifications for those who would enter the auditions: Entrants must be between the ages of 18 and 25 years, meaning they must have passed their eighteenth birthday by November 1, 1929, and must not have passed their twenty-sixth birthday before that date.

They must never have been paid principals or featured artists in any professional theatrical or operatic company, or apid principals or featured artist in any concert outside the boundaries of their own states.

They must declare an intention to follow a musical career and must be free from all theatrical or musical contracts.

The limitations permit choir singers and occasional radio and concert artists to enter the auditions even though they have received financial compensation.

Every entrant must enter through an official organized local committee and no one shall compete in more than one local contest during the year.

Preliminary auditions will be held in each of the forty-eight States and in the District of Columbia.

Winners in each local, state and district audition will be one young man and one young woman. After the series of local and state auditions have been certified to the five district auditions, two contestants from each state, the district contest will send to the national finals, one young man and one young woman.

The winners of each state audition will receive silver medals. Winners of district auditions will receive gold medals.

Contestants in the district and national auditions will have their railroad and hotel expenses paid by the Atwater Kent Foundation.

Ten scholarships and $25,000 cash awards are offered winners in the national contests. The distribution will be as follows: First prize, $5,000 in cash, gold decoration; second prize, $3,000 in cash; one year's tuition; third prize, $2,000 in cash, one year's tuition; fourth prize, $1,500 in cash, one year's tuition; and fifth prize, $1,000 in cash, one year's tuition.

Each award will be presented to one boy and one girl.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Wilson's familiar presence in the presidential box. Keith's succumbed to the disease which has ravaged vaudeville generally. It suspended soon after an enormous movie house opened nearby to offer presentations, almost the equivalent of vaudeville, along with motion pictures. The talkies appear to have given another blow to any hopes of reopening.

No other Washington theater has taken its place as the principal local amusement center and President Hoover has his own talkies at the White House twice a week.

PERHAPS the boys and girls elsewhere will be interested to learn that the boys and girls in Washington have seen Mrs. Lindbergh and agree that she is not only dainty and petite, but also a very pretty girl.

It seems that the former Anne Morrow takes a very poor picture—so poor as to make her look almost ordinary, whereas she really doesn't look like that at all. Observation reveals that she has lovely blue eyes, dark, well-shaped eyebrows, handsome teeth and an irresistible smile. And she made a hit with the boys and girls who counted themselves lucky to get a good look.

As a conscientious reporter, one probably also ought to report that Mrs. Lindbergh, when she stepped out of her husband's plane, wore an Alice blue ensemble, with coat and hat of some woolen material, printed silk tuck to match, beige hose and black shoes with one trap.

Lone Star Gas Man Forced to Quit Work

Ranger, Texas, Man Had Kidney Trouble Two Years—Ends His Ailments by Taking Orgatone.

"I had to quit my job altogether, after suffering for two whole years until I was so weak and run down that I couldn't work any longer," said A. H. Glover, a well known former employee of the Lone Star Gas company, a few days ago in conversation with the Orgatone representative. He spoke in a very interesting manner of the benefits that he has derived from the use of Orgatone.

"Many a time I have had my stomach so swollen up from gas that formed because my food rotted, that I have had to gasp for breath and would almost choke. My liver was all out of shape and day after day I have gone about my work with a dull throbbing headache that seemed like I had a weight tied around my temples that would pull my neck in two. I got so dizzy sometimes that I would have to catch hold of something to keep from falling over. My kidneys were clogged up and didn't work right and all my troubles together just pulled me down until I had to give up trying to do any work at all. Nothing I could do for myself gave me much relief and I just dragged on, getting a little worse all the time.

"I heard several people tell about what Orgatone had done for them and read articles in the papers about it, until I made up my mind to give it a trial.

"I haven't had a dizzy spell since I got through taking the first bottle and my improvement has been wonderful in every way. Everything I eat does me good and builds me up because it digests easily and does not hurt me. The headaches are gone entirely and I feel like a different man. I am setting better every day. I take Orgatone and I am buying my third bottle this week. I can certainly recommend Orgatone for it has helped me out of a bad fix and I am sure that it will help anybody who suffers as I did."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called secret remedy but a new scientific bile treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs manufactured by one of the world's largest laboratories and sold in Eastland exclusively by the Texas and Corner Drug Stores, phones 345 and 588—Adv.

W. A. King of Brownsville Sells Nearly 30,000 Snakes Annually, Is Discovery of Ranger Times Editor.

One of Texas' most famous citizens is W. A. (Snake) King and no visit to Brownsville would be complete without a trip to his unique institution.

At the gateway of the farm is the sign "Snakeville, Population 17,249."

Nearly 30,000 snakes are sold by this farm annually. They are shipped to all parts of the United States and to many foreign countries. Zoos and circuses are, of course, the chief purchasers.

Upon entering the snake house, our party was greeted by a terrific rattling which continued for the entire time we remained. We saw a bowl filled with thousands of rattlesnake fangs which had not yet been sterilized. Severe, but not fatal, poisoning would result if any of the fangs were handled. After they are freed of the poison, the fangs are made into cuff links and curios and have a wide sale.

But snakes are not the only inhabitants of Snakeville. King buys and sells all kinds of animals. He owned "Big Boy," the huge gorilla that was burned to death in Port Worth and had refused vast offers for the animal.

Honey bears, ant-eaters, beavers and apes are among the caged inhabitants of the Brownsville farm. Then there are a number of "cats" including a particularly large, handsome Mexican lion. Our guide demonstrated how quick the animal was by arousing him to action by thrusting a hand into the cage as a target. Not satisfied with a futile leap, the "cat" flicked his paw through the bars with the speed of a lightweight boxer.

The most dangerous animals of Texas and probably of the entire United States are javelinas. The farm has several of these creatures. They are not especially alarming to gaze at as they are

THE New BUICK

The Greatest success in all Buick history

More people have purchased New Buicks during the past two weeks than in any similar period of any previous year

The New Buick with Body by Fisher has met with a veritable landslide of public demand, many purchased before ever seeing the car—many thousands of others placed their orders the first few days it was on display—other thousands have been taking demonstrations and then making Buick their choice.

More Buick owners have entered orders—more men and women who owned other cars have turned to Buick—more people who formerly paid from $1000 to $2000 higher for their automobiles have purchased Buicks—than ever before during a similar period in Buick's twenty-six year history.

The total demand during these two weeks is from three to five times as great as that for any other automobile priced above $1200.

Popularity so overwhelming carries an unmistakable message to every prospective motor car buyer: See the new Buick—drive it—compare it—and you'll quickly discover that it's the greatest dollar-for-dollar value in the entire quality field.

BUYING the best

tire value for your money would be a difficult problem—except for one thing.

That one thing is the great name GOODYEAR boldly cast into the sidewall of a tire.

Tires resemble one another in general contour; good rubber and poor look much alike; the eye cannot easily penetrate hidden weaknesses or strength.

But whenever you find that name Goodyear on a tire you can be SURE that tire embodies a quality that so far is peerless and supreme!

WHY is this true? What are the facts behind the Goodyear Tire that give its name this priceless meaning? Briefly, they are these:

Goodyear Tires are the chief product of the largest rubber company in the world.

Goodyear Tires are so outstandingly superior in quality that last year their percentage of gain in sales was nearly THREE TIMES the percentage of gain in sales recorded for the industry as a whole!

That is why the leading motor car manufacturers, seeking the best in tire equipment, use MORE GOODYEAR TIRES THAN ANY OTHER KIND.

That is why the cost-wary owners of the great truck fleets of industry, seeking utmost economy, use MORE GOODYEAR TIRES THAN ANY OTHER KIND.

That is why the purchasing experts of the urban, interurban and transcontinental bus lines, seeking safe and a profitable operation, use MORE GOODYEAR TIRES THAN ANY OTHER KIND.

That is why throughout the world it is true this year as for FOURTEEN years past, that "MORE PEOPLE RIDE ON GOODYEAR TIRES THAN ON ANY OTHER KIND!"

SO don't be misled by the specious plea of the tire dealer who would take your good money for something less than Goodyears, when he says, "All tires are about alike." You know the answer.

POPULAR GIRLS ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Miss Virginia Root, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Root, was the center of an intimate little coterie of girl friends Friday afternoon at the family residence entertained by Mrs. Root with an announcement party of her daughter's engagement and approaching marriage to Mr. Frank M. Woods of San Antonio, the first week in September. The entire Root residence was charmingly graceful in its garb of green and white flowers. Bouquets of lovely roses with their background of ferns made the affair extremely lovely. Three tables were arranged in dainty pale green covers and tallies and bridge books carried out the green and white color motif and also a dainty hint of Cupid. The announcement of the engagement was found in the contents of a love card, in its delicate envelope, placed at each service plate when the high tea was served of delicious sandwiches, potato flakes, tiny green pickles, Bavarian cream with whipped cream topping and iced tea with minted ice cubes. Mints in green and white and pecans in white candy cases were supplied the tables throughout the games. Favor for high score in bridge, a string of real coral beads was awarded Mrs. Bludworth. Consolation, a necklace of hand carved wooden beads went to Miss Alsdorf. Miss Root, the honoree, was presented a lovely set of three sets of embroidered pillow cases made by her mother, Mrs. Root. Miss Spears received the cut-for-all, a carved bead necklace.

Many laughing congratulations and a shower of good wishes were tendered Miss Root, one of our popular and modish girls, who has a host of friends. That every joy may be hers is the sincere desire of a close number of friends who have long left girlhood behind them, for Miss Virginia, as she is intimately known, is sweet and lovely to girls and other folk as well.

Those sharing the honors of this lovely occasion were Misses Ada Martin, Geraldine Dabney, Elizabeth Garrett, Jane Angstadt, Elizabeth Davenport, Allene Williams, Miss Clara Spears of Breckenridge, Miss Lois Alsdorf of Ashland, O.; Mrs. Bludworth, and house guest, Mrs. Coleman; Mrs. Jimmie Jarboe and Mrs. A. H. Rhodes.

The wedding in September will be an Eastland event. Mr. Woods is in the real estate business in San Antonio. He is the son of J. M. Woods, who is assistant county attorney of that section.

MRS. CARL SPRINGER HOSTESS TO
LUNCHEON CLUB.
The presence of Miss Berniece Foy of Ft. Worth, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Carl Springer this week, has provided opportunity for many social affairs, none of which have been more charming than the entertaining by Mrs. Springer of the Luncheon club, in honor of Miss Foy, on Thursday morning.

Acorn Acres formed a delightful "journey's end" to the invigorating morning motor ride, and luncheon at noon was enjoyed in the open gallery room, of many windows, and pleasing views.

The long table, centered in lovely flowers, had places indicated by modish ultra girls in gay flowering attire and the bright colors were reflected in the delicious jells preserves, tiny pickles, and other delicacies, with which the table was spaced.

Following a delicious iced fruit cocktail the luncheon plate brought chicken chowder, peas, nuts, olive, hot biscuit, potato balls, and molded fruit gelatine salad, on lettuce, with mayonnaise topping. Iced tea was served and flavored with mint, delicate slices of lemon and ice cubes.

The last course of chocolate ice cream, in tinted sherbet glasses, with caramel cake, iced in caramel, concluded the delicious menu.

A charming visit was had with the honoree, who holds a responsible post as newspaper woman on the Ft. Worth Star-Telegram.

Members of the Luncheon club present were the hostesses, Mrs. Carl Springer, Mrs. Virgil T. Seaberry, Mrs. M. L. Keasler, Mrs. B. M. Collier, and Mrs. Thomas J. Haley.

Other guests were Mrs. W. K. Jackson, Mrs. W. P. Leslie, Mrs. Joe H. Jones, Mrs. W. K. Hyer, Mrs. John W. Turner, Mrs. John M. Knox, Jr., and honoree, Miss Foy.

Following a brief visit in Baird Miss Foy will return to Eastland
