County Solons Decide Against Animal Eradication United Charities' Fund Drive Wednesday

HOPE TO RAISE 1929 QUOTA EARLY

Committees Will Start Annual Drive At Nine O'clock.

The annual drive of the United Charities, local charitable association, for funds with which to operate, will start Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

Hovace Condeley, chairman of the committee in charge of raising the 1929 quota, has asked that all who are to help in the half day drive, to meet at the First Methodist church basement in the morning.

The committee hopes to raise the desired amount Wednesday morning, and it is not expected that an extensive drive will be necessary. The town will be divided into sections for the drive, and solicitors, under the direction of a district chairman, will call upon the people and give them an opportunity to assist in raising the money.

The organization is composed of all Eastland pastors, and one layman from each church, one representative from the Lions Club, Rotary Club, and all civic organizations and women's clubs.

It was organized some years ago by the ministers and others of Eastland, to meet the needs for funds with which to take care of cases that could hardly be reached in other ways.

The annual Thanksgiving service will be held at the First Methodist church, Wednesday night, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. A musical program has been arranged for the occasion. At this time a collection for the United Charities will be taken.

The Rev. A. G. Lovell, who is conducting a revival at the church of God, will deliver the sermon.

Stores To Close Here Thanksgiving

All stores in Eastland, excepting filling stations and drug stores, will be closed Thanksgiving Day, it was announced at the Retail Merchants' Association this morning. Banks, as usual, will observe the holiday, as well as all oil company maintaining headquarters here.

Those from Cisco attending were Hoyt L. Agnew, P. E. R.; C. H. Fleming, M. L. M. Gannon, A. C. Vaughan, B. C. Boney, H. S. White, H. C. Wippen. This group had charge of the exemplification of the work.

Those of Breckenridge in attendance were, N. J. Nanney, P. E. R.; T. B. Ridgell, E. R.; W. C. Werner, P. E. R.; John Murphy, H. J. Walton, L. F. Boone, D. M. Boles, B. W. Sternberg, and D. L. Tabalows.

Ranger Elks did not attend the meeting.

But she, co-heir to the $178,000,000 estate he left, is perhaps the wealthiest little girl in the world. The fortune is the largest on record at the New York Tax Bureau.

Distribution Of Health Seals Starts

Over 530 miles of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals have been distributed by the Texas Public Health Association for the annual sale which starts tomorrow. The seals this year show an ancient galeon with a red double barred cross on the main sail and the words, Christmas Greetings 1928.

The proceeds from the sale of these seals finance the work of the Texas Public Health Association and their twenty-three local affiliated associations.

Over 100 volunteer chairmen have been secured to sell seals in their localities and in counties where no organization occurs. The public is offered an opportunity to secure seals by mail.

Last year the State Association reached over 100,000 persons in their State-wide Educational campaign. A great deal of attention is being paid to health work in schools, consisting of health educational work and the examining of pupils by registered, Public Health Nurses. Tuberculosis clinics have been held in several counties. Special effort has been made to reach all races.

In 1929 it is expected that a continuation of our present program will be carried on, increasing the clinic work wherever possible. Dr. Z. T. Scott, Executive Secretary, stated that the deaths from tuberculosis had been reduced over 50 per cent since the first campaign against tuberculosis and that we are now on the last half of the fight and the efforts must be continued. He also stated that the fight and the efforts must be continued. He also stated that tuberculosis was still the major cause of death in the age group—15 to 25—and that special work must be done with this group.

Arguments Start In Spivey Case

Argument in the case of the state of Texas vs. Pete Spivey, charged with the theft of a cow, and which went to trial in the 88th district court this morning, was begun at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Forty minutes time was allowed by Judge Been to each side for argument.

Spivey is charged with having stolen a cow from Tom Marshburn. Spivey has made application for a suspension of sentence in the event the jury finds him guilty of the charge.

Work Starts On New Eastland Gas System

Rehabilitation of the Eastland gas system is now under way. The work, according to Curtis Hertig, local manager of the Eastland Gas & Electric company, will require something like six months time and an expenditure of approximately $50,000.00.

A force of workmen are now engaged in repair work on North Lamar street and when this is completed will be moved to the west-end portion of the city. To prevent tearing up of paved streets, four-inch lines are being laid on both sides of the street instead of under the pavement. Where it is necessary to lay these lines in front of business houses and under sidewalks, the pipe is being driven underneath so as not to interfere with traffic.

BOUNTY BASIS IS URGED BY MANY

Plans To Rid County of Predatory Animals Are Shattered By Opposition.

Eastland county will not join other counties of this section of the state in the work of predatory animal eradication, at least not at this time, the County Commissioners' court decided Monday. Petitions bearing several hundred names asking the county to appropriate funds with which to assist in the payment of trappers to trap wolves and other animals in the county were presented to the court. Petitions opposing the county appropriating funds for the purpose were also presented to the court.

It would appear that the opposition to the eradication program has not been so much to the program itself but largely to the methods proposed to be used in financing the proposition. Plans the court were being urged to adopt were those being used in other counties and called for the County paying the salaries of trappers, with the exception of one whose salary would be partially borne by the Federal government, and the government to furnish the bait and traps for the entire number of trappers the County placed on the job. The plan offered by opponents were that the eradication work be carried on in the bounty basis, the County paying a bounty for each scalp of a predatory animal killed.

Judge Instructs the Jury To Acquit

Judge Elzo Bean of the 88th district court Mon., instructed the jury in the case of Mrs. Eula Roberts, charged with theft, to return a verdict of not guilty.

Mrs. Roberts was charged with having stolen a watch valued at $60 from Mrs. Sam Hockabee. The Hockabee's and Roberts are neighbors living about two miles east of Gorman.

Mrs. Hockabee testified that Mrs. Roberts volunteered to take her to Gorman in the Roberts' car; that she had her wrist watch in her hand and placed it in her lap when she got into the front seat of the car, but that she missed it when she got to Gorman. The next time she saw the watch, she said, it was in the hands of the Constable at the office of the Justice of the Peace in Gorman.

Scranton District Will Hold Parley

Many Invited To Attend Discussion of Rural School Consolidation.

The county school superintendents of Eastland, Comanche, and Callahan counties, Representative Victor B. Gilbert of Eastland county, and Representative - elect, O. F. Chastain of Eastland, and State Senator-elect Cunningham of Abilene, have been invited by the trustees of the Scranton school and others of that community, to be present at the Scranton school auditorium Wednesday night, December 5th, at which time a discussion of problems concerning rural school organization and consolidation are to be discussed.

The people of Scranton are taking much interest in educational matters. They have a splendid new brick school building of four class rooms, auditorium, library, etc. The school employs five teachers. J. A. Andrews is superintendent, B. B. Drummett is principal, and Verdie Gilbert, Esther Bradshaw and Ollie McWilliams are grade teachers. The school has departments of home economics for girls and manual training for boys.

Enrolled in the Scranton High school are 61 pupils. Many of these come from surrounding communities, the Scranton school providing a motor bus for their transportation to and from their homes. Each pupil, however, pays a fee of $2 per month for their transportation on the bus.

Ranger Woman Files Suit Against West Texas Coaches Following Accident.

Seeking $25,000 for damages for personal injuries, Mrs. J. H. Fox of Ranger, joined by her husband, has filed suit in the 91st district court against the West Texas Coaches, Incorporated.

The plaintiff's petition filed in the case alleged that she was a passenger on one of the defendant's buses and was injured when the bus struck a banister on a bridge on the highway between Ranger and Fort Worth while enroute to Fort Worth. This was on September 20 of this year.

As the result of this accident, which it is alleged was caused by the neglect and carelessness of the defendant's operator of the bus, plaintiff says that she was thrown out of the bus; that her right hip was broken; her right arm and leg injured by being lacerated and having broken glass from the windshield embedded in them. The bus, plaintiff alleges, was being driven at a rate of speed approximately fifty miles per hour when the accident occurred.

Plaintiff's petition sets out that she is 54 years of age but was in good health and doing her work as a housewife before her injury; but that since then and because of her injuries, which are of a permanent nature, she is an invalid.

FRESNO, Calif., Nov. 27.—The monoplane Albatross was landed 40 miles from Fresno early today after an unsuccessful attempt by Lee Shoenhair and Guglielmetti to establish a new world's flight endurance record. The flyers brought their big craft to the ground when it became evident they lacked sufficient gasoline to set a new record.

On October 7, Mrs. Henrietta Rogers, young widow, returned to her apartment in Louisville, Ky., after a trip to Chicago and the east. A young man who called on her that night said that as he was leaving her apartment the lights went out and he volunteered to go to the basement to see what was wrong. Mrs. Rogers said it wasn't necessary, so he departed, he said. That was the last seen of Mrs. Rogers. Police in many cities are seeking her.

MOODY OPPOSES HIGHWAY PLAN

Sterling May Withdraw From Highway Commission Road Program To Be Formed.

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 26.—Texas with all its highway expenditure has not yet reached one completed highway. Chairman R. S. Sterling this morning told a citizens' advisory committee which met here at the call of Governor Moody to formulate a road program to be recommended to the legislature.

Governor Moody opened the conference with the declaration that highways are what the people of Texas want at this time more than anything else.

The governor said the conference is not called to usurp functions of the legislature but to suggest something that will enable legislation to be passed during the coming session.

He announced frankly that he opposes the plan of a highway commission of seven, and members and will veto such a plan if passed.

Possible withdrawal of Chairman Sterling from the highway commission was indicated in his address in which he told of the demands of the work and said he would not promise not to ask relief before his term expires.

He referred briefly to his proposal for a state-wide road bond issue, saying that he would like to appear later before the finance committee proposed by the conference.

This committee, one on conference and one on motor registration tax and fees, were authorized at the suggestion of Governor Moody. They are to be named at the afternoon session.

D. K. Martin of San Antonio was chairman of this morning session and John Singleton of Waxahachie, secretary.

Prisoners Ask For Edibles-Cigarettes

Two prisoners in the Eastland Jail—one of whom has just been acquitted of a charge of murder, the other under death sentence—acting as spokesmen for 18 inmates of the bastille, want a little Thanksgiving.

The men—Fred Jordan and E. V. Allen—in a letter to this paper ask that the prisoners be remembered.

"As a matter of misfortune," the letter said, "we are continuing in the county jail. We are friendless and Thanksgiving is drawing near. Anyone who would wish to have us feel that we are not entirely forgotten in the outside world, can do so by delivering or mailing to the county jail food of any kind and cigarettes. They will be received with thanks that we cannot express."

The letter bore the signature of the two men—one of whom was recently acquitted, the other one having been given the extreme penalty for bank robbing.

Jailer "Dug" Barton said this morning that if it was possible the inmates would be served a turkey dinner. In years past the turkeys have been donated by firms or individuals.

RUTH DEWEY GROVES AUTHOR OF "WHEN A GIRL LOVES" "LOVE FOR TWO" etc.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

her camp is wrecked the evening when an airplane lands. Young Alester comes from an adjoining estate and from a lesson from his pilot, Jerry. They escape injury, but Dan picks Jerry up from a blow on the head. He is holding her in his arms when she comes to. Then she sends Dan for the doctor. Myrtle finds Jerry not seriously injured, but desires to make an examination next day. She claims the right to drive and afterward insists on her to drink the liquor for her, which seems to Alester. He introduces her to Leontine, hostess, and she is glad to see her. She is glad to enter and come to her although this gives Leontine cause to dance with Alester.

GO ON WITH THE STORY
Miss Dan Harvey did not consider unless you consider as a rival in affairs of the heart. Jerry felt her own as he took a swift appraisal of her features. Why did he look at her like that? What did he expect?

She saw Leontine coming toward them and half anticipated a denouement. But nothing out of the ordinary happened. Leontine greeted Dan casually and he was briefly courteous to her.

"Have a dance with me, Alester?" Leontine begged. She wanted to talk to him alone but hadn't had an opportunity until there was someone to take his place with Jerry. "Miss Ray has monopolized you all afternoon. She can dance once with Dan."

The musicians had arrived and the music was now tantalizing to dancing feet. Jerry looked at Dan expectantly. He spoke directly to her, disregarding the other two. "You don't look fit to dance," he said quietly. "You're pale as a sheet. Alester ought to take you home."

"Dan's right," Alester admitted contritely. "I forgot the doctor told you to keep quiet."

"Sit out this dance, then," Leontine said to Jerry. "Dinner will be served immediately."

Jerry nodded. Alester and Leontine swept away. She let her eyes follow them to avoid looking at Dan. Why had it to be he who was thoughtful, she was asking herself discontentedly. But she must remember, a man of Alester Carstairs' position probably had a thousand things to think of while Dan Harvey had one—his job, most likely.

Dan did not press conversation upon her. He asked if he might smoke and Jerry looked at him in astonishment. She did not know that anyone any longer asked permission to do that.

"Go ahead," she said shortly and Dan puffed away in silence. Leontine and Alester, on the contrary, were deep in some subject. Jerry thought they made a handsome couple and they danced divinely together. She doubted if she could dance as well as Leontine, and she was considered a first rate dancer.

There was a flashing grace in the woman's movement that brought to Jerry's mind thoughts of the jungle. Her dark hair, straight as a blackbird's wing, shone like lacquered ebony. She held her face turned up to Alester's so that he could look deep into her eyes. She knew her beauty stirred him. The embrace of the dance, the subtle perfume creeping like a breath from some far garden, all had their potency. Leontine knew how to choose her moments.

"Please," she coaxed; "please Allie."

"All right," Alester said grudgingly, "I'll come to your party since you're so irresistible, but only upon one condition."

Leontine caught her breath. She did not like the firmness in his voice.

"You will have to ask Miss Ray also," Alester added after a significant pause.

Leontine flashed daggers at him, but she said nothing until she could force herself to speak indifferently. Whatever else Leontine Lebaudy was capable of she could practice self-control. But she wouldn't give in without a struggle.

"Really, Alester," she said with a nervous smile, "Miss Ray is hardly the sort of person to ask to one of our parties."

Alester did not smile back at her.

"Well—her appearance for one thing. She looks like a rummage sale and she's a complete washout

"Well," Leontine said, "I hope nothing will keep you from coming to my party."

as far as pep goes. She'd be a wet blanket."

"You're jealous," Alester told her brutally. "Miss Ray had a nasty blow on the head yesterday. You'd go to bed for a week if you thought like that happened to you."

Leontine bit her lip.

"Just the same—" she began.

"Just the same you will have to ask her if you want me," Alester interrupted.

"Oh, all right," Leontine flared. "Bring her. But see that she has something decent to wear."

"Leave that to me," Alester replied.

Leontine was now thoroughly aroused over Jerry. She guessed that Alester had brought the girl to the Rolling Stone inn just to torment her, but he was carrying his interest in Jerry a little too far, she thought, when he insisted upon having her at a party in which she could not possibly fit.

How had he met a girl like that anyway? A 10-cent girl who didn't care for anything so simple before.

She put the question to him but Alester would not tell her how he had crashed the girls' camp. Very well, she told herself, she would get the information from Jerry!

And spike any growing ambition the girl might have at the same time.

"I'm sorry I didn't know you had an accident," she said sweetly to Jerry when she and Alester returned to the table. "Stupid of me not to see that you have a bandage under your bandeau."

Jerry regarded her in surprise. Her sudden pleasantness was puzzling.

"Miss Ray ought to go home," Dan said crisply.

Leontine smiled at Jerry.

"But I wish you'd come up to my room first," she said. "You can rest a few minutes. It would refresh you for the drive back to New York."

It was Alester who gave the information before Jerry had a chance to speak. She did not correct him to say that she was camping on the North Shore. She knew that these two were thrusting at each other with double-edged words. Jerry had enough sense to keep quiet when she did not know the ground.

But Leontine's invitation to rest in her room appealed to her. She felt queerly weak and faint. She rose and while Dan stood, watching grimly, and Alester turned a bemused expression upon them, she walked off with Leontine.

They passed up broad, uncarpeted stairs to a long and wide upper hall. Open doors offered glimpses into private rooms luxuriantly furnished. In one suite waiters were preparing for a private party. Jerry saw a bowl of orchids on the table and thick yellow candles in silver candlesticks.

She realized then that Leontine's place was a rendezvous for smart people. No wonder the waiters had looked askance at her.

Leontine threw open a heavy mahogany door and stepped into a large room, holding the door open for Jerry to follow.

"Lie down on the chaise longue," she said hospitably and motioned toward what Jerry would have called a sofa. It was covered with a lace spread and many small silk pillows. Jerry knew something about lace and the idea of reposing upon a spread such as this seemed almost sacrilege to her—until she reminded herself that wealthy people used their best things.

"Have you any smelling salts?" she asked Leontine, remembering those the Carstairs' butler had brought to camp.

"I'll get you some eau de Cologne," the other replied and closed the door. Jerry sank upon the chaise longue and breathed a sigh of relief. She had not known how weak she really was.

Leontine hurried into an ad-

ing Stone inn, Leontine assured herself. His doing so convinced her that he wanted to hurt. But she knew that a casual interest in the beginning oftentimes leads to a deeper attraction.

Jerry's novelty must be destroyed!

"I must go now," Jerry said, sitting up.

"Are you feeling better?" Leontine inquired.

Jerry nodded.

"Much, thank you," she said.

"I hope you will be in shape for a party on the fifteenth," Leontine said cordially. "It's going to be quite an affair. Alester wants to bring you. He seems to be pretty much enamored," she added, watching Jerry closely from behind a smiling mask.

Jerry hesitated to answer. She felt at a loss with Leontine. Finally, "He hasn't asked me," she said simply. That would not commit her.

"He will," Leontine replied laconically. "Rather unusual your meeting, wasn't it?" she added, hitting in the dark. It must be so, she believed, and if Jerry could be led to think that she knew about it she might talk.

Jerry was taken in by the trick. She knew that Alester had told Leontine of her accident. It did not occur to her to suppose that he had omitted the story of the crash.

"Yes, it was," she admitted, and then because she felt that she had not been sufficiently appreciative of Leontine's kindness she told her how Alester Carstairs and Dan Harvey had dropped in from out of the sky on their newly erected camp and destroyed it.

It was only after she had come to the end of her narrative that she remembered Alester's answer to Leontine's question about her residence. She wondered if she had said too much. And Leontine could get no more information from her.

Leontine had been sitting by her.

"Well," she said, getting up. "I hope nothing will keep you from coming to my party. It's my birthday."

Suddenly she lifted an arm and drew Jerry's attention to an inch-wide diamond bracelet that she had put on since coming upstairs.

"Alester gave me this last year," she said boastfully. And then, looking curiously at Jerry, "He's very generous, but I suppose you know that."

Jerry flushed.

"He's been very generous in settling for the damage his plane did," she said coldly.

She more than suspected now that Leontine was a first class gold digger. "If she thinks she can put me in that class she's mistaken," Jerry told herself. And then, Leontine smiled secretly over Jerry's obvious resentment. She had wanted to make it difficult for Alester to see that Jerry was properly gown for the party. If Jerry came, looking like a frump, Leontine believed she had scored a trick.

Snappy Snipper

With golden scissors of record size pretty Miss Martha Hiden, of Newport News, Va., is about to snip the ribbon officially opening the longest highway span in the east, an $8,000,000 bridge crossing the James river near Newport News, a distance of four and a half miles. Governor Harry Flood Byrd, who named her as "Miss Virginia," and other chief executives were present for the celebration.

Fain Reynolds, stallar little guard; Harry Akers, flashy halfback; Bob Alexander, veteran end, Merlin Toler, Ody Thompson, both three-year men, and Cecil "Buzz" Morgan, another three-stripe wearer.

The loss of these men, while not disastrous to the Frog hopes for next season, will be keenly felt. It will be difficult to replace Captain Williams, especially since the freshman team offers no tackles. Reynolds will also be missed, while the backs and ends can be more readily replaced.

One of the biggest crowds of the year is expected to congregate at the Pony stadium Thanksgiving to witness the annual classic between the two teams. The Frogs have not scored a victory over their Dallas rivals since the two clubs have been in the present conference. They have always given the Ponies trouble, however, holding them to a 14-13 score in 1926, the championship year for the Mustangs. The Frog student body will back the team to a man Turkey day with special interurbans being chartered for the trip. Many Fort Worth and North Texas fans will also make the journey to see the final tilt of the season.

Carl Maynard, Wounded in Nicaragua, is Member of Bodyguard.

(From Ranger Times)
A Ranger member of the United States marine corps, who is a hero of the warfare against the rebels in Nicaragua, has the honor of being a member of the special guard for Herbert Hoover, president-elect of the United States, on his tour of Latin American countries.

Carl Maynard, brother of G. C. and R. L. Maynard of Ranger, is one of the 84 marines who compose Mr. Hoover's bodyguard. Carl was born and reared in Ranger. Some time ago, he was wounded during the fighting in Nicaragua between Sandino's forces and the American marines. He was taken to Portsmouth, Va., where he recovered from his wounds.

Mason Sees the Next English Election As Likely to Give Power to Lloyd George

By J. W. T. MASON
(Written for United Press)

Preliminary political skirmishing has begun in Great Britain for the general election to be held next year, on a date as yet unfixed. The issues will be foreign policy and whether the present Conservative government has done all possible to stimulate home prosperity. The failure of the Anglo-French naval agreement to win popular approval in Great Britain will play an important part in the election.

There is a possibility that Lloyd George will emerge from the campaign holding the balance of power. The two predominant parties in the House of Commons are Conservatives and the Laborites. The Liberal group, led by Lloyd George, is momentarily in eclipse. But, should the election be close, as between Conservatives and Laborites, neither may have a majority over all. The followers of Lloyd George may be sufficiently numerous to prevent this.

In such a case, a bloc consisting of Lloyd George and the Conservatives or Lloyd George and the Laborites would probably be attempted. With whom Lloyd would wish to associate politically would depend on the conditions existing at the time and with whom he could make the better bargain on behalf of his supporters. Many predictions have been made since the world war that the British Parliament would eventually have to accept a bloc ministry, but the British temperament objects to this system of government, despite the fact that it was the bloc cabinet, under Lloyd George's premiership that carried the war to a successful conclusion.

Laborites Learn Caution.
Since the Labor government of 1924, when Ramsay MacDonald was prime minister for some ten months, the Laborites have learned much political caution. Lack of strategy caused the downfall of the MacDonald ministry. The

If you can't decide whether you like blondes or brunettes best, here's a bit of evidence that'll help you make up your mind. Artists love to paint her blonde beauty and theatre-goers rave over it. She's Elsa Cover, of 650 West 173rd St. New York City.

"When people tell me how much they admire my hair," she says "I'm always happy to tell them what I do to keep it soft and gleamy. It's really no trouble. All I do is put a few dashes of Danderine on my brush each time I use it. That's the way nearly every really smart girl I know is doing hers. My hair doesn't need shampooing more than once a month, now. My scalp feels better than it ever has felt. It has gotten rid of all my dandruff and it makes my hair easy to dress and hold it in position."

Danderine is not oily. It removes the oily film from each strand and restores the natural color and lustre. It dissolves dandruff, cleanses and invigorates the scalp. It is delightfully fragrant. The big bottles are just 35c at all drug stores. Smooth, gleaming healthy hair for a few cents.

Star Witnesses in Vestris Quiz

During the federal investigation into the sinking of the Vestris, evidence was secured from the testimony of these three officers of the liner that water was pouring into the ship from five leaks and that the captain had been warned of the vessel's plight six hours before an SOS call was sent out. Here, left to right, are James Adams, chief engineer; Herbert Welland, third officer; Frank W. Johnson, chief officer.

The whole world knows Aspirin as an effective antidote for pain. But it's just as important to know that there is only one genuine Bayer Aspirin. The name Bayer is on every tablet, and on the box. If it says Bayer, it's genuine; and if it doesn't, it is not! Headaches are dispelled by Bayer Aspirin. So are colds, and the pain that goes with them; even neuralgia, neuritis, and rheumatism promptly relieved. Get Bayer—at any drugstore—with proven directions.

WASHINGTON LETTER

NEA Service Writer
 WASHINGTON—The poor Washington correspondent gets it in the neck and in the gullet. If he tells what he sees and damned if he doesn't, the fellows really don't you fellows really demand indignant reform. And at the other extreme, one person outside these precincts has remarked to your correspondent: "Does those fellows down in Boston have to watch their pretty careful or you newspapers will be writing about misbehaviors. Huh?"

If a congressman gallops down the corridors of the house of office building, on horseback or on foot, in close pursuit of his pretty secretary, that incident is also ignored in the public prints unless the girl prefers charges, which she doesn't. After all, the congressman may be good to his constituents.

If an official gives an exhibition of silly jealousy concerning his wife and a subordinate, the correspondents ignore the incident, if only out of consideration for the official's wife.

If a presidential candidate admits to a correspondent that the president, although leader of his party, has never given any indication that he would like to see the candidate elected, the story is not printed because the remark is given in confidence.

If a White House attaché reveals privately that a distinguished occupant of that building was practically sick in bed for three weeks because he wasn't renominated at a national convention, the gentleman's symptoms are not described lest the attaché lose his job.

Perhaps some of these reasons for withholding "news" may not seem sufficient to everyone. Occasionally someone squeals because we boys don't tell in our dispatches just how dumb and incompetent some of our officials and so-called statesmen really are. But that's a matter of opinion. In politics one man's dub is another man's hero.

of a high official or member of the Senate, although such information is often demanded by the thoughtless.

The Washington News of 4 spring promised to publish the names of any members of Congress who were palpably drunk on the floor—a warning which had a salutary effect—but even the baldest correspondent would be rather hesitant about naming the culprit because it would be difficult to prove that the senator hadn't merely had an attack of the heebie-jeebies or wasn't trying to give his friends an imitation of Jim Barton.

data regarding our helium resources, and the answer to the question as to where Uncle Sam is to obtain his helium, for some time to come, at least, has been found, it is considered, in the Cliffside natural gas structure lying to the northwest of the city of Amarillo, in the Panhandle district of Texas. A big helium production plant, embodying in its helium separation cycle the results of thorough research on the part of the bureau's specialists, is nearing completion near the town site of Soney, about six miles west of Amarillo, and from the natural gas of the Cliffside structure, which has been found to have a helium content of about 1.3-4 per cent by volume, will be extracted the supplies of the wonder gas which will keep aloft Uncle Sam's giant air cruisers of the future. Is in the Air. Helium is found in the atmosphere in the proportion of one part to 185,000 parts. It is found in minute quantities in sea and river water, in the gases evolved from many mineral springs and in some volcanic gases, but in none of these latter sources is the gas sufficiently plentiful to provide commercial supplies.

Helium production for use in lighter-than-air craft was started by the United States government during the world war. A thorough study was made of fields which contained helium-bearing natural gas, by specialists of the United States bureau of mines and the United States geological survey. As a result, it was established that the Petrolia gas field, of Clay county, Texas, was at that time the field best suited as a source of supply for the government's initial helium development.

At the inception of the development work three plants were constructed to try out experiments on helium production. Three firms, the Linde Air Products company, the Air Reduction company, and the Jeffries-Norton corporation, active in kindred lines, co-operated with the government in this project, using modifications of their processes for the purpose. Two of the plants were erected at Fort Worth and one at Petrolia, and all three were supplied with gas from the Petrolia gas fields. Funds for development work were provided by allotment from the war and navy departments.

Plant at Fort Worth. Following this experimental work, a plant using the process developed by the co-operating Linde Air Products company was constructed at Fort Worth under the jurisdiction of the navy department. This plant has been operated continuously since October, 1922, and has produced probably 90 per cent of all the helium that has been produced in the world. The separation cycle has been operated by the Linde Air Products company under contract with the government. Until July 1, 1925, this plant was under the jurisdiction of the navy department. On that date it passed by legislative enactment under the jurisdiction of the bureau of mines and it has since been operated under the direction of that bureau.

LUNCHEON—Casserole of salt codfish, rye bread, canned raspberries in gelatin, crisp cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER—Roast domestic duck, macaroni with tomatoes, apple sauce, green peas, orange salad, pumpkin pie.

Ducks are usually plentiful and cheaper than chicken at this time of year. They are delicious stuffed and roasted. Sage and onion, prune and apple or celery and potato are especially good stuffings for duck. Keep in mind that ducks are usually very fat and should be placed in a rack in the roasting pan and the fat poured off after 40 minutes of roasting, and boiling water added for basting.

Casserole of Salt Codfish. One-half pound salt codfish, 3 sweet green peppers, 1 tablespoon olive oil, 2 small onions, clove garlic, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 2 teaspoons flour, 1 bouillon cube, 6 medium sized potatoes, 1/2 cup coarse bread crumbs.

Soak codfish several hours in cold water. Simmer over a low fire until tender. Cut in pieces. Scald peppers, dip in cold water and rub off thin skin. Cut in shreds lengthwise and season with salt and pepper. Put oil into a sauce pan, add onions minced, garlic, parsley and tomatoes rubbed through a coarse sieve. Simmer half an hour. Dissolve bouillon cube in 1/2 cup boiling water and add cold water and stir into sauce. Bring to the boiling point. Have ready the potatoes, boiled in their jackets, peeled and cut in slices. Put potatoes into a buttered baking dish, add fish, cover with tomato sauce and sprinkle with bread crumbs. Bake 40 minutes in a moderate oven.

The garlic and bouillon cube can be omitted, but the latter adds richness to the sauce.

AMARILLO FIELD TO BE SCENE OF HELIUM GAS DEVELOPMENT

successful trans-Atlantic of the monster dirigible, the Zeppelin, and the announcement by the navy department of awarding a contract for two dirigibles of the air of far larger dimensions even than the great airship, have aroused interest in the possibilities of rapid travel by means of huge lighter-than-air craft.

Britain is constructing two dirigibles, intended for Atlantic service, and private interests have taken up the manufacture of gas-air liners.

These argosies of the air offer the real assurance of necessary to their complete use, it is essential they depend for buoyance on inflammable gas. The only gas of this description having the element of lightness is helium, a very rare element which is found in small proportions, in certain natural gases. As is well known, the hydrogen gas used as lifting agent of the Graf Zeppelin is extremely explosive, and accidental ignition of hydrogen gas responsible for disasters to dirigibles operated by the navy and the United States.

Dirigibles operated by the navy and the United States are provided with helium, all foreign-owned air-craft depend on the highly inflammable hydrogen for their buoyancy. This situation is due to the fact that the United States is rich in helium, so far as known, having efficient resources of helium to develop a commercial supply for dirigibles.

It requires, however, a great amount of helium to fill the gas cells of a big dirigible, a little over two and one-half million cubic feet of helium being needed for the Los Angeles. In those rather rare natural gas deposits which contain any helium at all, no more than between 1 and 2 per cent by volume of the gas can be extracted as pure helium.

Petrolia Declining. The known natural gas fields to which the United States can look for obtaining its helium are not inexhaustible. In fact, the Petrolia field in northern Texas, which has been the principal source of supply, is now in the last stages of its life after producing gas for more than 20 years. Where, then, are to be obtained the large supplies of helium which will be necessary for the continued safe operation of the two air-monsters recently contracted for by the navy and other ships which will be built from time to time?

The maintenance of these vital helium supplies is one of the jobs which have been put up to the United States bureau of mines, of the department of commerce, the scientific bureau which has kept Uncle Sam in helium for the past several years. For years the chemists of the bureau of mines have been analyzing samples of natural gas obtained from many gas fields located throughout the country, always in quest of the characteristic bright yellow line which, viewed through the spectroscope, announces the presence of the prized helium. This analytical work has resulted in accumulating valuable

Yellow Jackets To Meet Pirates At Brownwood on 29th

BROWNWOOD, Nov. 26.—All eyes of the Texas conference will be turned toward Brownwood Thanksgiving, where the Howard Payne Yellow Jackets and the Southwestern University Pirates will be pitted against each other in the outstanding grid classic of the holiday program in the Texas conference. Other Big Six eleven's will be in action on that day, but none will be watched with as much interest as will the Pirate-Jacket tilt.

Southwestern has always been more or less of a jinx to the Jackets in that they have always battled the Brownwood Baptists to a standstill, although Howard Payne has won her share of the games between the two schools. Last year, Southwestern upset the Jackets by handing them a neat 26-18 lacing in Temple. The Jackets had trimmed the Pirates in 1926 on a Brownwood gridiron but in 1925 the two eleven's played a scoreless tie.

There is little doubt about the strength of the 1928 Pirate crew, for although beaten twice in conference competition, the Pirates have not been outplayed by any of their foes. St. Edwards university downed the Pirates, despite the fact that the Georgetown team clearly outplayed the fighting Micks. Simmons university also took the Methodists' measure, but failed to outplay them. Following the loss to St. Edwards the Pirates came back and won decisively from Austin college by 26-6 score. In post-conference games, the Pirates have met only one defeat, that at the hands of Texas A. & M. and that by a 21-0 count. Despite the fact that Howard Payne has won eight of nine games this season and in so doing has piled up a total of 252 points to 54 for the combined foes, there is not one bit of cockiness noticeable among the players. They realize that in Southwestern they have a foe worthy of their best efforts and one that is capable of giving them a battle from start to finish. A victory over Southwestern will bring the 1928 Big Six title to Brownwood and to the banners of Howard Payne. With this rich prize offered them it is assured that Coach Cheaney's men will be fighting as never before.

Miss Elizabeth Morrow, daughter of Dwight Morrow, U. S. Ambassador to Mexico, is pictured as she arrived in New York after a sojourn in the Near East where she visited Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh mother of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. Rumor of a romance still links the name of Miss Morrow with that of the flying hero.

NEWSPAPER MAN CRITICALLY HURT

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 27 — M. C. Lenington, 56, manager of the Oklawm News Bulletin, lay in a hospital today with a severe head injury after he was found stumbling through the streets in a semi-conscious condition early this morning.

He was suffering from concussion of the brain and had been unable to speak since he was received at the hospital. Attendants said a stranger brought Lenington to them and said that he had found Lenington leaning against a telephone pole at a street intersection. Attendants said the stranger left without leaving his name. Police started a search for the stranger as they believe he might be able to give them further information.

WADE INJURED IN CRASH

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 27 — State Senator Edgar Witt of Waco, J. M. Penland of Waco and Homer D. Wade of Stamford were injured last night in an automobile collision at Troy while en route to Governor Moody's highway conference which convened here this morning. All were able to continue to Austin.

Penland was severely cut about the head and Senator Witt had one leg hurt and received numerous cuts. Wade was thrown out of the car but escaped with small cuts. The accident occurred when a motor truck, going north, skidded. Four persons on the truck, including the driver, Frank Fuller of Waco, were slightly hurt.

Members of the party coming to Austin were treated at a Temple hospital. They secured another car to finish the trip.

Influenza Sweeps California

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27.—More than a score of deaths and thousands of cases of illness were reported today from widely scattered cities of the west where epidemics of influenza and scarlet fever have appeared. The present prevalence of influenza followed a severe outbreak of the disease in San Francisco where 50 deaths occurred in October and the early part of November. Nearly 4,000 persons there were ill of influenza during that period but Dr. William Hassler, city health officer, said the situation was improved greatly because of heavy rains.

The situation appeared to be improved in Los Angeles where 14 influenza deaths have occurred in a week, 400 new cases of the disease were reported yesterday. Clara Bow, motion picture actress, was one of the latest victims. It was understood that more than 1,400 persons in Los Angeles were suffering from the epidemic.

Lovell Delivers Strong Sermon

True to a previous announcement, the Rev. A. G. Lovell, evangelist, who is conducting a revival at the Church of God, "preached" the blues out of Blue Monday," at the service last night.

The evangelist first drew a striking word picture of the Bible account of Abraham, Isaac and Rebecca, in that part of the story which tells how Abraham sent his servant Eleazer into another country to obtain a bride for his son Isaac. A beautiful simile was then brought out, representing Abraham as God, the servant Eleazer, as the Holy Spirit sent into the world, Isaac as Jesus, and Rebecca as the Bride of Christ, the church. "God sent his only son to the world," the evangelist said, "where he lived and ministered to the people, then took him back unto himself, sending the Holy Spirit as a comforter, and to woo and win souls, to give their hearts and lives to Jesus, making up the Bride of Christ, the church."

Volcano's Devastation in Fertile Sicily

The last day of Mascafi, Sicilian town that was destroyed as historic Pompeii, was the time when this unusual photo was taken. Sweeping down from the crater of Mount Etna, the boiling torrent is overwhelming the city, crushing buildings and covering the debris in its advance. In the background is the Mascafi church; in the foreground at the right is the Fascisti headquarters, soon to fall before the lava flood.

Little Anna Jane Taylor, who suffered from influenza the past ten days, was able to return to school today. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lewis leave tomorrow for State University at Austin, to spend Thanksgiving with their sons, Jack and Blair, students at the school.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goodman of El Paso spent two days last week with Mrs. P. L. Parker. Mr. Goodman returned to El Paso and Mrs. Goodman is now visiting her sister, Mrs. Walter Durham in Comanche, and will return to Eastland for Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Parker.

EASTLAND LIONS TO SPONSOR CLUB

The Eastland Lions club will sponsor the organization of a Lions club at De Leon. This was decided by a vote of the members at their meeting today when Lion Rosenquest told the club that State Organizer J. A. Pittman had organized a club for De Leon and that the charter members of the new club had requested that the Eastland club sponsor the organization. President Kinnaird appointed as a committee to arrange a program for the opening of the De Leon club, Judge N. N. Rosenquest, Judge Jim Grisham and E. E. Freyschlag.

A committee composed of B. E. McGlammery and Frank Crowell was appointed by Lion President Kinnaird to act with the committees from other civic organizations of the city in the drive for funds being made by the United Charities.

The contractor, who is to furnish trees for the Lions tree planting campaign, will be here on December 3 with a thousand trees. Others will be shipped in later as they are needed.

The club enjoyed a treat today in a five minute address by Judge V. T. Seaberry. Seaberry gave a brief history of Thanksgiving Day, closing his remarks with the statement that the greatest things the members of the Lions club had to be thankful for on the coming Thanksgiving Day was that they were active and able to work.

The matter of a landing field for Eastland was brought up. The Lions club, the first organization of the city to sponsor the establishment of such a field, will work with other organizations or individuals for the establishment of the field if it may be accomplished this way.

A vote of thanks was given Lion W. S. Poe for the venison served the club at today's luncheon.

LOBOS - EAGLES WILL CLASH ON THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving Day will mark the clash between the Abilene Eagles and the Cisco Lobos.

The game will begin at 2:30. The scene is the Cisco gridiron. Several days ago it was announced that the game would be played on Wednesday but Coach W. B. Chapman of Cisco stated this morning in long distance telephone conversation with a representative of this paper, that the game would be played on Thanksgiving.

Cisco's eleven—with the exception of Van Horn, halfback, who has been out since the Breckenridge game some weeks ago—will be in good condition for the battle with their historic rivals. All the "experts" have picked Abilene to win the game but as the "experts" have guessed more games wrong than right this season they may be mistaken again. Perhaps it isn't likely—but it is doubtful if the game will be a cinch for the Eagles.

The winner of the Cisco conflict will meet Ranger for the district championship - provided Ranger can come through with a victory on Tuesday against Breckenridge, which is a man-size order.

King's Condition Is Still In Doubt

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 27.—An official bulletin issued at Buckingham palace at 11 a. m. today said "His majesty the king spent a more restful night. His temperature is somewhat lower. Conditions are otherwise unchanged."

Intense anxiety was felt thru the British empire as reports sped that King George's condition had become "most unsatisfactory." Sir Stanley Hewett, the king's physician, was recalled to Buckingham palace last night and remained there until 1:30 p. m. The Daily Mail said it understood the physicians were recalled because the king's condition had become unsatisfactory and that no sign of progress had been revealed.
