

HERBERT HOOVER SMASHES "SOLID SOUTH"

Jordan Confesses To 7 Year Old Murder

HOOVER LEADING SMITH IN TEXAS BY BIG AMOUNT

Given 17,000 Majority Over Governor Smith At Noon Today.

DALLAS, Nov. 7.—It appeared likely today that Texas, for the first time in its history, will cast its 20 electoral votes for a Republican candidate for president. This novel situation will result if Herbert Hoover continues to hold his lead over Alfred E. Smith.

Additional returns received at noon today gave the Republican candidate a majority of 11,705 votes. The figures were: Hoover 257,277; Smith 245,572. The vote was taken from 232 counties out of the state, 82 complete. Although these figures do not account for all the votes cast in yesterday's election, there was nothing in the development of the total as the figures came from the various portions of the state which would justify the prediction that Smith would finally overcome the Hoover lead. Factors entering into the poor showing made by the Democratic candidate were prohibition and opposition to any product of Tammany hall. The large woman's vote in the state also helped the Hoover victory. Practically all of Hoover's strength came from thickly populated towns while rural districts for the most part gave Smith good support.

The strangest presidential campaign in a generation appeared today to have produced a final paradox.

Herbert Hoover was elected president by an electoral vote equalling if not exceeding the 404 record of Warren G. Harding in 1920 whereas his defeated opponent, Alfred E. Smith, polled the greatest popular vote ever recorded for any Democrat.

At 11 a. m. the electoral standings were: Hoover 404, Smith 69, doubtful 59. Smith seemed assured of only Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina in the heretofore Solid South and has, in addition, the five electoral votes of Rhode Island.

The doubtful states were Massachusetts, Montana, North Carolina, Texas and Utah, and of these Smith only leads in Massachusetts. The rest of the figures were overwhelmingly for Hoover. This standing was based on United Press tabulations of 260,000-000 in every state in the Union. Hoover was leading Smith by nearly 4,000,000.

Yet Smith live dup to his reputation as a vote getter in that his total vote even at the incomplete stage was greater than that cast for any other Democratic candidate. He has nearly 1,000,000 more votes than Wilson when the latter won his second presidential term in 1916; 1,000,000 more than Davis had four years ago and 2,000,000 more than Cox received in 1920.

AUSTIN, Nov. 7.—Gov. Dan Moody in a statement here blamed John J. Raskob, manager of the Democratic national campaign, for the defeat of Gov. Al Smith.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 7.—Herbert Hoover held his landslide lead in Oklahoma as delayed returns continued to pile up in his favor this afternoon.

Indications still pointed to a Republican majority of 150,000 or more over Al Smith in this state.

Unofficial and incomplete returns gave Hoover 353,814 and Smith 201,810.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Herbert Hoover of California has been elected president. Running for office for the first time in his life, he defeated Gov. Al Smith of New York, a veteran master of politics, in one of the most spectacular victories in the history of American campaigns, according to nationwide returns collected by the United Press today.

Hoover smashed the Solid South—the first time the Republicans have done so in 50 years. He also carried Gov. Smith's home state of New York with its great block of 45 electoral votes.

Hoover also has carried both Houses of Congress with him by increased Republican majorities.

THE FIRST LADY OF THE LAND

WASHINGTON LETTER

By Rodney Duteher
Washington—President Calvin Coolidge has been almost forgotten in the election campaign and no one will pay very much attention to him until inauguration day, when he hands over the administration to his successor.

Such things are bound to happen to retiring presidents, but it has been interesting to observe the eclipse in which the president has been shaded by Herbert Hoover, the Republican nominee. It is most apparent in Washington, where correspondents and photographers have sadly neglected Mr. Coolidge in favor of Hoover's personal headquarters.

There have been one or two indications that the president wasn't especially enthusiastic about his new experience. Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, the Rockford Flyers, came here to call at the White House, but went to visit Hoover first. Pictures were taken at both places and the Washington newspapers all used the Hoover pictures. It was directly after that that the president refused to stop with Dr. Eckner, the Graf Zeppelin commander.

Some of Hoover's friends have been feeling pretty sour over the president's failure to make any sincere political effort on the nominee's behalf, for if Coolidge has missed any of the limelight to which he was accustomed he certainly had the opportunity to regain it by campaigning for Hoover.

Coolidge and Hoover are not exactly close buddies, but for that matter neither are Coolidge and anyone else. And Hoover has been so closely to the Coolidge policies all along that his friends naturally supposed that the president would be glad to speak out for him pretty loudly. At various times it was given out that he would make from one to three political speeches, but as the campaign raged on it became more and more apparent that if he spoke at all the effort would come too late to have any effect.

Meanwhile, there has never been any question of Hoover's complete loyalty to his erstwhile chief, who has done nothing to help him win either nomination or election.

It is explained for Mr. Coolidge, first, that he questions the ethics of making a political stump out of the White House—although he endorsed Senator Butler in Massachusetts two years ago—and, second, that he never goes out of his way to do anything for anyone, the Butler instance being an exception.

Partly by his own fault and partly through circumstances, public interest in Coolidge is at a low ebb, compared with a year ago when everyone was buzzing over the question whether or not he wanted to be renominated. He was described in history as one of the greatest presidents, though not as a beloved figure, for he has had from the people a large measure of respect.

MAVERICK GAME MOVED TO SAN ANGELO

Just at press time it was announced that the Eastland-San Angelo game would be played at San Angelo instead of Eastland, as had been scheduled.

According to Superintendent P. B. Bittle, Eastland was destined to "go in the hole" from a financial standpoint this season and an offer from San Angelo was accepted.

San Angelo officials offered $400 and expenses, and fifty per cent of all gate receipts over $800.

It is the second straight year that the Mavericks have played in San Angelo, and will not be seen in action here until 1929.

Bankhead Association Closes Contract With Subsidiary Of The Wilson Packing Company

All Products of Poultry Association To Be Handled By Western Produce Company. Lease Has Been Taken On Building.

The board of directors of the Bankhead Poultry Producers' Association, at a meeting in the Eastland chamber of commerce offices last night, ratified an agreement previously made by the officers of the association with the Western Produce Company, a subsidiary of the Wilson Packing Company, by the terms of which the Western Produce Company will handle all of the products of the association, acting in the capacity of brokers. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BANQUET PROGRAM IS BEING ARRANGED

"There at 7:00, a short, snappy program, and away at 10:00" is the slogan of the entertainment committee that is arranging the program for the annual banquet of the Eastland chamber of commerce scheduled for next Tuesday night at the Connellee Hotel.

The committee discussed plans for the banquet at a luncheon on the roof garden of the Connellee Hotel today at noon, but the entire program has not been worked out.

One thing that was settled at the committee meeting today was that the program would be a short, snappy one; that there would be no collections taken; that every citizen of Eastland—men and women—would be invited and urged to attend.

A. J. Campbell, director of the Eastland band, has charge of arranging the music for the occasion. J. C. Day has charge of ticket sales. Major Harry Brelsford, the outgoing president of the chamber of commerce, will give a report of the organization's work for the past year, and Walter N. Hart, the incoming president, will preside over the meeting.

Tickets, which are priced at $1 each, are now on sale at virtually all of the business houses in the city.

The complete program for the banquet will be published within a short time.

Shugart Presides Final Conference Methodist Church

Rev. C. O. Shugart of Cisco, presiding elder of the Cisco district of the Methodist church, will preside at the fourth and last quarterly conference of the Eastland Methodist church to be held at the church building Thursday night.

At this meeting all officials of the local church for the ensuing year will be elected and reports from the various departments of the church will be given. Officials of the church say that the reports to be given at this time will be the best that the church has ever been able to make. A recent check on the Sunday school by the presiding elder showed the school made a grade of 92, the best grade made by any church in the district.

More than 100 new members have been added to the church during the year now drawing to a close and the enrollment in Sunday school has attained the figure of 500.

The budget system adopted by the church for this year has proven very satisfactory and will be continued next year.

Annual conference this year will be held at Ranger and opens Wednesday, November 14, at 9:00 o'clock a. m.

Rev. Frank E. Singleton, pastor of the Eastland church, announces that on next Sunday week the Rev. Mr. F. P. Culver of Corsicana, one of the leading Methodists of the country, will preach at the Eastland church.

There are 176 enrolled in the first year class. Total enrollment in the school is 370, of which 80 are seniors. Of this number, 60 are candidates for degrees in June, while 20 are August candidates. A total of twelve girls are taking law work.

FIN MURDER REARDED TODAY, JORDAN IN JAIL

Session Tells of Shooting Passenger Train Conductor Few Miles From Ranger.

Long arm of the law has cut out and brought back to Fred Jordan, 23, to stand for the murder of Mike Tighe, and Pacific Railroad conductor the night of June 14, 1921.

John Hart returned to and yesterday afternoon with Tighe and had him confined in Eastland county jail.

had been serving a term at jail, having been sentenced to his native home at Weatherford for a series of robberies.

grand jury returned an indictment against Jordan several days ago, but a bench warrant, issued to bring the prisoner here, was not issued until several days ago.

Attorney J. Frank Sparks need this morning that he obtained a signed confession from Jordan, in which he is alleged to have admitted shooting the conductor.

murder was committed during the heat of the Ranger oil boom.

After Tighe had been shot, Jordan fled into Fort Worth where he cleared of all trains and was rushed to a hospital.

He died the following day. Jordan, in his confession, told of meeting another man in Ranger, Texas, on June 13, 1921. He said they were drinking.

Will Rogers Says The Silent Vote Elected Him

New York, November 7.—The of the Anti-Bunk Party is certain, according to Will Rogers, who was its candidate for president leading up to Tuesday's election.

I resign

If everybody didn't vote then none of the candidates could be elected and that would be the end of politics and we could just go out and hire some good man to run the country.

"I am not saying yet what I will do in 1932, but I may jump to the Congressional Record. They have made me some very attractive offers to handle my next campaign. They claim they can give me plenty of space. As the election is over the members won't have to start electioneering in the Senate and House for a couple of years.

"We went into this campaign to drive the bunk out of politics but our experiment, while noble in motive, was a failure. Anyway, here is good luck from the only cheerful loser in the race."

"They talk about a man not being a good citizen if he don't vote."

FRITZ LANHAM "Near our own Fritz Lanham," that sentence glared from the upper part of a political advertisement in the Fort Worth Star Telegram Monday night.

Since this person can remember Fritz Lanham, has always been referred to as "our own Fritz Lanham."

To further enlighten those who have not had the pleasure of knowing this personage, it is well to state that he is a member of the Congress of the United States, representing that district of which Fort Worth is included.

It was not so many years ago that Fritz Lanham was confronted with a question, the answer of which would shape his life.

That was when he lived in the peaceful town of Weatherford, he is the son of former Governor Lanham, and one of the pioneer families of Parker County.

The old brown mansion where he was born is still one of the best spots of Weatherford. It was there that Fritz Lanham was reared to manhood, and it was there he learned to speak, it was there that he learned the word of God and how to tell about it to his fellow man.

He used to waste 15 minutes every Sunday morning fooling with the boys of his age. The Sunday school congregation would see him rise and go to the balcony of the old First Methodist church.

It would see him entrance to the pulpit that was the entrance to the life of a leader. He would climb the pious ladder to the top of the steeple, where the old bell, long out of use, was located. And there he would find the larger part of his Sunday school class trying to catch pigeons on Sunday morning.

When we came, and the congregation would see us filling in behind us walked Fritz Lanham—and he always smiled.

Then he had to choose. He was a great orator, and he still is a great orator. He was a wonderful preacher, and he still is a wonderful preacher.

Would he mount the steps that lead to the pulpit, take advantage of his training, and give to the world a master preacher? Or should he drop his calling and enter politics? We imagine that Fritz Lanham did some serious thinking.

We imagine that was the hardest battle he ever fought. He chose the latter. He has been a success the latter. He has been a success the latter.

It was just a few years ago that the writer had the honor of being presented with a small cash prize by Fritz Lanham for a winning essay on "America."

Before an auditorium filled with high school students, the statesman made a preliminary speech, handed the gold coin to me. I reached—and he withdrew it leaving my hand extended into space. But he smiled.

The writer is glad to see that Fritz Lanham is still referred to as "our own Fritz Lanham." He has escaped the filth that goes with politics. He is still held in esteem by his people as an example of clean living.

When he turned the pulpit, he robbed the world of a wonderful deliverer of God's word, but he gave to Texas a true statesman.

In our opinion, some day he will fill the chair that his father once occupied.

"ANY" ALL Texas will call him "Our Own Fritz Lanham."

WEST WARD RHYTHM BAND On the original and delightful features in the music make up of Eastland, is the Rhythm Band of the West Ward school and of which Miss Blankenship is director and pianist.

This band was organized in Eastland by Miss Robinson, two years ago and is now beginning a third year, of unusual rhythmic training. The band is composed of children from grades of the West Ward school.

There are only two rhythm bands between here and El Paso, in addition to one located at Mineral Wells.

There is equipment for eighteen pieces, purchased through the pupils and teachers of the primary department.

Much encouragement has been received from the Eastland Music Club, the school board and Band Master Campbell, who have given the little band fresh impetus for this new year.

The band is receiving the support of individuals and clubs, and appreciates the work of Mrs. F. O. Hunter, of the Music Studio of the school.

The first appearance this season of the Rhythmic Band was before the Eastland-Stephens County Institute in October.

Friday night they will appear at the Adam and Eve benefit play at the Eastland high.

Their costumes are snappy and attractive. White trousers, with yellow leg straps, white caps, yellow lined, white over shoes cap, bordered with yellow, and worn with white shirt and yellow tie.

CHURCH OF CHRIST BIBLE CLASS OPENS "Why God Made Woman," the subject of a series of progressive lessons to be given by the Church of Christ Bible class, was initiated with yesterday's meeting, taught by Rev. H. W. Wrye, the class teacher.

References from the second and third chapters of Genesis were used and points made, where Adam made to be husband, not good for man to be alone in the Garden.

A series of twelve questions were propounded, and the lesson laid in the answers.

During the business session, Rev. Wrye stressed visiting the sick, and asked that reports of such visits be submitted at the next meeting.

Demonstrations will be conducted Sunday evenings for the older folks, in the church at seven thirty p. m., opening next Sunday, when a demonstration of the map of Palestine will be given.

This same lesson will be the one presented to the children the day before, on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. C. D. Knight was reported on the sick list.

EASTERN STAR HAS INTERESTING MEETING The Order of the Eastern Star met in regular business session last night, in Masonic Temple, with the worthy matron, Mrs. W. F. Miller, presiding. Greenings were extended the new Assistant Deputy Grand Matron, of District No. 2, Mrs. W. Z. Outward, who had this high office conferred upon her, at the recent Eastern Star convention held in El Paso.

At close of a delightful little talk expressing appreciation for this recognition accorded the Eastland chapter by the worthy grand matron. A very handsome bouquet of mums was presented Mrs. Outward by the worthy matron, Mrs. Miller.

It is unfortunate that many people judge the thoroughness of a laxative by its violence. The salts that rush through the system may not even penetrate the film of poisonous matter that has coated the colon. A long list of drugs will "loosen the bowels" but what is the best way to CLEANSE them?

The world's best laxative is one that Mother Nature makes in her own laboratory. It is the bark of a tree, called CASCARA. The Indians used to "chew this bark" and reach old age without a sick day. It is the best thing there is today, for any system; best for the blood. The most beneficial in its action on the bowels, of anything yet disclosed. For many reasons:

First of all, there is no HABIT formed from cascara. The bowels are not weakened, but strengthened by its occasional use. The occasions when one needs this aid grow less and less. Its influence is long-felt. You don't find yourself worse bound-up the day following. You do find the bowels more inclined to move of their own volition. The candy Cascaret that every drug-store always has in stock is the ideal form of cascara.

Secondly, cascara is a natural product. It is not a chemical compound. It is not a drug. It is a food. It is a natural product. It is not a chemical compound. It is not a drug. It is a food.

Thirdly, cascara is a natural product. It is not a chemical compound. It is not a drug. It is a food. It is a natural product. It is not a chemical compound. It is not a drug. It is a food.

Fourthly, cascara is a natural product. It is not a chemical compound. It is not a drug. It is a food. It is a natural product. It is not a chemical compound. It is not a drug. It is a food.

Fifthly, cascara is a natural product. It is not a chemical compound. It is not a drug. It is a food. It is a natural product. It is not a chemical compound. It is not a drug. It is a food.

A Substitute for Dieting

ARTICULAR people do frown on those who "pick and choose" at the table. A "diet" is often embarrassing and always a hardship. And nine times out of ten it is unnecessary!

Try a simple experiment; see if that "indigestion" doesn't disappear from the very hour you take Pape's Diapepsin. To restore good digestion you must eliminate excess acid. A tablet of "Pape's Diapepsin" after eating or when pain is felt will instantly neutralize the acidity and banish all digestive trouble and pain.

So, do buy a 60-cent package of "Pape's Diapepsin" today. This not only means instant relief, but by soothing, healing and strengthening your weak and disordered stomach a little "Pape's Diapepsin" keeps your digestive system healthy and helps to prevent various disorders. You may have decided that nothing could give you a "strong" stomach; just make the diapepsin test!

San Angelo Is Expecting Tricky Game

Sports Writer Pays Tribute To Passing Machine of Midgets

Tricks To Make Final Appearance At Eastland Saturday.

(By BOBBY CAMPBELL)
San Angelo Bobcats, who come to Eastland Saturday to meet the Eastland Mavericks, on Maverick at 3 o'clock, may take the count, regardless of the fact they are rated far above the Eastland aggregation.

It is not an opinion that originated in Eastland. On the contrary, it sprang from the sparkling pen of Bloddy sports writer for the San Angelo Standard. Cross' ability on the forthcoming game follows:

LOBEES WILL BE HARD TEAM TO COPE WITH

Bulldogs Are Conceded "Fighting Chance" But They Must Fight.

Because of the schedule—whereby Ranger has played one more game than Cisco and Abilene—the Bulldogs have a slightly higher average than those teams, due to three victories and a tie as compared to a pair of wins and a tie for their nearest rivals. The fact that Ranger is leading the district will cause Cisco to concentrate to the fullest extent on the Bulldogs—if such an incentive is needed to add fuel to the flames of Cisco's rivalry. And the further fact that the Loboes will be playing on their home field will be a factor in favor of the Big Dam team.

The Bulldogs have played two strong foes in the past two weeks—first the Abilene Eagles, then the San Angelo Bobcats. One game was a tie, the other a victory by one touchdown. The Ranger eleven has been under a strain. Cisco, on the other hand, played a superb game two weeks ago against Breckenridge and then enjoyed a let-down by meeting North Side of Fort Worth in a game that didn't count in the standing. Now, after having relaxed, the Loboes are ready to "point" for a decisive struggle.

Cisco's team is in splendid condition. Ranger's pillar of strength, Captain Garland Hinman, was in too crippled a condition to attempt to carry the ball so he was shifted from fullback to tackle against San Angelo and even in that position he was just about exhausted when the game ended. It is doubtful if he will be sufficiently recovered to return to the backfield, which means that Captain Eddie-

It is not an opinion that originated in Eastland. On the contrary, it sprang from the sparkling pen of Bloddy sports writer for the San Angelo Standard. Cross' ability on the forthcoming game follows:

DUNCAN ROBBED AM, Surrey.—George Duncan, well-known Scottish golfer, lost all the trophies and the won during his successful career.

One of the young men in the east who is making a strong bid for All-America halfback honors is Al Marsters of Dartmouth. Despite the fact that he was injured and could not play very long in any one game, he starred for the Hanover team in several games during October with his brilliant open-field running and passing. Dartmouth students and alumni call him "Special Delivery" Marsters, because he scores so many touchdowns.

Big Star of Georgetown Eleven

RALPH DUPLIN

One of the strong teams of the east this fall is Lou Little's Georgetown eleven, and one of the strongest players of his outfit is Quarterback Ralph Duplin, shown here. Duplin's running and passing featured preliminary Georgetown victories this season. In one of the early games he returned the opening kickoff for a touchdown, a run of 32 yards.

CHEATHAM IS SETTING PACE FOR SCORING

Eastland End, in Conference Games, Ahead of Little and A. Smith.

Who do you think is the leading scorer in conference games of the Oil Belt district? Smith of Abilene or Little of Cisco, you probably would reply—but you would be mistaken. Neither has crossed the goal line as many times as a member of the Eastland Mavericks.

And this high point man is not even a backfield man. He is Cheatham, Eastland's end, and he has made six touchdowns in conference games. Catching passes or grabbing fumbles and galloping across the last white line are his specialties.

This slender lad, who weighs 150 pounds, had his greatest day against the Ranger bulldogs. Eastland registered four touchdowns during the afternoon—and Cheatham made them all, three on big gains on passes and the other on a fumble he recovered and carried 40 yards for a score.

The only touchdown that Eastland scored against Breckenridge came toward the close of the game when Cheatham, kept out because of injuries, hobbled out on the field and pulled down a pass for 20 yards. The other day against Brownwood he made a touchdown. The only game that he has been held scoreless was against Abilene when he was given an escort of two Eagles every time he went down the field.

Of course there has to be some one to throw these passes that Cheatham catches. The party of the first part is Connie Smith, the smallest quarterback in captivity. He weighs 128 pounds when in good health. The combination, Smith to Cheatham, has proved the most successful in the Oil Belt.

Who Wants This Thousand Bucks?

FORT WORTH, Nov. 6.—What to do with a thousand dollars? Ordinarily that question would bother very few of us, but the members of the Athletic committee of Texas Christian University are perplexed. How they came by the thousand and what they are going to do with it makes quite a story.

When the Frogs journeyed to A. & M. Oct. 29, for their tussle with the Aggies, the team was followed by 2000 Fort Worth rooters. Among them was Amon G. Carter, publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Mr. Carter, in a moment of enthusiasm, offered to give the Frog team $1000 if they defeated the Aggies. So after their 6-0 victory over the hard fighting Farmers, the Frog team was presented with $1000.

Now what to do with the "grand" is really a problem. Obviously the money cannot go to the team members individually, as that would be professionalism. Prof. E. W. McDiarmid, chairman of the Frog Athletic Council, has suggested, half seriously we suspect, that the money be divided among the members of the council.

However, something has got to be done with the money, and that is the problem. It is likely that tokens for the team members will be presented at the end of the season. The money may be used to pay for these. Other plans have been suggested, but to date this seems the most likely to be adopted. Anyhow, the money is being held until the athletic council can decide just what to do with it.

Artist Finds An African Utopia

CLEVELAND, O.—What he considers a Utopia has been located by Paul Travis, a Cleveland artist. It is a large section of Africa he recently visited for a seven-month sketching trip.

In the shadow of Mt. Rwenzori, in a forest 2,000 miles wide—about as big as Europe itself—Travis found a tribe of 250 pygmies. Their height averaged about 53 inches.

"Primitive man is much more comfortable than we are," he said. "Much safer too, what with out automobiles and bandits." Travis said the pygmies possess a dignity all their own and that no such thing as racial inferiority has crept into their minds.

"Where the white man has visited, this perfection does not exist. I find. The native learns the white man's vices, his lying and thievery." Travis is the first white man ever to set up tents in the Pygmy village.

In Runada, Travis said he found a race of unofficial high jumpers. "They can jump seven and one-half feet in the air and are six and one-half feet tall."

"Africa is the most beautiful country in the world," Travis enthused. "The immense distance, the picturesqueness of the people, their love of brilliant color and pagentry exists nowhere else."

More Fuel Given For Fans in The Hot Stove League

There were 251 baseball players who took part in National League games during 1928, of this number 188 taking part in more than fifteen contests, while 63 appeared in less than fifteen.

For the seventh time in his career Rogers Hornsby, Boston playing manager, topped the batters of the National League, finishing with a percentage of .387. This was 17 points better than his closest rival, Paul Waner of Pittsburgh, who in 1927 beat out Hornsby for the leadership by 19 points.

Paul Waner, Pittsburgh, tallied the most runs, 141, and also secured the most two-base hits, 51. Fred Lindstrom, New York, had the greatest number of hits, 231.

The most three-baggers were secured by Jim Bottomley, St. Louis, who had 20. Bottomley also led in batting runs across the plate with 133, and tied with Hack Wilson, Chicago, for the leadership in home runs, each having 31.

Hazen Cuyler, Chicago, was at the top in stealing bases, with 35 - his credit. Lloyd Waner, Pittsburgh, went to bat most often, 639 times.

Larry Benton, New York right-hander, led the pitchers in won and lost percentage for the second consecutive year. His record was 23 victories against 9 defeats for 73.5. He also tied with Burleigh Grimes, Pittsburgh, for hurling the most complete games. Each had 28.

Four pitchers tied for honors in most shut-outs, with 4 each. They were: Red Lucas, Cincinnati; Burleigh Grimes, Pittsburgh; Fred Blake, Chicago and Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn.

Doug McWeeney, Brooklyn, issued the most bases on balls, 115. Vance Got Most S. O. Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn, fast-ball specialist, for the seventh consecutive season, struck out the most batters, turning back 200 batsmen via strike-out route. Over the seven-year period of leadership, Vance has whiffed 1,837 batters.

Burleigh Grimes, Pittsburgh, took part in the most games, forty-eight, and appeared in the most innings, 324. He was also touched for the greatest number of hits, 310.

Larry Burton, New York, and Burleigh Grimes, Pittsburgh, each won the most games, twenty-five, while Ed Brandt, Boston, was defeated the most times, 21. Russell Miller, Philadelphia, lost thirteen straight games, finishing the season without a victory to his credit.

Seven players took part in all their club's games. They were: Del Bissonette, Brooklyn, 156; Taylor Douthit, St. Louis, 154 games; Hugh Critz, Cincinnati, 153 games; Lester Bell, Boston, 153 games; Chick Thompson, Philadelphia, 152 games, and both Paul and Lloyd Waner of Pittsburgh, 152 games.

There were two tie games during the season, Brooklyn taking part in both of them, once against the Giants and once against Cincinnati.

Ed Brown, Boston, was genched on June 8, thereby bringing to a close a streak of 618 consecutive games in which the outfielder had appeared. This is a new National League record, breaking a streak of 533 held by Fred Luderus. Brown started his run on June 5, 1924, with the Brooklyn team.

Hugh Critz, Cincinnati, had the longest batting streak of the year, running through twenty-four games, before Bob Smith of Boston, stopped him. Critz collected forty-five hits in one hundred trips to the plate on this streak, making a mark of 450.

Andy Cohen, New York, endured the longest run scoring streak tallying seventeen runs in thirteen consecutive games, before St. Louis halted him.

Eleven men hit home runs with the bases filled during the season. Four runs in a game by play was done nineteen times, four players turning the trick twice.

Charles Dresen, Cincinnati, was the only player to score five runs in a game. Lester Bell, Boston, and George Harper, St. Louis, each secured three home runs in a game.

Five hits in a game was done ten times, Harold Traynor, Pittsburgh, doing the trick twice. Pat Malone, pitched a one-hit game against Boston, on June 18. This was the closest approach to a no-hit game in the National during the season.

Four Hits in Game. Four hits in a game were made 118 times, Fred Lindstrom, New York, and Hugh Critz, Cincinnati.

each turning the trick six times. Hack Wilson, Chicago, hit two home runs in a game six times during the year.

There were sixty-three shut-outs hurled by National League pitchers. Warden felt the shut-out brush most times, twelve, while St. Louis suffered eleven, three times.

Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn, by faning fifteen Chicago batters on June 17, set a season's record for strikeouts.

There were no triple plays in the National League.

Sports Matter

While about 35,000,000 voters throughout the country registered their preference for Al Smith or Herbert Hoover, a million voters of Boston and vicinity also decided a question of paramount importance to baseball fans.

Where will Rogers Hornsby play in 1929? It was not a question of who will enter the White House, but of who will be second baseman for the Chicago Cubs.

A deal - the greatest baseball deal in history from a financial standpoint - which will send "The Rajah" from Boston to Chicago awaited the verdict of the voters of the Bay State.

If Massachusetts gets Sunday baseball by way of the ballot, the Boston Braves can afford to keep Hornsby as playing manager, for the attendance presumably will justify the expense.

The offer for Hornsby has been made, and tentatively accepted. It will not be formally accepted until after the vote on Sunday baseball is made known.

The Boston Braves would be a money-making outfit if they could just play ball at home seven days a week. The odds are that the decision of the voters will be otherwise, however, and that Hornsby will make his third change in as many winters.

Hornsby the Wanderer. In 1926, after he had led the St. Louis Cardinals to their first National League pennant and a world's championship, Hornsby was traded to the New York Giants for Frankie Frisch and Jimmy Ring and probably some cash, although none was men-

Hooks and Slides

HENRY L. FARRELL And Two More Babs Miller Huggins, departing for his Florida winter home with a new set of store teeth and a bag of clubs that shoot tens, says that even his ball club can't carry two weak hitters.

He may move Koenig to third base and try Durocher at short. He hopes that Durocher will hit and he also hopes that Dickey will come through as a badly needed hitting catcher.

Lazzeri can play third or short but he'll be kept at second where he is considered invaluable. Wera, Lery and Reese will be given plenty of opportunity in the spring to get a regular job in the infield.

Huggins also confided that he would like to have two more regular pitchers who could win twenty games each.

Get Your Hands Up, George! The little manager of the champion Yankees said his greatest thrill in the late world series came when George Pipgras escaped the second inning of the second game. One more hit in that inning and it would have been the end of George, he said.

It will be recalled that Pipgras had such a tough time getting started that the players gave a massed demonstration of their disapproval. It looked for a moment as if they were going to force Huggins to make a change.

"I kept telling and signaling Pipgras to get his arms up high but he wouldn't do it," Huggins said. "It was wild in the first inning but he struck out Hafey with two on and got by. He went again in the second inning and they got three runs and tied the score on a couple of hits, a pass and an error. One more hit and I would have jerked him, but he finally got his arms up around his neck and started pitching. They got only two hits off him after that. It gave me my greatest thrill when he started working me I knew he could."

Gold in Them Hills. Several years ago Peto Rielly paid $1500 for a broken down fighter and he cashed in for about $100,000 in purse cuts when Jack Delaney rebuilt his hands and became one of the highest priced fighters in the business.

Rielly went along with Delaney until he sensed that he was about through and then sold him for $50,000.

The Rielly investment in Delaney, until recent weeks, held the record for a business in which the breaks are more often bad than good.

A few days ago Larny Lichtenstein turned down a cash offer of $50,000 for Baby Joe Gans, a colored lightweight. His original investment in acquiring ownership of Gans was $3,400, an amount consumed in hiring a lawyer and paying the fee for having a contract witnessed.

Gans, who is highly regarded as a championship prospect, used

SPOTS BEFORE EYES

Miner Had Dark Spots Before Eyes, Felt Dull, Tired, Achy. Doesn't Get Down Any More.

Somerset, Ky. - Telling how he had known of the success of Theodor's Black-Draught since he was a boy, Mr. Albert Gansel, of this city, recently said:

"I used to work in the mines, but lost quite a bit of time on account of the sick spells I had. I would get to having a bad taste in my mouth, and a very dull, tired feeling and ache. I would have dark spots in front of my eyes, and I would be so dizzy I would stagger like I was drunk. I would stagger like I was drunk. I would stagger like I was drunk."

"I took medicine, but didn't seem to get any better. My mother told me to try Black-Draught, which I did, and after a few doses I felt much better. Now I take it as soon as I feel the least bad, and I don't get down. I certainly can say that it has done more for me than any other medicine I have ever taken."

"I never get without Black-Draught. If I go on a visit, I take a package along in my suitcase. My health is better now than it has been in years, and I believe it is the use of Black-Draught that did it."

When Yale Saw Too Much "Red" Cagle

If Christian Kiener Cagle has many more football exhibition in his system like the one he gave against Yale recently, there won't be any keeping him off the All-America squad. Mr. Cagle was an All-America back last year and this action scene of the Yale-Army game shows he means to gain that honor again. Cagle is shown here, indicated by the arrow, on his first long jaunt around the Yale defense. This run was for 52 yards and touchdown. He made another later in the game for 73 yards and touchdown. Note how Cagle has outdistanced his field.

WAR SIGNS ON FRENCH BORDER ARE DESCRIBED

Elaborate Defenses Against Possible German Invasion Are Being Built.

By J. W. T. MASON
(Written for the United Press)
With the inevitable approach of the time when Germany will be released from international control over her army and navy expenditures, France has begun to prepare for a stronger defense against the outbreak of a new world war. An increase of $60,000,000 will probably be spent by France next year over the present annual amount for armaments. France's total expenditure for the new year on her army, navy and air forces is likely to approximate $425,000,000. The present year's armament expense has been $365,000,000.

This is an enormous sum for a nation that cannot pay its international debts, especially at a time when repeated invitations for an agreement on reduction of military strength are being issued France. But the French people are still convinced that Germany does not intend to rest content under the conditions of the Versailles peace treaty and the only way to keep the peace is to prepare for another conflict.

Much of the French money will go toward the construction of a new line of defense along the nation's frontiers. It will be, when completed, in effect a concrete wall covering every possible strategic sector, with huge underground store rooms and "bar-tacks" and nests for thousands of machine guns and anti-aircraft guns constructed in what are now considered to be impregnable positions.

Concealment Utilized

All the lessons of trench tactics learned between 1914 and 1918 are being utilized in the building of the concrete fortifications. There will be no great fortresses, such as proved such an easy mark for the German artillery in the world war. Instead, concealment and camouflage will be utilized to the utmost.

The French government refused permission to the Graf Zeppelin on its voyage to America to fly along the frontiers, fearing that discovery might be made from the air of some of the secret defensive centers of the new "Hindenburg line." Every precaution is being taken to prevent details of the concrete construction leaking out to Germany. Those engaged at work in one sector have no knowledge of what is being done in other sectors or even how many sectors there are. When the wall is finished, the French general staff considers the casualties that would result from any attempt to break through would be too high even for Germany to afford. But it was the same French general staff that thought its frontier fortresses were secure against guns previous to 1914.

THEY MUST GO QUICK!

"Ask Your Neighbors, They Know."

Not only is France increasing her defenses along the German frontier, but also along the Italian frontier. Mussolini has recently begun to strengthen the Italian military preparations in the vicinity of France and part of the increased French War Ministry's budget for next year will go to meet this move.

Danger Not a Dream

The Riviera is the center of the new Franco-Italian rivalry. Italians have long had an ambition to acquire the French Riviera if ever the opportunity presents itself. This area is populated partly by Italians and a popular cry of reclaiming lost Italian cities would resound through Rome if the whole Riviera could be conquered.

The danger of a conflict in this region is not an idle dream as far as French suspicions are concerned. French Minister of War Painleve announced this autumn that his government intended to match Italy's frontier fortifications "gun for gun." He declared work already had been started to increase the defensive strength on Nice, one of France's military nerve centers along the Riviera.

The restlessness of France under her fear of another war is the greatest danger to European peace. The French people have become suspicious of every peace gesture as though it were a move aimed by some diabolical hand at France's destruction, by putting the nation off its guard. The old system of craft in diplomacy is still considered at Paris to dominate international relations. France, in effect has an "inferiority complex" and regards herself as being at bay. How to disable the nation of its fears is the major problem of those international diplomats who are striving for world peace. Until the solution of the problem is found, France will remain with her finger on the trigger snarling alike at friend and possible foe and keeping Europe perpetually ill at ease.

Other features of the program will be a history and prophecy of the pecan industry by president D. C. Glenn in his talk on "Looking Forward and Backward." an open discussion of "Varieties" led by vice president A. W. Whitfield of Breckenridge. "Teaching Students Pecan Work" in the classroom and field will be handled by H. M. Brundrett of John Farleton Agricultural College and Oscar Gray of North Texas Agricultural College.

There will be a banquet at noon for those in attendance and an automobile tour of the J. A. Brown orchard and Wolfe's Pecan Jimmie Rosborough of A. & M. College Extension Service will judge the pecan show and as superintendent of the show will be assisted by A. I. Fabis of Brownwood and Andrew Winkler of the Grove Exhibits are to be shown in quart jars and must be 1928 crop; nurserymen are not permitted to compete. Premiums are offered on the best quart of Western Pecans; best quart of Natives; quart of pecans largest by weight and for the best exhibit grown by one man.

According to J. C. Patterson, Eastland county agent who is secretary of the organization there are many good native pecans that have never had the recognition to which they are entitled and he urges pecan growers to send in quart entries of these along with the improved varieties. Those who wish to exhibit pecans but who may not find it possible to attend the meeting may ship their entries, properly labeled, to Ross R. Wolfe, at Stephenville.

HOOPER LEADING SMITH IN TEXAS BY BIG COUNT

The Republican insurgents have apparently lost their balance of power in the Senate. Republican domination at both ends of Pennsylvania avenue in Washington has been assured.

Voting broke all records and the count was still incomplete today. But it was sufficient to reveal that the American voters in numbers never before mobilized for continuation of the policies of the Coolidge administration on which Hoover staged his appeal for election.

Immediately after the result was known, F. Scott McBride, head of the Anti-Saloon League, issued a formal statement declaring that the result was a "thorough vindication" of the Anti-Saloon League. He said the result would be accepted by the world as "convincing evidence that the American people consider prohibition the best method of dealing with the liquor problem and that they are determined to maintain the 18th amendment."

Other interpretations probably will be placed on the result. Some will see in it a vote of confidence in the Republican party. Others will regard it as a personal vote of confidence in Hoover and others will feel that religious feeling had much to do with the outcome. Just what elements were decisive is a subject for endless debate and perhaps different forces were influential in different localities.

Crushing as Smith's defeat has been—Hoover's electoral vote exceeds that of the Coolidge landslide—Smith has demonstrated great popularity and the actual vote is closer than the ratio in the electoral college.

Most surprising element of Smith's defeat was his loss of New York, the State which has four times elected him governor—once in the face of a Coolidge landslide. Many Republicans in New York who have supported him as governor apparently did not support him for president. His New York City vote was not sufficient to overcome the terrific upstate majorities for Hoover.

Equally surprising was the breaking of the Solid South and Hoover's victory in Old Virginia. "The mother of presidents" and the capital of the Confederacy. All through the South except Louisiana and South Carolina Hoover polled a tremendous vote. Smith, however, ran up a heavy vote in Massachusetts.

Hoover's election was conceded by the New World and the New York Times, pro-Smith newspapers, within three hours after the heavy returns began to come in last night.

About 1 a. m. today Governor Smith, facing the cold figures as they came, admitted defeat and sent a telegram to Hoover which said:

"I congratulate you heartily on your victory and extend to you my sincere good wishes for your health and happiness and for the success of your administration."

Smith had been buoyed up with hopes of victory in the closing days of the campaign by the tremendous crowds which greeted him with almost hysterical enthusiasm wherever he went on his Eastern speaking tour.

Washington Letter

It is natural, of course, that selfish politicians should forget all about Coolidge now that his reign is so nearly over, but it is also true that during his administration he has had no personal political organization of any sort and has built up no circle of friends. Such men as Frank Stearns and William M. Butler, of course, owe their past political importance solely to Coolidge; they are much closer to him than any of the outstanding figures of Washington. It is a tribute to Coolidge that he has chosen his few friends with regard only to his personal inclinations.

By Rodney Dutcher
Washington—Senator J. Boomboom M. Whorter's hot campaign for re-election has resolved itself into a battle of personalities on the eve of the balloting and it appears now that the nation may not lose the senator's services after all.

This development came close on the heels of the senator's failure to make religion his campaign's leadin gissue. Somebody told McWhorter that his opponent was as good as won just as soon as he could spread the word around. Then he discovered that Episcopalians were in good standing and not much different from anyone else.

An indication of the way the great McWhorter battle is being fought may be gathered from one of the last speeches of the campaign made by our hero.

"My opponent," he said, "is a man with a funny name. But I'm not going to dwell on that. I don't care how funny his name is. Go ahead and laugh about it if you want to, but there are more important issues than that.

"The charge has been made that there was monkey business in the primaries. The foul slander has been circulated that one of my managers was caught depositing the sanctity of the ballot. It is said that this man put his hand

Stunt Flyer To Thrill Throngs During Dedication of New Municipal Airport

Special to The Telegram.

RANGER, Nov. 6—A stunt flyer will thrill the throngs during the ceremonies marking the dedication of Ranger's airport next Saturday and Sunday, it was announced today following a meeting of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce board of directors last night.

E. E. Radack, who is regarded as one of the most daring aerobats of the air, will put on a performance of wing walking and other stunts climaxing with a parachute leap Saturday afternoon and again Sunday. He will be aided by Bobby Jewell, pilot, who attended the Ranger Oil Jubilee last year. Radack's performances will be free to all and will be viewed by 10,000 people, it is estimated.

He and Jewell will arrive in their plane Thursday morning and will spend that afternoon in a flight over the Oil Belt, showering down thousands of circulars telling of the Ranger airport celebration.

Abilene will be represented with an airplane, Miss Abilene, at the airport dedication, T. N. Carswell, secretary of the Abilene chamber of commerce, has advised Wayne C. Hickey, Ranger secretary.

A motion picture "West Texas from the Air" will be made by Ennis C. Helm during the flight of the Fort Worth aerodrome, which will consist of business men in 21 planes who will tour West Texas. They will arrive in Ranger Saturday afternoon. Ranger will be one of the cities of which movies from the air will be taken. This film will be shown throughout the United States, it is planned.

RAG RUGS, CSEAP, PRACTICAL AND ADD ROOM COLOR

COLLEGE STATION — The braided rag rug which won first place in the Eastland County Fair this year cost just three cents and this was far ahead for sewing the braids, announces Miss Ruth Ramey, county home demonstration agent there. "While this is an exceptional case it is true that rag rugs, which are becoming more and more popular, are very cheap and easy to make," she says. Thousands of Texas women have learned through demonstrations how to take an assortment of various colored rags and work them into durable floor coverings of artistic designs.

"Soft woolen rags of such materials as flannel, serge and light weight suitings are best for the purpose, although good rugs can be made of such cotton fabrics as finely knit underwear and stockings, outing flannel, cotton glanz-kets, domestic, percale and ging-ham," states Mrs. Bernice Clayton, Home Improvement Specialist in the Texas A. and M.
