Eastland Golfers Show Great Improvement in Play

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT HARD FUGHT TO END

Six Golfers Enter Annual Tournament of the Park Hills Country Club.

Six golfers entered the golf tournament of the Park Hills Country Club, formerly Eastland Golf and Country Club, which was brought to a close last Wednesday, when championship flight was won by E. Garrett of Eastland, and K. R. Russell of Rancho, after playing 22 holes.

The tournament was one of the largest and also one of the most enjoyable ever held in Eastland. The play was much better than last year and some of the scores were made.

The championship match was the closest ever played in Eastland. Garrett and Russell fought their way to the finish almost similar routes. Garrett defeated Allen Key one hole on the 18th green. Russell won on the 19th green. Russell won on the 19th green. Russell won on the 19th green.

Championship Finish. A large audience followed Garrett and Russell around the field. Garrett was slightly ahead. Russell was slightly behind. Garrett was slightly ahead. Russell was slightly behind.

Ace of Aces!

Now I think I'll take up golf.

Straight from the tee into the cup, minus any roll or bound—that's the sort of a hole-in-one that Frank Leonard of Traverso City, Mich., made recently on an 180-yard drive. "Just lucky," he explained it—but it is an unusual shot.

Because of the short time in which to construct buildings, issue catalog, enroll students and get all the details of a great university in operation, it was deemed best by the executive committee of the Warner Memorial University to defer opening of the institution until September of next year. The following statement issued Saturday by President J. T. Wilson of the University is self explanatory. He says:

"We found it impossible to get ready to open school this fall and therefore decided to defer opening until September, 1929. We shall be able to retain practically all the faculty members we had secured. At least four of the teachers will be attending University this year in an effort to further qualify themselves.

"Interest in our great undertaking is growing rapidly. Receipts are increasing. I am giving practically all my time to promotion work and am getting gratifying results. We are giving considerable time to the consideration of proper equipment, and we expect to issue our first catalog about the first of the year.

"I expect to be in Houston and other South Texas points for the next ten days or two weeks. Construction of buildings will not be started before October 1."

Southwide Cotton Conference Honors Governor Moody

AUSTIN, July 7.—Governor Moody was notified today of his designation as honorary president of the Southwide Cotton Conference at New Orleans. The organization is the outgrowth of the Southwide cotton conference at Jackson, Miss., last February, held on the call of Governor Moody.

The Governor of each cotton growing state will be requested to call a meeting within the next 90 days of representative cotton producers for the purpose of carrying out the plan for raising $750,000 annually for the next five years for the proposed work.

State delegations at yesterday's meeting selected a representative from each cotton growing state to attend council meetings.

Society Economic Paleontologists and Mineralogists To Meet In Eastland To Map Permo-Carboniferous Exposures

Special to the Telegram
FORT WORTH, Texas, July 7.—The first meeting of Texas committees looking toward mapping in detail the surface exposures of Permo-Carboniferous rocks in most of this state under the direction of the Society of Economic Paleontologists and Mineralogists has been called in Eastland Saturday, July 14, by F. B. Plummer, Texas chairman.

In addition to the committees, all geologists interested are expected to attend. At this, the first meeting of the southernmost district of the Mid-Continent area, all of which will be mapped in the projected plans, the Texas geologists will be organized and plan their work.

Those attending will meet for lunch in the Hotel Connellee, Eastland, Saturday noon, and the afternoon will be devoted to formulating a plan of work.

Though hundreds of geologists have been mapping the Pennsylvanian and Permian outcrops in Texas, few publications on these formations have been issued during the last ten years.

Because of this lack of published material, Dr. C. N. Gould, State Geologist of Oklahoma, called a meeting last May in Norman, Okla., and there the committee on co-operative investigations of the geology of the Permo-Carboniferous formation of the Mid-Continent was formed to compile all available work for publication.

To Compile Maps
New maps of outcrops will be compiled, better correlations of formations through the states in the Mid-Continent area will be made and fossils will be described.

According to Dr. Plummer. It is expected that several years will be required to complete the entire work.

Virtually all of the oil produced in North, Central West and West Texas and the Panhandle is obtained from the Permo-Carboniferous rocks, as well as in Oklahoma and Kansas. Dr. Plummer, pointed out, and their economic importance is unquestioned.

The first work along the lines planned has been done by Dr. R. E. Condra, State geologist for Nebraska, who has published a splendid bulletin on the Fusulinidae.

Under the plans outlined at Norman, Okla., in May, the outcrops of both Permian and Pennsylvanian rocks will be studied and mapped in the entire Mid-Continent area, comprising Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and Iowa. In Texas the Permo-Carboniferous rocks outcrop in the following counties: Panhandle: Oldham, Potter, Moore, Carson, Hutchinson, Roberts, Lipscomb, Hamphill, Wheeler, Collingsworth, Donley, Armstrong, Randall, Briscoe, Hall and Childress; West Texas: Cottle, Motley, Dickens, Crosby, Garza, King, Kent, Stonewall, Fisher, Scurry, Borden, Mitchell, Nolan, Jones, Howard, Taylor, Coke, Runnels, Comcho and Tom Green; North and Central West Texas: Hardeman, Foard, Knox, Haskell, Wilbarger, Baylor, Throckmorton, Young, Archer, Wichita, Clay, Montague, Jack, Wise, Palo Pinto, Parker, Hood, Stephens, Eastland, Erath, Comanche, Callahan, Shackelford, Coleman, Brown, McCulloch, Mills, San Saba, Lampasas, Menard and Mason.

Navy Base Boss

Rear Admiral Louis R. DeSteigener, former Commander-in-Chief of the U. S. battle fleet, has been made commandant of the New York Navy Yard, succeeding Rear Admiral Charles P. Plunkett, retired. De Steigener received the Distinguished Service Medal in the World War when he commanded the battleship Arkansas.

Cooperation Promises To Make Anti-Rodent Drive In Eastland County Successful, Is Said.

"Fine cooperation over the entire field promises the most successful county-wide campaign against rats experienced by the crew at work in a long time."

Said M. G. Jorgenson, who is directing the activities of the Field Piper band. He said that Joseph M. Weaver, president of the States Oil Corporation, had ordered the entire property of the company cleaned, although the infestation was not high, being anxious to do all in his power to keep Eastland clean. Mr. Jorgenson made the following report of work done:

"Treated during the past week: 18 business houses, 29 residences and 3 farms, which added to the previous report, makes a total of 39 business houses, 42 residences and 5 farms."

"This covers work done in both Ranger and Eastland, with 27 properties treated in Ranger and the others in Eastland. When the camp of an oil company is treated each dwelling house comes under residence property, but the rest of the buildings in that camp, such as garages, warehouses, offices, etc. come under the head of one business house."

"Some of the oil companies are treating whole camps where the monetary loss is not so great, but more from a community welfare angle, willing to do their part in stamping out the rats."

FLIERS AWAIT REPAIRS MADE TO AIRPLANE TO AIRPLANE

May Wait Week At Natal For Own Machine In Which To Fly To Rio de Janeiro.

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 7.—In the little coastal city of Natal, Major Ferrarin and Major Del Prete, who flew from Rome to establish a new long distance flight, rested today while repairs were completed on their monoplane. When the repairs are completed, the two bronze-faced Italian fliers will start down the Brazilian coast line—soaring over towns and cities that are eager to welcome them and hear their speech—to Rio de Janeiro. A great welcome awaits them here.

Ferrarin and Del Prete had intended leaving this morning in an airplane offered by an airplane company, but after a conference with the Italian ambassador by telegraph they decided against the flight. Probably they will wait now until their own plane, the same craft in which they established a new endurance flight record and a long distance record, is re-conditioned. This will take about a week.

Explosion of Oil On Barge In Port Gets Four Victims

Hon. Tom Connally, of Marlin, Texas, congressman who is seeking the democratic nomination for senator, addressed a large audience Saturday night at the City Hall. He was introduced by Judge Scott Key, who spoke in glowing terms of the splendid record made by Mr. Connally in Congress. Mr. Connally arrived in Eastland about seven o'clock and spent Saturday night at the Connellee.

The Marlin man who has restored to the political arena of Texas the look of a statesman even as Charles A. Culberson and Joseph Weldon Bailey gave the United States Senate more than a quarter of a century ago, delivered here a speech similar in most details to that he has made in every section of the state in the past two months. The opening speech of his campaign that Mr. Connally made at Belton on April 17 contained much in common with the platform of the Democratic National Convention adopted at Houston and he gave striking endorsement to that platform in his address here.

Scores G. O. P.
Mr. Connally scored the Republicans for playing at offering the farmers of America an unworkable plan of farm relief in a political year and in full knowledge of the fact that the president would veto the act. His opponent, Mr. Mayfield, was accused of siding with the Republicans in "an insincere effort to fool the farmers." The speaker pointed out that the Democratic convention refused the plan of Mr. Mayfield and others to approve the "equalization fee" and instead made an honest stand for genuine and workable farm relief along lines thoroughly in accord with the plans that have been proposed by Mr. Connally in his own bill. The "equalization fee" was declared by the speaker to be no more than an open and direct tax that might be levied on every bale of cotton produced by the farmer in any amount that might be deemed proper by the agency to which administration of the system was given. The tax would be illegal, unworkable and constitute an even greater burden than the farmer has ever had to bear before Connally said.

The speaker's indorsement of the Democratic platform included the prohibition plan in which regard he said he had always voted for all prohibition proposals. (Continued on last page)

GOSSIP CAUSE OF FEUD WHICH ENDS FATALLY

DUNNAN, Va., July 7.—A feud, having its beginnings in petty gossip, was believed today the cause of the shooting to death of Andy Dockery, 50, a farmer, and John Carter, 55, deputy game warden.

The bodies of the two were found 100 yards apart near here yesterday. Dockery had been shot three times, while the single bullet in Carter's brain gave police the opinion Carter had committed suicide after killing the farmer. An investigation disclosed the two had quarreled over remarks said to have been made by Dockery concerning Carter's wife. Later Dockery was arrested for violating the fish and game laws.

Jail Break From Penitentiary On Big Scale Planned

AUSTIN, July 7.—Frustration of an attempted wholesale break of prisoners at the state penitentiary at Huntsville has been reported to Governor Moody.

COURT SEES NO DIFFERENCE IN PRISONERS

Forbids Preacher Held For Contempt Broadcasting Sermon From His Jail Cell.

DALLAS, July 7.—The Rev. Earl Anderson, who is serving a jail sentence for contempt of court, in connection with the construction of a tabernacle in spite of a court injunction forbidding it, will not be permitted to broadcast a sermon from his jail cell here tomorrow.

District Judge Towne Young, who, Wednesday, sentenced Anderson to jail, today instructed the Sheriff to "treat Anderson like any other prisoner." The judge ordered the sheriff not to permit radio broadcasting equipment to be placed in the jail.

Rev. J. Frank Norris, Ft. Worth Baptist pastor, who is assisting Anderson, later announced that Anderson would preach at 4 p. m. Sunday from the steps of the jail where he is confined.

DALLAS, July 7.—Minions of the law and followers of a local Fundamental Baptist congregation led by the Rev. J. Frank Norris of Fort Worth, eyed each other resolutely today.

Eight deputies loitered around the crude-appearing tabernacle erected hastily. Their pockets were filled with blanket warrants, the officers were authorized to arrest any man or woman who attempted to resume work on the structure.

Rev. Mr. Norris held services in the tabernacle last night. A capacity crowd attended.

New Hope Listens To the Candidates

Candidates in Eastland county were extended an invitation by the voters in the New Hope community to visit that place Friday evening.

Harmony was a feature of the occasion. The candidates were charitable and courteous and each said nice things about the other while urging a prior claim at the polls.

PRESBYTERIAN AUXILIARY MEETS AT CHURCH The meeting of the Presbyterian Auxiliary last week was a very successful session, conducted by Mrs. George A. Cross, the president. The hostesses were Misses J. Molarkey and Stewart. For some years the construction of the Auxiliary has needed revision, and this was done by the committee, Misses J. LeRoy Arnold, Charles Hubbard and G. H. Pilling, and proposed amendments adopted. On the twenty-sixth of July, the Auxiliary will entertain with an afternoon social on the church lawn. Hostess committee: Misses J. LeRoy Arnold, James Horton, Charles Winston, James Ashley, Harry Sene, and J. W. Thomas. Advertisement committee: Misses Stewart, G. H. Pilling and R. L. Perkins.

EASTLAND FOLKS GOING TO PRESBYTERIAN ENCAMPMENT The Eastland people who so far have designated their intention of attending the Abilene district conference encampment of the Presbyterian church at Buffalo Gap, are Miss Meredith, Miss Henderson and Mrs. Harry Sene; Rev. and Mrs. L. R. Hogan, and family, and Mrs. James Horton, who will be chaperone for Billie Bohning, Horace Horton, and Tom Cunningham. The party leaves next Tuesday for the encampment which lasts from July 10th to 17th.

The Presbyterians own a large portion of the encampment ground, which is reserved for their tenting. The best educators in the country are in attendance at the conference and Dean Milton C. Townner, Ph. D., presides over the programs.

The list of educators includes eight splendid men. The Abilene district, includes churches of Abilene, Albany, Anson, Baird, Breckenridge, Brownwood, Cross Plains, Eastland, Fluvanna, Lamesa, Merkel, Ottumwell, Post, Ranger, Rotan, Snyder, Stamford, Tuscola and Tye.

ELKS ARE PLANNING NUMBER OF GAYETIES Next Friday evening the Elks will be host to an overall and apron party, when the rustic effect of costumes means that there will be a regular summer time barn dance, something the young people have been clamoring for, and will have entrancing strains furnished by Clark Wynne and his Jolly Boys. Some novelties in entertaining will be introduced by the orchestra, which is proving very popular.

A return date has been arranged for the 27th, with this versatile troupe of jazz hounds. There will be a change in the dance style, as the Elks will present the Blue Bonnet Orchestra, from the Blue Bonnet Hotel, Sweetwater, on the 20th.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR HORACE HORTON One of the mid-week events of pleasing importance to the boys was the party arranged by Mrs. James Horton, in honor of the tenth natal day of her son, Horace, when the jolly little crowd of young boys, all assembled at the Horton home, where they were deeply interested in helping to freeze the rich ice cream, which they took with them to Trianon Park, and enjoyed after a vigorous swim.

With the ice cream was a lovely birthday cake, topped with twinkling tapers in national colors, and etched with flowers done in tiny candies.

The lad received many splendid gifts from his friends, of kerchiefs, socks, ties, books and other nice articles. Mrs. Horton was assisted by Mrs. Grady Pipkin, and Mrs. R. L. Perkins. The cars of the three cicerones carried the boys to the lake. Personnel: Harry Sample, Jack Shaw, Wilbur Williams, R. L. Perkins, Jr., Roger Arnold, James Turk Pipkin, Raymond Pipkin, Tom Cunningham, Bill Bohning, Parker Brown, Clyde Chaney, Monroe Birdsall, Horace Birdsall, and the honor guest, Horace Horton.

INTERESTING EXPERIENCE FOR MOTHERS OF BOYS Mrs. Luther Bean, Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Walter Gray had an interesting experience at the Boy Scouts encampment, as the only ladies in the camp, and being specially honored by boyish attention.

The beautiful camping spot nine and one-half miles from Mason, on the Llano and James River, was a busy scene all day Wednesday, for one hundred and one Boy Scouts were actively engaged in putting up tents, cleaning away underbrush, carrying water, and doing all the things that camping requires.

Mrs. Harris, of Rising Star, joined the Eastland ladies at the encampment. The local party left Eastland at 11 a. m., one July 4, and returned by way of Brady, camping out en route, arriving in Eastland at 11 a. m., Thursday.

There were forty-five boy scouts from Eastland, eighteen from Rising Star, the others from Ranger, Cisco, Carbon and Gorman. Mrs. Bean was accompanied by her son, Luther Junior, who remained at the encampment.

In the evening, the choir will render "Dear to the Heart of the Shepherd" (Towner). Rev. L. R. Hogan will occupy the pulpit for both services. There will be no choir practice of the Presbyterian choir this week.

BIBLE DEMONSTRATION NEXT THURSDAY The success of the object lesson or demonstration presented by the Ladies' Bible class of the Church of Christ last week, was so great and interested children so extensively, that it will be followed by a similar one next Thursday afternoon, at 3 o'clock when the object rooms will be thrown open to the public, and an illustrated lecture presented of Jacob's Dream, given by Mrs. Anna Craig, whose work will be assisted by Misses Tom Harrell, Harry E. Wood, and L. Herring.

PIANO RECITAL TOMORROW NIGHT Miss Virginia Neil Little and Miss Ruth Bagley will present a number of classical compositions at eight-thirty o'clock Monday evening in piano recital, in the Community Clubhouse, under direction of Grover C. Morris. These young and talented musicians, are earnest and conscientious students and the program of varied composers will appeal to the taste of all music lovers.

Miss Little is the younger of the two girls, but has been a student of music since she was so small, that she really could not reach the floor with her feet, when preched on the piano stool. She plays with a poise and forgetfulness of self, rare in so young a girl.

Miss Bagley has been an earnest student for several years, and has been coached by the best teachers Eastland may boast. Her work is facile and brilliant, and both young girls are a credit to their teacher.

The friends of these junior artist students are cordially invited to attend. LADIES' AUXILIARY TO ENTERTAIN FIREMEN The Ladies' Auxiliary of the fire department met in regular session Friday night. Mrs. Edd Bills, the vice-president, presided over the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. W. R. Fairbairn. There was a good attendance.

FIDELIS MATRONS ENTERTAIN GROUP NO. 1 HOSTESSES A delightful outing marked the first public entertainment offered to the members of the Baptist church by the groups of the Fidelis Matrons' Bible class, when Group No. 1, under general chairmanship of Mrs. W. A. Owen, was hostess at the City Park, where they received at 8 o'clock last evening. This second entertainment sponsored by the class will be followed at intervals by affairs arranged by the other groups. Those present included: Misses Roselle Reid and Eddie Ham, Miss Catherine Ames of Austin and Miss Doc Kern of Fort Worth; Misses J. M. Jones, Mayme Tom Gideon, Mattie Ham, Lynn Hilburn, Ruth Hayne, R. J. Rains, Clyde Garrett, S. C. Walker, Elzo Benn, Eugene Tucker and Mrs. John Jones of Altus, Oklahoma, Mrs. J. W. Herrington, and son of Westbrook, Texas Messrs. and Misses Jess Allen, J. F. McWilliams, W. Irons, B. F. Lancaster, J. A. Mead, Jim Badders, Thomas J. Pitts, W. J. Herrington, A. W. Wright, Ghent Sanderford, H. L. Owen, Frank Pugh, H. A. McCann, L. A. Thompson, J. F. Trotter and Rev. and Mrs. Turner. Messrs. W. A. Owen and W. D. R. Owen.

Hostess in Group No. 1 who assisted Mrs. Owen were: Misses J. F. Trotter, Elzo Benn, S. C. Walker, Frank Pugh and A. W. Wright. The scene was a bright and colorful one. Red and blue balloons bobbed merrily, waiting to play a part in the games, that followed a brief business session conducted by Mrs. Hilburn which was followed by community singing of "America," and devotional led by Mrs. Ghert Sanderford. A report of the delegate from Fidelis to the convention or Baptist World Alliance, held in Canada, was given by Mrs. W. F. Turner, who reported the report of the African race.

The amusements for the social side of the evening were diverse and breath-taking. Everyone had lots of fun in the potato race, honors going to Mrs. T. J. Pitts, the successful contestant. A ball game between the Reds, captained by W. T. Turner, and the Blues, with W. D. R. Owen as captain, provided ample exercise for the men. A balloon contest and race, when the national colors of the pretty toys flashed in the air was both diverting and attractive. At close of a happy evening delicious home made ice cream and cake were served in generous fashion. The patriotic motif was carried out for 4th of July observance.

MRS. CLARKE'S INFORMAL LUNCHEON AT CONNELLEE Mrs. Alex Clarke entertained informally at one o'clock luncheon, Thursday, friends from Thurber, invited for the day and Eastland guests asked to meet them. The table was centered with a bowl of bright hued zinnias. Flowered place cards indicated covers for Mrs. Ross Bell and Mrs. Greenidge, and Misses J. E. Lewis, Scott Key, Lonnie King, Frank Weaver, Theodore Ferguson and the hostess.

A delicious menu of four courses was served. After luncheon two tables for bridge were arranged on the hotel roof garden.

MUSIC FEDERATION MAY MEET NEXT IN ABILENE Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins, who leaves for the east about the 20th of July, plans for the coming district convention of the Texas Federation of Music Clubs were broached. Mrs. Perkins said that a district convention point would soon have to be selected and that this was her duty, as president of the Sixth District, Texas Federation Music Clubs. She considers either San Angelo or Abilene as suitable convention places, but Abilene especially is favored, because of two major Federated Music Clubs there and schools in which a music system is established, making it the logical musical center for the district. It is also the largest town outside of El Paso, located in the central part of the district.

Mrs. Perkins is asking every Federated Club in the Sixth District to observe the Schubert centennial, "November Seventeenth," with a program, or some form of memorial.

This famous musician-artist died in November, 1828. Of him Beethoven said: "Strictly the divine fire lived in Schubert."

Clubs are now making up their year books or programs for the season, and this centennial observance for Schubert could be included at this time.

In connection with Mrs. Perkins' chairmanship of Fine Arts, Sixth District T. F. W. C. Mrs. Lela Johnson of Coleman, music chairman of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, will offer a prize for the best district song.

Mrs. John Perry, president of the Sixth District, F. F. W. C. is trying to make her district known as "the singing district."

These two district chairmen are working hand and glove to give a background to this movement.

Mrs. A. H. Bailey, state chairman of fine arts, T. F. W. C., was mailed a copy of the special music week edition, issued by the Music Club of Eastland, and edited by Mrs. W. K. Jackson.

It is thought by Mrs. Perkins, who sent the copy, that it will be of assistance to Mrs. Bailey in her department.

Mrs. Jackson, who is the Sixth District chairman of music in public schools, is busy with plans for the possibilities of establishment of public supervisor of music in Eastland schools.

This is the supreme object of the chairmanship in this district, to establish a free music system in the public schools. These will receive a questionnaire from Mrs. Perkins, asking for information, and other matters pertaining to music in the public schools in Eastland.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Virginia Brewster, after losing her and wealth, consents to her home with Clarissa and her father. Dean plots to get her from her fiancé, and fails and later goes to pay blackmail to a rival or face a scandal.

As she becomes jealous of her fiancé, Virginia resolves to marry him. She refuses to marry him because of the fact that her father has lost out of $100,000 in a deal. Recklessly, she goes to earn enough to repay her father's debt in one year—or marry him. She leaves but has to pawn to tide over until she can position. She goes to Neil's but her joy at seeing him is because she does not need his financial aid or her familiarity with which his Chari, treats Neil.

She seeks work through an agency but without success. Upon her return at her hotel one evening, she is surprised to find her father and her fiancé, Dean, and how he learned her address. Neil takes her out to dine and she goes home Virginia to a man whom she has suspected of shadowing her for several days.

One morning she calls on a friend, Oliver Cutter, who promises to help her. His sudden disappearance seems aloof to her. She is suddenly friendly to Virginia. First, a call from the agency.

ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIX

Phelps flushed slowly and Virginia's straightforward and her glance slipped away from the girl's face glass-topped desk.

"Well, I've tried to show you how difficult it is," she said defensively; "but if you still wish us to retain your application we shall be pleased to do so."

"Thank you," Virginia replied briefly and departed.

She was quite sure there was more to the interview than appeared on the surface. One thing was certain. Mrs. Phelps' indirect reply to her request for the name of the person who had interfered proved to Virginia that her first suspicion was correct. Someone had interfered! But who could it be?

Virginia cogitated over it the rest of the afternoon, with small satisfaction. Quite apparently it was someone who knew of her visits to the agency—someone who did not wish her to have success there.

Virginia was at a loss to decide who it might be. She had not mentioned Mrs. Phelps to anyone, not even Nathaniel. Miss Evans knew; but she had sent Virginia there. It was preposterous to suppose she had been responsible for Mrs. Phelps' sudden change of attitude. Unless... but that was utterly absurd. Oliver wouldn't have had any reason to interfere even if Miss Evans had told him of Virginia's plans. But aside from those who knew that she had wanted work who could it be who would try to stand in her way?

It came to Virginia in a flash of conviction that there was one person she could always depend upon to try to balk her, Frederick Dean! But he could not have known what she was doing!

Virginia tried to make herself believe that he could not. It would be too harrowing to think that he was keeping watch on her. Still there was simply no one else she could think of who would have any incentive to intervene in her affairs in a way to make her life more difficult.

But how had he turned Mrs. Phelps? "I suppose he told her what a little idiot I was to refuse his aid," Virginia stormed hotly. "Perhaps he bought her consent to let me down. But I'd rather think she really believes I'm making a fool of myself," she concluded, averse to condemning anyone with out proof.

The aftermath of the whole thing was to leave her with a feeling of being in a blind alley without an exit. Miss Evans was inexplicably unfriendly. Nathaniel could not help her because she dared not let him know how badly she needed advice. Oliver was hardly to be trusted to have any sensible ideas and Mr. Gardner would undoubtedly urge her to accept a loan or the uncertain kindness of friends.

Well, there were other agencies. The telephone directory would afford their addresses.

The next day she made the rounds, deciding to use her own name. She decided that it would probably leak out anyhow, and she wanted to show Mr. Dean, if he actually were having her watched, that she was not afraid of anything, even publicity.

And she got plenty of it. Someone who knew a newspaperman tipped him off that the Brewster girl was hunting a job.

During the next few days Virginia was besieged with calls, by telephone and in person. Requests for an interview and her story came from every direction. Virginia knew the resourcefulness of the men she had to deal with. In fact she knew several of them by sight, liked them, too, for she and her father had always been well treated by the press; and they in their turn had recognized the fact that rich people are "news" and had never been disagreeable to those whose line of duty crossed their path.

But she hardly knew what to do when they stormed her en masse, and when she appealed to Mr. Gardner and Nathaniel for advice they told her to remain in seclusion and to refuse to talk, even to employees of the hotel. Still there were stories and pictures just the same, and the pleas for an interview did not cease. Finally Virginia used her own judgment, called the editorial offices of the different newspapers and asked to have a reporter sent to her at a certain hour that day.

The hotel management, elated with the publicity she was bringing them, arranged her reception to the representatives of the press in great style. They even went so far in their hospitality as to serve refreshments.

When all the "boys" and "girls" of the party were gathered around her, Virginia talked to them quietly and earnestly.

"I appreciate all your kindness of the past," she told them, "but I assure you there is nothing I have to say that can be of any interest to your readers."

"Oh now, Miss Brewster," some one broke in. "People want your point of view, you know. Just let me down. But I'd rather think she really believes I'm making a fool of myself," she concluded, averse to condemning anyone with out proof.

The aftermath of the whole thing was to leave her with a feeling of being in a blind alley without an exit. Miss Evans was inexplicably unfriendly. Virginia heard. She turned quickly to face him.

"Thank you," her lips formulated, but the words were inaudible.

"You won't change your mind?" a young suspicious fellow asked, fearful of drawing off and then being scooped.

"I pledge my word that I shall say no more than I have," Virginia promised in full understanding of the others' perhaps. "And I will be undyingly grateful to you all if you will write no more about me than you must."

"Thank you very much for coming," she hurried on. "I hope some day I may give you some pleasant news for your papers," she added, smiling upon them through a mist of tears. With those who pushed forward she shook hands and then broke away to disappear through a nearby doorway.

Just as she passed out of sight she turned to nod in final farewell to the men and women who watched her go with a unanimous feeling of good will. Her eye caught on one of the group who stood a little apart—a man she had not noticed before, and a quick stab of apprehension pierced her heart.

FIFTY-FIFTY GIRL AT CONNELLEE THEATRE TODAY

Bebe Daniels' new Paramount comedy, "The Fifty-Fifty Girl," comes to the Connellee Theatre today. "The Fifty-Fifty Girl" concerns the adventures of a modern young miss, Kathleen O'Hara, who is firm in the belief that she can shoulder the responsibilities of any man.

Kathleen and her handsome fiancé, Jim Donahue, become the sole owners of a gold mine and Miss "Fifty-Fifty" insists she is thoroughly capable of taking care of her part of the work. Now it so happens that under the California law, a certain number of feet have to be dug each year to retain possession of a mine. Only a few days remain to meet these requirements, but Kathleen is so sure of herself she bets her half of the mine against Jim's that she can handle the situation without having to call for help. The bargain care of the woman's duties. The first to call for help, losses. Imagine the difficulties this fiery young miss encounters when a gang of desperadoes seek to frighten them away and obtain possession of the mine; when they are trapped in an underground tunnel with danger at every hand.

This is just the beginning of the troubles which young Kathleen experiences before she is finally convinced that men are worthwhile after all.

You will adore Bebe Daniels in the role of Kathleen O'Hara. And James Hall is splendidly cast as Jim Donahue. "The Fifty-Fifty Girl" was directed by Clarence Badger, the man who made "Swim, Girl, Swim," "The Campus Flirt," "It" and "Red Hair."

Woman Candidate Doesn't Choose To Run For Position

DALLAS, July 6.—Dallas' mysterious politician has withdrawn her hat from the political ring for the current year.

Thirty days ago, Josie Buck by letter notified the Dallas democratic executive committee that due to her ability and prowess, that she was to be a candidate for the legislature. She backed her statements with a paid assessment of $1. She extolled her virtues as a politician through announcements.

But now Josie has had a change of heart.

"Were I to stay in the race," the politician explained by letter, "I would likely have to go through a law suit to get my name on the ballot on account of not having said a poll tax."

Josie, who has never been seen and whose address remained unknown in her correspondence, further stated that she would let Charles S. McCombs and Edgar L. Smith, the other two candidates, battle for the nomination.

Churches

Christian Church

By W. P. WALTHALL, Pastor

A good motto and one I want us to adopt at the beginning of our work—"All of the church in the Sunday School, and all of the Sunday School in the church."

That is right, and how shall we accomplish that? By team work. So that is my topic.

This expression is used most in the game of basket ball; and does not mean the brute force—but it means the team that can keep the ball passing from one to another on their own side and away from their opponents is the team that leads the ball into the basket for the final score which wins the game.

The first thing necessary to get team work into any game is to have for the game. And that is what we need in this great Sunday School—Church game, love for the game. Then to have good team work we get a coach to teach the points of the game. The superintendent of the Sunday school is the coach, and the teacher is the captain of each team or class.

There are two essentials one must observe to have good team work. First "obey all rules." The rule book in this great game is the Bible, which tells us how to play straight and fair, and how to win.

The second essential for good team work is: "Practice makes perfect." We have been practicing for years in this great game, now let us enter in earnest and display our skill and show what team work will do for our church. The coach has taught us all the fine points of the game, and showed us how to apply them.

The captains have placed us in the right position from which we can play the game to the best advantage. As referee, your pastor is giving the signal to start the game, and the Holy Spirit is ready to record each point you make, the goals in your favor, and the foul plays against you. Won't you pitch right into the game from where you are, and give the game your best support and work with a will till we see star efforts crowned with success that will be recorded in souls saved and brought to the Master? Beloved, the prize is bigger than we are, bigger than our feelings, therefore, let's forget the things of the past and stretch forward to the great task that is before us. Will you promise to do your part in this great game?

There will not be any services at the church Sunday. All go to the encampment at Cisco. This encampment begins 7th and continues till the night of the 15th.

We will have all of our services on Sunday 15th but none this Sunday.—P. W. Walthall, Pastor.

"The parable of the winds," will be the theme of the message at 8:15 p. m.

The Sunday School meets at 9:30 a. m. The men's Bible class taught by the teacher has moved its quarters to 218 Lamar St., which is just in front of the Barrow Furniture Co., in the office of J. F. McWilliams. All men forty years of age or over are invited to attend this class. Men under forty meet the Liberty Bible class taught by W. D. R. Owen at the library.

The B. Y. P. U.'s meet at 6:30 p. m. Every member is urged to be present this Sunday evening for the special B. Y. P. U. exercises preceding the evening sermon.

Presbyterian Church

The services at the Presbyterian church Sunday will be Sunday School promptly at 9:45 a. m. and morning worship at 11 a. m. The subject for the morning hour will be "Church Prosperity." There will be special music by the choir. A violin duet will be rendered by Misses Eda Lindsley and Margaret Hart. A welcome is always extended anyone who can attend any service.

Mrs. Anna Craig, Mrs. Tom Hurrell, Mrs. B. Herring and Mrs. Harry Wood will have charge of this enterprise, and the first lesson will be "Jacob's dream." All children of the city are cordially invited to attend. Song practice Friday night.—J. E. Meroney, director.

Methodist Church

Frank E. Singleton, pastor. "Are Preachers a Dead Weight?" This is a vital question often heard upon the streets. "Preachers produce absolutely nothing, kill them off," were words heard not in Russia alone. "Drive the preachers out of the pulpits to the tall timbers," was heard in Texas not many years ago. This vital theme will be discussed by the pastor of the Methodist church this morning at 10:30.

"Do Methodists Backslide?" at 8:30 tonight. "If they do, who is to blame? Why do we backslide? What should we do?" There will be special music at both services and a hearty welcome for everyone.

St. Francis Xavier

REV. MICHAEL COLLINS Acting Pastor

July 8th, Mass at 10 a. m. The gospel of today is taken from St. Mark 8:1-9. Here we have an account of a miracle where Christ fed "a very great multitude" about 4,000 with seven loaves and a few fishes. It would appear that it is a different miracle from that recorded in St. John 6:1-15, which we read on the fourth Sunday of Lent. The reason we believe it is different is from the account given in St. Mark 8:19-20. "When I broke the five loaves among the five thousand, how many baskets full of fragments took you up?" They say to him: "Twelve. When also the seven loaves among the four thousand,

Although the home of the uncle was but a short distance away, Ackley never saw his sister.

For some years after going to Minnesota, Mrs. Hubbard resided

WALES TALKS WELSH

LONDON, July 6.—"Mewn and ghoi ni chant fod tra awel drod ei heddu chwyth," the Prince of Wales declared in concluding a speech dedicating the Welsh National War memorial at Cardiff. The prince surprised thousands of listeners by concluding his address in Welsh, and received a tremendous cheer.

Lloyd George confessed later that he taught the prince his line of Welsh during the train journey from London to Cardiff. Wales studied Welsh when he was a boy, and Lloyd George was also his tutor at that time. The prince delivered his line perfectly.

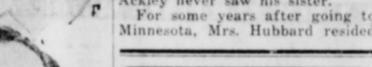

In English, the sentence means, "We will see that they shall not be forgotten while the breezes blow over their graves."

Some Facts and Fancies Centering About Thunder

Thunder and lightning are considered unusual in winter, but become frequent in spring and summer. The heavy rumbling following a flash of lightning is a phenomenon as old as our weather, and it has influenced many words in our language.

To be astonished, for example, is to be thunderstruck—the latter is the more English expression, while the word "astonish" goes back to the Latin which means "to thunder out," and the meaning of the word today suggests being surprised by something unaccountable, as thunder.

"Detonate" is another thunder word, coming from the Latin which means "to thunder down." Notice the letters TON occurring in both "astonish" and "detonate"—these are all that is left of the parent word, the Latin "tonare," meaning "to thunder." Webster's New International Dictionary indicates these resemblances, and also that "stun" is probably akin to the same Latin word.

The day of thunder is Thursday—or Thor's day, for Thor was the god of thunder. "Tornado," on the other hand, in its early meaning of thunderstorm, comes from a Spanish word, "tronada," with that meaning. In its modern sense of a hurricane or very violent storm of whirling wind, the word has been influenced by the Latin "tornare," to turn.—The Texas Outlook.

PEKIN, July 6.—A Chinese printer whose monthly wage is about $40 has won $56,955 in the semi-annual race sweeps in Tientsin. Tickets in the sweeps are $10 each, and the winner risked about a week's wages.

But as a result he is assured independence for life. His luck made little impression on him, as he appeared on time for work as usual.

"LOVE WILL FIND"

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—A young couple here gave the air to California's "three-day marriage law." Claire Carr and James H. Bailey staged an aerial elopement to Reno, Nev., where it was not necessary to file notice of intention to marry.

A tribute is paid by "The Kansas Official," a magazine published at Topeka, to Albert Firmin, postmaster of Brooklyn, who is the youngest brother of Judge A. E. Firmin of Ranger. The magazine stated:

"Postmaster Albert Firmin, appointed postmaster at Brooklyn, Feb. 15, 1925, has increased the revenue of his office $2,000,000 and over to date, by dint of hard work and efficient help. Trained by a lifetime of service, practically, in the New York office, he was chosen for his ability to conduct the great postal business of Brooklyn. By his own efforts, and with a staff personally trained by Firmin's masterful teaching, and the co-operation of Brooklyn business men, he has brought the rating of the Brooklyn office to its present enviable standard."

The Eastland baseball club will go to Blake, seven miles southwest of Rising Star, Sunday, where they will play a game of ball with the team of the Humble Oil company's production department. The game will be called at 4 p. m.

According to Joe Welch, manager of the Eastland team, this promises to be one of the best, if not the best, game of the season.

The Humble production department has won two games over the Pipe Line department of the Humble. These games were played at Cisco. The Pipe Line defeated Eastland in a game some weeks ago.

With the following line-up for the Eastland team, Eastland fans are asking: "How can a 'Roustabout' score?"

- Blake Bryant, 1b.
 - Alfred Lafoon, 2b.
 - Ray Morris, 3b.
 - Mock Watson, ss.
 - Dock Vaughn, c.
 - Onis Dick, lf.
 - "Bucky" Harris, cf.

- Included on the pitching staff are "Lefty" Hunt, Rawley Fairbairn, Carl Broyles, Chas. Lafoon.

Mineral Water Is Attracting Many To Visit Eastland

As the farm of Eastland's mineral water continues to gain wider circulation, more and more people are coming to Eastland to bathe in the health-giving liquid. As yet, most of these are from nearby points, but some are arriving from distant points.

Among those coming to Eastland during the last week for the sake of the mineral water are: J. Bockman of Olden and Mrs. Bockman, Billie Murray of Cross Plains, Dr. W. C. Huddleston of New York, J. B. Harrison of Abilene, Virgil Hamilton of Olden, F. B. Speeghts of Cisco, E. R. Butler of Carbon, Mrs. T. M. King of Chillicothe, Mrs. J. W. Nicholson of Desdemona, J. O. Bryant of Midland, Hope Roberts of Olden, Dr. J. C. Howard of Cross Plains, Earl Hamilton of Olden and M. N. Roberts of Desdemona.

Cafeteria Assists Numbers to Obtain College Degrees

AUSTIN, July 5.—An institution almost as old as the University of Texas itself, the cafeteria at the university has always furnished employment to a number of students. This summer is no exception to the rule, and about 25 boys are now helping earn their way through school by working from two to five or six hours a day in the cafeteria. The type of work ranges from washing dishes and carting the dirty dishes from the tables to the kitchen to directing the serving of the food, checking the trays and acting as cashier.

"More than any other phase of the student employment question," said Miss Anna Jansen, manager of the cafeteria, "I like the attitude the boys have toward their work. There is a spirit of comradeship and good-fellowship that is not equalled, I do not believe, and is certainly not surpassed in any other group on the campus. Most of the boys, far from despising their work, seem to want to make it as pleasant as possible. They cling together with a greater spirit of unity than any other group I know. I think the athletic record of the cafeteria boys in the past few years is indicative of this attitude. They had won the intramural cup in the independent league for two years and won more than 50 sweaters in intramural sports during the past year. Contrary to the accepted idea that students working their way through school are not good students, the boys working in the cafeteria rarely fail and have to leave school. We keep a pretty close watch on them and won't allow them to carry too much work for very long. On the other hand, many of them make splendid grades, one of them, Perry Thompson of Humble, last year making Phi Beta Kappa, scholastic society."

OUT OUR WAY

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Harrison of Dallas are spending two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Lindsley, enjoying a vacation period. Mr. Harrison serves in the capacity of inductive interference engineer for the Dallas Power and Light company. Jim Connelley, accompanied by his friend, Charlie Hanson, wanted to spend a night in the Connelley Hotel. So they registered there Saturday and were assigned the room they wanted. The Drago Violin Ensemble spent a musical evening at the Outlaw home in Ranger, Friday, when twelve members of this group from Eastland were present. The program was an offering of sympathy for Mrs. Outlaw, who recently lost a young son by death.

RICH THROUGH OVERSIGHT.

HAVANA, Cuba, July 6.—Dr. Clarence MacDonald, an American chiropractor, is a firm believer in the goddess of chance. For many years it has been MacDonald's custom to share the price of a complete lottery ticket every 10 days with W. J. Flanagan, of the Standard Oil company. Last week Flanagan was transferred to the United States and MacDonald, forgetting to cancel the standing order was forced to pay the full price of $25 for a ticket. The ticket drew the first prize of 1,000,000 and MacDonald took a temporary transfer to the United States to enjoy the unexpected fortune.

CANINE KIDNAPER. OAKLAND, Calif., July 6.—Buster, a Boston bulldog, may face charges of abduction if kidnapping kittens can be considered an offense in the canine kingdom. The dog, evidently feeling the need for companionship while confined to the city pound here, established a comfortable home for five kittens after he had taken them from their mother and carried them to a kennel. Buster made a bed for them with old sacks and when discovered was licking their fur in a paternal fashion. Attempts to take the kittens met with snarls from the canine.

Whoofus Whiffletree's Woozy Wonderings

Matty has been defeated. The wily old Jap, who has held the belt emblematic of the world's welterweight wrestling championship for years, lost two out of three falls the other night at San Angelo to a younger man, Jack Reynolds of Louisville...

We are glad that the title is held by an American. But there was much that was glamorous about Matsuda. The Nipponese appeared in the Oil Belt a few months ago and he impressed all who saw him throw Gypsy Smith that he is the smoothest bit of human machinery they ever gazed upon...

And with all his skill, he played the game fair and square. We read recently an article speculating as to Matsuda's age and the belief was expressed that he is around 50. A man who can remain at the top or mighty near it when he has reached the half-century mark is a physical marvel and an example of clean living.

Jack Gorman challenged Reynolds to a winner-take-all match. Gorman, known as the pride of West Texas, lives in San Angelo. He is a rough-and-tumble grappler, full of tricks as he demonstrated on two occasions a few months ago in matches in Eastland. In each instance, he was tackling a man 10 pounds heavier and Gorman lost the first fall. Apparently he was all in, but in each case, his opponent was a little too eager and he pressing forward left an opening which Jack took advantage of with such crushing effect that not only did he win the second fall but Gorman had his adversary so badly shaken up that he could not continue.

Reynolds, the new champion, is no spring chicken. He is 37. Wrestling is about as strenuous a sport as we know and yet in spite of the body slams, the headlocks and the body scissors, the wrestlers seem to be able to remain in the forefront of their sport longer than the athletes of baseball, tennis or boxing. Zyzsko, that isn't the way it's spelled but it will do, won the world's heavy-weight championship when he was

OLYMPIC HOPES

David Abbott, captain of the championship Illinois track squad this year, is in a bad spot. He's a natural two-miler but he will have to go for longer distances if he wants to make the Olympic jaunt to Amsterdam this year. Abbott crashed through with new records for his favorite event in the Big Ten meet as well as the national intercollegiate this year. He was first in the conference meet with the time of 9:23 7-10 and he ran first in the intercollegiate in 9:28 8-10. He is training now for the final trials at Boston in July, and Illinois officials are confident that he will make the squad. They say he's good enough to go in the 5000-meter race, the event he'll try for.

past 40. Lewis and Stecher have ranked as topnotchers for the past 10 years or more. In baseball a fielder has to cover a wide territory and has to be able to run the bases. In boxing a fighter's feet must be able to carry him out of danger—as witness Tunney in that seventh round. But in wrestling, most of the work is done at close quarters and while speed of foot to a certain degree is necessary, it is not as overshadowingly important as in other sports.

Proof in the Eating. Patron: "Here's a piece of rubber tire in my hash." Waiter: "There's no doubt about it. The motor is displacing the horse everywhere." — Congregationalist.

Hooks and Slides

Rusty's a Swell Fellow. Rusty Callow, not because of his Pennsylvania crews particularly, got the most favorable publicity of all the rowing coaches who gathered at Poughkeepsie for the annual intercollegiate championship regatta.

Callow, who came from Washington to take charge of the Penn navy last fall, surprised the sport writers by not having them tossed out on their ears when they approached his boat-house and he thereby was passed along as a swell fellow. He not only violated precedent by being nice to the reporters, but he gave them all the information he possibly could about his men and that didn't hurt his crew or injure the feelings of the scribes.

What About? The rowing coaches as a lot are a bunch of prima donnas. Because there is nothing commercial about their game they think the newspapers have no business trying to get information about them and only the strong-hearted of the reporters risk the hazard of trying to talk to them.

When Ed Leader went from Washington to Yale he said he was going to start something new in establishing a working arrangement with the press and he was affable and nice until he got a lot of publicity. And then he shut off. When he was the king of the eastern waters he could king it all over the other coaches and the writers, but now that he has been whittled down to ordinary stature the boys he had no time for have no time for him.

Empty With Brains. Some of the A. A. U. ward healers who are organizing the American Olympic Expedition to Amsterdam have political tact, and sense that is astounding. When they were promoting the campaign for funds to take themselves and the athletes to Holland there was nothing they couldn't do or try to do to help the newspapers get items about them. But when they got the dough they put on the grand chill.

When the New York papers applied for photographer's tickets for the eastern trials in the Yankee stadium they were told that only five cameramen would be allowed on the field. The others could have places in the stands. They laughed at protests.

When it was observed before the events started that the infield of the stadium was swarming with petty officials under big badges and that there were more officials around than athletes, the photographers rebelled and no pictures were taken.

Ex-Boxing Champ Is Candidate For Sheriff In Ohio

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 6.—Between training would-be artists in the knack of punching 'em from rope to rope and striving for prominence in the political world, John Patrick Kilbane, better known as Johnny Kilbane, former world's featherweight champion, has his hands full.

Those hands, once busily engaged in playfully tapping into unconsciousness those aspirants to his title who were fortunate—or unfortunate—enough to get into the ring with the champion, now have no more strenuous employment than signing political statements and straying over the polished top of a mahogany desk.

Heretofore, Kilbane has been operating a training camp on the shore of Lake Erie near here, where the cauliflower gardeners come to get the real low-down on button busting the way Johnny did it. Now, he has issued his official declaration of candidacy for the democratic nomination for sheriff of Cuyahoga county in the August primaries.

The document in part follows: "I shall perform the duties of sheriff of this county without fear or favor. "I shall appoint as deputy sheriffs only men and women of undoubted integrity whose qualifications I shall investigate before rather than after their appointment. "I shall feed the prisoners confined to my custody at cost and shall render an itemized account of costs. "It is my thought that the people are sick and tired of war-horse nominees. They are crying for new blood. It is time the democrats quit conceding defeat before the fighting begins. Democrats are tired of stalking-horse candidates, put up for sacrificial purposes.

"In announcing my candidacy I desire to convey to the public that I am actuated by a purpose of dedicating and consecrating myself to the performance of my duties, when elected, in the interest of the public welfare in order that there may be born a new spirit of service and the bringing forth of a new lease on life for the democratic party.

"I am sure democrats and the public generally will welcome the privilege of choosing on election day for the office of sheriff, a democrat whose name has not appeared on the ballot at every election for the last 15 years."

SAN ANTONIO SCHOOL BOARD GETS DIVIDED

Two Members Indulge In Short Battle and Spill a Little Blood, Then Are Reconciled.

Special to the Telegram SAN ANTONIO, July 4.—Dignified members of the school board indulged in a show of physical prowess at a meeting of the school here late Tuesday. A copy of Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables" was used as a weapon and a little blood was drawn, after which there apologies and everything was mended.

The faction of the board which is usually in the minority but which had as many votes present today as the majority faction, charged today that school children of the city had been defrauded by the majority faction and that the minutes of one meeting had been falsified. Judge O. M. Fitzhugh resented the charges and J. C. Horberger laughed and said that they were "not far from right." Fitzhugh then hurled the book, seized another book and started around the table. The book hit Horberger on the face and forehead, dig-

One of the best Olympic prospects the south has this year is Ed Hamm, the Georgia Tech broad jumper, who has been credited with several loops of 25 feet. He has added distance to his leaps in meets this year, climaxing the season with a leap of 25 feet to again win broad jump honors at the national intercollegiate. He is credited with ability to get near 25 feet easily. The latter dropped the book he was holding and seized a heavy office chair, but other members of the board intervened. Fitzhugh's action then left the meeting, but returned after an agreement was reached to stick to routine matters. Fitzhugh then apologized to the feminine members of the board.

West Texas C. of C. Motorcade To Take Place Next Month

STAMFORD, July 6.—Scenic spots in two of the most picturesque states of the southwest—Texas and New Mexico—and a romantic foreign nation, Old Mexico, will be visited on the third annual motorcade to be sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Date for the event has been set for August, as a result of the lateness of the annual convention just closed, and because primary elections do not occur until July 28. Among the members already signed up for the party are: A. M. (Andy) Bourland of Vernon and Oklahoma, newly elected president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Bourland, Miss Frances Long of Abilene, now known as "Miss West Texas," a number of officers and directors of the West Texas organization, state officials, and well known newspaper writers and photographers. The famous Simmons Cowboy band, new official musicians of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, will make the motorcade trip. The party will be limited to 150, including the band.

Richly seasoned old-fashioned West Texas meals will be served de luxe from a weathered chuck wagon, this to be provided for the occasion. Col. R. L. Penick, sturdy pioneer westerner of Stamford, will have charge of the attendant camping and commissary arrangements, and expenses of these features will be shared by all who make the trip. A special trouble car and mechanics will accompany the party to insure a "bon voyage." Wherever desired, arrangements will be made at nearby hotels for parties preferring those accommodations to camping.

The manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will have charge of the itinerary and other features of the motorcade, being assisted in this by members of the staff, their aim being to exploit and advertise the vacational and recreational advantages of the beautiful West Texas region.

While the complete itinerary has not been worked out, main objective points are ready for announcement. The start of the trip will be made from Snyder, Searry county, Aug. 6. Setting forth at 9:30, the party expects to travel over highway No. 83 as far as Carlsbad, N. M., where the first night will be spent.

Aug. 7 will be an epochal day in the motorcade program when the party attends the inter-mountain district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce which session will be held in the famous Carlsbad Caverns, known as the eighth wonder of the world.

Leaving the caverns at 5 o'clock, the motor caravan will move to McKittrick canyon, a gorge east of the famed Guadalupe peak, the highest in Texas, where the night will be spent. The following day, the tour will include a drive around the peak, which is nearly 10,000 feet high, and is crowned with 2,000 feet of rock, and which is acknowledgedly one of the most beautiful points in Texas.

From this spot, the group will move through Van Horn, thence down the Southern Pacific railway through Valentine, and to Fort Davis, where members will camp or divide into groups to visit the wonder towns of Alpine and Marfa and other points.

Aug. 9 will write another historic day in the motorcade when the second regional convention of the trip will be staged in the romantic Mile High Town of Fort Davis. The session will be that of the Big Bend district. Scenic drives, trips to famous camp grounds and ranch houses, will be features of enjoyment while in this place.

Departing from Alpine, home of picturesque Sul Ross Teachers college, at noon, Aug. 10, the route will follow the Southern Pacific railway, through the great sheep and goat raising section of Texas, crossing the Pecos river near the highest railroad bridge in America, and on to Devil's river, one of the most beautiful streams in the southwest. Langtry, former throne of Roy Bean, the well known law of the Pecos, whose rulings were dispensed from his saloon, is one of the most interesting and historic towns on this route.

Camping arrangements will be made on Devil's river for the night and the next day, Aug. 11, visit will be made to Del Rio, from which point a short excursion will be taken into Old Mexico. Mexican officials will welcome the party.

The party will start from Del Rio, Aug. 12, en route for Junction, a distance of 135 miles. A brief stop will be made at Rock Springs, recently devastated by a cyclone, but now rebuilt into a more attractive city than ever. The night will be spent at Junction, known throughout the country for its scenery, restful environment, bathing and fishing opportunities. A real camping opportunity will be afforded here, as the start from that point will not be made until Aug. 14.

From Junction, the journey will be continued for two days, the exact route and breaking up point to be determined by members of the motorcade.

Detailed plans for the third motor caravan are being worked out at the headquarters of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Stamford, where registrations for the event are being received.

RECLAIMED U. S. LAND YIELDS BIG CROPS

Land considered practically valueless a few years ago, but later reclaimed by irrigation and other projects, has yielded more than $1,000,000,000 in crops in the last ten years, according to government reports, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Last year, the value of crops from this acreage was more than $133,000,000, the highest since the peak of 1919. Alfalfa led all other products from the standpoint of acreage, being grown on thirty-one per cent of the total cropped area of 1,431,500 acres.

ELECTRIC HAND STOP SIGNAL ERECTED TO PROTECT PEDESTRIANS

As a substitute for the ordinary red lantern, a western inventor has introduced an electric stop signal for night use at dangerous crossings, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. It is supplied with current from a battery and, when the bulbs flash on, they shine behind a red-celluloid disk on which is the word "Stop."

Rural Schools Of Eastland County Show Improvement

Steady improvement of the rural school system of Eastland county is reflected in longer terms, in practically all rural schools. More money paid to teachers, less per capita for instruction, more school property and better libraries as revealed in the annual report of County Superintendent Beulah Speer, which was completed last week.

It cost an average of $44 for the instruction of each individual pupil last year, as compared with $36.87 this year. The teachers were paid $80,463.21 last year as compared with $83,298.75 this year. The increase was due to the fact that the terms were longer, the average being better than seven months. The school property in the county is worth $173,455 as compared with $161,652 last year. The value of the public school libraries increased from $5628 to $6646 this year. Installing of playground equipment and repairs on teacherage accounted for most of the other increase in the total property values. The county employed a total of 100 teachers this year as compared with 106 last year.

The figures show an increase over last year in all instances but show the teachers are still under paid, the report says.

The teachers certificates range from two-degree teachers to old old perm, perm, elementary perm, high school and elementary certificates.

TOM CONNALLY MAKES ADDRESS IN EASTLAND

als at the ballot box and in legislative and congressional capacities and stands now committed to enforcement of the national prohibition act and to all acts to give it strength.

A considerable portion of the Connally speech was given over to the subject of Republican sins in the administration of government for the past eight years and to "improper and excessive spending of money in campaigns to elect United States Senators" on the part of the heads of great public utility concerns. Solemn warning was given the electric power chieftains that they had better refrain in Texas from attempting to buy seats for their favorites in the United States Senate. It had been done in Pennsylvania and Illinois. In the same connection and in the manner of a prosecuting attorney the congressman assailed the public record of Earle B. Mayfield and particularly the methods employed in electing him to the senate in 1922. Mayfield, he charged, ran for the senate on a visible platform in his public addresses and in secret ran on an invisible platform that won for him enough votes through "deception and duplicity" to unseat the "gallant Charles A. Culbertson."

MINERALOGISTS TO MEET IN EASTLAND

To Collect Data "The time is now ripe for bringing together the scattered data on these important oil-bearing formations," Plummer said when he announced the committees and called the meeting yesterday.

"It is planned for the geologists to co-operate and to combine their information, which is not confidential, in such a way as to add greatly to a broad knowledge of stratigraphic relationship."

The Society of Economic Paleontologists and Mineralogists is affiliated with the American Association of Petroleum Geologists. Raymond C. Moore, Lawrence, Kansas, is president and also chairman of the general committee which includes G. E. Condra, Nebraska; Frank Greene, northern Oklahoma; G. W. Tomlinson, southern Oklahoma; F. B. Plummer, Texas.

The committees for Texas announced by Plummer yesterday follow: Abilene, T. F. Newman, Mid-west Exploration Co.; Paul Hunt-
